Armour Employees Donate $9,500 to United Way Drive

The employees of Armour Food Company presented the Deaf Smith County United Way a total of approximately $9,500 in cash and pledges.

The donation gives this year's campaign $56,997, 58 percent of its goal of $98,400.

Ninety-five percent of the Armour employees who donated to the United Way campaign did so through payroll deduction. This is the fifth year the employees have used payroll deduction.

Armour's employees gave $12,000 in 1975 and approximately $14,000 last year.

Drive co-chairman at Armour this year were Henry Galvan, a union steward in the slaughtering department, and Ron House, traffic manager.

"The volunteer time they had to spend outside company time on this drive is greatly appreciated," said David Pruitt, UW president.

"It's not only appreciated by the United Way but by all the kids and recipients of this year's money."

"We're very appreciative of those at Armour who have contributed to the needs of our community. We feel like the employees of Armour have led the way in past years and continue to do it this year."

Pruitt said he hopes the Armour personnel will set a community example.

"Employee contributions will have to be the backbone of our drive in future years for it to be successful."

The Armour employee total represents approximately 17 percent of the amount thus far collected.

The Armour work force is approximately 470.

With a work force of approximately 470, the average per capita gift at Armour was slightly more than $20.

The United Way drive, expected to wind up by the end of next week, hopes to get another late boost Saturday when it sponsors a garage sale with seven participating agencies selling goods at Pratt Chevrolet-Olds.

The sale will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at the automobile dealership, 615 N. 25 Mile Ave.

Participating agencies are Family Services Center, Senior Citizens, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Deaf Smith County Kid's Inc. and Big Brothers-Big Sisters.

All the money raised by an agency will be credited specifically to that agency's budget.

Smokeout Participants Encounter Rough Going

By The Associated Press

They chewed gum, nibbled popcorn and sucked on lemon drops. Anything in place of a cigarette. They had promised to give up smoking for 24 hours. Some of them made it and some of them didn't.

Thursday was the "Great American Smokeout," sponsored by the American Cancer Society which hoped to convince 10 million of the nation's 54 million smokers to give up puffing for a day.

There were no figures available on how many people tried or how many succeeded. But an Associated Press spot check showed a variety of efforts.

More than 700 employees at the Mutual of Omaha office in Omaha signed "I Quit" pledges and the workers set up a "crisis center," stocked with chewing gum and lemon drops to help. "What was it like?" "Desperate," said Lela Hairston, one of the volunteers.

In an Atlanta employment agency, 14 people promised to give up cigarettes. By the end of the day, four were still not smoking. A big bag of popcorn helped the successful quartet.

Mayor Francis Koenig of Kingston, N.Y., switched to Lifesavers for the day, according to his secretary, June Diamond, who joined her boss in the anti-smoking effort. Other employees checked up on her progress.

Davis Innocent Of Killing Wilborn

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Millionaire Cullen Davis, the richest man ever to stand trial in Texas for capital murder, turned his attention today to his business empire and a holiday skiing trip to Aspen, Colo., after being acquitted Thursday.

"I can't explain how it feels, it feels good," said the jubilant Fort Worth tycoon at a victory party attended by his high-priced defense team, State District Judge George Dowlen and a member of the jury that found him innocent.

Davis, 44, an industrialist whose empire is estimated at more than $150 million, was found innocent Thursday of killing his young stepdaughter during an August 1976 shooting spree in which two were killed and two others wounded at his $6 million mansion.

The nine-man, three-women jury, some of whom had been sequestered for more than four months, deliberated four hours and seven minutes before returning the verdict.

At least two jurors later were reluctant to flatly state they believed Davis was innocent of the killings. "I have in my mind that he possibly could have done it," said juror Jim Watkins. "But there were other things in my mind that said somebody else could have."

"Cullen, I love you," sobbed Davis' girlfriend Karen Master as she embraced him seconds after Dowlen read the verdict: "Not guilty."

Davis smiled. He was then escorted out of the courtroom by a deputy sheriff.

This ended the longest murder trial in Texas history, a legal drama dating back to June 27 that included bizarre testimony of sex, drugs and death in the midst of wealth.

"I've been fighting this thing for 15 months, I didn't know it felt so good," said the dark-haired Davis. "I can't think of anything except it's a relief of a tremendous burden."

"I guess there will always be people who think I did it...I know I didn't do it," said Davis, who still faces other charges stemming from the savage shootings.

Davis, freed on bond Thursday after more than 14 months in jail, said he was the victim of a conspiracy to frame him, adding that he "probably" knows the identity of the gunman. "I would not supply anybody the name of the killer," he said. "Let them prosecutors find out who it is."

In finding Davis innocent, the jury spurned the testimony of three key state witnesses who identified Davis as the "gunman in black" who invaded his lavish hilltop mansion the night of Aug. 2, 1976 and triggered the midnight shooting rampage.

Dead were Davis' stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn, 12, and Stan Farr, 30, live-in lover of Davis' estranged wife Priscilla. Mrs. Davis and a chance visitor to the mansion, Gus Gavrel Jr., 22, were wounded. Gavrel's girlfriend, Beverly Bass, 19, escaped unharmed.

There were no witnesses to the shooting of the young girl, but the state linked bullets used to kill Farr to those that caused Andrea's death and coupled that circumstantial evidence with the testimony of Mrs. Davis, Gavrel and Miss Bass who said it was Davis who shot at them and Farr.

If he had been convicted, Davis could have been sentenced to death.

Reached at the sprawling mansion, where she has lived since the divorce proceedings began three years ago, Mrs. Davis went into stunned silence after being told of the verdict. Then she sobbed: "I don't know except that he is guilty. But he can't hurt me any more. He'll have to answer to God and that's

Egyptians Pave Way for Leader

JERUSALEM (AP) - Greeted by wild applause from Israelis, 60 Egyptian officials and security men arrived in Israel today to prepare the way for President Anwar Sadat's historic trip.

But in most of the Arab world opposition boiled up against the first-ever visit by an Arab leader to the Jewish state.

In Washington, President Carter said he spoke with Sadat by phone and found the Egyptian leader "very excited, enthusiastic and confident. He hopes his visit will be successful in breaking down the animosities in the Middle East," Carter said.

Hassan Kemal, Sadat's office director and leader of the advance party, emerged from the government plane at Ben-Gurion Airport, 30 miles west of Jerusalem, and said in Arabic: "We are very happy to be here, and especially at the welcome accorded our Egyptian plane."

"We left Egypt with a prayer in our heart and faith in Allah, and we shall have faith because our intentions are pure and we do want peace."

About 100 Israeli airport workers broke into applause and several Israelis had to be restrained from rushing up the ramp to greet the visitors.

The motorcade route to Jerusalem, 30 miles away, was lined with Israelis, some waving copies of the Maariv newspaper with bold red headlines in Arabic and Hebrew reading "Welcome President Assad."

In Ismailia, Egypt, Sadat prayed for peace within 12 miles of Israeli front lines. "God go with you," the congregation chanted in a mosque on the bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli government announced that Sadat's itinerary will include a visit to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the traditional site of Christ's tomb, and a tour of Yad Vashem, the national monument to victims of the Nazi holocaust.

Sadat will visit the church Sunday after worshipping at the Al Asqa mosque, East Jerusalem's hallowed Moslem shrine a few hundred yards from the church. The Egyptian leader's guide at Yad Vashem will be Prime Minister Menahem Begin.

In Kuwait, the radical Arab newspaper Al Watan quoted Ismail Fahmy, who resigned Thursday as Sadat's foreign minister, saying that he quit because he failed to convince Sadat to cancel the Israeli trip.

Elsewhere in the Arab world, Iraq and radical Palestinian guerrillas called Sadat a traitor. Libya threatened to break off relations with Egypt, Syria called for a united front against Egypt.

To the militant Arabs, Sadat's voyage is a violation of Arab solidarity and recognition of the common enemy.

An explosion went off before dawn near the offices of an Egyptian airline in downtown Beirut, wrecking an outer door and smashing windows. On Thursday, a bomb ripped the garage of the Egyptian embassy in Damascus.

World comment on Sadat's visit ranged from "daring" and "positive" to "unforgivable."

The arrival of the Egyptian advance party was broadcast live on Israeli television. They were greeted by Kemal's Israeli counterpart, Eliahu ben-Ellisar, and Ephraim Evron, Foreign Ministry director-general.

"You can't imagine how happy the Egyptian people are," one of the Egyptians told a reporter.

Meanwhile, Israeli radio's Arabic language service said it was devoting its programming to Egyptian music in honor of Sadat's coming visit and broadcast the hit tunes "You Are Dearer Than My

Andrews Named Top Realtor, Installed as Board President

By O.G. NIEMAN

Mark Andrews drew top recognition during the annual Hereford Board of Realtors banquet Thursday night as he was named "Realtor of the Year" after also being installed as the organization's new president.

Andrews, associated with Property Enterprises, is a relative newcomer to the profession. Past president Don Tardy outlined the guidelines in the selection of the "Realtor of the Year" before presenting a special plaque to Andrews.

Other highlights of the annual installation banquet included the principal address by Dan Baker, a professional motivational speaker from San Antonio; presentation of special awards by Gene Campbell; and the installation ceremony conducted by Ted Schuler, a regional vice president from Amarillo.

Campbell presented the special president's plaque to Tardy and recognized affiliate members at the banquet. Betty Gilbert and Ruth Long, along with their assistants, were cited for banquet arrangements.

Tardy presented a special award to Neil Cooper for his work as TREPAC chairman the past year. Cooper helped bring the Hereford board from 16th place in the state to 1st in its group for participation in the Texas Real Estate Action Committee. Tardy also presented a plaque for "outstanding service" to outgoing secretary Linda Warrick.

Baker, the featured speaker, told his audience that "Realtors are attitude people, and that's what it's all about." He said too many people "think that all the good things of life are locked up, that they are not good enough themselves and must imitate others."

