

Area Leads In Race For Beets

Coming down to the wire, Hereford is in the lead for a 1964 sugar beet allocation that would permit construction of a sugar refinery here.

Officials of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association returned to Hereford Wednesday and Thursday after presenting and hearing testimony in a special Agricultural Department hearing in Washington, D. C.

Lee Benefield, president of the TSBGA, and James W. Witherspoon, head of the group's legislative committee, both said that a refinery was "almost a cinch" for Hereford.

The association and Holly

Sugar Company of Colorado Springs seemed certain of approval for their joint request for the acreage reserve.

As conducted by the sugar division of the US Department of Agriculture, requests were heard from groups in the order in which they wanted the reserve, allocated through a recent change in the Sugar Act. Sprockles Sugar Company was the only applicant for the 1963 quota, seeking permission for the 65,000-ton additional allocation for its partially finished plant at Mendota, Cal.

Five areas were heard in request of the 1964 allocation. Of these, only the Hereford area had firm commitments from farmers, a record of having grown beets for 16 years, an agreement with a sugar refining company and a tentative construction contract for a mill.

Holly Sugar Company and the Hereford - Dimmitt area were heard jointly. Holly's president, Merrill Shoup, told the committee that his company had optioned two and three-fourths sections of land near Hereford after assuring itself of the water reserve, and in view of the long, continuous history of outstanding sugar beet production.

Shoup told the hearing that his company had gotten signed requests from about 900 farmers in Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Curry (New Mexico) Counties, asking up to 90,000 acres of beets on a five-year rotation plan and agreeing for the company to withhold $1 per ton on payments for a ten-year period, up to a maximum of $5,000,000 to help pay for the $18,000,000 mill. Shoup also told the group that his company had signed a tentative contract with a major construction firm to build the plant if approval was gained.

Also appearing were Benefield, Witherspoon and Henry Sears, all of Hereford, with Bob McLean and Ray Joe Riley, both of Dimmitt.

Other areas seeking the 1964 allocation were Aroostock County, Maine; Finger Lakes area, Cayuga, N. Y.; Trans-Pecos area, Pecos, Tex.; and the Phoenix area of Arizona. Those groups making application for the 1963 quota were: South Central Nebraska and North Central Kansas; Pemiscot-Dunklin-New Madrid County Sugar Beet Association of Missouri; Western Missouri Beet Growers, which includes ten counties in western Missouri; Drayton, North Dakota, which includes the Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota; High Plains Sugar Beet

Growers, Inc., of Plainview, Tex.; South Plains of Texas Projects, Gaines and Yoakum Counties Sugar Beet Association; Southeastern South Dakota area;

Pecos Valley Sugar Beet Association of New Mexico; Kansas - Colorado Beet Growers Committee, which includes Sherman and Wallace Counties in Kansas and Kit Carson County in Colorado; Association of Sugar Beet Growers of the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma, out of Dumas; Southwest Kansas Sugar Beet Council; and Wahpeton, North Dakota, and Breckenridge, Minne-

Of the 12 applicants for the 1965 application, none had any firm commitments from sugar companies.

Benefield said that he and Witherspoon, since returning to Hereford, had called Washington in efforts to encourage an early announcement of the chosen areas for the allocations. It is expected that the announcement will be made not later than Dec. 1 and possible much earlier. The hearings were slated to end Friday afternoon, having started Tuesday morning.

HEREFORD, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1962

Annual County-Wide Field Tour Scheduled On Monday

Building Far Above Total Recorded For All Of 1961

Building permits issued by the city for construction in Hereford for the first nine months of the year shot passed the one million dollar mark and topped permits issued for all of 1961 by more than $200,000. Total permits issued for the first nine months of the year are valued at $1,395,000 while the total for 1961 only cleared the million dollar mark by $166,000.

Permits for the third quarter of the year — July, August and September — were approximately double the value of those issued in either the first or second quarters.

Total permits are valued at $717,350 while previous reports for the first half of the year show construction in Hereford valued at $676,610.

Apparent cause of the upsurge in construction value is the boom in residential housing now going on in Hereford. Residential construction in July totaled $193,000 as permits were issued for nine one-family dwellings, a two-family dwelling, and a $75,000 apartment building.

In August, value of residential construction passed the $200,000 mark as 11 permits were issued for one-family homes only.

However, in September construction of dwellings dropped sharply to $75,450 as only four permits were issued. Alterations and additions for the month only totaled $1325.

Local farmers display new techniques to those interested in the county's agriculture during the Annual Deaf Smith County Field Tour here Monday.

During the tour which attracts agriculturalists from throughout the area, five farms will be visited. Those on hand will view results of new farming techniques and conservation programs.

Stops will include at least five, and possibly six farms in the county. Highlights of the tour include the viewing of many new grain sorghum varieties, including some dwarf breeds, irrigated grasses, and the results of weed control and flame cultivation tests.

Sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Program Building Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the tour is expected to attract over 150 people.

George Warner, chairman of the County Program Building Committee, and Lefty Thomas, county agent, have arranged the program.

"This tour is arranged in order that both farmers and businessmen can learn of the new developments in agriculture," Thomas pointed out.

All persons interested in the county's agriculture are invited to attend the tour, which gets underway Monday at 1:30 p. m. Those wishing to attend the Field Tour are asked to meet on the east side of the courthouse at that time.

The afternoon's tour will include stops on five farms. The tour offers a "concentrated" view of farming developments practiced in the county.

First stop for the tour will be the Paul English farm. Here guests will view 44 grain sorghum varieties, including both company breeds and new varieties tested for experiment stations. Varieties will be described by English and George Warner.

Included in the grain varieties will be newly developed "dwarf" types, which feature short plant stalks with large heads for grain.

At approximately 2:15 p. m.

Herd's Defense Sparkles In 19-0 Defeat Of Plainview

Around Town

Do you feel a certain, intangible excitement in the air? We have during the past week as we nosed around town. First, we found that third quarter building permits were more than those for the first six months of the year and that building so far has already surpassed that for all of 1961. In addition, it seems almost a sure thing that Hereford will finally, and at long last, get a major sugar beet allocation and its long-awaited refinery. We just can't say enough for Holly Sugar and its wonder-Hereford's defense was the key Friday night as the Whitefaces won their first game of the season, defeating Plainview 19-0. A hard-charging line and an alert secondary actually held the Bulldogs to minus yardage on the ground, while keeping pass yardage to a bare minimum.

For the first time this year, Hereford had both its defense and its offense going at the same time while the Bulldogs lost their 13th straight game and the second of this season.

The Herd lost one scoring opportunity in the first period, but scored twice in the second quarter and again in the fourth before a thrilled home crowd of about 2,500 fans who ignored chill breezes.

As the game opened, Hereford rolled up a pair of first downs, capped by an 18-yard blast by fullback Jim Haney. But a couple of backfield fumbles caused Hereford to punt.

A penalty and a three-yard loss when Arnold Powell em- panned the runner, set up a punt from Plainview's five. The kick was grabbed by Austin Hodges, who scampered from Plainview's 38 to the 12. Another backfield fumble cost two yards and three blasts at the line ended up a yard short on Plain-

AT G. O. P. BREAKFAST

Seale Hits Vote Record Of Rogers

About 35 persons attended a breakfast meeting on behalf of Jack Seale for Congress at Raney's Restaurant here Saturday morning.

Seale blasted his opponent's voting record in Congress and asked for a return to sound, Constitutional government.

Introduced by Frank Barrett, county campaign manager, the youthful Amarillo mayor outlined his basic platform in the race for U. S. Representative from the 18th District.

"During my travels around this district, I find that people in the 28 counties are alarmed over the condition of the country, mad about the way they have been represented in Congress," Seale said.

"I am opposed to waste and give-away programs of billions of dollars when this nation hasn't had balanced budgets but five times in the last 30 years. I feel most of us are against foreign aid to Communist countries. I don't like government control of business, like the intervention in the dispute over prices in the steel industry, and a Congress which knuckles under to the administration.

"This nation is being run by professional politicians. They aren't the solution... they are the problem. Congressmen vote to support their own views, to get re-elected or to support the administration. None of these three reasons is valid. A Congressman's only reason for being in Washington is to represent the people," he continued.

Seale, the Republican nominee, said that he was seeking a television debate with incumbent Walter Rogers, "not because I am such a great debator, but because I want my opponent to explain his position on raising the debt limit, on favoring an international arms agency, on voting for a $20 million fish tank for Washington, D. C."

