First Snow

An early snow hit Hereford this morning as shown by the fleeting flakes falling beside the vehicle. It also left a wet mess for area drivers and a dense fog which obscures the vision of the large Pitman Grain elevator in the background. Temperatures were reported in the high 20's and low 30's.

Halloween Comes One Day Early

Saturday Set For Ghosts, Goblins

If the ghosts and goblins are seen on Sunday night this week, the passer-by maybe should start running in reverse. It is likely that Sunday spooks could be the real thing since Halloween is being observed on Saturday night this year.

The calendar says it ought to fall on Oct. 31 which is a Sunday. However, Hereford Mayor Jim Sears said this morning that Saturday is probably the best choice. While only the witches and warlocks can officially proclaim another day for their antics, convenience dictates that youngsters will be out in force Saturday night.

Residents are likewise supposed to be prepared with all the little candy and goodies ready to dispense them to any little monsters who approach their door.

The weather no doubt will be cold that night and parents are encouraged to dress their children in the warmest possible clothing along with the scary costumes which will be worn.

Fear of razor blades or poison in the candy has risen in the past few years although less concern has been expressed this year. As a safety precaution, parents should check the contents of the bags their kids bring home.

If trick-or-treaters remain in the vicinity of their homes when going out and approach houses of friends, then less danger is likely.

Anyway, it's a night for fun and frolic. It can be that way with just a bit of common sense concern.

Reese Sends Son To Campaign As Election Approaches Nov. 2

The political race between Jim Reese, an Odessa Republican and incumbent George Mahon of Lubbock, continued Wednesday when Rocky Reese, the Republican's son, was here to talk with local officials.

Originally, he was scheduled to appear in his motor home near and around the courthouse, but he was unable to arrive in the morning due to mechanical difficulties. He did arrive in the afternoon to visit the Hereford Republican headquarters on Park Ave. and discuss the campaign with Wes Fisher, local party chairman.

The contest has gained wide significance here as both Mahon and Reese have made repeated trips here to woo the Hereford Voters. The congressional district stretches from as far south as Midland-Odessa to as far north as Deaf Smith county.

Mahon held a news conference here several weeks ago and was in town last week for an informal campaign reception at the Hereford Civic Club Center.

Reese on the other hand has been in Hereford about five times since the beginning of the race for speeches and strategy meetings with his local workers.

Rocky Reese discussed the early polls with Fisher in light of his father's chances to unseat the powerful Democratic congressman. Basically, the Lubbock vote has been conceded to Mahon while the Midland-Odessa vote is claimed by Reese based on hometown preferences.

The younger Reese, though, said the only poll that will count is the one take of the voters on Nov. 2 when they go to the election booths to designate their choices.

Reese has run his campaign based primarily on his conservatism claiming that Mahon has been in Congress too long and turned liberal in his attempt to please other politicians. Of course, Mahon said here earlier that he has a proven conservative record and offers the voter the power base to get things done.

Unusually Early Snowfall Leaves Serene Landscape

By JIM STEIERT

If it was just Christmas it would be perfect, but area wheat farmers are glad to take moisture-filled snow like that which began falling here Wednesday afternoon any time they can get it.

Accident Victim Died This Week In Amarillo

Jesus Pompa, 24, who was identified earlier as Mario Rocha, died at Northwest Texas hospital in Amarillo this week from serious injuries received in a collision here on Oct. 15.

Texas Department of Public Safety officers here reported Wednesday that Pompa, believed to be a Mexican National, was a resident of Brownsville in the Rio Grande Valley and was working a farm laborer here shortly before the accident.

He was an occupant of a 1964 Ford Falcon along with Francisco Segura, 22, when it came in contact with a 1969 GMC pickup truck. The truck was going south on a turnoff in the northwest part of the county when the car, going west on a county road, approached the intersection of the turnoff and road and collided with the truck.

The driver of the truck was identified as David Lee of Hereford. He and Segura were not seriously injured. Lee was not hurt while Segura sustained only minor abrasions.

DPS reports showed that both drivers did not see each other approaching. The truck was attempting to turn east on the county road and it turned into the path of the car.

The fronts of both vehicles experienced major damage.

Pompa died of "severe head and internal injuries" the reports stated after several days of medical treatment. His body was taken to Smith and Co. Funeral Home here and shipped to Brownsville. He was known as Mario Rocha while living in Deaf Smith County for the two months prior to the accident, Segura told law enforcement officers.

THE HUGE, fluffy snowflakes left a scene of serene beauty on the area landscape this morning after they began falling late yesterday and continued intermittently through the night.

As much as one inch of snow had accumulated in some area communities early this morning, and the snowfall is expected to continue until sometime this evening.

KPAN radio reported that .10 inches of moisture had been recorded in the snowfall here since 6 o'clock this morning.

Corn harvest was in its final week here and has been halted by the weather, as has milo, sugar beet and carrot harvesting.

HOWEVER, THE snowfall which halted these harvests also blanketed area wheat fields with clinging, wet snow, which should be a boon to area grazing prospects, so local farmers aren't really complaining.

The snow fell unusually early, with a snow prior to November quite out of the ordinary in the local area. The large accumulation of snow makes the weather even more unusual for this early in the year.

Travelers were advised to proceed with caution, as the snowfall and freezing drizzle are expected to cause hazardous driving conditions by tonight.

A heavy fog which hung over much of the area yesterday restricted visibility, with Amarillo reporting that visibility was reduced to a quarter mile at one mile yesterday.

MUCH OF THE West Texas area remains under cloudy skies today, and Dalhart was reporting freezing drizzle early this morning.

The forecast calls for continued cloudy skies and cold temperatures through tonight with the possibility of freezing rain, drizzle and light snow.

High temperatures today were expected to be in the 40's with the low sinking to the upper 20's by tonight.

Temperatures are expected to rebound quickly tomorrow, climbing to 60.

The likelihood of further precipitation today was listed at 50 per cent, with a 20 per cent chance tonight.

Rosary Slated Tonight For Urbanczyk

A rosary service is scheduled at 7 p.m. today in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home for C.P. Urbanczyk, 59.

A resident of this area since 1937, Mr. Urbanczyk died Wednesday at his home, southwest of the city, following a lengthy illness.

His funeral will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Friday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Bernard McGerry, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Anthony's Cemetery by Gilliland-Watson.

A prayer service was held Wednesday evening in Rose Chapel.

The family suggest memorials to the American Cancer Society or the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Born Nov. 26, 1916, at White Deer, Mr. Urbanczyk married Aurelia Hoffman here on June 3, 1941. He was a farmer and a member of St. Anthony's.

Survivors include the widow; four sons, Connie, Sid, Martin and Bill, all of Hereford; three daughters, Mrs. Vicky Schmucker, Julie Urbanczyk, and Mrs. Evelyn Morrison, all of Hereford.

Also, a brother, Tony of Hereford; six sisters, Mrs. Ed Dziuk Sr. of Hereford, Mrs. John Kotora Jr. of White Deer, Mrs. A.H. Reinart, Mrs. A.C. Stengel, Mrs. J.W. Stengel and Mrs. Sam Mazurek, all of Hereford; and five grandchildren.

Juvenile Is Arrested For Burglaries

A 14 year old juvenile was arrested at his school here Tuesday and charged with six counts of auto burglary, according to a spokesman for the Hereford Police Department.

The spokesman indicated that the burglaries dated back over a two month period, and several purses taken in the burglaries were recovered.

The youth was released to juvenile authorities.

About $35 worth of gasoline was also reported stolen from the local golf course early this week, the spokesman indicated.

Donating Piano

Westgate Retirement Home was the fortunate recipient of the ornate piano above which was donated to the institution through a fund raised by the Gleaners Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church of Hereford. The piano was contributed by Mrs. E.B. Moseley, left, and Mrs. Earl Lance. The money provided financing for the refinishing of the music instrument. Officials of Westgate formally received the piano Tuesday.

Early Relief Seen For Hard Freeze

By The Associated Press

A hard freeze stung a large part of the nation from the central Plains to the Eastern Seaboard today, but a warming trend creeping across the Rockies offered a prospect of early relief.

Frost and freeze warnings were in effect overnight for the first time this season from the lower Great Lakes through most of the Atlantic Coast.

Temperatures in the teens and 20s ranged over a broad area from the middle Mississippi Valley through the Appalachians. Toledo, Ohio, registered 17 long before daybreak.

Mild Pacific air seeping through the northern Rockies, however, was expected to push temperatures into the 50s and 60s for a large part of the Plains and Midwest before nightfall. Even warmer weather was in prospect Friday.

A wintry combination of snow, rain and fog lingered in the southern Rockies, the Texas Panhandle and South Plains. Travel advisories were posted for those Texas areas and for parts of New Mexico.

Most of the snow was light, however, except for some heavy accumulations on the higher elevations above 8,000 feet in New Mexico.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 12 at Craig, Colo., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Nuclear Announcement Near
WASHINGTON (AP)- President Ford is making final preparations for the announcement of his long-awaited proposals to control the spread of nuclear technology and weapons.

The White House received seven weeks ago the report of a government commission assigned by Ford last July to review American policy and recommend changes. Since that time, diplomatic sources report, American embassies abroad have been told to brief the 14 members of the nuclear "suppliers club" on the new U.S. proposals and rally support for them.

Panama Negotiations Halted
ANCON, C.Z. (AP)- U.S. District Judge Guthrie F. Crowe has ordered President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to suspend the negotiations with Panama for a new Panama Canal treaty, Crowe issued a temporary restraining order Wednesday in response to a petition filed by William R. Drummond, chairman of the Canal Zone Central Labor Union AFL-CIO.

The judge said he would take the case under advisement. The petition charged the talks threaten to infringe, without due process of law, on the property or liberty of some 40,000 Americans

Boat Captain Drunk
NEW ORLEANS (AP)- A coroner says the captains of a Mississippi River commuter ferry was "almost legally drunk" when his craft collided with a tanker last week, killing an estimated 78 persons. "This guy had been drinking... It is difficult to say how much," said Orleans Parish Coroner Frank Minyard, who released an autopsy Wednesday on Capt. Egidio Auletta, 35. Minyard said the autopsy showed a blood alcohol content of .09 per cent, "just a tad under 0.1...which is the legal definition of being drunk in the state of Louisiana."

Palestinians Make Moves
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)- Leftist Beirut newspapers reported today that the Syrian government has given the green light to Palestinian guerrillas to move reinforcements into southern areas bordering Israel. One Palestinian commander reported three-fourths of the Palestinian forces in the central mountains 10 miles east of Beirut have been withdrawn southward.

But he would not say how far south they went. There was no confirmation from Damascus.

Dole Suffered Memory Lapse

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) - Aides to Sen Bob Dole say the Republican vice presidential candidate has suffered a lapse of memory and can't remember telling a national television audience that this century's wars were "Democrat wars."

Dole aides said Wednesday that, despite his use of the phrase as recently as Monday, the candidate has no recollection of using the term during his nationally televised debate with Democratic candidate Walter Mondale 10 days ago.

The Republican vice presidential candidate reportedly had been under pressure from GOP leaders to back off the "Democrat war" remark, which aides privately said was hurting the campaign.

Pampa Plant To Run On Coal, Not On Gas

PAMPA (AP) - The chemical plant owner by the Celanese Chemical Co. here will be converted to use coal instead of natural gas as boiler fuel, a company official said Wednesday.

