Curtis Brinkley seems to be enjoying the taking of a pint from his body during Wednesday afternoon's visit of the Coffee Memorial Blood Center's mobile unit to the Hereford Community Center. Brinkley's donation was among 35 pints given by Deaf Smith County citizens. Hereford closed out the year with a 69-pint-per-month average, a fact which please blood center officials.

Hereford Residents Give 35 Pints in Blood Stop

Thirty-five pints of blood were given yesterday by local residents for a yearly total of 833 pints. It was announced this morning by Joan Bookout, local blood drive chairman.

During 1978, Hereford citizens averaged a monthly total of 69 pints which was way above the projected goal of 40 pints per month. Hereford is the only community visited monthly by Coffee Memorial Blood Center, located in Amarillo.

was designated for the following:
Hazel McCutchen, 1 pint; Russell Hunter, 6 pints; Joel Valdez, 12 pints; Randy Dickson, 1 pint; Lois Mills, 8 pints; Delva Emanuel, 2 pints; Caroline Akers, 1 pint; and blood insurance, 4 pints.

The blood mobile will be in Hereford again Jan. 24.

Administrator Indicted in Dimmitt

DIMITT (AP) - Charging failure to provide emergency medical assistance to an infant who died, a Castro County grand jury today indicted the administrator of a hospital where the infant was taken.

Castro County District Attorney Jimmy Davis said the grand jury returned the Class C misdemeanor indictment after midnight today. The West Texas probe began last week after Isidro Aguinagas said his 11-month-old son died after he was not admitted to Plains Memorial Hospital Dec. 8.

Speaking through a police interpreter, Aguinagas said hospital administrators said his son, Isidro Jr., could not be admitted unless Aguinagas paid a deposit of $400 or $450. The child was seriously ill with a respiratory infection and a high fever, according to his physician.

Indicted hospital administrator Jack Newsom said the entire incident was a "misunderstanding," but the hospital did change its admission policies to prevent a re-occurrence.

"They (the parents) were told the baby could be admitted, but they didn't speak English and I think that was the cause of the whole problem," Newsom said at the time.

"We have instructed our hospital personnel that in cases involving children they be processed directly to the nurses station prior to any mention of any financial requirements," he said.

Dr. B.D. Murphy, who originally ordered the child admitted to the hospital, said "the baby might have died even with intensive treatment, but the family should have been ushered in quickly and admitted."

Iran Oil Production Ceases

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Oil production ceased in Iran today, the state radio announced, as violent demonstrations against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi boiled on.

The broadcast also said 18 of Tehran's 108 gasoline stations closed after running out of fuel, and that the Senate will hold a special session Saturday "to review the situation" in the country.

The radio had been broadcasting appeals to oil workers and religious leaders every 30 minutes, urging them to permit the nation's strike-crippled oil industry to produce at least enough fuel for domestic needs.

Iran had been the world's No. 2 oil exporter after Saudi Arabia. But production Wednesday hit a record low of 300,000 barrels, compared to a normal daily average of 6 million barrels, before trickling to a halt.

On the streets, troops fired bullets and tear gas over the heads of demonstrators who burned or overturned at least eight cars and buses within a block of the U.S. Embassy today.

There were no immediate reports of casualties. As many as seven persons were reported killed Wednesday in Tehran demonstrations, and the state radio said rioting also erupted in Shiraz, Isfahan, Tabriz, Sanjan and Kerman.

Meanwhile, the Ayatollah Taleghani, the Shiite Moslem leader in Tehran, urged residents to go to their roofs at 9

Commission Proposes 4 Options To Finance State's Education

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After 14 months of study, a legislator-citizen commission on school finance has recommended only that lawmakers consider four options based on the present way of doing things.

The Legislative Commission on Public School Finance, created in 1977 and given a $200,000 budget, signed its report to the 66th Legislature on Wednesday.

Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, the chairman, said he felt the commission had done its duty.

"I have to say I am a little disappointed, for I feel we ought to take a more definitive approach and point in the direction where we ought to go," he added.

The Legislature had instructed the commission to "explore and develop a revised method for financing state programs of public school education."

But the commission presented these four options, none departing greatly from the current method of basing state aid on the taxable wealth of each school district:

-Exclude intangible property from the measurement of a local wealth. Use a "meaningful" method for evaluating rural land on productivity instead of market value. A district's "local fund assignment" for the Foundation School Program would be 15 cents per $100 valuation.

-Include intangibles and evaluate all real property at full market value. The rate for determining local fund assignment would be 8.5 cents per $100 value.

-Include intangibles and let districts choose between full market value or an "index value" representing a mix of productive value on agricultural land and market value on non-rural property. Rate would be 9 cents per $100 of full value or 10.25 cents on index value.

-Exclude intangibles. Apply a "meaningful" agricultural production value to rural land. And - here's the one innovation - include a factor for county personal income to recognize the fact that an area can be land rich but dollar poor.

Legislators will receive computer printouts showing the impact of each option on their districts.

The commission said if the 1979 Legislature does not change the present school finance law, "the local school districts' share of the Foundation School Program would increase 59 percent statewide by the 1980-81 school years."

That would mean higher local property taxes.

Existing law includes intangibles in calculating local fund assignments next year, and the School Tax Assessment Practices Board has determined the value of intangibles in each district.

Massey said the commission failed to produce more dramatic results because of the unpredictability of legislative action on intangibles and agricultural property values.

Davis Points to Call From 'FBI Agent'

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas millionaire Cullen Davis goes before the jury again today to deny involvement in an alleged summertime scheme to kill his divorcee and others.

The dark-haired defendant said he was acting on orders from a purported FBI agent when he discussed mass murder last August with informant David McCrory.

He said in effect he was framed by his estranged wife Priscilla. Davis told the jury Wednesday his entanglement in the murder conspiracy case stems from an Aug. 10 telephone call by a man who identified himself as Special Agent James Acree.

"We think that you are the victim of an extortion plot by David McCrory," Davis quote Acree as saying. "We want you to play along. That's the only way to catch him...."

"I want you to play along with him. Whatever he suggests, try to do it."

The Fort Worth industrialist said he was following those instructions when he met McCrory, 40, the state's key witness, and discussed guns, money and murder.

The FBI wired McCrory for sound and collected the recordings of the Aug. 18 and 20 meetings, and the recordings lie at the heart of the state's case against Davis.

Looking relaxed and confident, Davis, 45, took the stand Wednesday morning and attempted to explain to the jury seemingly incriminating statements on the FBI tapes. He told of his relationship with McCrory and gave his version of the events leading up to his Aug. 20 arrest.

Davis said he spurned numerous attempts by McCrory to talk with him by phone earlier this year, but agreed to meet him at a restaurant parking lot May 1.

"He said he was broke and didn't have a job and he discussed the fact that he'd been pimping for his wife," Davis testified.

"His wife was a prostitute. He started crying. He wanted to know if he could help me...He wanted to be friends...He volunteered to help with my divorce case if I'd give him a job."

Davis said he put McCrory to work as a salesman in one of his companies and that he occasionally called on his one time pool-shooting crony for assistance in the multimillion dollar divorce case.

He said McCrory contacted him one day in June and "said there was going to

Hamburger Prices To Soar, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hamburger prices will continue to go up next year, but a meat industry leader says consumers may take only so much of an increase before switching to pork and chicken for next summer's barbecues.

Even so, hamburger is expected to go up another 30 to 50 cents a pound in 1979, making it cost about as much as round steak did last winter.

Steak also will go up but not proportionally as much as hamburger, Richard E. Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute, said Wednesday.

For example, he said, steak prices may rise 20 to 25 cents a pound in 1979. Depending on the kind of steak, that is not nearly as large a percentage jump as the one in store for hamburger.

Lyng said retail hamburger prices rose about 40 cents a pound in 1978 and now are around $1.30 a pound, on the average. Next year, those could go to $1.70 to $1.80 a pound.

According to Agriculture Department statistics, that would about match the average retail price of bone-in round steak last February when it was $1.77 a pound.

It is doubtful that hamburger prices will rise about the range of $1.70 to $1.80 a pound next year, Lyng said, because at those levels many consumers may switch to alternatives such as pork and poultry.

"I'm always uncertain as to when the consumer will decide that 'this is far enough,'" Lyng said. "We simply can't predict it with any degree of precision, and neither can USDA."

One department official, who asked not to be identified, said that Lyng's 1979 hamburger price estimate seemed to be "a very pessimistic forecast" because there is a good chance more pork and chicken will dampen the increases next year.

Steak prices in October, the most recent month calculated by USDA, averaged $2.98 a pound for porterhouse, up from $2.42 a pound for the same month in 1977. However, indications are that beef prices gained further in November and December.

Ground beef averaged $1.18 a pound in October, according to the department, compared to 81 cents a year earlier.

Lyng and the department agree on why beef prices - particularly hamburger - are going up: There are fewer cattle on farms and ranches, reduced 21 million head from a peak of 132 million Jan. 1, 1975.

So cattle prices have risen, roughly 30 percent this year, and that makes beef cost more at retail counters.

