The Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court spent almost $200,000 for renovating the county jail and received a belated Christmas gift worth about $50,000 during its meeting held Tuesday at the courthouse.

Besides these items of business, the commissioners set a special election to decide public wishes on selection of Deaf Smith County Hospital District Board members, approved the purchase of venetian blinds for the courthouse and discussed with Hereford City Commission members the cost of keeping prisoners in the county jail.

Herb Brasher, county consulting engineer, reviewed plans for the jail renovation which are required under state law. The county was fighting a Jan. 1, 1977 deadline in processing the jail renovation bid contract so that more stringent federal standards would not

THE TOTAL COST of the renovation will amount to about $195,743 based on bids submitted for construction. The largest bid was awarded to Wiley Hicks Jr. of Amarillo for installation of new facilities. His base bid was $96,723 to which were added an $8,054 alternate one bid and a 1,466 alternate two bid.

Other similar bids were submitted by Monterey Construction for a total of $130,000 and by Page Wirtz for an amount of $128,522. The Hicks bid was the lowest.

The second bid awarded went to Southern Steel Co. of Amarillo for a total of $89,500. This consists of a $45,200 base bid and alternates of $39,800 and $4,500. This is for the steel equipment needed.

Construction will start as soon as possible after the first of the year according to County Judge Sam Morgan. The Hicks firm is already on the construction site since it is renovating the fourth floor of the courthouse to provide 11 additional offices to house the state welfare personnel.

Eight jail cells will be converted from six existing ones and two new ones will be added. The renovation is mandated to provide more suitable housing of hardened criminals with separation of women and juvenile prisoners.

The commissioners were surprised with the donation of a locally historic house and lot to be added to present facilities of the county museum. Jim Black authorized the contribution of his parents house located at 508 West third Street. It was built in 1908 and will be restored partially to represent a residence as it appeared in this county during the first decade of this century.

All the furniture of the house was donated along with the lot for an estimated value of between $40,000 and $50,000. Approximate cost of minor

The house will be used for such activities as club coffees asnd tours.

Another house on the north side of the lot will be torn down and used for parking.

JAN. 15, 1977 was selected for the hospital board election. It will be a simple ballot asking local voters if they prefer electing hospital board members or want the county commissioners to continue appointing them. The court was forced to set the election after a petition containing over 250 names of local qualified voters was submitted.

Presently, the six hospital board members are appointed in staggered terms to oversee the operations of the Deaf Smith General Hospital. Those now on the board include L.J. Strafuss. Tommy Carnahan, Mrs. Wanda Hoover, Hap Cavness, Isaias Gamez, and Frank Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the commissioners courtroom of the county courthouse. Only one voting box will be open.

After brief consideration, the court awarded Sherwin-Williams, a local paint supply store, a bid for placing venetian blinds in all three floors of the courthouse. The estimated cost of about $4,700. It was the cheapest alternative compared with cotton or acetate-lined curtains. The present curtains in the courthouse are tattered and deteriorating

CAN JIMMY CARTER repeal Parkinson's Law?

This is the topic discussed in a recent Newsweek article by William J. Miller. Parkinson's Law, in essence, states that the number of workers in any public bureau will tend to rise, at an annual rate of about six per cent, regardless of the amount of work to be done, or even whether any is done.

When C. Northcote Parkinson wrote his book, "Parkinson's Law", many of his admirers thought of him as a great satirist. However, Miller says he talked with Parkinson and the author insisted his "law" was quite serious and could be Parkinson drew the law itself from two axioms: (1) An official wants to multiply subordinates, not rivals and (2) Officials make work for each other.

In short, A is appointed to head up a task force. He decides he needs help but will not hire just one assistant, B. because he could be a possible successor. So he hires C and D, dividing the work into two categories, so that A will be the only man who comprehends them both.

