

Russia Blocks An Immediate Unified Germany

Byrnes' Suggestion Tabled By Council; Coal Discussed

PARIS, July 12 (AP)—Russia blocked steps for an immediate economic unification of Germany at the foreign ministers council today by asking for time to study the future of the industrial Saar Basin, an American source said.

Secretary of State Byrnes proposed that the Berlin control council of the United States, Russia, France and the United Kingdom be instructed immediately to set up the machinery for such a merger. The proposal was tabled, perhaps for further discussion at the afternoon session.

The American informant said Byrnes made his new proposal after President-Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France said in a conciliatory statement that the Saar should be excluded from such a unification and be incorporated fully in the French economy.

Byrnes yesterday told his colleagues that the United States was ready to proceed with an economic merger of the occupation zones.

A British informant said the morning meeting was "completely inconclusive," although British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin discussed Byrnes' new unification proposal in favorable terms and said his government would study it "urgently."

A French source said the ministers did agree to name a special committee to study the problem of how much German coal production to leave to the Germans and how much to allot to the allies.

The committee will report to the Berlin control council, which will pass on the report to the ministers by Sept. 1.

Hughes, Failing Fast, Blames Right Propeller

LOS ANGELES, July 12 (AP)—His battle for life suddenly weakening, Howard Hughes, 41, beckoned his doctor to his bedside last night and whispered a halting story of the cause of his fiery crash Sunday in an experimental plane.

"I want you to give this message to the Army. The accident was caused by the rear half of the right propeller," the millionaire maker of planes and movies told Dr. Verne K. Mason.

"I don't want this to happen to anybody else." Explaining carefully that the rear set of propeller blades on the right engine of his twin-engine plane had suddenly reversed pitch during the first test hop, Hughes said:

"It felt as if some giant had the right wing of the airplane in his hand and was pushing it back and down.

"Tell the Army to look in the wreckage, find the rear half of the right propeller, and find out what went wrong." Hughes gave his message to Dr. Mason after asking, "Am I going to live?" and hearing the physician solemnly replied: "I don't know."

In a bulletin on Hughes' condition, issued when he disclosed the airman's first words on the cause of the crash, the doctor said:

"Howard Hughes has suffered a turn for the worse in his fight for life. His left lung has failed to respond and is still functional. He is surviving through the restricted use of his right lung, to the extent permitted by his crushed chest, which includes nine broken ribs.

"He is breathing pure oxygen 24 hours a day." Hughes' XF-11 photo-reconnaissance craft, reportedly the world's fastest long-range plane, struck and set afire three houses and a garage in Beverly Hills before crashing and exploding in a vacant lot.

Airliners Grounded After Crash

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Authority today grounded all Lockheed Constellation airliners for 30 days, temporarily disrupting international air travel.

CAA took the drastic step after a Constellation, operated by Transcontinental and Western Air, crashed on a training flight at Reading, Pa., yesterday. Five crewmen were killed. It carried no passengers.

Technicians from CAA and the Lockheed company were sent to the scene immediately to launch an inquiry into possible engine fire hazards on the ships.

The grounding order was the second action directed against the big craft. As the result of a previous mishap involving one of the ships, CAA had ordered Constellations flown at altitudes where pressurized cabins are not required.

Probers Invite May To Testify

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Senate war investigations excused two key witnesses today—Henry M. Garsson and Benjamin F. Fields—when they refused to waive immunity in testifying on operations of an Illinois munitions combine.

In an angry, finger-shaking exchange, Chairman Mead (D-NY) first told Fields he was through as a witness until he was willing to answer questions frankly and completely.

Then, only moments later, Mead told Garsson the same thing. These rapid-fire developments came on a day when the committee sought to get Rep. May (D-NY) as a witness in a public hearing to testify on his activities in connection with the combine.

The committee formally invited the chairman of the House banking committee to appear but May declined to tell reporters whether he would comply.

Garsson and Fields have been prominently identified with the Erie Basin Metal Products Co., an allied firm which pyramided what Mead has called a "paper empire" into millions in war contracts.

To each, it was made clear that they believed it would incriminate them. Each insisted on standing by those rights.

While the committee has power to compel witnesses to testify, Mead said it had not followed that policy and would not do so in these instances.

The committee made public a letter which said that May's secret testimony June 4 "did not furnish the full, complete and accurate facts" as to May's activities in connection with a chain of Illinois munitions makers.

May told reporters: "I have received a letter and will answer it in due course." He refused to say more, or to indicate when he might make his reply.

Motorist Signals Station Attendant To Prevent Robbery

Edgar Bassinger of Westbrook, who said he was threatened and forced to drive eastward from here by a pair of young hoodlums, succeeded in breaking up their act by whispering a distress signal to a filling station attendant in Abilene last night.

Bassinger had picked up the pair, he said, in Midland Thursday afternoon. About eight miles west of Big Spring, one of them produced a knife and robbed him of a billfold containing about $11.

Then they forced him to motor on through Big Spring to Abilene. The vehicle there developed engine trouble, however, and they limped into a station.

Left unguarded for a moment, Bassinger asked the attendant to telephone the police and the law arrived on the scene shortly thereafter. The two gave no trouble when challenged.

They were to be brought back here by Sheriff Bob Wolf. Abilene police did not immediately identify them.

Juan Gutierrez Lacarain, of Accion Nacional Party (PAN), won the sole opposition congress post. Elected senators were Fidel Velazquez, head of the Mexican Labor Confederation, and Col. Carlos Serrano.