Hamburger is going up more rapidly because it is made mostly from leaner animals which have been sent to slaughter rapidly the past few years as inventories were trimmed.

Meanwhile, feedlot operators who

Milwaukee CETA Works, Cuts Costs

Associated Press Analysis, Part 3

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Operating within a federal jobs and training system plagued by thievery, patronage and waste, Milwaukee has fashioned a CETA program that works. Quietly. Without fanfare.

In this work-conscious industrial center, the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs create thousands of jobs, teach new skills and help the unemployed find work, and perform needed community services.

There is innovation - a controversial 18-month-old "no-work, no-welfare" program that has cut local assistance costs from $10 million a year to $1.5 million. And there are side benefits: local companies are working with CETA to find the people they need - exactly the partnership the federal program seeks.

One example, Harnischfeger Corp., a manufacturer of heavy mining equipment, runs the largest on-the-job training program in the city. A panel of foundry managers set up another skill-training program: 11 persons, all considered hardcore unemployed, recently "graduated" as molder core makers and all had jobs waiting for them.

And, significantly, all this is done with little of the financial and political chicanery that torments the program nationally.

Deaf Smith County's CETA program works, too, and is looked at in part 4 of this CETA analysis. See this final installment in Friday's Brand.

Labor Department officials point to Milwaukee County as one of the most effective CETA operations in the nation. Bob Jones, head of Labor's community employment programs, says, "Milwaukee is one of our best."

Department officials, threatened with broad cuts in the $9 billion CETA budget, say that programs like Milwaukee's prove that federal manpower efforts can be worth the taxpayers' money.

Milwaukee avoids widespread CETA abuse for two reasons: tight financial controls and anti-patronage traditions that fly in the face of the time-worn maxim of big-city democracy: "Jobs are the mother's milk of politics."

On the Department of Labor's recommendation, The Associated Press examined the Milwaukee program to see what the county is doing right, to test Jones' opinion that, "When CETA works, it is terrific."

CETA is a relatively new program established in 1973, and its capacities were strained to the hilt by the big build-up in public jobs during the past four years. "If the system is allowed to mature, Milwaukee will be the rule, not the exception," says Jones.

Milwaukee's control of CETA money has been so tight that two local scandals, including one that resulted in a fraud conviction last month, were uncovered during the county's routine annual audits.

Also, patronage - using government jobs to reward political allies - is not much of a factor in Milwaukee, which lacks the rich patronage tradition of, say, Chicago.

The county is "prime sponsor" bureaucratized for administrator of the $28 million local CETA program. City and suburban governments also hire CETA workers, as do non-profit groups. Professional manpower agencies, such as one organized by the Urban League and another run by the Jewish Vocational Service, provide training and jobs with money from CETA.

County officials say CETA helped more than 20,000 persons in the past year,

New Year's Baby To Be Awarded

The first baby born at Deaf Smith General Hospital in 1979 will reap the benefits of the generosity of several area merchants as the winner of The Brand's "First Baby Contest", which has just been reinitiated after an absence of several years.

Brand advertising manager Bob Nigh made the announcement of the contest today. "We haven't had a first baby contest in Hereford in some years, and decided that it was time to have one again," Nigh said in making the announcement. "We hope it will arouse some anticipation and curiosity as to the winner."

Nigh also said that through the efforts of several local advertisers the new baby and its parents will receive a nice, large assortment of gifts for being the newest citizen of 1979 in Deaf Smith County.

"We are contacting our advertisers now for sponsorship of the contest and expect to have a list of the items being made available ready for publication in next Sunday's paper," Nigh said.

A list of rules has been drawn-up for the contest. They include stipulations that the baby's parents live in Deaf Smith County or within the boundaries of the Hereford Independent School District. "No written applications will be necessary," Nigh said. "We will depend upon the attending physician's statement as to time of birth in determining the winner."

In case of a tie, the prizes offered will be divided equally by the contest committee. The winner of the contest will be announced in the earliest available issue of The Brand, and the proud new parents will pose for a photo, which also will be published.

including 6,000 youths who landed summer jobs, 4,000 CETA public service workers, and 10,000 people enrolled in training or job counseling programs.

It is difficult to measure the success of any city's manpower effort because the programs are so varied and the yardsticks are so vague. But in Milwaukee, CETA offers a range of accomplishments:

-CETA creates jobs, thousands of them.

Over the past four years, CETA has created more than 10,000 jobs in Milwaukee County, with more than two-thirds going to residents of the city. An increasing percentage of the jobs is going into the inner city where black and youth unemployment is especially high.

-Training programs provide skills for those who need them most.

Many prime sponsors, harrassed by the demands of filling so many public service positions, have allowed job training programs to suffer. In

Husband Acquitted In Oregon Rape Trial

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - John and Greta Rideout's intimate lives and marital troubles were exposed in a rape trial that ended with his acquittal, a trial Rideout says they will both be "a long, long while" getting over.

But his 23-year-old wife says she does not regret bringing the charge. "I was right what I did, but whether it was worth it or not, I'm not sure," Mrs. Rideout said.

The case was believed to be the first prosecution of a husband charged with raping his wife while they lived together.

Rideout, 21, was found innocent Wednesday of raping his wife by the unanimous vote of a four-man, eight-woman jury that deliberated for three hours before returning its verdict.

He said both he and his estranged wife "have been hurt pretty deeply" by the trial. "I'm so nervous I can't say anything but that I'm happy," Rideout said. "I'm just going home and going back to work."

"It will be a long, long while before either of us gets over it."

Asked if he felt bitter toward his wife, Rideout said, "I don't know how I feel about her."

Mrs. Rideout, who has filed for divorce and custody of the couple's 2 1/2-year-old daughter, said she feels "no hostility" toward her husband. But she said: "I think men who are probably a lot worse than John will be sitting back and snickering."

Texas Tech Player Dies After Surgery

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Michael Morris, a Texas Tech football player who went into a coma after elective surgery earlier this month, died before midnight Wednesday.

A Methodist Hospital spokesman said an autopsy would be performed today to determine the cause of death.

Morris, a graduate of Dallas' Wilmer-Hutchins High School, had been comatose in the hospital's intensive care unit since complications developed after he underwent a thyroid operation Dec. 11.

The Lubbock Avalanche Journal had reported Morris' heart stopped while on the operating table that day. He was revived but it stopped again while he was in the recovery unit, the newspaper said.

Morris was a sophomore split end for Tech. He played a prominent role in his team's upset of Southwest Conference champion Houston.

Bob Johnson, the hospital's night area manager, said Morris died at 10:50 p.m. Funeral arrangements were pending.

FAA To Tighten Controls At Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Federal Aviation Administration plan to tighten traffic controls around the nation's airports faces strong opposition from a powerful private pilots' group.

John L. Baker, president of the 220,000-member Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, contended after the FAA announcement Wednesday that the new policies would restrict private pilots' freedom of access to many airports.

He said his organization "will call on the more than three-quarters of a million pilots and their families and their business associates to form a massive attack on the FAA's programs."

Baker said AOPA will take its case to Congress and the public, but did not elaborate.

There were other indications, however, that the opposition might take the form of an organized "fly-in" in which hundreds of planes would be flown to Washington.

It is expected that the private pilots will state their case during public hearings on the FAA plan to upgrade 44 airports to terminal control areas, the agency's highest safety rating.

In announcing the plan, FAA administrator Langhorne Bond said he did not feel it would result in a dislocation of the private general aviation sector. But he said some small user groups, such as non-licensed student pilots, might be affected at some airports during certain periods.

Police Report

Police are searching for the person or persons who broke into Poarch Brothers Manufacturing Co. Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, damaged the office area and stole $55.

According to police reports, someone broke a window on the east side of the building, entered through the paint room and made their way to the offices. Drawers were pried open along with two file cabinets, and $25 in cash was stolen. Another $30 was taken from the soft-drink machine.

Police said several desks were damaged in the break-in.

Richard and Becky Flores, 311 W. 2nd, reported that an empty apartment at that address had been broken into but apparently nothing was stolen.

Lesly Motors, W. Highway 60, Wednesday told police that someone broke the glass out of the front door, entered the office and stole $10 in cash, several rolls of pennies and two hunting knives.

Deborah Reed, Star Route, Vega, reported that someone stole her purse from her shopping cart while she was in Furr's Supermarket Wednesday. The purse contained checks, credit cards, her driver's license and $6.

Someone broke comode tops and smashed beer bottles inside the ladies' restroom at Veteran's Park. Police are investigating.

Weather

West Texas - Increasing cloudiness today, a little warmer central and east portions. Considerable cloudiness tonight and Friday with chance of rain west portion. Scattered light snow northern Panhandle tonight gradually spreading over Panhandle and South Plains by Friday afternoon. Turning colder Panhandle tonight. Much colder north portion Friday. Highs today 55 to 70. Lows tonight 22 north to 50 south. Highs Friday 32 north to 62 southeast.

CETA

community groups. CETA funds go to hire unemployed people who go to work for non-profit groups.

Some $2.2 million in CETA money is earmarked to provide cultural jobs for museum archivists, jazz musicians and the like.