As these individuals make work for each other, C, in turn, will find himself overworked and will demand and get two assistants of his own. A can then avert internal frictiononly by advising the appointment of two more aides for D. Seven officials are now doing what one did before. These seven make so much work for each other that all are fully occupied and A is actually working harder than ever.

All this, writes Miller, sets a sharp challenge for the incoming President. The acknowledged size of the Presidential staff was 208 when Mr. Johnson departed, and 522 by the beginning of Mr. Ford's final year. Carter has promised a small, tighter White

Methodist Minister Spreads Belief In God Throughout Northwest Texas

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is provided by the McMurry College News Office concerning the husband of a local resident. The widow of The Rev. Cal C. Wright is now settled in Kings Manor retirement home in Hereford.

The Rev. Ca. C. Wright embodied the spirit of tireless Christian dedication which carried Methodism to remote, thinly settled Northwest Texas in the early days of this century.

Because of this, those who knew this pioneering preacher are working to endow a scholarship in his memory at McMurry College, an institution close to his native Callahan County.

The Reverend Cal C. Wright Memorial Scholarship was established Sept. 30, 1975, by Mr. and Mrs. David Marion of Colorado City.

Mrs. Wright, the widow, lives in Kings Manor, Hereford.

During the last nine years of his ministry. Wright was pastor of the First Methodist Church of Spur, where he organized youth revival efforts.

He was a promoter of the Sunday School Board giving educational certificates. Wright was widely known for his efforts toward improved Sunday School educational programs.

Wright was a spare six-footer who liked to wear cowboy boots and a hat with a brim slightly wider than the average professional man.

He was born Feb. 20, 1887 and grew up on a ranch in Callahan County. In 1903 Wright entered Polytechnic College in Fort Worth, but financial circumstances forced him to quit after a year to return home to the ranch.

After working a while, Wright went off to college again, this time to a state school to study law at the urging of his uncle, Judge W.R. Ely.

But he had already become attracted to the Christian life under the influence of the Rev. Dick Tooley, so much so that he shunned church membership because he was wary of a Christian vocation.

Also he had met and been attracted to Ida Vera Clements of Cross Plains. When Tooley held a revival meeting at Blackwell and Maryneal, Miss Clements prevailed on Wright, who was home from college for the holidays, to deliver a paper at the Epworth League.

After Wright's talk, Tooley came and put his arm around Wright's shoulder.

"I don't want to wish you any harm, my son," Tooley said, "but the Lord is going to do wonders with you. I pray you'll go into the ministry.

Cal Wright made his profession of faith at the end of the meeting. He was ordained and preached his first trial sermon within two weeks. Only 21 days after his profession, he was admitted to the old Northwest Texas Annual Conference at its session Nov.

10-15, 1909 in Stamford. "He never mentioned law again," recalls his wife.

He was immediately appointed to the Pride Circuit of the old Colorado City District. It consisted of congregations at Pride, Loop and Walk.

Within weeks he went to Miss Clements again to say he would like to wed her, indeed felt he could not continue in the ministry without her as a wife. They were married Dec. 26, 1909 in Cross Plains. "To supplement his $121 a year salary, he worked during the branding season on various ranches," relates Tanner Lane in a passage about Wright in Lane's book, "Campfire Stor-

Girl's Fight

WACO (AP) - At least 50 Waco police and McLennon deputies faced off with about 800 moviegoers Tuesday night in what one officer called "something like a school fight."

Police said the 800 turned out to see a movie called "The Monkey Hustle." Two girls in the theater began fighting, and some of the other viewers joined in after theater security guards tried to break up the fight.

The disturbance moved to the street outside the theater. "It was mostly the crowd cussin' the police...like a school fight where some people start fighting and everyone else crowds in to see," said a Waco police sergeant.

Naturally, couples in their 80s are not apt to have sex as frequently (nor intensely) as couples in their 30s, but the physical expression of love can still be immensely satisfying in the twilight years.