Woman Averts Train Accident By Acute Sense Of Hearing

MARSHALL, July 12 (AP)—Mrs. E. H. Morton, a section foreman's wife, averted a train accident which President W. G. Vollmer of the Texas & Pacific railway said might have claimed many lives.

While the control operator held the third section of the Sunshine Special, Morton went to investigate. He found a broken rail, collected a crew and fixed it.

The section of the fast passenger train proceeded in safety.

Chicago Judges Engage In Dispute Of Bald Facts

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—Two Chicago judges engaged in a friendly out-of-court contest yesterday to determine the bald truth—but they refused to split hairs and no verdict was decided.

It all started when Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, sitting in felony court, received a birthday gift—a hairbrush with the bristles removed and replaced with a yellow polishing cloth such as used by baldheaded men.

The sender was Judge Charles E. Byrne of criminal court, whose head is as bare as Judge Hartigan's.

Judge Hartigan dashed into Judge Byrne's chambers, waved the hairless hairbrush in the air and shouted: "You should have kept it. I've got at least two more hairs than you."

The judges started counting hairs on their heads but before they finished Randall Jordan, baldheaded shoeshine boy, appeared in the chambers.

The judges decided to give the birthday gift to Jordan. He didn't say whether he would use it on his head or on his customer's shoes.

Taft Outlines Plans To Keep Bill Impotent

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—New England senators launched an effort today to keep price ceilings off feed grains in any renewal of OPA authority.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said he and others had drafted an amendment to pending OPA revival legislation which would ban controls over wheat and other grains when used for livestock and poultry feeds. It would retain ceilings on flour and cereals.

The senate rejected 40 to 32 Wednesday a move by Senator Reed (R-Kan) to exempt from controls grains and products manufactured from them.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) indicated that he will offer an amendment which would guarantee wholesalers, retailers and distributors the same markups and discounts they enjoyed in 1940.

With these and other amendments lined up, the senate disposed of other pending business temporarily delaying action on a bill to restore curtailed OPA authority for a year.

A drive also was on to clinch the exemptions previously voted for meat, milk and sundry other items.

Republicans got behind the new campaign after barely failing to rip from the measure provisions which Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said could prevent manufacturers from getting needed price increases.

The GOP objective was to compel the house to vote specifically on the various decontrols already ordered by the senate. Administration leaders were worried over the outcome. They conceded privately that the house might go along and that President Truman again might feel compelled to toss out a veto.

This is the strategy, as outlined by Taft to a reporter: Once the senate passes its measure to bring OPA back to life in slimmer form, the bill will have to go to a conference committee so differences with the house can be straightened out.

So far the house has passed only a bill to continue OPA until July 20 in its pre-death form.

However, instructions are being drafted—and the senate will be asked to approve them—telling the senate conferees to stand pat on amendments outlawing any future price controls on:

Meat, poultry, milk, petroleum, cottonseed, soy beans and their products.

O'Daniel Approves OPA Amendment

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel voted for the amendment to the OPA extension bill stipulating that where states establish their own rent control systems the federal government shall not impose its own which passed the Senate yesterday 59 to 20.

Sen. Tom Connally, now in Paris, was listed as not voting.

Released Under Bond

NACOGDOCHES, July 12 (AP)—Ollie A. Cook, 43, of Woden, Tex., has been released under $3,000 bond on a charge of murder filed in connection with the death of his son-in-law Herman Dudley, 43, of Woden, on Wednesday night.

Both Steelman and the chief executive termed quick passage of a "workable" OPA bill the only guarantee against inflation, but they said stabilization would be aided "powerfully" by reducing the outflow of public funds, keeping taxes high and controlling credit expansion.

The report declared that a balanced budget, or a surplus, is "highly desirable."

But reconversion officials now estimate that running the government until next June 30 will cost about $42,000,000,000 instead of the treasury's January estimate of $35,800,000,000.

As a compensating factor, however, government income has soared, too. Now some government economists think it will go close to $40,000,000,000 if tax revenues keep pouring in at the present indicated rate—in other words, if business stays good, if strikes are infrequent and tax rates stay high.

But this still leaves a gap of $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 which may prove hard to close, especially in an election year.

Steelman's report, his first since taking over the reconversion office, was summarized in a statement issued by Mr. Truman at his news conference.

Production by midyear, it said, had reached the highest level ever attained in peacetime; Americans are "earning more money and purchasing more goods than ever before in peacetime."

"More people are working now than ever before—four-and-a-half million more than in 1941, our highest peacetime year."

"Certainly, up to this point runaway inflation has been prevented."

"But"—here Mr. Truman quoted the reconversion report directly—"all of the ground we have so laboriously won against inflation will be irretrievably lost without a workable price control law."

"Every day that passes without a law on the books increases that danger."

Rainey Delays Statements By Opponents

DALLAS, July 12 (AP)—Objection of Homer Rainey's attorneys delayed statements by other gubernatorial candidates at opening session of the Federal Communication Commission hearing here today.

James V. Allred objected to promised hearing of Grover Sellers, Beauford Jester and Casso March before the noon adjournment on the grounds that "orderly and logical development" of the case called for cross-examination of Rainey before the others were heard.

The presiding judge agreed. Sellers interrupted to suggest "a couple of weeks postponement of the whole hearings."

Sellers said the public should be made to make its decision as well as the FCC on the evidence presented.

Col. John M. Cunningham, presiding at the hearing, said he had no authority to delay the hearing and ordered the case continued.

