Making realistic decorations

The flash unit on the camera freezes snowflakes on their way to the ground Wednesday evening around holiday decorations at a house on Centre Street in Hereford. The city had picked up two inches of snow by 7 a.m. this morning, and heavy snow began falling again shortly after 9 a.m. today.

Ice, snow leave roads, streets in bad shape

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A snow and ice storm left area roads slick and led to at least two accidents this morning on U.S. Highway 60 east of Hereford.

Hereford officially received two inches of snow and a total of .36 inch of precipitation, according to KPAN official National Weather Service observation at 7 a.m. today.

Snow plows and other maintenance equipment was dispatched at 6 p.m. Wednesday by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation to begin plowing and sanding roads and major intersections.

Hereford's public schools started an hour later than normal this morning because of the icy roads.

"In weather like this, I am up at 4 a.m. along with Richard (Souter, assistant superintendent for business who is in charge of transportation)," said Hereford school superintendent Charles Greenawalt. "We were out on the roads by 4:30 a.m., and met back at the bus barn at 5:30 a.m."

"We made the decision at 5:45 a.m. to start an hour later. I figure it's a lot easier to start an hour later when all the drivers can see the road. We have some buses going out at 6:15 a.m., and you can see a lot better at 7:15 a.m. than you can at 6:15 a.m."

"It was real bad," said Brand staff writer Andrea Hooten, who daily commutes from Canyon on U.S. Highway 60. Her usual 30-minute drive took over an hour this morning.

"It wasn't so bad, once I got on the highway, for about five miles," Hooten said. "About five miles west of Canyon it got really icy. It was just total ice."

"There was a semi turned over just this side of Dawn, and there was stuff coming out the back. Everyone had to drive 30 mph or slower. It was bad."

The precipitation began falling at about noon Wednesday as a rain-sleet mix, and fell in spells for about three hours.

At about 3 p.m. Wednesday, snow began falling in silver-dollar-sized flakes for a few minutes, then began to fall in steady smaller flakes that fell much steadier.

By 4 p.m., the snow began sticking to the ground, and there was about a half-inch accumulation awaiting Hereford residents who left work at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Gorbachev, Bush pledge more progress

Mikhail S. Gorbachev opened his superpower relationship with George Bush on a warm note and won President Reagan's praise for a major reduction in Soviet troops before deciding to cut short his New York visit and return home to cope with a catastrophic earthquake.

Gorbachev melted diplomatic reserve at the United Nations with a sweeping disarmament pledge, met cordially for two hours with Bush and Reagan and even managed a quick motorcade tour of Manhattan, jumping from his limousine to great startled New Yorkers on the sidewalk. But he had little further opportunity to enjoy the afterglow of Wednesday's summitry. Soviet officials said he abruptly decided to fly home today when worsening reports arrived that an earthquake in Soviet Armenia had killed thousands of people.

The Soviets said concern for his people, rather than any political developments in his homeland, caused Gorbachev to cancel further sightseeing in New York today and subsequent stops in Cuba and Britain.

The White House was informed of the change of plans at 11:30 p.m. EST Wednesday.

Reagan, Bush and Gorbachev all were in high spirits when they met for two hours on heavily guarded Governors Island in New York. Reagan summed up the mood: "Read our smiles," the outgoing president said.

Gorbachev and his wife Raisa then went on a 75-minute motorcade tour of Manhattan from Wall Street to Times Square, with the Soviet leader twice stopping to greet New Yorkers on the streets. As everyone in the city had anticipated, his 45-car motorcade left behind a snarl of traffic.

Extending an olive branch to Bush, Gorbachev said in his speech at the United Nations that the new administration "will find in us a partner who is ready, without long pauses or backtracking, to continue the dialogue in a spirit of realism, openness and goodwill."

In a similar vein, Bush said he told Gorbachev at a luncheon with Reagan that he wanted "to continue the progress that's been made." But Bush, who will not take office until Jan. 20, said he would not rush to set up his own summit with Gorbachev.

"I also made clear that we needed some time and he understood that," Bush said. "He didn't seem to have any problem with that at all."

The snow was falling as we were working on this column Wednesday afternoon, and moisture of any kind is really needed by farmers in the area. The wheat is not looking good and moisture would sure help.

The area sugarbeet harvest should be about complete, since it was reported at about 97 percent in last week. Yields were about average but the sugar content was a little better, according to reports. Grain sorghum yields were good this year but acreage was down. The corn yields were down some, probably due to a cool summer.

Down south, many farmers are reporting cotton crops are better this year than last, and it was thought to be one of the best ever. Grades are called "super" and the weather before the harvest began was lauded as "a gift from God."

If you're a "wheel watcher," you could see a former Hereford resident on tv's "Wheel of Fortune" Friday evening Betty Hodges Adcock of Lubbock, a sister of Hereford's Steve Hodges, will be a contestant on the taped show.

A sing-along of Handel's Messiah will be held Sunday at St. Thomas Episcopal Church at 3 p.m. The event is sponsored in conjunction with the Chamber Singers and the community is invited to take part in singing the Christmas choruses of this work. Non-singers are invited to attend, of course.

The public is also invited to attend the Christmas Crafts Festival planned Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at Sugarland Mall. Handmade items and baked goods will be featured.

It's not too early to start making Christmas wishes, and editor Roy McQueen says he wishes Scurry County and Snyder were in House Speaker Jim Wright's district.

While he's not a fan of the Fort Worth liberal, Roy noticed where 10,000 people turned out for a "Thanks, Jim" party despite the fact Wright is under investigation by the ethics committee.

The appreciation affair was for making Cowtown the nation's leading recipient of federal support—such things as highways, flood control projects, hotels, airports, F-16 fighters, Bell Helicopter, an air base, and a U.S. currency printing plant.

CSF funds coming in slowly

Donations for the 1988 edition of the Christmas Stocking Fund are trickling in slowly at this time. Volunteer members of the committee that administers the program to help some of Hereford and Deaf Smith County's less fortunate during the Christmas season are hopeful the pace will pick up soon.

"Christmas may seem a long time off to some people, but the truth of the matter is we have only a very short time to raise the funds necessary to meet some of the special needs we're made aware of at this time of year," a CSF spokesman said.

CSF is only able to extend help to the limit of the funds donated.

"Since the volunteer committee budgets very carefully in planning its assistance, early collections of donations are important to us in getting a good idea of the amount of funds we'll have available to help," said the spokesman.

CSF has enjoyed back-to-back record fund-raising efforts, and volunteers hope the project can top the '87 mark of $13,600 this holiday season.

SUNDAY, DEC. 4: Dear diary: I am writing this early in the day because I am going to go down to the Brand office this afternoon and help Speedy and Mauri install our new computer system.

I think it will be fun, eventually. I know that once Speedy has the system paid for, he will be saving so much money we will get huge raises.

It will be fun after we learn all the little nuances of the system. I'm excited about our computers, Diary.

P.S. I won two free games on the pinball machine down at the Pak and Sak at our little Sunday morning coffee meeting.

MONDAY, DEC. 5: Dear diary: I am writing this at 6 a.m. on Monday. I was at the Brand yesterday from 1 p.m. until 1 a.m. helping get this little stupid gray boxes put in all over the place.

Randall Roberts is setting these up. Randall would be a cool guy if he were doing something besides being the person responsible for these computers, or selling insurance or something.

LATER: The last time I had this much fun, the legislation to discontinue the nuclear waste dump. The only problem is, this time everyone else was as frustrated as the sober bride of a drunk groom on their honeymoon.

I don't know a bit from a bite. Oops, that's a byte. I think I'm going to have a byte in my sleep tonight, the byte will come from a computer that suddenly turns into a dog, and I'm the little Coppertone girl.

TUESDAY, DEC. 6: Dear diary: I decided to wait until the end of the day to write you this time.

I have it figured out, diary. all the people who are going to Hell that don't believe there is a literal lake of fire will be sentenced to having to learn a totally new computer system every day for eternity.