Seale explained that he stands for sensible, reasonable government, a sound farm program without government controls through direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, for the best education that can be handled at the local and state levels.

He drew applause when he stated, "We don't need Harvard eggheads or fuzzy-thinkers to run our lives, particularly since most of them never worked for their living." It is necessary, he declared, (Continued on page 3)

Bradley Fined On Tax Evasion

James H. "Jack" Bradley, Hereford farmer and rancher, pleaded guilty Thursday to income tax evasion for 1957. His plea was entered before U. S. Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in Dallas.

Bradley, 45, was fined $5,838.93, payable immediately. Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of the Internal Revenue Service in Dallas, said that imposition of a prison sentence was withheld until civil tax liability has been determined and paid. He said that Bradley would be on probation during this interim period.

According to Campbell, Bradley reported that income for he and his wife, in a joint return, was $4,764.16 for 1957, with a tax due of $620. "However, investigation in this case disclosed that Mr. Bradley should have reported for himself and his wife for 1957, an income of $28,956.42, with a tax due of $6,458.93," Campbell said.

"A Federal Grand Jury also indicted Mr. Bradley in April of 1962 for attempting to defeat (Continued on page 10)

Burglars Hit Six Businesses Here Thursday

Vending machine change boxes were broken open at Hereford businesses during a series of six burglaries reported to have occurred here early Thursday.

Among the firms hit were Askew Laundry, Massie's Laundry, West Park 66 Service Station, Thrifti-Burger Drive Inn, Rogers Service Station, and Bell Service Station.

At all businesses, according to a Hereford Police Department report, soft drink vending machines were burglarized. Also at the self-service laundries, soap and candy vending machines were broken into.

Damage to all of the machines was estimated by investigating officers at between five and $15 dollars. No estimate was available on the amount taken from the machines. The series of burglaries is reported to have occurred between 12 midnight and 1:30 a. m. Thursday.

Police officers on patrol spotted what was believed to have been the persons responsible for the thefts at Askew Laundry.

Officers chased the suspects, but they escaped from the pursuing officers on foot.

After discovering the theft at the self-service laundry, other businesses were checked by Police Department patrolmen and the other five burglaries were discovered.

All of the vending machines are reported to have been opened with a screwdriver.

'GOP' Goof Gets Guffaws

There's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip and political party candidates up for election or re-election are no exception to the old, worn adage.

Congressman Walter Rogers, incumbent up for re-election as representative of the 18th Congressional District had been introduced by Hereford Mayor Ray Cowsert as "an old line Democrat."

Congressman Rogers, in the preface to his remarks at the party rally here Thursday, emphatically stated: "Even though I have been invited to join other parties, I have remained a loyal Republican."

He hastily changed "Republican" to "Democrat" over the amused murmur of the crowd at the Congressman's slip.

AT DEMO RALLY

Rogers Blasts Critical Groups

Congressman Walter Rogers, representative of the 18th Congressional District, lashed out against small groups which "bemean and vilify" the present government at a Democratic Party rally staged here Thursday in Deaf Smith Bull Barn.

Keynoting the party rally with his introduction of Rogers was Hereford Mayor Ray Cowsert.

"We must recognize that we now have a two-party system in this county," stated Cowsert. "However, I believe it makes for better politics and better government on the local and national levels."

He pointed out that this was the first time since he began voting that a Democratic Party rally had been called in the fall.

"We want to get out a big vote to show the people of Deaf Smith County that we (the Democratic Party) are vitally interested in the affairs of government."

Cowsert commented that candidates winning the primary would have had an office "cinched" four years ago, but "is not the case today. We have to fight right down to the wire."

The rally held here was sponsored by Deaf Smith County Democratic Club and began with a watermelon feed for the congressman. Approximately 250 party members from Hereford area and surrounding counties attended.

Throughout his speech, Rogers continually attacked the "small groups" which have continued to criticize the government. At one point, he lashed out at these groups saying that "they bemean and vilify and want to tear down what has been built."

"We are living in the greatest country ever conceived," he declared, "and I don't care who criticizes it."

As he spoke to the group, he called for a return to the "democratic principles of Thomas Jefferson."

"Jefferson believed in his fellow man and was a true democrat," Rogers commented. "I feel that if I followed his (Continued on page 10)

Program Skit Given At Calliopean Club

Calliopean Study Club members met in the home of Mrs. J. T. Gilbreath Jr. for a coffee on Thursday, Sept. 27, at 9:30 a. m.

Those present enjoyed a clever and humorous program on "What will it take to make America beautiful?", presented by Mrs. John Messick, and assisted by Mrs. A. T. Mims and Mrs. Clyde Cave.

Mrs. Messick said "Never forget that nature's conservation is mankind's preservation. Take care of the beauty spots of our country as well as the resources. After all we are only custodians of this country as long as we live; if our surroundings are good, let's be aware of them - if they are bad let's improve them." All of this has to do with our surroundings but what about the people we have to look at every day?" Mrs. Messick asked, "Are you really interested in helping to keep America beautiful?" A skit was presented with Mrs. A. T. Mims portraying "Mrs. Buttercup" as a vivacious, energetic, graceful, fashionable and poised woman. Mrs. Clyde Cave portrayed "Petunia", an awkward, dull, expressionless and not at all enthusiastic woman. At the close of the skit Mrs. Messick asked the question "Which of these women do you want to be?" She concluded with the statement, "To be young in spirit and to make America more beautiful has to be generated from within."

Billy Carthel got off a brilliant 72-yard quick kick. Hereford got another first down, then had to punt as the quarter ended. Two Plainview passes fell incomplete before guard J. Carter threw Carthel for a six-yard loss. Hodges again made a fine return on the punt, to the Plainview 48.

Arnold Powell shook loose on a trap play and scooted down the sideline for 20 yards before being rolled out of bounds. Powell got five, then six, with Haney picking up nine and three. Frank Cain kept for three yards and a first down on the Bulldog three. On the next play, Powell shot over left tackle for the touchdowns. Steele's kick was wide, but Hereford led 6-0 with 7:08 left in the second period.

Eddie Johnson kicked off into the end zone as Plainview failed to move. John Kovacs and Powell hit Lonnie Whitfield for a loss of three after a fumbled pitch-out had cost the Bulldogs eight yards. Carthel's punt went just 12 yards before bouncing out of bounds on the Plainview 22.

Powell hit for eight and Cain fell on a fumble. Powell got one before Haney drove for four and a first down. A penalty moved Hereford back to the Plainview 14, but Haney got seven and Powell hit for the final seven around left end for the second touchdown. Cain's pass for extra points was batted down. With 1:02 left in the first half, Hereford led 12-0.

Hereford had a final opportunity before the half as Ronnie Duncan fell on a fumble as Plainview returned the kick-off. But one pass went incomplete, a fumble gained five yards for the Herd and Tom Sawyer intercepted a pass in the end zone. Sawyer passed three times, hitting on one for five yards before punting. But again, Cain's pass was intercepted by Sawyer as the half ended on a wild note.

Plainview picked up its first down of the game as the third quarter opened. But a couple of incomplete passes and a nine-yard loss forced Carthel to kick. He booted the ball 46 yards to the Hereford one.

Hereford punted on third down from its four and Plainview had its best chance on the Hereford 30. The Bulldogs managed to get one more first down, but Dick Rogers grabbed Carthel's shoe and tripped him up six yards behind the line on a fourth down play.

Hereford gambled deep in its own territory, with Cain getting two yards when just inches were needed. But another penalty, this one for 15, forced Steele to punt.

Using the spread formation, Plainview lost 20 yards when the snap from center sailed over Sawyer's head and Eugene Green rolled him down on the Plainview 18. Sawyer missed on one pass, hit Carthel for 11 on the next try and then the team had to punt.

As the fourth period started, Hereford couldn't move and punted. Plainview hit on an eight-yard pass, then booted to Hereford's 37.

Powell streaked around left end behind beautiful blocking for 36 yards. Haney and Hodges carried for 11 yards on three carries. A 15-yard penalty moved Hereford back, but Hereford crossed up the defense as fullback Haney took a pitch-out and passed to end David Dowell for a 38-yard play to Plainview's three.

Powell failed to gain, but Haney surged over right guard for the final TD with 5:46 left in the game. Steele's kick was good and Hereford had all the points for the evening.

Both sides then went to the air, Hereford missing on four tries and Plainview on six. Stout line play by Hereford cost Plainview 12 yards on one attempt and 13 on another.