DEAR HURT: It's risky to put 'Regrets Only" on an invitation. "Please respond" is much safer.

It's also unwise to assume that everyone who was sent an invitation received it. I've had too many "unfortunate" experiences with the postal service to make any such assumption.

The fail-safe method is to telephone all who have not responded, three days before you order the food -- and get a yes or a no.

Oil Imports Up Monthly Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) - A big increase in oil imports helped push the United States' trade deficit to $906 million in November, the largest monthly trade imbalance in the nation's history, the Commerce Department reported today.

The nation has suffered a trade deficit in 10 months of this year. The previous record monthly deficit was $888 million in August 1974. The Commerce Department said that for the first 11 months of 1976, the total U.S. trade deficit was $13.1 billion, which would be a new deficit record for any single year if it continues through De-medical costs.

Oil imports increased more than $75 million, bringing the total value of petroleum imports for the month to more than $3 billion. The increase was attributed to importers' attempts to bring in as much oil as possible before the hike in prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Total imports during the month rose 1 per cent to more than $10.5 billion, while exports fell 1 per cent to about $9.6 billion.

A look at the record books shows that the Deaf Smith County economy made surprising gains in the last few years. Despite inflation, unemployment, high taxes and the various other problems that arose, common to all sections of the country, there was progress locally.

A principal indicator of this progress is the volume of business that was done by local retail establishments. The reports show that it increased considerably during the five years ending January 1, 1976.

It reflects the fact that area families, most of whom had their pay envelopes fattened each year, remained active in the marketplace, spending as much as was necessary to maintain the standard of living to which they had become accustomed.

The growth in the period is brought out in data compiled by the Standard Rate and Data

Mays, Mercer Guide 79-67 Win

By BOB NIGH Brand Sports Editor

Hereford's M&M kids proved to be a sweet delight to a small crowd of Whiteface fans at the Clovis Holiday Tournament Tuesday afternoon as the Herd advanced to the Consolation Championships with a 79-67 win over the Bernalillo Spartans.

James Mays and Kenneth Mercer cruised for 29 and 25 points respectively for Hereford as coach Barry Arnwine's crew finally laid to rest a quick. scrappy bunch of Spartans behind a late surge.

The Herd gained control of the contest early, and had moved ahead 37-29 at the half as Mays exploded for 15 points in the second period.

The third quarter nearly knocked the breath out of the Faces however, as Bernalillo rallied after David Schumacher converted a pair of free throws to knot the score at 39-39.

The Spartans used the suddenly acquired momentum to forge ahead after the period by one point at 54-53. Rick Jaramillo provided the gap with a free toss with just two ticks left on the clock.

Mays and Mercer began the final stanza determined to prove that victory wasn't about to melt' in their hands, and Mays gave the Herd the lead again with a layup with 7:20 left.

Mercer took his turn 20 and added two free tosses and another bucket to offset a basket by Bernalillo's Roy Baca as the lead grew to 61-56.

Consecutive buckets by Blake Autry, Mays, Mercer, and Mays again increased the Herd's margin to 13 points at 69-56 with 3:52 left.

Baca, Bernalillo's top scorer with 21 points on the afternoon, scored seven points in the final three minutes, but a barrage of break-away layups insured Hereford's 10th win against six defeats this season.

In addition to Mays and Mercer's combined 54 points. Mike O'Rand added eight, Schumacher had six, Kelly Kitchens scored five, Jim Lawson hit for four and Autry had two.

Kitchens was coming off a 27-point performance Monday night in the tourney's first round, but the Spartans effectively convereged on him to stifle his point production.

"Their coach told me after the game that they had set a special defense against Kelly after watching him play Monday night," Arnwine revealed after the game.

"Fortunately for us they overlooked Mays and Mercer," he added with a laugh.

Jaramillo backed up Baca's 21 points with 14 of his own, while Mike Romero and James Montova each scored 10.