Using CETA workers, local governments provide services they otherwise couldn't afford without raising already high property taxes.

For example, this winter, CETA employees will shovel snow for elderly homeowners, and CETA-paid health aides are publicizing the services being offered by the under-utilized city health department.

CETA training also helps minorities land fulltime city jobs; in a recent eight-month period, 55 CETA employees were transferred to the regular city payroll, a respectable 15 percent transition rate.

CETA has cut the county's welfare costs which had been climbing dramatically.

Hamburger

of the leaner "nonfed" beef from hamburger.

Lying said that per capita 1979 consumption of red meat - which includes pork as well as beef - probably will average 180 pounds, down six pounds from this year. That is a measurement based on weights of animal carcasses before they are carved into retail cuts.

Iran

not to be named, said banks would attempt to open Saturday, Monday and Wednesday to conduct limited business, but it wasn't known how much cash would be available then.

Individual bank branches have closed previously during recent months of political turmoil, but today's closings appeared to be the most serious yet. Cash supplies have been destroyed by fires and delayed by transportation disruptions.

Meanwhile, the Iranian state radio broadcast appeals to oil workers and religious leaders every 30 minutes, urging them to permit the nation's strike-crippled oil industry to produce at least enough fuel for domestic needs.

The broadcast, by Chairman Abdullah Entezam of the state-owned National Iranian Oil Co., also warned that if fuel supplies continue to fall, bakeries could be affected and the nation could run out of bread.

Davis

the Amarillo trial. Davis testified he told McCrory during the Aug. 11 meeting "I would go along with him, but I didn't want to say anything I'd have to buy back for $50,000 or something like that."

He said he had no intention of killing anyone and that he agreed to the recording only to appease McCrory's contacts.

Davis said he returned home from the Aug. 11 meeting and recording session and called the telephone number given him by "agent Acree" the day before.

"I told him what had taken place with McCrory," Davis said. "Fine," he quoted the person as saying. "You just keep playing along and we'll be back in touch with you."

On the morning of Aug. 18, he said, McCrory called him and said "The tapes we made a week earlier were not good enough. I wasn't saying enough. He wanted to do it over. He said I wasn't coming with enough information."

When he met McCrory that afternoon, Davis said, "He had it (the recorder) running when I got in the car."

But prosecutors said previously that McCrory had only an FBI microphone concealed underneath his jacket - and the recordings were being made without Davis' knowledge.

Two days later, at the critical Aug. 20 meeting, Davis said McCrory wordlessly pointed to his chest to indicate that he was again recording their conversation.

FBI agents huddling in a nearby surveillance van video-taped the second encounter in which Davis, shown "proof" that the judge was dead, allegedly handed over $25,000 for the nonexistent killer.

Davis said it was not a payoff, but merely money McCrory had given him July 13 for savekeeping. "I asked him where he got it. He said he's won it in Las Vegas," Davis said.

Davis testified that he told a lawyer friend, Hershel Payne, about the money, explaining that "I just told him I thought it was kind of funny."

Payne is expected to corroborate that story after Davis leaves the stand.

"He's got an excuse for everything," prosecutor Jack Strickland told newsmen after the defendant's first day on the stand.

U.S. Trade Deficit Sets New Record

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's trade deficit with other countries improved slightly in November but still surged past the record $26.5 billion gap set last year, the Commerce Department said today.

The 30-month trade deficit has been a major cause of the dollar's decline against other currencies and has contributed to inflation in this country.

Another Victim of the Holocaust Discovered 30 Years After War

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)

When Charles Kane's mother died, he discovered she was not his mother at all, that the sister he had grown up with was not his sister - that 30 years after World War II she had become another victim of the Holocaust.

Kane's real parents were executed in the ovens that exterminated six million Jews during World War II.

"It was such a big surprise... I felt disoriented," he said. "I think that the modern trend is to tell children the truth. I think they should be told regardless of the circumstances."

Kane said he had never suspected he was adopted. The death of his adoptive mother led him to unravel the mystery of his early childhood. A month after she died he found a dusty, sealed envelope containing his adoption papers. Henry and Jacqueline Kane, both Jews, had adopted him when he was 5 years old.

Then, at age 35, Kane set out to find his real identity through letters and telephone calls to Jewish relief agencies around the world. One of these inquiries produced a short typewritten letter that told him he had two older sisters in Belgium: Astrid and Madeline.

Astrid wrote: "Now, after 35 years - such a long time - we have found one another." The discovery of a new family put a strain on Kane's relationship with his adoptive sister in San Juan. "I act the same toward her, but she doesn't want to talk about it. I guess she feels that I'm gaining two sisters and she's losing a brother," he said.

Kane feels he has satisfied himself about his past, saying, "The obsession is over now." Yet he devotes much of his salary as a high school teacher to trips that will reveal secrets about his family.

He flew to Brussels to meet his sisters last December, plans a trip to Israel next summer and talks of going to Germany for information on his family. He also said he wants to write a book about his experiences.

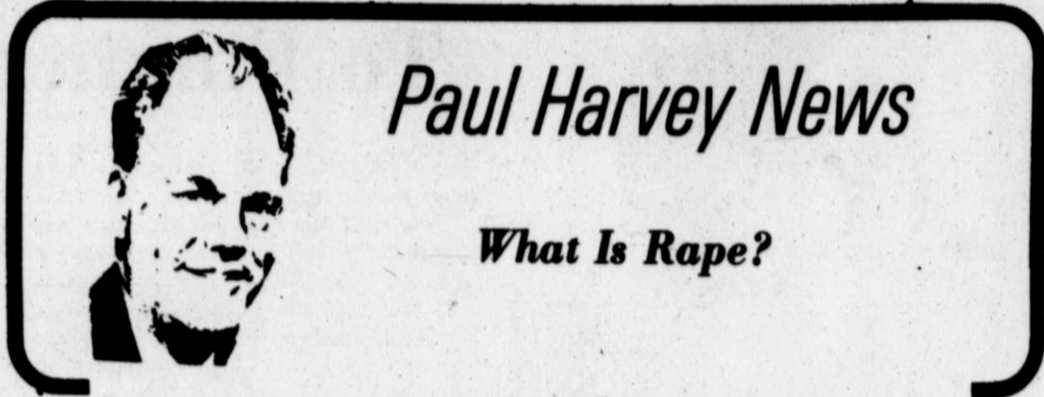

Kane recalls with tenderness his first meeting with his sisters at the Brussels airport. He said they kissed and hugged each other as if they had known each other all their lives.

The three Eckhaus children's parents, Benjamin and Celi, were living in Belgium at the time of their deaths. A Romanian, Eckhaus was arrested in 1943 in front of a crowded marketplace while trying to escape Hitler's SS troops. Sworn statements made by concentration camp survivors said that he was seen taken to the crematorium.

When his mother learned that she also would be taken prisoner, Kane said, she put her daughters in a Catholic orphanage near her home.

"I was 6 months old," he said. "The orphanage would only take 1-and 2-year-old children and I had already been circumcised" - making it easier to tell he was a Jew. Kane said his mother put him in the care of a woman friend should the mother not return.

She was arrested a few days later, and two sworn statements attest that she was seen on the back of a truck taking prisoners to the ovens in Birkenau.

What Is Rape?

I'm on vacation when you read this.

It is important that you know what I am about to say was said some weeks ago.

This commentary was written on the 20th day of December, 1978. In Salem, Ore., the jury had been selected--nothing more--in the rape trial of John Rideout.

The trial will almost certainly be over by the time you read this. So everything that I am about to say is said--not to influence a trial in progress.

Nor was this written with any full awareness of the particulars of this case.

It may come out in the trial that Mr. Rideout was sadistic. It may come out that his complaining wife was "used" by some women's rights advocates seeking only to make a point in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Without knowing any of what you now know concerning this particular case, wrote the following:

With everybody suing everybody these days--in the quest for something-for-nothing--I suppose it was inevitable that the new Oregon rape law would be tested.

Doubtless the Oregon law was constructed in the first place to protect women from abusive husbands. So now a jury is having to intrude on a married couple's bedroom to determine whether the husband was, in fact, unreasonable in his demands.

This is another example of how for generations we have piled laws on laws seeking to enforce "do unto others." Moralistically, idealistically, the formula for all human relations should be as simple as that.

The same Bible which admonishes wives to "submit" also admonishes husbands to love their wives "even as Christ loved the Church."

A mutuality of responsibility. Recently, however, kinky sex has been construed as normal and it is impossible even to distinguish what's "hurtful" when masochists like it like that.

In the Oregon case, the logical question is: Why does the misused woman not just run from this man by way of divorce?

It is argued quite properly that many married women burn their bridges at the altar; therefore, they have no place to run.

The District Attorney had described Mrs. Rideout as "naive and not well educated."

The couple have lived together for four years, have two-and-a-half year old daughter.

So a jury of eight women and four men--bound by the letter of the new Oregon law--must resolve a question worthy of Solomon.

If advocates for women's rights did, in fact, use this unfortunate woman to try to make a point for ERA, they may.

