Voting Rights Act Trial Postponed for District

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford Independent School Board president James Gentry, notified earlier in the day by a U.S. district clerk, informed board members in regular session Tuesday that the Voting Rights Act case involving the HISD has been postponed until after Oct. 12.

That bit of information concluded the shortest school board meeting this year. It lasted 50 minutes and included mostly routine business.

The HISD and seven other political entities in Texas have been consolidated under the heading "Hereford Independent School District vs. Griffin B. Bell" in the Voting Rights Act case, originally scheduled to go to trial Friday in Dallas.

Hereford sued Bell, the U.S. attorney general, while the Justice Department sued each of the other entities after the eight-changed voting procedures.

Hereford ISD switched from an at-large to place system of voting with a majority runoff requirement in 1974, and the Justice Department would not grant clearance to the change, saying it was invalid under the Voting Rights Act.

The Justice Department charged the HISD with discriminating against minority groups as defined under the act, established in 1965 but amended to include Texas in 1975.

Supreme Court to Rule

The U.S. district clerk, Gentry said, informed him that the U.S. Supreme Court will consider a Voting Rights Act case involving the city of Sheffield, Ala.,

Oct. 12. Outcome of that case might have a bearing on the hearing involving the Texas entities, and the three-judge panel scheduled to rule on the HISD case has decided to wait until after the Supreme Court rules.

"It seems that the case involving Sheffield is a parallel case to our case," Gentry told the board.

In other business during the first meeting in the new administration building board room the school board:

heard reports on enrollment, cafeteria, transportation, the tax office, the Hereford Classroom Teachers Association, the Texas State Teachers Association and employee's insurance.

Hired Teachers

Hired Kay Cotten to teach at Tierra Blanca Elementary and Jeannette Ramey

to work with special education classes for homebound students, finalized scheduling for the Texas Association of School Administrators Texas Association of School Boards Conference, scheduled for Sept. 25-26 in San Antonio.

Listened to an elementary school music presentation under the direction of Bill Devers and Joan Latham.

Bill Phillips, assistant superintendent and school business manager, released the second enrollment report for the schools this year.

The total number of Hereford students is $5,572, down from last year at the same point but up slightly from the preliminary enrollment figure released Sept. 6.

Hereford has 5,692 students a year ago today. Last week's preliminary figure was 5,534 students.

The high school has 1,300 students. Stanton Junior High 700, L. J. "Duke" Daise High 700 and the elementary schools as follows:

Arlman 492, Bluffton 407, Northwest 548, Shiloh 428, Tierra Blanca 477 and West 400.

Tax Will Be Settled

Fred Fox, tax assessor-collector for the HISD, told trustees that the finalizing of tax forms will begin within 30 days now that the 1977 tax year has been established.

There was $1,782 in delinquent taxes collected in August. With $2,322 in penalties and interest, the total collected in August was $4,104. The total collected for the current year was $1,000, nearly $3 million.

Dr. Harrel Holtz, superintendent, told the board that insurance companies were contacted two weeks ago when they received the specifications for the employer's group insurance program—to be paid by the school district for the first time, by mail.

Insurance companies have been given until Sept. 22 to turn in their policies to the HISD. An HISD insurance committee will meet Oct. 4 in special session to consider the bids and will recommend a policy Oct. 15.

Mrs. Latham used a group of four elementary students to explain the musical teaching method used by Hereford elementary schools.

Mrs. Latham is the former chairperson of the elementary division (Region I) of the Texas Music Educators.

MARK YOUR calendar for the Chamber's next Fun Breakfast, Monday, Sept. 19, 6:30 a.m. It'll be a unique event this time, with the United Way sponsoring the breakfast and Brian Hall appearing as a featured speaker. Hall is the kicker from Texas Tech who garnered All American honors despite a wooden leg. It should be a meeting you won't forget!

IF YOU READ the report of the county commission meeting in yesterday's paper, there was a request from Nell Miller, county tax assessor-collector, to remodel her office. She reported the office would have 12 "rush" periods next year instead of one.

This is the result of a new state law going into effect in January, which will require staggered registration of vehicles. The idea is to spread out the purchase of license plates, so that all residents are not lining up at one time. It will be similar to the way inspection stickers are now purchased.

The plan may be a little confusing the first year, but it should be of benefit to motorists and the tax office thereafter. At present, all plates expire on April 1, but the new law will have these staggered next year. When you renew your plates next year, you may have to buy them for four, six or 11 months. Your present tag number will determine how long it will be before you have to renew again.

After these staggered terms are initiated, you will renew them for a full year when your month comes up. Or, when you buy a new car after Jan. 1, your plates will expire on the month of the purchase of the vehicle.

MRS., MS. or MISS? The new Associated Press stylebook is just off the press, and it contains guidelines on abbreviations, capitalization, titles and other factual references on newspaper "style." The standard styles for newspapers have not changed greatly over the years, but no one thing we were interested in reading was the style on courtesy titles.

Newspaper style is not to use "Mr." in any reference unless it is combined with "Mrs." This has been the preferred style for many years. Courtesy titles have always been used for women on second reference in an article. Susan Smith. (See HEREFORD BULL, Page 2)

New TDHR Worker

Joe Vasquez of the Texas Department of Health Resources office in Canyon is introducing a new TDHR worker to the situation at the San Jose community south of the city. He is Ralph Quinones, who grew up in Puerto Rico and began work with the department Sept. 1. Quinones will be involved with the continuing work of improving health conditions at the San Jose community and will be accompanying Vasquez as he learns about what needs to be done at the village. Vasquez has been instrumental in helping the residents of San Jose form a steering committee to seek funding for a water and sewer system for the community. The addition of Quinones to the TDHR staff should allow more time to be spent on the community. [Brand photo by Dianne Banner]

Stock Crackdown Renewed For Labor Camp Community

By JIM STEIFERT
Brand Staff Writer

Officials of the Texas Department of Health Resources are putting renewed muscle behind their crackdown on livestock within the San Jose community south of Hereford.

The department first began enforcing laws concerning the penning of livestock near houses last spring, with assistance from County Judge Sam Morgan.

Most homeowners in the community quickly removed pens of pigs, cattle and goats, choosing voluntary compliance with an effort to clean up living conditions in the village.

But, according to Joe Vasquez of the Canyon TDHR office, there are still a few who have ignored the law and are keeping livestock within the confines of the village.

One More Warning

Vasquez served notice Tuesday afternoon that these individuals will receive only one more warning concerning the penning of these animals.

After the warning, they will have one week period to remove their livestock. If they fail to do so, the county judge has the authority to levy fines in order to force compliance.

"We have gone as far as we reasonably can in allowing time to dispose of these animals," said Vasquez. "There have been repeated warnings, and this is not just some wild idea we are pushing, this is the law. It is unfair to the people who voluntarily complied with this law to allow violations by others, and we hope to clear this matter up. We are talking about getting rid of a major health hazard in the community, and this has a high priority," he added.

Vasquez A Leader

Vasquez has been a key figure in work to improve the living conditions at the San Jose community since last spring.

He helped residents of that community form a non-profit corporation and elect a steering committee to find funds for a water and sewer system for San Jose. He is continuing efforts to find aid through federal sources.

Vasquez brought a new TDHR representative to Hereford Tuesday to introduce him to the situation at San Jose.

He is Ralph Quinones, who was born in Louisiana and grew up in Puerto Rico. (See SAN JOSE, Page 2)

Gonzales Earns Life Sentence

A nine woman, three-man jury found Norberto Gonzales guilty of second degree possession and sentenced him to life imprisonment as at 10:00 a.m. Tuesday in Judge Wright's courtroom, District Court.

Gonzales, who represented himself, testified throughout the trial that he knew no emotion as the district attorney read the jury's verdict, which was a life term after about 1 1/2 hours of deliberation.

Gonzales did not blink an eye as the unblinking-at-the-jury-stand verdict was read.

The jury decided on the life sentence after it was provided through additional testimony in the prosecution phase of the trial that Gonzales is a habitual criminal. The prosecutor said that previously had been convicted twice for theft, twice for burglary, and once for heroin possession.