The Herd will play for the consolation title this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. (MST) against Albuquerque Manzano, a 60-47 winner over Portales Tuesday afternoon.

Longhorns Lack Depth Akers Says

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)-Texas lacks the depth of "great teams" and the Longhorns' new coach, Fred Akers, says that's why it is so important that he catch up fast in wooing school-boy stars.

Tuesday, at his first news conference as Darrell Royal's successor, Akers said he was leaving at once to recruit in Odessa, Dallas, Sherman and Longview He said he had talked to at least four quarterback prospects on the phone, and a report asked if Mesquite's Mike Ford was one of them. "Mike's getting consideration, and I hope we're getting his, Akers said. Texas has a "Good nucleus" returning from this year's 5-5-1 squad. Akers said, but 1977 'can't be viewed any other way than as a rebuilding" year.

He added later, however. things need to be answered." Akers, 38, acknowledged that some of Texas' top schoolboy players had not listed Texas as one of the six schools they are allowed to visit. He said he hoped to change their minds and that he had

'nationwide contacts' and would look for outstanding players wherever they lived.

He said two or three players he had coached at Wyoming had hinted that they wanted to follow him to Texs. Also, some he had tried to recruit for Wyoming seemed 'eager and interested to visit Texas."

Asked if Wyoming's 41-7 loss to Oklahoma in the Fiesta Bowl might hurt Texas recruiting. Akers said, "I'm sure some other recruiters will use that, but I hope we're recruiting football players who are smarter than to listen to that."

Asked if freshman halfback Johnny "Lam" Jones, a world-class sprinter, would be required to take part in spring football, which would conflict with tract season, Akers said, "I enjoy track, but I kind of like to win football games, too."

Pressed for a more specific answer, Akers said, "I'm not going to tell him to go run track." Asked a third time what he would say to Jones. Akers said if Jones "Feels he can handle the situation and not be behind, then he should go ahead" and run.

Akers said Texas will continue to use a 4-3 defensive

Claims Iselin AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Phil Iselin, a high school dropout who rose to prominence in pro football and horse racing, is dead.

The 74-year-old president of the National Football League's New York Jets and of Monmouth Racetrack in Oceanport, N.J. died at the football team's office here of his third major heart attack in 31/2

Iselin's heart had stopped twice during a Jets game at Denver on Sept. 19, but he was revived by emergency equipment on hand at Mile High Stadium. He had returned to work after months of recuperation but was stricken again at 3:30 p.m., EST. Tuesday.

"He was great for the sport and a great man for the New York Jets," said Jet's defensive captain, lineman Richard Neal. 'He tried to make things the

"Our prayers now are with Mrs. Iselin.

Betty Iselin was at her mother's bedside in St. Louis when told of her husband's passing. Other survivors include a son. Jimmy. and a daughter. Kay Gillman. The funeral was scheduled for 11 a.m., EST, Friday at Temple Beth Miriam in Deal, N.J.

Iselin left school at Port Washington, N.Y. at the age of 15, but rose quickly to success after becomeing a clerk in a women's clothing business. by the age of 21, he was a salesman. At 25, he owned a company.

Profits from the business led to his purchase of an estate in Oceanport. In 1946, the late Avory L. Haskell, a nationally prominent horseman, asked Iselin is he'd mind having a racetrack built near his home.

Iselin eventually headed the construction committee, became treasurer and later president of the track.

He called horse racing "my firs, love." but entered football management with a group headed by David "Sonny" Werblin, which purchased New York's American Football League franchise in 1963. The team was nearly bankrupt at the time. but the new ownership changed the name from Titans to Jets; in 1964 the club moved to Shea Stadium, and after quarterback Joe Namath was signed with a flourish in 1966, the team's financial complexion changed.

"I loved him. He was agreat man. It's that simple." Namath said Tuesday.

"He was a warm, caring man," added NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "He cared for his family, his friends, and the over-all -- rather than the strictly personal -- interest of the sports with which he involved himself."