Because somebody is going to lose big.

Convicted of raping his wife this husband, under Oregon law, could go to prison for 20 years.

On the contrary, should the wife lose this case it would be construed--as legal sanction for marriage-bed sadism.

And that would be a giant step backward for womankind.

Organization Renews Freedom Struggle

NEW YORK (AP) - A new transdenominational organization of U.S. Christians has been formed to fight for religious freedoms which it sees as increasingly suppressed in the world by all sorts of regimes; left, right and in between.

The trend includes subtle but rising assaults on religious liberty in this country, leaders of the organization said, particularly in recent government regulations that seek to define limits of "religious activities."

Protestant, Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox leaders joined in launching the new unit, "Freedom of Faith: A Christian Committee for Religious Rights," specifically to fight religious restrictions.

"It's one of the most important issues of our civilization in the 20th century," says the Rev. Alexander Schmemmann, a religious historian, dean of St. Vladimir's Orthodox Seminary and one of three presidents of the new organization.

It has named a Manhattan attorney, Robert R. Andrews Jr., as its executive director, on the premises that pursuing religious rights often involves legal battles, whether in this country or abroad.

"Never before has there been a national network of Christians working specifically on religious rights," says the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, a Presbyterian pastor of New York's Riverside Church and also a president of the new organization.

Adds the other president, the Rev. Joseph O'Hare, editor of the national Catholic weekly, America: "We want to make sure that the victims do not remain invisible."

"The most tragic victims are the faceless victims. We aim at least to make known the names and faces of the victims."

To do that, the group in its first monthly "Alerts" newsletter this week cited specific cases of religious oppression in the Soviet Union, Argentina, the Philippines and South Korea, calling on local churches throughout the country for "intercession and action."

About a score of leaders of the new organization, including top officials of several major denominations, took part in a recent news conference detailing plans and issuing an initial statement, declaring:

"Most ominously today, religious repression is the policy and practice of many governments. Some of these regimes are officially atheistic; others claim to be religious or even Christian in character."

"Whatever the formal rationale, religious practice is labeled 'political' and is forbidden because it is inconvenient to the purposes of the state..."

"In our culture and others the virtues of justice, tolerance, compassion and charity are often and openly despised; spirituality and belief in God frequently are held in contempt."

Iran Cancels Helicopter Contract

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - The government of Iran has cancelled a co-production helicopter contract with Textron Inc.'s Bell Helicopter Division because of unrest in Iran, Textron announced Wednesday.

No employees will be affected because the contract was under suspension. Textron's other contracts with Iran will continue.

Iran said "force majeure events" have made it impossible to proceed with performance of the program, according to Textron spokesman John P. Caberg.

The contract was suspended Dec. 5 because Iran had not made the advance payments required by Textron.

Milwaukee. "We like to remember the original purpose of CETA was to provide skills and job experience to the unemployed," says chief manpower planner Bob Knight.

Local CETA operations often fail to match job training to local employment needs, but Milwaukee officials work with factory managers to provide the unemployed with skills that are in short supply.

Harnischfeger's CETA program is a prime example.

Later, he said, McCrory told him Mrs. Davis was "negotiating" with some unnamed people to kill Davis but that he, McCrory, had "talked them into turning the tables on Priscilla."

He quoted McCrory as saying that "if I was willing to pay them more than Priscilla was paying them, they'd be willing to work for my side."

Davis said he was skeptical but that McCrory insisted his contacts could furnish information helpful to the divorce case, so he said he went along.

The defendant said McCrory persuaded him on Aug. 11 to tape record a conversation which he said the contacts wanted as assurance that "I wouldn't turn on them when they turned on Priscilla."

It was in this conversation, Davis said, that McCrory "recommended" several persons for a death list, including the divorce judge, Mrs. Davis, and two accusing witnesses at Davis' 1977 murder trial.

In that trial, held in Amarillo, Davis was acquitted of the murder of his 12-year-old stepdaughter who was killed in a shooting spree at the Davis mansion in August of 1976.

Defense attorneys won a ruling in the current trial that when prosecutors accuse Davis they cannot bring up

Conditions in Iran Force American Home for X-mas

JANIE SMITH

...spends Christmas with mother, Mrs. James W. Witherspoon, sitting

By DENISE SMITH
Brand Staff Writer

The relative quiet of a Christmas at home with loved ones took on even greater meaning this year for Californians Janie Smith and her sons, David, 16, and Jay, 12.

The trio joined other family members in the home of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. James W. Witherspoon of Hereford this Christmas after narrowly escaping the turmoil which has embroiled the nation of Iran in the wake of violent anti-Shah protests there.

Mrs. Smith, accompanied by her sons, traveled to Iran in March to join her husband, Duke, who had arrived in that country in January of 1978.

In search of adventure, the couple, both employed by Northrup Worldwide Aircraft Services Inc., had elected to make the move to Iran.

"We were just open to any kind of adventure, and the job was there, so we took the opportunity," stated Mrs. Smith.

The Americans may have left the strife-torn country just in time, as rumors of anti-American sentiment have grown noticeably in past weeks, and at least one American has lost his life as a result of the strife.

"We left not because we were particularly scared, and not because we were concerned that we were in any danger, but we felt like there was a definite potential for it, and if I didn't come out with the boys and something happened to them, I couldn't live with myself," replied Mrs. Smith.

The Smiths had planned on living in Iran for three years. Before leaving, they resided in an American compound outside a small town. They felt they had a home there and an accord with the Iranian people. Yet, the Smiths did have to watch themselves carefully.

"You were just plain dumb if you went into town, and you were just plain dumb if you didn't do what you were asked to do. The whole idea while we were there from August on, was not to be conspicuous or offensive in any way," she emphasized.

While her husband remained in Iran, Mrs. Smith and her two sons departed from Tehran by a company-chartered Pan-American jet.

They made stops in London and Bangor, Maine, prior to their arrival in Dallas on Friday. As she and her sons were leaving Iran, huge anti-Shah demonstrations were growing in consequence.

"The destruction is tremendous. It's a good country, but the conditions have deteriorated a lot," stated Mrs. Smith. She pointed an accusing finger at outside agitation in the Iranian turmoil.

"We believe the events in Iran have been instigated by the Soviet Union. The Iranians share a border of almost 2,000 miles with the Soviet Union. Russia needs Iran badly, and they need access to the Persian Gulf, so Iran was surrounded. We believe this is not a religious war, per se. We believe that if the Shah can be strong, then this will all blow over. After all, the Shah is a Moslem himself," the local visitor opined.

Commenting on Iran, Mrs. Smith said, "It's like the forest and trees; you're too close to see it, you can only observe what you personally see with your own eyes, and certainly the attitude of our Iranian friends never changed toward us. They were horrified at the violence and at what was happening to their country."

Her own experience and that of her family fails to confirm reports of strong anti-American feelings apparently held by the fundamentalist Moslems bent on ousting the Shah.

The schools in Iran were excellent Mrs. Smith said. The schools are American run by a company based in New Jersey in association with Grumman Aircraft.

English is the second required language taught in Iran, and the children love to practice their English on Americans, according to Mrs. Smith.

When asked by The Brand if she planned on returning to Iran, Mrs. Smith replied, "Yes, if the conditions allow us to return my sons and I will. But if not, there's always Egypt or Saudi Arabia."

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

For years, the theory that a bust measurement has some relative effect on your IQ has bothered me.

Dolly Parton is bright, but no cup should runneth over with that much knowledge. It could give you headaches.

Out of a computer programmer at DePauw University comes a new theory. They have found a possible correlation between hip sizes and grade point averages, giving rise to a new theory that the bigger the hips...the better the grades.

As I emerged from the shower last week I surveyed my new-found asset. I hadn't always been that smart. In fact, there was a time back in high school when I was lucky to pass showers.

I was wallowing a spoonful of cottage cheese around in my mouth when my friend, Mayva, came in for a visit. "Are you dieting again?" she asked.

"Let us just say I'm trying to shave a few points off my IQ."

"That doesn't make any sense."

I told Mayva about the new theory from Greencastle, Ind.

"I'm not saying this to be unkind," said Mayva, "but I don't think you're as smart as you look."

"What do you mean by a crack like that?"

"I mean anyone with hips like yours should never wear hip huggers."

"These are not hip huggers. They're slacks that won't go up any farther. And you should talk. I saw you last summer when you came back from your vacation. If you had put on a lace dress, you'd have looked like a picture window."

"Look, friend, I wasn't the one who went to open house at the school and got wedged in a desk and they had to take the bolts out of the floor."

"You said at the time that could have happened to anyone," I said defensively.

"I lied!"

"What are we doing, Mayva?" I asked. "This is just some dumb survey and there probably isn't a word of truth to it."

"You're right," laughed Mayva, helping herself to a piece of German chocolate cake. "Who has to know whether I'm a candidate for Mensa International or a Weight Watchers scholarship?"

Luckily I have hips smart enough to know when to leave a room.