The former Methodist minister said there is "A danger of too many people aiming too low and hitting the mark." He urged everyone to aim high. "It's not what your problems are, it's what you do about them."

Baker claimed there "is a real need for many people to renegotiate their lives... to take what they love most, place it in the center of their life and plug everything else into it. We're created to win, but many times were conditioned to fail."

The speaker, who conducted a sales seminar earlier in the day, emphasized that each person must direct his life and give it meaning and purpose. "We are all precious individuals; we're the real thing and God don't make no junk."

If a person looks down on himself, the speaker urged that individual to "let the Master tune the strings and you'll start producing beautiful music."

Besides Andrews, the new officers of the board include James Self, vice president; Nancy Moore, secretary-treasurer; Gene Campbell, multiple listing chairman; and directors Lynn Jones, Neil Cooper and Tardy.

Andrews served as vice president the past year, while Linda Warrick was secretary-treasurer, Campbell was the MLS chairman; and Cooper, Marie Griffin and Jeanne Coker were directors.

Conferees Progressing Toward Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional conferees are making progress toward a compromise energy bill, but the pace is so slow that doubts are being raised over whether the task can be finished this year.

"At the rate we're going, we'll be lucky to get natural gas resolved by Christmas," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., leader of the Senate conferees.

The administration has placed a major emphasis on getting a bill this year. President Carter has said the reputation of his first year's domestic program hinges on what Congress does with energy.

Johnston acknowledged the possibility that Congress may not finish work on energy until next year. "There's no particular magic in Dec. 31 versus Jan. 1, although we still hope to finish this year," he said.

Some of the biggest differences between the two chambers — including natural gas price regulation and energy taxes — have yet to be dealt with.

Potter County Sheriff Indicted for Misuse

AMARILLO Tex. (AP) — Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker has been indicted for allegedly missing county-owned equipment. The grand jury Thursday also indicted Capt. Don C. Smith of the Sheriff's Department on charges he sexually abused a male inmate at the Potter County Correctional Facility.

Baker was also indicted on misdemeanor charges stemming from the alleged improper use of a county-owned air compressor.

Both men were arraigned by State District Judge Bryan Poff who set two $5,000 bonds for Baker and a $5,000 bond for Smith.

38 Suspects Arrested In Drug Ring Bust

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Federal authorities say they have smashed a 4-year-old marijuana smuggling ring whose members allegedly flew the drug from Mexico through Texas to California and Michigan.

The ring's operations have been stopped as a result of five sealed indictments returned by a federal grand jury here. The indictments were unsealed Thursday.

Two Waco men were named as the alleged directors of the operation. Both remained at large late Thursday.

Authorities said they had arrested 38 of the 50 alleged conspirators involved in the ring and more arrested were expected.

Federal and state narcotics agents fanned out across Texas early Wednesday, with the indictments still sealed, and began making arrests.

Town To Protest HEW Proposals

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas (AP) — Some 800 residents of this Northeast

Texas town have agreed to launch a letter-writing campaign protesting Department of Health, Education and Welfare guidelines that would do away with obstetrics programs in small hospitals.

The proposed regulations, aimed at reducing medical costs, would eliminate obstetrics in rural hospitals that do not deliver 500 babies a year and metropolitan hospitals that do not deliver 2,000 infants a year.

Local residents met with officials from Titus County Memorial Hospital here Thursday.

The guidelines will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1978, pending public reaction.

"We are just completing a new 96-bed hospital," Memorial Hospital administrator Sam Raney said. "If the new guidelines go into effect we will be allowed to utilize only 76 of those beds."

The local hospital delivers almost 500 babies per year.

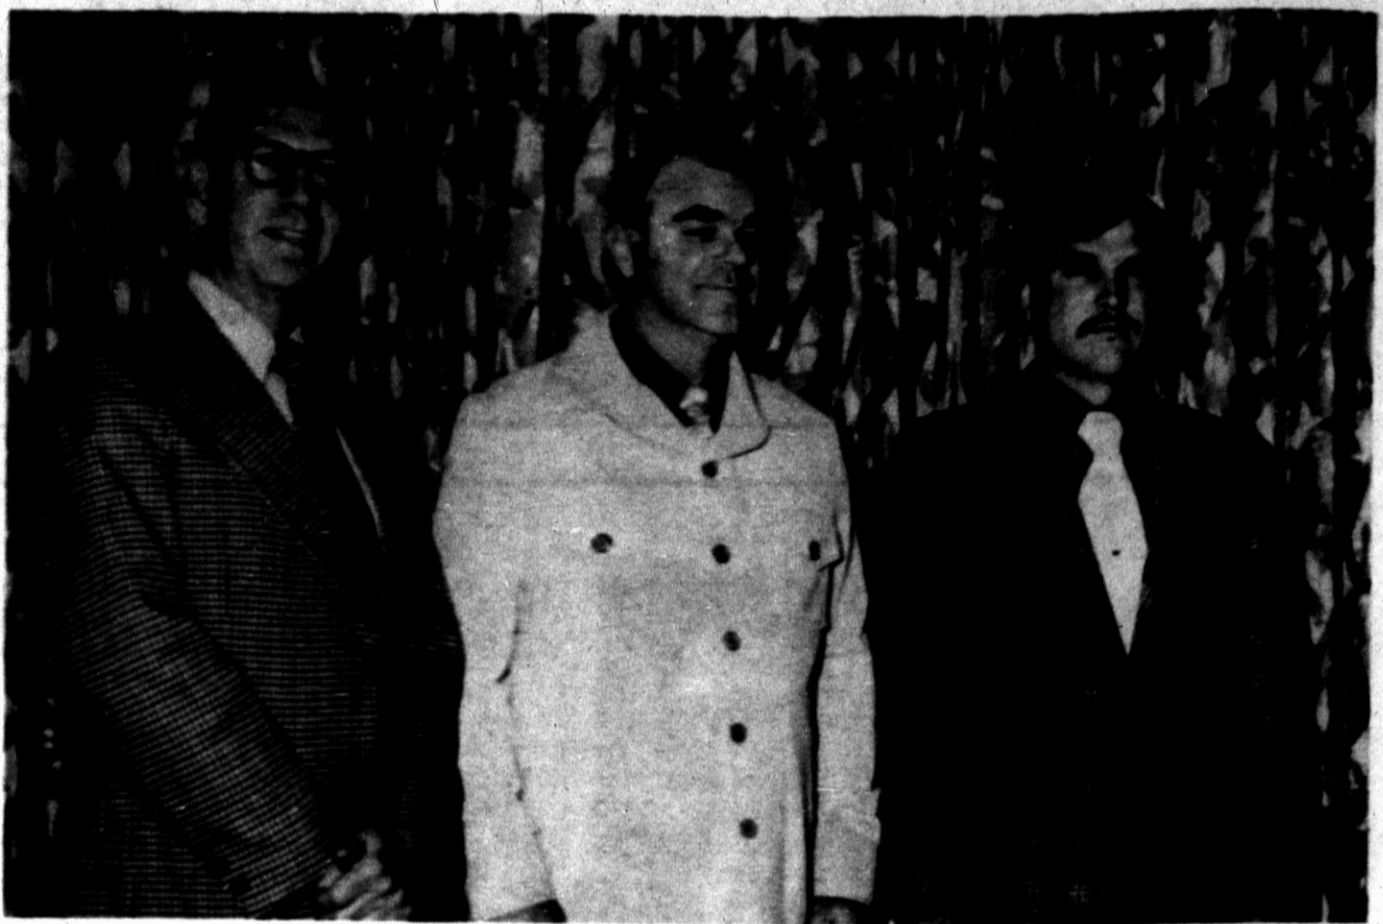

Police Report

Dennis Hicks, 105 N. Douglas, told police Thursday that somebody removed $100 worth of tools from the back of his pickup while it was parked at Bowling's Bowl Wednesday night.

Cherry Dreyer, 918 S. Julian, reported Thursday that the windows in her car were broken Wednesday night.

Weather

West Texas: Fair and warmer most sections tonight becoming partly cloudy Saturday. Windy north Saturday. Highs Saturday lower 60s north to mid 70s south except mid 80s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight near 40 north to mid 50s south except mid 30s mountains.

Government Loafers Dug In

Loafers on the federal government payroll are really dug in.

They almost "can't be fired."

Chairman Alan Campbell of the Civil Service Commission says that if you try to fire a goldbricking federal worker he's likely to take you to court charging "discrimination."

What I am about to relate would be painful for hard-working, wage-earning, dues-paying Americans in and out of government, except for the fact that excesses — all kinds — ultimately are their own undoing.

The news media is now turning its attention from errant government leaders and is beginning to turn the lights on in places where lower echelon bureaucrats have been playing you for a sucker.

Within a month, both U.S. News & World Report and the Wall Street Journal spotlighted this scandal.

An economist in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was discovered with his feet on his desk and was called on the carpet.

The economist blandly admitted that he was doing nothing for the taxpayers who are paying him. He spends his time writing articles for magazines on a free-lance basis for which he collects additional money — beyond the $25,000 a year which you are paying him.

But he dares anybody to try to fire him.

Arrogantly he told one official, "I've outlasted a lot of you guys. I'll still be here when you are gone; you'll see."

President Carter wants to do something about it.

He has proposed a wholesale shifting of the 2.8 million federal workers to eliminate duplication and to make the best use of their talents.

But tangled Civil Service regulations make it almost impossible to reassign any worker according to his talent.

Civil Service regulations now fill 21 volumes, some of them five feet thick. Promotions and merit pay raises have become almost automatic, whether deserved or not.

The result is a Frankenstein monster beyond anyone's control — including the President's.

Julie Sugarman, who writes Civil Service regulations, concedes that "the system must be simplified."

But underlying these regulations are 400 laws enacted by Congress plus an unknown number of executive orders — perhaps 600 — and federal workers unions are easily able to intimidate the Congress.

Some experienced government managers are able to get rid of morale-shattering goldbricks by shunting them off to the "turkey farm." That means to some out-of-the-way assignment where incompetents are out of sight and can do minimal damage.