Haynes and the rest of the young Patriots came within a whisker of knocking off Oakland in the first round of the NFL playoffs. The Raiders, of course, have now advanced to the Super Bowl against Minnesota Jan. 9 in Pasadena,

Much of New England's success this season could be traced to Haynes, who was the fifth player chosen in the 1976 college draft. He was the first defensive back selected and repaid the Patriots' confidence in him by immediately moving into a starting role.

Haynes finished second in the American Conference with eight interceptions and led the AFC with 45 punt returns for 608 yards. He averaged 13.5 yards per punt return, only two-tenths of a yard less than the NFL

Walton, Blazers Ruin Chicago Bulls' Party

AP Sports Writer

Bill Walton is a party pooper. A record crowd of 19,889, the most ever to watch pro basketball in Chicago, turned out at the Stadium to watch Walton, and the powerful Portland Trail Blazers, battle Artis Gilmore and the surging Chicago Bulls Tuesday night. And with three minutes to go, the home folks were happy as their club clung to a 75-74 lead.

But Walton hit a free throw to tie the score, then banked in a pair of baskets before scoring the game's final point on a free throw. He also grabbed four rebounds in those final three minutes as Portland scored an 84-79 triumph.

Walton led all players with 29 points and 18 rebounds. He limited Gilmore to just two free throws in the second half and a total of 10 points. The victory lifted Portland's record to 23-10, best in the National Basketball Association. Chicago had won nine of its previous 11.

Elsewhere, Seattle edged Atlanta 120-119, the New York Nicks beat Houston 111-99. Kansas City defeated Cleveland 113-106, Washington topped Indiana 117-111, San Antonio outscored Philadelphia 127-116, Denver downed Phoenix 110-102. Milwaukee tripped Golden State 113-102 and Los Angeles trounced Boston 134-105.

Sonics 120, Hawks 119 Seattle blew a 20-point lead

Nuggets 110, Suns 102 Dan Issel's 34 points and nine rebounds helped Denver past Phoenix, which lost injury plagued center Alvan Adams, last year's rookie of the year, because of an ankle injury in the first period.

Kareem Abdul-Jabber's 30 points helped Los Angeles beat Boston for the first time in two years. It was never close as the Lakers lead by as many as 23 points in the first half and 34 in the third period en route to thir 13th consecutive home court triumph.

It took just a little too long for Rhode Island's Rams to realize they were playing a human basketball team Tuesday night.

The poised, powerful Michigan Wolverines took advantage of some early uneasiness by the Rams to carry a 56-40 lead into the second period. And, as Rhode Island Coach Jack Kraft noted, "You can't afford to get 16 points behind at the half against a team of Michigan's

It's tough to come back from that kind of deficit against any team. But when the opposition is the No. 1-ranked club in the nation, the going is that much

"Anytime you play a No. 1 team you have a tendency to be in awe," said Kraft, "and I think this hurt us early."

Indeed it did. On the hot shooting of sophomore Phil Hubbard, who finished with 25 points, the 6-0 Wolverines raced to a 51-32 lead. It wasn't until after the intermission that the momentum shifted.

"The first and second halves were like night and day," admitted Kraft, whose Rams pulled within six points when just over three minutes remained but lost their first game in eight this season when Michigan held on for a 95-85 triumph.

Lambert Voted Defensive Player

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Middle linebacker Jack Lambert of the Pittsburgh Steelers was selected the Natinal Football League's Defensive Player of the Year today by The Associated Press. Lambert was an easy choice with 42 votes from the 84 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters in the 28 NFL cities. Defensive tackle Wally Chambers of the Chicago Bears finished a distant second with 10 votes while defensive end Tommy riact of the San Francisco 49ers had seven and cornerback Monte Jackson of Los Angeles had five.