BEST OF TEXAS HAM STEW

- 2 c diced ham
- 1 1/2 c cabbage, shredded
- 1 c cooked carrots, cut in chunks
- 2 stalks celery, chopped
- 2 10 1/2 oz cans chicken consommé
- 2 c boiled noodles

Saute celery in 3-quart saucepan. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer stew until all flavors are well blended, about 20 minutes. This recipe yields four hearty servings.

For a delicious cold weather meal, complement this tasty ham stew with biscuits and honey or homemade cornbread, suggests Texas Department of Agriculture Home Economist Fran Gerling. This dish is excellent all by itself but can also form the basis for a variety of nutritious meals.

Ann Landers

Right To Die

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We hear so much these days about "The Right to Live." Well -- what about the Right to Die? There must be millions of people who, like myself, feel useless, redundant, tired, and just plain exhausted from fighting the battles of everyday existence. (I would hardly call it living.)

We would welcome a painless, socially acceptable way to end our lives. How much more desirable death would be than the lonely succession of depressing days and nights which seem to be our lot.

Another advantage in addition to freeing ourselves from the agonies of a joyless life would be the opportunity to donate our organs and make them available to people who have something to contribute and want to go on living.

Since your voice is heard throughout the land, I hope you will say something positive about this concept of suicide without stigma. -- J.B. Of Rockville, Md.

DEAR J.B.: Your letter called to mind one I received several years ago. I hunted it up and believe it is a far better response than anything I might say. Here it is:

"DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a message for all those people who tell you they are tired of living, thinking of killing themselves -- or have already tried to and failed.

"I am sick of reading about you. I don't care how wretched and rejected you feel. If you have no interest in living for yourself -- then how about living for somebody else?"

"Live for all the people who love life and died too soon. Live for the men who died in that senseless war in Vietnam 10,000 miles from home in some damned rice paddy. Live for those 57,000 people who were killed in highway accidents last year. I'll bet every one of them would like to be alive today.

"I once considered suicide when I suffered a crushing disappointment. I was sure life wasn't worth living. But after some serious soul-searching, I came to the conclusion I had no right to kill myself. I did not give myself life and I had no right to put an end to it. So I flushed the 50 sleeping pills down the toilet and went to work teaching retarded children. I will never think of suicide again. These kids need me. I now know what I'm here for. -- Rye, New York."

I responded: "Dear Rye: You've told your story to millions of people and I'm sure you connected with many. Thanks for laying it on the line. For someone out there, today's column may be the most important thing he or she has read in his or her entire life. And isn't THAT a priceless word? Life."

DEAR ANN: In a recent discussion, someone brought up the question -- do nuns of the Catholic Church who have withdrawn from the Order for one reason or another receive Social Security?

One of the men present said, "No, they do not." I refuted his remark, saying that the Catholic Church and the Sisterhood would never perpetrate such an injustice -- that women who have dedicated 10, 20, or even more years to the Church would certainly be covered under Social Security.

My friend insists I am wrong. Am I? -- Tampa Inquirer
DEAR TAMPA: Some Orders offer Social Security benefits. Others do not. It's a democratic decision made by the Province (or area served) for each Order. If the Order from which a nun leaves is covered by Social Security, she will receive benefits according to what has been paid into the fund -- just as any secular employee.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The exhibit "Loose the Mighty Power: Impressions of the Steam Engine in America" will be on display at the Smithsonian's National Museum of History and Technology through January 1979.

The exhibit traces steam power in America from the 18th to the 20th century, an era in which the country shifted from an agricultural to an industrial economy.

The steam-powered mills, locomotives and steamboats, which dotted the landscape in increasing numbers and permanently changed the character of the land, form the exhibit's focus, according to the museum.

Ferdinand Maximilian, emperor of Mexico, was shot by republican troops in 1878. He was the brother of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria and the second son of Archduke Francis Charles.

Actress Rosalind Russell was born in 1911.

A good bank has more answers than it has questions

We have a way with ideas and a way with money--ours and yours.

Because having money is one thing. But knowing what to do with it is an entirely different story.

At the best of all possible banks it's a question of what we can do for you. It's not a question of what you can do for us.

From the president to any teller, we want to answer your problems with our money ideas. Ideas we get because we're always building our references and resources to provide the best answers.

And we turn those answers into deeds. That's why so many people listen to what the best of all possible banks has to say. Our actions always speak louder than words.

Playoffs Similar To Last Year

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

For the Los Angeles Rams, there is the "Minnesota jinx" to think about. For the Denver Broncos, there are those unkind statements by certain unnamed Pittsburgh Steelers. For the Dallas Cowboys, there is defense of their National Football League title.

The Houston Oilers and Atlanta Falcons? They're just happy to be around.

"It doesn't matter if Santa Claus is coaching New England. The money's on the line now and the Patriots will come to play," said Houston Coach Bum Phillips, whose wild-card phenoms face New England Sunday in the American Football Conference semifinal.

"This time, we have 11 problems we have to stop," said Atlanta Coach Leeman Bennett, whose Falcons meet the Cowboys in a National Conference semifinal Saturday. "They have everything. Obviously, they're way ahead of us when it comes to athletes. They have the experience at the key positions, tremendous speed, excellent depth. They are a great team, but I still feel we're supposed to win."

Every time Los Angeles meets Minnesota in playoff action, it seems the Vikings are supposed to win. The Vikings have beaten the Rams four times in a row, and hope to extend that string Sunday.

"There is no jinx," said Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi, who took over after George Allen was fired two games into the preseason.

"I'm 1-0 against Minnesota."

reminded Malavasi, whose Rams recorded a 34-17 triumph during the regular season. "The only way we could lose this time is if we make mistakes and aren't ready to play. That won't happen."

And Denver Coach Red Miller isn't so sure the Pittsburgh Steelers will be thrilled by Saturday's AFC semifinal against his Broncos.

"I think Pittsburgh is glad to see the Denver Broncos come to town because I think they think they can beat us," said Miller, who has been sent a number of newspaper clippings "about how the Steelers are going to kick our butts and all that stuff."

After the Steelers had beaten the Broncos 21-17 in a regular season game, one Pittsburgh journal quoted an unnamed Steelers player as saying: "We will kick their butts if they come to Pittsburgh."

For Houston to get to Pittsburgh, or Denver, the Oilers must get past AFC East champion New England.

"We've proved we're a good football team," said Houston defensive end Elvin Bethea, a survivor from the 1-13 Oilers teams of old. "I've been waiting 11 years for this. I'm really happy for the first time since I got here. I'm finally at peace."

"That's our game," said Bennett. "We've won 17 games over the past two years playing our game and we're going to try and win another with it. If we can't beat Dallas with that game, then we can't win."

Bennett said running back Ray Strong, who injured a knee against the Eagles, will be the only player who will not play against the Cowboys. Strong underwent surgery Wednesday.

"We can't make that many mistakes and figure to win. Dallas does not allow you to escape your errors," said Bennett.

Defensively, the Falcons will not change what has been successful and will continue to blitz more than any other NFL team.

'Pokes A Problem For Falcons

ATLANTA (AP) - Problems. Problems. Everyone has some. But on Saturday the Atlanta Falcons will be confronted with 11 - the entire Dallas Cowboys offensive team.

In pulling off Miracle 5 last Sunday in their first ever National Football League playoff, a last minute 14-13 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, Falcons' Coach Leeman Bennett figured his club of no-names would have to stop running back Wilbert Montgomery and wide receiver Harold Carmichael.

Montgomery, who had 1,220 yards for the season, gained only 19 yards and Carmichael caught five balls for only 45 yards and with Steve Bartkowski pitching two touchdowns in the final five minutes, the Falcons advanced to Saturday's meeting with the defending Super Bowl champion Cowboys.

But the 14-point underdogs, who finished with a 9-7 regular season record, are confronted with a 12-4 club that has won seven straight games.

"Last week we had Montgomery and Carmichael. This week all we have are Dorsett and Staubach and Pearson and Hill and Newhouse and Dupree. and, well, this time we have 11 problems we will have to stop," said Bennett.

Roger Staubach was the National Football Conference's top passer while Tony Dorsett was No. 2 in rushing. Drew Pearson and tight end Billy Joe Dupree are rated among the top receivers in the league.

"They have everything. Obviously, they're way ahead of us when it comes to athletes," said Bennett who took over the Falcons two years ago and turned them into a playoff team for the first time in their 13 years of existence.

"They have the experience at the key positions, tremendous speed, excellent depth. They are a great team," he said "but I still feel we're supposed to win."

Bennett said his team doesn't have any superstars but they are the closest team he has ever been involved with.

"This is a closely knit group. It's 45 players out there all pulling for one another. There's no friction or bickering. They all seem to like each other and get along real well."

But that may not matter if the Falcons make mistakes like they did in turning the ball over five times to the Eagles.

"We can't make that many mistakes and figure to win. Dallas does not allow you to escape your errors," said Bennett.

Defensively, the Falcons will not change what has been successful and will continue to blitz more than any other NFL team.

Jefferies New Coach At WSU

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) - Willie Jefferies, head football coach at South Carolina State for the past six years, is the new gridiron boss at Wichita State, the Wichita Eagle said in today's edition.

