Don't Want 'Em.

The Hereford BRAND, copying a little paragraph from The News about the patent medicine men having turned their attention to the Panhandle, has this bit of good advice to the newspaper people:
"Now is the time for newspaper men to refrain from getting into the rut that most 'old country' newspapers are in, viz: Accepting patent medicine ads at a less rate than is charged their home advertisers.
The editors of this country should have a uniform price for all and stick to it." And that is just what The News proposes to do, and we are not soliciting that kind of business even at regular rates. They generally want to pay about one-fourth the regular rates, claim the best position in the paper, and seem to think that during the life of the contract they own not only the space they paid for but the whole outfit.
The News heartily endorses the suggestion of THE BRAND and would like to hear from every paper in the Panhandle on this question.

Large Hogs.

E. Goodman, from near Goodnight, in Armstrong county, was here Wednesday and sold to James Trent of the Cold Storage Market four hogs which weighed 1525 pounds gross. These hogs were between 12 and 13 months old and were raised on Panhandle grass and sorghum. It has been demonstrated that there is not any part of Texas where hogs can be grown cheaper than in the Panhandle.—Clarendon

XIT LANDS FOR SALE CHEAP

At $3 to $4 per acre and up

ON ACCOUNT OF THE CAPITOL SYNDICATE Company's (better known as the XIT's) intention to discontinue their cattle business their large ranch, consisting of over 3,000,000 acres and situated in the best part of the Texas Panhandle, will be sold in any size tract—to suit the purchaser.

This land is all fenced and has numerous wells and windmills, and other similar improvements which make it the best in the Panhandle. Improvements on land purchased will be sold to the purchaser at the actual cost to the Company.

Nearly 2,000,000 acres of this great ranch has been sold and it will be only a few months until the stock farmer of one or two sections will have the one million acres left in beautiful homes and farms.

It has been demonstrated that the small stock farmer can make more money compared to his investment, than can the large ranch owner, and the splitting up of this large ranch (until recently the largest ranch in the world) will be a great boon to this class of farmers.

The Pecos Valley railroad (a branch of the Santa Fe System), the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroads are now intersecting this great ranch and the Choctaw road is now building from Amarillo to Tucumcari, N. M., and will traverse the entire Deaf Smith county portion of the ranch. It is also expected that the Santa Fe branch, running to Albuquerque, N. M., will be built from Bovina in the near future.

This land, being situated in the western part of the Panhandle, lies close to the mountains of New Mexico and therefore is more susceptible to good rains than is land farther east.

This section of the Panhandle is noted for its mildness and even temperature—both in winter's cold and summer's heat—and has the right altitude for an invigorating and dry atmosphere. The nights are always cool, insuring sound and refreshing sleep.

Hogs in the Panhandle.

Emile and J. P. Reck are preparing to engage in hog-raising on quite an extensive scale. They will fence several pastures with hog-proof wire and stock with the very best strains to be had of Poland China and Berkshire. It has been fully demonstrated that hog-raising on the plains is as profitable as any industry one can pursue. To the man with small capital nothing will equal it. In talking along this line one day this week with a gentleman who has spent nearly twenty years in this country, and who has watched closely and intelligently all the experiments that have been tried here, he gave it as his opinion that nothing else equaled hogs for profit. He said a man with a quarter-section of land here could not only make a good living for an ordinary family but also make a surplus. There is no record of a case of cholera or any other disease here, and as for feed, no country in the world will produce more with the same amount of labor. With hogs selling around 8c gross at Kansas City there is money for some one.—Claude News.

After Panhandle Papers.

The patent medicine advertisers are making strong efforts to get into the Panhandle newspapers, and there are plenty of newspapers whom they can work their matter off on at one-third of the paper's regular rates. Peculiar ideas of business some people have!—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

The Tribune-Chief like THE BRAND is evidently not looking for them even at regular rates.

Our College.

Our college which is nearing completion means much to the Plains, it is not only an ornament, but with its strong faculty, second to none, will build characters among the young men and young ladies that will stand as monuments for years to come. And when this building is complete and equipped no school can offer better advantages. We all know that a cheap and shoddy school turns out cheap and shoddy students. We expect to have the best school facilities then we will be sure to have the best students and do the best of work. While there is not as many students yet as can be accommodated there is being carried on a good and steady work. Money is gladly received at any time from those who desire to invest in this institution.