Plainview's only good play came in the final seconds as Carthel threw a screen pass to halfback Ray Gonzales, who sailed, danced, spun and fought for 62 yards down the sideline before being stopped as the game ended.

Steele, Carter, Kovacs, Dowell, Powell, Lueb, Hodges, Duncan, Rogers, Green and Haney all performed in outstanding fashion on defense.

Cain despite first game jitters, did a fine job as quarterback in his first starting assignment. The slender sophomore played in spots last week, GOP...

(Continued from page 1) to have a balanced federal budget, that can live within the means available. He asked for a farm program that exports the nation's strengths and belief in freedom under the constitution. He declared that the nation should fight Communism and win.

"If some of us don't take some positive action," he said, "we won't have any future for ourselves or our children... I am not obligated to any group or individual in this race, I am dedicated to the principles of freedom under the Constitution. The Constitution is not outmoded, regardless of what the President said recently," he concluded, asking for wide support.

C. J. Humphries of Amarillo, chairman of the Citizens For Seale campaign, explained that he had been a campaign chairman for Rogers in 1950, but changed his support after studying Rogers' voting record. He stated that Rogers could not justify his votes in Congress to the people of the Panhandle.

Humphries said that only 65 per cent of the people who voted for Nixon for president or for Jack Cox for Senator against Bill Blakley would be needed to elect Seale to Congress.

Brief remarks also were made by two other Amarillo men who are working for Seale, Gene Klein and Ken Greenwald.

In answer to a question as the meeting closed about the current issue on admission of a Negro to the University of Mississippi, Seale said that he favored state's rights, without government intervention, but said the basic problem went back to "that horrible 1851 Supreme Court decision" on civil rights. He said that the Supreme Court had far overstepped its purpose and actually was re-writing the Constitution and passing laws, rather than ruling on interpretation of the laws passed by Congress.

but took over this week as Austin Hodges alternated with Ronnie Duncan at one halfback.

One of the brighter spots also came as junior end Mike Ferguson made his first appearance of the year, recovered from a pre-season knee operation.

THE ISSUE

by FRANK FORD Deaf Smith County Farmer, Businessman and Republican

Candidate for STATE REPRESENTATIVE (Third Article of a Series)

State Democratic Chairman J. Ed Connally said of the Republicans in a speech at the Democratic Convention, "We just want to put them away once and for all". The LBJ faction which is still clinging desperately to its narrow margin of control knows that if a two-party system can be prevented in Texas, it can continue to serve its own selfish interests, rather than the people of Texas.

If the honest Democrats in this state want to make their party once again the party of the people, they have a powerful lot of housecleaning to do. Anyone who has been around the Legislature knows this to be true. We are at the political crossroads this year, and prejudice must give way to reason.

On the one hand, we have the opportunity to get more grass-roots participation in politics through a two-party system which will result in a higher standard of government. On the other, we have continued platitudes, expedience intimidation and phony "unity". This is the issue facing us on November 6th. This is the only major issue.

Dogie Freshmen Let Win Slip At Tulia, 0-6

Stanton Junior High School
Freshmen outdid their opponents at Tulia in everything except scoring Thursday. But the Tulia ninth graders claimed the victory with a 6-0 reading.

Tulia managed only three first downs during the entire game, but scored a 65-yard touchdown run.
Stanton Dogies moved within the 20 yard line of Tulia, on three different occasions,
but were unable to complete a scoring drive.

Local freshmen racked up over 100 yards in rushing during the game, but their drives never managed to connect for paydirt. The Dogies gave up the ball on downs three times, after driving deep into Tulia territory.

The freshmen have a record of one win and two losses thus far in the season. Stanton rests next week, but travels to Littlefield October 13. Last week Tulia freshmen downed Littlefield by 38-0.
Stanton seventh and eighth grade teams were slated to play host to Dimmitt Saturday morning in Whiteface Stadium.
The Dogies were making up a game which had been rained out here Tuesday evening.

Abalos Uses Own Experience As Example While Teaching

By Wain Miller
Brand Staff Reporter

It isn't what you say that counts — it's the way that you say it, someone once pointed out. A teacher at Central School has adopted this theory while teaching fifth grade students.

Paul Abalos succeeds in teaching his students their reading, writing, and arithmetic in a manner which might be considered somewhat unusual.

Much of his work as a teacher is with students who have had trouble keeping up with school work in the past.

About half of the students move during the school year, changing schools frequently or dropping out of school for periods of time. Many of his students are Latin-Americans who also have language as a handicap.

Paul has a special understanding for students who are forced to move around with their families, since he grew up under much the same conditions.

"I feel that telling these students some of my own experiences helps them to see that they can be what they want to be if they want to work hard enough for it," Paul commented.

"My family was a migrant family. I was usually kept out of school four or five months every year. It was hard to keep up with class work.

"But I was fortunate enough to have understanding teachers, and I never failed," he explained. "But I feel that I could have done better if the teachers had devoted a little more time to me.

"All of my life I have been interested in education," Abalos stated. "I felt that I could help students with the same problem that I had by entering the teaching career."

Explaining that he often worked to support himself while still in high school, Paul stated that his example helps him to come closer to his students.

College had other problems to offer Paul. Before he graduated, he had a wife and three children to support.

Beginning in 1956 he taught school at Ruidoso, Tex., near the Mexican border, while attending school at Sul Ross State Teachers College in Alpine. He commuted some 64,000 miles while going to school at nights and on Saturdays.

Graduating in 1960, he began teaching at Marfa Public School in Redford, another town near the Mexican border in Texas.

At Central for the first year this year, Abalos has 29 students in his fifth grade class. Besides work in his classroom, Paul also serves as assistant Scoutmaster for a newly-formed Latin American Boy Scout troop.

After school hours, he has his own radio program over local radio station KPAN.

In his classroom teaching, his goal is "to help students prepare themselves for a successful life.

"Many of these students can improve their grades if only given a chance," Paul states. "I am trying to get these students to feel a sense of individual achievement.

"My curricula is no different from that of other fifth grade teachers. The difference in teaching is in the type of student I have. About half of the students are forced to drop out of school for long periods during the year, and it has been hard for them to keep up with their lessons in the past.

"I use more visual aids than some teachers. I also use a tape recorder which I bought for the class.

"Many of the students make mistakes in language, for instance, that they are not aware of. We use the tape recorder, and the students pick out their own mistakes. No one has to criticize them — when the students see they are wrong, they will correct themselves.

"I try to plan the lessons where the student who must be absent won't be 'lost' when he comes back to school. For instance, three students left last week, and won't be back for five weeks. I gave them a lesson outline for the period which they will be gone. When they get back to school, they will be up with the class.

"Students feel at ease in the class. They are free to discuss the lessons with me. When they say that they understand the material, we move on to something new.

"When they are free to express themselves, they develop more self confidence. It helps them to gain a sense of achievement," he explained.

Abalos commented that he faced the same problem as all classroom teachers. "The biggest problem is that students have different levels in learning."

All of the students become interested in classwork when Abalos issues out his "Bingo" cards and other games. During his teaching career, he has accumulated a number of games which he uses in class work.

One of the favorites of the students is the Bingo game. He calls out mathematics problems, the answers of which must be used to play the game.

"In this way the student is learning, but it seems to him more like playing," Paul stated. He has many other games which he uses as a teaching aid and to break up the classroom routine.

He also uses plays and skits with students to help them become more at ease. "I give everyone a part. It develops their self expression and aids them in conversation," he explained.

Paul tries to devote as much time as possible to helping individual students with their school work.

"Anytime the student wants advice about school or personal problems, he can come to me. All teachers are this way," Paul commented. "Many of the students do ask me for advice.

"I think my personal experience helps me in teaching these students," Paul admitted. "I have a motto which I picked up a long time ago which I have always remembered.

"It is this: You can't teach what you don't know, and you can't lead where you don't go."

Paul Abalos is a teacher with all of the qualifications necessary for his trade, plus a few that perhaps some teachers do not have. Where Paul is attempting to lead, he has been.

Ranchers And Farmers May Buy Seedlings

County agent Lefty Thomas announced Friday that his office now is accepting applications from farmers and ranchers for windbreak seedlings.

The applications are available through the County Agent's office or by writing the Texas Forest Service, College Station.

Windbreak species available this year are: Austrian and ponderosa pine, black locust, catalpa, Chinese elm, cottonwood, buffaloberry, mulberry, red cedar, multiflora rose, sycamore, Russian olive, euonymus and Osage orange. Black walnut stratified seeds also are available.