Yet wherever — they continue to collect their more-than-comfortable pay averaging more than $15,000 a year.

The White House and Civil Service Commission are considering ways of overhauling the system, but it is going to take an angry electorate to get Congress to cooperate.

The Abundant Life

WELL-DOING

BY BOB WEAR

WELL-DOING IS the way to well-being and to becoming well-beloved. None of us are naive enough to think that everybody is consciously engaged in well-doing. We must not, however, overlook the fact that many people do devote themselves and what they have to well-doing. We are thankful for these people, and for what they do. Their lives shed forth the light that shines in the darkness, and their behavior is a source of encouragement and produces the power for human uplifting.

THE BENEFITS DERIVED FROM well-doing are many, and touch the lives of many people. This is, and has always been, one of the hopeful and helpful parts of the total human experience. This life pattern becomes more noteworthy when we realize that the best rewards go to the persons who perform good work.

THERE IS NOTHING BETTER than doing the best we can with what we have, and doing all of the good we can to all of the people we can.

OUR CAPACITY FOR WELL-DOING increases through usage. We can see more to do that is helpful and constructive; we grow stronger by exercise; and we develop a type of skill that we never expected to have. We become wise in what we do, so that our well-doing is "well done." This includes both our personal behavior, and the good we do for others.

THIS WELL-DOING has none of the elements of being a busybody, or the undesirable and harmful spirit of the "do-gooders." It includes the understanding and interesting which enables us to perform with the good taste necessary to make "what we do" most acceptable, because of "the way we do it."

MOST OF US, perhaps all of us, can learn to use ourselves and what we have in the kind of well-doing that will be a blessing to us, and to many, many other people.

LACK OF APPRECIATION is probably the most common cause of discouragement to the people who are interested in well-doing. Many persons who make a good beginning, and continue, with enthusiasm for a while, grow weary. Of course, there are many different causes; but the lack of appreciation is probably the greatest deterrent.

WHAT IS THE SOLUTION? It is obvious. We must continue in well-doing as a preferred way of life, and not because others appreciate it. There will be some appreciation.

Mother Charged In Killing

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas woman, who reportedly often told her children "they were keeping her from the life she really wanted to lead," has been charged with murder in the slaying of her 9-year-old daughter.

Carrie Christine Marsh was charged Wednesday after three hours of questioning by Dallas police.

Barbara Sue Marsh disappeared Friday night from her East Dallas home and her body was found Saturday morning floating in Lake Ray Hubbard.

She was being held on $100,000 bond after Justice of the Peace Tom Naylor signed an arrest warrant alleging Mrs. Marsh "unknowingly and intentionally" caused the girl's death "striking her with a blunt instrument."

Betty Latham, Mrs. Marsh's 20-year-old daughter, said the woman often told her children they were keeping her from leading the life she wanted.

Police said the slaying apparently followed a mother-daughter argument that may have been promoted by an ultimatum from Mrs. Marsh's boyfriend, told her to choose between the child and him.

Army Cpl. Davis Eugene Latham, Mrs. Marsh's brother-in-law, said the woman mentioned the boyfriend to her landlord about a week ago and said he "wouldn't marry her because of Barbara."

Police said Mrs. Marsh's story about the child's disappearance included "inconsistencies" that made her a suspect.

ARGENTINIAN TRADE BUENOS AIRES (AP) —

With exports totaling $2.35 billion for the first five months of 1977, or 75 percent more than for the same period last year, Argentina showed a favorable trade balance of $800 million, reported the Secretariat for Foreign Trade. While all export sectors registered gains, the Secretariat noted that manufactured goods were up 40.6 percent over the same five-month period of 1976.

WIFE Group Will Meet Monday

The Hereford WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics) chapter will meet Monday night at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Flame Room.

Members will hear a presentation on food stamps, including details on who is eligible for the food stamp program.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. and is open to all interested individuals.

Representatives from the local chapter were among those who attended a recent meeting of Texas WIFE chapters in Amarillo.

Deaf Smith County association members Wilma Alfred, Beverly Hammond and Helen Rose were among delegates helping to make plans for a state convention, to be held early in 1978.

WIFE members also considered a constitution and by-laws, resolutions and nominations necessary to set up a state association during the recent meeting.

Davis

one that can't be bought. Farr's older sister Linda Arnold, who heard the verdict on her car radio, bitterly said "What can you say? Money talks. It bought a lot of lies."

Davis' crafty defense team had aimed its guns at the credibility of the prosecution's witnesses, especially Mrs. Davis. Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes grilled Mrs. Davis about her lovers and parties at the hilltop mansion where, according to testimony, drugs and sex were easily available.

Apparently it succeeded. Juror Marilyn Haessly said the reasonable doubt factor figured in her decision to vote for acquittal and added that witness Priscilla Davis was only "partially convincing."

Jury foreman Gilbert Kennedy Jr. agreed. "There were so many untruths uncovered in her testimony I think that's what it was."

On the last day of the testimony, the defense presented a witness who said he saw a man enter the mansion shortly before the shootings and the man was not Cullen Davis. The witness was a florist who said he had planned to enter the mansion to recover plants for which he had been unable to collect from Mrs.

Davis. The prosecution based its case on circumstantial evidence because no one but the killer saw Andrea Wilborn die. Prosecutor Joe Shannon told newsmen after the trial.

"Win some, lose some. The jury has spoken. It called it like it saw it. You can't hardly criticize the system. We gave it everything we had. We have nothing to apologize for."

One of the jurors said the panel took only two votes, even though it had been sequestered for more than four months. The first, said Bettie Blair, a 50-year-old clerk typist, was 10-2 for acquittal. She said they could not establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Judge Dowlen praised both sides and said the state could not have assembled a more competent team of prosecutors. He also congratulated Haynes and his colleague Phil Burleson and said "they deserve their tremendous reputations. They are undoubtedly two of the best attorneys in the state, if not the country."

They also are among the state's highest-priced legal talents. Their fee for defending Davis was never disclosed, but it is known that Haynes would collect at least $1 million.

"It's kind of hard to compare one case to another," Haynes said amid a sea of congratulatory embraces. "But when you stand there and hear that verdict, well there is no two greater words in the world."

Not have diplomatic relations. A party of 60 Egyptian officials and security experts was to arrive in Israel today to prepare the ground for the first-ever visit by an Arab leader to the Jewish state. Security authorities faced numerous problems, the worst being Sadat's plan to pray Sunday at Jerusalem's Al Aqsa mosque, where Jordan's King Abdullah was killed in 1961 by a Palestinian extremist because he accepted Israel's right to exist.

Sadat had not been expected before Nov. 24, and preparations for the visit became almost frenzied.

Sadat is expected to repeat to the Knesset the standard Arab positions of insistence on a Palestinian homeland and Israeli withdrawal from lands occupied in 1967, demands Israel rejects.

Nonetheless, Begin hailed the 36-hour visit as the possible beginning of a "dialogue" that might include a later trip by Begin to Cairo.

A White House spokesman said Begin telephoned President Carter on Thursday and thanked the president, saying "none of this could have happened" without Cartier's efforts during the year to promote a Middle East settlement. But Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, Sadat's top foreign policy adviser since the 1973 Middle East war and a hardliner toward Israel, resigned as soon as Sadat returned Thursday from a trip to Syria.

Egypt's No. 2 ranking diplomat, Mohammed Riad, was named to succeed Fahmy, but hours later he too resigned. Sadat then named Boutros Boutros Ghali, a Coptic Christian whose wife is of Jewish descent.

Protests streamed in from other Arab nations and the Palestine Liberation Organization. PLO chief Yasser Arafat urged Sadat to cancel the trip and Syrian President Hafez Assad, with whom Sadat talked in Damascus Wednesday and Thursday, said he felt "deep sorrow" over his failure to dissuade Sadat from going.

Later, two bombs exploded outside the Egyptian embassy in Damascus. No casualties were reported. The Syrian government condemned the bombing.

Children Hurt In Bus Wreck

BROWNSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Forty children were treated for injuries Thursday morning after the school bus they were riding overturned in this East Texas town.

Brownsboro Independent School District officials said the bus apparently failed as the bus approached U.S. Highway 31 on FM 304, and the driver turned onto a side road to avoid a possible collision on the highway. But the driver, identified as M.C. Moore, was unable to slow the bus enough to make a sharp turn in the side road, and the bus flipped over.

Spokesmen for hospitals in Tyler and Athens where the children were taken said most suffered from broken bones, cuts and fright. Saunders said the bus was carrying about 46 elementary and high school children.

He said school district officials were conducting an investigation to determine why the brakes failed.

Cartier's efforts during the year to promote a Middle East settlement. But Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, Sadat's top foreign policy adviser since the 1973 Middle East war and a hardliner toward Israel, resigned as soon as Sadat returned Thursday from a trip to Syria.

Egypt's No. 2 ranking diplomat, Mohammed Riad, was named to succeed Fahmy, but hours later he too resigned. Sadat then named Boutros Boutros Ghali, a Coptic Christian whose wife is of Jewish descent.

Protests streamed in from other Arab nations and the Palestine Liberation Organization. PLO chief Yasser Arafat urged Sadat to cancel the trip and Syrian President Hafez Assad, with whom Sadat talked in Damascus Wednesday and Thursday, said he felt "deep sorrow" over his failure to dissuade Sadat from going.

Later, two bombs exploded outside the Egyptian embassy in Damascus. No casualties were reported. The Syrian government condemned the bombing.

Among them was the story of Jack Hartman who stopped because of a football game. There were 36 seconds left in the game and Stanford trailed Berkeley by a point. Hartman made his vow: he would quit a pack-a-day habit if Stanford won. It's been three years since Hartman has smoked, thanks to a 50-yard field goal.

Mrs. Brown Honored

Mrs. Tommy Brown was honored with a pink and blue layette shower held in the Fellowship Hall of Rosedale Baptist Church, last week.

Hostesses for the social event were Marilee Osborn, Ruth Ridley, Opal Potts, Kate Sorensen and Joyce Clymer.

