That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says when folks ask, "How are you?", just remember that it's a form of greeting--they don't really want to know about your aches and pains.

AS MOST READERS of this column realize, I am a firm believer in the United Way. I feel that all the organizations do good in their own way or they would not exist. As individuals, we may favor one or more organizations over the others. However, we feel the budget and admissions committee has screened each agency and has determined they are worthy of receiving support from our community.

And, the United Way--one drive for 11 agencies -- is the most effective and economical way. We hope citizens will remember that the United Way campaign does in fact replace several drives, so instead of writing that check for $5.. it ought be for $55.

A newspaper columnist reports this as one of the finest business letter stories ever heard. The letters, obviously written by an illiterate salesman, said:

'Dear Boss: I seen this outfit which they ain't never bot a dime's worth of nothing from us and I sole them a couple hundred thousand dollars worth of guds. I am now going to chawgo."

"Dear Boss: I cum hear and I sold them half a milyon," it said.

Both letters were posted on the bulletin board with a note appended by the company president:

Ronald Regan, former California governor and a close contender for the Republican presidential nomination will be in Amarillo Friday to honor Bob Price at a luncheon held in his behalf.

Reagan will also speak on behalf of the Republican presidential candidate, Gerald Ford.

The luncheon will be held at the Villa Inn with an admission of $50 per person. Local residents desiring to make reservations for the luncheon may contact Mrs. Frank Ford at 364-3209.

United Way Stressed

Stressing the need for a broader base of support for this year's United Way campaign, UW officials have announced the willingness of city, county, school and hospital offices to handle employee contributions through the payroll deduction method.

Buddy Peeler, Public Employee Division chairman, reported this week that all these agencies have agreed to process United Way donations through their bookkeeping departments. Employees who wish to donate by payroll deduction need only mark the appropriate boxes and specify the amount to be Lynton Allred, UW president, also emphasized the importance of payroll deductions being considered by local firms. With a record budget to be reached, hopes are high that many firms will agree to handle payroll deduction programs for their employees in order to encourage more substantial, year-around

Peeler said that Ron Welty, hospital administrator, announced this week that employees of Deaf Smith General Hospital will be able to participate in United Way through payroll deductions. This made the fourth large, non-commercial group whose administrators have said they will offer the deduction capability to their employees.

United Way officials point out that systematic giving all through the year, either through payroll deduction, bank draft, or regular billing from United Way, will help provide ample funds for the 11 agencies supported by this worthwhile shutting down the vaccination programs. However, an Associated Press wire service report stated Wednesday that Houston decided to continue its inoculation program until more information was discovered in the deaths of the elderly citizens. The dead had all taken the bivalent vaccine for older citizens and those with chronic illnesses.

Dr. Johnson said no bivalent vaccine has been administered here and that no alarming concern has been raised. The Family Medical Clinic had received doses of the bivalent vaccine last week and the Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic received some this week although neither clinic has given any out according to the health officer.

About 2,000 doses of the monovalent medication was received from the state last week and it has been injected into relativly few individuals.

"There hasn't been the rush for the accine that we had anticipated. Johnson said. "The contoversy over the vaccine has probably contributed toward the (light) number of requests. Absolutely none (vaccines) are being given now."

The program will be initiated again in about a week pending notification from the regional office in Canyon.

The Houston health officials decided to continue the program since they felt their experience with the swine flue has been "extremely safe." They will continue it as current low levels of activity until they hear otherwise from the National Center for Disease Control concerning deaths

About 10 states have closed down their swine flue vaccination programs along with different counties and regional areas due to the deaths. No concrete evidence has linked the deaths to the vaccine.

A head-on collision between an empty grain truck and a small car left one person dead and another in stable condition after it occurred at about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday on Highway 385 near the intersection of Bradley Street.

Police said this morning that Lois A. Wright, 55, of Box 113 of Adrian was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital Wednesday. She was the passenger in a 1972 Plymouth Duster, which was being driven in the south bound lane on Highway 385.

The automobile's driver was Earnest C. Parker of Box 243 in Adrian. He was reported in stable condition at the hospital this morning. No surgery was performed although early reports indicated he was in a bad condition.

Ronnie Allen Reiter, 25, of 245 Elm in Hereford was the driver of the semi-truck which was carrying a 40-foot grain trailer.

Witnesses told police at the scene that the car was driving at a high rate of speed, when it apparently served into the lane of oncoming traffic. The brakes of the car were locked indicating that Parker braked before the wreck.

The truck also braked as skid marks were left behind both vehicles. The truck had braked for about 100 feet prior to inpact. Police reports indicated that Parker lost control of the car although no information was available on why the car swerved into the opposite lane of traffic.

The car hit the truck with great force, bounced backwards and came to a stop sideways across the highway.

Traffic on Highway 385 was temporarily rounded off the road while police completed their investigation of the accident. Members of the volunteer fire department rushed to the scene to wash down the vicinity of the wreck, which was splattered with engine oil, fuel and blood.

No tickets were immediately issued at Hereford police department officers investigated the accident under the direction of Officer Jackie Meredith.