Thorough School Work.

One of the greatest things to which a school can attain is to have the pupils who leave its walls thorough in the work which they have done.

It is the thorough work which counts to advantage after a boy or girl gets into the world; and it is the thorough work which develops the mind and systematizes it and makes it fit for future use.

This is our highest ambition that the Hereford school shall be known for the thorough work of its pupils. To accomplish this, the two most important factors are: (1) regular attendance; (2) regular study periods, both at day time and at night. As to regular study hours I will say that it is of the utmost importance that the pupils study at night. They do not have much time for studying during the day. The average pupil has from five to six lessons each day and he is not expected to prepare very many lessons while at school. We have recommended that each pupil make himself a program and have as many as two texts to prepare at night, and you, our patrons, can aid us greatly by seeing that your children prepare that many recitations each night. It may be the child's eyes are bad—then I would not recommend that he strain his eyes by lamplight, but there is plenty of time before dark in which he can prepare it.

It is the business of the teacher to give the pupils inducements to study but the latter often become forgetful and negligent. Then come the patrons to remind them and keep them at it. We call on every patron of the Hereford school, of which we all feel proud, to give us his or her hearty co-operation that we may regulate this shallow work, and in its stead put the pupils upon a foundation on which they can stand throughout their lives.

NEW CASHIER.

W. Dodson of Valley Mills Employed as Cashier of the Hereford National Bank.

C. W. Dodson, late of Valley Mills, who has been employed as Cashier of the Hereford National Bank, came in last Saturday and entered upon his duties Monday. He is an experienced banker and comes very highly recommended by those with whom he has been associated and will be seen by the letters of recommendation published below. These are only two of the many letters received. The first is from the president of the Citizens' National Bank of Waco and reads:

Waco, Tex., July 14, 1902.

First National Bank,

Hereford, Texas.

Gentlemen:—

I understand that Mr. C. W. Dodson, now of Valley Mills, Texas, is an applicant for a position in your bank. Mr. Dodson worked in this bank for a number of years, going from here to the First National Bank of Meridian. He is a well versed man in all the clerical departments of a bank. I have known him intimately since his boyhood. His fathers and brothers live here, and are all men of high standing in this community. His brother is our teller, and I consider one among the best in the state. I believe you would make no mistake in closing a deal with Mr. D.

Yours truly,

J. S. McLENDON, Pres.

The next is from President J. W. Rudasill of the First National Bank of Meridian and reads as follows:

Meridian, Texas, July 12, 1902.

J. E. Ferguson, Esq., President,

Hereford, Texas.

Dear Sir:—

I understand that C. W. Dodson of Valley Mills has applied to you for a position in your bank. It affords me pleasure to state that Mr. Dodson is an honest, straightforward man and worthy of your confidence. He is rapid, competent and careful in his work, and is an all around man. He was in our employ for quite a while, and left us because he thought he could better his condition. Any favors shown him will be duly appreciated.

Yours truly,

J. W. RUDASILL,

President.

Notice.

I have secured the services of Dr. A. D. Miller, late of the N. Y. dental parlors at Dallas. Dr. Miller is a dentist of ability and will have charge of my office for two or three weeks after the 20th, as I have some business east that I am compelled to attend to. Dr. Miller will be with me permanently as it is impossible for one man to handle this practice alone, and my patrons can rest assured that a high-salaried man is doing their work in my absence. I could have gotten a cheaper man but we want the best of everything at the Hereford Dental Parlors.

A Wonderful Growth

During the past eighteen months our business has experienced a wonderful growth. Notwithstanding this favorable condition, we are not disposed to let this growth stop. We therefore solicit your business.

THE HEREFORD NATIONAL BANK

Do you want a Fine Home in the Panhandle?