Caso March then interrupted. He said he had some important engagements to meet and wanted to get on with his campaign. He asked when he could make his statement.

"Just as soon as the cross examination is completed," Cunningham said. He indicated that would be later today or early tomorrow morning.

Counsel for the Texas Quality Network, which has been charged with discrimination in allotment of radio time by Rainey, urged that the hearing be completed as quickly as possible, and not extended beyond tomorrow at the outside, even if night sessions were needed.

Beauford Jester took the floor and said he had important engagements and speaking appointments and hoped to be heard as soon as possible.

"I do definitely have something to say," he said.

Allred said that Rainey also had important engagements, and was as anxious as the other candidates for governor to get back on the road with his campaign.

Attendance On Increase At YMCA Craft Instruction In Shells, Leather

Growing interest in handicraft classes being conducted at the YMCA each Thursday was evidenced last night by increased attendance in classes. Mrs. Ann Houser said Friday.

Instruction in shell craft was directed by Betty Penn, and four pairs of earrings were completed and several pins were started.

Sammy Burns offered instruction in leather craft, and practice in methods was done on scrap leather. Tooling leather and lacings will soon be available for making belts, watch fobs, briefcases and other leather objects.

Mrs. Houser stated that the only expense will be the actual cost of materials. All implements and equipment will be furnished by the YMCA.

The pool tournament was continued by various contestants, including Bobby Miller, Arthur Perkins, Homer Gay, Jr., Robert Hobbs, Gene Foster, Charles Vierogge, Billy Carlile and J. Erwin Ray H. Snyder is directing tournament play, which will be continued over a period of weeks.

"Heavenly Harmony"

We have many churches in our city each with differing practices and each emphasizing particular spiritual truths from God's Holy Word. Yet we are or ought to be "One in Christ Jesus."

As an orchestra contains many different kinds of instruments with each emphasizing a different note yet produces beautiful harmony under the direction of its leader so may the churches of our land produce a heavenly harmony if we follow Christ, our Leader, and remember that he placed love for one another along side of love of God in his statement of the greatest commandment.

Biennial Show Is Sub-Standard

Texas has been treated to some colorful shows in the biennial gubernatorial campaigns and while the current offering is not up to standard, it cannot be properly called an exception.

There has been ample name calling, although this phase, so familiar to Texans, has been below the usual volume. Some issues have been aired, yet application of the term issue to them requires use of the word in its broadest sense.

The most pronounced feature of the campaign to date is the copious amount of promises. These have been a dime a dozen, and they have been in such numbers that the voter is given pause to reflect whether the element of sincerity can be involved in the major portion of them.

One candidate, Jerry Sadler, has been frank enough to say he is building his "platform" as he goes along, i.e. he adds another plank when and as it appears it has possibilities of pulling in a few more votes. Others have been consciously or unconsciously following a similar pattern.

Since it is acknowledged that Homer Rainey will be the first primary leader, many have awaited his pronouncements so they can be on the other side. A case in point is Rainey's recent blast at the press. Immediately, Beauford Jester was on the side of the press.

There have been charges of platform stealing, Caso March having asserted here that Rainey cribbed his gas plank almost word for word. In turn, others in the race have had similar accusations to make toward their brethren.

And along with it all we have had a shower of hill billy music, fox horn blowing, record playing, etc. along with golden promises and tears for the old folks. There have been dark whispers, too, but this lovely technique will be saved for the run-off.

All in all, it's no wonder that so many Texans have not made up their minds to date for whom they will vote. If all the promises to date have not stirred them, perhaps it is true that they don't care. And that is bad.

Way Shown; It Can Be Done

Abstractly, most of us think of more attractive scenes along highway entrances when thinking on the subject of beautification.

We have plenty to think about on this subject. One recent case was the horse lot situation on the west highway—which still exists.

However, it is nothing but simple justice to give credit where credit is due. In that same part of town one junk yard in particular has really put its house in order. Where a mass of car bodies once was maintained in ugly disarrangement there is today a perfectly clean lot. The premises are tidy and clean. The place has been transformed.

Some others in the same locality have made steps toward correcting a bad situation and they are to be commended for it.

It will be a fine thing when more and more people take action with the same civic consciousness. These have pointed the way. It can be done.

Labor's Headaches, Heartaches

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of six stories explaining the history of organized labor and how, after a year of strikes, it emerges almost untouched by restrictive legislation.)

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—For more than 100 years organized labor had to fight the resistance of employers who had the courts on their side.

The courts represented government, and it is only in recent years that the government, through laws passed by congress, has stepped in to help the unions.

The government's relation to labor has gone through three main phases: Crushing unions, tolerating unions, helping unions.

There are, and there were, almost no federal laws restricting union activities but judges for years took the place of laws. They gave decisions that put a halter on unions.

Early court decisions in this country were based on the English law theory that when workers combined to raise wages it was a conspiracy to hurt trade and, therefore, the public welfare.

Starting around 1895, a number of unions which demanded wage increases were brought to court by employers and found guilty of such conspiracy.

It wasn't until 1842—and then only by a court decision, not by law—that the right of a union to exist at all was established.

Employers were free to refuse to bargain with a union or to try to prevent their workers from forming one.

Despite the 1842 decision, unions continued to be prosecuted for conspiracy until the 1880's. After that date injunctions began to take the place of conspiracy charges.

(An injunction is an order issued by a court forbidding someone to do something. In this case it would forbid a union to strike or picket a plant.)