Helping him were HPD officers David

Republicans Launch Campaign

Reese Hits Mahon's Conservatism

Jim Reese, Republican candidate for the 19th Congressional District, told a 30-person gathering at the Hereford Community Center Wednesday night that he offers the alternative to better representation in this district with a definite conservative voice.

He was in Hereford to recognize the opening of the Republican office of 1503 Rast Park Ave. this week and held an organizational meeting Wednesday night of his campaign workers.

After listening at length to a television presentation of Republican Ronald Reagan on the difference platforms, Reese reiterated his positions spoken in the past. He said his opponent George Mahon of Lubbock was given a good votes were more liberal in 1975. He charged that Mahon has succumbed to pressure from other congressmen and voted their way in order to save his power base as chairman of the house appropriations committee. The former Odessa mayor told his supporters that food stamps to strikers was not supported by him and that a more conservative form of federal spending was necessary to control the runaway inflation hitting the country.

Reese favors zero-based budgeting accounting all agencies to prove periodically the need for appropriations to fund expenses. He backs a sunset law, whereby agencies in the federal government will automatically disband after a certain length of time depending on Congress wishes to continue them. Pointing to Mahon's 42 years in Congress, Reese supports a bill to limit the length of service of senators, congressmen and the president. Wes Fisher, Deaf Smith County

Reds Play Waiting Game

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) - They're playing a waiting game in Cincinnati-and they don't seem to care who shows up at Riverfront Stadium Saturday.

The Cincinnati Reds, fresh from their three-game sweep of Philadelphia in the National League playoffs, began looking ahead to the World Series.

For some, it was a matter of taking on the bigger name. For others, it was a matter of raking in a bigger paycheck. And for most, it was a matter of believing that whichever team wound up representing the American League would also wind up a loser.

"I don't care who we play because these guys represent the best team in baseball," Cincinnati Manager Sparky he awaited the outcome of the one-in-a-lifetime shot. I've best-of-five playoff between the New York Yankees and Kansas City Royals, now tied 2-2. 'There isn't another club in baseball that can match the eight players we can put on the field every day," Anderson added. "This isn't any three or four-man team, like most clubs." Anderson said he believed "some of the younger players are hoping it will be in New York. But that's because Yankee Stadium seats more than the Kansas City park and they're figuring that playing New York will mean more money to them."

Gary Nolan, the right-hander who started the final game of the Reds' playoff against the Phillies, said emphatically that he was hoping to play New York never seen Yankee Stadium except on television. And it would sure make me feel proud, standing out there on the mound.

Pete Rose also said he would prefer going against New York, but for a more practical reason. "I know the Yankees' pitchers better because I've faced most of them before," he said. "I guess you might say it's a psychological thing with me, but it always bothers me when I am facing a pitcher for the first

Ray Shore, Cincinnati's special assignment scout who has been keeping close tabs on both American League playoff clubs, said he would rather see the Royals win the AL flag.

"Kansas City, that's the club I'd like for us to play in the Yanks have the more experienced staff and I think they'd have a better chance of holding down out hitters.

Kevin Dobson no longer rides the rails

By DAN LEWIS NEW YORK -- Kevin Dobson bounced his 20-monthold daughter in his arms. and looked up Third Avenue from the mid-Thirties on Manhattan's east

"Boy do I know this area," he exclaimed. "I used to work this neighborhood, and not too long ago. I drove cabs, and I bartended here -- at a place called Brews's.

That was only five years ago, before he went to Hollywood to pursue an acting career that is now beginning to pay off handsomely. Kevin is Detective Bobby Crocker on "Kojak." The show has been a hit, and for Telly Savalas, its main character, stardom has been extraoridnary the past year. Much rubs off on the supporting cast.

Dobson stood at the corner during a break in shooting of a Kojak episode. Shooting in New York not only pleased Savalas, but delighted Dobson. It brought both back home.

A little more than five years ago, Dobson was punching tickets as a conductor on the Long Island Railroad. His wife's sister knew someone who madegood money in commercials, and she thought Kevin had the right look for commercials. He was a goodlooking, wiry type, who had played and starred in baseball at high school, but saw his chance for organized baseball disin-apprentice engineer. 'I jockeyed the engines around the yard," he revealed. "I figured, if I didn't get the acting career going, I'd have something to fall back on.

He did get some roles in series, a bit part in a film, but nothing of consequence. Certainly nothing to encourage him to stay in Hollywood. So Dobson packed and he and his wife returned to New York. He was back in the Big Apple for only a few weeks when he heard about

"They didn't like me." Dobson recalled. "But I persisted. I kept after them. Did some more tests. I finally got the role.

The success of Kojak has led to fringe benefits. Dobson had a minimal role in "Midway," the World War II film about the sea battles in the South Pacific. He's also starred in one pilot, and probably more will come. Along the way, he expects to star in his own show.

A rugged-looking young man at 6 feet tall, 170 pounds, action shows seem tailored for him.