Normally, we have the paper finished and to the press plant pretty close to noon. I mean, 12:15 and we are LATE.

We didn't have any pages back at 12:15. We only had a couple back at 1. We finally got finished about 1:30.

Diary, you know how the missionaries go into the outer reaches of the world and some natives get hold of them and do weird things? We all got together and threw Randall into a boiling pot this evening.

Like I said, Randall's a good guy, but we're trying to decide whether to use his head for a necklace or a keychain. It's amazing how small heads get when they've been well boiled.

Earthquake jars Armenia; collapsed school kills 50

MOSCOW (AP)--A devastating earthquake that jolted Soviet Armenia leveled several cities and killed thousands of people, including at least 50 children buried by rubble when their school collapsed, authorities said today.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who addressed the United Nations on Wednesday and met with President Reagan and President-elect Bush, canceled planned visits to Cuba and Britain to return home today.

The town of Spitak, near the quake's epicenter of Leninakan, was reported wiped out by Wednesday morning's tremor, which the U.S. Geological Survey said measured 6.9 on the Richter scale.

In the first detailed report on casualties, the official Komsomolskaya Pravda newspaper said soldiers working under spotlights pulled the bodies of more than 50 children from the wreckage of school No. 9 in Leninakan.

The city of 200,000 people on the Soviet-Turkish border was 30 miles from the quake's epicenter.

State television, in an unusually prompt report from the disaster scene, showed film of crumbled buildings in Kirovakan, Armenia's third-largest city, and in Spitak. In one shot, a man put his hands over his head in grief as he stood amid a collapsed building.

Gorbachev cancels visits

"The spontaneous elements didn't spare one-story or multi-story buildings," a TV correspondent said on the evening broadcast.

Komsomolskaya Pravda reported from Leninakan that preliminary reports indicated "tens of thousands of people became victims of the earthquake."

Albert Khachatryan of the Armenian Ministry of Health in Yerevan said in a telephone interview at 2,000 injured people had been brought to the Armenian capital from Leninakan, Kirovakan and Spitak, and more were expected.

Nora Milikyan, an editor of the official Armenian news agency Armenpress, said in a telephone interview from Yerevan that "all the injured are being brought to Yerevan. The hospitals are completely full."

"The worst place was Spitak. The entire town was destroyed, the hospitals and the schools and the factories. All the houses were destroyed. There is nothing left there," she said.

The Soviet news agency Tass called the earthquake the worse to hit the quake-prone Caucasus region in 80 years. It did not elaborate.

Gennady I. Gerasimov, the Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman, said in New York. "A small village has practically disappeared from the face of the earth." He did not identify it.

A commission of the ruling Communist Party Politburo, led by Premier Nikolai I. Ryzhkov, Defense Minister Dimitri. Yazov and the Soviet health minister, arrived in Yerevan this morning to supervise rescue operations.

Komsomolskaya Pravda said dozens of surgeons were on their way to the city to help with the injured.

The government sent soldiers and civilian volunteers to the disaster area.

"Practically all apartment buildings of nine floors or higher are destroyed," Komsomolskaya Pravda said. "There is significant damage in five-story apartment buildings. Only individual one-story and two-three story homes of old construction remain whole."

The newspaper said its correspondent succeeded in getting to Leninakan six hours after the 10:41 a.m. quake.

Spotlights illuminated the school while soldiers and civilian volunteers dug through the wreckage trying to find survivors.

Several children were found alive, but the newspaper said it was told by two sergeants the bodies of more than 50 children had already been found.

It said firemen had managed to extinguish fires at an oil storage facility, a tourist center, hotel and textile factory.

Officials said communications had been cut off with Leninakan, and state radio in Yerevan reported that roads leading out of that city and Kirovakan were congested with motorists apparently trying to flee.

Asked for the phone number of the police station in Spitak, deputy duty officer Lyova Oganisyan at the Interior Ministry in Armenia said it wouldn't do any good because the station was destroyed.

He said casualty tolls are likely to run high because schools were in session and factories were operating.

Also reported to be hit hard by the earthquake was Kirovakan. Casualties were reported in two other Soviet Caucasus republics, Azerbaijan and Georgia, and at least four deaths from the collapse of 50 houses were reported in eastern Turkey by that country's state press.

Soviets get first trade show

NEW YORK (AP)--From vodka to rifles to tractors to furs, the fruits of the Soviet economy were being displayed today in an unprecedented trade show left somewhat less glittering by the absence of its chief sponsor, Mikhail Gorbachev.

The Soviet leader, who was to open the exhibit, decided instead to cut short his New York visit and fly back to Moscow today because of an earthquake that devastated three southern Soviet republics, Foreign minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze said at a news conference late Wednesday.

Viktor Kamenshev, a deputy Soviet premier, was to open the show instead of Gorbachev, Shevardnadze said.

None less, Soviet sponsors hope the show, an outgrowth of Gorbachev's policy of perestroika, or restructuring, will mark a major turning point in trade relations between the world's two largest economies.

By air and by sea, the Soviets are shipping hundreds of tons of products to the Jacob K. Javits Convention Center in hopes of luring U.S. dollars.

"I think the Soviets are saying that they are looking at the Americans as a most-favored-nation trading partner," said David Wolstenholme, whose American marketing firm has spent more than a year putting together the show. "You really only do this to someone you want to impress."

But some U.S. trade experts say the Soviet Union is likely to remain among the most minor of American trading partners, in part because the Soviets lack the products that Americans want and the money to buy what Americans have.

"I do not believe that significant sales will result," said Val Zabijaka, an economist on the Soviet desk at the U.S. Commerce Department. "I may be proven wrong."

By Wolstenholme's reckoning, the Soviets are spending more than $2 million to prove the nay sayers wrong, including $700,000 in advertising for the show.

"We consider it to be very important," said Bagrat Arotounov, the Soviet director of overseas exhibitions.

Legendary lawmen celebrate 200 years of fighting bad guys

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States marshals live in legend as the men who tamed the Wild West, but their 200-year career is intertwined with more of the country's history than just bringing bandits to justice.

The country's oldest law enforcement organization looks back at its storied history today as it begins a bicentennial celebration with the opening of an exhibit at the Supreme Court and a black-tie gala at a nearby hotel.

"At almost every point in history when the federal government was involved in a significant event, there were marshals participating," says Stephen Boyle, a spokesman for the U.S. Marshals Service.

A marshal fired the gun that sent settlers scrambling for a homestead in the Oklahoma land run of 1889; marshals guarded the first black student at the University of Mississippi during the desegregation battles of the 1960s; they ringed the Pentagon during the Vietnam war protests of the early 1970s.

They smashed whiskey stills during Prohibition and arrested gangster Al Capone twice; took the census until 1880; captured fugitive slaves before the Civil War and protected freed slaves during Reconstruction; and did the hanging for "Hanging Judge" Isaac Parker in Fort Smith, Ark., when Oklahoma was still Indian Territory and bank and train robbers hid in the brush.

"This is our heritage, the preservation of history," said Clint Peoples of Waco, Texas. Peoples is the executive marshal for the bicentennial, and served as a marshal for 15 years in North Texas and as chief of the Texas Rangers. Sponsored by the United States Marshals Foundation, a non-profit fund-raising organization, the special guest at tonight's event will be James Arness, who played Marshal Matt Dillon on television's "Gunsmoke" for 20 years. One of those being honored is Deputy Marshal Rey F. Cestero of Savannah, Ga., for his assistance in apprehending two murder and abduction suspects in August.

Included in the exhibit, organized with the help of the Smithsonian Institution, are the arrest warrant for Geronimo, an 1870 Ku Klux Klan robe from the Klan's birthplace of Pulaski, Tenn., a 1790 still from the Whiskey Rebellion era, and one of the two machine guns from the St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago — the bloodiest of Prohibition.