According to the testimony of Dade Smith County Sheriff, Deputy Sheriff Moya and Judge Wright, Gonzales consented to having his car searched around 1 a.m. Jan. 26, 1977, when he was pulled over on FM Road 442, west of Milo Center.

Testimony was that the search of the car after a search of the trunk had once been in the trunk of the car.

The heroin was found in a package wrapped in a red rag found under the driver's seat band under the driver's seat.

During Monday's proceedings with the jury out of the courtroom and Tuesday's trial, defense lawyer Phil McDowell of Dallas tried to prove there was no probable cause for the search, but that there was no probable cause for the search by Gonzales.

District Atty. Andy Shovel said that Gonzales did consent to the search of the car after the search of the trunk was found under a photo album in the car.

In his closing argument, Shovel asked the jury to consider the evidence in deliberation.

"Did he know it was heroin? He said yes and did he give consent to the search?" Asked Shovel. "Testimony is consistent that he did."

McDowell objected to the question. The Dallas attorney contended that Shovel's closing argument asked Judge Gulley to give the jury the grounds that the district attorney's argument is so prejudicial.

McDowell, in his final statement to the jury, also asked the panel to consider two issues.

Knowing that a syringe and the stuff was in the car, would he have consented freely and voluntarily? Knowing the contraband was there—is that consent?

"Do you believe that someone who knew that heroin was under the seat of his car would agree to a search?"

"This is a subject of both consent and knowledge. The defendant is sitting here with a deputy sheriff this far away (McDowell spread his hands about two feet apart to demonstrate the distance) and saying he didn't know what was inside the car, it just doesn't stand to reason. Why would he be lying?"

"And Mr. Moya asked there in the light with the headlights and flashlights shining on the rag if this was some kind of marijuana. And he (Gonzales) said, 'Yes, I think so,' how does the stand by the defendant prove it was heroin. It doesn't prove anything, in fact, it proves, he didn't know it was heroin."

Gonzales will not be eligible for parole until 1997.

Customers May Pay Bell's Loss

DALLAS (AP) — If the appellate court upholds the trial court's findings, customers of Southwestern Bell may have to pay the $3 million the giant utility company was ordered to pay in a San Antonio damage suit.

Actually, the tariff may be closer to $4 million.

Last December, the telephone company was ordered to pay fired Bell executive James Ashley and his wife $1 million in a case that alleged the couple's telephones had been tapped by Bell security men.

On Monday, a state court jury awarded Ashley and the family of the late T.O. Gravitt a total of $3 million. The plaintiffs had accused the company of conducting an improper internal investigation that resulted in Ashley's dismissal and Gravitt's October 1974 suicide. (See BELL, Page 2)

Waters Recede, Leave 18 Dead

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) — The flood waters receded today as quickly as they rose, leaving at least 18 dead, 1,200 homeless and property damage counted in the millions.

The legacies of 12 inches of rain in 24 hours was devastation in the expensive shops of the city's Country Club Plaza, tedious cleanup along Brush Creek and the Blue River, and worry over the fate of some two dozen people still listed as missing.

The damage, like the metropolitan area, crossed state borders and the governors of Missouri and Kansas each planned to ask federal disaster aid.

Still, because the shopping area is so well known, its Christmas lighting has been depicted in dozens of magazines — the flood is likely to become known as the "Country Club Plaza Flood."

The damage was awesome. Preliminary estimates in the metropolitan area showed 65 businesses damaged or destroyed, 228 houses, 180 apartments and 500 mobile homes suffering at least some damage.

It's devastating, said Missouri Gov. Joseph T. Mooney, a Kansas City native, after a 2 1/2-hour tour of the area. "I hope I can get as much money as I can for the people who have been hurt."

Gov. Robert F. Bennett of Kansas pronounced the need critical after his two-hour tour, which included a shopping center in suburban Mission where one store alone estimated $500,000 in lost merchandise.

At the height of the storm Monday night, 2,000 had to flee their homes. The rain stopped by the next midday and 1,400 were able to return.

For the rest there were shelters, like the Salvation Army center able to accommodate 300. But most were able to move in with friends and the center had only 35 overnight guests.

Damage to public property in Kansas City alone was estimated at nearly $5.25 million.

Despite the destruction, it was nowhere near that wrought by the season's other major flood in the Johnstown, Pa., area. There, the waters broke dams and swept aside houses and trees. The toll was 75 dead and damage of $200 million.

In terms of property damage, the hardest hit area was the Country Club Plaza, which prides itself on being the country's oldest shopping center and one of the prettiest.

The Plaza sits along one side of Brush Creek, normally a trickle dividing the city east and west. The concrete-lined creek became a torrent after two six-inch rains Monday.

Water coursed through underground garages and through the street level floors of some of the finest stores in the Midwest — 10 feet deep in places.

Energy Program Changed in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) President Carter's energy program is undergoing major changes in the Senate, where a leading member of the energy committee says the administration's plan to restructure electric utility rates will fail.

Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., predicted the rate reforms will be largely rejected as the committee is scheduled to take up the proposal today.

Tuesday night, the Senate approved an omnibus energy conservation bill that bans the production of automobiles with poor gas mileage.

This is a sharp departure from the Carter plan, which called for a tax, but not a prohibition on the fuel inefficient automobiles.

The bill, which contains many of the energy saving steps the President is pushing, was approved after the Senate rejected a mandatory gasoline rationing plan.

Testimony Begins In Policemen Trial

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The first full day of testimony was scheduled today in the trial of two former Houston policemen charged in the May 6 drowning death of a man in police custody.

A jury of seven women and five men selected Tuesday heard brief testimony concerning the discovery of the body of Joe Campos Torres, 23, May 8 in Buffalo Bayou, only a few blocks from Houston police headquarters.

Terry Denson, 27, and Stephen Orlando, 21, are charged with beating Torres and pushing him into the bayou instead of taking him to a hospital. Torres, a karate expert, had been arrested the night of May 5 in a bar disturbance.

Davis Trial Postponed Because of Toothache

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The capital murder trial of millionaire Fort Worth industrialist Cullen Davis has been postponed for several days because a juror must have dental surgery.

State District Judge George Dowlen said Tuesday he hoped testimony, which entered its fourth week Monday, could be resumed Friday or Saturday. But it can't wait at this point.

Dowlen called the recess after juror

L.B. Pendleton's dentist discovered an impacted wisdom tooth that must be removed.

Testimony was interrupted briefly last Saturday when Pendleton first complained of the toothache and had to visit a dentist.

Lance Says Attack 'Innuendos, Hearsay'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance today declared he is under unfair attack by innuendo and hearsay and "we're in sad shape in this country" if people believe his effectiveness has been crippled as a result.

Lance lashed out at the news media when reporters questioned him as he emerged this morning from his Georgetown home. Again he denied any intention to resign.

Said Lance: "If you can take allegations and innuendoes and hearsay and everything else, the words of a convicted felon, and all these other things, and put them in the paper and show them on television then say that's fact."

Scattered Showers Wet Area Farmland

A thunderstorm system which came sweeping in from the west Tuesday evening left scattered rainfall accumulations over Deaf Smith County's farmland.

The thunderclouds moved in quickly and an abrupt temperature change prompted concern over a possible hailstorm.

However, the clouds unleashed only heavy rainfall and lightning. The moisture will stall the local corn harvest for a day or two, but should aid recently-planted wheat.

The largest accumulation of moisture was reported at the Raymond Schlabs farm where 1.50 inches fell 4 1/2 miles north of town.

A one inch report was turned in by Pioneer Fertilizer at Milo Center.

The dryland country to the west of the city received scattered showers with .70 inches reported at the Clint Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of the city.

Rain was lighter in the Bootleg Corner vicinity, where the Bill Page farm received only .15 inches.

Mrs. Bruce Coleman indicated that only a light sprinkle fell at her husband's farm near the Walcott community.

KPAN radio logged .50 inches of moisture for the city and .50 inches was also recorded at the East community south of Hereford.

H.L. Hershey reported a .40 inch accumulation at his farm 13 miles northeast of the city.

Rain tapered off to the east of the city with a .30 inch report coming from Dawn Co-Op.

The Holly Sugar Corporation's plant measured only .19 inches in the storm, while .30 inches was measured at 15th and Highway 385.