The entertaining hall was decorated with colors of pink, white and blue. The serving table was laid with a white cloth and centerpiece was a large white tissue-paper stork wearing dark rim glasses and holding a baby rattle in his bill. Strawberry float punch was ladled from a crystal bowl, served with assorted cookies, mixed nuts and colored mints to 18 guests.

The gift table was laid with a white cloth and the centerpiece was a white lamb vase holding an arrangement of pink rose buds.

The honored guest and her mother Mrs. Carl A. Kleuskens of Hereford and mother-in-law Mrs. Eldred Brown were seated at the gift table.

Mrs. Eldred Brown registered the guests and gifts in a white baby book, while Mrs. Kleuskens assisted her daughter in opening her gifts.

Rosalie Colwell of Hereford, aunt of the honoree, also attended the shower.

Martha Bridges was hostess to Mrs. Walker, Rosie Tohm, Bell Reid, Louella Manning and Mrs. Rettman.

Flowers and cards were sent to those Elks and Elkettes who were on the sick list.

Karrol Rettman was present to claim the door prize Wednesday night, when her name was drawn.

Ann Landers Nueretic Pack Rat

DEAR ANN: What would you do with a mother who is a compulsive pack rat? Since I was born 18 years ago, I have never known the woman to throw away anything. This goes for newspapers, magazines, clothes, jars, boxes, ribbon, used gift wrappings -- just name it and she's got it -- stacked all over the place. I am ashamed to have anyone over. The sight of all the garbage is revolting. I would like your opinion of how to cure my mother of this habit.

way. Any individual who takes it upon herself to throw out a pack rat's "prized possessions" takes his life in his hands.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend is 19 years old. We get along just fine except for one thing -- he is an alcoholic.

Visitors Welcomed By HD Club

Norwegian Christmas customs were described for members of Cultural Home Demonstration Club Thursday morning by two guests in the home of Mrs. M.W. Sumner.

The visitors were Mrs. Kenneth Ison and her mother-in-law, Mrs. William Ison of Brooks, Alberta in Canada.

The ten members present answered roll call with "Holiday Traditions Observed in My Family." Mrs. Sumner presided during the business.

Mrs. M.H. Wiseman gave a brief thought for the day.

County extension agent Joyce Sapp brought the program on making Christmas articles for gifts or decoration.

The club's next meeting will be a Christmas luncheon on Dec. 9 at the REC Medallion Room.

Other members in attendance included Mrs. J.G. Gandy, Tom Hargrave, Grady Parsons, Howard Hershey, Paul Orbett, Ada Hauser, John Miller, Myna Mae Love and an associate member, Mrs. Pat Robinson.

A bottle of drinking water got cold in the refrigerator so Mrs. Sapp ran the tap to get cold water.

Family, Prayer Day Declared Saturday

Mayor W. B. Dowell has proclaimed Saturday, Nov. 19 as Family and Prayer Day in Hereford and urges all citizens to recognize the importance of the family unit.

The proclamation was signed Wednesday in the presence of a number of individuals, including several ministers.

By signing the proclamation, Mayor Dowell supported the following beliefs:

WHEREAS the family is the basic unit of society and the foundation of civilization, and WHEREAS a society composed of strong families is fortified to combat destructive forces which would otherwise undermine individuals and nations, and

WHEREAS an individual's character and foundation for useful and happy living are determined primarily by influences within the home.

NOW THEREFORE I do hereby proclaim Nov. 19, 1977 as Family and Prayer Day and urge all citizens to recognize the ties within their own families on this day and in the years to come.

The Wonderful World of Children

Piercing brown eyes star from under disheveled dark hair with a definite look of curiosity. Not many women strike up conversations with children who run headlong into them. The young boy smiles, ducks his head and scurries away.

"You must have a cold," the blond-haired 7 yr. old boy states sympathetically.

"Gosh, I hope not but it sure sounds that way, doesn't it," I respond. This dialogue was precipitated by a violent sneezing spell.

Children respond to adults as well as other children. Their curiosity is probably greater when they encounter an unfamiliar grown-up who considers them with respect and eagerness.

Try it! It's a wonderful world that of children.....be thankful we're still welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morris and son Wade of Higgins, arrived Friday to help their ranch foreman Ernest Riley and family with their fall cattle roundup at the ranch this weekend. The Morris family were guests in the Riley home until Sunday afternoon.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutchins included their daughter Linda Marshall and son James Glen of Portales, N.M., on Saturday.

Visiting Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Steven Reed and sons Brandon and Marcus of Clovis.

The group also visited in the home of their brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hutchins and daughters Karla Jo and Jeanie.

Sunday afternoon Steven Reed and Lyle Hutchins killed a 5 1/2 ft. rattlesnake with ten rattlers at the caprock area. The week before C.L. Hutchins and his brother-in-law Garry Reese of Hayward, Calif., killed two rattlesnakes on the Hutchins' state-line farm and the same day went rattlesnake hunting at the Lester Mulhair Caprock area and killed another large snake. With unusually warm weather in this area, the rattlesnakes have not yet hibernated for the winter. Local residents are urged to watch for snakes.

A correction: Lester Mulhair who has been hospitalized in Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque, N.M. for the past ten days did not have pneumonia as formerly stated. Mulhair suffered heart failure and was rushed by ambulance to the hospital under oxygen in serious condition. He was in the intensive care unit for 5 days. He would appreciate receiving cards and letters from his friends.

Mr. Bob Moelius was hostess Friday afternoon to members of the Messenger Home Demonstration Club for their regular monthly meeting in the Garcia Community Building.

Mrs. Moelius, president, was in charge of the business meeting and roll call was answered by eight members relating "Holiday Traditions Observed in My Home."

November 21 is the date of the annual Thanksgiving family dinner at the club building 6:30 p.m. Central Time. Mrs. Bill Page and Mrs. Bobby Hammock will prepare the turkey and dressing furnished by the club treasurer while each family will bring a vegetable and dessert dish to compliment the meal.

Election of officers for 1978 was held with the following members elected: Mrs. S.N. Thweatt — president; Mrs. Joe Burnett — vice-president; Mrs. Bobby Hammock — secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Gene Bradley — club reporter. The president will appoint various committees at a future meeting to serve.

The program for the afternoon was presented by Mrs. Moelius, showing an assortment of Christmas crafts, which she had made.

Following the meeting, visitation and refreshments were enjoyed with the hostess serving lemon pound cake and fruit punch.

A large number of local residents have gone deer hunting in New Mexico this past week. The only report of bagging a deer was Jimmy Lambert, who lives on the State-Line road.

Opal Moore returned last week from a fall vacation to points in Missouri, visiting with relatives and friends. She reported the autumn colors were beautiful this time of year.

Thanksgiving will be observed Sunday (Nov. 20) 7 p.m. with a joint meeting of the Broadview Church of Christ, Broadview Church of Nazarene and the Rosedale Baptist Church; with the Broadview Church of Nazarene as host. Rev. Francis Hoagland, pastor gives a cordial welcome to all residents to come and worship in this special Thanksgiving service. Rev. Hoagland will be bringing the Thanksgiving message.

Members of the Broadview Church of Christ will be in charge of the meal.

The term "ballad" originated in medieval England. Although the word is currently used to denote romantic and often sentimental narrative songs, the first ballads were dancing songs.

FAITH MUST REMAIN FIRM IN THE FACE OF MISFORTUNE

We all have times when things go wrong,
And Fortune's in reverse;
Yet we're expected to be strong,
Though things could not get worse...
A strength of which the Scriptures name
Examples plain to see:
Like Job, whose faith remained the same
Throughout adversity.
So why not go to Church this week,
Whichever one you choose,
And listen to the Bible speak;
There's not a thing to lose!
Then, what those passages command
You'll follow to the letter;
And let God take your life in hand,
To change it for the better! —Gloria Nowak

"The spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life."
—Job 33:4

I show you doubt, to prove that faith exists.

Tascosa Height Too Much

Rebels Squash Whitefaces 69-53

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The Tascosa Rebels used a definite height advantage and the hot hand of 6-0 Kevin Carter early in the game to hand the Hereford Whitefaces a crushing 69-53 defeat Thursday night and spoil the debut of new Herd head coach Bobby Decker along the way.

Tascosa outmatched the Herd across the board in height, and opened up a 23-10 lead over the 'Faces after one period as Carter burned the net for 12 first-period points.

"It's just going to be a matter of time before we get it together," an almost shell-shocked Decker said following the game. "With a lot of our kids just off the football field we still need a lot of work."

The Rebels made the game a virtual embarrassment in the second and third periods racing to a 41-19 halftime lead and a 56-29 bulge after three periods. The lead grew to 30 points at 62-32 early in the final stanza before things finally started clicking for the Herd.

Hereford's man of experience, guard Kelly Kitchens, finally got warmed up, contributing 15 of his 19 points in the final two periods, and the 'Faces put forth a late surge that had spectators remembering the sharp, speedy team of last season.

David Schumacher made it 62-34 with a pair of free tosses with 5:44 left in the game, and Kitchens exploded for seven points within 60 seconds to pull the Herd to 64-41.

The All-District performer then took to the passing part of his game, feeding his teammates, who had suddenly found the range themselves. Schumacher hit two buckets, then David Arney took his turn with a pair of baskets, and Robert Graves capped the surge with a bucket to make it a 65-51 ballgame.

"I was really pleased with the way we finished up in the fourth period," Decker said. "I expect us to play like that from the start pretty soon."

While the Herd got going in the late stages of the game, they were swamped on the boards early as Schumacher got into foul trouble from the outset. The 6-3 senior post picked up his third foul of the game with 1:05 left in the opening period and was removed from the lineup.

"David was a little nervous out there tonight," Decker said of Schumacher. "He had been looking forward to the start of the year a lot, and he just got a little slap happy."