The seedlings are sold only for windbreaks and prevention of soil erosion, Thomas pointed out. No order for less than a total of 100 trees will be accepted.

Thomas said the cost of both seedlings and seed would be $1.50 per hundred prepaid, plus state sales tax. Shipments will begin the middle of February and end about the middle of March.

Windbreak planting guides are available free from the County Agent's office in the courthouse.

C. P. Worthans Honored At Anniversary Party

Monday, Sept. 24, the Hereford Rainbow girls hosted a surprise party honoring their Mother Advisor and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Worthan.

The girls presented the honorees with an anniversary cake. The cake was decorated with a rainbow over the center of the cake and in the center of the cake was the number 24, symbolizing the couple's twenty-fourth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Worthan has been serving as Mother Advisor for the past eight months.

Cake squares and punch were served to the following: Jan Story, LaReece Askew, Kathy Pool, Janie Noland, Jo Frances Deavenport, Kay Brogden, Kathy Billrey, Peggy Allred, Donita Allred, Patty Roach, Nancy Boyer, Carole Coffey, Judy Wiltshire, Sylvia Phipps, Denise King, Penny Jones, Cindy

Hereford's CAP Now Owns Wings

Hereford's newly-formed Civil Air Patrol flight now has wings. A group of interested citizens, along with CAP members, pledged $210 to pay for a two-place plane for use by the flight.

The plane is an L-16, with tandem seating and 85-horsepower engine, that had been assigned the Plainview squadron of the CAP. That unit is getting another plane and asked only the cost of recent maintenance service, new cover and paint job for the plane.

The plane, an old model former Army scout plane, doesn't have any radio equipment, which prevented its use in Plainview. CAP officials here said the plane would be used for training flights, orientation of Cadet members and any search and rescue work necessary. Communication with the ground would be by "drop message".

Pete Minden of Amarillo, commander of the CAP squadron to which the Hereford flight is attached, was on hand for the Friday luncheon meeting to explain how the plane would be used and how necessary expenses could be met.

More than $150 was subscribed at the close of the meeting, with the remainder to be paid within 60 days from other voluntary contributions.

ATTENDING COLLEGE
Jeanette Worthan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Worthan of Hereford, is enrolled as a freshman at West Texas State College in Canyon.

EILENE BRENNAN WILL HAVE BROADWAY DEBUT

NEW YORK (AP) — Eileen Brennan, who won off-Broadway acclaim as the leading lady of the musical spoof "Little Mary Sunshine," is being reunited with composer Rick Besoyan in her — and his — first Main Stem venture.

Miss Brennan has been cast as the heroine of "The Student Gypsy or the Prince of Liederkranz," which producer Edward Padula has scheduled for January debut.

Since appearing in "Little Mary Sunshine," she has displayed her dramatic ability in the national company of "The Miracle Worker."

The word "hurricane," or "huracan," means "big wind" in the language of the Carib Indians of the West Indies.

Childs To Conduct Chamber Seminar

A course in public relations scheduled to be held here from Oct. 8 - 11, is to be conducted by Nuel Childs, supervisory training specialist from the University of Texas, it was announced this week.

The four-night course is designed for managers, owners, and employees of retail, wholesale, and service businesses. Its purpose is to build good public relations in each business and the business community.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the course in cooperation with the Distributive Education Program of the University of Texas, Division of Extension, and Texas Education Agency. The Chamber emphasized that the business people of Hereford will find the course very worthwhile.

Some of the topics to be covered in the sessions are: "You and Public Relations," "Seeing Yourself as Others See You," to include Clayton, N. M., in order to get more information on storm fronts moving southward into the Texas and Oklahoma panhandle.

"Getting Along With People," and "Why People Behave as They Do."

The network came into being in order to provide dependable police and weather information without relying on telephone calls and police radio. County sheriff Lowell Sharp explained that the teletype will become increasingly important in freeing the radio network for emergency work, particularly since the Federal Communications Commission will narrow the broadcast band for police radio next year, thus cutting the range for dependable radio calls.

"About all we've been able to do in the past was warn Amarillo and Canyon of severe weather after it passed Hereford," Alderman said. "Having Clovis tied into the network would enable us to give better service to the Hereford area in advance of severe weather." He also stated that the network was trying

Benefield Blasts Foe Of Local Beet Plant

(Editor's Note: The following is the complete text of a statement made in Washington, D. C., Thursday by the president of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association in additional support of a proposed beet refinery here and answering questions raised by the major opponent of the proposed Hereford plant. It is presented as a matter of public information to the people of Deaf Smith County.)

"I am H. L. Benefield, President of the Texas Beet Growers Association. I want to make this additional statement because of the implied criticism of the arrangements which farmers in the Hereford-Dimmitt area of Texas have made with Holly Sugar Corporation for the new sugar factory to be built in that area. I want to emphasize first that the growers in my area of Texas have proposed these arrangements to Holly and that we are not only willing but anxious that Holly build the proposed factory and that we begin supplying beets to it on the terms proposed.

"We have been growing beets on a limited basis in the area for about 16 years. We have been and are now absorbing freight costs of $1.86 per ton. We have no factory; we have very limited acreage; we do not have the advantages of by-products or the delivery facilities which we will have with the factory. Nor do we have any assurance from year to year that we can continue to grow beets.

"We have talked principally to two processors during the last several years about a factory in our area. These are our present processor, American Crystal, and Holly, both of which we believe are genuinely interested in expansion, in contrast to others, such as Great Western, whose true interest in expansion we have been given much reason to doubt. During all our discussions, by far the most favorable proposal made to us is that which we have enthusiastically agreed to with Holly. The next best offer we received involved a contribution by growers of $2 per ton over a 20-year period. This obligation would have been tied to the land title and would have been a burden on the ownership of the land during that period. If the grower for any reason discontinued beet production, he still would have been obligated to pay at the rate of approximately $30 per acre of those acres pledged. Our group of growers voted to accept this proposal, basing their decision on our ability to produce beets in Texas on a very economical basis. However, this proposal was subsequently withdrawn by the processor.

"If this were the only basis on which we could get into the beet business on a large scale in my area, we would still accept this arrangement. However, as the formal request for acreage commitment which we have filed jointly with Holly states, we have worked out a much more attractive basis with Holly and one which will be considerably more profitable to the growers.

"This involves the contribution by the growers of $1 per ton of beets for only about 10 years, instead of 20 as under the other proposal just mentioned. It incorporates the basic Red River Valley price scale, under which American Crystal has bought and continues to buy many millions of tons of beets and which has been approved by the Department of Agriculture. The $1 per ton contribution is to continue only until a total of $5,000,000 has been paid, at which time the return to the grower will go up by the $1 amount. Thus, under the arrangements which have been worked out with Holly our return as beet growers right from the start should be as good as the return we have been getting with a freight cost payment of $1.86 per ton.

"In addition, we will have the factory located in our area; be assured of having a large beet acreage for as long as we want it; have the advantages of available by-products and good local receiving facilities; improve our land values; and at the end of the 10-year period we will be a dollar a ton better off than we are now. We cannot emphasize too strongly that we think these arrangements are fair and good from the grower point-of-view.

"Tested by what has been offered to us by others — and in the case of the company whose president is shedding crocodile tears for us growers, there has been an offer of exactly nothing, although we have several times inquired of this man about a mill in our area — the arrangements we have arrived at are equitable and fair. We are convinced, and Mr. Shoup (Merrill Shoup, president of Holly Sugar) said in no uncertain terms yesterday, that no mill will be built unless it can be done on these terms. We recognize that sugar mills are very costly nowadays and that even with help to the processor to this extent the return to the processor is not likely to be great.

"When I say that the growers in my area are completely satisfied and happy to get the Hereford-Dimmitt mill built on this basis, I am speaking for more than 900 farmers and landowners who as of September 20 had signed applications for almost 90,000 acres of beets on these terms on a five-year rotation basis, and who have already firmly committed themselves in writing to make the $1 per ton contribution. We will be glad to show the Department these signed documents, if that is desired.

"These 900 farmers and 90,000 acres are from only the four-county area. Many hundreds of other growers and thousands of acres from the surrounding areas, including some who are here now, also wanted to apply for beet acreage on these terms and to make the $1 per ton contribution, but they could not be accommodated because the factory will be able to take care of only a little more than one-third of the acreage offered even in the four county area. As an example of the overwhelming acceptance by growers of the Holly-Texas Beet Growers Association proposal, we refused to give any forms of application to the farmers in one county which was outside the area, but they managed to get hold of a copy, had it mimeographed and went ahead and signed up applications for more than 5,000 acres and sent them in to us.