Carlson Elected To Young Farmers Post

Roy Carlson of Hereford was elected secretary for the Area 1 Young Farmers during the organization's 17th annual convention at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo over the weekend.

Other officers include Max Eubanks of Parmer County, treasurer; Oran Watson of Tulsa, president; Orville Turner of Silverton, reporter; Teddy Smithson of Dimmitt, vice president; Don Moore of Dimmitt is state vice president.

Carlson, a Hereford native, is now in his fifth year as a member of the Hereford Young Farmers.

He has served as president of the local organization for the past two years and has also held the office of secretary on the local level.

He was a member of the Hereford FFA during his high school years here and is now engaged in farming.

Carlson owns 440 acres north of the city and also farms land south of Hereford. He also farms land with his father, producing corn, soybeans and wheat, in addition to running some 30-40 head of cattle. A graduate of West Texas State University, he was a member of the Block & Bridle Club there.

Carlson and his wife, Shirley, are the parents of two sons, two and four years of age. They reside at 429 Ave. K.

Wiretap Audits May Be Released

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe may release audit reports on the purchase of wiretap material that was approved by the Southeast Texas Regional Planning Commission. Atty. Gen. John Hill said Tuesday.

Hill said Briscoe's office had been asked for the reports.

The audit was done by the governor's Criminal Justice Division, Hill said, adding, "Your office has no objection to the disclosure of this information and it is not contended that making it public would be detrimental to law enforcement operations for the investigation or detection of crime."

The question, Hill said, was whether the law requires the governor to withhold the information under the Open Records Act. Hill said he does not believe the act prohibits the governor from releasing the audits.

It was Hill's 177th decision relating to the open records law.

State Bar Director Resigns

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — H.C. Pittman, executive director of the State Bar of Texas since 1972, said Tuesday he is resigning at the end of the year to enter private law practice.

Pittman said he would become a partner in the Austin firm of Brown, Maroney, Rose Baker and Barber.

Travis Shelton, bar president, said during Pittman's five years the bar membership has grown from 19,000 to 28,500 lawyers.

He said Pittman helped initiate major programs such as standards of admission for lawyers, specialization, prepaid legal services, an insurance trust, computerized legal research and public-oriented services like "Ask a Lawyer."

Prior to his association with the bar, Pittman was executive director of the Texas Automobile Association for 12 years.

Before that he practiced law in Tyler and Waco and was executive assistant attorney general in 1953. He later served as chairman of the Industrial Accident Board and chairman of the State Employees Retirement System.

My sound argument is a lot of noise on your part.

Stretch your imagination too far and it'll snap back at you as trouble.

The textbook proclamation calls for new materials in 16 elementary and secondary subjects.

Materials selected will be available for use in Texas schools starting Sept. 1, 1978.

SHORT SNORTS

House Speaker Bill Clayton named his appointees to 16 commissions, study committees and councils.

Texas Railroad Commission approved higher gas rates for cities of Spearman and Perryton and other customers of High Plains Natural Gas Co.

The State Republican Executive Committee will meet here October 22, and probably will be faced with electing a new chairman. Chairman Ray Hutchison is planning to run for governor.

Applications to hunt deer on five Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife management areas are now available, and should be completed before October 3.

A record $3.1 billion was spent in Texas during the last year by 17.2 million auto visitors from out of state, according to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

AUSTIN—Texas tax collections set an alltime record during the 1977 fiscal year just concluded.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said $4.194 billion in revenue had been brought in through his office.

The total is $651 million above the previous high in fiscal 1976 when collections totalled $3.5 billion.

The $4.194 billion figure includes $351.5 million in city sales taxes which were collected and processed through Bullock's office.

Bullock said the single-month record also was broken in August when his revenue processing division deposited $594.6 million. May 1977 set the previous record of $540 million in tax revenues deposited in the state treasury.

Sharp increases in sales, motor and special fuel and oil and natural gas taxes accounted for most of the record collections.

Bullock said intensified collection efforts by his office also helped boost the total.

State sales tax collections for the year jumped 15 per cent over fiscal 1976, city sales taxes 14.9 per cent, motor and special fuels collections 4.5 per cent and oil and natural gas taxes a combined 15.7 per cent.

Bullock reported his auditors discovered $91.5 million in tax deficiencies, 27 per cent more than the previous year—money that otherwise would have gone uncollected.

AG RACE UNDERWAY

Former House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. has made official what has been general knowledge for two months: he is running for attorney general in the Democratic primary.

Daniel, 36, son of former Gov. Price Daniel, announced his plans in news conferences here, in Dallas and Houston, and made his official campaign kickoff speech at a barbecue in Liberty, his hometown.

Secretary of State Mark White, a Baylor law classmate of Daniel, has made clear he also plans to get in the race.

James Baker III, a Houston attorney who ran President Ford's national campaign last fall, has indicated he may run as a Republican. Atty. Gen. John Hill is expected to challenge Gov. Dolph Briscoe in the Democratic primary.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Gov. Briscoe caught the state capitol community by surprise when he named Hugh C. Yantis Jr., former executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board, as chairman of the State Board of Insurance.

Yantis, 63, acknowledged he doesn't know much more about insurance than any other policyholder, but he noted his credentials as an administrator and said he thinks he can serve fairly and honorably.

Atty. Gen. Hill appointed James R. Riggs, formerly of Corpus and Pasadena, as head of his bonds and charitable trusts division.

Nine members have been named to the Texas Medical Inclusion Panel under the new medical malpractice act.

David Bragg will head Hill's consumer protection division.

YARBROUGH QUILTS BAR

Don Yarbrough, who resigned from the Supreme Court in the face of ouster by the legislature, turned in his law license to cut off a disbarment proceeding.

The State Supreme Court allowed Yarbrough to resign from the bar.

However, he still faces felony charges of perjury and forgery, and his trial is scheduled October 10.

Yarbrough contends he is innocent of charges against him, but does not have financial resources to defend himself against 100 separate Bar allegations of misconduct.

AG OPINIONS
Financial statements submitted to Texas Education Agency by proprietary schools are public under the open records act, Atty. Gen. Hill said.

In other new opinions, Hill concluded:
A new law does not prohibit issuance of a certificate of occupancy for an apartment building which lacks individual utility meters or sub-metering if a building permit has been issued prior to Jan. 1, 1978.

After September 1, school districts can require teachers to have more than 10 days of inservice training during their 10-months contract period without extra compensation, as long as the overall per day compensation is equal to the minimum base.

TEXTBOOK HEARING STARTS
The State Textbook Committee began a hearing Monday to select books and related teaching materials to be recommended for state adoption this year.

Final selection and adoption will be completed by the State Board of Education at its November 12 meeting in Austin.

Materials selected will be available for use in Texas schools starting Sept. 1, 1978.

San Jose

New Man Arrives
Quinones began work with the IDHC Sept. 1 and the San Jose area is his first assignment.

Quinones will be stationed with Vasquez in Canyon, and will be going over the problems at San Jose, accompanied by Vasquez.

He will eventually shoulder a larger share of the work load in the Hereford area, in addition to other concentrated areas of migrant population in Dimmitt and Eriona.

Vasquez pointed out that his department is still very much involved in the ongoing work of improving the way of life at San Jose.

Clinic May Reopen
He reported that attempts are now being made to reopen the health clinic in that community, and explained that Quinones will be presenting programs on health and sanitation in the event the clinic is reopened.

We find that the attitude of the people is still just as good as it was back in June, when they formed their corporation and elected the steering committee," Vasquez commented. "This attitude is important for continued progress, and we are happy to see that the people of San Jose are taking the work of improving their community seriously."

After the Champagne, Reality Has To Be Faced

Retirees Are France's Problem

PARIS (AP) — Retirement is a problem which 2,500 Frenchmen face every day. As a statistical average every 35 seconds someone begins another way of life entering what is known in France as the Third Age.

Time was when retirement only applied to government employees from ambassador to postman. Today after the champagne speeches and sometimes costly parting presents, color TV, power lawnmowers, hi-fi sets and the like, the gold watch is very old-fashioned.

The retiree often looking and feeling like a zombie takes himself home — to what?

According to recent statistics one out of every four retirees dies at the end of the first year.