The exhibit, which will tour a dozen cities over the next 2½ years, also includes a Jesse James vest and sidearm, and original drawings by the legendary Wyatt Earp of four gunfights including one at the OK Corral.

During their first 100 years, marshals "were the federal government at the local level," says marshals historian Frederick S. Calhoun. "There was no infrastructure of a bureaucracy, so when the citizens got mad, they took it out on the federal marshals."

Partly as a result, at least 400 and as many as 700 people in the Marshals Service died in the line of duty, more casualties than in any other law enforcement agency, officials say.

Orbison/ Nation mourns death of '60s rock star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three decades of rock 'n' rollers and country stars paid tribute to Roy Orbison, remembering the black-clad balladeer as an angel-voiced original who pioneered the early days of rock.

"Roy didn't copy anybody, but it cannot be said that a lot of people didn't borrow from Orbison. And they'll tell you that — from the Beatles to Bruce Springsteen," veteran recording artist Carl Perkins said Wednesday.

"He was and always will be one of the greats of rock 'n' roll," said former Beatle Paul McCartney.

Orbison, who rose to fame with early 1960s hits like "Oh, Pretty Woman," "Only the Lonely" and "Cryin'" and recently returned to the charts with a group of rock legends, died of a heart attack shortly before midnight Tuesday in a hospital in nearby Hendersonville. He was 52.

He had been visiting his mother, Nadine, earlier in the day.

"It hurts too much today to say a lot about Roy Orbison," said Johnny Cash, who lived next door to Orbison for more than 20 years in Hendersonville.

"For 30 years, we were heart to heart, sharing the good times and the bad. I have lost one in my most inner circle of friends. He more than deserves all the praise and plaudits that he has received lately," Cash said.

Orbison had 27 straight records on the charts during his heyday in the early 1960s. He recorded for Sam Phillips at Sun Records, the label that launched the careers of Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Cash and Perkins.

His dark attire, ebony pompadour and ever-present sunglasses were a virtual trademark. But fellow artists remembered him for his effortless three-octave voice that crooned ballads of lost love.

"He had to be one of the best, if not the best, singers I've ever worked with," Phillips said.

Lewis called Orbison "a great singer. He worked hard at it... (it) probably will be a big loss to a lot of fans. I was a fan. I'll miss him."

"He had the voice of an angel," said Billy Joel.

Orbison's recent recordings as one of The Traveling Wilburys — along with ex-Beatle George Harrison, Tom Petty, Bob Dylan and Jeff Lynne — brought him a new generation of fans. The group's "Handle With Care" is No. 45 on the charts, and their swift-selling album "The Traveling Wilburys" is No. 8.

"I've been rediscovered by young kids who had never heard of me before the Wilburys," Orbison said earlier this year in an interview with The Associated Press.

Harrison and Petty said through publicists that they were too stunned by Orbison's death to comment immediately.

"He was as gentle, wise, and mysterious as his voice," said U2's Bono, who recently recorded with Orbison in Memphis.

Money donated from Holiday Tour

Mysedia Smith served as hostess when members of La Madre Mia Study Club met Monday evening in her home for their annual Christmas party. Co-hostesses included Pat Walsh, Francyne Bromlow, and Merle Clark.

During the brief business meeting conducted by President Gladys Merritt, Mary Beth White, Smith and Ruth Black of the project committee made recommendations on how the proceeds from the recent Holiday Tour of Homes should be spent.

The group voted to contribute $300 to a Hereford family who cares for foster children; $100 to the Christmas Stocking Fund; and $200 to Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization. The remainder of the proceeds will probably be used for a scholarship for a graduating Hereford High School senior.

For the evening's entertainment,

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you suggested that students who need financial help to get through college should investigate all possibilities. You said there are many scholarships just waiting for takers and that guidance counselors should be aware of them.

A story in the Wall Street Journal by Carrie Dolan mentioned some interesting possibilities. I'll bet if you printed them, some of your readers would profit from the information.

The University of California has not been able to find a recipient for a scholarship fund worth nearly $400,000. They are looking for a needy Jewish orphan who wants to be an aeronautical engineer.

Ryan Gatling of Pocomoke, Md., receives $7,000 a year from North Carolina State because of his name. John Gatling, a Raleigh businessman, set up the $1.2 million fund several years ago to give an educational edge to students named Gatling.

Harvard offers scholarships to students named Pennoyer, Downer and Ellis, regardless of need. Christina Schreiber received a $14,000 scholarship because she is a descendant of William Floyd, a Long Island farmer.

Amherst College has a scholarship for a "worthy student of moderate ability who fails to win a prize or get help from any other source." Yale University's class of 1988 has a scholarship for someone who isn't a Big Man on Campus.

Ann, please continue to urge students who want financial help to be aggressive about inquiring. They just might hit the jackpot.--D.R. (Connecticut)

DEAR D.R.: You can be sure that a reader of this column will follow through and pick up a scholarship. Please let me know when it happens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father and I had a big fight a couple of weeks ago. I went to his office and saw an assortment of framed pictures of my brothers and me on his desk and tables. Dad is in his 60s and I am in my 40s. I hadn't been to his office for several years.

I was especially unhappy about one picture taken of me on a camping trip when I was 13. I am standing next to a waterfall with no clothes on. My bare bottom is in full view.

When I told Dad that I wish he'd put that picture away he became very angry and yelled, "This is my office and these are my pictures." I told him it was my bare bottom and that I wasn't thrilled about having it on display. (Incidentally, there were several other embarrassing photos of me and my brothers in stupid Halloween costumes, bathtub and shower pictures, etc.)

Now my father and I aren't speaking. Two of my brothers are on my side and two are on his side. My mother sided with Dad. My wife thinks my father is a pervert. My father and two of my brothers say I should mind my own business and not be embarrassed by childhood stuff.

I can't sign my name to this letter because it might start a war, but I hope you will print it and tell me what you think.--Long Island, N.Y.

DEAR LONG ISLAND: I'm with you and your wife and your two sensible brothers. If the pictures were taken when you were a baby, I'd say OK, but 13 is a pretty big kid to be photographed naked.

I hope your dad will mellow out, respect your wishes and put the photos you object to in the family album, where they belong.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We recently caught our 17-year-old daughter in bed with her boyfriend. They were upstairs in her bedroom. It was an absolute nightmare.

We talked with "Betty" and "Rick" for two hours afterwards. They said they weren't having sex and had never gone beyond necking. I don't believe it. "We were tired and resting" is the way they put it. We have grounded her and said she can't see Rick for two weeks.

Could you give us some suggestions about what else we ought to do? Should she have counseling? Should we? The boy is only 16. Please help us deal with this problem intelligently.--Perplexed Parents in Kansas

DEAR PARENTS: When you catch a 17-year-old girl in bed with a 16-year-old boy, it is a fairly safe bet that they are doing more than resting.

The best thing to do now is make certain that they understand it is unwise, unsafe and unacceptable to indulge in sexual intercourse.

'Ryan Express' joins Rangers

ATLANTA(AP)--Free agent Nolan Ryan, major league baseball's career strikeout king, has abandoned the Houston Astros, but will stay in his beloved Texas.

It'll be a longer commute to work, but the 41-year-old right-hander should be able to afford it. Ryan, who was with the Astros for nine of his 22 major league seasons, signed a one-year contract for a guaranteed $2 million with the Texas Rangers during baseball's annual winter meetings.

Terms of the contract, signed Wednesday, include a $200,000 signing bonus, a $1.6 million salary the first year and $1.4 million in the second with a $200,000 buyout.

Ryan could earn bonuses by winning various awards--$150,000 for winning the Cy Young Award, $50,000 for selection to the All-Star team, $75,000 each for playoffs and World Series Most Valuable Player.

"I'm a die-hard Texan," Ryan said during a news conference at the meetings. "I think the overwhelming factor was what I felt was best for me and my family."

Ryan's home is at Alvin, Texas, 30 miles south of Houston, where he lives with his wife and two teen-age sons. He said he would maintain his home there.