"The people who now raise question as to whether the growers in Texas want Holly to come in on the terms proposed are doing so without any basis whatsoever and are doing it for their own selfish purposes which are not related, in our judgement, to any genuine interest in the expansion of the beet sugar industry.

"After listening to yesterday's and today's requests for 1964 acreage reserve, it is clear to me that there is only one applicant on which the Department can really count to build a mill for commencement in 1964, and that is Holly. No other applicant has committed itself so far, has shown such an overwhelming grower interest, can show the record of beet producing ability, has taken so many concrete actions to accomplish an actual expansion of the industry, or has the record of experience and expansion that Holly has. We in Texas and Holly are ready to go. There will be a mill in our area of Texas processing beets in 1964 on terms entirely and overwhelmingly acceptable to the growers, if the Department grants the acreage request and does it quickly.

"We would caution the Department to consider carefully the source of the questions as to the capital contribution. They come mainly from a company which during the last 25 years or so has not built one single new factory and has closed down several, while other companies have built eight. They also come from a man whose opposition to expansion of the industry has been notorious for many years. They come from a company whose president professes that he is interested in expansion, but who had a better chance than any one else in the industry to take advantage of the new provisions for expansion, but who has not even filed a request in this proceeding. We know that this company has been talking with many groups of growers from many areas which want a factory. We hope that these growers know the people they are talking with well enough not to be misled or duped.

dictate that there should be no new sugar industry in west Texas.

"We think it would be a tragic blow not only to us in the Hereford-Dimmitt area but also to all other in the Southwest if these efforts should succeed to torpedo the one new 1964 factory project that is real. If that should happen there would be no factory built in the entire area and the one group that is ready, willing and able to carry out now the national policy of expanding the beet industry would be stopped. We growers from my area, more than 900 strong in just the four counties, we plead that the Secretary not let himself be diverted from the real purpose of this hearing, by those whose selfish interests

"Neither we nor Holly claim that the arrangements we have agreed on should have any bearing on other beet growing areas. They have been worked out in the light of our particular situation in the Hereford-Dimmitt area, our economic ability to grow beets there, our desire to induce the building of a factory, the fact that an expenditure of some $18,000,000 is something a processor will do only if he sees a reasonable chance of a return. This constitutes no precedent for any other area, therefore, and we want growers from other areas, as well as their self-appointed spokesman at this hearing, to realize this."

Housing Ready For Overnight Air Tour Stop

Housing arrangements have been completed for the overnight stop of the All-Texas Air Tour in Hereford on Monday, Oct. 8.

Members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce aviation committee were informed that all available hotel and motel housing had been booked in Hereford, with about 11 reservations also booked in Dimmitt.

The committee met for lunch Friday to discuss final details of the tour.

The tour is a mass flight of civil aircraft which will wing its way more than 3,000 miles on the 14th annual tour.

Beginning officially at Temple on Oct. 6, it will make 41 stops during the week-long flight, with overnight stops at Beaumont, Texhoma Lodge, Hereford, Marfa, Del Rio, Brownsville, Ft. Clark Ranch and ending at Mineral Wells on Oct. 13.

Registrations already have been received from 12 states and Mexico for the flight. Purpose of the tour is to point up the safety of mass movement, the utility of small aircraft, the betterment of "Good Neighbor Relations" and to publicize the March of Dimes.

Special weather reports will be made available to the tour. Hoye Dunham, chief of the Austin weather bureau and Texas aviation liaison official, has alerted personnel in eight weather stations near the overnight stops to have complete weather forecasts for the day's flight ready by 7 a. m. each day.

The tour will arrive in Hereford at 4:30 p. m. Monday, Oct. 8, and will depart about 8 a. m.

Eight Hereford Couples Attend Dance Jamboree

Eight couples from the Hereford Pantaloons and Stetsons Square Dance Club attended the Panhandle Association Square Dance Jamboree at the Vic Mon Motor Hotel ballroom in Amarillo on Saturday night, Sept. 22.

The local club joined the Panhandle Square Dance Association before the jamboree. Mrs. Ray Williams of Hereford was present for the business meeting as sweetheart representative of the Hereford club. She also attended the afternoon clinic.

There were 19 clubs from the Panhandle area represented and over 600 people present. Sixty-six squares were on the floor at one time, dancing to the varied calls of 26 callers, hailing from as far away as Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.

The next jamboree is scheduled for Dec. 1 at Cactus, Tex.

After the jamboree, breakfast was served, followed by a short program and the election of Mrs. Cecil Jones, a member of the Chiefs and Squaws Club of Amarillo, as the Panhandle Association Sweetheart. All members were urged to expand the membership of their local clubs.

Anyone interested in learning to square dance is asked to contact Floyd Messenger, president, or Mrs. Kenneth Gooch, secretary and treasurer, of the

Mrs. Wayne Fuller was chosen as leader of the Alkman School group, which will meet on Tuesdays at 2:30 p. m. in the Camp Fire Hut.

Mrs. David Hix and Mrs. Bill Boatman were named leaders of the group from Central Elementary. That group will meet at 2:30 p. m. each Monday at the Camp Fire Hut.

Heading the Shirley Elementary School group are Mrs. K. C. Bryant, Mrs. G. D. Caison Jr. and Mrs. Jack Kassahn. The group plans to meet each Thursday at the Hereford Community Center.

The leader for Northwest Elementary's group will be Mrs. Billy Wayne Sisson, who announced the group would meet at 2:30 p. m. on Thursdays at the Camp Fire Hut.

Of course, sugar beets aren't everything and never will be. So spend Monday afternoon on the county field tour and see what work is being done on grain sorghum research, weed control and use of grasses around here. The tour leaves from the courthouse at 1:30 p. m. Monday, Oct. 1.

Deadline for enrolling in the adult conversational French or Spanish courses is Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 2. The course in French will be taught by Mrs. Monica Helman, while Spanish is to be taught by Sue Hess and Paul Abalos. If you're interested, call Mrs. Dorothy Mercer at EM4-0618 between 8:30 a. m. and 4 p. m. Monday or Tuesday. The courses will run two hours each for two nights a week for ten weeks. The Garden Beautiful Club is making plans now for its annual Tour of Homes, which will be held on Friday, Oct. 12. Five homes are to be shown, with the theme, "Hobbies With Flowers".

Hereford had a good night against the woefully weak Plainview Bulldogs here Friday. It was the first time this season that the offense and defense have been clicking together. We just can't praise the defense enough. Had Plainview not completed that last second pass for 52 yards, it would have had a plus-two-yards total offense for the entire night; instead it had 54 yards total offense.

Next week, Hereford goes to Muleshoe, whose team played Clovis to a surprising 14-14 tie Friday evening. In connection with that, the Mary DeShazo Parent - Teacher Association will sponsor a chili supper before the Hereford - Muleshoe game, starting at 5:30 p. m. and lasting two hours. Hereford fans are particularly invited to attend.

Blippus Community will have an all-day singing on Sunday, Sept. 30, starting at 11:30 a. m. with a basket lunch at noon. Everyone is invited to attend.

Dusty Randall of Amarillo will begin teaching square dancing at the Hereford Community Center on Thursday, Oct. 4. Lessons will be on the first and third Thursdays of the month for anyone who is interested. If you'd like to join, call Floyd Messenger, sponsor of the Pantaloons and Stetsons, or Mrs. Kenneth Gooch, P&S secretary - treasurer.

Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. will be instructor in the Laubach Language Course at the Hereford Good Will Center, 135 West Third. The class will be held Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 2 and 4, starting at 8 p. m. All those who are interested in taking the course, which is built on the theme "each one teach one", are invited to attend.

Desmond Barry, Republican candidate for Congressman at Large, will be guest speaker at the Hereford Kiwanis Club on Thursday, Oct. 4. The meeting is held at noon in the IOOF Hall.

Deaf Smith County residents are invited to attend the dedication of the Soil and Water Conservation Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Southwestern Great Plains Field Station, which will be held Wednesday, Oct. 3, at 2 p. m. at the Bushland Station.

Deaf Smith County United Fund president Wayne Thomas and campaign chairman Russell Carver had a meeting for group captains Saturday morning at the Hereford State Bank. Kick-off for the $25,000 fund drive will be held in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom at 7:30 a. m. on Monday, Oct. 15.

At this time refreshments will be served by Jim Wiman, courtesy of Gifford-Hill Western.