The tragic effects of forced retirement are felt all over the country and in all but the highest social strata concerning psychologists, sociologists, gerontologists and sexologists.

France has something like seven million citizens aged 65 and over, commented Jean Carrette, who heads the Study and Research Group for Solving Problems of Elderly People (CERSIPA).

Much of course depends on the individual's approach. No longer a slave to the alarm clock, the new retiree potters about in the garden, bowls in the afternoon, repaints the garage. At first it's the feeling of a long holiday. But after six months or so the sense of solitude and uselessness creeps in. Carrette tells of a factory manager of 66 who called recently begging to be given something to do.

There are others like Manuel Dufour, 55 department head in an insurance company, who says, "I can't wait. Retirement for me spells absence of timetables. Getting up when I feel like it, going where I want to go and when I want to. A Parisian he dreams of a cottage seeing his grandchildren grow up trips to the Cote d'Azur, which he has never visited. He does not really care where he settles, provided he can find companions for a game of bowls and a football team."

Carrette is also the author of a book "Knowing How to Grow Older." He writes "Is retirement social death or a liberation?" For Jean Dupont who has worked all his life contributed to a pension scheme, he remembers all he has dreamed of when the time approaches, which at last may come true.

Then, from one day to the next, his daily rhythm is changed and before long he realizes that to quote the economists, his status has changed from "producer" to "inactive," more or less of a burden on society.

The lucky Jean Duponts are those who have deep roots in the earth and finally go back home. Like 66-year-old Andre Bastien from the Ardennes who found six of his schoolmates still in the small town, as well as the schoolmaster who still pulls his ear and calls him "mon petit." There are also the countless elderly couples who lead serene happy busy lives.

In most cases, points out Jean Carrette, it is not a question of money. During the winter months Spain's Balearic Islands are the old peoples' home for Europeans. The same is true of Nice on the Cote d'Azur. One real estate outfit's slogan is: "At six ty one is no longer old."

A film has been made for the employers retirement and welfare fund which is part of the retired apprenticeship program underlining both sides of the problem. A 60-minute production it pictures the unadaptable citizen as well as spot interviews in the street and homes. The question "What does retirement mean to you?" brought such answers as: "It means a restful life. Happiness for the elderly. A good thing. Its absence of wear and tear. It's doing something else."

Classes where employees are taught the ABC's of growing old are held in many of the state organizations and last five days M. Macel, who directs these for the Bank of France declares "One must tread carefully. Even envisage death. But one also repeats ad infinitum that retirement is simply a demobilization, not a shipwreck. And that there are beautiful days ahead."

Dr. Claude Bailier, psychiatrist and executive secretary of the Gerontical Association in one of the Paris districts declares: "When a human being loses the sense of productive value, everything starts falling apart. Health included. This when heart attacks, sciatica, deep depression and other ailments set in."

Figures are frightening. According to a recent poll 70 per cent of France's senior citizens are bored — kill time before time kills us — in the words of one cynic.

The poll also revealed that men are the bigger sufferers. Nostalgia moves many to their place of work, the bank clerk to his window, the retired officer who passes by his Ministry for a chat with the guard, the professor who appears at class intervals and disappears when the bell rings.

Some find their own ways of beating boredom. Michel Gauche uses his pass to make the complete tour of Paris in a bus. Madame Joucard, ex-teacher is learning Russian to speak with her grandson who is also learning the language. Georges Brotteau attends all historical lectures and tours of Paris. And of course TV is an invaluable source of both information and amusement.

A major move has been started by the Gillette razor company toward a phased retirement by stages, starting at 62. These are really extended paid vacations which work out that an employee works only six months out of 12

The steering committee of the Miss Hereford Pageant held a reorganizational meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce office. If you can't express a thought clearly in writing, there's a great future for you with some government bureaucracy. Someone is going to make a million with an alarm clock that wakens you with the aroma of bacon and eggs frying.

Last year someone I know had a young child who was killed in an auto accident. I went to the home to express my sympathy. The woman began to phone me almost immediately after my visit...just to talk. Then she started to drop in unexpectedly at all hours because I had "been through the same thing and was the only one who understood what she was going through." I prayed for strength to help her. I felt as if a drowning person had grabbed on to me and was pulling me down to the bottom of the sea with her. Now I feel guilty for resenting the way she has insinuated herself into my life. At the same time I know I must get rid of her or I'll crack up. What should I do? -Sinking DEAR FRIEND: You do not owe the woman emotional support at the expense of your mental health. There is something sick (maybe even punitive) about the way she has glommed on to you. Be perfectly candid. Tell her you cannot allow your old wounds to be reopened and her presence does just that. Suggest she work through her grief with a professional therapist. Then ring off.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Quite a while ago you printed a letter from a girl whose boyfriend was constantly tickling her. Your

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have printed several letters about relatives who tickle children "All in fun." May I comment?
As a student of Oriental history and Far Eastern culture, I can tell you that tickling was a form of torture several centuries back. Any pediatrician will verify the fact that prolonged tickling can cause hysterics and even convulsions. The expression "tickled to death" is more than just a phrase. -Vallejo, Cal.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a few words for that Waitress in South Dakota who chastised women for being "stingy tippers." She said she would rather wait on men any day. I have had to endure many waitresses who ignored my presence, except to slap some food in front of me while they are asking my husband if he'd like more water, more coffee, or, "Was the food a O.K.?"
If waitresses gave women the same attention and courtesy they give men, the tips might be bigger. -Irate In Oklahoma
DEAR OKLA: I received dozens of letters from women who wrote to express the same sentiments. The volume of mail and the intensity of their wrath convinced me that there's something to it. There's got to be a lesson in here someplace.

Sooner 'Secrets' Revealed in Book

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma University got its push toward national football prominence because of a decision to try to raise the morale of state residents after the Depression and World War II.

And when it was learned that the 50 players on the 1946 Gator Bowl squad were paid $120 each, the university's Board of Regents decided to keep quiet.

These and other revelations about the Sooners' rise to a top-ranked football power are contained in a new book, "Presidents Can't Punish: The Old Football Tradition," by George Lynn Cross, president emeritus of the university.

Cross, who served as Oklahoma president from 1943 to 1968, traces the beginnings of the Sooners' football rise to 1945, at the end of World War II, when a number of mature athletes were returning to college campuses. It was also the time that coach Dewey "Smooter" Luster resigned for health reasons.

"While discussing what to do about a new football coach, the Board of Regents, somehow became involved with the social and psychological problems of the state," Cross writes. "One member reminded the group that John Steinbeck's 'Grapes of Wrath' had all but destroyed the morale of Oklahomans."

He thought that many of them actually felt a little apologetic about living in Oklahoma. He asked what, if anything, could the university do to improve the situation.

He said one decision was to field a great football team immediately by hiring a service coach who would know and be able to recruit the best players from armed forces teams.

One candidate was Jim Tatum, who coached a Navy team in Jacksonville, Fla. When Tatum came to Norman for an interview, he brought along one of his young assistants, Bud Wilkinson. The regents offered Tatum the job as long as he brought Wilkinson with him.

Cross writes that by the end of that season the Sooners had scored eight wins with losses only to Army, Kansas and Texas. They were invited to the newly formed Gator Bowl.

Cross said that as the date for the bowl game approached, Tatum came to him and said he wanted to motivate his players with a gift, "a shotgun, golf clubs or some other valuable item."

Cross said he vetoed the request with a reminder that conference and NCAA regulations prohibited such gifts. He said Tatum replied he had been offered the top coaching job at Maryland, where he thought he might get "better cooperation."

Tatum took the Maryland position after the Gator Bowl game.

After the game was over, Cross writes, it was discovered that Tatum had distributed $6,000 - $120 apiece - to the 50 players on the Gator Bowl squad. The money came from the Athletic Council, then a separate corporate body not answerable to either the university administration or the Board of Regents.

When the problem was reported to the board, "the unrecorded decision was to keep quiet about what had happened, but to take every precaution to see that it did not happen again," Cross writes. "If we had gone on probation at that time, we probably never would have had the success we gained. We might never have had a great football team."

Wilkinson was the next head coach, and held the position until he resigned in 1964 to enter politics. But Cross revealed that Wilkinson was constantly besieged by other offers and in 1951 submitted a letter or resignation to take a public relations job with a Texas oil firm.