The newspaper, quoting sources close to the selection committee, said the 39-year-old Jefferies would be named the WSU football coach at an 11 a.m. news conference today.

The move would make Jefferies the first black football coach at the predominantly white NCAA Division I school.

Jefferies, contacted by telephone at his Orangeburg, S.C., home, declined comment.

"I am not at liberty to make any remarks at this time," he said. "I hope maybe I will be soon, and I may be in Wichita soon."

Jefferies' South Carolina State team was 8-2-1 in all games this past season and 5-0-1 in the all-black Mideast Athletic Conference. His six-year record is 50-13-4.

The hiring will end a six-week search by WSU Athletic Director Ted Bredehoff

Pats Plan Stop Pastorini

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - The New England Patriots' game plan has emerged for Sunday's National Football League showdown with the Houston Oilers-stop quarterback Dan Pastorini.

"The key to the game is Pastorini," said Patriots' defensive safety Tim Fox Wednesday. "The big guy has been pretty consistent all year, but Pastorini has been hot."

The "big guy" is Houston's Earl Campbell, the NFL rushing leader, who the Patriots feel will get his share of yardage in the American Conference semifinal matchup.

Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks, along with New England's defensive unit, calls Pastorini "the key guy" for the Oilers, who came from a 23-0 deficit in a regular season game last month for a 26-23 upset here. That began Houston's playoff charge.

"You are not going to stop Campbell," said Fairbanks. "You try to contain him. He's going to get his share. You try to prevent him from getting a home run."

The playoff game shapes up as a confrontation between running quarterback Steve Grogan and Pastorini, who was razor sharp in last weekend's victory over the Dolphins in Miami in the playoffs' first round.

"You can't put everything into stopping him," said New England's defensive co-ordinator Hank Bullough. "but every time he gets the ball, you hold your breath."

Houston Coach Bum Phillips figures the Patriots will key on Campbell, but adds, "If you want to stop one man, you can. It depends on what you want to give up to stop him."

Fairbanks is confident, however, that the Patriots will be ready to play one of their best games.

"There's electricity around here," said the coach. "The players are loose. I feel the excitement."

Fairbanks felt excitement of another sort a week ago when he returned from a two-day suspension imposed by Patriots owner William H. Sullivan for accepting the coaching job at the University of Colorado. Fairbanks temporarily put aside his college plans to handle the NFL team in the playoffs.

Questioned about his readiness to resume control of the Patriots, Fairbanks said Wednesday that his future plans "aren't going to affect the team at all."

"I can't work harder than I am now and I'm pleased with the team," he said. "It will be a very difficult game. We haven't played as well recently as we did earlier in the year and I'm not sure whether we'll regain it."

Phillips added in a telephone interview, "If Santa Claus is coaching them, the money is on the line now and the Patriots are going to play. Whoever wins this game is going to earn it. Both teams will be ready."

Soldier Field To Be Repaired

CHICAGO - Mayor Michael Bilandic announced a $3.5 million plan to repair Soldier Field, home of the National Football League's Chicago Bears.

Bilandic said unsafe bleachers would be torn down behind the north end zone and all bench seating would be replaced by removable seating.

Rams Beat Herd

The Hereford Whitesides lost their first game of the Clovis Tournament last night to the Portales Rams 65-48. With the holiday journey in its second day, the Whitesides will play Alamogordo today at 3:30 MST.

Playing at less than their capabilities, the Faces were unable to beat the team that they had previously played in a preseason scrimmage.

Also today the girl roundballers start play in the Pompa Invitational Tournament and the JV girls open play in the Happy journey.

'Bama Impressed With Lions

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) - There's nothing much to do in Tuscaloosa these days. Except for the football team, the Alabama campus is fairly deserted for the holidays. And the football team is spending much of its time at the movies. Not the Palace Theater or the Cinema One but rather the Bear Bryant Bijou, where there are 11 G-rated - for Great - feature football films to choose from, one for each of undefeated, No. 1-ranked Penn State's 11 victories this season. The Alabama team is so impressed it appears the stars were Clark Gable and Greta Garbo rather than Chuck Fusina & Co.

If Alabama had any doubts about Penn State's ability - which they did - those doubts have been erased. "The impression I got from watching the films is a good one, I'll tell you," quarterback Jeff Rutledge said Wednesday after Bama's next-to-last on-campus Sugar Bowl workout. The Crimson Tide was to arrive in New Orleans Thursday for Monday's shootout. "They're a great football team. It's hard to find any weaknesses on their defense. They've held the opposition to 54 yards a game rushing and that tells you a lot. They don't have any weaknesses. They deserve the No. 1 ranking. They're a big, fast, smart football team."

"I've seen all the films and they look good in all of them. Their defensive tackles control the run pretty good. What great teams have, they have, and I'm not saying that just because we're going to play them. It's the truth. It's hard to win 11 straight games. I don't care who you play."

Rutledge admits he had some doubts about Penn State's No. 1 ranking because the Nittany Lions didn't play teams like Southern California or Nebraska.

"They didn't play the schedule we did," he said. "I wondered how good the teams were they played. But after seeing how North Carolina State killed Pitt in the Tangerine Bowl . . ."

While Rutledge was watching Penn State's defense, linebacker Barry Krauss zeroed in on the Nittany Lions' offense, run by All-America quarterback Chuck Fusina.

"They execute well, they don't fumble, they don't take too many penalties, they're well-disciplined and they show a lot of class," he said. "They don't run anything fancy, just basic plays, but they execute very well, they have good blocking techniques and Fusina hits his receivers well. It will definitely be a test for our defense because they can run and pass."

"They might try one or two gimmicks, but I think they'll do what they've done all year - try to blow you out. They come straight at you and bowl people out of there. It will be a physical game."

Brown Predicts Clemson Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - "We feel we're among the nation's powers, and we're going to prove this Friday night. The Gator Bowl is ours," predicts Bubba Brown, Clemson's outstanding linebacker.

The 6-foot, 205-pound junior, the Tigers' leading tackler in a 10-1-0 regular season, minces no word in forecasting a Gator Bowl victory over Ohio State.

"Last year we felt it was an honor to play here," the All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection said of a 34-3 loss to Pittsburgh in the 1977 Gator Bowl.

"This year we feel an obligation. It's more business than pleasure. Our experience comes in. It will pull us through," Brown said of the matchup of the No. 7 Tigers and the No. 20 Buckeyes, 7-3-1.

"We should out-quick them at the line of scrimmage. We should be able to get good field position for our offense and stop Ohio State's running attack," he said.

Brown's teammates, as well as Clemson's new head coach, Dan Ford, carry the same confidence.

Defensive end Jonathan Brooks, another All-ACC choice, said: "We have got to stop their running game. If we make them go to the pass, we can shut them down. Their young quarterback Art Schlichter throws a lot of interceptions."

Another Clemson standout, linebacker Randy Scott, says the Tigers must forge an early lead.

"We have got to establish our game plan before they establish theirs. The teams that jump out in front have won the bowls so far," said Scott.

Clemson players are miffed over the lack of attention their school gets, motivating them for the much-publicized Buckeyes.

Hawks Defeat Spurs

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Hawks had just ended a record-tying winning streak by the San Antonio Spurs and tied a club record of their own by scoring 40 points in the first quarter, yet Coach Hubie Brown was still fussing.

The Hawks led San Antonio 100-75 after three quarters but managed only 15 in the final period to beat the Spurs 115-107 Wednesday night.

"We lost our composure in the last 12 minutes," said Brown, "and that kind of detracted from the win."

John Drew scored 28 points for Atlanta and Eddie Johnson had 21 to help pull the Hawks within two games of first-place San Antonio in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference Central Division. San Antonio brought an eight-game winning streak to the game, tying the longest string in the club's history.

In other NBA games, Detroit clobbered Houston 131-119, Philadelphia downed Indiana 122-110, New York defeated New Jersey 115-104, Boston beat Kansas City 112-103, Los Angeles edged Golden State 106-104 and Seattle walloped New Orleans 122-103.

Pistons 131, Rockets 119
M.L. Carr scored 21 of his 36 points in the first half as Detroit rebounded from the worst defeat in its history the night before - a 143-84 drubbing in Milwaukee. Carr and Bob Lanier, who scored 29 points, led a first-half surge that saw Detroit lead by as many as 23 points.

76ers 122, Pacers 110
Doug Collins scored 25 points as Philadelphia overcame an early Indiana lead and moved within a half-game of idle Washington in the Atlantic Division.

The 76ers scored 12 unanswered points in the second quarter to build a 46-29 lead. Joe Bryant scored 12 points in the second quarter, and the 76ers built a 64-44 halftime lead.

Knicks 115, Nets 104
Bob McAdoo came off the bench and scored 26 of his 31 points in the second half, including 11 unanswered points for New York, as the Knicks offset a 41-point performance by New Jersey's Bernard King.

Celtics 112, Kings 103

Marvin Barnes scored 29 points and Jo Jo White had 25 to pace Boston past Kansas City in the first NBA game played in St. Louis in 12 years.