Use of the injunction in labor disputes came through the courts' view that the right to do business is a property right. Which means: If a firm can't do business, it suffers a property loss.

Employers usually sought an injunction when a union threatened a strike, boycott, or picketing. Unions used the boycott or picketing to try to win their demands.

(A boycott is a union's refusal to handle or to buy the products of a company where there is a labor dispute. Pickets are union members placed around such a business place for these purposes.)

(To persuade the public or other union members not to do business with the company on to prevent non-union workers from taking the jobs of striking union men.)

In 1890 congress passed the Sherman anti-trust act to curb business monopolies and prevent their interfering with trade.

Although this act was aimed at corporations, federal judges began to use it against unions, through injunctions, on the grounds that some union activities, like the boycott, interfered with trade.

Organized labor fought to wipe out this interpretation by the courts and in 1914 congress passed the Clayton act to amend the Sherman act and protect unions from it.

But the supreme court ruled that the Clayton act did not ex-

Texas Today—

Jackrabbits In The News

Jackrabbits have jumped into the news recently. Several ill-advised persons in nearby states have rashly claimed their jackrabbits are larger than Texas jackrabbits.

Any red-blooded Texan would immediately deny such claims, whether there were facts to substantiate the denials or not. Fortunately, proof is available. (It says here).

Take, for example, Mrs. Otis Allen of El Paso. She says Texas jackrabbits are so large they are often mistaken for antelope and each year her grandfather kills two of them to feed 150 guests at an annual barbecue. The rabbits are killed with 30-30 rifles. The hides are often used to cover canoes. One hide will cover a canoe capable of holding five persons.

Further, she says the reason there are so few trees in the Panhandle is because jackrabbits, who are vegetarians, eat them up. Then there's the Sweetwater chamber of commerce. It proposes to solve the meat shortage by substituting jackrabbit meat for beef and pork.

L. A. Wilke, manager of the organization, says solemnly but with tongue in cheek that they plan to keep the city's three meat packing plants working full time on jackrabbits.

It will be a two-fold benefit, too, he said. Ranchmen have complained that the rabbits are chasing their stock. One man who had 30 buffalo said jackrabbits chased the buffalo 20 miles away from his ranch.

Even government trappers are peeved. Wilke says the jackrabbits have chased away all the wolves in the area and the trappers are out of jobs.

Wilke goes further. In fact, he goes almost too far. He says Sweetwater proposes a hot tamale factory, to augment the meat packing plants.

An original recipe worked out by Wilke calls for a 50-50 brand of tamale meat — one jackrabbit and one horse, mixed. These stories probably won't end the Texas - Arizona, Wyoming jackrabbit controversy, but they'll at least provide Texans with a bit more arguing material.

SOUND EFFECT—

It's So Cozy At Rosie's

NEW YORK — Rosie is closing for the summer. That may not sound important to a reader, but to a half hundred Italian-cooking gourmets it is shattering. Rosie runs probably the finest restaurant in New York, a few feet wide and not much deeper, next door to the Alvin theater on 52nd St. . . . It has a total capacity of seven persons. . . . On one or two occasions Rosie relaxed her strict rules for the night and eight were seated.

Anyone walking by would pass without noticing the tiny eatery. . . . It looks like a candy store. . . . In fact, it once was a hole-in-the-wall soda fountain. . . . The fountain still is in place, but the ice receptacles now are used for cigarettes, gum and one or two Italian candy delicacies. . . . But no cream. . . . Rosie wouldn't have it in the place.

Furthermore, Rosie's is slightly more exclusive than the Cub Room of the Stork or Twenty-one. . . . Rosie has her own very small clientele. . . . and it hasn't changed by more than a half dozen in that many years. . . . She cooks everything herself, serves it herself, takes complaints in a cold manner which informs disgruntled characters she doesn't want them back again. . . . She believes the meals she cooks are not bad, and I for one say she is right.

Rosie, an amiable, bustling little lady in her upper middle years, will not expand her facilities, however outdated they may seem to modern sticklers for stainless steel and chromium. . . . She has a simple reason for her decision to remain the smallest of small businesses.

"If I can't cook it myself I won't serve it," she informs friends and customers who urge her to spread out.

Comic Lew Parker, star of the recently closed "Are You With It?" offered to back her in a larger restaurant. . . . she laughed at him. . . . Norman Pincus, owner of the Alvin theater, has tried unsuccessfully for a dozen years to convince Rosie that the road to success and comfort demands expansion and every month or two sits down in an unimpeachable attempt to convince her that she should let him finance such a project. . . . Rosie is patient with Norman at such regular conferences, much as a mother is with a little boy when he tries to explain some playground problem. . . . then she notes with consummate forbearance that she isn't interested in a big, glittering operation with celebrities outside and autograph hounds inside and problems such as chefs, waiters, busboys, checkers, salad chefs, bartenders, porters, men's and ladies' room attendants, managers, telephone operators, door-men, furnaces, air-conditioning.

Rosie is closing for the summer for one simple reason. . . . she doesn't like New York from June to September. . . . So she goes to the country. . . . She won't open until her daughter assures her the sizzling season is over. . . . at which point the word quickly gets around to her regulars that "Rosie is back," and all the spaghetti winders and lassagnas, halers are happy again. . . . until next summer.

May Had Many Relatives On Payroll

WASHINGTON. — Congressman Andy May of Kentucky, godfather of the war profiteers, has had quite a record for sucking on the nepotism bottle. Regardless of what he did or did not receive from the Erie Basin war contractors, at one time the total "take" from government jobs for himself and relatives was around $20,000 annually.