Cross said when Wilkinson came to say good-by, "Bud seemed uneasy. I could see that he was worried about whether he was making the right decision."

"What if I do win football championships and remain undefeated?" Wilkinson said. "Will this bring me fulfillment when I retire at 65?"

"I said, 'Would you rather spend your life helping young boys or would you rather help corporations increase profits?'" Wilkinson stayed.

Sooners Drop to Fifth

Michigan Moves To Top

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Michigan Wolverines are the new No. 1 team in The Associated Press' college football ratings.

While the Oklahoma Sooners, No. 1 in the preseason poll, were having their problems defeating unheralded Vanderbilt 25-23 last week - a struggle that dropped them to fifth place - Michigan clobbered Illinois 37-9.

That pushed the Wolverines from preseason runner-up to the No. 1 position in the first regular season poll with 42 of 62 first-place votes and 1,162 of a possible 1,240 points in nation-wide balloting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern California, fourth in the preseason ratings, jumped to second by thumping Missouri 27-10. The Trojans received four first-place votes and 980 points.

Notre Dame, a hard-pressed 19-9 winner over Pittsburgh, held onto third place with nine first-place ballots and 894 points, while the defending national champion Panthers skidded from seventh to 16th.

Alabama trounced Mississippi 34-13 and climbed from sixth to fourth with one first-place vote and 771 points.

Then came Oklahoma, followed by Ohio State, a 10-0 winner over Miami of Florida but down from fifth place to sixth with one first-place vote and 647 points.

Texas A&M vaulted past Texas Tech from ninth place to seventh by downing Kansas 28-14. The Aggies received 502 points but no No. 1 ballots.

Texas Tech, however, received one first-place vote and 498 points after a 17-7 defeat of Baylor. The Aggies and Red Raiders were followed by a third Southwest Conference team, Houston, which shot from 14th to ninth by beating UCLA 17-13. The Cougars received one first-place vote and 422 points.

The remaining No. 1 vote went to another SWC team, Texas, which crushed Boston College 44-0. But the Longhorns, who failed to crack the preseason Top Twenty, were only 18th this time.

Penn State, 13th in the preseason ratings, rounded out the Top Ten. The Nittany Lions, idle last weekend, opened their season a week earlier with a 45-7 smashing of Rutgers. They received 375 points and supplanted Maryland, No. 10 in the preseason poll but down to 11th after a come-from-behind 21-14 triumph over Clemson.

Following Maryland in the Second Ten were Colorado, Mississippi State, UCLA, Oklahoma State, Pitt, Georgia, Texas, Florida and Brigham Young. Brigham Young made the rankings by thrashing Kansas State 39-0.

The preseason Second Ten consisted of UCLA, Colorado, Penn State, Houston, Nebraska, Mississippi State, Arizona and Florida tied for 17th, Georgia and Oklahoma State.

Nebraska and Arizona State dropped out of the ratings. Nebraska was upset by Washington State 19-10 while Arizona State begins its season this weekend.

Upshaw Discounts Fisticuffs Rumor

Hereford High School head football coach and athletic director Fred Upshaw today discounted rumors of an altercation between game officials and members of the Palo Duro coaching staff following the Herd's upset win over the Dons last Friday night.

"I don't think the situation was nearly as serious as many people think it was," Upshaw said this morning. "As far as we know there was no physical contact between any official or coach after the game."

Upshaw did confirm that some words were exchanged between some members of the PD staff and the officials following the hotly-contested game, but added that Dons head coach Ken Ozee apologized for the incident to the officials

As to reports of damage done to the HHS field house facility by the Palo Duro players Upshaw said, "There was one pane broken in a window between the two dressing rooms, but some of our kids were looking in at the Palo Duro players, and I suspect there may have been some heckling going on."

The coach also confirmed that some shower heads were found broken the day following the game, but that the damage was "minimal." "We'd just as soon forget the whole thing," Upshaw concluded. "We like to think that all was left on a good note...I don't foresee any problems as far as Palo Duro is concerned."

Mother's Meeting Changed

The time of the mothers' meetings with Herd head football coach Fred Upshaw has been changed the coach has reported. The new time for the meetings is 9:30 a.m., 30 minutes earlier than the old time of 10 a.m.

The mothers meet with the coach each Thursday morning. Different facets of the game of football are covered with the coach using visual aids and a question and answer period during the class.

Herd Remains Atop District Offenses

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces continue to lead District 4-4A offensively after two weekends of play, and the Herd has moved into the second-place spot defensively as they carry the only unblemished record in the loop. Hereford stands 2-0 after two weeks, the only league team to have not suffered a loss or a tie.

The Monterey Plainsmen, preseason favorites to nab the loop crown, are 1-0-1 on the year after a 13-13 tie with Wichita Falls Rider last week. The only other district team to have won a game is Plainview, which is 1-1 after a 15-6 win over Estacado and a 37-9 loss to Tascosa. Coronado and Lubbock High bring up the rear, both with 0-2 marks.

The Herd continues to lead the league in offense, averaging 288.0 yards per contest. The 'Faces have 360 yards rushing and 216 more through the air to lead the district in both categories. Monterey, with 454 yards, ranks second in offense with a 227.0 standard.

Down the list Coronado is averaging 158 markers per game. Plainview has a 154 standard, and Lubbock is far behind on the list with a 102 yards-per-game average.

Monterey has the stingiest defense in the district, allowing 189.5 yards per game. Hereford ranks second with an average of 225 yards given up per game, while Plainview is third with a 239.5 standard. Coronado, 262.0, and Lubbock, 341.0 round out the list.

Hereford has five names listed at the top of individual categories after two weeks, with tailback Paul Bell ahead in three of them. Bell tops the league in rushing with 204 yards on 56 tries, in scoring with 24 points on four TDs, and in tandem offense with all of his yards coming on rushing plays. The tandem offense figure is a compilation of a player's total yards rushing and receiving.

Herd quarterback Kelly Kitchens leads the district in passing with 216 yards on 12 completions in 22 attempts. Kitchens has lofted one touchdown pass, and has yet to be intercepted this season. Tight end Greg Brockman has been on the receiving end of most of Kitchens' aeriels and leads the loop in receiving with six catches for 113 yards.

Kitchens also ranks fourth among loop rushers with 100 yards on 25 totes and is the second-best punter to date with a 37.4 average on eight kicks. Herd receivers Chris Hill and Robert Graves are high on the receiving list. Hill has 58 markers on three snags, while Graves has grabbed two Kitchens passes for 34 yards and one touchdown.

The only Herd defender to be top 10 in tackles is linebacker Charles Reyna, who is ninth in the group with 20 stops to his credit.

Preston, Not Tony To Start for Pokes

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday veteran Preston Pearson will be his starting tailback against Minnesota Sunday in a National Football League opener whether million dollar rookie Tony Dorsett concurs or not.

"We'll spot Dorsett," said Landry. "Even though he Dorsett may not like that we'll probably go ahead and do it. He has a lot to learn about professional football."

Dorsett said Monday that "I don't think I'll ever be like I was in college, going in and out of the game. This part-time action is going to hurt us all."

The Heisman Trophy winner from Pittsburgh also concluded that Pearson deserved the starting job and that he didn't have "any complaints."

Asked if he was nettled that Dorsett took his opinions to a local newspaper instead of coming to Landry, the unflappable Cowboy coach said "Well, we all speak from where we are...he made some good points but I don't worry about 'em. We have freedom of the press. He has a right to do those things."

Dorsett was injured in training camp and has had some difficulty in learning the complex Cowboy system although he has flashed an occasional brilliant run. He gained 99 yards in a preseason game against Baltimore.

Landry said "Anytime you have a Tony Dorsett you have the potential to have a better running game. I'm certainly more optimistic about our running game than I was a year ago."

The Cowboys kept eight rookies on their final squad as they reactivated free agents Larry Brinson of Florida and Bruce Huther of New Hampshire, a linebacker.

"I thought we might keep five rookies so I'm a little surprised from that standpoint," said Landry.