Arlington, where the Rangers play, is about 300 miles from Alvin. "It didn't come down to a monetary decision," said Ryan, who was offered a $1.9 million, one-year deal with an option by the California Angels and $1.7 million for similar contract with the San Francisco Giants.

"The Rangers showed here at this meeting that they are doing the best they can to build a good ballclub," Ryan said.

The Rangers, who finished 33 1/2 games behind American League West champion Oakland last season, traded 10 players and received five in return in three separate deals this week. In addition to Ryan, the Rangers picked up Rafael Palmiero, the No. 2 hitter in the National League for the Chicago Cubs last season, and second baseman Julio Franko from the Cleveland Indians.

Ryan, paid $1 million last year when he was 12-11 with a 3.52 earned run average, was offered $1.2 million in a one-year deal by Houston, which basically dropped out when the bidding got higher.

Ryan led the National League in strikeouts in 1988 with 228, the ninth time in his career he has led his league. He has 4,775 in his career, as well as 273-253 record and 3.15 ERA. Ryan, who will be 42 on Jan. 31, holds or shares 38 major league records, including five no-hitters.

"This is probably one of the greatest days in the history of our franchise," Texas general manager Tom Grieve said. "He's a Texan and we're proud he chose us over the other organizations that were bidding for him."

Originally signed by the New York Mets in 1965, Ryan was traded to California in December 1971. He signed as a free agent with Houston in November 1979.

He had a 106-94 record and a club-record 1,866 strikeouts for Houston. Houston will receive Texas' second-round selection in the 1989 June amateur draft and a supplemental selection at the end of the first round because Ryan is a Type A free agent.

Officials plan to block Carter play

AUSTIN(AP)--State officials said they planned to file appeals today to try and block Dallas Carter from continuing in the high school football playoffs.

Both the Texas Education Agency and the University Interscholastic League said Wednesday the appeals would seek to keep Carter from meeting Odessa Permian in the Class 5A semifinals in Austin, officials said.

Both agencies have protested District Court Judge Paul Davis' ruling in favor of Carter in the case of a student who was declared ineligible to play football because he failed a class.

The student, Gary Edwards, is a running back on the Carter football team. Davis issued his orders Wednesday and attorneys from the TEA and UIL met to plan their strategy for appeals.

Edwards was declared ineligible to play after state investigators discovered he had failed algebra during a six-week grading period. Later, TEA Commissioner William Kirby, in a hearing, agreed that Edwards failed the class.

Under the state's no-pass, no-play rule, students who fail any course cannot participate in extra-curricular activities for six weeks. Dallas Carter received a temporary court order that stopped the ruling and later argued successfully before Judge Davis that Edwards' failing grade was miscalculation and the student actually passed.

In light of the legal moves being plotted, it was not immediately known what Carter's chances were of suiting up and playing Saturday.

"It really is unclear what the implication of that will be in the playoffs," if the TEA files an appeal, said agency spokesman Joey Lozano.

Should the TEA file an appeal, the district court's order would automatically be nullified until the appeals court makes a decision. With the ineligibility ruling taking precedence, the appeals court would also face an expected appeal by the UIL, who would argue the team cannot continue in the playoffs because it will have to forfeit all the games Edwards played after making a failing grade.

"Yes, it's possible," that Carter will not play Saturday, said UIL attorney Lucius Bunton. Under such a scenario, Permian would then play the last team that played Carter, which was Marshall--a 22-18 loser to Carter in the final seconds last Saturday.

Judge Davis apparently left the door open for an appeal of his decision by refusing to sign the court Order prepared by attorneys for the Dallas school district.

In a brief hearing Wednesday before Davis, State Assistant Attorney General Kevin O'Hanlon, who is representing the TEA in the dispute, accused DISD attorneys of wording the proposed order in such a way that the TEA would not have the ability to launch an immediate appeal of that order.

Judge Davis agree with O'Hanlon, saying, "Everybody's trying to skirt around what the court has ruled, and I'm not going to let you do that."

"They're willing to risk everything for a football game," O'Hanlon said, who did not rule out the possibility of Kirby sending a special marshal to DISD to take control of the district.

Pistons shut down Jordan

By BILL BARNARD AP Basketball Writer

Michael Jordan's list of teams he would rather not face has to include the Detroit Pistons.

The Pistons eliminated Jordan and the Chicago Bulls by winning four of five games in the Eastern Conference playoffs last spring, and Detroit has continued that dominance so far this season.

On Wednesday night, the Pistons beat Chicago 102-89, their second easy victory over the Bulls this season, and held Jordan to 18 points on 4-for-16 shooting. That broke his string of consecutive games with at least 20 points at 72, the third-longest such streak in NBA history.

"I can't get down about myself. I know I can't be perfect," said Jordan, who was averaging 36.4. "I've been shooting the ball so well. I'm entitled to a bad night, I hope."

Joe Dumars, who guarded the taller Jordan most of the game, said it took a team effort to keep Jordan from getting his usual quota.

"I had a lot of help," Dumars said. "Every team tries to deny Jordan the ball."

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Atlanta 106, Boston 103; Philadelphia 134, Denver 109; Sacramento 96, Miami 94; Indiana 129, Portland 120; Dallas 102, Seattle 98; Utah 111, Washington 94, and Los Angeles Lakers 125, Phoenix 111.

Adrian Dantley scored 31 points for Detroit against Chicago, but it was the Pistons' defense on Jordan that decided the game.

Kings 96, Heat 94

Miami's record fell to 0-14, one short of the record at the start of an NBA season, and Sacramento won its first road game in seven tries.

Kenny Smith made three straight breakaway layups to cap a Kings comeback from an 11-point deficit with less than 10 minutes remaining and then hit two free throws with four seconds left.

The Heat's Jon Sundvold hit a shot from the corner that he released just after the buzzer, negating an overtime. Sundvold led Miami with 15 points and Derek Smith had 22 for Sacramento.

Lakers 125, Suns 111

Los Angeles won its sixth straight and handed Phoenix its first loss in five games as Magic Johnson recorded his fourth "triple-double" of the season and Byron Scott scored 27 points on 12-for-17 shooting.

Johnson had 19 points, 12 rebounds and 18 assists without playing any of the fourth quarter, which started with the Lakers ahead 105-80.

Tom Chambers, who had 19 first-half points for Phoenix, finished with 25, while Kevin Johnson had 17 assists for the Suns.

76ers 134, Nuggets 109

Philadelphia took over first place in the Atlantic Division as Charles Barkley had 29 points and 14 rebounds against Denver.

The 76ers held a 65-53 lead at halftime, despite 20 points by the Nuggets' Michael Adams. After Adams opened the second half with a 3-pointer, the Sixers followed with a 12-0 spurt for a 77-56 lead.

Denver got no closer than 14 after that.

Hawks 106, Celtics 103

Atlanta extended its winning streak to six and snapped an eight-game losing streak at Boston Garden behind Moses Malone's season-high 27 points and 14 rebounds.

The Hawks erupted from an 83-83 tie with a 20-9 run, giving them a 103-92 lead with 2:43 left.

The Celtics were led by Robert Parish with a season-high 29 points and 18 rebounds, and McHale had 23 points.

Mavericks 102, SuperSonics 98

Dallas, which had lost three straight at home, ended a seven-game homestand with a victory over Seattle as Derek Harper scored 31 points, including a go-ahead 3-pointer with 1:48 remaining.

Harper's 3-point shot boosted the Mavericks into a 98-96 advantage, keying a 9-0 Dallas run.

Rolando Blackman added 27 points for Dallas and Dale Ellis finished with 26 points for the Sonics.

Jazz 111, Bullets 94

Karl Malone scored 34 points, including nine during a 12-2 spurt early in the second half, lifting Utah past Washington.

John Stockton had 18 points and 20 assists for Utah. Bernard King led the Bullets with 23 points and John Williams finished with 21.