Here is the nepotism score card of the government jobs held at various times by his family:

- Mrs. Julia G. May, wife, secretary $3,000
- Mrs. Bess S. May, daughter-in-law, postmaster of Prestonsburg, Ky. $2,400
- Lucille M. Herndon, sister-in-law, clerk in his office $3,300
- William May, Jr., nephew, analyst in Louisville Office of Federal Land bank $3,600

In addition, May's son, the late Andrew J. May, Jr., and his nephew, Jack May, were given jobs with the mysterious Cumberland Lumber Co., financed by the Erie Basin company and which May apparently operated.

NOTE — May received more than $48,000 from the Erie Basin profiteers to set up the lumber company, but when the money was returned by him last April, the Erie people got back only $40,000. Thus, May or someone around him spent or used around $8,000 which is unaccounted for. . . .

Manganese King May

When Congressman May of Kentucky piously beat his breast on the floor of the House and proclaimed his great patriotism and complete innocence regarding war contracts, he failed to tell his glib colleagues about another deal in which he also tried to make some money.

It so happens that Congressman May is president of the Greenbrier Manganese Mining Co., an outfit which has acquired 7,000 acres of West Virginia low-grade manganese land. Manganese is essential to the smelting of steel, but the deposits found in this country are so poor that Army-Navy experts say it is essentially worthless.

Congressman May, however, has not always put the interests of his country ahead of the interests of his company in respect to manganese.

Once, prior to the war, when the Navy was planning to accumulate a manganese stockpile, Army-Navy officers accused the gentleman from Kentucky of pressuring them to reduce the specifications for manganese to such a low quality that poor-grade domestic manganese could be sold to the Navy, instead of high-grade imported manganese.

This means, of course, that Mr. May's Greenbrier Manganese Co.

would have a chance to sell to the Navy. But it also meant, in the vigorous opinion of naval and bureau of mines experts, that the quality of manganese would not be high enough to produce the high-test steel so necessary to US battleships. . . .

May Got War Contract

Again, in October, 1939, the procurement division of the treasury awarded a $180,000 contract to May's Greenbrier company for manganese, under very mysterious circumstances. His company was not the lowest bidder, did not put up a performance bond, and did not have any funds with which to operate. An official said that they planned to go to the RFC and borrow the money.

It so happened that May had introduced the strategic minerals bill under which manganese was to be stockpiled.

When he was accused of bringing influence to help his company, however, the congressman issued a pious denial, and said his company would not go through with the contract.

Last chapter in the story of May's great patriotism occurred quite recently when a new post-war bill was before Congress to permit the Army and Navy to stockpile essential materials in case of another war. This bill provided that manganese could be imported by the Army and Navy without paying a tariff.

Suddenly, however, Congressman May, head of the Greenbrier Manganese Co., had the bill withdrawn from the floor of the House after it had already been agreed to by committees of both the House and the Senate. He then proceeded to knock out the provision that Army-Navy manganese could be imported duty free.

Naturally, Army-Navy payment of a tariff on manganese would help domestic manganese producers, of which Mr. May is one. Naturally the American taxpayer, whom Mr. May is supposed to represent, thereby stood a greater chance of having money wasted.

Mr. May, however, voted not for the public but for his pocketbook. . . .

May's War Colleague

Murray Garson, one of the war-profiteering brothers who enticed Congressman May — some say he wasn't hard to entice — into godfathering the Erie Basin war contracts, has a unique history.

Entirely aside from his FBI record of association with gangster Dutch Schultz, Murray Garson went out to Hollywood when he was Assistant Secretary of Labor under Hoover. Murray had dabbled in the movies in New York, and conceived the idea of staging a manhunt to scare alien actors who had overstayed their visitors' visas.

Some of the alien actors hurriedly headed for Mexican and Canadian borders. Others, wisely, put matters in the hands of their Hollywood employers. Result: Murray Garson deported no one. But when he left Hollywood his daughter had a $250-a-week contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, plus an auto. And after one year had expired, 20th Century — Fox gave her another contract, together with an additional contract for a husband she had acquired in the interim.

Garson's next appearance on the sacred soil of Hollywood was several years later when he came in the guise of an investigator for a House committee to investigate bondholders, chairmanned by Representative Adolph Sabath of Chicago.

Again there were no prosecutions. But ex-Congressman Ralph Church of Illinois might be able to tell the Mead committee an interesting story about Garson's operations, which involved Joe Schenck of 20th Century — Fox and one of his hotels.

Moral: With some people, everything they touch turns to gold — until Senator Mead catches up with them. . . .

Pappy's Poor Showmanship

Texas' "Pass-the-Biscuits Pappy" O'Daniel was elected to the Senate as a great showman and humorist, but, on the whole, his antics before the Senate over price control were dull. Only once in the pages and pages of debate — paid for by the taxpayer — did he pull a real laugh.

"I am thinking about my children and grandchildren," O'Daniel thundered in reply to a question from Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania. "I am thinking about the senator's children and grandchildren and everyone else's children and grandchildren. I am thinking about unborn generations."

"I cannot boast about my grandchildren," corrected Senator Myers. "They will come along," he joined Pappy. "That is another thing that OPA cannot stop."