Others receiving support included Lambert's linebacking partner, Jack Ham of Pittsburgh, Jack Ham of Pittsburgh, defensive end John Dutton and tackle Joe Ehrmann of Baltimore, cornerback Mike Haynes of New England, the defensive rookie of the year, and defensive end Coy Bacon of Cincinnati.

Lambert was the leader of a Steeler defense that permitted only 28 points in the inal nine games of the regular season as Pittsburgh recovered from a 1-4 start to charge into the American Conference playoffs.

Playing middle linebacker. Lambert became one of the more visible figures in the Steeler defense. But, he said, the position, he hardly needs his teammates also had the help. outstanding seasons.

"You have to have the talent," he said. "We're in a unique situation. We could easily have 11 players in the Pro Bowl. Look at tackle Ernie Holmes. He's having his best season but it's hardly noticed because he plays next to somebody like Joe Greene."

Lambert plays his position with intensity. He feels that's expected of him.

'There's a certain way a 1 'e linebacker is supposed to a..." he said. "It goes along with the position because of the Butkuses and the Nitschkes. Maybe I take all my aggressions out on the football field.

Lambert was the Steeler's second draft choice in 1974 out of Kent State. He played quarterback in high school and then defensive end in his sophomore year at college. Then he changed position the following year.

The Steelers flank Lambert with Ham and veteran Andy Russell, giving Pittsburgh one of the strongest linebacking corps in the league. But he wheelhorse is the man in the middle and Lambert knows it.

"Once the ball is snapped." he said. "Jack Ham and Andy Russell can't help me play middle linebacker.

The mixed bag life of Susan Anspach

Susan Anspach says she was born with a silver spoon in her babyfood and a brass spoon in her mouth.

The young actress's mixed-up metaphor conveys the message that she was the product of a marriage her wealthy grandfather disap-proved of, and that while spending her childhood on "the wrong side of the tracks," she and her brother were showered with all the childhood luxuries an indulgent grandparent could provide.

She finds herself in a similar situation in her starring role in the GE Theater drama special, "The Secret Life of John Chapman," to be broadcast Monday, Dec. 27 (9:30-11:00 PM, ET) on the CBS Television Network. She portrays a hard-working woman who gets a glimpse of a more aesthetic life when she becomes involved with John Chapman, a college president "moonlighting" as a sand-which man in the diner where Miss Anspach is the waitress.

Her mixed bag of life while growing up was one of

"From childhood I knew I had to do something worthwhile. When I entered college I intended to study the humanities, to work for society. I went to the Catholic University of America because of my religion and its very fine dramatic department. I tried out for a part in a play, got it, and realized that although in-tellectually I wanted those other things, psychologically I really wanted a place to express all those emotional things I'd been feeling all my life.

Diluted bleach cleans caulking

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY - I hope you or one of the readers can tell me how to clean the caulking around my bathtub. It looks black like it is mildewed and nothing I have used will clean this off. - E.M. DEAR E.M. — You might try applying diluted bleach with an old toothbrush. That should remove the mildew and clean the caulking, too. Denatured alcohol is another suggestion or diluted hydrogen peroxide. Good luck! — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY - I have several Pointers to share with the other readers. Try this before renting a steamer to remove old wallpaper. Soak a fluffy NEW paint roller in hot water and use it to thoroughly wet the paper. Many times this is all that needs to be done to make the paper loose enough to scrape

To remove paint smears from windows, add household ammonia or vinegar to the hot water. Ammonia takes those putty smears off of NEW windows, too.

Rubbing_alcohol will remove that hair spray film that will not wash off the bathroom mirror. Follow with warm water, Those car shampoo gadgets that attach to the garden hose and have rotary brushes are a work saver when washing the outside of windows. Buy one that has a dispenser for suds and a telescoping handle. Use mild liquid detergent suds on the windows and sills and then rinse. Bugs and dust are flushed away. Finish the job with a ruber blade squeegee such as professional window cleaners use. — MRS. F.W.F.