The Rebels wound up with an advantage in shooting percentage, hitting 30 of 57 attempts for 53 percent. Hereford canned only 22 of 64 tries for 35 percent. Both teams went 50 percent from the foul stripe with identical nine of 18 performances.

Carter wound up the game's leading scorer with 20 points, while Kitchens led the Herd with 19. David Moss added 14 points to Tascosa's total, while Larry Broger chipped in 10 more.

Graves backed up Kitchens with 11 points after coming off the bench, and Schumacher and Arney each added eight points to the Herd total.

The Whitefaces take a day off today before traveling to Canyon to meet the Eagles Saturday night.

While the HHS varsity had its problems the Herd junior varsity grabbed a 50-31 win in their opener against the Rebels. Reid Herring led the way with 18 points, while Joe Walker scored eight and Steve Cerda six. Marcus Mack led the Rebel

JV with seven points. "I was impressed with the way we got after them," HHS JV coach Mickey Miller said following his game. "We played good defense, and worked our plays a lot better offensively than I thought we would."

Hereford's David Schumacher may not have blocked this shot by Tascosa's Kevin Carter [45], but the Tascosa star may have thought better about shooting over the 6-3 Herd Postman the next time. AP Pro Picks

Steeler Defense Will Offset Tony Dorsett

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It's as though a Hollywood script writer had somehow wormed his way into the National Football League.

Here we have Tony Dorsett, the heralded collegian from Pitt coming off Dallas' bench each week to breathe life into the Cowboys.

Here we have the fans, pleading with Coach Tom Landry to stop wasting time and make Touchdown Tony a starter.

Oh, it's going to be magnificent watching Tony return to the scene of so many triumphs. He'll be the star of the show, all right.

Only one problem-the Cowboys are gonna lose.

So much for Hollywood endings.

Last week's 9-5 mark put the season record at 86-40 for a .683 percentage. This week's picks:

Steelers 24, Cowboys 20
We happen to like Pittsburgh's defensive ferocity and offensive tenacity just a bit more.

Besides, the Steelers need this game a lot more. And more than 50,000 bloodthirsty fans won't hurt, either.

Bears 21, Vikings 17
Minnesota without Francis is like a day without sunshine. And it'll be a dark day for the Vikes, who needed Tarkenton, the home-field edge and overtime just to nose out Chicago five weeks ago.

Saints 23, Falcons 10
How do you figure-either of these clubs? We figure New Orleans is more capable of busting loose and will do so before the home folks.

Redskins 27, Packers 13
After getting clobbered by ABC last Monday night, NBC could show The Godmother against this dog and sweep the ratings.

Dolphins 28, Bengals 21
Cincinnati just can't seem to get its act together. Miami wins with the basics and we'll take consistency every time....

Lions 35, Buccaneers 10
...except in Tampa Bay's case.

Oilers 35, Seahawks 14
Billy White Shoes, Danny Soft Shoes...Houston could wear snow shoes - or no shoes - and roll it up against Seattle's non-defense.

Rams 27, 49ers 20
San Francisco, squeaking by against so-so teams the past four weeks, learns again that the big boys can - and do - play rougher.

Browns 23, Giants 9
The same can be said for the Giants, which isn't saying much.

Raiders 34, Chargers 13
With James Harris at quarterback, things would be different. San Diego would then only lose by two touchdowns.

Cardinals 31, Eagles 14
The Eagles can't get their kicking game going. St. Louis will provide some kicks - right in Philadelphia's teeth.

Broncos 28, Chiefs 17
Tom Bettis deserves better. But then again, so did Paul Wiggins.

Colts 41, Jets 8
Having a quarterback would not hurt the Jets.

Patriots 30, Bills 16
Not even a blizzard would help Buffalo.

Cage Ducats Still On Sale

Local basketball fans have been urged by Hereford athletic Director Fred Upshaw to take advantage of the season ticket offer available this year at the high school office. "What they're getting is one heck of a deal," Upshaw said. "The ticket covers all games from the seventh grade on up, both boys and girls."

Cost of the ticket is $20, which will admit one adult to all basketball games within the HHS system, excluding tournaments. "With some 21 varsity games (boys and girls combined) on tap here this season, a couple can save $2 off of the total general admission price ($2 per game) by buying two of the tickets, and still attend all the junior high games free," Upshaw added.

The tickets will soon be taken off the market, Upshaw reported. They will continue to be available at the HHS office for an undetermined period.

Maravich Handy In Leading Jazz Win

You have to hand it to Pete Maravich...for handing it to his teammates.

The New Orleans star usually does most of the shooting for the Jazz, but Thursday night let his teammates pull the trigger.

Maravich wound up with 15 assists - and the Jazz would up with a 127-116 National Basketball Association victory over the Seattle Super Sonics.

"We moved the ball on offense tonight," said New Orleans Coach Elgin Baylor. "That's an important ingredient - moving the ball in getting the open shot. We did that tonight."

Notified that Maravich had taken only five shots all night, a figure he sometimes reaches before the game is a couple of minutes old, Baylor responded:

"I did not tell anyone not to shoot. Pete Maravich or anyone else on this team can shoot anytime they have an open shot."

In the night's only other NBA game, the San Antonio Spurs defeated the Buffalo Braves 111-108. With the assist of Maravich, Leonard Robinson scored 33 points for the Jazz. Without his help, he grabbed 15 rebounds.

The victory snapped a six-game losing streak for the Jazz, including the last five on the road.

Maravich, the NBA's second leading scorer with a 26.9 point average, made four of his five shots from the field and wound up with eight points.

Spurs 111, Braves 106
Allan Bristow, playing guard because of injuries that have decimated San Antonio's backcourt corps, connected on two free throws in the final 14 seconds to pace the Spurs over Buffalo.

The Braves led 106-105 with 26 seconds remaining when Bristow hit the pair of free throws after being fouled by Billy Knight. The Spurs outscored Buffalo 4-2 in the final eight seconds to give them their fifth straight victory.

Dillon Meets Negro In Wrestling Action

J.J. Dillon puts off his manager's hat and dons trunks to meet Cyclone Negro in wrestling action at the Bull Barn Saturday night. The Hereford Lions Club presents another action-packed card for Hereford fans, as the wily 235-pound Dillon will match wiles and strategy against the bruising power of 250-pound Cyclone Negro.

Dillon is the heir of a wealthy and socially prominent New Jersey family. Negro is from Caracas, Venezuela, was decorated by his government for his athletic prowess, and is said to be the meanest man in professional wrestling. He also has the hardest head butt in the ring.

Brute Bernard, the 255-pound French-Canadian with the high tolerance for pain and huge cauliflower ears, will meet popular Mexican speedster Ricky Romero. Romero tips the beam at 224 in his joggling suit. He runs five miles daily. He will need all his condition to withstand the attack of his muscular and rough opponent. Brute is managed by Dillon, and the combination is effective if not ethical.

The Angel, another 255-pounder from Bordeaux, France, will test 228-pound Reggie Parks, popular former Canadian who makes Nogales, Arizona, his home. The burly Angel is a skilled grappler who uses a claw hold. Parks is a man of many holds and moves, he is handicapped in this match in only one regard: Angel is also managed by Dillon.

In the opener, two fast-moving young southerners will clash. Don Kernodle of Charlotte, North Carolina, 238 pounds, will meet Johnny Starr of Nashville, Tennessee. The 219-pound Starr compensates for his comparatively light weight with dazzling speed and top skills.

In last week's Bull Barn mat action, Starr beat Rip Hawk in the opener with a sunset flip. Hawk had dominated the match until Starr's surprise move.

The Angel and Kernodle had to settle for a thirty minute draw in the semi-main. The harassed referee was hard put to keep the action in the ring.

In the final bout, Bernard beat Romero in the first fall, although the fans claimed a foul move on Bernard's part. Romero evened the score in the second fall by pinning the Brute, while manager and teammate Dillon managed to cause Teddy Dibiase's downfall in the final stanza. The irate Dibiase promptly chased Dillon and the Brute to their dressing room, and they emerged only when assured that their rivals had left the building.

Action at the Bull Barn will begin at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Turkey Shoot On Tap

Hereford High School VICA chapter 489 will conduct a turkey shoot Sunday at the trap range east of the Hereford Municipal Trap Range.

Shooting will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue until dark, with turkeys being awarded to winners.

Competitors are advised to bring their own ammunition. A concession stand will be open during the shoot.

Tie Breaker Thrown Out

Due to a misprint in the Brand's Football Contest this week the tie-breaker game listed is in error, and a flip of the coin will determine the winners of the weekly contest should a tie result, Brand publisher Speedy Nieman has announced.

The tie-breaker game listed has Pittsburgh playing Cleveland when the Steelers in fact play the Dallas Cowboys, a game which is also included in the contest.

"We will throw out the tie-breaker game, and flip a coin or draw straws between the entrants if a tie results in the contest this week," Nieman said.

This week's contest is the 12th of 13 for the year. Entrants must have entered 11 of the 13 weeks to be eligible for the top prize of $100 which will go to the top guesser on the year.

Boys' Flag Finals Set

The pairings for the finals of the championship tournaments in the YMCA boys' flag football league have been decided with four games played during the week. The Falcons and Bears will square off for the NFL Division crown at 2 p.m. Saturday, while the Steelers will meet the Dolphins for the AFL title at 3:30 p.m.

Semifinal results this week had the Falcons a 12-7 winner over the Packers Monday, the Bears 25-6 winners over the Cowboys Tuesday, the Steelers 18-7 winners over the Raiders Wednesday, and the Dolphins a 7-2 surprise winner over the Jets Thursday.

Should the Bears and Dolphins win tomorrow a second finals game will be necessary in both divisions the following Saturday. The Falcons and Steelers both won outright berths in the finals with round robin wins in their respective divisions.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) - Tom Harp has been fired as football coach at Indiana State University.

ISU President Richard Landini announced Thursday that Harp's contract will not be renewed at the end of the season. Athletic Director Bob King, who recommended the action, will direct the search for harp's successor.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Center Wayne Merrick is expected to be out of National Hockey League action for about six weeks, a spokesman for the Cleveland Barons said Thursday.