Field Chasing Jimmy Hines And His 66 At Kansas City

Three Deadlocked For Second, By Nelson Has 69

KANSAS CITY, July 12 (AP)—Greying Jimmy Hines of Chicago, who is in his sixteenth year of golf campaigning, was ready today to continue his bid for the $20,000 Kansas City invitational tournament title today after a sizzling first round job of 6-under par 66.

Hines hasn't won a tournament since the Tacoma open a year ago. The manner in which he mastered the 6,592-yard Hillcrest country club course yesterday, however, indicated he's dead serious in challenging the might of such golfing greats as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum and Sammy Snead for the $2,500 crown here.

Exactly three fans followed Jimmy yesterday as he put together 3-under par 32 and 3-under 34 for a figure that equaled the course record.

Starting the second 18 holes two strokes off the pace were Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Me., Johnny Bulla, Chicago, and young Jackson Bradley, Long Beach, Calif., each at 68.

Nelson, the Toledo, O., umbrella man and Texas rancher, was three strokes away at 69, while US open champion Mangrum had a 70.

Champion money winner Ben Hogan, still fuming over a three-putt on the 494-yard 17th hole yesterday got his first in 71.

Snead, who failed to arrive from London with his British open trophy in time for a practice round, had his work cut out after a wobbly 73 yesterday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Our Town's G. C. (Good) Graves, Jr., who absorbed his primary football training on the old Central Ward school campus on Lower Scurry street and who later turned into a crackerjack guard for Big Spring high school and Howard Payne college, emerges as the candidate chosen to coach athletics at Robert Lee high school.

Good has wanted to get back into the coaching game ever since he left the US Navy late last year. He served one year as assistant to Pat Murphy here before the war. He was in the physical training department of the Navy, saw service in Japan.

While wearing the livery of the local prep eleven, Good was regarded as one of the top linemen in West Texas if not the entire state. His mentor at the time was Obie Bristow.

Later, under McAdoo Keaton at Howard Payne, Graves got a lot of consideration for the Little All-America squad. He played more minutes than any other regular on the Yellow Jacket squad.

Since departing the service, Good has found time to coach the Veterans of Foreign Wars basketball team. He would probably have had that job handed him again next season had he not accepted the Robert Lee offer.

Good has his job cut out for him at the Coke county school. The town boasts a population considerably under a thousand but the Robert Lee team won the bi-district championship of 7-B and 8-B last year and, according to M. G. Hannaford, superintendent of schools, most of the boys are holdovers who'll be eligible again this fall.

A seven-game schedule has been arranged for Graves' Steers. He'll open the campaign the third week in September.

The club plays teams of such surrounding towns as Bronte, Lakeview, Wingate and Norton. In addition, it plays reserve squads of larger schools.

Incidentally, Robert Lee teams, which employ the same nickname as Big Spring for their athletic teams, also makes use of the same school colors—Black and Gold.

Graves will probably get to select his own assistant, although he doesn't know yet. He's expecting to go down shortly to try and find a place to live and get ready for fall practice.

Good isn't the only member of the Graves family that was athletic letters here. His brother, Jack, was a star wing under Murphy at the turn of the past decade.

Working Extra Doesn't Pay—
Law of Averages Catches Up With Bob Feller As Yanks Rout Him From Hill

By The Associated Press
Working in and out of turn doesn't prolong the career of a pitcher even if that hurler is Bob Feller, star righthander of the Cleveland Indians and one of the best to toe the rubber in baseball history.

Gunning for as many major league pitching honors as possible including Rube Waddell's strike-out record, Feller has a number of times this season requested Manager Lou Boudreau to work him ahead of schedule.

Boudreau has never refused the requests of his ace and Feller had turned in some sparkling performances on what would have been his off days with the high-light being a 1-0 no-hit victory over the New York Yankees on April 30.

However, the law of averages and nature caught up with the fireball king in New York's Yankee stadium last night.

Granted permission to make his third start in five days and with only one day of rest, Feller was blasted for nine runs and 11 hits in five innings as the Yanks whipped the Indians, 9-1.

Before bowing out at the end of the fifth, Feller fanned five batters to bring his season's total to 195 in 185 innings.

By winning, New York managed to stay within seven-and-one-half games of the pace-setting Boston Red Sox who nosed out the Detroit Tigers, 3-2 in ten innings.

The Chicago Cubs, behind the three-hit tossing of Johnny Schemitz blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers, 1-0, but the Dodgers maintained their five game National league lead over the St. Louis Cardinals as the New York Giants trounced the Red Birds, 13-3.

The triumph moved the Giants into a fifth place tie with the Boston Braves who dropped a 8-2 contest to Bucky Walters and the Cincinnati Reds.

The Philadelphia Phillies downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-1. St. Louis' Browns defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3.

Tyler Edges Sherman In East Texas Bout
By The Associated Press
All of the East Texas league leaders—except first-place Henderson—chalked up victories last night.

Henderson fell before Greenville 4-1.
Second-place Tyler outfought Sherman 5-4 in a 19-hit battle. Sherman used up three pitchers in a desperate attempt to win.

Paris, third place team, took a 10-4 triumph from Lufkin in a game well-marked with errors. Jacksonville eked out a 4-3 win over Texarkana.

Lefties Start Play
SEGUIN, July 12 (AP)— Match play will get under way today in the state left-handers golf tournament here at the Starke Park course.

Yesterday Bert J. Keller of Seguin led the qualifying with a one over par, 37-38-73.
Herby Held, Jr., of Lockhart and H. G. Agnew of Ballinger tied for second with 74. E. S. Priestley of Houston was fourth with 75.