30-seat theater on the lower West Side. The theater was situated behind a bar. Now, as he stands on Third Avenue, perhaps two dozen blocks from the heart of the theater district, Dobson is quickly recognized by pedestrians. They surround him, seeking autographs. He hands his daughter over to his wife, Susan, and accomodates his well-wishers.

Mrs. Smith Elected To Attend Assembly

Mrs. Alfred Smith was elected to serve as a delegate to the District I Federated Music Club Convention by fellow members of Dawn Music Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jim Tilley.

The assembly will be held Oct. 23 at St. Stephen's Methodist Church at Amarillo. Alternate delegate will be Mrs. L.W. Tooley.

The 11 members present answered roll call with a childhood memory concerning music in the home. Mrs. Bill Caraway was welcomed as a new member.

It was announced that guests will be welcome at the next meeting, Nov. 9 at Dawn Baptist Church, where Mrs. Lewis Newell will be the guest musician.

In conjunction with the season's theme of "Music in the Home," the program was opened by Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger, who sang "Cradle Song" by Homer A. Norris. Then Mrs. Curtsinger was joined by Mrs. Walter Lemons for a duet presentation of Johannes Brahms' "lullabye." Mrs. Carl Wimberly was piano accompanist for the latter melody.

Mrs. R.G. Manning read Angeles, Calif.

"Looking Glass River" and "Bed In Summer" from a Child's Garden of Verses by Robert Louis Stevenson.

A musical medley of Mother Goose rhymes were sung by Mrs. Ray Stewart, who provided her own accompaniment. Included in the children's selections were "London Bridge," "Three Little Kittens," 'Oh Dear, What Can the Matter

Be," and others. Mrs. J.B. Caraway rendered "Christopher Robin Is Saying His Prayers," by H. Simpson and arranged by William Stickels, Mrs. Stewart accompanied at the piano.

The program was concluded with singing of the monthly

Royals Even Series

beaten New York Yankees ace Catfish Hunter in the game they had to win to stay alive, the Kansas City Royals go after their first World Series berth tonight against Ed Figueroa.

The Yankees, hoping for their first American League pennant with Hunter Wednesday. But the bid backfired when the Royals kayoed Hunter early.

That left Figueroa, a 19-game winner during the regular season but the loser in Game Two of these best-of-five AL play-offs, for tonight's deciding game. Today is Figueroa's 28th birthday.

The Royals forced the championship series to its limit by beating New York 7-4 Wednesday with a barrage of extra base hits that included a double and triple by Hal McRae.

That overcame a pair of home runs by Graig Nettles of the Yankees and sent the two division champions back for one more game in this see-saw series.

McRae, who broke out of a slump that had left him hitless in the first three games of the series, thought that beating Hunter in Game Four would give the Royals the edge tonight.

"I feel we have a momentum now," said McRae. "I think we're in the best position. We beat their best pitcher- their big gun. They won't have the same faith in the buy they throw tomorrow Thursday night that they had today (Wednesday)."

Yankees Managers Billy Martin bristled at that suggestion. "Figueroa will start the fifth game, and we have a lot of faith in him," he said.

What was Martin's reason for using Figueroa, who has lost three decisions to Kansas City this season, including the second game of the playoffs?

"Nineteen wins," snapped the Yankees manager. "That's a pretty good reason.

Ignored as a possible starter for the final game was lefthander Ken Holtzman, a veteran of playoff and World Series competition during his years in Oakland, "Holtzman hasn't been pitching well lately," said Martin. "I really didn't consider him."

If the Yankees had no plans for Holtzman, Royals Manager Whitely Herzog could have used him on loan. Asked about his ame starter, Herzog had to hedge Wednesday night.

"I have no idea right now," he said. "I have a choice of four-Dennis Leonard, Marty Pattin, Al Fitzmorris and Paul Splittorff. If I had Holtzman, I'd pitch him."

Splittorff, who pitched 5 2-3 innings of shutout relief in Game Two, would have had the assignment almost automatically if he had not had to warm up Wednesday. But he was anxious for another shot at the Yankees.

Leonard was the second game starter and was knocked out early. But Herzog thinks the 17-game winner could do a creditable job. "He's a power pitcher and if he throws strikes he can give them trouble," the manager said.

Fitzmorris is the only Royals player who has not played in the series so far. "If I pitched, I'd feel strange," he said. "I think my bid was turned down."

Pattin faced just one batter in his only playoff appearance. "I'm ready," he said. "I should

NEW YORK (AP)- Having be strong. I couldn't get the ball over theplate the other night."

He would have been in trouble if he had. Herzog ordered an intentional walk to the only batter he faced.

Herzog shook up the Royals' lineup, benching regulars Jim Wohlford and Frank White. He in 12 years, tried to wrap it up sent McRae, usually the designated hitter, into right field, inserted verteran Cookie Rojas at second base and made Jamie Quirk, a rookie, the DH. All of the moves worked. Rojas supplied two hits.

ingniting a pair of rallies. Quirk drove in two runs and scored a third. McRae scored twice after his two hits. And Pateck collected three hits and three McRae had been experimenting with his stance, trying to battle his way out of the slump. "I've been playing around with five or six stances," he said. "I had been lunging at the ball. I wasn't hanging back enough."