DEAR POLLY — C.W. wanted to know how to make her spotted jeans look better. I do not know whether or not the following will help those particular jeans, but this is good for making jeans look pre-washed. I fill the washer with hot water and mix in two cups of bleach and one and a half cups of white wineger. But in one or two pairs of leach and one will be a second to the vinegar. Put in one or two pairs of jeans and let run through wash cycle. Do not let the water drain out. Stop washer and turn back to wash cycle again. Repeat still another time, which gives them three washes in the same water.

which gives them three washes in the same water.

After the third wash cycle is completed, stop and add detergent. Let go through full cycle again and into rinse. You will have truly pre-washed jeans. My son's were beautiful when done this way, but I used warm water instead of hot, since I did not want so much shrinkage. A store selling such things gave me this "recipe." — BETTY B.

Polly's note — the first time around I would only put in one pair of jeans so as to be sure this gives the look you want. It does call for more bleach than one usually uses in a machine load of clothes.

Teen Center Tries To Help Confused Youth in Alaska

By TAD BARTIMUS

Associated Press Writer NOME, Alaska (AP)-Nome's teen center is a drafty, decrepit building with a shaky past and an uncertain future. Its director is an ebullient young voman determined to keep it Layrie Terrall is 23, a Volunteer in Service To America (VISTA) who has been in Nome one year. Skeptics call her a naive crusader. Optimists call her a guiding light among the town's troubled teen-agers and young adults. The kids just call her a friend.

The teen center has been a sometime-thing. Closed down for five months a year ago by the City Council after it was condemned by the fire marshal, it has also come under fire from authorities because of alcohol and drug abuse on the

"We spent $3,000 on new rec-reational equipment, got the place rewired, and outlawed all alcohol and dope on the grounds before we reopened,' id Miss Terrall.

"We feel the center now is an alternative to alcohol, drugs and crime, and even if the kids don't use it, they know it's there and they have a choice of some place to go."

The freckle-faced social worker from Oregon views Nome teen-agers' major prob-lem as "having no models to build their morals on. Their parents are caught between cultures and are the lost generation. The kids are really afraid that what happened to their folks will happen to them.

'They're afraid to be Eskimos, so they try to be whites, but they go to the movies and watch TV and see those whites as hard-drinking, hard-fighting people and they don't look be-yond that," she said.

Miss Terrall's road to Nome was a direct one.

"I have known for a long time I wanted to get involved, to help people," she said. "Much of that desire came through watching what hap-pened to a close friend of mine who became a drug addict. She wanted help but when we were in high school guidance counselors were generally P.E. (physical education) teachers with a spare hour on their schedule. There was no one who really understood, and my friend ended up destroyed."

The teen center has received several thousand dollars in federal grants to initiate a winter outdoor recreation program of cross-country skiing, backpacking and ice skating. Miss Terrall is also purchasing art supplies and is planning activities for next summer.

She is adamant that bush Alaska's youngsters find solace in the vast land which has lured so many whites to seek

She said to date she hasn't had much luck encouraging students in the boarding home program to frequent the teen cen-ter "because the Nome kids resent them and feel it is their federal funds to establish similar centers in the isolated villages, with emphasis on creation of traditional crafts.

"I foresee an eventual resurgence of native pride up here but it is a long way from re-turning," she said. "Most kids right now reject anything that's native and there is no way we whites can cram it down their throats.

We can take them out on the ice to go crabbing but we're not going to drag them back to harpooning.

Seminar Reports Women in Asia

Not Getting Equal Opportunity

By HARI S. MANIAM

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia AP) - More should be done for women in Asia, according to labor and other experts from Indonesia, Thailand, the Philip-pines, Malaysia and Singapore who met here recently.