Landry said former No. 1 draft choice Randy White would start at right tackle against the Vikings and that Tom Rafferty had earned the right guard spot over Burton Lawless. Also, Thomas Henderson will be the starting right linebacker. Second-year man Bob Breunig will start his first regular season game at middle linebacker and Aaron Kyle will open at cornerback in his first start.

"We've got a lot of new targets out there for the Vikings," said Landry.

'Heated' Games Cause Concern

DALLAS (AP) - Football season is the season of crisp autumn air and warming drinks by the sideline, right? Wrong. At least in the Southwest Conference.

When most schools tried to conserve energy and moved some of their night games to a 4 p.m. starting time, they didn't take into account some of the hot Texas weather of early autumn.

Some samples:

-Southern Methodist University center Harris Brownlee lost 25 pounds and guard Joe Bays lost 20 when SMU and Texas Christian University clashed Saturday afternoon. The temperature on the playing field was 115 degrees.

-At Waco, where Baylor and Texas Tech battled, the playing field temperature was 113 degrees.

-Texas A&M and Kansas took another sauna bath in 90-degree temperatures.

"Some of the other schools say they are starting at 4 p.m. to conserve energy," said SMU Athletic Director Dick Davis, "but I think this is putting a price on the lives of our student-athletes. Preferably, we should play the September games at night. If that's impossible, a 1 p.m. start would be better."

Coach Steve Sloan of Texas Tech described his game as the "Heat Bowl" and said he had trouble climbing the dressing room steps at halftime. "The only thing that kept me going was thinking how bad it would look if the coach collapsed. It was a good thing I didn't have to play."

SMU trainer Cash Birwell, referring to the pounds lost by Brownlee and Bays, explained, "This was just in the first half." The SMU players downed 12 cases of soft drinks, 15 bags of ice and 60 gallons of fluid.

Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard said: "I have never been on the field for a practice or a game where heat was more noticeable."

Baylor trainer Skip Cox said one of his players lost 11 pounds. Heat was a factor when Texas Tech blocked a Bear field goal. Only 10 Bears were on the field when the attempt was made. The 11th man was suffering from heat cramps.

Davis said he planned to call for review of the 4 p.m. kickoff times. He said he had received numerous complaints from fans.

At Baylor Stadium, eight persons sought aid for heat exhaustion.

SMU Coach Ron Meyer said: "I'm as much for conservation of energy as anyone else, but as we were driving out of Fort Worth Saturday night, lights were on at every tennis court we saw. I think we've got to take a long look at this situation."

Baylor has five 4 p.m. starting times this year. Texas' last 4 p.m. time is Oct. 1. TCU has three afternoon games.

This coming Saturday Kentucky plays at Baylor at 4 p.m. Texas hosts Virginia and Oregon comes to TCU for other afternoon games.

Tech's Allison Gathers Honor

It was an hour or so after a brutal struggle in 112-degree heat and a deflated Baylor Coach Grant Teaff was pondering a question about Texas Tech's gallant quarterback, Rodney Allison.

"I hated to see third down come with that guy," said Teaff. "That's when he's at his best." Teaff's compliment was well placed. Allison, Tech's senior quarterback from Odessa, was the difference in the Red Raiders' 17-7 Southwest Conference victory over the scrappy Bears.

Allison scampered 54 yards for a touchdown, tossed a four-yard scoring pass and set up a field goal.

His performance earned him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week laurel.

Allison said "It was the hottest day I've ever been on a football field. I felt light-headed all the time. They had to ice me down at halftime."

Allison certainly was cool hand Rodney on the field even after it appeared he had broken his shoulder in the third quarter.

"That really scared me," said Allison. "I hit the artificial turf then somebody kicked me in the arm. It just went numb. I thought maybe it was broken."

Allison went to the sidelines, took off his shirt, got a brief rubdown and was back in the game.

"This was a big game for us and I didn't want to spend it on the bench," said Allison. "The shoulder is kinda stiff right now. But it's my left shoulder and I don't use that for much anyway except stuffing rattlesnakes in a sack."

Allison hunts rattlers in the off-season around Odessa because "You got to do something. There's not all that much excitement going on."

Short Cuts

Note to Putt Powell. Hereford coach Fred Upshaw might not have out coached Palo Duro's Ken Ozee, but the Whitefaces had it over the Dons in class and discipline last Friday night.

The Whitefaces have a lot of people wondering just how good they really are after consecutive wins over Pampa and Palo Duro. Not many people picked the 'Faces to win either time. In fact, 167 of 244 persons who entered the second week of our football contest picked the Dons to win. That's 68 per cent who went against the home team and only 32 per cent die-hard who favored the Herd. It will be interesting to see if the local populace has gained any confidence in the team as they look to playing the Borger Bulldogs Friday night.

But, I can see how some people would pick Palo Duro to win in the light of their 49-15 lambasting of Dumas the week before. The Dons had a lot of people respecting them, including Pampa coach John Welborn who reportedly said... "Palo Duro has more speed than anybody should be allowed to have. They've got four backs who run the 100 under 10 flat..."

That came after the Harvester boss watched the film of PD's swamping of the Demons.

Still, the one thing that the Whitefaces have going for them week after week is confidence. They KNOW they can win and go out and prove it. As guard Mitchell George put it in the dressing room after the big win last Friday: "Two down and eight to go."

Maybe some of the rest of us will have some of that feeling rub off on us...

Watching the Hereford varsity and JV volleyball teams play Caprock Monday night was a unique experience for me. I had seen many volleyball matches, but not one with a clock running and "honest to goodness" officials calling the game.

The only bad thing about the night was the low turnout of fans for the games. The spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the girls, no matter whether they were winning or losing, was inspiring. They DESERVE to have more fans attend their matches.

They work and practice as hard as the rest of the athletic teams at HHS do, and the support they are getting is meager to say the least. What say we give coach Helen Reed and the girls a little more support?

My choices in the pro ranks this week go to Dallas over Minnesota and to the New York Jets over Houston. Dallas is too talented to lose, even to the mighty Vikings in Minnesota, and Houston is showing too much tape and ointment to clip the Jets.

Dodgers Host Reds; Race Nearly Decided

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

Los Angeles hosts the Cincinnati Reds tonight in the opener of a two-game series, and when it's over the National League West Division race could be, too.

The Dodgers would have to win both games to clinch the pennant, but the way both teams played Tuesday night it wouldn't be surprising. The Dodgers humbled San Diego 18-4 while Cincinnati lost 13-4 to red-hot Houston.

But even one Los Angeles victory would put the Dodgers within one triumph or one Cincinnati loss of clinching a tie for the championship with more than two weeks to play.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat East pacesetter Philadelphia 2-0 Tuesday night to cut the Phillies' lead to eight games. Other National League games saw the Montreal Expos defeat the New York Mets 8-5, St. Louis topple the Chicago Cubs 3-1 and San Francisco edge Atlanta 8-7 in 11 innings. Cesar Cedeño had four hits and knocked in three runs for the Astros against Cincinnati, giving him three homers, two triples and eight hits in 10 at-bats in the last two games.

"It's one of my best streaks," said Cedeño, who has raised his average from the horrendous .174 on June 24 to .256. "I'm proud of what I've done."

The Astros' two-game sweep of the Reds has brought Houston to within 2 1/2 games of second-place Cincinnati.

Dodgers 18, Padres 4
 Los Angeles pounded San Diego for 18 hits and scored 10 runs in an inning for the first time since 1971. The 10-run second frame was highlighted by two hits by Dusty Baker, who had a three-run homer and a two-run double.

Pirates 2, Phillies 0
 Jim Rooker 12-9, and Rich Gossage combined for a five-hitter, with Gossage collecting his 21st save by going the last 11-3 innings and allowing no hits.

Phil Garner knocked in both Pittsburgh runs, bringing home Frank Taveras with a groundout after Taveras had tripled in the first and then tripling in another tally in the sixth.

Expos 8, Mets 5

Montreal trailed 4-0 after three innings and entered the bottom of the eighth trailing 4-3. But the Expos exploded for five runs in the eighth inning.

Pinch-hitter Jerry White singled in the tying run and Met reliever Skip Lockwood threw away Dave Cash's bunt for another tally before rookie Stan Papi's triple put the game away.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 1
 Jerry Mumphrey and Garry Templeton hit two-out singles in the fifth inning to score all three St. Louis runs.