I have for sale one of the best improved sections (640 acres) in the Panhandle of Texas, situated three miles east from Hereford, the county seat of Deaf Smith County. This section is in the valley of the Tierra Blanca river, which intersects it, and contains over 275 acres which will grow alfalfa profitably without irrigation, making it the best dividend paying section of land in the Panhandle. There are 55 acres in alfalfa at the present time, which will cut three crops each year. For the past nine years an average of 100 tons of valley hay has been cut from this land yearly, which readily sells at $10 per ton.

...Improvements...

Among the improvements on this place are: A modern $2500 8-room residence, modern $500 2-story barn—26x46 feet in dimensions with 16-foot walls—corrals and out-buildings. Has a 75-foot well, containing 35 feet of pure water, with a 10,000 gallon storage tank and a water-works system supplying house and barn with water. A 16-foot Eclipse windmill with 6-inch cylinder supplies ample water to irrigate a 20-acre garden patch. This property would be an ideal one for party wishing to engage in the fine stock business. My reason for selling is that other business demands my attention.

Seriously Hurt.

Last Monday afternoon John Boyd happened to a serious accident. He was riding a bucking broncho and, being unable to keep it under control, into a new wire fence they went. It is hard to say just what took place then, however we are sorry to state that our friend John was on the bottom when he and his horse hit the ground. They stayed with each other like brothers. The horn of the saddle struck Mr. Boyd in the stomach and glanced off on his side, inflicting serious but not fatal bruises.

HEREFORD - - - TEXAS

The Brand
 A Weekly Journal Devoted to the Interests of the Panhandle Country of Texas
 FRANK L. VANDERBURGH
 Editor and Publisher

WHO said this town was going to incorporate? When?

The coal magnates are awfully willing to arbitrate—if they can dictate who shall form the board of arbitration.

SAY, had the thought ever struck you that Hereford needs a new post-office. It would be a good thing if we had a brick building for it.

No part of the great Panhandle of Texas is making such rapid advancement as the part immediately tributary to Hereford—the Pride of the Plains—and it is well that such is the case, for there is no portion of the Panhandle on which Dame Nature has showered greater blessings.

In a country that will produce almost every kind of farm product, that will raise as fine stock as any place on earth, and where the climate is delightful and an abundance of pure water easily obtained, is it any wonder that Hereford and vicinity is rapidly filling up with a prosperous, progressive, moral, law-abiding, peace-loving and industrious class of people.

THE mine operators claim that the laws requiring every miner to have a certificate that he has worked in the Pennsylvania coal miners at least two years are unjust to them and at the same time assert that they can import men to take the place of the strikes if protection be given them. Consistency, that. By what means do they expect to evade the very law they are howling at? Those law-abiding operators (?)

LAST week's Roswell Record appeared under its new management and in its new dress—a neat six-column quarto. Editor Bear says that the Record "will continue to be democratic, straight, strong, staunch." And further says: "To get the news, all the news, and the latest news; to publish it in readable form; to promote public enterprise; to call attention to the resources of its town and county; to be a medium of correspondence among its citizens; to encourage the good and discourage the bad; to expose shams; to have opinions and stand for them; to be a factor that makes for progress in a community, these are some of the ideals of a newspaper to which The Record will strive to attain." That under the new management the record will do as it promises is not to be doubted from the first issue under the new management, as it is forcible, patriotic and progressive.

"The wilderness shall blossom as the rose." When the book was written by that patriotic pioneer divine Rev. Z. N. Morrill of which the above quotation is the title, it was somewhat in the nature of a prophecy for at that time the first buds had just begun to unfold their brilliant petals and it was a matter of doubt with many whether the grand domain of Texas should ever be as the full-blown rose. But all such doubt has long since been dispelled and some of the older settled parts of the state are now in their full glory, while the Pandangle—the greatest part of a great state—has not advanced so rapidly as some other parts of the state and has only recently began to open up in all its beauty, but in a very short while it bids fair to be more beautiful than any other part of this great state, and verily, from present indications it would appear that Hereford is to be the very center of this Panhandle rose from which will emanate a large part of its fragrance, beauty and glory.