Experts from the Association Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) member countries observed that, with the exception of Singapore, Southeast Asian people were engaged in agriculture. They felt women contributed significantly to this work, but that their contributions were underrated and often

Clayton Feels Texas House Ready For Action

By LEE JONES

sociated Press Writer AUSTIN (AP) - As Speaker Bill Clayton sees it, the 1977 House will be a moderate lot, primed for action on middle class Texans' complaints about school taxes and high crime rates.

Clayton predicts a school finance package that will mandate property tax reductions by school districts and predicts passage of anti-crime bills backed by himself and Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

And there will be no serious attempt to buck the governor on 'no new taxes," Clayton said in a pre-session interview that touched on several major issues. Clayton, 48, is unopposed for a second term as speaker when the legislature convenes on Jan.

While labor sees the House as more liberal than it was two years ago, Clayton counts three or four more conservative votes but says "both sides have moderated somewhat to the

He said control of crime is important for the state's economic development.

On a recent trip to Cleveland to promote Texas as a location for industry, Clayton said, "I learned that one corporation asks before it moves in, 'What is a community's number of unsolved crimes and number of murders?' " A high rate of violent crime makes it hard to attract and keep workers, many of whom must work at night,

Clayton explained.

Clayton predicted that Briscoe won't get the $825 million transfer of general revenue to highway construction that he requested. He said the final figure will be somewhere between that figure and the $135 million recommended by the Legislative Budget Board. Clayton, a member of the board, views the board's recommendation as "a pretty good indicator that just because the highway department asks for more, that doesn't mean it is going to get it."

He said he has no qualms about holding most agencies' budgets near present levels-"I think they can deliver services to the people at those levels."

But he would like to see tighter controls over how the money is spent, perhaps through between-sessions oversight by either the governor or an arm of the legislature. He is having a constitutional amendment drafted to give such power to the governor and has asked for an attorney general's opinion on legislative oversight.

On other issues. Clayton said: -He looks for lawyers and doctors to resolve their differences and for the legislature to pass some kind of permanent means of enabling

Little Effort Made Toward Amnesty

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prodaded by a highly publicized request by a senator's widow, President Ford has asked for information that could be used to re-evaluate an amnesty program for Vietnam draft evaders. But administration officials say Ford's effort is minimal.

Ford, vacationing in Vail, Colo., told reporters Tuesday that "we have started the process" of reviewing the amnesty question raised by the widow of Sen. Philip A. Hart. Mrs. Hart said a general amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and deserters was a final hope of her husband, who died Sunday of cancer.

The Justice Department said Tuesday that at the request of the administration, figures were sent to the White House on Ford's own clemency program, which began in 1974. The department took over the program after the deadline for applications passed in 1975.

Lawrence M. Traylor, the department's pardon attorney who is responsible for the clemency program, said he sent the figures to the White House and "that was about it."

Asked if the department had any other role in a new review of amnesty, he replied, "If

Carter To Work With New York To Solve Financial Problems

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga. (AP) - President-elect Carter promised New York officials Tuesday that his administration would work closely with them to solve a morass of city financial problems.

Carter also assigned a top aide to begin working in the areas of housing and welfare.

City is not a viable alternative...

Bankruptcy for New York We have eliminated that as a possibility for the future." Carter said after a meeting with Gov. Hugh L. Carey, Mayor Abraham D. Beame and other New York officials.

There was no indication of specific promises made by Carter and his economic advisers, but Carey described the meeting as "peachy" and Beame termed it "great."

Felix Rohatyn, head of the Municipal Assistance Corp., a state agency formed to assist the city with financial problems, quoted the President-elect as saying the city many need federal help to re-enter the credit market after a three-year recovery plan ends June 30,

Carter named Michael Blumenthal, Treasury secretarydesignate, to work with Carev and Beame on financial solutions for New York City, which narrowly averted bankruptcy last year.

Carter said Blumenthal would work closely on reforms in federal programs dealing with housing and welfare as ways of aiding the city.

"I am proud of the cooperation and effort that the state and city have made in trying to bring its city budget into line," Carter added.