Bob Forsch halted the Cubs on four hits through five innings to improve his record to 17-6 and become St. Louis' winningest pitcher since Bob Gibson won 19 games in 1972.

Giants 8, Braves 7
 Bill Madlock's two-out single after three walks in the 11th inning handed the Giants a victory in the bottom of the 11 Tuesday night.

Madlock, who had three RBI in the game, got the game-winning hit off Dave Campbell, 0-6, who walked Darrell Evans, Tim Lincecum and Derrell Thomas to get into a jam. Randy Moffit 4-8, was the winner.

Yanks Edge Ahead On Guidry's Win

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

For their most important game of the season, the New York Yankees did not start former 20-game winners Catfish Hunter, Ken Holtzman or Mike Torrez. Nor did they trot out last year's 19-game winner Ed Figueroa or former Cincinnati ace Don Gullett.

Instead, they opted for their stopper, Ron Guidry, the skinny rookie with the blazing fastball.

"Guidry's been our most consistent pitcher since he got into the starting rotation," said Yankee Manager Billy Martin. "I think when he's right he can throw as hard as anyone in the league."

The Boston Red Sox, seeing Guidry for the first time this season, now can attest to both the 27-year-old's speed and accuracy. He wiped them out 4-2 Tuesday night with a five-hit, nine-strikeout performance that pulled the Yankees 2 1/2 games in front of the Red Sox in the tight American League East race.

"I've pitched a lot of good games but I don't think I've been as excited to win a game as much as this," Guidry said after posting his sixth consecutive triumph, the last four of them complete games.

"I think that's the first time I literally jumped off the mound and that's something I hardly ever do," said Guidry, whose 14th victory in 20 decisions ended Boston's five-game winning streak.

The idle Baltimore Orioles are three games back. New York has 17 games remaining, Boston 18 and Baltimore 19.

Elsewhere in the AL, the Chicago White Sox downed the Minnesota Twins 6-1, the California Angels bombed the Texas Rangers 12-7 and the Milwaukee Brewers topped the Seattle Mariners 6-5 in 10 innings. Rain forced postponement of the doubleheader between Oakland and Kansas City and a night game between Detroit and Cleveland.

Mickey Rivers, not normally known for his power gave the Yankees a 3-2 lead with a two-run homer in New York's three-run fifth inning before an excited throng of 55,269 - the largest regular - season crowd in the refurbished Yankee Stadium.

Angels 12, Rangers 7
 Dave Kingman blasted a pair of two-run homers, his first in the AL, as California beat Texas and also became a part of pitching history.

Gaylord Perry struck out eight Angels to raise his career total to 2,823, moving him past Cy Young to fourth on the all-time list. The 39-year-old Perry trails Jim Bunning, Bob Gibson and Walter Johnson, whose career mark stands at 3,508.

White Sox 6, Twins 1
 Jim Essian hit a two-run homer and Oscar Gamble added a solo shot, backing Francisco Barrios' eight-hitter and pacing Chicago over Minnesota. The triumph moved the second-place White Sox within 7 1/2 games of Kansas City, the

"When it's 105 degrees in New York City, it's 78 in Los Angeles. When it's 20 below in New York, it's 78 in Los Angeles. Of course, there are 11 million interesting people in New York City and only 78 in Los Angeles."

 —Playwright Neil Simon who recently moved from New York to Los Angeles.

"The no's are coming from Israel. With a little patience, the blame for this will be on Israel, not the P.L.O. We should be happy that Israel is more and more emphasizing its racist, imperialist posture."

"Ivory is so beautiful, so decorative, but we must spare the elephants so that they will not perish."
 —Bona Malwal, Sudan's minister of culture, on the depletion of the world's elephant herds by ivory hunters.

"Within two or three years, the long evening dress will be as antiquated as the bustle. They are just not modern."
 —Geoffrey Beene, New York Fashion designer.

"Maybe Beene is just not selling long dresses. It never ceases to amaze me how many long evening dresses we sell."
 —Halston, a New York fashion designer, taking issue with, rival Geoffrey Beene.

"The Equal Rights Amendment is just as much for men as it is for women. A society that is more just and fair and equitable is going to help men just as much as women."
 —Hazel Hunkins Hallinan, an 87-year-old suffragette who chained herself to the White House fence some 60 years ago to dramatize the fight for women's rights.

"I lack recognition because I'm quiet and I don't cause trouble. I'm not controversial. Maybe that's what you need to be around here."
 —Graig Nettles, the New York Yankees' league-leading home run hitter, on why he gets less publicity than other players.

"This country is too big to have the best of everything. You've got to have a lot of 'bests.' If we go for just one, nobody is going to stand for it."

Smith Attacks Briscoe Policies

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Attacking Gov. Dolph Briscoe as a "caretaker governor," former Gov. Preston Smith says he intends to try to win back the job he held for two terms.

Smith said he would seek the Democratic nomination for governor in a press release handed out Tuesday by an Austin public relations firm. He did not hold a news conference.

Smith's office in his home town of Lubbock said he was out of town and not available for comment.

"Yes, I am a candidate for governor in the Democratic primary and I intend to spend the next few weeks traveling all areas of the state asking every Texan to take his government back, shake the living daylight out of it and make it serve him," Smith said in his statement that was highly critical of Briscoe, who defeated and succeeded him six years ago.

"After that time, I will hold a news conference to discuss the issues - issues that I believe are so glaring that this may be the first Texas gubernatorial campaign run on issues, not jingles or slogans."

"The caretaker governor who has held office for nearly six years has not seen fit to provide or inspire the type of leadership that would move Texas forward," Smith said.

Smith, who served as Texas governor from 1968-1972, cleared the way for a possible governor's race in August when he filed a form with the secretary of state designating himself as his own treasurer in a 1978 political campaign.

Smith finished fourth in the 1972 Democratic primary that Briscoe won. He has been in business in Lubbock since then. Earlier Smith served 14 years as state senator and representative and six years as lieutenant governor.

Smith's statement said that when he left the governorship in 1972, "We had laid the groundwork that would lead to an equitable school finance system, a new property tax structure and a statewide energy policy."

"Personal leadership by the governor's office, an enlightened legislature and meaningful board appointments, combined with citizen effort gave us a jump on the most important decade in the history of Texas."

"Today," Smith said, "after six unproductive years, three legislative sessions, and countless board appointments we still stand at the same crossroad."

Leopold Stokowski Dies

LONDON (AP) - The music world paid tribute today to Leopold Stokowski, the legendary conductor and recording pioneer who molded the Philadelphia Orchestra into one of the world's greatest and helped shape America's musical tastes in the first half of the century.

Stokowski died in his sleep Tuesday at his home in Nether Wallop, a village in Hampshire. His agent in Britain, Marty Wargo, said the 95-year-old conductor "just slipped away" after a career of more than 70 years and 7,000 performances.

Eugene Ormandy, who succeeded Stokowski as conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1936, said his predecessor was "a flamboyant, pioneering genius" who "brought great music to the attention of the general public."

Violinist Isaac Stern said Stokowski "had that rare ability to put his personal stamp on a performance that always is a sign of an original musical mind. He was a very special man, and with him goes a kind of era...the time that the giants walked the earth."

New York Times critic Harold Schonberg said he "had a personal radiance that, in our time, could be matched only by Serge Koussevitzky and Arturo Toscanini." Stokowski gave his music "pure brilliance, with a touch of Lisztian charlatanism, plus a quality of adventure in programming and orchestral textures," he wrote.

Born in London of Polish and Irish parents, Stokowski moved to the United States when he 23 and was naturalized a U.S. citizen 10 years later. After leaving the Philadelphia Symphony, he conducted throughout the Americas and Europe and organized the All-America Youth Orchestra in 1940, the New York City Orchestra in 1944 and the American Symphony Orchestra in 1962.

He introduced to America the works of such 20th Century composers as Mahler, Berg, Stravinsky and Schoenberg. On stage he impressed millions of concert-goers with his white mane of hair and graceful hands that he used instead of a baton.

He appeared in four Hollywood pictures in the 1930s and

'40s and collaborated with Walt Disney in the film classic "Fantasia," which set animated cartoons to classical music and widened the music's popularity.