He finally found a comfortable position in his second swing and drilled his hits in the fourth and sixth innings. Only a brilliant stop by Nettles at third base deprived him of a third hit in the eighth inning.

"If I had figured it out earlier," said McRae, "this series might be over now."

Patek's second-inning double drove in the first two Royals runs against Hunter. Then Buck Martinez got an RBI single, making it 3-0.

The National Football League is in its 57th regular season.

NEW YORK (AP) - When Muhammad Ali comes to New York, he can't seem to avoid disputes.

Two weeks ago, the world heavyweight boxing champion retained his title with a controversial 15-round decision over Ken Norton at Yankee Stadium. Ali returned to New York Wednesday and appeared in court during a $20 million libel suit brought against him by fight referee Tony Perez. Ali sat quietly in the courtroom as Perez testified that the champion taunted him during a bout against Chuck Wepner on March 24, 1975 Ali also was quoted as having said that Perez "probably had been paid by gangsters to see that I lose" in a fight against Joe Frazier in Jan. 28, 1974 and that Perez had bet on Frazier to win the fight. When Ali took the witness stand, he was asked by Perez' attorney, Robert G. Sullivan, if he still believed Perez had bet on the fight.

"I truly believe it," Ali replied Ali had taken the stand after a referee had been damaged by Ali's remarks, which included a reference to him as "not a black man or a white man. He is a Puerto Rican. He is more black than white but he is trying to be white." Ali has filed a $1 million counter-suit in connection with the Wepner fight, in which the champion stopped the challenger in the 15th round. Ali accused Perez of allowing Wepner to throw rabbit punches and, in the ninth round, permitting the challenger to

On Trial For Libel Perez testified that his career as step on his foot, resulting in a knockdown.

> A video tape of an Ali interview with sportscaster Howard Cosell following the Wepner bout was shown to Judge Milton Pollack and a civil jury of four women and two men. In the tape, Ali called > Perez "a dirty dog." Ali also made what Perez claims were "false, malicious and libelous" remarks about the referee possibly wagering on Frazier.

It's only a matter of time before the insurance companies revamp their list of high-risk professions. In the past, they've included such hazardous jobs. as: steeple painting, sky diving, combat warfare, firefighting, bomb demolition and umpiring a World Series.

Those are pussycat jobs compared to the new breed of citizen who goes out every day of his life, exposing himself to the hazards of the 20th century.

Watch for the insurance rates to go up on game show hosts. These poor, battered devils are in an emotional arena. Monty Hall, after 13 years of hosting, learned to duck and weave when an hysterical lady, dressed as a tuna caserole, won a Dune Buggy. But for the greater part. his life was just one great big hammerlock causing pain, and Another precarious job. although it's seasonal every four years, is the uncommitted delegate. When in favor, they are wined, dined, pursued. smothered, and stalked at every turn of the corner. If their life is any more jeopardized, their premiums may be out of sight.

And don't forget the peril of the Olympic streaker. Those engaged in running across a stadium sans clothes are going to find (excuse the expression) coverage hard to come by. In additon to pursuit of police with clubs, you must also consider the hazards of a streaker during Winter Games. (Colds, pulmonary disorder and terminal goose bumps.)

I never thought postal clerks would make the list, but you can see the danger for their lives developing day after day. One woman leaped over the counter the other week with a shopping bag containing a package that rattled that was stamped, "FRAGILE." She was held at bay by six postal employees who threatened to mail her to Baltimore...a 15-day trip.

The rates for people who answer the telephone and put you on hold without waiting to hear what you want are already exorbitant. No one would touch them with a ten-foot pole. Everyone is out to get them.

Mothers have always been a high insurance risk by the nature of their work, but look for a rider that will become optional. If you have to teach a teenager to drive, that is, sit in the car next to him you may have to file with Lloyds of London.

From what I've seen here at Duke (and Harvard before that) I can tell you those academic geniuses often make better research guys than practicing physicians. It's one thing to be brilliant in the lab and another thing to be a compassionate, dedicated doctor.

These days, when it is especially difficult to get into ANY medical school, I've often Section 16 and the West 1/2 of Section 15, Block 3, Deaf Smith thought what a pity it is that so many potentially first-rate physicians are being excluded because the emphasis is so heavily slanted toward the academic. Of course a competent physician must know his stuff when it comes to the basic sciences, but the human qualities--maturity, stability, a sense of dedication and caring-don't come through in the tests and they are extremely important in the making of a fine physician. Sign me--Durham N.C.

Big Cranberry Crop Reaped This Year

COLLEGE STATION-This with the Texas Agricultural with emphasis on Boston butt will be a big year for cranberries, a good growing seasonwill provide about nine per cent more that last year--and the second largest crop on record, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, says.

"Specials on cranberries are already showing up in some stores and consumers can buy this short-season fruit now to use fresh, then freeze for later use," she suggested.

Mrs. Clyatt is consumer marketing information specialist

Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Apples, pears, bananas, oranges and cantaloupe are seasonal fruits in best supply and good prices.