Pacers 129, Trail Blazers 120

Indiana outscored Portland 37-14 from the free-throw line and got 27 points from Chuck Person.

Wayman Tisdale added 24 points and 14 rebounds for the Pacers, who broke a nine-game losing streak against the Trail Blazers.

Clyde Drexler led Portland with 35 points and Kevin Duckworth added 32.

Manley can't get excited about Redskin-Cowboy game

HERNDON, Va. (AP)--If Mikhail Gorbachev had been in Washington this week, Redskins defensive end Dexter Manley probably wouldn't have told him to get out of town.

Last year, Manley said Gorbachev's presence in the nation's capital was a distraction during Dallas Week. He suggested that the Soviet leader move on, so area football fans could get ready for the semi-annual renewal of the Redskins-Cowboys rivalry.

This season, with both teams slumping, Manley is having a hard time getting excited over this Sunday's game against the Cowboys at RFK Stadium.

"It's not that great a rivalry anymore," Manley said Wednesday.

"There are a lot of young players on both teams, and not enough old ones to remind them how intense it used to be."

Manley has long been a central figure in what used to be one of the NFL's biggest confrontations, often saying things that ended up on the Cowboys' bulletin board.

Now, Manley says he almost feels sorry for Dallas coach Tom Landry and the Cowboys, who have lost 10 straight to fall to 2-12.

"I have a lot of sympathy for Tom Landry," Manley said. "He's one of the greatest coaches of all time, and he's done a lot for them."

On the Cowboys, he noted, "I really think they've played well, but their record indicates differently. I don't like Dallas, but I respect them."

Perhaps one reason Manley is having a hard time getting fired up is that Dallas quarterback Danny White is on the injured reserve list and Tony Dorsett was traded to Denver before the season. Manley used to always enjoy taking verbal shots at both before taking swipes at them in games.

"It would make it more interesting if Tony Dorsett was in there," Manley said. "And it just won't seem the same without Danny in there."

Still, Manley figures he'll have little trouble getting inspired once he gets on the RFK Stadium turf this Sunday.

"I can get psyched up just looking at the color of their uniforms," he claimed.

And he couldn't conduct the interview without taking at least a small shot at his long-time foe. Asked to offer some advice to the Cowboy players, he replied, "Get traded."

To beat the Cowboys, the Redskins hope to cash in on the momentum they gained from edging the Philadelphia Eagles last Sunday. But, at the same time, they must put that game behind them.

Wednesday's practice marked the first time the team got together since their emotional 20-19 victory over the Eagles, who held the NFC East lead before the setback.

"Yes, it was an exciting win, but we can't linger on what we did last week," said defensive end Charles Mann.

"That was as big a game as we've won in a long time," said center Jeff Bostic. "It was a big win, and one we needed badly. But now it's time to put that behind us and look ahead to Dallas."

The Redskins' injury report listed seven players, including Bostic (ribs) and wide receiver Gary Clark (ankle). Six of the players were listed as probable, and running back Kelvin Bryant was listed as doubtful.

Quarterback Doug Williams, meanwhile, wasn't on any list, but said he hadn't eaten in two days after suffering a split tongue on a play against the Eagles.

CLEVELAND (AP) -- Linebacker Dave Rastoka of John Carroll thinks football brings out a certain dichotomy in most players. At least it does in himself.

"I play football because it makes me feel alive," Rastoka said. "Everyone has another side that is seldom seen. With football, I have a chance to unleash my other half, to let loose."

Record breakers lead All-America team

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Football Writer

Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State, Outland Trophy winner Tracy Rocker of Auburn and Butkus Award recipient Derrick Thomas of Alabama were named today to a record-breaking Associated Press All-America college football team for 1988.

Sanders, Oklahoma State's junior tailback, is joined in the backfield by quarterback Steve Walsh of Miami, Fla., and Texas A&M running back Darren Lewis, both of whom shattered records this season.

The wide receivers are two more record-breakers — Jason Phillips of Houston and Hart Lee Dykes, Sanders' Oklahoma State teammate. Top-ranked Notre Dame placed three players on the All-America team — offensive tackle Andy Heck, defensive end Frank Stams and linebacker Mike Stonebreaker.

Oklahoma State, Nebraska and Arkansas were the only other schools to be represented by more than one player. Nebraska placed center Jake Young and defensive end Broderick Thomas on the squad while Arkansas had placekicker Kendall Trainor and defensive linemen Wayne Martin.

The rest of the offensive unit consists of tight end Wesley Walls of Mississippi, tackle Tony Mandarich of Michigan State and guards Anthony Phillips of Oklahoma and Mike Utley of Washington State. Rounding out the defense are down linemen Rocco — selected as the nation's best interior lineman by the Football Writers Association of America — and Mark Messner of Michigan, linebackers Derrick Thomas — winner of the Butkus as the nation's best linebacker — and Keith DeLong of Tennessee, defensive backs Louis Oliver of Florida, Markus Paul of Syracuse and Deion Sanders of Florida State and punter Keith English of Colorado. Sanders is the only repeater from the 1987 team.

The return specialist is Texas Tech's 5-foot-3, 130-pound Tyrone Thurman.

Lewis is the only sophomore on the team while Barry Sanders, Walsh, Stonebreaker and Young are juniors.

The All-America team was selected by the AP's sports editor, college football editor and regional sports editors. A player must make his all-conference or all-sectional team to be considered for the All-America first team.

The AP All-America team will be featured on Bob Hope's annual Christmas special entitled "Bob Hope's Jolly Christmas Show With the All-American Champs" (Monday, Dec. 19, NBC, 8-9 p.m. EST).

Barry Sanders was so good that he gained 75 yards on a day he didn't even play. When Texas Tech reviewed the films of his 257-yard effort in Oklahoma State's 45-42 victory in Tokyo on Sunday, it was decided that two swing passes on which Sanders gained 75 yards actually were backward passes and therefore counted as rushes.

That gave Sanders his fourth 300-yard game of the season and pushed his total to 2,628 yards, easily erasing the mark of 2,342 by Southern Cal's Marcus Allen in 1981.

Sanders' numerous records also included a single-season mark of 39 touchdowns.

Walsh completed 233 of 390 passes for 3,115 yards and a school record 29 touchdowns, breaking the mark of 26 by Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde in 1986. Miami is 21-1 with Walsh as its quarterback.

Lewis finished second nationally in rushing to Sanders. His 1,692 yards was a school record and second best in Southwest Conference history.

Each of the wide receivers scored 15 touchdowns. Phillips caught 108 passes for 1,444 yards and led the nation in receiving for the second year in a row.

After missing three of his first four field goal attempts, Trainor connected on 23 in a row, including a 58-yarder against Miami. English, in his first season as Colorado's punter after sitting on the bench behind All-American Barry Helton, led the nation with a 45.04 average on 51 kicks.

Thurman returned 27 punts for 290 yards and 23 kickoffs for 535 yards. He holds three SWC career punt returns records.

Heck, a tight end until this season, is the anchor of a brand new offensive line that enabled Notre Dame to rush for 258 yards a game.

Michigan, Georgetown among winners of top 20 games

By The Associated Press

Charlie Coles, the Central Michigan coach, sounded happy that his team lost to No. 2 Michigan by 46 points.

"I thought Michigan tried to be very, very lenient with us," he said. "They probably could have scored 200 points if they wanted to. Tonight was just a nightmare."

Glen Rice scored 21 points Wednesday night as the No. 2 Wolverines beat Central Michigan 100-62 and increased their record to 7-0.

Michigan coach Bill Frieder sounded even happier than Coles.

"I'm really pleased with this team's play," Frieder said. "It was a credit to our team that they came in here ready to play. It is a sign of character, and the sign of a good team. (Michigan) wants to win every game, and do it right."

Michigan took a 9-0 lead and stretched it to 15-2. After the Chippewas closed to within nine, Michigan went on a 17-2 run for a 34-10 lead with 5:22 remaining in the first half.