In Hollywood he established a close friendship with Greta Garbo and for some months the conductor and actress followed each other around Europe. The association did not last long, but Stokowski's marriage - his second, to Evangeline Brewster Johnson - ended in divorce, as did his other two. He also was married to Olga Samaroff, an American pianist and teacher, and heiress Gloria Vanderbilt, when he was 63 and she was 21.

After an elaborate 90th birthday party at New York's Plaza Hotel attended by his three daughters and two sons, Stokowski returned to live in England in 1972.

Legislators Blasted For No Helmet Rule

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - And insurance spokesman says the Texas legislators who voted for repeal of the motorcycle helmet bill can take the blame for an increasing death rate in motorcycle accidents.

Jerry Johns, president of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service, said in a statement Tuesday that the increasing popularity of some Texas motorcyclists not to wear protective headgear "is going to add significantly to the rising death toll on state roads."

"Despite warnings by state law enforcement officials and safety experts some motorcyclists continue to cast caution to the wind and disregard advice which proves that crash helmets can save lives," Johns said.

"The Texas legislature this past session vetoed the law which would require motorcyclists to wear crash helmets and it is those who supported such legislation who can take part of the blame for this increasing death rate."

Johns said those who do not wear protective headgear increase their chances for severe injury and even death by more than 100 per cent.

Controversial Textbooks Okayed By State Group

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - All five high school biology texts submitted by publishers were recommended Tuesday by the State Textbook Committee, which refused to remove a sexually explicit chapter from one of the books.

Klaus Driessen of Arlington moved to instruct American Book Co. to remove the chapter on human sexuality from its "Biology and Its Relation to Mankind." Driessen pointed to such things as mention of sex acts with animals in saying that "the taste leaves something to be desired. That's a chapter that should be in a sex manual, not a biology text."

The committee rejected his motion 9-5. It did vote 9-2 to instruct the publisher to strike a frontal photograph of a nude man afflicted with Klinefelter's syndrome, which is characterized by breast development and undersized sex organs.

Both feminists and persons who have protested textbooks from a "conservative" viewpoint were unhappy with the results of Monday's committee session.

Spanking Issue May Keep Student Out of Classes

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP) - Tamara May's passport back to Mesquite High School is a hardwood paddle and three swats but her mother says the 15-year-old blonde may never return.

Mrs. Ann Torbert said she yanked her daughter out of class last week after the girl called her from an assistant principal's office and said the student dean was planning the corporal punishment because she had been tardy to class three times this school year.

"They told me either I had to have her take the swats or she was out," said Mrs. Torbert. "I told them that under the circumstances I didn't think she should be taking a whipping. It's just not right. Now, they won't let her back in."

"I admit that she may have been wrong in being late, but there are legitimate reasons for that. And four or five minutes isn't going to make that much difference anyway."

Apparently, it does Mesquite school officials. The school board met in closed session Monday but took no action. Further meetings were scheduled Tuesday.

Mesquite School Supt. Dr. Ralph Poteet said district policy leaves punishment up to the individual school principals. Dr. Poteet compared the corporal punishment to a judge's sentence.

"If that person comes to him with the same matter four or five times, that makes him believe what he has done has not been strong enough," said Poteet. "Then, he'll use something stronger. It's up to him."

Mrs. Torbert said her daughter was spanked once already this year. She said the girl received four swats on the second day of school from three high school administrators because she was "unaccounted for" during a 30-minute period.

"These three men told her to put her hands on the desk and they hit her four times," said Mrs. Torbert. "One of the swats was on the leg, and it made a great big blue mark on top of it."

New York Times critic Harold Schonberg said he "had a personal radiance that, in our time, could be matched only by Serge Koussevitzky and Arturo Toscanini." Stokowski gave his

Plane Crash Claims 3

IDABEL, Okla. (AP) - Three persons were killed when a single engine private plane crashed in the Ouchita National Forest late Monday, McCurtain County officials said Tuesday.

Witnesses said the plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, apparently exploded in the air. Parts of the plane fell in a widely scattered area. Bodies of the victims were reported to be up to one-half mile from the wreckage.

Several persons in rural eastern McCurtain County reported hearing a plane sputtering and then a loud explosion as a thunderstorm with frequent lightning moved into southeastern Oklahoma.

The plane reportedly en route from Tyler, Tex., to Oak Grove, Mo., carrying a body for burial. It was registered to East Kansas Aviation, Inc.

Authorities were verifying identities of the victims at midday. They were reported to be two men and a woman.

The crash scene was located about 6:30 a.m. when an area farmer came upon the body of one of the victims. The site is in mostly wooded land near the community of Goodwater, about 13 miles east of Idabel.

Searchers from the McCurtain County Sheriff's office and local Civil Defense had looked for the plane from 9:15 p.m. Monday until about 1 a.m. Tuesday before calling off the search because of intermittent rainfall.

Federal Aviation Administration investigators were expected on the scene later.

Unemployment Rate: Obsolete?

The broad-based U.S. unemployment rate has become an obsolete measure on which to build public policy, according to manpower experts surveyed by The Conference Board. The measure dates back to the 1930s, when the overriding economic problem was unemployment. Today - with unemployment compensation, Social Security and food stamps - it is an unreliable barometer of hardship. The unemployment rate also does not deal with the millions who work full-time at poverty wages or with those who have stopped looking for work.

The first underground nuclear explosion was set off by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in Nevada, Sept. 19, 1957.

She Goes Up In Her Airline Career

NEW YORK (AP) — After moving a nonreturn flight out of the CIA in 1968, Carole J. Dineen landed in the airline business, where her career has steadily gained altitude.

This year, the 35-year-old Mrs. Dineen was named manager of airport operations for TWA at Kennedy Airport here, making her what is believed to be the first woman manager of a major airline facility in the United States.

"I landed at TWA by accident," said the former CIA analyst, who joined the airline as a customer relations representative.

After that she worked as an analyst in reservations, as manager of reservations marketing and as manager of reservations for the New York area.

"I wanted an airport eventually," the pert manager said in an interview. "But this came as a surprise. It was a result of changes made to broaden the experiences of the management staff.

"Also, my boss believes a manager is a manager. Otherwise, I wouldn't be here," added Mrs. Dineen, who said there has been little adverse reaction to having a woman in the job.

From her pleasant wood-paneled office tucked away on the ground level of the terminal, Mrs. Dineen oversees the daily activities of 300 people, an annual budget of $14 million, roughly 40 daily departing flights and an equal number of arrivals, as well as all terminal activities, including the airport ticket office and ramp operations.

She describes her work day, which starts at 8:30 a.m. and runs through 8 p.m. as "fairly frantic." Mrs. Dineen handles paperwork, meetings and management problems until 5 o'clock. Then she begins to move around the terminal, the flight control tower and the ramp, when terminal operations are crunched into one peak time.

"I couldn't stay in here and depend on written reports and hearsay. You have to observe,"
she explains.

Her first day on the job, she recalls, featured a tour of the ramp areas with one of the ter-minal's two nonadministrative operations managers, who jokingly pointed to the walls.

"It seemed that all of the graffiti had suddenly disappeared from the walls for the new manager. But it's reappearing slowly," she confides.

Mrs. Dineen, whose husband is a Manhattan lawyer, was born in Guatemala, lived in Africa and studied Spanish and South American literature at Pembroke College, Brown University.

Her longtime interest in Central America led to her four-year association with the CIA, which she says "sounded fine at first."

"I didn't know it was such a sexist place and that I'd be geonholed careerwise. So I lost interest. I felt that I had lost four years and realized that I'd have to start all over again."

Not long after leaving that job, Mrs. Dineen said, she embraced the women's rights movement and even held office in two such groups here. Eventually she became disenchanted with the movement because
"too many radical elements were allowed to get control."

She feels she's in her metier now and finds management of the terminal "intriguing. JFK is rather a monster because of its size. Orchestrating the operation and getting everything done through others is a tremendous challenge.

"Airport operation is difficult because of the peaking problem. If something falls out of kilter, sometimes you can't recover. When there's a problem it often has a domino effect.
Bad weather or air traffic can stall the entire operation."

Liberty.