"Cabbage is abundant now and most prices are low. Also, for menu variety, try eggplant and squash, both of which are in heavy supply. Carrots, green peppers, dry onions and potatoes are other economical vegetable choices."

Some pork prices are down, roasts, shoulder steaks, end and loin chops and pork liver. Prices may be lower on semi-boneless hams, picnics, some brands of bacon and frankfrurters, also.

"Beef prices are about the same as last week. Cooler weather makes chuck cuts in greater demand, which may bid prices up a bit. But careful shopping can result in attractive prices on chuck roasts, ground beef, boneless roll roasts and liver," she advised.

Fryer chickens carry special price tags at some markets--usually the whole bird and mixed parts are the most economical choices, she added.

Egg prices are slightly higher and are likely to stay there a while."

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Compare egg prices by the pound with cost of other protein foods. A dozen large eggs--minimum of 24 ounces-weighs one and one-half pounds. Consider the value of eggs in nutritious menus.

court without a jury, with all parties and their attorneys present and announcing ready for trial. After hearing and considering the evidence (the court realizes that in the depositions some of the testimony is hearsay and thus has disregarded same), the pleadings, and the arguments and briefs of counsel, the court files this memorandum opinion which shall constitute the court's findings of fact and

English in the seventh and ninth grades in the Hereford Independent School District, files his complaint against The Hereford Independent School District, its principal, superintendent, and members of the school board for said school district. Plaintiff alleges a cause of action arising under 42 U.S.C. 1983, and also claims damages under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Plaintiff, formerly a teacher of States arising from the set of facts herein found.

This court has jurisdiction of the individuals named as defendants in the suit and of the cause of action alleged against the individuals under 42 U.S.C 1983 and pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1343. This court has no jurisdiction over The Hereford Independent School District for any cause of action arising under 42 U.S.C. 1983 as the school district is not a "person" Constitution of the United within the meaning of this statute, City of Kenosha v. Bruno, 412 U.S. 507 (1973), but the cause of action based upon the alleged deprivation by all defendants of plaintiff's rights under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States is properly brought in this court. and this court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 1331(a). The plaintiff has alleged damages in excess of $10,000.-00, and the court here finds that the relief hereinafter awarded to plaintiff is of a value in excess of $10,000.00 exclusive of interest and costs.

Plaintiff, pursuant to six written contracts (Defts. Exs. 14 through 19), had been employed by The Hereford Independent School District as a teacher in the La Plata Junior High School in Hereford, Texas, and taught English in the seventh and ninth grades. The contracts covered a one-year period only and the last one covered the school year of 1974-75.

In March of 1975, the superintendent presented to the school board for this school district his recommendations and proposals for renewal of the teachers' contracts in the entire school system, totaling 350 to 360 teachers. The plaintiff's name was not among those recommended for renewal, and

Pursuant to a request from the plaintiff's attorney, a hearing was afforded the plaintiff before the entire school board on June 2, 1975, and a transcript of this hearing is shown by Plaintiff's Exhibit One in this case. After the hearing, the board did not tender a contract to Mr. Woodward and he has not taught in The Hereford Independent School District since the end of the 1974-75 school term.

The evidence further shows that in the early part of 1975, Mr. Woodward, plaintiff herein, was elected as a vice president he was not awarded a contract of the Hereford chapter of the for the 1975-76 school year. . American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), and publicity of his election to this office was given in the local news media. In early February of 1975, one of Mr. Woodward's students, Pam Whitley, requested of Mr. Woodward, between classes, that she be given some material and an application blank for her membership in the local chapter of the ACLU. He complied with this request, but the court does not find that the plaintiff distributed any materials con-cerning the ACLU during classroom periods, but there is indication that the history and purposes of the ACLU were discussed during classroom sessions. There is no evidence that his actions in this regard were disruptive of any of the school processes, and the court finds that nothing unusual occurred because of Mr. Woodward's activities in connection with the ACLU and his school functions, except that his contract was not renewed.

On February 12, 1975, Plaintiff's Exhibit Two, the principal of this junior high school wrote a letter to the superintendent of schools, Mr. Hartman, informing him that he was considering the plaintiff to be on a probationary status, and that he would not recommend that Mr. Woodward's contract be renewed until such time that he proved that he was supporting school policies and using material in his room which has been approved by the proper personnel prior to their use. Mr. Hughes, the principal, stated in his letter that the plaintiff expressed a hostile attitude toward efforts of the school administration to carry out board policy by his attitude and refusal to accept decisions by his superiors.

Under questioning the principal, Mr. Hughes, was unable to factually state what materials referred to in his letter of February 12th has been distributed against his directives except the ACLU materials above referred to. The evidence reveals no written policy or directive from the school administration to the teachers requiring prior clearance of materials to be used, and Mr. Hughes was unable to state that he had definitely and specifically directed Mr. Woodward that he wanted any such materials to be cleared by him he could anticipate any problems that might arise and be in a position to defend his teachers should criticism of them be made. In any event the plaintiff did not advise any of the school administrative personnel that he intended to make any use of the materials in question, including the distribution of ACLU material between classes, and the court is unable to find that school policies required such clearance. The evidence does not prove or show that Mr. Woodward ever distributed in the classroom any objectionable materials, and the ACLU material referred to above was given by plaintiff to a student between classes. Further the proof does not show that plaintiff ever disobeyed any orders from his principal that had any relation to the subject matter of this case.

before their use. Mr. Hughes desired such clearance so that

Mr. Hughes, in his testimony, insisted that his letter to Mr.