Odessa Lasses Invade Big Spring Saturday

Legionnaires Seek Initial Triumph Over Sewell Clan

Two of the strongest women softball teams in West Texas crossed bats at the city park diamond shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday night when the American Legion contingent and the Sewell V-8 club of Odessa have at it.

The brigades appear evenly matched. They've met twice since the campaign opened and in neither game was a decision reached.

The first setto saw each club count 24 runs before curfew rang at midnight.

Last time out, the fickle elements halted proceedings in an early round with the tally deadlocked at 1-1.

The Legionnaires felt they should have won the initial debate had they been at full strength—three regulars were riding the sidelines at the time. All the first stringers will be prepared to operate this time, however, and there will be no excuses offered if they take their lumps.

Both aggregations have absorbed surprising reversals in recent weeks. The Odessans were thrashed by a lightweight Stanton nine weekend before last, losing by two runs. Big Spring was lashed to the mast by Brownfield here last weekend, also by two runs.

T. J. Dunlap, Legion skipper, will start his regular lineup, which includes Lefty Todd, star tosser; Catherine Redding, first sacker; Ethel Trotter, catcher; and Mary Fields, short stop.

Whiffing Jack Miller in the last inning on a three-two pitch with two men out and the bases jammed, Leon Glenn Bredemeyer hurled the Big Spring Motorists to a 3-2 triumph over Coahoma's Stanolin Oilers here in the feature contest of Muny softball league play Thursday night.

In other bouts, ABC ran over United Body Works, 13-6, in a city park setto while Dub's Garage was thumping the Cosden Pipeliners, 9-5, and Doc Wilkinson's Redcaps were burying Manhattan Club under an 11-1 score in arguments at Forsan.

Bredemeyer's movie finish was something to see. He surrendered but three safeties to the Coahomans. However, they suddenly came into their own in the fifth and last round and had him hanging on the ropes.

Miller went for a third strike, however, and the result slipped into the record books.
Charley Teague, Dick Lillard and Sonny Chapman tallied the three Ford runs in the third inning on a series of hits and erratic fielding.

K. C. Grantham, Coahoma hurler, struck out four of the Big Springers while Bredemeyer cut down six of the Oilers on strikes. Jimmy Felts collected a brace of safeties to take a leading role in the Motorists' six hit attack.

The Coahomans missed Bill Brown, who was out of the lineup due to an injury.
Rube Baker found Bredemeyer for a double while Grantham reached third on another bingle but the Ford star kept the hits well scattered.

United Body Works made a contest of their debate with ABC for three innings but booming hits by John Malaise and Pat Patterson put the decision on ice. Both men hit homers.

Lefty Gross drove out a long four-master for the losers.
Jack Keith's Forsan Pipeliners were out in front through the fifth round in their battle with Dub's Garage but collapsed in the sixth. Wayne Monroney and Bobby Yarbrough shared the pitching chores for Forsan while Bruce Robertson worked on the rubber for the Garagemen, rationing out two hits.

The Redcaps played perhaps their best game of the year against Manhattan, tallying three runs in the first and coasting to victory.
Steve Baker led a ten hit attack with a home run while Billy Tubby came up with a triple and two singles. Chock Smith drove out one good for three bases but was out trying to stretch it.

Morris Crittendon, who hurled for Doc's gang, would have registered a shutout had not Don Savage found him for a triple in the third and galloped across the plate on a bunt by Jimmy Daylong.

Trio Of Texans In Semifinals
DENVER, July 12 (AP) — That's a new and different Babe Didrikson Zaharias overwhelming all opposition in the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

"I'm shooting the steadiest golf of my career," she says. "I don't play to the galleries any more. I just forget everything but the match and play to win holes."
She has played only two holes all week in swamping Mrs. Robert Monstead of New Orleans, 5 and 4; Mrs. Sam O'Neal of Odessa, Tex., 7 and 5, and Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia., 7 and 6.

Joe Langston for Abilene and Pete Teague for Lamesa were the starting twirlers, but neither lasted long. Bill Scopetone led the lamesa hitters with four bingles, including a double and triple.

Pepper Martin drove in three Lobo runs. Buck Hucksby probably will start the second game of the series for Lamesa tonight.

Scott To Leave Naval Academy
ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 12 (AP) Navy's 1946 football team faced "a great loss" today with reports that Clyde Scott, star left halfback, had asked permission to resign from the academy.

Captain Thomas J. Hamilton, Navy head coach, would not comment on the reports except to say: "Clyde was unable to come out for spring drills. I saw him play Army last year. He's a great boy and a great back. Should this be true, it will be a great loss."
Academy sources, declining to be quoted by name, said the Smackover, Ark., ball toter had applied formally for permission to resign, along with Bob Hill, star first sacker on the baseball team and academy heavyweight boxing champion.

Dallas Youth Meets San Antonio Golfer

Legionnaires Seek Initial Triumph Over Sewell Clan

SAN ANTONIO, July 12 (AP) — In the finals today of the 20th annual state junior golf tournament, Gene Towry of Dallas, pre-tourney favorite, meets Joe Conrad, local darkhorse.

Towry defeated James Ryan of San Antonio yesterday, 7 and 5, in the semifinals. The day before he knocked out medalist Chester Hauser of Kerrville.

Conrad had to go an extra hole yesterday before beating Palmer Lawrence of Arlington.

The championship match is scheduled to begin today at 9 a. m. The afternoon eighteen is set for 1:30 p. m.