Merrick is "suffering from a partial tear o" ligament in his right knee.

The spokesman said no surgery will be needed

Crunch!

Hereford defender David Arney grimaces as Tascosa's David Moss [51] drives on him in the third quarter of the Hereford-Tascosa game Thursday night at the La Plata gym. Arney was whistled for a foul on the play. Moss scored 14 points to help the Rebels past the Herd 69-63 in the two teams' season opener. [Brand photo by Bob Nigh].

Amin Son Training At Bell
DALLAS (AP) - The son of Ugandan dictator Idi Amin is one of the Ugandan pilots undergoing controversial training at Bell Helicopter in Fort Worth, claims U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas.
Mattox said that he was informed by "very good exile sources" that Babu Tabani is one of Amin's 34 children by five wives and 30 mistresses.
A group of the pilots confirmed Tabani was in training, but refused to say whether he was Amin's son.
When asked, one Ugandan said, "Where did you get that?"
There are 24 Ugandan pilots and engineers, said to be members of the Ugandan civilian police, training at Bell. Mattox has demanded that the Ugandans be forced to leave the United States.
Mattox alleged Wednesday that the trainees must be members of the military because "the Ugandan police force has no helicopter. All helicopters in possession of the Ugandans are priority military aircraft."
"You are free to come to Uganda and find out" how the helicopters will be used, one Ugandan told reporters Wednesday.

Family Food Budgets To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ford prices will continue their "seemingly inexorable rise" next year, with the average family's food budget increasing 4 to 6 percent, a government economist says.

Kenneth R. Farrell, acting chief of the Economic Research Service in the Agriculture Department, said most of the increase will be due to higher costs for transporting, processing and selling food after it leaves the farm.
Another important factor will be higher sugar prices and their effect on a wide range of products, including soft drinks and bakery goods, Farrell said in a speech prepared for delivery to the annual Food and Agricultural Outlook Conference. The conference concluded Thursday.
Price predictions for 1978 are tentative. They may change due to a number of uncertain factors, including the weather, energy costs and the impact of food legislation, he said.

For example, a new price support program for U.S. sugar producers has just been implemented, and President Carter has imposed new duties on imported sugar. Congress is considering ratification of an international sugar agreement aimed at boosting global sugar prices.
Farrell said there is little doubt that the new domestic price support program, aimed at guaranteeing domestic producers the equivalent of 13.5 cents a pound for sugarcane and sugar beets, "will significantly influence U.S. food prices" next year.
"It has been estimated that increasing the sugar support price to 13.5 cents per pound of raw product equivalent alone will increase domestic food expenditures in 1978 by one-half of 1 percent," Farrell said.
The Carter administration also has announced its intention of curbing grain plantings next year by requiring farmers to set aside 20 percent of their wheat land and 10 percent of their corn acreage from crop output.
Department officials say, however, that those programs will not increase consumer food prices because of huge reserves of U.S. wheat and corn.
Prospective large exports of grain to the Soviet Union and rumors that China may want grain are not expected to affect food prices significantly.
Overall, retail food prices this year are up 6.5 percent from 1976, he said, compared with a gain of 3.1 percent last year. Retail food prices soared 14.5 percent annually in 1973 and 1974 and then slowed to an 8.5 percent increase in 1975.

School Officials, Black Parents Clash over Housing Patterns

ATLANTA (AP) - Black parents suing for a new school integration plan contended that rigid housing patterns have caused school segregation. But education officials contended that they are not responsible for housing patterns.
Dr. Karl Tauber, a specialist in black population studies from the University of Wisconsin, testified Wednesday that Atlanta's neighborhoods are as segregated as they were in the 1950s, before the civil rights movement.
"The pattern of segregating whites from blacks has persisted throughout this period. It hasn't changed at all in the last 20 years," he said.
Tauber appeared for the plaintiffs - 24 black parents - who are seeking a desegregation plan that would transfer students across city and county lines, integrating Atlanta's 90 percent black student population into predominantly white suburban schools.
Atlanta's current school integration plan contains virtually no forced busing but allows a pupil to transfer to a school where his race is in a minority.
The trial began Tuesday in the suit filed in U.S. District Court in 1972. The defendants include city school systems in Buford, Decatur and Marietta and the county school systems in Fulton, Douglas, DeKalb, Cobb, Clayton and Gwinnett counties, all in the Atlanta area.
The black parents assert that segregated housing patterns have led to patterns of school segregation in Atlanta and its suburbs. All of the suburban school systems expect Decatur are largely white, some by as much as 90 percent, the plaintiffs say.
Attorneys for the state Board of Education and for the suburban school systems filed a motion asking Judge William O'Kelley to disallow evidence of racial housing patterns in the suit because school boards are not responsible for population patterns.
"We question whether school officials can have court sanctions imposed upon them because of the actions of others. If they're talking about housing - then they've sued the wrong people," said Al Evans, an assistant state attorney general.
O'Kelley took the motion under advisement.
But American Civil Liberties Union lawyer Margie Hames said later, "Even if this court rules it out, there is no question that the U.S. Supreme Court will allow it in evidence."
In her opening arguments Tuesday, Mrs. Hames accused government bodies of enforcing historic segregated housing patterns.
"Residential apartheid is a fact in Atlanta... It didn't just happen, it was planned... It was carefully controlled by government for years," she said.

Langdon Says Carter Kicking Oil in Teeth

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - President Carter has kicked the oil industry in the teeth when he said he was patting it on the back, Texas railroad commissioner Jim Langdon said Thursday.
Langdon, who has resigned from the commission effective Dec. 31, voiced his latest protest as the oil regulatory body set the December production allowable at the usual 100 percent.
Again, an exception was made for the East Texas Field, where an 86 percent production factor was set.
"At a time when the industry should be getting a pat on the back and encouragement to work even harder than they now are, what do they get? A kick in the teeth from many of our so-called national leaders and a petty but slanderous attack upon the industry as a whole by President Carter for the failure of the petroleum industry to welcome and accept his poorly conceived, administratively unworkable national energy plan," Langdon told his audience of oilmen.
He said the monthly proration hearings should be "a town hall meeting" of oil and gas producers.
"All of this talk about the 'war-profiteering' oil industry and 'obscene profits' have a hollow ring to me, especially when I read the allegation in news stories coming out of Washington," he said.
He suggested either phased decontrol or crediting back to oil companies part of the proposed "crude oil equalization tax" that would bring domestic oil prices to world levels.

Seadock Head More Optimistic

HOUSTON (AP) - The president of Seadock said Thursday he is becoming more optimistic about arrangements for financing the proposed $700 million offshore crude oil terminal near Freeport.
Hugh L. Scott said four or five companies, including firms not now involved in crude oil shipping, are studying Seadock for possible investment.
"I am getting more optimistic that we can work something out," Scott said.
The project has been at a standstill since mid-summer when Mobile, Gulf, and Exxon, withdrew from the Seadock consortium after deciding license requirements imposed by the Department of Transportation were too onerous.
The three companies held a combined 52 percent interest in the project.
Scott would not reveal names of the companies that have expressed interest in joining the six remaining members of the consortium but said he "would not discount the possibility that Arab money will be invested."
He said there also is a possibility of Swiss money but that he considered this "very remote."
Scott said Seadock should know something about the first of the year an possible participation by non-shippers. He said the proposed method for financing had been restructured so that non-shippers of crude could join as investors.
"We've tried this on investment firms and bankers and they think it is viable," Scott said.
"We've also explained it to the Department of Transportation, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Justice Department and we've had nothing but favorable response."
Such companies, Scott said, could gain an equity position by providing means for acquiring materials and construction services. Under a similar plan, U.S. Steel recently bought into the proposed Northern Tier Pipeline system to transport crude oil from the West Coast to the Midwest. U.S. Steel is a manufacturer of pipe needed for the line.
Still in the Seadock consortium are Dow Chemical, Phillips Petroleum, Continental Pipe Line, Crown Central Petroleum, Cities Service, and Shell Oil.
The deadline for Seadock membership was extended last month until April 20.

Buckeyes Ready For 'School Up North'

By KEN RAFFOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Tough-talking Woody Hayes loves to hate Michigan and no better proof can be found than his continuous contempt of the Wolverines.

For public consumption, the Ohio State coach refuses to refer to his fierce Big Ten rival by specific name, as if it would leave a bad taste in his mouth. He calls Michigan only "that school up north" and refers to Michigan Coach Bo Schemblecher as "that coach from that school up north."

Most people may not condone Hayes' violent feelings, but they can certainly understand them. The Michigan football team has given his Buckeyes plenty of trouble down through the years and Saturday figures to give them a little more in one of the biggest college football games of the year.

"This is really what football is all about," says Schemblecher, whose team meets Ohio State in their perennial grudge game for the Big Ten championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Cal.

This is the 10th time in the last 11 years that the Ohio State-Michigan game will decide the conference title and Rose Bowl representative.

Actually, Ohio State has already clinched a tie for the league championship and needs only a tie with the Wolverines to win the Rose Bowl berth. Michigan must beat the Buckeyes to go.

In either case, though, each is virtually assured of a bowl game. The Sugar Bowl is expected to invite the loser of the Buckeye-Wolverine game to face Alabama in that classic.

While the Big Ten is trying to decide its various bowl representatives, so is the Pacific-8-the other league involved in the Rose Bowl sweepstakes. UCLA can decide its own fate there, by beating Southern Cal next week. However, No. 19 Washington and Stanford also have a chance to go to the Rose Bowl with victories Saturday. Washington meets Washington State and Stanford plays California.

Meanwhile, top-ranked Texas tries to take a step toward another bowl in its game with Baylor.

The Longhorns have the inside track to the Cotton Bowl as current undefeated leader of the Southwest Conference. Only Saturday's opponent and a tough Texas A&M team the following week stand in the Longhorns' road to the Cotton Bowl.

The other Cotton entrant is expected to be No. 6 Notre Dame, which will probably be extended an invitation after an expected victory over Air Force Saturday.