Barnes hit eight of his first nine shots and White scored 12 points as Boston took a 36-22 lead after the first quarter.

Lakers 106, Warriors 104
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points, including a 17-foot hook shot with 20 seconds left, to help Los Angeles break a four-game losing streak on the road.

Sonics 122, Jazz 103
Seattle snapped a six-game losing streak behind Fred Brown's 27 points. The Sonics took their biggest lead, 118-95, on Lars Hansen's basket with 2:02 to go.

Sports Shorts

MELBOURNE, Australia - Top-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina beat Australia's Terry Rocavert 6-3, 6-7, 6-3, 7-6 in the first round of the $300,000 Australian Open.

In other first-round matches, Allan Stone of Australia upset Tim Wilkison 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, while Tim Gullikson defeated Australian Paul McNamee 6-2, 6-2, 7-6.

CAIRO, Egypt - Despite a victory by the University of Washington in the featured eight-oar race, Vancouver stacked up enough points to win the overall trophy in the Nile River Regatta.

The Canadians placed third in the main event, behind the Huskies and the Leander Rowing Club of England.

College Bowl Picks

SUGAR BOWL
Alabama 25, Penn State 17: Although Penn State has the country's best defense statistically, Alabama has the more resourceful offense with Jeff Rutledge and Tony Nathan overshadowing gifted Chuck Fusina.

ROSE BOWL
Southern California 33, Michigan 24: The Wolverines can't shake their Rose Bowl jinx. It's doubtful that Rick Leach, at his best, all outshine Charles White. The winner could lay claim to No. 1.

COTTON BOWL
Notre Dame 19, Houston 15: The Fighting Irish waited a long time to get into the bowl act. They seem to relish it, always play well.

ORANGE BOWL
Oklahoma 38, Nebraska 22: A rerun of their Big Eight skirmish but this time the Sooners won't fumble nine times and Heisman winner Billy Sims goes berserk.

GATOR BOWL
Ohio State 13, Clemson 10: Woody Hayes finds a way to stop Clemson's versatile Steve Fuller. The Buckeyes win a defensive battle.

BLUEBONNET BOWL
Stanford 28, Georgia 20: Stanford is the best 7-4 team in the country.

Farm Groups Are Upset

Budget Cuts May Victimize Conservation Work

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some farm groups are almost as upset over talk of sharp cuts in favorite programs administered by the Agriculture Department as they are about still-secret plans that President Carter may consider to reorganize the agency.

The National Farmers Union, for instance, says if Carter's goal for "fiscal austerity" is achieved in his new budget "there'll be blood on the carpet" at USDA.

As the farmers union sees it, programs that are costing the department $18.3 billion in the current fiscal year "would presumably cost $19.5 billion" next year because of inflation.

Speculating further, the farm union says in a recent newsletter that the agriculture department's share of the total reduction Carter wants would be about $400 million for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

Thus, it said, the total reduction - allowing for inflated dollars - would be about $1.6 billion for USDA programs.

Some big programs, including food stamps and farm stabilization programs, "will obviously cost more" next fiscal year, the union said. Thus, "where to find places to cut will be a puzzle."

The organization suggested cuts are likely to be proposed for the $190 million Agricultural Conservation Program, which helps farmers pay for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices, and the special milk program which will cost around $142 million this fiscal year.

The group said "other likely targets" for budget-cutters will be the Soil Conservation Service, the Food for Peace program, agricultural research, and federal extension operations.

"It appears unlikely that anything near $1.6 billion in reductions can be found without serious damage - without blood on the carpet," the farmers union said.

"The administration may simply have to end up under-estimating what the programs will cost. This tactic makes the executive branch look good at budget-making time and the Congress look bad when needed funds must be voted."

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said in a recent talk his department is undergoing a policy of "stringent belt-tightening" in its budget planning.

"However," Bergland said,

"high-priority programs affecting farm income, farm exports, human nutrition and some others will not be materially changed."

But he said "actions and recommendations" are being considered that would reduce the department's work force, curtail or postpone some "lower-priority" programs, place a cap on pay raises and apply a "sunset" review to all projects under way.

No Cotton Diversion Planned for 1979

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says cotton farmers will not have to take part of their cropland from production next year in order to qualify for government price supports.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Assistant Secretary M. Rupert Cutler.

Upland cotton producers had no acreage set-aside requirement in 1978, but they were offered the option of "diverting" part of their cropland in exchange for additional federal payments.

Cutler said no set-aside or diversion program will be included in the 1979 program.

A final decision on the 1979 cotton "target price" level will be announced later, he said. But, based on tentative figures, the target will be about 57.7 cents a pound of upland cotton, up from 52 cents in 1978, Cutler said.

The target price is a bookkeeping figure used to compute possible federal payments to farmers for cotton and certain other crops, including wheat and feedgrains, when market prices drop below the target level.

Cutler said the decision not to have a cotton set-aside or acreage diversion plan next year was based on a number of factors, including a sharp reduction in U.S. cotton reserves the past year.

Also, the outlook for domestic mill use of cotton has improved in recent months, and export demand continues to be strong.

"A set-aside or diversion program, coupled with another bad weather year, could result in very tight supplies and a further reduction in cotton stocks next year," Cutler said.

Set-aside requirements have been announced for 1979 crops of wheat, corn, grain sorghum and barley.

Soviets Buying Soybeans; Wheat Purchases Lagging

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Soviet Union is buying U.S. soybeans but still is lagging in purchasing wheat and corn for the coming year.

Orders totaling 700,000 metric tons of soybeans for delivery in the 1978-79 marketing year were reported by the Agriculture Department.

Officials said 312,000 metric tons were new sales reported by private exporting companies and 388,000 metric tons had been reported previously as going to "unknown" overseas buyers.

Soybeans are not covered by a long-term agreement, now in its third year, but requires the Soviet Union to buy a specified minimum amount of U.S. wheat and corn annually.

In the year that ended Sept. 30, Russia bought around 14.8 million metric tons of the two grains. So far in the third year it has bought 280,000 metric tons of wheat and slightly more than one million metric tons of corn.

Under the agreement, the Soviet Union each year must buy at least six million metric tons of wheat and corn combined.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds. The Soviet Union harvested a record grain crop this year of 235 million metric tons, up from about 196 million metric tons in 1977.

In a related report, the department said the 1978 Soviet harvest now is estimated to include about 118 million metric tons of wheat, 105 million metric tons of coarse grains such as corn and 12 million metric tons of "miscellaneous" grains, including beans and rice.

Earlier this fall, the department estimated Soviet grain output this year at around 230 million metric tons. Moscow officials recently put the total at 235 million and so USDA raised its estimate accordingly.

But the larger harvest estimate is "balanced by increases of both reserve stocks and waste loss" this year, the report said.

Thus, despite the big crop, Soviet grain import requirements will be only slightly less than previously projected, probably around 14 million metric tons in 1978-79, compared to 15 million estimated earlier, officials said.

Samuelson Challenging Naman for TFU President

LUBBOCK - Special interest will likely come to bear on the annual meeting of Texas Farmers Union in Lubbock, January 11-13, when David Samuelson of Coupland challenges incumbent state president Jay Naman of Waco.

While other challengers are also possible for this annual election to determine who leads the farm organization's nine thousand members, Samuelson is the only known contender at this time. A vice president will also be elected at the TFU convention, a post now held by Joe Rankin of Ralls, but there are no other announced candidates at present.

Samuelson currently serves as Precinct 1 Commissioner for Travis County and is a past executive board member of Texas Farmers Union. He has also been a leader in his county with "Farmers Union activities" and has most recently been very involved with the farm protest movement.

Naman has distinguished himself with service on the Executive Board of National Farmers Union and has been a prominent leader in Washington and Austin in promoting the farm group's unique ideology during his 17 years as president.

The organization is democratically structured with individual counties originating policy resolutions and sending elected delegates to the annual convention. Reaffirmation of the Farmers Union stand for 100 percent parity farm prices and 90 percent parity support levels through commodity loans is expected in the adoption of 1979 policy which also addresses subjects from taxation to individual commodity programs to foreign and corporate land ownership.

The TFU convention concludes with a Saturday night banquet to be keynoted by National Farmers Union President Tony Dechant at which time an impartial elections committee will give its report on the vote count.

Beef Output Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - Production of red meat was about 3.34 billion pounds last month, down 2 percent from November of last year, says the Agriculture Department.

Beef output, at 2.04 billion pounds, declined 2 percent from a year earlier, and pork output held about steady at 1.24 billion pounds, the department said.

Production of veal, lamb and mutton also was down from a year ago, officials said.

Egg Production Up Over '77

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's hens continued to shell out last month, producing 5.62 billion eggs, up 1 percent from November 1977, says the Agriculture Department.

Officials said that as of Dec. 1 the rate of lay for 291 million hens averaged 65.5 eggs per 100 birds. That compared with 64.6 on Nov. 1, and 65.1 a year ago.

GAS INDEPENDENTS
NEW YORK (AP) - Gasoline stations operated by independents are on the increase nationwide, according to National Petroleum News.