Accident...

Mrs. Seigler was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital for treatment. At press time, her injuries were not believed to be serious, according to T. E. Seigler, hospital administrator.

The accident occurred, according to police reports, as the Seigler vehicle apparently failed to stop at a stop sign. Mrs. Seigler was headed south on Roosevelt.

The 1962 sedan collided broadside with a 1958 model station wagon driven by Max Gauna, 47, 323 Ave. I. Gauna was headed east.

Both vehicles jumped the curb at 500 E. Third before coming to a stop. The Seigler car slammed into a tree after jumping the curb.

Hereford Police Department officers investigating the accident estimated damages to the 1962 sedan at $500 with approximately $450 being done to the station wagon.

THE GBS METHOD

NEW YORK — The cast of "The Affair" rehearsed for the Broadway drama without any midday pause for lunch. "It may seem a bit off cue," said director John Fernald,

"but I have found that it works. Casts don't really work after lunch."

To head off possible protests within the troupe, he added: "This is the way Bernard Shaw worked."

FIVE-YEAR PLANS OFF-BROADWAY
NEW YORK — Producers Richard Barr and Clinton Wilder are making long-range plans for off-Broadway productions.

The pair, identified with avantgarde projects for several seasons, have leased the Cherry Lane Theater in Greenwich Village for five years. Besides productions planned for extended run, they plan a series of single performance showcases of experimental dramas.

But, the total for the month was given a big boost as a permit was issued to the First Christian Church for its construction program. Value of the permit was placed at $189,000 bringing the monthly total to $265,775.

September, due to the large building permit, proved to be the biggest month as far as the value of permits was concerned. However, both July and August permits topped the $200,000 mark with $213,650 and $237,375 respectively.

As far as the total number of permits issued, August was the big month. Eleven permits were issued for homes, one for $20,000 commercial construction, plus permits calling for $12,875 for alterations, repairs, and additions.

July was next with its permits calling for the construction of nine new residences, a duplex, and the $75,000 apartment house. Permits for alterations, additions, and repairs totaled $32,550.

In September, only four residential permits were issued for a total of $75,450 plus three additional permits for additions and alteration valued at $1325 and the $189,000 permit for church construction.

Rogers...

pattern I would live to be a better man."

He stated that one of the greatest needs of this country was for all to "have a belief in their fellow man, have faith in their neighbors and work together to solve the country's problems."

As he spoke, Rogers turned to the accomplishments of the Democratic Party.

"I ask you to look back 30 years. One party almost had the barn door kicked down," he charged.

It took good artisans working through two wars — World War II and the Korean War — to build the country back, he continued.

"The United States was so weakened that foreign nations felt it was time to knock us off," he declared.

Turning to communism, Rogers told the group, "Don't let anyone kid you that communism is going places. We have stood firm and prevented them from doing all that they wanted to do."

Communism is in a bad way, he continued, and "in our lifetimes we will see it go down the drain."

As he spoke on the many problems facing the United States Rogers turned to the problems faced by American farmers today.

Speaking of the situation, he commented that there has been "lots of trouble about farm legislation" in Washington.

But, there has never been any farm legislation unless two-thirds of the farmers vote for it, he stated.

"Our great farming community is being criticized by boys listening to men in plush offices who want to control all the money," he declared.

"They're always talking about enslaving the farmer (with government programs). But, you people know that you can't buy a $10,000 tractor with 10-cent corn or five-cent wheat or 25-cent per bale cotton."

The farmer knows that it is impossible to have a controlled economy and then throw him to the wolves on the world market, stated the Pampa Democrat.

"The secret of America, in my opinion, is the courage and stability of the people willing to stay on the farms and exercise their independence," declared the district congressman. In turning on Castro, Rogers declared that "Cuba is one of the most important issues we will face in a lifetime."

"When Batista took over Cuba, he took over control of the land. One of the main promises of Castro as he fought Batista was to peasants stating that they would own land. Castro has betrayed them."

"The communists sent word to Castro — and Castro was a fraud from the beginning — that his power rested in the land."

Rogers charged, "Castro took the land from the people and has kept it. He has since been executing the very people who were responsible for his winning."

In comparing his tactic to the Democratic Party's policy, the incumbent representative said, "The Democratic Party has always been for the man who owns land and against monopolies and power in the hands of a few."

As he continued to speak on the Cuban situation, Rogers commented on the two proposals he has submitted to Congress dealing with ships carrying goods to Castro.

The first was, an amendment to the foreign aid bill, would cut foreign aid to countries whose ships are carrying goods to Cuba, he explained.

This raised a furor since many of the ships carrying these goods to Cuba come to the United States after unloading and pick up foreign aid goods for their country, he declared.

"Since four out of every five dollars in foreign aid is goods, we have a two-edged sword," the representative said. "Big business didn't want to be interfered with and this is the reason the amendment caused trouble."

He pointed out that some labor unions — particularly the longshoremen — have a "great opportunity to show the American people where they stand on communism" if they refused to load or unload ships that have come from Cuba.

Rogers continued pointing out the second amendment he introduced provided that ships which had docked in Cuba would be barred from U. S. ports except in "dire emergency".

"Some are worried about being fair to our Allies. I am not worried about being fair to other nations. I am thinking of Cuba," the congressman declared.

"It is time we take a stand and say this is as far as we will go."

"In conclusion," said the incumbent, "never at any time in our history has there been such a need for unity. As the leader of the free world we are beset on all sides, not only by our enemies, but by our friends."

"We are facing one of our greatest challenges — economically and scientifically — and it is not the time for petty politics and mudslinging to separate the people of this country."

IT'S NOT CHEAPER to Eat Money!

"It's cheaper to eat money than food" may sound like a joke but it's not funny to families who literally "eat up their dollars" by not counting their pennies. On the other hand, eating the best foods is cheaper when they're bought at COOPER'S because our storewide LOW PRICES cut food bills down to budget size. If you're paying more than COOPER'S low prices - you're as good as "eating money" . . . and THAT's not funny.

Pioneer Study Club Program Is Titled 'Time To Begin'

Pioneer Study Club opened the new club year on Tuesday, Sept. 25, with a full roster of thirty members.

The Japanese Dining Room of the Western Wheel Inn was the scene of the luncheon served at 12:30. Glitter place cards marked the seating arrangement for the members.

Low mass arrangements of red and yellow chrysanthemums and dahlias decorated the tables. Mrs. C. R. Walsler gave the invocation marking the opening of the meeting. President's greeting was extended by Mrs. Ralph McCullough.

Roll call was answered to the questions: "Traveler! Where have you been?" and "Stay-at-home! What have you done?"

Mrs. Bess Werner read the club constitution and by-laws as a preview to the work of the new club year.

Members of the yearbook committee, Mesdames Ray Johnson, L. H. Lookingbill and O. G. Hill Sr., distributed the new yearbooks and gave a preview of coming events in the discussion of the yearbook.

The title of the day's program was called "Time To Begin" as a tie-in with the year's study of "Time-God's Gift" for the 1962-1963 club year. The yearbooks are printed in purple ink on white paper to carry out the club colors of purple and white.

A general discussion of the local project, the Golden Age pioneers; the Top of Texas district project, libraries, Texas lore and scholarships; and the general Federation of Women's Clubs projects-Care, which includes payment of salaries for teachers to help with the literacy problem in eight countries with Texas having the responsibility of teachers salaries in Guatemala; were the topics of business for the day.

Plans were made for representatives to attend the workshop and board meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Top of Texas District, to be held in Canadian on Oct. 4.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mesdames O. G. Hill Sr., Paul Rudd, Allen Bell and Ray Johnson.

Members present for the meeting and luncheon included Mesdames Fred Barrett, Allen Bell, Buri France, N. E. Gass,

Cuban Situation Offers Contrast Of U. S. and Russian Intentions

The Cuban situation, without doubt, poses the greatest threat ever lodged against this continent. At the same time, Congressional action during the past few days spells out in black and white the feelings of the people of the United States. Should the administration take any action other than a firm stand in behalf of American defense, it will definitely do so against Congressional and public sentiment. Meanwhile, we read that Mr. Castro's sister is in Mexico seeking asylum for two of her brothers and other leaders under the Castro regime, and therein rests a case which should distinguish for the entire world the intentions of this nation vs. the communist nations.