In other Top Twenty games, No. 4 Georgetown beat St. Leo 95-62, No. 8

North Carolina beat Vanderbilt 89-77 and No. 11 Missouri beat Tulsa 73-61.

Jeff Majerle scored 17 points for Central Michigan, 3-2.

No. 4 Georgetown 95, St. Leo 62

Charles Smith scored 13 points and had a school-record 16 assists. Freshman Alonzo Mourning had 11 points, 10 rebounds and a school-record 11 blocked shots, breaking Patrick Ewing's record.

"He's amazing. A heckuva player," Hoyas guard Charles Smith said of Mourning. "He's so good, he may break his own record in the next game."

The Hoyas, 3-0 (all against non-Division I teams), never trailed after wiping out a 5-2 deficit with a 16-0 run in which Mourning blocked four shots. Dwayne Bryant scored six points in the surge and Jaren Jackson had four.

St. Leo, 2-4, cut the margin to 29-21, but Mourning made a 10-foot jumper that started a 23-11 spurt.

Carl Green 26 points for St. Leo.

No. 8 North Carolina 89, Vanderbilt 77

The Tar Heels, 7-1, scored the first 15 points. Jeff Lebo scored 25 points, 19 in the first half, including four 3-pointers in the first nine minutes.

North Carolina led by as many as 23 points in the first half before Vanderbilt, 2-4, closed within 46-39 at halftime.

The Commodores pulled within 55-50 on a Barry Booker steal and dunk early in the second half, but a King Rice bank shot and a three-point play by Steve Bucknall gave North Carolina a 10-point lead.

"I'm ecstatic about our record. I never dreamed it would be this way even with (injured) J.R. (Reid)," North Carolina coach Dean Smith said.

Kevin Madden scored 20 points for North Carolina. Eric Reid scored 17 points for Vanderbilt.

No. 11 Missouri 73, Tulsa 61

Byron Irvin scored 23 points for the Tigers, 6-2, including 15 in the second half.

Tulsa, 1-3, trailed by 18 points midway through the second half. The Golden Hurricane went on an 11-1 run, and closed to within eight. With 5:48 remaining, Irvin scored Missouri's next eight points, all on free throws.

Aggies win, Bears lose

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf says it was an "ugly" game, but the Aggies managed to defeat Houston Baptist in a non-conference college basketball game.

Donald Thompson scored 16 points Wednesday night and grabbed nine rebounds to lead the Aggies to a 79-67 victory over the Huskies.

In the other non-conference game involving a Southwest Conference team, Kansas State whipped Baylor, 85-60.

"It was an ugly game. We played about five minutes of good basketball at the beginning of each half," Metcalf said. "Then kind of dragged. We weren't able to press like we wanted and our passing was not sharp."

"It just wasn't a good effort. We wanted to get our eighth and ninth men some playing time and it doesn't work very well when you substitute just for the sake of substituting."

David Williams scored 15 and Tony

Milton added 12 for the Aggies, who improved their record to 5-1. Houston Baptist's Huskies fell to 1-5.

Houston Baptist was led by Carlos Sanders' 22 points. Alvaro Teheran added 13.

The Aggies and Huskies were tied at 5-5 early, but A&M broke away to lead 33-25 at halftime. A&M built its edge to 53-38 advantage midway through the second half.

The Huskies were whistled for 30 fouls and Omar Sierra, Reggie Gibbs and Teheran fouled out. A&M capitalized by hitting 22-35 from the free throw line and Houston Baptist was 14-19.

Steve Henson scored 23 points and teammate Fred McCoy added 22 to lead Kansas State to an 85-60 victory over visiting Baylor.

Baylor, 1-5, narrowed the score to 46-40 early in the second half on a basket by Donnell Hayden.

But Kansas State, 3-1, outscored the Bears 23-7 during a seven-minute stretch to take a 22-point lead. Billy Ray Smith's free throws with 6:44 left gave the Wildcats a 69-47 advantage.

Hayden scored 20 points for Baylor.

ASK DR. LAMB

STRESS HEADACHES BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have suffered what I've called sinus headaches for many years. Allergists say that I am allergic to cats, dust and horses, so I avoid them as much as possible and have even taken shots — which did not alleviate my stuffiness or headaches. Although I have a demanding job, a difficult husband and several children, I feel I have no more stress than other people my age. But the doctors have suggested that the headaches are stress related. The latest test results — impaired glucose tolerance. Please give me your ideas.

DEAR READER: Without a description of your headaches it would be quite impossible to know what kind you have been having. But I can tell you that allergies can cause headaches. So can sinus disease. One of the classic studies of headache involved stimulating the various areas of the lining of the nasal passages and sinuses. By choosing the right spot, you can produce pain almost anywhere in the face or head. The sinus areas have been mapped in relation to the area of pain they cause. So if you have a stuffy nose and nasal allergies, it certainly could cause your headache.

Stress can also be a factor. Many people do suffer from stress-induced headaches. Often the stress is associated with tense and contracted muscles that produce the pain. The pain may be generalized, over the forehead or at the back of the head, or may have other characteristics. I have discussed these as stress-muscular headaches in my new Special Report 85, Headache and Facial Pain, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/85, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

I'm not very impressed with an "impaired glucose tolerance" as a possible cause for headaches. Even diabetes itself doesn't cause headaches, although diabetics do have headaches from other causes, just like other people. If you have real hypoglycemia (low blood sugar), and it caused a headache, you would have other symptoms characteristic of that problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I had a stomach X-ray and barium enema upon the advice of my doctor who said one of the samples of stool that the lab tested had blood in it. They didn't find anything with the X-rays. Now the doctor wants me to go through a test consisting of a tube inserted into the colon to see if they can find anything. I am objecting because I feel if anything was wrong, it would have showed up in the X-rays. Wouldn't another series of stool tests be more appropriate to see if there is any more blood rather than put me through the trauma of another strenuous test? I'm 67, 5 feet 5 inches and weigh 134 pounds.

DEAR READER: It would be useful to check your stools again. An X-ray of the colon does not always show what you can see with a direct examination. I am not sure which test your doctor wants you to have, but you should know that the American Cancer Society recommends that everyone over 50 should have at least two sigmoidoscopic examinations one year apart. If both are negative, then the test should be repeated every three to five years. A sigmoidoscopy involves looking at the lower part of the colon. It is possible with new instruments to directly examine the rest of the colon. The concern is cancer of the rectum and colon. It is the second or third (depending on how you group the statistics) most common cause of cancer deaths in both men and women.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I was recently diagnosed as having both vasomotor rhinitis and allergic rhinitis. I have been receiving weekly desensitization shots and inhale Beconase. I still experience much difficulty with postnasal drip, sore throat and hoarseness. The symptoms occur when I leave the warm indoors and go outside during winter, enter a cigarette-smoke-filled room, or am in a stressful situation. The condition is more than a nuisance since it interferes with my livelihood in sales. I was wondering if there are more effective methods of treatment, such as antihistamines or decongestants.

DEAR READER: The best treatment for all allergies is to avoid the thing you are allergic to, which may be difficult in your situation. Allergic rhinitis (hay fever) is usually caused by ragweed in the fall and pollen from trees, grass and other plants.

Desensitization, also called immune therapy, is useful in some cases, although it is often a long process. The basis of the treatment is to inject a tiny amount of the substance that causes the allergy on repeated occasions until the immune system tolerates it and the allergic response does not occur.

Beconase is a nasal spray with a low dosage of corticosterone. It is very useful, as are similar products, and the amount of corticosterone they contain is so small that it will not cause undesirable side effects.

Antihistamines do help. Seldane is the preferred one in many cases today.

Abundant Life

ENJOY LIFE NOW
By Bob Wear

We hear it daily. The price of food is increasing, the cost of living is going up, taxes are being raised, medical cost is going higher and higher, more and more crime is being committed, and the tensions among nations and peoples never seem to diminish. This is not all. There are many sorrows and disappointments in our personal life associated with our humanity. How can we enjoy life?