THE strike in the anthracite coal regions continues with unabated vigor and with no prospect of an early settlement. It is said that President Roosevelt will request President Mitchell to end the strike on a promise of a thorough investigation by congress and the Pennsylvania State authorities. But the miners attach little importance to this as they think, and rightly too, that the operators would find some way to evade any provision which might be enacted for their benefit. This strike has reached a point where it is of vital interest to every union laboring man of any branch of business, as if the operators succeed in crushing it there will be no use for any body of laborers to attempt to obtain a redress of their wrongs. By this do not let it be inferred that we are in favor of strikes for such is not the case. We believe that all differences between employer and employee should be settled by a discussion of the grievances between them, and then if they cannot reach a satisfactory agreement be left to arbitration. But in this case, as it now stands, should the operators win, no employers would be willing to settle grievances by arbitration but would henceforth rely upon the great power of money to crush their employes in any matter no difference how great the grievance. The time has now gone by when it can be hoped to settle this strike by any means save by arbitration—and by arbitration we mean a board of arbiters agreeable to both sides in the controversy and not elected to suit the operators alone—or by brute force of muscle against money. It is hard to see ones loved ones crying for want of bread, and money may triumph, but if right is might the mine workers will be enabled to hold out until the time comes when the operators will be willing to accede to reasonable demands. At present no man can say what will be the outcome but that it will be settled in an equitable manner to both sides is the sincere wish of every true UNION laboring man in the country.

Tariff reform is growing in popularity throughout the agricultural districts of the country.

Sleep is one of the blessings the busy man needs and the idle man does not know to enjoy.

The republican party is having a desperate intestinal tearup in its efforts to reform the tariff within itself.

Mr. Stanley Spencer has recently sailed over London in his airship. He traveled 30 miles all told with, and against the wind.

The steam turbine is an engine of established value and increasing use will bring out its good points and limitations.

With stern devotion to duty, Senator William Allison will serve his term out regardless of the Iowa platform.

The complacent republican always prides himself on his generosity when he speaks of the democracy as "an excellent party of opposition."

Senator Platt and Governor Odell have now buried their stage tomahawks and are devoting their attention to corraling the New York voters.

Some people are so meek that if they had Gabriel's job they would blow a tin whistle. There is no immediate prospect of Gabriel losing his place.

There is probably a place for dull people in this world, but why should they all expect to deliver public speeches and monopolize the columns of the local papers?

There is intense relief among the republican leaders at Mr. Roosevelt's return to Washington, both because he is on the high road to physical health and because the

CUT NO. 1

The accompanying cut (No. 1) represents the jaws of a child between the age of six and seven years and shows the relationship of the temporary teeth with the permanent ones.

You can readily see the importance of taking care of the children's teeth.

Preserve the crowns of the children's teeth till wonderful nature has time to do its work. Nature intends for the permanent teeth to follow the roots of the temporary teeth as they absorb, but when you allow your children's teeth to decay and the nerves to become exposed and die an abscess results and extraction is necessary, nature is thwarted, and, instead of the arch of the mouth expanding for the recipiency of the permanent teeth, the arch is necessarily contracted and conditions as illustrated in No. 2 are inevitable. Of course these conditions can be remedied, but it requires a great deal of time, patience and expense, also a skillful Orthodontist that you don't often find. Few dentists will hazard their reputation on such cases. So parents watch your children's teeth. We offer these suggestions for the reason that almost every day, we are consulted about irregular teeth and often we are compelled to extract teeth, when they should have been preserved.

mental health of the western voters is believed to be removed from the danger of anti-trust contagion.

About the time that the trusts become too independent to fill the republican campaign "bar", that party will begin to think about taking steps against them.

If Mr. Morgan can settle the coal strike then there is no better evidence needed that Mr. Morgan has more power than any one man in America has a right to wield.

Senator Depew is well in advance of the times. He describes the trusts as ghosts. He should have said that they will soon be the ghosts of republican supremacy.

If you battle with conditions you will get scars, if they are honorable ones you may wear them as decorations, but in no case exhibit them for the purpose of begging alms.

When the Angel Gabriel blows his horn some republican will put his fingers to his lips and say, "Hush! Hush! don't disturb our infant industries. They're feeding from the tariff bottle."

Farmers near Philadelphia have just picked a second crop of strawberries and sold them at high prices. September strawberries are a novelty but the farmers say the cool summer was responsible for them.