Down through the years, the United States has maintained strong naval fortifications in Cuba. These bases have been picketed, frequently accused and often cited as an example of American tyranny. Yet, during the Castro regime, including its many outrages, no Cuban leader ever thought of seeking exile because the U.S. forces were there. Russia lands a few thousand men and limited equipment, and the picture changes entirely. Despite the things that Castro has said about us as an "enemy," it seems that we merit far more trust than he is willing to extend Russia as an ally.

America, too, can learn a lesson from Cuba in that it took only a few months before Russia gobbled up its small "friend." Well-fed people are now on short rations, and an island accustomed to freedom has become a land without justice, inhabited by people without recourse; its citizens are now at the beck and call of communist dictators.

Sports Interest Finds Growth

The time when father had exclusive rights to the sports page is a thing of the past. Mother and the girls have moved in on the field of sports in such a big way, and there is no argument about their growing interest.

For example, the football contest has appeared in the Brand only two weeks this season. The first week, a housewife shot away out front with a decisive lead, and this past week there was a tie for first place; both were women.

Looking back a scant five years, practically no women entered the contest at all, except in such cases where the men used the names of their wives or daughters chiefly for the purpose of having another chance in the contest. Today the ladies are not only winning top honors, but are also submitting entries in droves.

Thanks to televised baseball games, more and more women are well informed regarding the game, and can pretty well win every argument with the male sex when it comes to team rosters, batting averages, and finer points of the great American sport.

The trend is excellent, and no doubt about it. The growing interest in sports among the fairer sex has already placed added emphasis upon participation. In addition, in these days of mechanical labor saving gadgets, the interest provides a wholesome field of occupation. Mostly, though, the ladies are discovering that sports can be a lot of fun, and a mutual interest of this type is bound to bring many families closer together.

Sports have always held an important place in the lives and development of America, and now that the women are interested the potential for development has at least doubled — and may afford an even greater percentage of increase.

Private Museum Contains Outstanding Old Relics

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

Today I went to a museum—not one of those housed in a large building, but sort of a personal one, but with so many interesting things: a large number of them catalogued and ready for display. These things have been collected over a period of some seventy years, most of them gathered by one person but many others given by people from almost every state in the union and some from foreign countries, at least seven.

These things range from sharks' teeth, found on our own staked plains, to Dinosaur teeth and part of the thigh bone and knuckle of one of the largest Mesozoic reptiles that roamed our land so many years ago. They were queer animals indeed as they had gizzards like fowls, with huge rounded gizzard stones as slick and shiny as an agate.

There are Indian arrowheads from the tiniest of half an inch width to the larger one for hunting and killing the buffalo, bear, deer, or other large animals which were from 8 to 10 inches long. A very rare specimen is a Clovis arrow point which is 2 1/2 or 3 inches long, very slender with a fluted edge, the teeth so tiny that one wonders at the time, patience and skill that made such a delicate, deadly weapon possible. One can imagine the lethal qualities of it when shot from a bow with a very strong arm. The flint is of a lovely shade of pink.

Also, there is a Yuma Indian arrow point, made in almost the same manner but the workmanship is different. It also has a fluted edge which reminds one of the new serrated knives, of steel, but this is of flint and each tiny edge is perfect, making it rare indeed. This one of a different flint, as it is pink, with white spots of varying small size.

There is a scalping knife, perhaps six inches in length and made of Obsidian glass. This glass is usually very dark gray or black, but this particular knife is of many tones of brown and black. Another scalping knife was only 4 or 5 inches long, but with a curving blade and a small stump to fasten a handle to, for quicker, easier use, it, too, is made of Obsidian glass. These were made by the Acoma Indians.

The Indians revered the glass, believing it sacred as it was obtained from volcanoes, and is as hard as flint; great heat from the volcanoes, forged it into almost unbreakableness.

There is an Apache arrow point made for war which has a narrow neck and jutting points to hold the arrow head deep in the body, or tear the flesh as it was pulled from the depths of the wound. Somehow this seemed to fit in with the history of the deadly savage Apaches. There also are arrow points from the Blackfoot Indians of the Dakotas, and many, many scrapings knives used to scrape buffalo hides to be cured for robes, tents, and travois for traveling. Smaller ones were used for smaller animals, whose furs and skins were used for clothing, and there is even a four-bladed knife, each blade with a different cutting edge.

There were many types of rocks, some of volcanic ash, others were the Indian hammerstones used in making their weapons, the metates and mano stones used in grinding meal, the pestle and mortar for breaking or cracking corn. Often near a camp ground where there was water one would find as many as 50 or more metates worn in the large rocks, each using the mano stone for grinding. The rocks were huge, many were of an arm size and one can imagine the women exchanging small talks as they ground the meal for their bread.

Also, one can see a shafting stone, looking like grandmother's old washboard, and used by the warriors for honing their arrow shafts to a true line for more accuracy in the hunt and in war. Most of the mano stones are round but there is one, a rectangle, which was used in a square or oblong metates and it sat upon three legs. A rose stone is rose-shaped, but more like a cabbage rose as the petals are indistinct. This is a rare find from the Palo

Because the average American can see the Cuban situation plainly, they have told their feelings to their representatives and senators; they want no more dilly-dally tactics. They want a firm stand on the part of U. S. leaders, because they do not choose to follow in the footsteps of the people of Cuba.

Seldom do the American people speak out in such clear and concise tones but, when they do the course is well charted. As a people, we are perhaps a bit hard to push around; We do not always take the trouble to vote or to express our sentiments; We are often confused and seldom unified — but when a clear-cut issue threatens our peaceful existence or our way of American life, we usually mean what we say, and generally make it stick.

Eye Bank Offers Hope For Blind

Lions Clubs over the Panhandle, including Hereford, are currently conducting a campaign in cooperation with the Hi-Plains Eye Bank. The object is to secure eyes, after death, to be used in cornea transplants in the territory.

So far, it seems, only a limited number of people have seen fit to designate their eyes for this purpose. The choice, of course, is on a voluntary basis, and no doubt will require a bit of time before many people designate their eyes for this purpose. The clubs do have a start, however, and report several successful transplants already performed where the recipient is able to see in a normal fashion.

To say the least, the idea shocks many people and even proves revolting to a few. Others are inclined to view the process with favor, arguing that they are happy to think that someone, otherwise destined to remain blind, will be able to see again as a result of their participation.

Previously, many of the transplanted eyes have been contributed from prisons. The chief difference, seems to rest in the fact that many of these donors are confronted with death, whereas the average person is inclined to put this unpleasant topic as far from his mind as possible, and for as long as possible.

All in all, it takes a bit of thinking but, once the program is widely known, we are inclined to predict that it will be received with more and more favor on the part of the average person. Medicine has made great strides in that the transplant of eyes is possible, but without general cooperation and public acceptance the accomplishment will become automatically void.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Letters To The Editor...

If you were the editor of a newspaper, what would be your policy in regard to publication of "Letters to the Editor?" This question is timely for two reasons.

First this is Constitution Week, and a portion of the first-adopted amendment to our U. S. Constitution provides that "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."

Second, a controversial letter in last week's Vindicator caused some readers to wonder how the editor decides whether or not a letter should be run.

Let us look first at the meaning and implication of the quoted amendment. Clearly, the freedom of the press is not to be abridged by Congress; or, more broadly speaking, by the government. The Vindicator editor believes that the use of this freedom — which in reality is the people's freedom — is just as clearly not to be abridged by the editor.

One of the editor's obligations, as a custodian of this precious press freedom, is to run news, pictures, "Letters to the Editor" and other material regardless of his personal approval or disapproval of the subject matter.

Last week's letter was one of hundreds of controversial letters published through the years by a succession of Vindicator editors. It aroused more comment than usual, perhaps, because of its stated and implied criticism of a number of individuals and groups, and even of an entire race of people.

Certainly such criticisms were not in keeping with the editor's thinking; indeed, one of them was directed against the Vindicator itself and others were directed against a program editorially supported by the Vindicator.

Nevertheless, the writer of the letter had a right to use the Vindicator as an open forum. As long as his opinions were not libelous, obscene, traitorous or otherwise contrary to public-interest policies established by practically all newspapers, he had a right NOT to have HIS freedom of the press abridged.

This is one editor's opinion. What is yours? The Vindicator's "Letters to the Editor" column is yours for the using!