Hartman and his failure to recommend Mr. Woodward for renewal did not arise from the ACLU incident, but that it was only one of many other factors that he took into consideration. However, Mr. Hughes was unable to point out explicitly what other factors he was referring to, although some mention was made of communication difficulties. These latter difficulties arose only after the February 12, 1975 letter.

The evidence in this case further showed that Mr. Woodward was considered outstanding in several categories, satisfactory in many more, but his principal found that he needed improvement in four other categories. The evidence further shows that all least one of his fellow teachers considered him to be well qualified for the position he held and for his teaching ability.

Mr. Hughes testified, and the court finds, that prior to February 12, 1975, the date of the letter from the principal to the superintendent, the relations between Mr. Woodward and the administration were good, that communication lines were open, but that it changed rather suddenly when Mr. copy of his letter to Mr. Hartman.

The court finds that Mr. Hughes' action in placing Mr. Woodward on probation and in failing to recommend him for renewal resulted from Mr. Woodward's actions in distributing certain ACLU material, as above outlined, and his participation in ACLU activities. Although there may have been other factors, the evidence does not show exactly what these factors may have been, and the evidence is vague and indefinite on this point.

If it had not been for Mr. Woodward's ACLU activities. the court is convinced that his contract would have been renewed.

Although not determinative of the issues in this case, the evidence did show that another teacher in the system had similar activities in the ACLU and was placed on probation, but that he subsequently resigned his ACLU membership and his contract with the school was renewed. Also, in April of 1975, after the above events, the school board gave permission to the ACLU to conduct an essay contest in the school system, but this was done after the school superintendent failed to include Mr. Woodward's name on the list of teachers, and after Mr. Woodward had hired an attorney to represent him. At the commencement of the school board hearing on June 2, 1975, Mr. Woodward was offered the choice of an executive session or an open meeting, and through his attorney he indicated that he wished the hearing to be open to the public, and it was so held, Mr. Woodward was accompanied by his attorney on this occasion, but it did not result in any change in the school board's actions with respect to him. No witnesses testified at the hearing.

After he failed to gain reemployment for the 1975-76 school year, Mr. Woodward sent out applications to many other school districts, but was unsuccessful in getting another teaching position. At least one of the districts to which he applied indicated that they were aware of Woodward's troubles with the Hereford school district. However, the court finds that none of the Hughes gave to the plaintiff a defendants in any way did anything to publicize or disseminate any information concerning Mr. Woodward or his ACLU activities or his problems with the Hereford school district, and that whatever was known about the facts was a result of the open hearing and publicity from other sources than from any of the defendants, either directly or indirectly.

> In a telephone conversation between Mr. Hughes, the principal and the Director of Counselor Education at Southwestern State University in Oklahoma, Mr. Hughes informed this director of the Plaintiff's ACLU activities. This was after Mr. Woodward had failed to get his contract renewed by the Board in March. 1975 and apparently was not in connection with any employment sought by him as a teacher. This conversation does indicate, however, the importance attached by the principal to Mr. Woodward's ACLU activities.

To recover in this case for a deprivation of procedural due process, the plaintiff must show that he possessed an interest in 'property" and that the defendants deprived him of such or that he was deprived of a "liberty" interest resulting from the actions of defendants.

The Hereford Independent the continuing contract law of the State of Texas, Texas Education Code, 13.101 et seq., and the plaintiff had no tenure in fact or in law. His contract expired in August of 1975 and none of his previous contracts or agreements with the school system gave him a right to further renewal of his employment. Thus, he had a "mere expectancy" of employment. Bradford v. Tarrant County Junior College District, 492 F.2d 133, 135 (5th Cir. 1974). Under previous decisions in both state and federal courts, it is clear that the plaintiff has not been deprived of or denied any interest in property. Further, the facts do not prove or show that the defendants have in any way damaged or harmed the reputation of the plaintiff, nor has a "stigma or other disability that foreclosed his freedom to take advantage of other employment opportunities" been imposed. Roth, supra, at Recovery cannot therefore be attained by the plaintiff on either of the above two grounds. Since the plaintiff has no right to a hearing, the adequacy of the hearing gratuitously granted by defendants is not open to review. Lewis v. Spencer, 468 F.2d 553, 557 n. 3 (5th Cir. 1972).

Plaintiff has asserted, although apparently not strongly urged, that he should be allowed recovery because the school board did not follow its own policies. The evidence, however, has failed to prove this theory of plaintiff's case, and the court does not find that the board violated any of its own policies in regard to Mr. Woodward's nonrenewal. Rather, the board operated in the accustomed manner. That is, the principals developed the approval lists and presented them to the superintendent who gave them to the board. The board merely accepted the principals' determinations.