Independents are companies whose names and signs are unfamiliar to many motorists, and they generally charge less for their gasoline.

The industry publication said independents today sell 40-50 percent of the gasoline in the United States, about double of 10 or 15 years ago.

The Lighter Side

DENVER (AP) - Hotel executive Howard Connor seldom has to worry about parking when he travels the five miles from home to his office in downtown Denver.

He roller-skates to work. "It's a good way to keep in shape without losing time," the trim, 51-year-old 6-footer said. "It enables me to look around the town and I don't have to worry about parking the skates."

Although he gets lots of stares as he rolls through town, Connor is no eccentric. He's an experienced hotel manager who arrived in Denver 10 months ago as executive director of the Fairmont Hotel, which is under construction and scheduled to open in September.

Before coming in Denver, Connor was vice president and general manager of the Arizona Biltmore Hotel in Phoenix for two years. Before that he managed New York's Ritz Tower for 12 years and the Carlyle for six.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) - Police say a would-be bank robber's first mistake was holding up a drive-in teller who was safely behind bullet-proof glass.

Then, after claiming he would use a gun if he didn't get cash, he agreed to let the teller summon the bank manager to get the large amount of cash he demanded, taking $1 as a sign of the teller's good faith. The bank manager called police.

While police and the manager were en route, the apparently polite robber motioned to the only car behind him, driven by bank director Raymond Gottlieb, to go ahead. Gottlieb later said he had no idea a robbery was in progress, but he declined the courtesy and had a good view of the events.

Police arrived to find a suspect with no gun. They arrested Lawrence White, 20, who was charged with robbery. White was being held Tuesday in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Canadian Eskimos customarily name their sled dogs after deceased members of the family.

Dallas Man Extends Cars

DALLAS (AP) - Let Roger Harris get his hands on your shiny, new $15,000 automobile and he'll probably take a saw to it - cut that thing right in half. Then he'll charge you a pretty good hunk of change to put it together again.

By that time, your shiny, new $15,000 automobile will be a genuine limousine, complete with fur rugs, color television and anything else you feel you just can't do without.

Harris says his Phaeton Coach Corp. can stretch the length of any car and is the only company he knows of that will deliver a truly custom limo.

If car salesmen make you a little leery, Harris has some pretty good references, like the royal family over in Saudi Arabia. They've bought 18 (at last count) limos from the Dallas specialty shop.

"We're negotiating to build a Cadillac station wagon for one of the princesses," he said. "She wants a refrigerator, bar and all kinds of toys on it," Harris said.

Can't reporters who wonder why Moslems need bars in their limos receive a short course in international trade.

"They don't put liquor into the bars," Harris explains.

"When you do business, whether it's in an office or a home or a car, it's customary for the Saudis to start things off with some tea or juice and some fresh fruit. And these are the things that are put into the bars and refrigerators in their limos."

The Saudis buy Cadillacs. Ford Motor Co. products are forbidden by embargo in the country but Harris says Lincolns make the best limousines because of the way they're built.

"Really, what we have to do with a Cadillac is to make a Lincoln out of it first," Harris says.

While most Americans picture Cadillac and Lincoln limos easily, they have a little more trouble understanding why anyone would want to convert a Toyota into a chauffeur-driven limousine.

"That's our provincial thinking," Harris says. "Anywhere else in the world, like even in England, a standard-size Toyota would be considered a big car. They make great limousines. They're only three inches shorter in width than a Cadillac."

Harris even stretched out a Volkswagen Beetle for an area dealer. He said it was the most expensive conversion he's done, costing $5,000 in 1972. "We couldn't do it now for $30,000," he said.

When Harris says custom-made, he really means it. In his plant sits an auto in the process of conversion, destined for a dealer who won't tell Harris who is buying it. Included in the specifications are four hidden gun compartments and a safe. The gun compartments range in size from .45 caliber pistol to automatic rifle.

Manufacturers maintain warranties on the front half of the car, and Harris warrants the rear end and drive train, which must be adapted to the car's new length. The car's additional length, usually around two feet, is added in the center.

If you want a purple-and-orange Eldorado stretched out, with zebra-striped upholstery and a horn that plays disco music, you'd better look elsewhere.

"Like one of our friends with Ford said, 'We'll work with you as long as you keep our reputation in tact,'" Harris said.

Sooner or later, one has to ask about gangster cars. Harris has no doubt that some of his products end up carrying organized crime figures.

"I don't know for sure, but there are signs," he said. "For instance, they would never buy one as ostentatious as the one on the floor a sedate-looking, dark blue Cadillac. The tip-off is usually how the business is handled."

"I got a call from a woman in California who said she saw a picture of one of our cars in a newspaper," Harris said. "I told her about a car we had available and she said her dad would call back. In an hour, he did. Then he flew in, and he had a big gorilla bodyguard with him."

"He had a cashier's check for $10,000 and wired me the rest the next day. There was no mistaking his name. His business was finding personnel for hotels. I told him about my brother-in-law, who was a chef. He said all he handled were croppers dealers and other

Sadat Says Peace Talks Possible

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - President Anwar Sadat said Wednesday there is a "very good chance" of peace negotiations with Israel resuming soon but that Egypt had not yet received an invitation.

Sadat's statement to reporters followed a declaration today by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin that he was prepared to hold "clarification talks" on two issues standing in the way of a treaty.

After a two-hour meeting with members of his ruling party, Sadat said "it appears, especially after what has been declared by U.S. President Carter, that there is a very good chance for a new round of negotiations, but until this moment Premier Mustafa Khalil didn't receive any invitation."

Sadat said after a two-hour meeting with members of his ruling party.

Carter, who predicted on Christmas eve that a Middle East peace treaty eventually would be signed, has given support to Egyptian proposals for breaking the deadlocked treaty talks.

The Egyptian leader postponed a trip to the upper Egyptian city of Aswan.

gambler-type jobs. Now don't you think he was Mafia?"

The typical limo costs from $25,000 to $40,000, depending on what "toys" are desired.

It'll cost you $1,000 plus a third of the conversion cost up front, with the remainder due on delivery.

Harris' market is international, and sales in Texas are rare.

"People in Texas drive their own cars," he said. "I'd say 50 percent of the limousines in this country are in the Northeast, where they're not parking and a lot of elderly rich people who can't drive themselves."

Nor does Harris do much government contract work.

His sales partner, Roger Reynolds, said Phaeton did work on a couple of cars for Henry Kissinger when he was secretary of state.

"Of course, they did a lot of other -k on them, too," Reynolds said. "They had to put a whole bunch of radio equipment into them in case Kissinger had to call Moscow or Wazahachic or someplace."

New 8640

Heavy-duty power for heavy-duty work

You're talking big jobs when you consider the potential of 275 engine hp 225 PTO hp. And big jobs require a heavy-duty tractor. That's why we're pleased to tell you about the new John Deere 8640. It has big-capacity cooling for both hydraulic oil and engine coolant. A whole list of internal engine changes have been made to ensure long, strong life. Exclusive Perma-Clutch™ is a true wet clutch for virtual lifetime reliability. Helical-cut Hi-Lo planetaries and 4-gear drop train are much quieter. Transmission gears, bearings and synchronizers are heavier. Differentials are 4-pinion design and final drives are wider. A really big advance is a common oil supply for the front differential and the hydraulic system. But this is only part of the story on the new 8640. See us for details.

Automobile Association Fights Highway Litter

HOUSTON (AP) - The American Automobile Association says highway litter caused by uncovered trucks is costing Texas taxpayers millions of dollars each year.

A tougher state statute requiring a tarpaulin or similar cover be placed over vehicle loads that can litter is the No. 1 item among 1979 legislative objectives adopted by the state's three AAA motor clubs in Houston, Dallas, and Amarillo.

Other top priority items call for mandatory liability insurance for all Texas motorists, mandatory 90-day driver's license suspension for any person convicted for driving while intoxicated, and re-enactment of a law requiring motorcycle operators and passengers to wear helmets.

The legislative program was developed after a survey of AAA members indicated 96 percent favor tarpaulin covers on truck loads, 89 percent favor the 90-day driver's license suspensions, 94 percent favor mandatory liability insurance, and 71 percent favor re-enactment of the motorcycle helmet law.

Because of a loophole in the current law, the AAA said, uncovered trucks with loads piled high operate routinely all over the state, "littering the highways and causing damage to other vehicles and occasional injuries to their occupants."

"Aside from the enormous highway safety problems caused by uncovered trucks, the cost of cleaning up litter which they spill is a real and growing problem," the AAA said.

The Department of Highways and Public Transportation spent $2.85 million in picking up trash in the first half of the 1978 fiscal year, compared to $3.95 million in all of the 1977 fiscal year. The cities and counties of Texas spend millions more, yet our highways are blighted with litter.

The statute requiring motorcycle riders 18 years of age and over to wear safety helmets was repealed by the state legislature in 1977.

The AAA said a DPS analysis of motorcycle accidents indicates that deaths of riders without helmets rose from 12 in 1976 to 89 in 1977.