Senator Hanna sums up his advice in regard to the tariff in these words, "Stand pat." But then the Senator can well afford to. He holds four acres, a seat in the Senate, a block of Standard Oil Stock, a block of Steel Trust Stock and—a ton of coal.

The drastic measures which Attorney General Philander C. Knox has instituted against the trusts and the vigor with which he is prosecuting them recalls the dictionary definition of his first name, "Philander—to toy or dally."

Perhaps the President did not make the mistake that sensational journalism attributed to him when he took Ex-Secretary Alger's arm at Detroit. Why should a man be over-polite to a weak antagonist like Senator Burrows, and slight a powerful ally like Alger?

HEREFORD COLLEGE LETTER.

A Few Items of Interest From the Campus.

Lee S. Smith, jeweler and optician, placed a handsome regulator in the Girls' Home Thursday. This is one of the most needed and highly appreciated presents yet received by the college.

Mr. Conwell, a music dealer of Amarillo, on Thursday sold to the Hereford College a fine Fischer piano and to Mrs. Lee Clark a Parlor Grand piano. The placing of such instruments in the college means a great deal for the musical interests of this section of the country, for, not only will the people in this way learn to distinguish between the inferior pianos with which the country is flooded and the instruments of real merit, but will learn to discriminate in the tone quality as well. So far as we know, this is the second grand piano sold in the Panhandle.

Stone has been arriving for the further completion of the college building. It is reported that forty car loads are quarried ready for shipment.

The college is in correspondence with experienced teachers and hopes to secure one at an early date to take charge of the kindergarten and primary department.

President R. Clark leaves in a few days for Omaha, Neb., to attend the National Convention of the Christian church. While absent his place in the schoolroom will be supplied by a teacher from Amarillo.

Chapel Exercises.

No college activity is more conducive to creating the atmosphere of the school than the daily gatherings in chapel. This atmosphere, or spirit, determines the worth of any institution. It is usually born in the hearts of the president and faculty and nowhere can their lightning flashes of mind and heart be caught so well by the student body as in the general assembly. Here each student gets the benefit of the independent thinking of each professor; here the general happenings of interest to the life of the institution are chronicled; here the Divine teaching is impressed, all mingle their voices in song and the blessings of our Father are invoked. As nowhere else the students enter into the spirit of the institution. The benefits coming from the addresses delivered by the teachers and visitors are not few and students ought not to be permitted to absent themselves from these privileges. Chapel attendance should be obligatory. This obligation, however, carries with it some rights of the student not to be overlooked. He has a right to expect something for his time. A teacher or visitor has no right whatsoever to speak from a college rostrum if he can not entertain, instruct or inspire. 'Tis not in our heart to censure a student for studying during chapel exercises when Greek syntax proves more interesting than the rambling harangue of him who has "only a word to say" and yet cannot stop 'till the hour for closing is far past. 'Tis a pleasue indeed to visit chapel.

In the case of J. E. Robertson vs. the Pecos Valley Railroad Company, plaintiff was awarded $500 damages. This suit was one in which the Pecos Valley was sued for damages sustained to cattle in transit from Pecos to Hereford.

For Commissioner.

J. R. Armstrong of Bovina announces in this issue of THE BRAND as a candidate for commissioner of precinct No. 3. Mr. Armstrong has been in the Plains country for about thirteen years, and has been employed by the XIT for a number of years. He served several terms as commissioner in Hartley county and has also been commissioner in Castro county. He is a good man and will doubtless do his whole duty if elected.

GO TO CANADA.

Texas Cattlemen Are on Their Way to Manitoba.

The following was clipped from the Wichita Daily Beacon "and no doubt 'tis true: "Rat Jowell, W. R. Evans, T. A. Cox and F. L. Vanderburgh were in the city last evening. They are all cattlemen, who have been in business at Hereford, Texas, but are leaving the Panhandle country on account of the law recently passed by the legislature which forbids the fencing in of government land for grazing purposes. They were on their way to Manitoba, Canada, where they will engage in business similar to that which they followed while in Texas. They say that the law referred to, cuts the cow lands of Texas down to too small an area for them to follow their business successfully there, which makes their move to the northern country imperative."