The more serious ground for recovery in this case is the plaintiff's allegations that his contract was not renewed because of his activities with the ACLU, and that plaintiff's activities and expressions were protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

The court is compelled by the state of the record in this case to find that his contract was not renewed because of his association with, his activities in, and his expressions concerning the American Civil Liberties Union. Absolutely no evidence has been introduced to show that Mr. Woodward's activities in this regard had any disruptive effect upon the district, or that it in any way interfered with the educational processes, nor was it proven that in such activities he was acting contrary to orders or

Lions Honor Students, Welcome New Members

The Hereford Lions Club welcomed three new members. recognized some local students and teachers, and enjoyed a film at their meeting Wednesday.

Alfred Smith, John Young, and Phil Sciumbato were welcomed into the club Wednesday, and were recognized along with the guests present.

Recognized by the Lions from La Plata Junior High were Outstanding Students of the Six Weeks Jennifer Griffin and Felix Soliz. The two students were honored for their grade average, citizenship, attitude, participation, friendliness, and good behavior.

Also, seniors Linda Ginn and Mike Oglesby were recognized as Outstanding Students of the First Six Weeks at Hereford High School. Ginn is co-editor of the yearbook, a member of National Honor Society, and has been on the honor roll every semester since her sophomore Oglesby is president of Future Business Leaders, vicepresident of Key Club, a varisty basketball player, a member of directives from his superiors. In balancing the competing interests, plaintiff's clearly preponderate.

The court concludes that since Mr. Woodward's contract was not renewed because of his activities that they were protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments, he is entitled to relief from this court. The remedy in behalf of the plaintiff in this case is reinstatement as suggested in Sterzing v. Fort Bend Independent School District, et al., supra, and approved by Bradford v. Tarrant County Junior College, supra. The court realizes that this is not the only form of damages that could be awarded, but the court believes it to be the proper remedy in this case. The court is also of the opinion that plaintiff should recover a reasonable attorney's fee, and that the sum of $6,000.00 as attorney's fees is a reasonable fee for services in the District Court, and should be paid by The Hereford Independent School District to the attorneys for the plaintiff. This award of fees is based upon the finding that the "defendant's actions were unreasonable and obdurately obstinate." Jinks v. Mays, 464 F.2d 1223, 1228 (5th Cir. 1972). See Berkshire Mutual Insurance Company v. Moffett, 378 F.2d 1007 (5th Cir. 1967). Therefore, it is ordered that the attorneys for the plaintiff submit a proposed judgment to the court ordering the payment of the above attorney's fees, ordering that the defendants reinstate the plaintiff in his position as a teacher of English in the seventh and ninth grades of The Hereford Independent School District, or some similar position, within thirty days after this judgment becomes final, and that such reinstatement be effective as the beginning of the school year of 1975-76. This will necessitate the payment to the plaintiff by the School District of the salary that he would have otherwise received up until the time that he is actually reinstated in his position as a teacher. The Plaintiff has proven his entitlement to back pay which is an element of reinstatement. Jinks v. Mays, supra. It is further ordered that the Student Council, and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, as well as being on the honor roll.

none of the plaintiff's rights or benefits will be altered but will remain the same as if his contract had been renewed at the termination of the 1974-75 school year.

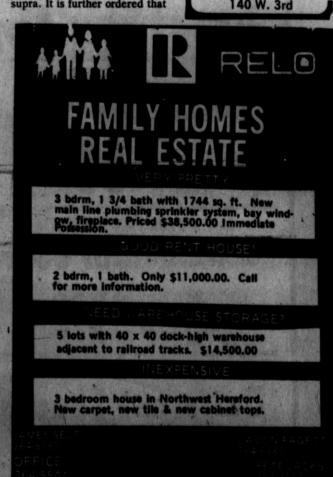

The record in this case does not authorize the reduction of the back pay awarded to plaintiff because of the failure of plaintiff to mitigate his damages. Such failure has not been proven and the responsibility is upon the defendants to bear the burden of such proof. Rolfe v. County Board of Education of Lincoln County, Tennessee, 391 F.2d 77, 81 (6th Cir. 1968). Further, it appears to the court that Plaintiff has attempted in a proper manner to mitigate his damages but was unsuccessful in doing so.

The Clerk will furnish a copy hereof to each attorney. ENTERED this 12th day of October A.D. 1976.

USDA Hopes ImportLimitation Will Aid U.S. Beef Producers

WASHINGTON (AP)- Little consumer impact is expected from the limits on beef imports imposed by President Ford on Saturday, but farm experts hope the move will be a help to cattle

An agriculture Department economist said that because of the large supply of beef on the market the import restrictions should have little or no effect on retail prices, currently about 20 cents a pound below last year's

But, he said he hopes the quotas will help producers to sell their beef-by eliminating at least a part of their competition.

Ford signed a proclamation imposing the quotas while flying over cattle country from Lawton, Okla., to Dallas, Tex. It was the first imposition of mandatory quotas since approval of the law authorizing them 12 years ago.