Garden Headliner On KBST Tonight

Curcio presents a new problem to Robinson. Never before has the fast, classy Harlem puncher met a fighter using the unorthodox southpaw style. Joe is a rough customer, too. He tosses punches from the opening bell and never stops charging. His attack steps up when he is stung and there's plenty of knockout power in both hands.

"Sugar" Ray, long ranked with the best of the welterweights, is slated to face Champion Marty Servo in a title match later this summer.

Strained Tempers Flare In Trial Of Lichfield Guards

BAD NAUHEIM, July 12 (AP)—A defense lawyer was held in contempt of court and a prosecution witness was threatened with a contempt citation today in an angry session of Col. James A. Killian's courtmartial on charges of cruelty to Lichfield, England, guardhouse prisoners.
Tempers strained during the stormy 26-day trial flared into violent outbreaks in which hot words were shouted back and forth across the tense courtroom.
Held in contempt was Lt. Col. Raymond E. Ford of Fort Pierce, Fla., Killian's attorney, who charged that the military court's law member, Col. William Beck, Jr., of Griffin, Ga., had "prearranged" a technical ruling in favor of the prosecution.
A few minutes later Lt. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., interrupted a bombardment of prosecution questions by shouting from the witness stand:
"'Til take another courtmartial rather than go through this. I refuse to answer any more questions."
"Subject to objection by any member of the court the witness will be held in contempt," said the court president, Brig. Gen. Robert M. Montague of Louisville, Ky. One court member objected and after a closed conference the court announced Ennis would not be held in contempt.
Ennis, who three days ago was fined $350 for permitting Lichfield guards to club prisoners, then apologized to the court and promised to answer questions "to the best of my ability."
"But I ask the court," he appealed, "to protect me against these inferences by the prosecutor."

—And now he's trying to give me the 'Brush off'—he said we'd get married as soon as we could find a place to live—

Regents To Study Negro Education

AUSTIN, July 12 (AP)—The University of Texas board of regents is expected to take under consideration here today the state's problems of negro education.
Reported ready for submission at the meeting is a report of a joint committee of Texas A&M and University of Texas officials, appointed at a joint meeting of the two schools' governing bodies in Fort Worth last January.
Pressing the regents for early action is a district court order of June 17 which ruled that Texas must either provide separate higher educational facilities for negroes within six months or admit negroes to the University of Texas.
The regents are also expected to act on the 1946-47 budget, appoint 50 new faculty members for the next long term, and consider resignations of about 18 members of the faculty, most of which have already been announced.

Streicher Harmless, Defense Claims

NUERNBERG, July 12 (AP)—Julius Streicher, Jew-baiting editor, was described to the international military tribunal today as a man politically dead in the reach after 1940 and thus unable to influence Germans to acts of violence, as the prosecution contends.
Doctor Hanns Marx presented the defense summary for the former gaulleiter of Franconia with this declaration:
"'In 1939 Streicher was completely pushed aside and was even forbidden to talk in public. As of February, 1940, he was removed as gaulleiter and lived on an estate cut off from all connections. Even party members were forbidden to visit him there."

Jap Dwellings Rebuilt Slowly Since War

TOKYO, July 12. (AP)—The Japanese reconstruction board reported today that from the end of the war until last May 1 only five percent of the nation's bomb-destroyed homes were rebuilt. The majority of the 269,000 dwellings replaced, the board added, were of flimsy construction which would offer little shelter in a cold winter.

The newspaper Yomiuri blamed a dearth of building materials, labor unrest and an influx of repatriates for the "acute housing famine."

Farmers To Charter Train To Meeting

Texas Farm Bureau Federation will charter a special train to carry delegates to the national federation's annual convention in San Francisco, December 9-12. C. H. DeVaney, chairman of the Howard county bureau and a state director, has announced.

Information concerning the proposed trip, which will include tours of several points of interest on the route, is being mailed to all Howard county bureau members, DeVaney said. The journey to San Francisco will be made over a southern route, while the return trip will be routed via Utah and Colorado. Tours on the way will be made at El Paso, Carlsbad Caverns, the Grand Canyon of Arizona and Los Angeles.

On the return trip, visits will be made to Feather River Canyon, Oroville, Calif., and at Salt Lake City and Denver.

Arrangements also are under way for the annual state convention, DeVaney said. A convention site is expected to be chosen soon, and dates will be approximately two weeks prior to the national convocation.

Cotton

NEW YORK, July 12. (AP)—Cotton futures moved over a wide range today in active dealings. Prices slumped almost $3.00 a bale this morning on a wave of commission house profit taking, but thereafter the market moved steadily higher on persistent trade buying, which met only limited offerings. Gains of as much as 75 cents a bale were reached in the early afternoon before prices backed away slightly on hedging. The early selling was put down to technical reasons. Buying was influenced by the continued unfavorable private crop reports, which noted that heavy weevil infestation was increasing. A favorable June cotton consumption forecast by the New York Cotton Exchange service also aided sentiment.

Additional Absentee Ballots Mailed In

An additional 12 absentee ballots for the first democratic primary July 27 were turned into County Clerk Lee Porter Thursday, bringing to 37 the number who have taken advantage of that voting privilege since Monday.

Bulk of the absentee voting is not expected until next week. Several of the ballots Porter mailed out have not yet been returned and the clerk said he was receiving additional requests for the forms daily.

Absentee voting will continue until July 23. They will be retained in the county clerk's office until three days prior to election, then turned over to the election judges of the precincts eligible to receive them.