Grand Jury Report.

Hereford, Texas, Oct. 9, 1902. To Hon. H. H. Wallace, Judge of the 47th Judicial District of Texas:

We, the grand jury empaneled at the October term, 1902, of the district court of Deaf Smith county, Texas, desire to submit the following report, to-wit:

We have investigated all supposed violations of law that came to our knowledge and have presented true bills of indictment in all cases in which we thought the evidence warranted indictment; having presented nine bills of indictment for misdemeanors.

From such investigation as we have been able to make of the accounts of the various county officers we find them correct.

We find the public buildings to be in good condition but recommend that the gate on the north side of the court house yard be repaired and swung on new hinges.

We recommend that the pipes at the public well be properly boxed so as to prevent being bursted from hard freezes.

Having completed our labors we ask to be finally discharged.

CATTLE RAISING.

Has Ceased to be a Speculation and Has Assumed the Proportions and Importance of a Genuine Industry.

Cattle raising has ceased to be a speculation and has become an industry. Time has wrought wondrous changes in it and today we see an entirely different condition of affairs existing from that of even a few years ago. Texas has to a certain extent felt the change as well as other cattle raising states, but not so much so. Even here however, many of the larger ranches that made this state famous are being divided up, and the "big range" is being rapidly reduced. Years ago the "long-horns" wandered in wild freedom over the boundless prairies of Texas. From the Red river to the gulf there were few fences and little civilization to interfere with the cowboy and his herds. They were permitted to rove in wild freedom, and when the years round-up came and the stock was started across the country to the markets the cowboys had their inning at hard work. Today that is all changed. Most of the big ranches are still out west, but they are all fenced. The herds are driven to the nearest railroad station and there loaded on cars. The grazing proposition has been changed to a side issue, and cattle for the markets have to be "fed" to bring prices. The cowboy is still a necessity in one sense of the word, but he has ceased to be the whole thing. He has moved westward with the coming of the farming element and settlers in general. Like the American Indian, he is being rapidly pushed off his former reservations. He is still to be found out west, but has lost much of that brightly glory that surrounded him in former days. As to the big cattle barons, they will ere long exist only in the pages of history. The ranges are being cut up for the small settler. Land will ere long become too valuable to permit of one man holding tens of thousands of acres for grazing purposes. The great big ranches in Texas are still a thing

The good in a man is seen in the good he sees in other men.

A man without a purpose in life is, as salt without its savor, good for nothing.

Does not christian education supply the fundamental motive that is able to cope with every adverse assault.

The miser who hoards his gains and refuses to invest or let it out on interest has forfeited his right to his wealth.

Chapel—A place to work off jokes, impress glorious opportunities and give a resume of twentieth century civilization.

Rev. Moody was once asked, "Can a man use tobacco and be a christian?" He promptly replied, "Yes, a dirty christian."

It is well in the choice of an occupation that one choose a business that is for the good of men and let this be his constant motive.

Work, but do not overwork; be busy, but never hurry. Energy of will, and nerve, and muscle, must be wrought into every enterprise to prosper.

Men used to follow Jesus for loaves and fishes, and now there are men in the churches for patronage who, if the patronage cease, are ready to quit the church.

When a Sunday school teacher asked his class what was the first thing the children of Israel did when they came through the Red sea, a bright boy said: "I 'spect they dried themselves."

There are many lame sheep in the master's fold that can be cured only by repentance and prayer.

Attend the mid-weekly prayer-meeting, for it is a bulwark against care. Active business is promoted by so safe and refreshing a let-up in the midst of the six working days.

A razor is a good thing but would be fatal as a toy. Charity is commendable, but when prostituted to policy becomes abominable. The scripture says, "The love of money is the root of all forms of evil." This love is not merely a desire, but inordinate love for money as an end. Money is not an evil in itself. Its use determines its value or its curse. The fundamental error is in making it an end when properly it is only a means.

A Correction.

It was stated in the last issue of this paper that E. R. Misner of Hico was Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Texas. We wish to correct this by saying that he is Marshall instead of Master, as there is some difference in the two positions.