Brown and Roote is the contractor.
Bartley said conversion to coal would help assure the availability of Pampa's long range fuel supplies and should also result in reduced energy costs.

"The four-state region of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas, which accounts for 80 per cent of natural gas production, has been hard hit by escalating gas costs," Bartley said, "and the region's traditional low-cost energy advantage has virtually disappeared with the drastic increase in natural gas costs over the last few years."

In late 1975, the Texas Railroad Commission, responding to the growing problem of increased prices and curtailment of natural gas ordered Texas users to natural gas as a boiler fuel to begin an orderly conversion to other forms

Bufs Host Pokes In Homecoming Tilt

CANYON-- "They are not very large," West Texas State Coach Gene Mayfield says of McNeese State, "but 6-1 is not to be argued with."

No matter what the coach says, the Bufs and Cowboys figure to heat up a great debate of their own during the WTSU Homecoming game Saturday afternoon in Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium. The game will match a team that has been disappointing with a 1-5 record (WTSU) and one that has been somewhat surprising with a 6-1 mark (MSU).

The Bufs will be trying to make the "ones" in each team's record into "twos" with an attack that is becoming more balanced each week. West Texas still boasts of the Valley's leading rusher in fullback Bo Robinson, but quarterback Tully Blanchard came up with the sixth-best one-game passing total in WT history in the 34.14 loss to Drake last week.

But the problem was turnovers, three interceptions and three fumbles. "Certainly turnovers have plagued us," Mayfield allows. "These are things that you think wouldn't keep happening, but they do." In their last three games, the Bufs have thrown 11 interceptions and lost six fumbles.

Extra small size on defense seems to be the only chink in McNeese State's armor. The Cowboys average only 205 pounds per man across their defensive front, but they make up for it with awesome quickness.

Offensively, the Cowboys run the ball out of the I-slot with tailback Mike McArthur and fullback Bobby Wilson gaining over 1,000 yards between them. Jim Morvant and Terry McFarland split time at quarterback at MSU averages just over 90 yards per game in the air.

The kicking game could also be a factor in McNeese's favor. Senior Conley Hathorn in the school's all-time leading scorer, and he's kicked at least one field goal in every game this year.

Robinson on the ground the aerial combination of Blanchard to sophomore split end Scott Wiley have accounted for much of the WT offense in recent weeks. Robinson and running mate Anthony Dogan can each go over the 1,000 yard marks for their careers against McNeese, and Blanchard can move into the top four passers in WT history with a good night.

Wiley had his best effort ever against Drake, catching four passes for 141 yards and a 41-yard touchdown. "He's a nifty runner," Mayfield adds. "I'm glad we were able to get him the ball on something other than a curl or a sideline pattern. He can make some people miss him."

The defensive star against Drake was weak linebacker Larry Spears who had 10 tackles and three assists.

Following this week's homecoming game, the Bufs stay at home for the Lamar Cardinals on Nov. 6 and the Northeast Louisiana Indians on Nov. 13. McNeese goes back to Lake Charles to meet state rival Northwestern Louisiana.

Billy Back On Top

By FRED ROTEHBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Martin, who restored pride in the New York Yankees' pinstripes and guided the team into the World Series in his first full season at the helm, today was named The Associated Press American League Manager of the Year.

Martin received 164 1/2 votes and edged Kansas City's Whitey Herzog by 9 1/2 votes in the nationwide balloting by sportswriters and broadcasters. Gene Mauch of Minnesota was third with 20 and Chuck Tanner of Oakland was fourth with 15 1/2.

"I appreciate this very much. It's a wonderful honor," said Martin, who also won this award in 1974 as manager of the Texas Rangers. "I only wish that I could receive it as manager of the world champions."

Martin was just four victories away from fulfilling that wish. His Yankees ran away with the American League East title with a 97-62 record, finishing 10 1/2 games ahead of Baltimore. They then beat Kansas City in five games for their first AL pennant since 1964.

"I'm embarrassed we didn't do better in the World Series," said Martin, whose club was swept in four straight games by Cincinnati. "But I still think we had a heckuva successful season."

"We won the pennant for the first time in 12 years and we brought pride and tradition back to the Yankees. This year we got to the World Series; next year we'll win it."

Battling Billy is managing his fourth major league team after stormy stints with Minnesota, Detroit and Texas. After a 12-year major league career, highlighted by five World Series with the Yankees, Martin began his managing career at Denver of the Pacific Coast League in 1968.

The next season he was named manager of the Minnesota Twins, guiding them to the AL West title. But the Twins lost to Baltimore in the AL championship series, and Martin, who had some differences with the Minnesota management, "was fired at the end of the season."

He served as Detroit's manager from 1971-1973, leading the Tigers to finishes of second, first and third, respectively, in the AL East. He was fired late in the 1973 season and finished up that year as the manager of the Texas Rangers.

Early in 1975, Martin's differences with the Texas management proved irreconcilable and he was let go by the Rangers. The Yankees hired him in the middle of 1975, and he immediately began placing the Martin stamp—speed and aggressiveness—on the club.

Off season trades for center-fielder Mickey Rivers and second baseman Willie Randolph gave the Yankees' running game more authenticity, and Martin skillfully guided the club into its 30th

CHICAGO (AP) - A spokesman for the Chicago Bears says that running back Walter Payton and defensive end Roger Staubach will be ready to play in Sunday's National Football League game against the Minnesota Vikings.

Both sat out Wednesday's practice, however, Payton with a sore right ankle and Staubach with a pulled left hamstring.

They were injured in last Sunday's 31-21 loss to the Dallas Cowboys.

The game against the Vikings, the only undefeated team in the NFL, is sold out.

CINCINNATI (AP) - Pat Cummings, the University of Cincinnati's second leading scorer last season, has suffered a bone fracture in his foot while practicing basketball.

Cummings, who averaged 11.7 points per game in the 1975-76 season, is expected to miss at least the first month of this season, the university said.

The 6-foot-9 Cummings also led the Bearcats in field goal shooting with a 56 per cent mark.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - Free agent running back Andry Bolton was signed Wednesday by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Bolton, a 6-foot-1, 205-pounder, was cut two weeks ago by the Seattle Seahawks.

He fills the roster vacancy created by a knee injury to defensive lineman Doug English.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Jerry Bush of Lincoln, former University of Nebraska basketball coach, died Wednesday night after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Bush, 52, was dead on arrival at a hospital.

He coached Nebraska basketball coach from 1953 through 1964.

Harris Poll Favors Lubbock Over Herd

The Lubbock High Westerners are a two-point favorite to beat the Hereford Whitefaces when the two teams clash at the former's Homecoming in Lubbock Friday night.

The Plainsmen have been given a 153.9 rating this week, one-tenth of a point ahead of Odessa High, which is 17th with a 153.8.

The Amarillo High Sandies are ranked 23rd this week with a 151.7 rating to lead District 3-4A teams.

The other two District 4-4A teams, Coronado and Plainview, are 101st and 109th respectively this week with ratings of 136.4 and 135.2. Pampa is 75th at 139.7, and Palo Duro is 97th at 136.7, while Tascosa is 162nd with a 128.2 rating.

The Perryton Rangers jumped from 24th to 14th this week in Class 3A following their big win over District foe Canyon. The Rangers have a rating of 141.8 this week.

The Canyon Eagles are 30th this week with a 137.4. The Borger Bulldogs are ranked 67th at 128.5, Levelland is 82nd at 123.4, and the Dumas Demons are 109th in Class 3A with a 117.1.

Stratford, 29th in Class A, heads area teams in that class with a 116.5 rating. Hart is 55th in the class at 110.6, while the Vega Longhorns are 133rd at 95.2.

Groom is 11th in class B this week with a 106.8 rating. Nazareth is 79th in the poll at 76.2, while Silverton is 81st at 74.1, and Lazbuddie is 83rd at 73.2.

OSU Girdle Gang Stretching A Point

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—The girdle ads that promise to prevent midriff bulge, gives eye-catching figures and smooth you into a woman's natural shape are quite familiar.

Four girdle-enthusiasts in Stillwater don't squeeze into the woman's undergarment for any of those reasons.

The four are members of the Oklahoma State University football team.

Daily Oklahoma sports columnist Bob Hurt disclosed in a column for Thursday's editions that Terry Miller, Oklahoma State's hard-running halfback, wears a Playtex long leg panty girdle.

No, Miller doesn't wear the garment for television commercials, like Joe Namath and his panty hose. He wears it in practices and in games, and says it helped prevent injuries.

The girdle guards against hamstrings by keeping Miller's muscles from knotting, applying equal pressure and support to all his muscles from the kneecaps to the waist.

It was learned that girdles first entered the team's locker room about a year ago, at the suggestion of Dr. Don Cooper, team physician.

"We had a few snickers when they first put them on, but the whole idea was to give even support," said Fair.

Ozark Top NL Skipper

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Philadelphia Phillies' manager Danny Ozark has the last laugh on his critics. He was voted National League manager of the year in the annual Associated Press poll of the media.

But the 52-year-old Ozark refused to gloat over those who predicted the Phillies would never win anything under his management. He was humble after being notified about the honor.

"I don't think this will change me as person," said Ozark by telephone from Hilton Head, S.C. where he is on a golf holiday. "I am glad you people thought enough of me to vote for me. Maybe hard work paid off."

Ozark said he was surprised that he received 197 votes to just 79 for Sparky Anderson, manager of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, and 55 for Houston's Bill Virdon.

"Sparky did another super job," Ozark said. "He brought 'em (Reds) in. He's world champion."

Ozark said that despite his team's three game wipeout in the National League Playoffs by the Reds, the Phillies still were a very good team. "We all learned something from that playoff, and we'll be back."

Ozark, whose team won 101 games and took the National League Eastern Division by nine games, passed his honor along to his team. He said the Phillies were good enough to win the division regardless of who was the manager.

"They the players put me there because they played so well," Ozark said.

Ozark has been under intense criticism ever since he signed as manager in December 1972, after 33 years in the Los Angeles Dodgers' organization as a minor league manager and latter Dodgers' coach. Most of the media expected Dave Bristol to get the job.

But despite the criticism, Ozark improved the Phillies each year of his regime. He led the team from 59 victories to 71 his first season, moved from last into third place with 80 wins the following year, to second with 86 in 1975, and first with 101 in 1976.

Ozark impressed many people with his low key handling of the Phillies in the final six weeks of last season, when the club went into a tailspin and blew all but three of a 15 1/2 game lead. He never panicked. The club bounced back and went on to win the division.

Ozark said after learning of his manager of the year designation, that he never would ask his detractors to eat their words.

"I don't want any enemies," said the manager. "One particular time the writers and I had something bad happen to us. I hold no grudges. What makes me feel good about this is that they held no grudges. They thought I was good enough to get it. I thank all who voted for me."

Redskins Deflated?

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) - Did Monday's night's mud-splattered 20-10 victory over St. Louis take something out of the Washington Redskins? Dallas Coach Tom Landry figures it probably did.

Landry said Tuesday the quick turnaround for Sunday's crucial National Conference Eastern Division game "could hurt" the Over-the-Hill-Gang.

"They weren't as sharp after their other Monday night game but it went into overtime," said Landry. "I don't remember a Washington team ever being beaten 30-0 like Chicago beat them. Washington still has pretty good record and you can't be critical of them."