Eight-ranked Arkansas, which plays SMU Saturday, appears to be locked into the Fiesta Bowl against the Western Athletic Conference champion.

Bickham Transfer Reported

WACO, Texas (AP) - Baylor quarterback Sammy Bickham will transfer to Southern Methodist after this semester, according to Bear Coach Grant Teaff.

Teaff said Thursday that Bickham had stated he thought he could better reach his academic goals at SMU. Teaff said Bickham wanted to study real estate and regional sciences.

Bickham, a 6-foot-3, 190-pound sophomore, was an all-state selection his senior year at Plano High School. He suffered a knee injury in the SMU game this fall and has been in a cast since then.

Teaff said he had issued a release concerning Bickham to the Southwest Conference. Bickham will be free to play for SMU if the conference approves the transfer at an SWC meeting

Arizona State, the nation's No. 12 team that is en route to the WAC title, meets Colorado State in Saturday's action.

No. 14 Texas A&M, a possibility for either the Cotton Bowl or the Bluebonnet Bowl, tackles TCU Saturday before heading for an SWC title showdown with Texas.

In other big games Saturday, Nov. 15 Clemson, a reported shooin for the Gator Bowl, plays South Carolina and No. 18 North Carolina - one of the

'Dirt' Ready To Challenge Tony D

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) - "Dirt" meets Dorsett here Sunday.

That's middle linebacker Dennis "Dirt" Winston of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Tony Dorsett of the Dallas Cowboys - rookie starters via far different routes in the National Football League.

"He's got a job to do. I've got a job to do. The one who does his best will probably come out the winner," Winston said after practice Thursday.

Similarity stops there. Dorsett left Pitt with a dozen NCAA records, one Heisman Trophy and a million-dollar contract. He'll make his first NFL start because Coach Tom Landry now agrees with Cowboy fans that Dorsett's two good for part-time work.

Winston played fullback, offensive tackle, defensive end and linebacker at Arkansas. He won four letters and his nickname. "When things would get tough, I was a little nasty sometimes," he explained.

Pittsburgh drafted him on the fifth-round. "I thought I was going to Dallas. They contacted me quite a bit," said Winston. "When Pittsburgh picked me I thought, probable Liberty Bowl entrants against the loser of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game - meets Duke.

Florida State and Texas Tech, two possibilities for the Tangerine Bowl, both play Saturday. Florida State, ranked No. 13, takes on San Diego State and No. 16 Texas Tech meets Houston.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 7 team which is on probation this year, meets Tennessee and No. 17 Brigham Young, another bowl-less team because of special scheduling restrictions, meets Long Beach State.

Two teams that aren't playing Saturday but will meet for the unofficial eastern championship the following Saturday, Penn State and Pitt, are apparently locked into bowls already. Penn State is expected to get an Orange Bowl bid and Pitt one from the Gator when invitations are officially extended Saturday evening.

"What could they want with me?"

The Steelers already had Jack Lambert, backed up by Marv Kellum, and the club's top draft pick was linebacker Robin Cole.

But Lambert spent most of preseason in a holdout, and Winston got the playing time he needed to oust Kellum.

With Lambert nursing a knee injury last Sunday and Cole just back from an arm fracture, Winston started against Cleveland. He'll also probably open against Dallas.

"Dennis' contribution has been good," said Coach Chuck Noll. "It hasn't been flawless, by any stretch of the imagination, but he does things very well. Part of it is his enthusiasm for hitting."

At 6 feet, 228 pounds, Winston doesn't have the height or range to match Lambert against the pass.

Yet he's a jarring tackler in the Lambert mold, and Steeler statistics show him with 31 solo tackles - but only one assist.

"When he hits them, he doesn't need help," said Steeler strength coach Lou Reicke.

"I like to punish people when I hit them," said Winston. "They are threatening my team."

Winston and the Steelers also face a mental test against the complex Cowboy offense.

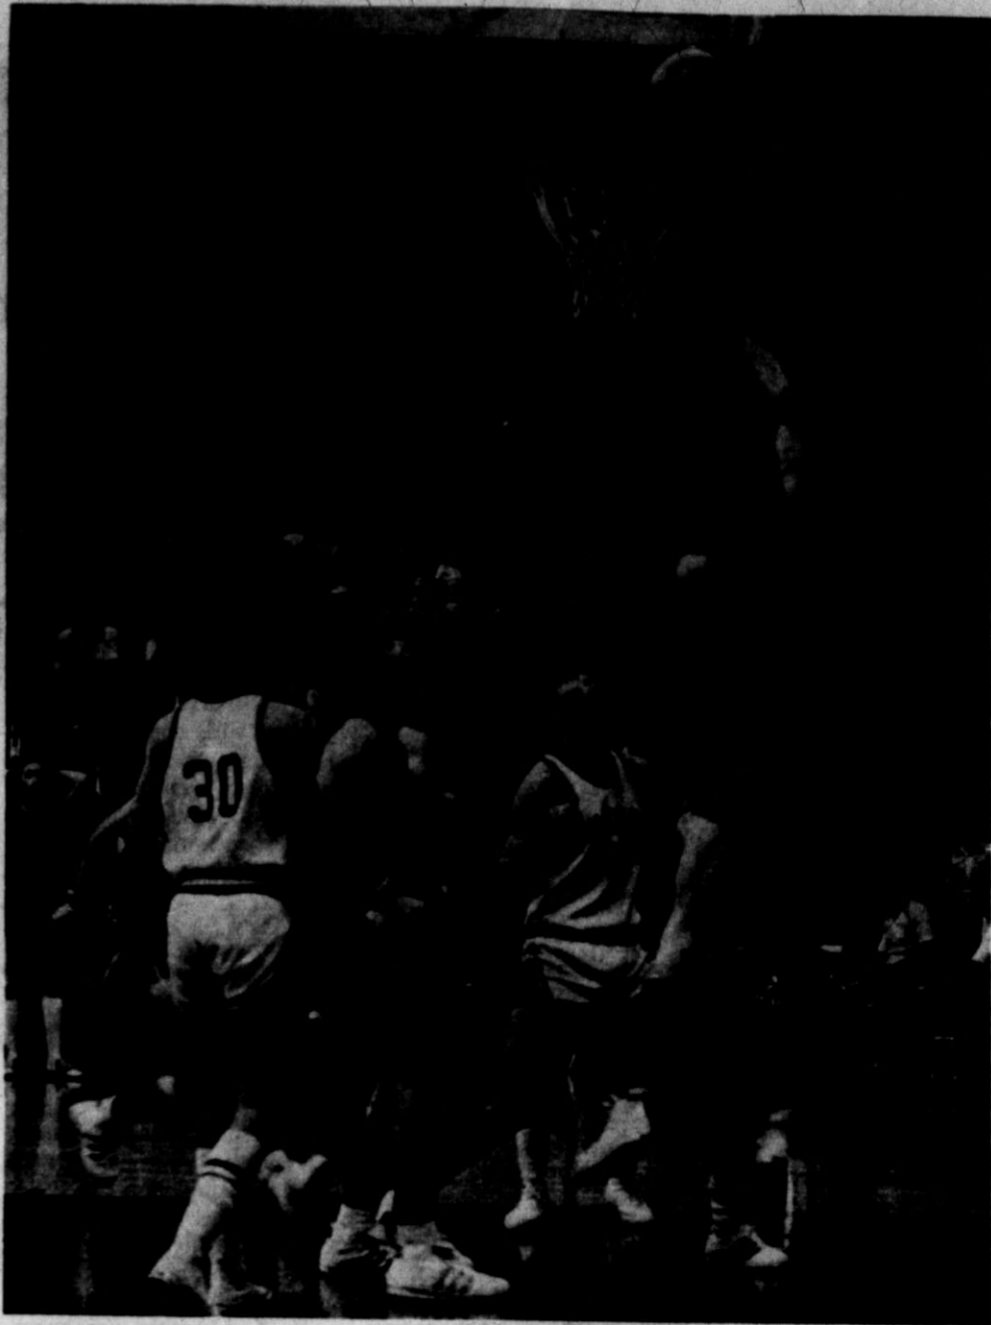

"It's probably the most complicated offense in pro ball, but we've worked real hard on it this week," said Winston.

Meanwhile, game films tell him some uncomplicated things about Dorsett.

"I don't know him personally, but I know his speed," said Winston. "He looks like he runs just as fast sideways as straight ahead."

Lambert played most of a preseason game in which Pittsburgh lost 30-0 in Dallas, but Winston had a few collisions with Dorsett.

"I hit him a couple of times pretty good," Winston recalled. "He knew I was out there."

In And Out

Tascosa's Noland Earle [33] seems to have an easy bucket against the Whitefaces, but the ball rolled in and out, and Hereford's David Schumacher [54] controlled the rebound. Watching the play is Hereford scooter Kelly Kitchens [30], who led the Herd scoring attack Thursday night with 19 points in the team's loss to the Rebels. (Brand photo by Bob Nigh).

Welders Lead Earlybirds

B&R Welding has a 14 point lead over Gilliland-Watson in the Earlybirds league this week. The leaders own a 54-10 record for the top spot, while the runners-up stand at 40-24. The battle for third is close between five teams, with NAT slightly ahead of the pack with a 33-31 mark. Grain Handling is at 32-32, while Brandon-Clark, Owens Cleaners, and Walco all stand 30-34.

Rounding out the league are Boots & Saddles, 27-37; Meads Alley Cats, 24-40; and 7-A Land & Feed, 20-44.

Sharon Edwards earned star honors in the loop this week with 83 pins over her average. Judy Mitts posted the high game with a 199 over Mary Gilster's 195, and Mickey Bronniman's 185. Bronniman's 502 led series' this week, while Denise Kelly had a 455, and Gilster a 446.

Splits earned this week included Charlene Sanders, 3-10; JoAnn Burfield, 5-7; and Billie Easley, 3-10 and 5-7.