VOTING MACHINE NEEDS DEBATED

How many voting machines does Randall County need? This was the question under discussion Monday as commissioners court held its regular session. C. Y. Johnson said it was necessary to purchase only 30 machines. Commissioners Glenn Dowlen and Clarence Beckman contended that this would not be enough even for present needs. Beckman pointed to the rapid growth of the county. He said at least 36 machines are needed at present. He also noted that standby machines may be needed in case of a breakdown. Judge Wayland Angel said there are approximately 11,000 voters in the county. The company which manufactures the machines which the county contemplates buying says about 300 voters can cast ballots on one machine in a day. If this is true, 36 and a fraction machines would be needed for the upcoming election. Beckman said approximately 42 machines would be needed by 1964 when the next presidential election is held.

PLANT TO MANUFACTURE TRAILERS

A new industry, which will employ from 40 to 50 people and will manufacture steel camping trailers, is nearing completion and should be in operation in Texico within 30 days. Panhandle Trailer Company is the name of the new business which is owned by Carl Penn, and which has for the past three years been manufacturing Thunderbird Campers at a plant in Fort Sumner. Penn, who also owns Transport Trucking Company in Texico, has moved the industry from Fort Sumner to Texico and the size of the operation is being increased.

PALO DURO DAM SIZE CUT

An amended application for a water permit, filed last week by Palo Duro River Authority, reveals a considerable scaling down of the size and scope of the proposed dam which would impound a lake in Hansford County and be paid for by taxpayers of both Hansford and Ochiltree Counties. The amended application asks permission to impound reservoir of 50,370 acre feet of water, about half of the original 89,000 acre feet asked in the original application. This would have a surface area of 2100 acres instead of the original 3160 acres. However, the new application asks for a new reservoir at peak capacity of 170,100 acre feet and a surface of 4780 acres. Interpolation of the old area capacity curve indicates that 8500 acres would be covered by a pool of 170,100 acre feet, according to an engineering estimate made for Judge Gene Steed. This would be an area nearly twice as large as the 4800 acres first specified.

RAIN, HAIL WINDS DAMAGE CROPS

"I just saw my crop flowing down the road." That was the comment of one area farmer Saturday after strong winds, heavy hail and rain hit the Olton area late in the afternoon. Many residents took to their cellars while others kept a wary eye on the abounding black cloud which dumped up to five and a half inches of rain in spots. The hail damage centered along a strip two miles wide and 10 miles long, running east to west, about five miles north of town. What was believed to have been a small twister swirled down at the Willie Gene Green farm, six miles north and one east of town. Green's barn was destroyed, some new aluminum pipe bent, and a few cotton trailers damaged. A storm door was blown out in the kitchen of their home and splinters of glass dotted paneling on the opposite wall of the room. Some farm equipment, covered with tarps, was parked in the yard. During the storm, the tarps were not moved.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm takes a non-progressive view toward space this week, his letter indicates.)

Dear editor:

A man asked me the other day if I was opposed to exploring outer space.

"Didn't know Congress was going to put it to a vote," I said.

"That's not what I mean," he said. "But from what I read in one of your letters a while back, I got the notion you think we could be spending our money some place else."

"We are spending our money some place else; in fact, every place else there is," I told him, and added that I wasn't opposed to exploring space, but space ain't my main preoccupation.

Here's the thing: we ought to explore space, but it has always struck me as funny to speculate on a scientist taking aim to fire a space ship a million miles out into the unknown and having to stop to scratch a chigger bite. What sort of scientific advance is it if a scheduled trip to the moon, after years of painstaking planning and with all lights flashing GO, has to be postponed because the astronaut has a bad cold?

This year we're spending five billion dollars on space, and seven million on trying to get fresh water from the ocean. That's what I'm talking about. I can see a lot more fun in having all the fresh water this bindweed farm needs than in traveling through space. I think we ought to whip space, but I'm in favor of whipping droughts, flies, chiggers and mosquitoes too.

Now I know people will say, yeah, but space is a great new adventure, nobody knows what's out there, there may be untold resources, there may be even creatures more intelligent than we.

Well, there may be, but my position is, if there are intelligent creatures out there, why aren't they looking us up? Let's let them share at least part of the tax burden and explore us. There must be as much scientific data they could collect from us as we from them.

This is like saying a man isn't really educated until he's visited Europe. Or making it worse, a European isn't educated till he has visited us. My contention is that a man can be ignorant either way, whether he goes or stays.

I hope my television set doesn't blow a tube right when we send a man to the moon. I'll be there watching, fly-swatter in hand.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Just for fun, if you have antiques, historical or otherwise, old relics of the past, Indian or otherwise, why not write a letter, stating its name, its age and a bit of its history and send it to me at 206 Ave. J., Hereford, and let's try to see how many antiques or relics the county has that are suitable for a museum. After all a museum is not just to make money for the county but to preserve its way of beginning and the way our pioneers lived when our county was not a county but only a part of a vast plain covered with grass, roving buffalo, Indians, and wild life peculiar to our climate.

OFF THE Shelf

By H. A. Tuck
A 12-year-old boy tells the story of his grandfather's battle with the U. S. Government in Fire On The Mountain by Edward Abbey.

Abbey is an Easterner who has lived many years in New Mexico, Arizona and Utah. This bearded author has written a novel based very roughly on an actual event.

Remember a few years ago when a small rancher in New Mexico fought the government to a standstill when they wanted his land?

That is the theme of this fine, little book.

Billy Vogel's Starr arrives in southern New Mexico to spend the summer with his grandfather, owner of the Box V Ranch that had been settled by his father years ago.

Vogel's owns a small spread on the south side of the White Sands Missile Range and tells the government where it can go when it tries to buy his land.

Billy, not quite a boy, still not quite a man, sees the harsh beauty of the land, with its dry washes, its mountains, its sparse color and appeal.

He sides with his grandfather and vows to help fight the threatened invasion of the ranch.

Riding the fence between the two factions is the personable Lee Mackie, Vogel's son-in-law and a good friend. Lee is torn by love for the land on one hand, and his political and social aspirations on the other.

When the government's patience has been stretched to the limit, Billy is put on a train for home. But he jumps off and returns to be with his grandfather.

At last there is a showdown for the arid, parched ranch. It ends with a battle, not for the land, but for the principles that the defiant old rancher holds dearer than any talk of "Eminent domain" or "national security".

This book probably will have little appeal in the East. But to those in the Southwest and the West it presents a wonderful description of the regions almost hidden beauty. Abbey has done a nice job of painting a life-like picture of the old man, his grandson and the ranch they love so much.

Of his book, Edward Abbey says, it was "written in defense of all the lost people whose homes are stolen and destroyed by government for the sake of more and bigger highways, more and bigger dams, more and bigger factories, more and bigger prisons, more and bigger bombing ranges, more and bigger government."

If that was his aim, Abbey has accomplished the task he set for himself. He has argued briefly, but well, for the defense.

The book is on the reserved fiction shelf of Deaf Smith County library.

F. L. EICKE, president of the Deaf Smith County Grain Sorghum Producers Association, looks at some of his own maize, which is about ready for harvest. Eicke is heading a county-wide drive for membership and participation in the organization. The local group is part of the national organization that is seeking additional markets and handling research on grain sorghum production and uses. (GSPA Photo)

THROUGH MARKETS AND SERVICE

County's Grain Sorghum Group Outlines Program

Officers and members of the Deaf Smith County Grain Sorghum Producers Association, working with area officials, are planning an expanded program for the organization.

To acquaint elevator operators and community officers with results of unified plans in marketing the feed grains, a breakfast will be held at the Western Wheel Inn at 7 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 2.

F. L. Eicke, president of the Deaf Smith County Grain Sorghum Producers Association, and other county officials recently participated in a directors and officers leadership and planning session at the organization headquarters in Amarillo. Eicke reported that a vigorous program of domestic and foreign market development activities, as well as expanded efforts in research and membership service for 1963, were outlined by directors and staff. The program, he said, promises to add to the economic value of grain sorghum in this and other High Plains counties when supported and implemented by local farmers through the association.

Deaf Smith County with a reported 106,000 acres of grain sorghum yielding an average of 4,350 pounds per acre, can expect an income of at least $5,063,000 from the crop this year.

Eicke indicated that Deaf Smith County grain sorghum producers' participation in the research market development and service program calls for an investment on their part of only about $8,000, based on the present proposed association budget, payable by members at two pounds per thousand marketed. Membership information programs and individual farmer contact will be underway during the next few weeks, following Tuesday's "kick-off" drive. Elbert Harp, Abernathy farmer, is president of the area-wide commodity group; Deaf Smith County officers include: Eicke; Tommy Carnahan, vice president; Ed Dulzik Jr., secretary-treasurer; and Curtis Roach, elevator director to the GSPA board.