"They are still able to get up for the big game. That crowd in R.F.K. Stadium helps them emotionally. It's a very loud crowd."

Landry said he liked Dallas' position going into the 3 p.m. game in Washington. The Cowboys, who are 6-1, lead Washington and St. Louis by a full game.

"We're still on top whether we win or lose," said Landry. "That's a better position than we normally have. If we win, it won't eliminate Washington but will make it tough for them to get into the playoffs."

Landry said a 10-4 record would normally be good enough for at least a wild card berth.

"It may take an 11-3 record to get into the playoffs this year because San Francisco is playing so well," said Landry.

Landry put his own club under the microscope and said "This team is different than the one we had last year. We had a young team and played a lot last year on our enthusiasm and momentum. This club is maturing as a team. Our starters are getting more solid."

Landry said the team that wins the NFC Eastern Division will be the outfit that can put together a winning streak.

"You've got to streak in this business, win five or six in a row," said Landry.

"You've got to streak in this business, win five or six in a row," said Landry.

The question of whether Roger Staubach would start at quarterback Sunday will not be decided until Thursday or Friday. Staubach has been bothered by swelling around the fractured little finger on his passing hand.

Danny White is being prepared to start the game and Landry said "We have complete confidence in him. He had remarkable poise in the Chicago game."

White came off the bench and threw two touchdown passes although he suffered two interceptions.

Dr. J. Leads Philly By Houston, 116-94

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
When Julius Erving was sold by the New York Nets, he obviously took many of his fans with him.

Only 5,832 turned out at the Nassau Coliseum Wednesday night to see the Nets play their home opener, but for the second night in a row Dr. J drew a record crowd.

After attracting a National Basketball Association record of 27,383 in New Orleans Tuesday night, Erving drew 15,676 in Houston Wednesday night.

And he gave them their money's worth, scoring 27 points in leading the Philadelphia 76ers to a 116-94 victory over the Rockets.

The Nets, meanwhile, edged the Washington Bullets 96-93.

In other NBA games, the San Antonio Spurs won their home opener over the Phoenix Suns 115-106 and the Detroit Pistons beat the Seattle SuperSonics 106-92.

76ers 116, Rockets 94

Erving in his most productive effort since joining the 76ers, tied teammate George McGinnis - with whom he shared Most Valuable Players honors in the American Basketball Association two years ago - for scoring honors with 27 points.

"I think this is what the future of the 76ers is all about," Dr. J. said. "McGinnis is a very gifted player and we have to work together and help each other."

"He made some moves I couldn't even think of," Rockets forward Rudy Tomjanovich said of Erving, who controlled the ball like a yo-yo while soaring towards the basket.

Nets 96, Bullets 93

"A Tisket, A Tasket, We Want Boe in a Casket," read one banner at the Nets' home opener. The fans obviously have not forgiven Nets owner Roy Boe for peddling the heart and soul of the franchise to Philadelphia. The Nets themselves haven't forgotten, either.

"People were looking for the Doctor and me to play together," noted Tiny Archibald, the Nets' prime off-season acquisition who paced the victory over Washington with 26 points. "so it's not surprising that they stayed away."

The Nets got 65 of their 96 points from their three guards, with John Williamson adding 22 and Al Skinner 17, offsetting a 34-point burst by the Bullets' Phil Chenier.

Spurs 115, Suns 106

Another former Nets player, Larry Kenon, returned to action after missing two games with a stomach virus and poured in a healthy 41 points for the Spurs, who took advantage of 35 Phoenix turnovers to reward the crowd of 8,919 who turned out for their first NBA home game. Alvan Adams topped the Suns with 24 points.

Pistons 106, Sonics 92

Detroit, leading 51-44 at halftime, pulled away in the second half as Bob Lanier scored 11 points in the third period and M.L. Carr netted 12 in the fourth quarter. Lanier finished with a game-high 21 points.

Gene Sears of El Reno, Okla., failed to win a major event in the 1976 Grand American trapshooting tournament but won the over-all championship on the final day in a shootout with Brad Dysinger of Grover Hill, Ohio.

Bowling Tournament At WTSU

The West Texas State University Recreation Club is hosting its first annual Bowling Tournament Nov. 5 and 6 in the WTSU Activities Center bowling lanes.

"We are trying to include as many recreation areas as we can, and already offer tournaments in volleyball and handball," says club sponsor Mrs. Bill Hill, WTSU physical education instructor. "All interested area residents who are 18 years of age or older are invited to participate."

Entry deadline for the handicap tournament is Oct. 29. There are men, women and mixed divisions, and singles, team and total pins events.

"Contestants can either enter the singles event only, which has three games, or singles and team events with six games. The singles and team events qualifies them for the total pins category," Mrs. Hill says.

The entry fee, including shoe rental, for six games is $6, and for three games $3.50. Play starts at 6 p.m. Nov. 5. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners in all events.

"We feel that bowling is another adult recreation area we would like to participate in,"

Mrs. Hill says. "There are more than 6,000 bowlers in Amarillo alone."

The proceeds from the tournament will go for equipment for the Recreation Club and for their field trips, according to Mrs. Hill.

Entry information should indicate the names, addresses, telephone numbers, team name, team captains, team alternates and events.

Tournament director is Vanessa Word. Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Bill Hill, WTSU Activities Center, West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas 79016. Her telephone numbers are 656-2652 (work) or 352-3901.

LCC Chorus Includes Student From Hereford

Myrna Monical, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Monical, 717 Irving, Hereford, is a member of the 70-voice Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus for the 1976-77 school year.

Under the direction of Dr. B. Wayne Hinds, head of the college's Music Department, the group includes freshmen through seniors who are majoring in everything from agriculture to education.

The A Cappella Chorus was formed in 1957, the same year Lubbock Christian College was founded. The chorus performs many times each year, at special occasions on the college campus, before Lubbock-area church groups and during three tours the group takes annually.

Tours this school year will include a January trip to California and an April trip to northeast Texas. The group has already returned from a September tour of Colorado.

Located on the high plains of west Texas, Lubbock Christian College is a fully accredited four year institution offering degree programs in 23 fields. This fall the college boasts a record enrollment of 1,589.

A senior music major, Miss Monical sings second soprano in the A Cappella Chorus. She is also a member of Lambda Omega Alpha social club and a 1972 graduate of Hereford High School.

Networkings Shooting down violence

NBC News is preparing a three-hour special called "Violence in America" for prime-time viewing in January. The program will explore and attempt to come to grips with the different forms of violence in American society...

Meanwhile, the violence level of NBC's prime-time programming has come under attack from an unprecedented source -- another network. CBS has complained to the Television Authority of the National Association of Broadcasters...

allocated last year for programming suitable for children.

NBC replied that CBS was "shooting from the hip." One NBC executive shot back at CBS' September 24, 9 p.m. televiewing of "Magnum Force," a sequel to "Dirty Harry" starring Clint Eastwood...

The Parent-Teacher Association is after all three networks for the profusion of violent programming. Continuing its ongoing battle with the networks, the PTA has two new methods at its disposal this fall. One is a national rating system to indicate which TV programs contain the greatest amount of violence -- as well as to identify who the sponsors are...

While there is still a controversy over the degree to which viewing violence actually contributes toward individual behavior, the PTA is distressed by the romanticizing of misdeeds to the point of a general toleration of violence.

The national president of the organization, which is 6 million members strong, says that the PTA's long-range goal is not to eliminate all violence from television, but rather to reduce the amount, thereby depicting "a true, broad picture of American life."

Lions Club Honors Students

The Hereford Lions Club recognized a couple of outstanding students; and heard a program by employees of the Hereford State Bank at their meeting Wednesday.

Kay Suttle and Tim Ruland, ninth graders at Stanton Junior High, were recognized by the Lions as the outstanding students of the six weeks at Stanton.

Following the presentation of gifts to the two students Irene McKinster and Joy Bunch of the Hereford State Bank presented a program on the Special Organizational Service, Inc., or SOS.

The ladies presented a slide show on how the program works. "Our purpose is to organize and direct, and to try to help make life a little less complicated," Mrs. McKinster said.

The SOS program, which was geared originally for women, is a plan which alerts an individual to his status as to his legal papers and responsibilities.

A Money Management Quiz is available in a pamphlet form, which gives an indication as to what shape an individual stands in regard to wills, insurance policies, inheritance taxes, deeds, and like papers.

Lion Membership Chairman Dickie Gerles reminded the members that only four days were left in the club's membership drive. So far the club has 20 new members during the month.

Lion B.F. Cain has sponsored 14 of the 20 new Lions. New members recruited by Cain include Howard Gault, Randy Armstrong, Jimmy Craig, Gary Richardson, Jay Spain, Isalaz Gamez, Monte Winders, Servio Gamez, Jim McMorries, Forrest Ricketts, W.L. McCullar, Rusty Hendricks, Phil Sciumbato, and Alfred Smith.

The other new Lions and their sponsors are John F. Young, sponsored by John David Bryant; Paul Mason, sponsored by Tommy Bowling; Don Davis, sponsored by Dickie Gerles; Richard Connolly, sponsored by Alvin Sauter; Harold Holder, sponsored by Ed McCreary; and Bob Nigh, sponsored by Speedy Nieman.

The Lions Club has a big weekend of wrestling planned for the Bull Barn Saturday night. A Halloween promotion is underway for Saturday night's action.

Free cotton candy will be given to all children under 12 years of age at the matches as the Lions offer a spectacular card in hopes of keeping local youngsters off the streets and creating mischief.

The program has the backing of the Hereford Police Department.

Included on the card Saturday night will be Dory Funk, Jr. against Dennis Stamp, a match which will be referred to by Stanly Marsh, III of Amarillo.

The main event will see Ricky Romero and Scott Casey take on Alex Perez and Tank Patton in a 'No-Disqualification' match.

ART LOAN

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Princeton University has been loaned a group of paintings, watercolors, drawings and sculptures by Cezanne, Van Gogh, Degas, Toulouse-Lautrec, Gauguin and other modern masters, the university's Art Museum has announced.

The works in this two-year loan were taken from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pearlman and the Pearlman Foundation. The Pearlman Collection includes what is said to be one of the finest groups of works by Cezanne in any collection, public or private.

To promote the educational value of the hobby of stamp collecting, the Philatelic Foundation in New York is now making available to all schools a color slide and tape program called "The Romance of Stamp Collecting."

Ray May Keep Money Earned Under Hays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elizabeth Ray can keep the money

she earned from ex-Rep. Wayne Hays' "Oversight Subcommittee," at least for now.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Flannery dismissed three private suits which asked that Hays and Miss Ray be forced to repay the federal government.

Three private citizens — Edward Thompson, Anthony Cennamo, and Anthony Martin-Trigona — brought the suits under the federal false claims act. They alleged that Hays and Miss Ray defrauded the government by arranging her to be paid a clerical salary when in reality she was only his mistress.

Hays, once chairman of the House Administration Committee, resigned from Congress earlier this year after newspaper accounts quoted Miss Ray as saying she was on the payroll only as his mistress.

The Ohio Democrat acknowledged a "personal relationship" with her but denied that she was on the payroll solely to be his mistress.

The false claims act authorizes private citizens or the government to sue to recover money paid out by the government for fraudulent reasons.