Lewis Cops Keglers Honor

Maxine Lewis had a 194 game and a 510 series enroute to star bowler honors in the B.B.'s Keglers league this week. Wilma Clark led individual game efforts with a 222, while Cleta Weemes, had a 205. Weemes' 535 was the top series, while Alice Lueb had a 533.

Hoerner-Waldorf is the team leader with a 34-10 mark. Anthony's is second at 31-13, while Brown Drilling is third with a 27-27 mark. Hereford State Bank and Big T-Pump are tied at 26-18, and Pizza Inn is at 25-19. Rounding out the list are Pratt Chevrolet, 24-20; Hereford Janitor Supply, 23-21; Shupe Brothers Trucking, 19-25; Dickie's and Flowers West, 18 1/2-25 1/2; Uncle Sam's, Elkettes, and the Barber Shop, 17-27; T.H. Sossaman Trucking, 15-29; and SIC Insurance, 14-30.

Splits earned included the following: 3-10, Corky Campos, Patsy Hampton, Betty Rusher, Clark; 5-7; Lena Sanders, Linda Pagett, Nelda Smith, Kathy Vines; 2-7; Mary Bell, Ruth Hbbs, Rachel McGilvary, Debbie Morgan, and Vines; 5-10; Fran Thompson, Leona Miller, Betty Davis; 6-7-10, Valerie Baum; 4-5-7, Eleanor Hudspeth; and 5-6, JoAnn Hill.

TCU's O'Brien Dead at 60

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Davey O'Brien, the tiny quarterback who led Texas Christian to a national championship in 1938 while winning the Heisman Trophy for himself in the process, died today. He was 60.

O'Brien, whose name is still sprinkled throughout the TCU record book, had been hospitalized since June.

Utilizing every ounce and inch of his 5-foot-7, 155-pound frame, O'Brien guided the Horned Frogs to an undefeated, untied 1938 season that was capped with a 15-7 victory over Carnegie Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

"He was everything," said O'Brien's coach, L.R. "Dutch" Meyer, who directed TCU teams for 19 years. "He was the best play selector, the greatest field general I ever saw."

O'Brien still holds TCU records in most touchdown passes in a season 19, highest percentage of completions 56, lowest percentage of interceptions 2.4 and punt return yardage 547.

He was only the fourth player to win the Heisman award and the first player in the Southwest Conference and Texas to do so.

After college, O'Brien received a $12,000 bonus for signing with the Philadelphia Eagles. His two-year contract also included a percentage of the gate receipts.

He responded by being named as quarterback of the National Football League all-star team his rookie year in 1939, his coach, Bert Bell, said. "Davey was worth his weight in gold."

Former TCU coach Meyer praised O'Brien's durability.

"When he started to run with the ball, I thought he would get killed," Meyer said. "But, you know, every time he got hit he bounced up like a rubber ball and started helping big guys to their feet."

"A 155-pounder helping 250-pound tacklers get up - man, I loved that."

O'Brien was elected to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

After his professional football career, O'Brien was an FBI agent before resigning to enter private business. He was also active in politics in Tarrant County.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

O'Brien is survived by his mother, a brother, two sons and a daughter.

Bears Have Chance To Play Spoiler

The Baylor Bears are in a dandy spot to affect two of the major post-season bowls and throw the Southwest Conference football chase in a tizzy Saturday if they upset the No. 1 ranked Texas Longhorns.

The regional television cameras will be on the 3 p.m. joust at Memorial Stadium on the day bowls can officially issue invitations.

Notre Dame is expected to take the guest spot in the Cotton Bowl, if the unbeaten Longhorns win. However, the Fighting Irish might opt for the Sugar Bowl if Baylor does a number on the 'Horns, and the Cotton Bowl would scramble for another guest team.

The SWC race is far from settled. Texas is 6-0 in league play with Arkansas 5-1 and Texas A&M 4-1.

Texas is a 20-point pick over Baylor but the powerful Longhorns might be missing placekicker and punting specialist Russell Erxleben, who has a leg injury. Steve McMichael, a linebacker, would placekick in Erxleben's place while freshman Steve Hall would punt.

In other games, Texas A&M was a 24-point pick over Texas Christian, Arkansas was a 23-point favorite over Southern Methodist and Texas Tech was an eight-point nod over Houston.

Sam Ansley, a freshman who started his first collegiate game against Texas Christian last week, apparently will be the starter with the injured Randy McEachern ready for backup duty.

McEachern, of course, was the quarterback who replaced the injured Mark McBath and Jon Aune in the first quarter of the Oklahoma game and led the 'Horns to a 13-6 victory over Oklahoma.

"I said all along that if Texas and Arkansas solved their quarterback problems they would have outstanding football teams and they have," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "What can you say about a team that's undefeated and picked No. 1 in the nation? I guess since we have played seven teams in the top ten it is only fair we get a crack at them."

Baylor upset one of the top ten teams-Kentucky.

"Baylor has an excellent secondary and a fine defense," said new Texas Coach Fred Akers. "We're not lining up against a bunch of lightweights."

The Caldecott medal is given each year to the most outstanding picture book for children.

Leo and Diane Dillon are the first people ever to win the Caldecott medal two times in a row. They won it in 1976 for their art for "Why Mosquitoes Buzz in People's Ears: A West African Tale."

They won it this year for their art for "Ashanti to Zulu: African Traditions." This book, written by Margaret Musgrove, tells about 26 African customs from A to Z. The book was published by Dial Press of New York City.

Dial Press also broke a record by becoming the first publisher to win both the Caldecott and Newbery in the same year.

The Newbery medal is given each year for the best-written book for children. It is usually for older kids.

The 1977 winner is Mildred D. Taylor for "Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry."

Mrs. Taylor was born in Mississippi. She grew up in Ohio. After college, she spent two years in the Peace Corps. Her book is about a rural Mississippi family during the Depression.

This year, both books honored deal with the black background and history. The medals are awarded by the American Library Association. The winners are picked by a committee of 23 people. Suggestions are sent in by children and school librarians.

The Mysterious Book Case!

The Nancy Drew Mystery

Did your grandparents or parents read Nancy Drew and Hardy Boys mysteries when they were growing up?

Yes No

The jacket of the second Nancy Drew book. Nancy has changed some during her 47 years. She is now 18 instead of 16, so she can drive in most states.

The jacket of the fourth Hardy Boys book. Many of the Nancy Drew and Hardy Boys books have been rewritten to keep up with the times.

Father—Edward Stratemeyer started Nancy Drew, the Hardy Boys, the Bobby Twins, the Rover Boys and some 140 other series.

Who "done" it?

Who writes the Nancy Drew mystery books?

We had to investigate. The trail led to Maplewood, New Jersey. It led to the offices of Harriet Adams.

But we thought Carolyn Keene wrote the Nancy Drew books.

But Carolyn Keene IS Harriet Adams. She has been writing under that name ever since she took over the Nancy Drew series in 1930. She has been writing at least one Nancy Drew book a year ever since.

Mrs. Adams' father, Edward Stratemeyer, really invented Nancy. He wrote the first three books.

Mr. Stratemeyer has been called a "book machine."

He didn't want it to get around that one Daughter—Harriet S. Adams carries on the family business. She is now in her 80s and still writing. She is the mother of four. She has 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

person was doing so much writing. That was why he thought up some 60 names of authors for his 1,200 books.

Both Mrs. Adams and her father used ghostwriters. Ghostwriters help an author with a book, but their name is never given out. It's a trade secret.

What Mrs. Adams does is carefully outline some books, chapter by chapter. Then a ghostwriter comes along and fills in the details.

It's the same with the Hardy Boys books, too. Mr. Stratemeyer thought up the name Frances M. Dixon. When he died, other authors took over and wrote under that name.

Mrs. Adams now has several business partners. They run a company called the Stratemeyer Syndicate. They have turned out over 1,200 books themselves.

Pink Applesauce

This is a good classroom recipe. The whole class can pitch in. You can serve it in paper cups.

What you'll need: 6 pounds cooking apples, 2 cups sugar, 6 cups water, 1/2 cup cinnamon candies.

What to do:

1. Cut the apples in quarters. (Use table knives.)
2. Put them in a pan. Add water. Cook until tender.
3. Take apples out of pan. Put them in a colander. Remove skins and seeds.
4. Add sugar and cinnamon candies. (You can leave the candies out, if you wish.)

Science Mystery

PROBLEM: Can you guess what will happen when ink is dropped into a glass of water?

FINDING OUT: Fill a tall, clear glass with water. Let it stand until the water is very still. Now drop one drop of food coloring or ink into the center of the water. Carefully watch what happens.

Leave the glass overnight. What changes have taken place? Can you explain what happened?

CLUE: The ink slowly settles to the bottom because it is more dense (thick) than water. However, it will gradually spread throughout the water. (As perfume molecules spread throughout a room when a bottle of perfume is opened.)

TV: Meet Nancy, Joe and Frank!

Pamela Sue Martin as Nancy Drew
Shaun Cassidy as Joe Hardy
Parker Stevenson as Frank Hardy

Did you see the TV specials where Nancy Drew "crossed over" and solved a mystery with Frank and Joe Hardy? That has never happened in the books.

The TV series uses the Nancy Drew and Hardy Boys characters... but not the plots. The TV series is written by the TV studios.

Pamela Sue Martin is from Westport, Connecticut. She has been a teenage model for magazines and TV commercials. She also has been in several movies.

Pamela enjoys scuba diving, tennis and skiing. She now lives in Los Angeles, California.

Shaun Cassidy is from a show business family. His mother is actress Shirley Jones. His half-brother is pop-rock star David Cassidy. Shaun started his first band when he was in elementary school.

He graduated from Beverly Hills High School. Shaun likes writing and playing music and acting. He also enjoys baseball.

Parker Stevenson is also from a show business family. His mother is an actress. Parker graduated from Princeton University. He studied art and history. He hopes to go to graduate school.

He has been in three movies. His hobbies are tennis and sailing. He has apartments in New York and Hollywood.