We long for an easier way, but there does not seem to be an easier way. In the meantime, what shall we do? We can be upset and miserable, and feel justified in being so; or we can manage ourselves so that we can 'enjoy life now'. We do have some choice about our response to realities. We must not make everything worse by choosing unwise methods of trying to escape realities. It is not escape that we should seek, but we should and we can develop effective coping skills.

A well-established faith, and a wisely developed value system will enable us to 'enjoy life now'. "Joy is not in things, but in us."—C. Wagner.

Meaningful joy is the natural fruit of recognizing and appreciating our blessings, and all of us receive some blessings. We must not let ourselves be blinded to the good things, or let the difficulties and troubles of life make them obscure or hide them. So, the price of food is increasing; but we still have food to eat and to share. The cost of living is going up, but we are still living. Medical costs are going higher and higher; but we are healthier and living longer. Taxes are being raised; but we still have something to be taxed. There are other problems, but we are still able to work for solutions. With all of this, we can 'enjoy life now', and share this joy with others.

We must be concerned, but not permit this concern to stifle the joy that can brighten and sharpen our coping skills; and enhance and enrich our associations with others.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:
Aren't the automated teller machines (ATMs) great! They make transactions so simple and they are convenient for quick cash. Here are some safety precautions to remember when using them.

First of all, when choosing your personal identification number (PIN) pick a number that is not too obvious. Stay away from your birth date, phone number or address. These are usually the first numbers that thieves will try if your card is stolen or lost.

Never give your PIN to anyone and don't write it down anywhere, especially on the card! Memorize it.

Try to familiarize yourself with the machine before use. This helps you quickly and efficiently complete your transaction in minimum time.

Always lock all doors of your car when using a drive-up ATM. Thieves have been known to climb in the car while you are distracted by completing your transaction.

If you need to use a machine at night, refrain from using ones that are not lit well and stay away from isolated machines as well. As we all know, nighttime is a favorite of common thieves. So, take special precautions.

Most of our new, wonderful modern conveniences are well worth the new things we must learn in dealing with them. — Heloise

WADING POOL USE
Dear Heloise: This past summer I bought my son a wading pool. When summer was over, I placed his pool in our garage, filled it with potting soil and planted some tomatoes and other vegetables in it.

Our garage stays warm enough that the plants won't freeze in the winter and already I have little tomatoes growing. I now have fresh vegetables to look forward to all winter. Yum! — Lillian Compost, Brownfield, Texas

HAMMOCK USE
Dear Heloise: After buying a hammock and finding it much too narrow for me to use, I had to find a new use for it. I screwed four hooks into the wall at intervals (where the studs are) and hung the hammock along the wall about six inches off the floor. I then put all my stuffed animals on it. They looked really cute! — Garnet McMahon, Shadyside, Ohio

HOLIDAY HINTS PAMPHLET
Dear Readers: Hard up for holiday ideas? Quick, send $2 and a stamped (39 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope to Heloise/Holiday, P.O. Box 19765, Irvine, CA 92713. I'll send you my pamphlet, Heloise's Holiday Hints. — Heloise

INFLATABLE PILLOW
Dear Heloise: I have arthritis and have to sleep with a pillow between my knees. I was taking a trip on an airplane and didn't really want to carry my pillow with me. So, I bought a child's inflatable plastic swim ring. It fit easily into my suitcase and it worked fine. — Karen Jackson, Minneapolis, Minn.

LEATHER FURNITURE
Dear Heloise: I have a leather couch that I love. Recently we had some friends over and someone burned a hole in the arm of the couch. I was sick! I wasn't sure what I could do to repair it as I sure couldn't replace it.

My couch is a cream color, so I bought a cream-colored candle, practically the same shade of the couch. I melted some of the wax from the candle into the burn mark. With the wax still warm I smoothed the surface of it. When it was cool, I gently buffed the area. It worked great! — DeeDee Milon, Longmont, Colo.

COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY
NEW YORK (AP) — Computer technology is helping many American firms to penetrate foreign markets and to globalize their operations, according to a study by the Roper Organization which was commissioned by Digital Equipment Corp.

In addition, the survey, which included responses from 320 American executives, revealed that 81 percent of the respondents believed computer networks were critical for a firm to operate internationally.

Further, the survey showed 89 percent of the respondents think computer equipment purchased in the last several years by their firms has fulfilled their expectations, and that computer technology has tended to decrease levels of corporate bureaucracy.

'Windows on the World of Christmas' theme of party

Bay View Study Club met Dec. 1 for their Christmas Party at the E.B. Black House. Ouida Halbert welcomed members and led the club collect.

Reports were given by the corresponding secretary, Helen Eades, and the club treasurer, Bonnie Futrell. Mrs. Alton Fraser was voted into membership and the minutes of the Nov. 17 meeting were read and approved.

The social committee, composed of Nancy Josseland, Ruth McBride, Betty Rudder, Bonnie Futrell, and Pat Graham, hosted the party. The theme of 'Windows on the World of Christmas' was carried out in the dining room featuring the Christmas contributions, festivities, and foods of three countries: Italy, Mexico, and England.

Italy was represented on one end of the table which was covered with a tapestry cloth topped with old lace. An Italian creche, Renaissance-style figure, an angel with horn candelabra, and scattered pieces of greenery and seeds surrounded the foods served. Members received toast squares with chocolate butter, Portuguese Espresso coffee with Amaretto and a Bay View Italian Cream Cake with date-nut filling.

Offerings of Mexico appeared on the other end of the table which was covered with an embroidered cloth and a serape was draped at one end of the cloth covered with poinsettias and red chilis. In front of the serape was a terra cotta church with a nativity by Garza in front of it.

Refreshments included bunuelos, quesadillas, and Mexican coffee served with chocolate and cinnamon cream and vanilla cream liqueur.

A buffet covered with a lace cloth depicted items from England. A stand holding a plate depicting an English countryside, a large tea pot shaped like an English thatched cottage and a Madonna and child figure were placed around the cloth. Refreshments of London broil, ginger cake and Earl Grey tea, were served on 12 days of Christmas plates and cups.

Members present included Mmes. Jack Gilliland, Charlie Holt, Howard Gault, R.W. Eades, Kenneth Halbert, H.L. Benefield, W.K. Golden, Dudley Bayne, N.C. Hays, J.R. Allison, Earnest Langley, Milton Rudder, Juston McBride, Don R. Graham, B.H. Futrell, D.N. Garner, and Austin Rose.

Social Security

MAILING OF SOCIAL SECURITY CHECKS

If you are retired, disabled, or entitled to survivors benefits, you should know when to expect your Social Security benefits every month.

Your Social Security check usually will arrive in the mail on the third of the month. If the third of the month falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, you will generally receive your check on the last banking day before then.

For example, in December this year, the third of the month fell on a Saturday. So, you should have gotten your check on Friday, Dec. 2.

Sometimes, for one reason or another, there are delays in delivering Social Security checks. You should allow at least three full days from the third of each month for your check to arrive. If you do not receive your check by the sixth of the month, then you should contact your Social Security office.

Aged, blind or disabled people who receive supplemental security income (SSI) can expect to receive their checks in the mail usually on the first of the month. If the first falls on a weekend or legal holiday, the check will usually arrive on the Friday before.

For example, Oct. 1 fell on a Saturday, so SSI checks should have arrived on Friday, Sept. 30. New Year's Day, Jan. 1, 1989, will fall on a Sunday, so SSI checks should be delivered on Friday, Dec. 30.

If your SSI check does not arrive in the mail on the usual day (around the beginning of the month), you should look for it to come in the next few days. If your check does not arrive by the fourth of the month, contact your local Social Security office.

If your Social Security or SSI payment is deposited directly into your checking or savings account in a bank, credit union or other financial institution, you do not have to worry about when your check will be delivered. The benefit will be deposited automatically into your account every month.