Flannery, in dismissing the private suits on Tuesday, noted that the Justice Department is investigating the Hays case. He said the three plaintiffs had only the information they had gotten from the newspapers, which the department also has.

Justice Department lawyers expressed fears that a private suit, based on an incomplete investigation, might result in a verdict that would hinder a possible government effort to prosecute or to recover the money.

Flannery's dismissal of the private suit leaves open the possibility that the government might bring a similar action of its own.

Department sources say, however, that attorneys in the criminal division have concluded there is little chance of successfully prosecuting Hays because Miss Ray would be the only witness to present her version of the relationship.

But Atty. Gen. Edward Levi has made no final decision on how or whether to move against Hays.

Connally Takes To Road To Promote Democrats

AUSTIN (AP)- Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally began a four-day tour of Texas Wednesday for President Ford with the declared aim of bringing the presidential race into "sharper focus" for Texans.

"A lot of people don't realize what the election of Jimmy Carter would do to Texas' economy," Connally told a news conference in Austin.

He flew on to Waco and a schedule that called for four speeches and two more news conferences today.

"The President has gained ground in the nation and in Texas the last week and he will carry Texas," Connally predicted.

He said President Ford was coming to Houston Saturday because "he had not been there since the convention, Houston is the largest city and has one-sixth of the vote...if he hadn't come back to Texas people would think he had given up on Texas."

Connally said he thought a great many voters were still undecided because the national campaign the last month has been involved mostly with Ford's remark on Eastern Europe, Carter's remarks in Playboy magazine, and a joke told by Earl Butz.

Connally said he would discuss mostly on his tour the Carter stand on taxes, right to work laws, and energy-- "the effect on the Texas economy. What is would do to Houston and Beaumont and other places."

COLLEGE STATION...The importance of agriculture to Texas and the nation was underlined here (Oct. 19; when U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger of New Braunfels said agricultural exports paid for 1975 foreign oil imports to this country.

He also predicted de-regulation of the gas industry during the next session of Congress.

The announcements came during a press conference for Krueger and U.S. House Speaker Carl Albert, who visited Texas A&M University on a hurried, four-day tour of agricultural research facilities in Nebraska, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Also fielding questions from the news media were Rep. Olin E. "Tiger" Teague of College Station; John Cargile, of San Angelo, second vice president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; and T.A. Cunningham, of Goliad, president of the Independent Cattlemen's Association.

Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station hosted the tour of A&M's research facilities.

Krueger repeatedly emphasized the need for ample agricultural research funding.

"We have the world's best agriculture, but to keep it great, we must support research more liberally," he said.

Research at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station "will be extremely important to the nation--as it has been to Texas in the past," he said.

Krueger called for more research effort on livestock, the "cud-chewing" animals in particular. Grazing animals, he said, can convert into food those plants that can't be used directly by humans.

In answers to questions by reporters, Albert said U.S. agriculture can be a strong lever in dealing with other nations.

In reference to the effect Gov. Carter might have on agricultural policy if elected president, Albert said it has always "been the Democratic view that the health of agriculture is essential to the health of the nation."

Cunningham, asked about government influence in the beef cattle business, said, "We have too much government we can't control."

While at Texas A&M, the legislators saw such Experiment Station research as embryo transplants and artificial insemination in livestock, comparison of beef cattle breeds, livestock disease problems, and the Tenderstretch method of carcass processing.

West Texas Air Route Approved

AUSTIN (AP)- Hearing examiner John Soule of the Texas Aeronautics Commission today recommended approval of Air Southwest's application to add Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock and Midland-Odessa to its routes.

He said the commission is expected to vote on his recommendation at its next meeting, which has been set tentatively for Dec. 1.

Soule said public testimony had indicated "an overwhelming desire for Southwest's lower fares, increased frequencies, and service to Dallas Love Field and Houston Hobby Airport in additional Texas markets."

Soule predicted that the new service would encourage more Texans to fly and could save two million passengers up to $28 million in fares the first year if other carriers match Southwest's fares.

As an example of Southwest's proposed fares, Soule said a passenger could fly between Austin and Dallas for as little as $15; Corpus Christi-El Paso for $35; Lubbock-Harlingen for $30; and Midland-Odessa and Houston for $25.

It would be higher for week-day flights between 6:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Southwest now uses 112-passenger Boeing 737 jets in its operations.

Mackey Inaugurated Tech President

Dr. Cecil Mackey was formally inaugurated as the ninth president of Texas Tech University and the second president of the TTU School of Medicine here Tuesday (Oct. 26).

Dr. Judson F. Williams of El Paso, chairman of the Board of Regents, installed Dr. Mackey who came to Texas Tech from the presidency of the University of South Florida, Tampa, Sept. 1.

Dr. David A. Mathews, secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and on leave for the presidency of the University of Alabama, delivered the inaugural address.

Thousands of visiting dignitaries, many in full academic regalia, participated in the proceedings which ceremoniously consummated Mackey's assumption of the presidency.

Among visitors were top officials of the nation's learned and professional societies; presidents and chancellors of colleges and universities which hold membership in organizations to which Texas Tech belongs; special donors; national, state, district, county and local public officials, and "friends and family" of the university.

Dr. Kenneth H. Ashworth, commissioner of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, introduced Dr. Mathews, Dr. Glenn E. Barnett, executive vice president of Texas Tech, president of the medical school's class of '79.

A reception in The Museum of Texas Tech University concluded the day's inaugural activities.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Ford administration said Wednesday that government spending so far this year has fallen $11.4 billion below what was budgeted.

Many economists both in and out of the government say the shortfall in spending may have been a major cause of the slowdown in economic growth in the past six months. The shortfall in spending in the last three months alone has been $7.6 billion.

When the government spends

less than is budgeted, it buys less than planned, which can result in a slowdown in production and loss of profit and jobs in the private economy.

Administration budget experts have been at a loss to fully explain the reasons for the federal spending slowdown, even though it has been known for several months that a slowdown was taking place.

A joint statement by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and Budget Director James T. Lynn said the slowdown occurred throughout the government, with the largest share - $3.6 billion - occurring in the Defense Department.

They said total spending during the July through September period, known as the transition quarter, was $94.5 billion, down from $102.1 billion estimated in July. There was a deficit during the period of $12.7 billion, since receipts totaled $81.8 billion.

Although Lynn has said previously that the reduced pace of federal spending has no connection in economic growth, some other leading economists, including several in the Ford administration, say it must have been a major factor.

The spending slowdown has occurred simultaneously with a setback to economic growth, which was at a disappointing rate of only 4 per cent in the last quarter.

Ideals To Open Center

Beginning today, the Hereford Ideal Grocery Store joins the other retail outlets of the chain in opening a coupon exchange center, where customers may exchange coupons they don't use for other coupons they do use.

"The purpose of the coupon exchange center is to help people help one another in saving money," said Bob Billman, Ideal division manager.

"We have no restrictions on coupon use other than those printed on each coupon," he said.

"There are many coupons sent out by manufacturers or appearing in newspapers for which some people have no use. With our free coupon exchange centers, they can drop off those they don't use and pick up any that are useful to them. It's a nice way to share and save."

The coupon exchange stand will be set up today and will continue indefinitely, according to Billman. "It's just another way to show that Ideals is working harder than ever to our customers save more."

Raid Backer In Prison

DALLAS (AP) - Sterling Blake Davis, who financed a raid on Mexican a prison to free his son and 13 others, has begun serving a prison sentence himself for violation of probation.

U.S. District Court Judge Sarah Hughes revoked Davis' probation last week on a 1974 fraud conviction and sentenced him to four years and 10 months in prison.

Davis surrendered to authorities Tuesday.

He still faces sentencing on a conviction of conspiracy to export an illegal weapon into Mexico for the March 1976 raid on the Piedras Negras, Mexico, jail.

Davis' son, Sterling Blake Jr., is now in a federal penitentiary for parole violation.

Local CowBelles Attend Annual State Convention

Hereford CowBelles had the largest delegation present during the fourth annual CowBelle State Convention held Sunday and Monday at Amarillo.

Those receiving recognition at the Awards Luncheon included Mmes. Melvin Cordrey, Bob Sims, Rachael Hunter, Dyal Garner, A.K. Roark, Robert Josseland, and Bill Albright.

Others included Mmes. Joe Reinauer Sr., Bill Walden, Jim Perrin, David Hutchins, Dick Coupe, Elmo Hall, N.E. Tyler, Carroll Newsom, Neal Lemons and Charles Springer.

Also, registered and attending the reception Sunday evening was David Hutchins, Hereford's Honorary CowBelle of the Year.

Highlighting the convention was the announcement that Mrs. Reinauer won first place in the Human Interest Story Contest. She was awarded an engraved silver tray at the Awards Luncheon.

Regulations for the contest were that the story submitted must be an original true life experience of the wife of a cattleman and the person entering must be a CowBelle member.

Also, the story was required to be the experience of the other or of another person and show the entrant's interest, involvement and contribution to the beef industry. Each State CowBelle organization is allowed to submit only one entry to the National contest.

Delegates to the convention voted to participate in the American National CowBelle "Road Block" promotion campaign.

This is an all-out promotional effort and aimed toward cities. The Meat Board, Texas Agricultural Products and Retail Grocers will be involved.

During peak food days, CowBelle members will be giving in-store demonstrations on beef, visting with consumers and convincing them "Beef Sure Gives You A Lot For Your Money." Plans are now being made for promotions in Texas' larger cities.

Attending the reception Sunday evening at the Quality Inn pool area from Hereford were Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Josseland, Carroll Newsom, Charles Springer, Bill Albright and David Hutchins.

Also, Messrs. and Mmes. Virgil Marsh, Charles Hoover, Elmo Hall, Neal Lemons, Melvin Cordrey, Dyal Garner, N.E. Tyler and Mrs. Dick Coupe and Rachael Hunter.

Texas CowBelles were honored with a Fashion Show and brunch Monday morning by the Texas Cattle Feeders Association at the Hilton Inn Garden Room. Anne Foster of Amarillo presented the style show with CowBelle models.

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Sims modeled fashions with approximately 50 other participants to "hustle" music.

Recipients of door prizes given away at the convention from Hereford were Mmes. Newsom, Tyler and Cordrey. Hereford CowBelles donated a China hand-painted plate with the Texas CowBelle emblem done by Mrs. Garner.

Mrs. Josseland was state convention chairman; hospitality chairman, Mrs. Newsom; and Mrs. Reinauer served as decorations chairman.

Elected delegates to the convention were Mmes. Hutchins, Sims and Albright and Pro-Chem-Co Cattle Co. was sponsor of the Hospitality Room.

Hereford CowBelle members participated in preparation for the convention and assisted with decorations at the Hospitality Room and other responsibilities at the convention.

Receives Coveted Award

Mrs. Garth B. Thomas presented a program on lineage research to members of Los Ciboleros Chapter of DAR when the group met recently at the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service building.

The speaker told of the Genealogy Society and Library in Salt Lake City, Utah which is owned by the Church of Latter Day Saints.

She stated that they had over 130,000 volumes of genealogy reference books and were equipped to provide expert assistance.

Mrs. Thomas also explained that there were 190 branch library repositories with several being located in major cities in Texas. She further stated that all genealogy materials owned by the church have been micro-filmed and are being preserved in the Granite Mountain Record Vaults near Salt Lake City.