Beef stock are more than 40 per cent ahead of last year and slaughter prices are down about the United States will begin 30 per cent.

Consumer demand has kept beef prices relatively steady, but the 6.5 billion pounds of beef produced this summer beef produced this summer was a record output and lowered the

The quota, which is now in effect, was set at 1.233 billion pounds of meat, about 6 per cent of American consumption.

Agriculture Department officials had indicated the possibility of quotas earlier last week, when they estimated imports this year would total 1.250 billion pounds of meat.

The White House said that a day after his opponent for the meetings on the details of the program with countries supplying meat to the U.S.

Voluntary quotas limiting imports to 1.133 billion pounds had been in effect, but agriculture officials discovered that large amounts of Australian beef imported through Puerto Rico were not being counted against these limits.

Officials said that more than 40 million pounds above the voluntary ceiling had been shipped through the free trade zone of Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. Ford signed the proclamation

"firm action" on the meat

Hunter said the decision "strengthens the foundation for effective administrative action to stop circumvention of the purposes of the 1964 Meat

Noting that the quota level is 13 million pounds higher than agreed under the voluntary restraint level, Hunter said,

'We feel the quota figures should have been no more than the restraint level. However, stopping the circumvention is an overriding consideration because it means lower import tonnage in the longer run."

GARY STORY

Gary Story, Hereford native and administrative assistant of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, has been named an assistant vice president and assistant secretary for the bank's PCA Management Service Department. Announcement of the recent appointment was made by Jack H. Barton, the bank's president.

In his new position, Story is responsible for assisting Production Credit Associations of Texas in planning, administration, insurance programs and special lending programs. He will also serve as assistant to the bank's corporate secretary.

Story, 1967 Hereford High School graduate, received his BS from West Texas State University in 1971. He joined the Credit bank in 1973 as director of information. Prior to that time, he was employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone

The Houston bank is the principle source of most agricultural loan funds for 32 Production Credit Associations and 7 agricultural credit corporations. Last year, the bank provided more than $1:3 billion in credit to Texas farmers and ranchers.

WASHINGTON (AP)-Consumers can look forward to continued increases in the amount of pork coming onto the market through the middle of next year and at least as much beef as they could choose from early this year, the Agriculture Department forecasts.

But that's bad news for cattle and hog producers.

USDA, in a new assessment of the livestock and meat situation, said it does not expect any recovery in farmers' cattle prices before winter and then not much.

Choice steers averaged $34.86 per 100 pounds last week, down almost $14 in a year. USDA predicted mid $40 prices next June.

With the expected seasonal slowdown in hog slaughter next spring, hog producers' prices may get back into "the upper $30s." When producer-constricted supply brought the peak of hog prices last year, those farmers were getting more than $60 per 100 pounds. Last Week, prices at seven major markets

It could be worse, the analysis pointed out. Beef production this summer reached an all-time high of 6.5 billion pounds, a 10 per cent increase over the July-September quarter of 1975. But consumers' appetite for beef increased a like amount, the report said.

The beef community has been trying to slaughter back herds in an effort to unload fattened cattle and manage the supply to get prices back to profitable levels eventually. Pork has been flowing back into the food channels in response to high 1975 prices.

Strong retail demand for meat is the principal factor holding farm prices off the bottom and preventing sharp drops in consumer prices as well, USDA economists have been saying.

But the poor returns to livestock producers apparently are posing significant political problems for President Ford. Almost half the states have strong cattle elements within their economies.

But it's costing you money every year you wait. Two ways. First, you're losing the extra crop production you get under irrigation. Second, inflation is at work. Boosting prices, dropping the value of an analysis.

BIG T PUMP CO., INC.

HEREFORD-DIMMITT-FRIONA

The USDA livestock situation report says that total supplies of red meat in the first six months of 1977 will be less than the amount available in the last half of 1976 but "moderately higher" than the comparable period from this year. The latest report on beef supplies in cold storage showed those stocks up 46 per cent from a year ago. The production of broiler chickens also is expected to be above 1976 levels.

The continued expansion in all three major meat channels is due in part to the industries' reasonably predictable cycles and the interplay among them for the consumers' dollars, UDSA said. The department said it also is caused by the record corn crop, healthy feedgrain harvest and a tight, but solid soybean supply.

The smaller expansion than earlier predicted is due to the trimming of those crop estimates by drought-damage reports. The key to cosumer food prices this coming winter and spring is in the actual extent

Stock Buyer Is Reinstated

WASHINGTON James T. Harmon, operator of Harmon Cattle Co., Amarillo, Tex., has been reinstated as a registered livestock dealer under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports, Harmon purchases livestock throughout the Texas Panhandle, western Oklahoma, and eastern New Mexico.

Harmon's registration was suspended by USDA in an order issued June 17 for violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards (P&S)

Harmon has now filed a reasonable bond and a supplemental order has been issued terminating his suspension. All other provisions of the cease and desist order issued against Harmon remain in effect. Dealers are required-- under the P&S Act -- to maintain a reasonable bond as a measure of financial protection for the sellers of livestock.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.