Today, almost half of all Social Security beneficiaries and 15% of SSI recipients use direct deposit. This eliminates any worry, particularly for the elderly and the disabled, about when their checks will arrive or if they will be lost or stolen.

Any time you have questions about your monthly checks, or if you want to sign up for direct deposit, call your Social Security office.

VOLUNTARY EXERCISE SURPRISES SOVIETS

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — When ICI Americas hosted a tour this year for citizens of the Soviet Union, a goal was to develop better understanding between people of the United States and Russia.

Questions and reactions by the Soviet visitors were very telling, the firm said. The Russians were surprised the American workers at ICI voluntarily used their lunch period for physical fitness, and there also was surprise that few people protested the Soviet tour.

ICI says the visitors were part of the largest group of Soviets (more than 200 people) ever allowed by their government to travel in the U.S. and be accessible to the American people.

Honey-smoked pheasant wins area cook-off

Pheasant season in the Panhandle draws hunters by the droves. From Dec. 10 through 25, planes flying in from Dallas and Houston will be packed with gun-toting visitors eager to bag their four-bird limit.

More than 600 miles away, hunters are descending on a seven-county area on the upper Gulf coast. From Liberty to Matagorda Counties, pheasant and quail seasons coincide from Oct. 29 until Feb. 26. To protect the species, only six pheasants may be killed, no more than three a day.

Once the hunt is over, eating assumes primary importance. Prized for their wild-chicken flavor, pheasants, if young and tender enough, can be broiled or baked. Young birds weigh two to two-and-a-half pounds dressed and have slightly pliable breastbones. Older ones must be braised, or stewed to bring out their best.

An official pheasant-hunting season did not begin in the Panhandle until 30 years ago. Pheasants started migrating from Oklahoma during the 1940s, and their numbers multiplied as irrigation turned huge areas between the Texas-Oklahoma border and Lubbock into fields of grain. In 1958 the first state-sanctioned hunt began.

The birds did not come to South-east Texas until 1964 when the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department introduced them into rice-growing counties where they have thrived.

Dalhart resident John Bolf recently won the second annual Texas Pheasant Cook-off held at the Amarillo Civic Center. A veteran barbecue cook, Bolf entered his 'Top-O-Texas Honey Smoked Pheasant' recipe in the contest by smoking his pheasant in a portable cooker.

Though Bolf had cooked pheasant before, he did not try smoking it until the cook-off. He credits his success to a combination of sweet, smokey and picante flavors that permeate the meat and a 30-minute steaming in foil to ensure its tenderness.

Sponsors of the Texas Pheasant Cook-off are the Texas Department of Agriculture, Southwest Airlines, the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce.

The contest promotes Texas food products and a TDA-Parks and Wildlife farmer-hunter clearing-house to help farmers and ranchers increase their income by leasing land to hunters. All recipe ingredients must be produced in Texas.

Here is the winning recipe:
TOP-O-TEXAS HONEY SMOKED PHEASANT

2 (2 lb.) whole pheasants
Fresh sliced lemons
1 scant c. dry meat-seasoning mix, divided
1/2 c. dry white wine
1/2 c. honey
1/3 c. mild picante sauce
1/2 c. barbecue sauce
salt and pepper to taste

Preheat smoker to 200 degrees F. If pheasants are freshly killed, wash in cold water until chilled and pat dry. Rub whole birds with lemon slices. Hand rub each bird inside and out with 1/2 c. dry seasoning mix.

Place pheasants breast side down in smoker and cook two hours. Meanwhile in saucepan combine wine, honey, picante sauce and barbecue sauce, stirring over low heat. During second hour of cooking, baste pheasants every 15 minutes. Remove from cooker and wrap loosely in foil. Cook another 30 minutes. Salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6-8 servings.

Microwave myths dispelled

Microwave oven ownership in the United States is still growing. In fact, you can find one in 7 out of 10 homes today.

And it's no wonder--the microwave oven saves valuable time in the kitchen.

Although more and more consumers are investing in microwave ovens, there are certain misconceptions that make cooking with this convenient appliance confusing.

Here are some common microwave myths debunked:

-Microwave ovens aren't safe. False. The microwave oven is about the safest appliance in the kitchen. That's because it stays cool as it cooks. Thanks to the solid construction of the oven door, leakage of microwaves is virtually impossible. And, don't worry about the safety of microcooked food. Just like a beam of light from a flashlight, microwaves disappear once the switch is off.

-You can't use foil in the microwave. False. Foil is ideal to use in the microwave oven if you want to protect (shield) parts of foods from overcooking. However, when using foil, you should have more food than foil, as you do when you cover the corners of baking dishes and the wing tips of poultry. Also, be sure that the foil does not touch the sides of the oven wall to prevent possible sparks (arcing).

-Microwave cooking destroys nutrients. False. Some foods, particularly fruits and vegetables, retain more nutrients when micro-cooked than when conventionally cooked. That's because they cook faster and need less water in the microwave oven.

And that means there's less time for the heat to destroy valuable vitamins and minerals. Plus, there's less chance for the water to cook away those all-important nutrients.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Tom Cruise says working with veteran actors such as Paul Newman and Dustin Hoffman is a learning experience.

"What you get from great actors like Newman and Hoffman is where to focus your energies and what to worry about and what not to worry about," Cruise said. "Because as a young actor, you're worried about everything."

Cruise, 26, starred with Newman in "The Color of Money," and with Hoffman in the to-be-released "Rain Man."

In "Rain Man," the 51-year-old Hoffman plays an autistic man with remarkable powers of memory and a $3 million inheritance. Cruise plays his brother, who wants the money.

Hoffman, known as a hard-working perfectionist on a movie set, says Cruise is equally driven.

"He's a demon. He gets up early, he works out, he goes home early, he studies, he works out again at night. ... And he always wanted to rehearse," Hoffman said in December's Gentlemen's Quarterly.

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge dismissed Jackie Mason's libel suit against a Florida woman who filed a paternity suit against the comedian.

U.S. District Judge John Keenan threw out Mason's lawsuit Monday for lack of personal jurisdiction.

Mason last year sued Ginger Reiter and her mother, Miriam Oliver, alleging libel, invasion of privacy, copyright infringement and unjust enrichment, over a live stage production "Oh Jackie Oh," on which they collaborated.

Ms. Reiter's paternity lawsuit in Florida is pending.

Mason's attorney, Jay D. Kramer, declined comment on Monday's ruling, saying he had not yet seen it.

There was no answer at the Port Washington offices of Ms. Reiter's lawyers when called for comment Monday evening.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tabreeq Welch says it was difficult growing up as the child of a sex symbol, but she doesn't fault her mother, Raquel.

"She's a hard worker. She's always taken care of herself. My mother has never, never, never been supported by anyone," the 26-year-old Welch said. "So I had it in my mind that I had to do it myself. I have this pride."

The younger Welch insists she won her part in the 1985 film, "Cocoon," on merit, not because of her mother. Welch also appears in the recently released "Cocoon: The Return."

"They said I never paid my dues," Welch said in an interview in December's Gentlemen's Quarterly. "It's like what I was doing didn't count. Like I cheated. But the point is not the advantages I had but what I'm doing with them."

LONDON (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of York picked the historic Chapel Royal in London's St. James Palace for the Dec. 20 christening of their infant daughter, Princess Beatrice.

The chapel was the site of the wedding of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert in 1840 and where royal christenings occasionally have taken place.

Princess Beatrice Elizabeth Mary, fifth in line to the throne and the fifth grandchild of Queen Elizabeth II, will wear the royal family's christening robe of Honiton lace and will be baptized at the silver gilt Lily Font, Buckingham Palace said Monday.

Princess Beatrice, born Aug. 8, is the first child of Prince Andrew, the queen's second son, and the former Sarah Ferguson.

The royal couple chose John Habgood, the archbishop of York and second-ranking prelate in the Church of England, to christen their daughter.