Ann Landers Husband Needs Help

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have had considerable experience as a psychiatric nurse and would like to comment on the letter from the wife who wrote that her husband refused to kiss their baby boy because he had "never kissed a guy before."

Both you and the wife recognized the problem to be "deep-seated" but you didn't suggest psychiatric help. I believe he needs it before he abuses the child, if he hasn't done so. In my opinion, there are one of two reasons for his strange behavior:

1. The father considers the baby competition for his wife's affection, as if the baby were an adult. One of these days he will attack the youngster as if he WERE an adult.

2. The man is a bisexual and will go to bizarre lengths to convince his wife that his straight.

What do you think of these diagnoses? -- Old Army Nurse

DEAR NURSE: Right on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am aware that a girl under 18 can get an abortion without consent from her parents. What I need to know right away is can a girl's parents FORCE her to have an abortion when she is under age if she doesn't want to have one?

I'll be watching for your answer in the paper. I can't risk receiving a letter from you on this subject. Hurry, please.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine A. Knabe of Clinton, Okla. are the parents of a son, Gregory Dwaine, born Oct. 24. He weighed 4 lbs. 4 oz.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Knabe of Star Route and Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Howard of Childress.

The couple have another son, 18 month-old Richard.

Church Women Plan Observance Nov. 4

Church Women United of Hereford invite their fellow residents to observe World Community Day with them on Thursday, Nov. 4, at King's Manor Retirement Home.

The service will open at 9:30 a.m., following the theme, "Into The Third Century--Unafraid."

Strong Feelings Against.

DEAR STRONG FEELINGS: The recent Supreme Court ruling on Missouri's abortion law said, "Abortion is an intensely personal right. A minor capable of understanding the gravity of the operation need not share this right even with another member of the family."

On the other hand, a Massachusetts law requiring consent of both parents was returned to a lower court for further interpretation. This means the law varies according to state. It is not clear-cut and there is bound to be even more confusion as time goes by.

My advice to you, however, is this: If you have "Strong Feelings Against," DO NOT have an abortion. The guilt would be unbearable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My dear husband passed away after 22 years of a wonderful marriage. I was grief-stricken, as were several of our friends and relatives. Jack was a fine person and a great many people loved him.

I am now looking at a $2,000 funeral bill. Not one of our relatives or friends has come forward and offered to help me pay it.

Instead, I have received hundreds of notes written on sympathy cards and dozens of rambling letters telling me what a great guy Jack was. I've been reading the same stuff over and over until I'm blue in the face. These letters are no comfort. They only make me feel worse.

There were so many baskets of flowers at the funeral, the place looked like a greenhouse. For several days after, people sent flowers to ME to life my spirits. It would have been more sensible had they sent checks to help pay the funeral bill. Am I right? -- Friendship 1 Is Fine But It Doesn't Pay The Bills

DEAR FRIEND: Sorry, dear, it is not considered good taste to send the bereaved checks to help pay the funeral expenses. Be grateful that so many friends sent flowers and letters.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting -- What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Some sound reasons to keep Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

He's a hard worker who puts people and their problems ahead of all else; his record bears this out.

He's helped increase social security benefits for the elderly.

Lloyd Bentsen supported the tax cut and favored its extension to lighten the load on the average working man and woman.

He pioneered major reform of pension laws to protect retirement incomes for millions of Texans.

Lloyd Bentsen not only voted against the Congressional pay raise, but has continued his protest by returning to the Treasury each month the amount of the raise.

He's sponsored legislation to make life more productive for our blind and handicapped.

And, we can credit Senator Bentsen for taking the lead in securing increased funding for agricultural research to keep our nation's food productivity high.

It was Senator Bentsen who introduced the War Powers Act requiring Congressional consent before any President can commit U.S. troops to war.

And, the Senator was a leading proponent of campaign reform legislation to protect America from a recurrence of Watergate.

Lloyd Bentsen's diversified background and depth of experience in the military, business and public life have made him an effective representative. He's helped steer our nation back on the road to economic recovery while working for better management of our tax dollars.

Being a man of values, he places the highest importance on integrity in office and in delivering an honest day's work for a day's pay.

You gave him over 63% of the vote in the Democratic Primary. Let's make it a solid victory November 2nd.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Gladys Manjeot

A certain autumn restless will overtake many of us this fall. Perhaps we feel caught up in the tempo of the circling and passing migratory flocks, or perhaps it is an awareness that the coming winter will soon limit our activities in our gardens.

Autumn is also an excellent time to visit in other states, this I did. While visiting in Wichita, Kan with Art's folk, I had some exciting times following woodland paths. It was great to see the beauty of the fall foliage which many of our deciduous trees displayed. The red, oaks, yellow maples and sumac were in full autumn dress. Colors are so gorgeous and really a gardener who enjoys and studies nature becomes thrilled at the fascinating beauty of the massed colors. They are undecidable.

Not only do trees create beauty, they add much to our soil when their leaves fall and become decomposed. This is nature's way of adding humus to our soil. It is the final result of the decomposition of organic matter something-- (plant and animal) that was once alive. Without humus, the soil is merely a collection of assorted minerals. Evidence of humus, is noted in the soil by the dark color added to soil. The humus particles themselves are too small to be visible.

Gardeners can make compost piles through the use of fallen leaves and other plants which are removed from the garden after freezing weather. Last week I was busy planting spring flowering bulbs, and getting the lawns, trees, and flower beds ready for their long winter sleep.

In the process I added fallen leaves and other plants to the compost pile, and also added some humus to soil around perennial borders, shrubs and other plants. By adding humus the texture of the soil is affected, also lightens and aerates it, and helps it to absorb and hold moisture. After adding the humus, I watered trees, shrubs, roses, and lawns.

Remember in all your garden chores that humus is the hub of social cativity; it is at the center of a maze of processes almost impossible to analyze, but basic to the well-being of soil and plants.

While working with the soil and plants I noticed a large number of insects. Big green flies, other flying insects, also chewing worms etc. Among these were some of the 'Friends of gardeners. Lady bugs were very numerous, and busy seeking food and shelter, also saw several mantis. I hope they hibernate in my garden and will be ready to help in the springtime.

A hard winter is being predicted, so it is wise to lift dahlia tubers, gladioli corms, and other bulbs of summer flowering plants, which will be harmed by winter. Also the annuals which have completed their cycle, and were winter killed, these should be added to the compost. It is wise to try to get those which have a heavy seed crop removed before their seed pods burst and seed fall enmass on the soil. Remember to save some of the seeds which are well matured. Dry them completely, store in clean bottles or jars, seal and place name on paper and put in the container.

BEAUTY IN HEREFORD: There are many beautiful trees in full autumn dress. The trees on the south lawn at King's Manor are very lovely, the red makes a most pleasing contrast with the yellows. The chrysanthemums seem to have weathered the frost freeze. They have a large range of color and these can be seen all over Hereford.

The reds at the Carille home in the Rio Vista addition; golden hued chrysanthemums at the Ethridge home, 400 Western (Many of these beautiful blossoms went to church and to shut-ins.)

There is an exceptionally beautiful planting at one of the homes on Douglas. The blend of colors is excellent, and varieties are interesting. Many splashes of white mums are in various gardens. When I returned home, I found many of my choice mums in full flower red, pink, lavender, yellow, white, and my favorite daisy (white and gold) type.

FACTS About the official Pledge of Allegiance to the flag: During the election campaigns, I found this bit of information in The National Gardener.

Mrs. Wm H. Benson, National Council of G.C. personnel chairman, gave the following interesting facts.

This pledge was first published in The Youth's Companion on September 8th 1892, in the following form: "I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all". The words, "The flag of the United States of America" were substituted for "my flag" in 1924. The pledge was officially recognized by the U.S.A. in 1942, just 50 years after its first printing.

In 1954, "under God" was added making it read: I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under god, indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

A controversy arose concerning the authorship of the pledge in 1892. Claims were made by both James B. Upham, one of the editors of The Youth's Companion and Francis Bellamy, an assistant editor. In 1939 a committee of the U.S. Flag Association ruled in favor of Bellamy, and a detailed report issued claim of authorship rests upon the more solid ground."

So, 65 years after 1892 all was

Hospital Auxiliary Has Guest Speaker

Kathryn Acton, Director of Nursing at Deaf Smith General Hospital, spoke to members of Deaf Smith Hospital Auxiliary Monday evening in the Reddy Room of Southwestern public Service building.

Mrs. Acton explained about hospital equipment which would make an appropriate gift from the auxiliary to give to the hospital.

She also described an IV machine which automatically regulates the speed of the infusions and about a chair for immobile patients which would enable them to get out of bed for brief periods.

During the business meeting with Mrs. Audine Dettmann presiding, Grace Covington was appointed to obtain prices and more details so that the auxiliary could make a decision on the hospital gift.

Also, Mrs. Dettmann reported on the Hospital Convention which she attended in Dallas in September.

The members voted to buy some life record books to be offered for sale to all the families of new babies and Regina Warren was appointed to make arrangements for a Christmas sale to be scheduled in the near future.

Before the close of the meeting, Mrs. Dettmann appointed a nominating committee consisting of Mmes. White, Morgan and Seiver and the next meeting was planned January 24 at which time new officers will be installed.

Jennie Trevino was welcomed into the organization as a new member by those present at the covered dish dinner.

Housing, a very sick industry, is expected to perk up slightly in 1977. The Conference Board reports. New housing starts should rise from 1.4 million units in 1976 to 1.7 million in 1977. Housing continues to be lashed by inflation, including the rising cost of money, land and building materials. The median price of a new single-family house is now more than $46,000.

Diary Of A Housewife Who Is Going To Put More Romance Into Her Marriage Beginning With Tonight's Dinner:

4:30 p.m. Fred deserves more than he gets. Works like a dog in that Xerox jungle. Up at dawn, the long ride in and back ... and what for? Just to make things easier for us. Tonight's going to be different. I'll even cook with unsaturated fat so he'll live longer.

4:45 p.m. Won't he be surprised. I've got all his favorites. Lasagna, red wine and chilled forks and plates to go with the salad. Never knew a man could be so paranoid about serving salad on a plate that comes steaming out of the dishwasher. So I'll indulge him.

5:00 p.m. Let's see, have I forgotten anything? Salt and pepper on the table, glasses that match and I gave the fork that fits the overbite to one of the kids.

5:30 p.m. Poor Fred. Cooped up all day with that dingy secretary who still wears her typing pin with the 30 on it. There's something wrong with the secretary when I call my husband and she asks me to spell my last name. No wonder he has to work so hard. He's doing the work of two.

5:45 p.m. He's late. Oh well, probably couldn't be helped. My goodness, a wife should be happy her husband works a little overtime. Shows he's ambitious and takes his work seriously. Lucky I understand these things. I'll turn the oven down to 275.

6:00 p.m. You know the trouble with Fred. He's incompetent. Always has been. Some men just cannot estimate how much time a job will take. They're not realistic about themselves. I'm certainly not being unreasonable. It seems to me if everyone else can bust out of there at closing time, so could Fred ... if he wanted to.

6:15 p.m. Close that oven door! What do you mean, 'What is it?' It's lassagna with hardening of the mozzarella... just the way your father likes it! 6:35 p.m. It's funny. I never wanted to get married. Anyone who's first words were "room Service" should never have been forced into a marriage in the first place.

Consumers Informed Of Food Shortages

COLLEGE STATION—Short pecan and raisin supplies will raise prices on those holiday-baking items, but plentiful dried prunes can help alleviate the situation somewhat, Gwendolynne Clyatt says.

Wet weather in California's San Joaquin Valley caused the raisin shortage which will result in price increases for that fruit, she added.

"However, dried prunes are plentiful—with production estimated to be seven per cent higher than last year. In many recipes, dried prunes can be substituted for raisins."

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Lower prices may be in store for cranberries as the season advances—with production above last year's crop to such an extent that it is the second largest on record, the specialist noted.

Economical fruit choices currently include apples, pears and grapes.

Top vegetables buys, in terms of economy and quality, are cabbage, cucumbers, squash, green peppers, dry onions and potatoes, Mrs. Clyatt said.

Greater potato acreage planted in increasing output to possible-record totals—all resulting in "attractive prices."

"Generally, the most economical potato choices are 'by-the-bag' if consumers can use that quantity," she added.

Head lettuce continues in the "high-price" bracket due to adverse weather conditions in growing areas recently, Mrs. Clyatt said.

"At poultry counters, turkey is in bountiful supply with larger-size birds carrying the lowest price-per-pound tags."

"Also, special prices appear on fryer chickens, since supplies are more than adequate to meet the demand now that the cookout season is about over."

"At beef counters, many specials are offered, so if consumers find a good buy on cuts they use regularly, they might consider buying extras to store in the freezer for use later in winter.

"Cuts often featured currently are chuck cuts—both steaks and roasts, along with round, sirloin and T-bone steaks, ground beef and liver."

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Cheapest vegetables often are not the best value. Balance price against freshness, tenderness, shape and appearance, size. "Trim-away" factors and total waste.

Plan Saves Food Dollars

COLLEGE STATION -- A cost-saving plan for grocery shopping? Impossible, you say? It can be done, says Mary Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"For economy, plan meals around the less expensive foods from each of the four food groups—the milk group, meat group, vegetable-fruit group and cereal-bakery products group," she advises.

She suggested some general tips to find good buys and cut an expensive food budget to a cost-saving plan.

"Compare prices at the store. Unit pricing, now used by many stores, allows cost comparison of a food in containers of different sizes and of various brands and grades."

"In unit pricing, the cost of a single unit such as an ounce, pound or quart of a food is shown, usually on the shelf just below the food. From the items that will meet your needs, choose the one with the lowest price per unit.

"To find the best buys among types and cuts of meat or among raw, frozen or canned vegetables, compare the cost of an amount needed for a family meal or the cost of the serving."

Another hint for the homemaker—watch for specials in the newspaper ads and at the store. Stock up on good buys for the family's likes if storage is available. But don't overbuy—waste "leaks" the budget away fast, she said. "Cut cost when shopping for meat group foods by selecting the cuts, grades and types of meat, poultry and fish that provide the most cooked lean for the money spent. These give best return in nutrients for the food dollar. Consumers can set a top price limit for dinner meat or set an average amount as a goal, allowing for some higher and some lower cost items," she suggested. Study the nutrition labeling on commercially-prepared main dishes before replacing them with home-prepared dishes, this specialist advised. "Frequently, commercially-prepared main dishes require less meat than a home recipe for the same dish. "When reading labels, commercial foods labeled primarily meat with gravy, meatballs and sauce and pork and dressing, are required to be only one-half meat, for example. Meat pies must be at least one-fourth meat. Foods labeled spaghetti with meatballs and sauce and lasagne with meat sauce must be at least one-eighth meat. Usually these convenience foods are more expensive than home-prepared ones containing the same amount of meat. Even so, if time is a major concern, they may be best." Usually ground beef, liver, chicken, turkey, many types of fish, dry beans, split peas and peanut butter are good meat group food buys, Mrs. Sweeten said. When shopping for meat, look for USDA grades on beef you buy. USDA prime, choice and good are the grades most often found in retail markets. Compared to choice, similar cuts of good grade beef contain more lean and usually cost less per serving, but they are not quite as juicy and flavorful. Prime beef is generally considered to have the best flavor, but contains less lean and is more expensive than other grades, she explained. "When shopping for vegetable-fruit group foods, compare the cost of the amount needed to serve the family. Certain fruits and vegetables, such as apples and carrots, are almost always economical whether fresh, frozen or canned. Others, such as avocados and strawberries are economical only in season or when supplies are bountiful. Look for good quality produce but limit purchases even at the bargain prices to amounts that can be used while they are still good.

"Try lower-priced brands because you may like them as well as the more expensive ones. Often chain store and seldom-advertised brands may be similar in quality to widely-known products-but cost less." Add seasoning, such as sauces to vegetables, in additional home preparation. Frozen and canned vegetables with sauces or seasoning are more expensive. Also, large bags of frozen vegetables may be a good buy for both small and large families Use just the amount needed and save the rest for later use, the specialist advised.

When buying milk group foods, buy fresh fluid milk at the supermarket or dairy store if possible. Home delivered milk and milk bought in special service stores cost more. Gallon or half-gallon containers are economical choices if storage is available. Another good milk buy, especially for cooking, is non-fat dry milk. It costs less than fresh whole milk and can be reconstituted, chilled and served as a beverage. Mixing equal amounts of fresh whole milk with reconstituted non-fat dry milk will enhance the flavor. American, cheddar and Swiss cheese can be economical in place of milk in the diet. Yogurt, ice cream and ice milk can also replace some of the milk but do add cost. Check dates on the containers of milk and milk products. Ask the grocer how to use the dates on products as an indication of freshness. Most of the cereal-bakery products group foods are well liked and many are inexpensive. Select whole grain and enriched products for money's worth in nutrients. Buy uncooked cereals if there will be time to cook them and the family likes them. They're usually less expensive than ready-to-eat kind. Ready-to-eat cereals, especially sugar coated one, in individual-size boxes are almost always more expensive. Decide which baked goods can be made for less at home, depending on situation and time. Get the facts, by comparing the cost of the ingredients for a favorite recipe with the price of an equal amount of a similar ready-to-eat bakery product that the family likes. Cakes, cookies, biscuits and muffins baked at home usually cost less than the commercial products. Also, using prepared mixes to save time frequently adds only slightly to the cost of home prepared products.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
 Today is Thursday, Oct. 28, the 302nd day of 1976. There are 64 days left in the year.
 Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1962, a possibly dangerous confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union eased as Moscow announced that Soviet missiles were being withdrawn from Cuba.
 On this date:
 In 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered Cuba on his first voyage to the New World.
 In 1636, Harvard College was founded in Massachusetts.
 In 1866, the Statue of Liberty was dedicated on Bedloe's Island in New York harbor.
 In 1919, Congress overrode a veto by President Woodrow Wilson and enacted national prohibition.
 In 1929, the Roman Catholic Patriarch of Venice was elected Pope. He took the name John XXIII.
 Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson received a royal welcome when he arrived in Bangkok, Thailand.

 Five years ago: The British House of Commons voted in favor of Britain's membership in the European Common Market.
 One year ago: President Anwar Sadat of Egypt met with President Ford at the White House and urged him to end the U.S. diplomatic boycott of the Palestine Liberation Organization.
 Today's birthdays: Scientist Jonas Salk is 62. British actress Joan Plowright is 47.
 Thought for today: History is all explained by geography. - novelist and poet Robert Penn Warren.
 Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, fighting continued around White Plains, N.Y. - with the British capturing Chatterton's Hill.

Black Decree
 Gondolas once glided along the canals of Venice in colorful trappings as nobles vied in display. But edicts in 1562 and later decreed: "Henceforth one color for all."

Credit File Important

COLLEGE STATION -- Your record of credit transactions is kept at the local credit bureau. It usually consists of factual data, rather than a rating on the order of a Dun and Bradstreet rating for corporations. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says. She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
 "Information recorded on a personal file usually includes the following: opening or closing a retail account, making prompt payments or being consistently late, fulfilling a contract or defaulting, name, address, employer and former employer, social security number.
 "Other information recorded come from public records, such as a contract suit, a judgment, divorce notices, marriages, a tax lien or a bankruptcy, or reports of arrest, indictment or conviction of a crime."
 She said that if you are interested in your credit file, you can examine it in person for a small fee or without charge, if you are challenging a credit, employment or insurance denial.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act gives each person the right to check their credit bureau record upon request and proper identification.
 "To establish a good credit rating, be financially responsible. Pay bills on time. Do not overextend by borrowing or charging more than can be paid back. In order to take advantage of the credit market, the better a financial record, the better the chances to qualify for credit, charge accounts, and low cost loans when needed."

Manchee Family Receives Honor

The Mal Manchee family was named "Family of the Year" when Friends of Deaf Smith County Library convened for their annual membership meeting Tuesday evening in the Heritage Room of the Library.
 Gwen London, county librarian, presented the Manchees with a plaque with their name inscribed on it which will be displayed at the library.

 Also, during the meeting with Mrs. J.D. Neill, 1976 president of the organization presiding, a new slate of officers were elected.
 Mrs. Edward Allison will serve as president; Mrs. Ruben McGilvary, first vice president; Mrs. James Hamby, second vice president; Anne Combs, secretary; Robert L. Thompson, treasurer; and Audine Dettmann, Helen Eades and Mary Hammett, directors.
 Stanton Junior High School's mixed choir, under the direction of Doug Morris, presented a musical program and Rex Easterwood gave a brief talk on the history of the organization.
 Refreshments were served to approximately 50 persons in attendance.

Uniformed Volunteers Convene

Members of the Uniformed Volunteers of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross met in regular session Tuesday at Civic Club Center.
 During the business meeting, members present recorded 106 hours of volunteer service and the date of their meetings was changed from the third Thursday of each month to the fourth Tuesday.
 Present for the meeting were Corinne Neely, secretary; Ora Morgan, chairman; and Isabel Claudio, Jerry Jackson, Nell Culpepper, Wilma J. Bryan and Genevieve O. Miller.

And most of the brethren have been made confident in the Lord because of my imprisonment, and are much more bold to speak the word of God without fear. - Philippians 1:14.
 "It is never safe to look into the future with eyes of fear." - Edward H. Harriman, American industrialist.

Children Misbehave For Varied Reasons

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a two-part series on children's behavior.

COLLEGE STATION -- Have you ever wondered why your little ones seem so naughty at times or if they ever will grow up?
 Adults sometimes forget that children misbehave just because they are children, Ilene Miller, a family life education specialist reminds.

"Young children are immature and lack the experiences, which adults have had, to help them make wise decisions. Without thinking about the consequences, a child may act impulsively, such as chasing a ball into the street or pulling a hot pan off of the range."

Mrs. Miller is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
 "Children are also curious, and it is their curiosity which often gets them into trouble."

They are so intent on learning why or how something works that they forget the rules and touch or taste things which are 'off limits.' Parents think the child is disobedient when really he is just being normally curious about his surroundings," she added.

Boredom and a desire for attention are other reasons children often seemingly misbehave. Parents help a child learn acceptable behavior by praising acceptable actions and ignoring inappropriate actions, as long as the behavior is not dangerous to the child, to others or to property. Mothers and fathers can also guide their little ones into more acceptable activities if the children are bored or seeking attention.

If your youngster seems to be especially difficult to live with, perhaps he is letting you know he is growing more independent. For example, the typical 2 year old goes through the "no" stage to demonstrate his independence.

Older children may exert their independence by insisting on doing things themselves. If parents understand this is a normal process of growth, it is easier to maintain a sense of humor and patience even if the children's actions are exasperating.

Learning to act appropriately in different situations is a slow, sometimes painful process for children. Parents help a child learn right from wrong by providing patient and consistent guidance based on the needs and abilities of the individual child. Understanding and respecting the child's feelings also helps create a good climate in which acceptable behavior can be learned more successfully she said.

Relieves the stress in your system.

You're looking at Lindsay's patented Uni-Knuckle. It works on the same principle as a universal joint. Allows overhead pipe in a Lindsay Zimmatic center pivot to move up, down, back or forward with no stress on the system.
 Inside the Uni-Knuckle is a split sleeve coupler and rubber boot. This keeps the joint water-tight, even when the system is running over extremely rough ground. The boot is a special compound, selected for long life.

Of course, as time goes by, you may have to replace a boot or two. That happens with any coupler. But with a Zimmatic you don't need 10 men and a boy to do the job. There's no internal joint to worry about. No need to prop up and disconnect the line. The Uni-Knuckle stays in place, supporting the line. You just reach in, remove the split metal coupler and old boot. Slip in a new one, put the coupler back in place you're in business again. When it comes to making repairs, the Uni-Knuckle relieves the stress on your system, too.

In case you're wondering how the Uni-Knuckle handles twisting action in the line caused when one tower is going downhill and the next is going uphill - it doesn't. Lindsay takes care of that with a separate flex feature. It's patented, too. We'll be glad to show you how it works, tell you about all the other features that make Lindsay Zimmatic the new leader in center pivot irrigation systems.

County's First Bale

Marvin Payne, left, manager of the Hereford Farmers Gin Inc. poses with fellow workers next to the county's first bale of cotton for 1976. Others pictured in the front row include Raymond Benavites, ginner and Sam Burke, bookkeeper. The load of cotton yielding the first bale was delivered by W.J. Schumacher last Friday and was ginned at the local facility last Saturday morning. The load yielded 720 pounds of seed and the bale contained 520 pounds of lint. Schumacher pre-watered the cotton ground but the crop received no irrigation during the summer and yielded approximately 3/4 bales per acre on the field in which the first bale was stripped. According to Payne, a shortage of cotton this year has prompted the market to rise to almost double the level at which it stood at this time last year. "Nearly any grade of cotton will bring 60 cents per pound this year," he commented. [Photo By Jim Steiert]

Cotton Market Strong With Smaller Crop

"There should be continued strength in the cotton market in the months ahead as crop prospects have been reduced by adverse weather," says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Freeze and frost damage in West Texas on Oct. 8 and 20 should reduce the Texas cotton crop by about 250,000 bales, says Charles Baker. The total cotton crop in the United States was estimated at 10.2 million bales on Oct. 1 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. At the same time, the USDA estimated the Texas crop at 3 million bales.

"Farmers still own about 50 per cent of the 1976 crop--so they can refuse to sell on the price dips," contends Baker. "Domestic mills and foreign buyers need cotton and will compete for it. World consumption will exceed world production by about 2 million bales this year."

Looking ahead, Baker expects 1977 cotton plantings to be higher--perhaps 5.2 million acres in Texas and 13 million in the U.S. Of course, price levels in the first quarter of 1977 will have big influence. Contracting for 1977 cotton has been heavy in South Texas, with producers looking in a profit at about 10 cents under the current price. This early cotton is in heavy demand by domestic mills. Contracting is a buyer's option, but this marketing alternative may help the farmer more in 1977 than this year, contends the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Competition has been getting farmers a little more money for cottonseed in the northern Blacklands," adds Baker. "This is a valuable part of the cotton crop that is completely overlooked by some farmers. Products milled from cottonseed are returning around $180 per ton, and the farmer's share should be around $120 based on grade 100. This figures out to $46 per bale. Farmers are now getting about $10 less than that."

Hereford Brand Farm News

Compiled By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

Soviet Grain Importation Decline Is Not Expected Despite Bumper Crop

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet imports of Western grain are not expected to decrease immediately despite Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev's announcement of a bumper Soviet crop this year.

Opening the second session this year of the party's 280-member central committee, Brezhnev said Monday that 216 million tons of grain have been harvested so far this year, and that the final total may top the record of 222 million tons in 1973.

Western specialists in Moscow cautioned that Brezhnev's totals could be gross weight figures, including wet wheat, chaff even rocks. But they agreed that Soviet agriculture has recovered from its extreme difficulties of last year, when only 140 million tons of grain were harvested and 26-30 million tons were imported from the West.

However, the bumper crop is not expected to affect imports immediately. The Soviet Union is already locked into a series of grain purchasing contracts with Western nations, including a commitment to buy at least 6 million tons of American corn and wheat per year for the next five years.

Brezhnev, 69, made his announcement in a 10,000-word report to the otherwise secret committee session. The party chief devoted most of the speech to foreign policy and called once more for Western countries to take a more serious approach to detente.

He accused the United States of not responding to Soviet proposals made in March at the strategic arms limitation talks in Geneva and contended that the American presidential election is standing in the way of an agreement.

Brezhnev expressed support for an expansion of U.S.-Soviet trade. He also reiterated the argument that Soviet-American trade is being held to a shadow of what it could be by such American barriers as the failure to grant the Soviet Union most-favored-nation trading status.

Pork To Be Plentiful

COLLEGE STATION--There will be plenty of pork available for the dinner table the remainder of the year, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service livestock marketing specialist.

The pork supply has been boosted by increased farrowings, thus upping the number of hogs moving to market, explains Dr. Ernest E. Davis.

As far as prices are concerned, market barrows should bring $32-$37 per hundredweight for the remainder of the year, provided other meat situations remain similar to last year, notes Davis. However, increased overall meat supplies, particularly beef and poultry could put additional pressure on hog prices. About 17-18 per cent more hogs will be marketed during the last quarter of this year than a year ago.

their surveyed intentions. Davis expects the 1977 hog supply situation to parallel that of 1974. Part of the increase will be due to the rising number of pigs farrowed during the last half of this year. These 42 million will be moving to market the first half of 1977.

Looking back at 1974, Davis points out that market hog prices fell from an average of $40 per hundredweight to around $24 per hundredweight from late 1973 to May 1974.

If the economy improves, with gains in consumers' take-home incomes and the number of persons employed, and the beef industry recovers somewhat, there is a positive hope that the hog situation will be tempered some, notes Davis. This could lead to market hog prices averaging $33-$38 hundredweight during the first half of 1977.

American Farmers Holding Record Amounts Of Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) - American farmers are holding record amounts of wheat off the market, apparently in an effort to force up prices.

The Agriculture Department reported last week that on Oct. 1, with wheat prices 30 per cent below a year earlier, farmers were holding 832 million bushels, even more than in the months immediately before the massive grain sales to the Soviet Union in the summer of 1972.

The report on grain inventories which could indicate higher food prices, came as the Labor Department was reporting this September consumer news:

Consumers paid slightly less for staple food items, such as bread and most meats, but considerably more for coffee, fresh vegetables and milk.

Prices of all goods and services, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, rose at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent, the first drop in the rate of increase in six months. Over the past 12 months, the index has risen 5.8 per cent, compared with 7 per cent in 1975 and 12.2 per cent in 1974.

The index means that a typical package of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967 now cost $172.60.

Real spendable earnings - after taxes and inflation - fell for the second consecutive month, this time by one-half of 1 per cent.

The White House saw little significance in the latter figure. But Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter said the fact that spendable earnings are 2 per cent below what they were when President Ford took office is "the bottom line of the disastrous economic policies of the Ford administration.

In another development, representatives of the automobile industry said there is no incentive for Americans to give up their big cars in favor of those that use less fuel.

W.D. Eberle, president of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers

Association, told a federal hearing that gasoline mileage of American models may be doubled over the next 10 years, but there is no assurance the lighter, less-powerful models would sell.

"The recent decline in the real cost of gasoline as compared to other nondurables has reduced the incentive to purchase fuel-efficient cars," Eberle said.

If manufacturers switch to highly efficient models and they don't sell, customers will keep their old cars longer, thus raising unemployment in the auto industry and damaging the entire economy, Eberle suggested.

Texas CowBelles Elect New Officers

AMARILLO-- Mrs. Neal Collier, Wichita Falls ranchwoman has been elected president of the Texas CowBelles during the annual convention of the group. She and the seven other new officers will officially take over duties on January 1, 1977.

The CowBelles met at the same time as the Texas Cattle Feeders Association convention in Amarillo.

Other new officers include: First Vice President Mrs. Dale Bradshaw, Abilene; Second Vice President Mrs. Bailey Crain, Pearsall; Third Vice President Mrs. Bobby Howard, Haskell; Fourth Vice President Mrs. Hugh Barton, Canadian; Recording Secretary Mrs. Robert McLeod, Amarillo; Corresponding Secretary Miss Randy Haggood, Henrietta; and Treasurer Mrs. Jake Hess, McLean.

Named CowBelle of the Year was Mrs. Chester Bell, a charter member of the Texas CowBelles and currently serving as third vice president.

The convention, Oct. 24-25, included a reception in honor of three cattle industry group leaders. Honored during the reception was Wary Finney, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association; O.J. Barron, Jr., president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association; and J.A. Whittenburg, III, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Mrs. Wary Finney, wife of the current ANCA president and a former president of the American National CowBelles was a keynote speaker during the Texas CowBelles convention.

What's With The Grain Market?

LUBBOCK—Farmer's concern lately has been the low price of grain, with much emphasis on the "why." Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board offers the following situation report which should give some explanation.

FENCE TO FENCE PLANTING: Increased plantings of grains are taking a heavy toll on price scales. The combined 1976 production of grain sorghum and corn in the Texas High Plains is estimated at 274.5 million bushels, an increase of 45.36 million bushels over the previous five-year average of production (or enough to fatten 1.14 million head more of 600-pound steers than are now fed). The same trend of production is noted nationwide.

SHORTAGE OF STORAGE: Nationally the amount of storage facilities is far from adequate and in most cases already full. Lack of storage forces grain into the market.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER LOW: Corn is backing up due to the Mississippi River barges not being able to haul full loads.

HARVEST SEASON SLUMP: Harvest time is normally a weak price period; however, with increased corn production and inadequate drying and storage facilities, more pressure to sell for what is offered becomes increasingly common which forces prices downward.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN MARKET: Because of the presidential veto last year, there is no real speculative interest compared to two years ago.

OUTLOOK
Grain sorghum production estimates are down from 758 million bushels in 1975 to 714 million bushels for 1976. Corn production is as forecast on Oct. 1 at 5,865 million bushels in comparison with 5,767 million bushels in 1975.

Domestic consumption should increase for both sorghum and corn as a result of increased hog and poultry numbers. Exports, on the other hand, are expected to be about the same or even a bit lower. Russia's increased grain production will cut their grain import requirements and the amount of their reduction is likely to offset additional sales of domestic grain to Western Europe in the wake of their extended drought.

Total use of U.S. feed grains is now estimated at 201.4 million tons compared to 202.9 million tons.

After harvest is complete and all remaining grain is secure in storage, prices are expected to again return to a higher level through next spring and summer. Orderly marketing will help achieve maximum average prices.

Have you tuned in to the new corn planting program?

STAGGERED MATURITY MAKES SENSE

The agronomists at Pioneer Hi-Bred have developed a corn planting program that offers some significant benefits to farmers in this area. They recommend planting three hybrids with different maturities, a short season, a medium maturity and a later maturity. This staggered maturity technique provides four big benefits:

1. Provides insurance against weather and disease.
2. Spreads critical irrigation times.
3. Allows you to harvest each at optimum times.
4. Uses equipment and labor more efficiently.

On the basis of hybrid performance data gathered over several years, our agronomists have selected three hybrids for each area. The selection takes into account soil types, weather patterns, the prevalent cultural practices, water availability and disease and insect problems by area. Here are their recommendations for this area:

PIONEER BRAND 3780

A SHORT-SEASON PROFIT PRODUCER

3780 is a short-season variety that really proved itself in 1976. It is approximately 14 days earlier than 3369A but doesn't concede profit for its earliness. It may yield a little less than the later hybrids, but costs less to grow.

PIONEER BRAND 3369A

THE MOST FAMOUS MEDIUM MATURITY

3369A is a medium-maturity corn that has been setting yield records around the Southwest for a number of years. It is planted on more acres than any other hybrid and with good reason... profits in good years and bad.

PIONEER BRAND 3305

LATER MATURITY FOR RECORD YIELDS

3305 makes use of our long growing season to produce more corn. It will normally harvest five days later than 3369A. It is a tall hybrid with the ability to stand well. Its upright leaves make for easy combining.

Your Pioneer seed dealer is taking orders for these hybrids now and will soon have a booklet describing recommended planting times, probable silking, maturity and harvesting dates. The staggered maturity corn growing program is aimed at giving you the most profit possible from your land in 1977 whether it turns out to be a good year or bad.

Holly Revenues Decline Due To Lower Sugar Prices

COLORADO SPRINGS—Continued lower selling prices of refined sugar resulted in a decline in sales revenue for Holly Sugar Corporation's first six months of operations ended Sept. 30.

Consolidated net sales were $103,487,000 compared with $129,375,000 for the comparable period last year. Unit sales were slightly above the same period last year.

In an interim report to stockholders, President John B. Bunker said that the current ability and willingness of foreign producers to market sugar in this country at prices in many cases below their production costs or below prices at which they sell in their own country have forced domestic prices to today's levels.

"Persistence of this pattern will result in earnings well below those realized in fiscal 1976," Bunker said.

"In early August, refined sugar prices per hundredweight began a retreat from the $18 level of the preceding three quarters to the $13 range, and despite some improvement during the past four weeks, prices remain depressed," Bunker reported.

He pointed out that raw sugar prices in the world market directly affect the selling price of domestic refined sugar.

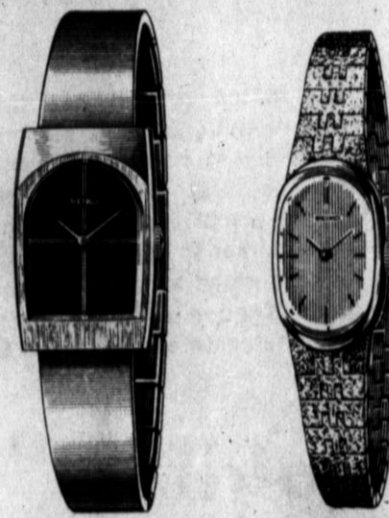

"The lack of a definitive supply management system in this country since the expiration of the Sugar Act in 1974 has brought with it the predicted hazards—volatility in price and uncertainty of long-term supply," Bunker said.

Holly doesn't report earnings until the end of its third quarter (Dec. 31) because of the major impact weather has on sugar-beet production and processing. At that time, major cost factors become known and unaudited nine month's earnings are reported. Holly uses the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method of sugar inventory valuation.

CORNER CATCHER

The only center pivot in the world that has the corners.

In a typical quarter section where a regular center pivot is irrigating 132 acres, you can now do about 150 acres. But the new Valley Corner System isn't limited to squares; irrigate both ends of a rectangle. Irrigate odd shaped pieces of land too. It's the answer to getting valuable productive land that's been wasted, back under center pivot irrigation.

For flood irrigators, it's also the answer to automatic water and labor saving center pivot, without wasting valuable acres. No monitoring, no labor problems, no night work. But you have all the advantages of precise irrigation and fertilizer application through the system, that produces higher yields than ever before. It's a simple concept, precise in operation and engineered with quality of all Valley-built Center Pivots.

Heifers Economically Competitive With Steers With Use Of New Non-Chemical Insertion Device

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

A heifer economically outperforming a steer under feedlot conditions?

THOUGH THE idea might sound rather far-fetched to some hard-nosed feedlot managers, a new non-chemical growth stimulant known as the Hei-Gro Device has been used with marked success in tests on approximately 50,000 animals in numerous feedyards across the country, according to Wade Dickinson, president of Agrophysics Inc. of San Francisco.

And the clincher in many of these tests, Dickinson points out, is that heifers outdid steers. The San Franciscan, aided by his brother, Wayne, founded the Agrophysics firm with the purpose of finding non-drug, inexpensive methods of improving the yields in animal growth stimulation.

A $2 million development project produced the Hei-Gro Device, a product composed of injection-molded food grade nylon which is placed in the vagina of a feedlot heifer upon entering the feedyard. The device, which looks somewhat like a Christmas tree, was designed to stimulate the heifer's natural body mechanisms to promote faster growth.

In order to investigate the device, an evaluation program for cattle and hogs was set up in 1971 at the Department of Reproduction of the School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of California at Davis.

A parallel project with hogs was also conducted, and in that program, it was observed that deviced gilts grew about 12 per cent faster. Evaluations of individual weight gains in small numbers of heifers at the University of California at Davis showed the average daily gain of heifers implanted with the device on drylot was 6-23 per cent better.

Heifer work was expanded to large scale feedlot trials and it was discovered that heifer feed conversion with the device was improved and there was a suggestion that carcass grade was also affected favorably.

Feedlots at which tests were conducted were located at Minatare, Nebraska, Phoenix, Arizona, and Dodge City, Kansas, among others.

"THE DEVICE stimulates nerve signals which trigger the eventual release of estrogen from the sex glands," Dickinson explained. "In effect, 'super hormones' are produced in the animal's body, promoting faster growth, so that an animal may gain as much as an extra seven to 20 pounds during the course of the feeding period. Feed cost may be reduced as much as four cents per pound of gain," he added.

Dickinson claims that use of the product will result in a minimum increased profit of $7-$9 per head, an average profit increase of $12-$14 per head and a maximum increase of $20-$22 per head.

"In a test conducted in Kansas, we found that we are actually getting heifers ready for market at a lower cost than feeding out steers," he stated.

On the local level, he reported that a test conducted at Dimmitt Feed Yards, south of Hereford, from March through September of this year showed increased profits of $9.72 per head and an additional weight gain of 20 pounds per head at market time. The trial involved 128 control animals.

A SIMILAR test has just been completed at Deaf Smith Feed Yards here, but results are incomplete as yet.

"With the cattle market situation what it is today, deviced animals have proven profitable, and we think that's a fantastic thing for the feeder," Dickinson commented.

The device is inserted into the animal while it is in a squeeze chute, and can be inserted at the same time other implants and inoculations are being administered, so it works well in the standard feedyard routine.

Rumensin or Synovex-H are often used along with the device.

An inserter tube is used to place the device through the vulva and against the cervix of the animal, with the insertion procedure taking about 30 seconds.

ACCORDING TO Dickinson, the entire installation procedure can be performed by unskilled personnel with minimal instruction.

Retention of the device has been 98-99 per cent in feed lot trials of 197 days, and longer in range trials.

"If the device is installed in a pregnant animal by mistake, it is passed out spontaneously, and no damage to the animal or offspring has been noted in trials," he stated.

The nylon device absorbs moisture from its surroundings and under the conditions inside the animal, is flaccid and does not injure the heifer, according to Dickinson.

THE DEVICE remains inside the animal through slaughter, and is taken out with the reproductive tract, which is usually processed into tallow.

"There are some side-effects with the use of the device, both positive and negative, but we feel the negative effects are of a minor nature. The device does not require FDA clearance, and throughout all of our trials, no animals were damaged or died, and no carcasses have been condemned," said Dickinson.

The San Franciscan pointed out that feeders should not implant animals weighing less than 425 pounds, and explained that following the insertion of the device, heifers carry their tails up for a number of days.

"We feel that the tail position relates that the animal is stimulated, and the tail comes down in a few days. Some animals discharge for a time following the implanting of the device, but this also stops quickly," Dickinson said.

ON THE positive side, the Agrophysics head pointed out that the "bulling" tendencies of heifers are virtually eliminated after insertion of the device, provided they are kept away from steers.

"We have found in our trials that when heifers are separated from steers, they are faster growers. When in proximity with steers, the heifers will move around a lot and lose weight, but if they are completely separated from steers, no drugs are required to prevent them from coming into estrus, and the animals remain quieter," he explained.

Dickinson pointed out that trials revealed that deviced heifers yielded more choice and prime carcasses at slaughter than undeviced animals.

"Cattle buyers actually are seeking out deviced heifers, because their carcasses display better marbling, and in tests, five major feedyards have gotten up to twice as many choice carcasses from deviced heifers. There is a consistent pattern of choice and prime carcasses from deviced animals," Dickinson stated.

THE HEI-GRO Device sells for $1.75 each, and the California native is optimistic that cattlemen will obtain a minimum five-to-one return on their investment in the price of the devices.

Walco International on East Highway 60 is the distributor of the devices in the Hereford area.

"We are convinced that if heifers are deviced, they will do spectacularly better when separated from male animals. The meat is firmer, and the heifers will actually outdo steers," Dickinson concluded.

Hei-Gro Device Examined

Wade Dickinson of Agrophysics Inc. of San Francisco examines Hei-Gro Device which he helped develop and prepares to load it in an inserter. The device is a new non-chemical growth stimulant made of injection-molded food grade nylon, which is placed inside of a heifer when she comes into the feedlot. The device was designed to stimulate the heifer's natural body mechanisms to promote faster growth. Heifer feed conversion with the device has shown improvement and carcass grade has also been higher. (Photo By Jim Steiert)

Information Director Joins Cattle Feeders

AMARILLO—John McCarroll has been named information director of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association headquartered here. The Association represents feeders in the nation's top cattle feeding states.

He comes to the position following more than four years in a dual role as editor of the "Oklahoma COWMAN" and public relations director of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association. He was also on the St. Louis staff of Ralston Purina as a creative writer for approximately two years.

"Communication has always been of utmost importance in cattle feeding. McCarroll will add to our total effort in keeping members and the consuming public informed about developments in beef promotion," Charles E. Ball, TCFA executive vice president, notes. "He will edit the 'Cattle Feeders Report', a weekly newsletter sent to more than 4,000 readers, in addition to publishing the yearbook-directory of the Association," Ball says.

McCarroll, 29, is a Texas

A&M University agricultural journalism graduate with experience in free-lance writing and in working with various agricultural trade groups. He was reared on a stock farm near San Angelo and attended schools in Mereta and Odessa.
