Officers nab 5 on drug charge

BY CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

A 21-year-old Hereford man was in the Deaf Smith County Jail under $5,000 bond Saturday, involved in the same web with four juveniles, the first ever arrested in Hereford for possession of marijuana.

The adult, Billy Jack Weaver, 21, 801 S. 25 Mile Ave., was in jail, while three 16-year-old boys and a 17-year-old girl were in the custody of their parents, awaiting action of the county juvenile board.

Although a county grand jury investigated the drug problem in Hereford extensively 17 months ago and issued a report warning of widespread drug use among local youth, this was the first time any arrest had involved juveniles, County Juvenile officers Billy Hodges pointed out.

The arrests came on two separate occasions. The three 16-year-old boys were arrested in their car on a parking lot Wednesday night.

Weaver and the 17-year-old girl, a high school senior, were arrested at 1:40 a.m. Saturday in a parked car one mile south of U.S. 60 on Progressive Road.

The girl and the three 16-year-old boys are juveniles under Texas law. The Deaf Smith County Juvenile Board will consider their cases Wednesday and decide whether to recommend that formal charges be filed.

Officers said they have strong reason to believe the three boys arrested Wednesday night had been selling marijuana during the evening to other Hereford teenagers.

Sheriff's deputy Gary Gillespie and Police Capt. Edward Owsley made the early Saturday morning arrest. They answered a call to investigate two persons in a vehicle parked on South Progressive Road.

The officers said they approached the car and smelled marijuana inside. They began to search for the drug and found what was believed to be marijuana plant substance in two match boxes. They also found some paper ordinarily used to roll cigarettes.

Weaver and the girl were taken to the county jail, where she was released to her mother at 2:55 a.m. and he was placed in See OFFICERS, Page 9

Fiesta queen is selected for Sept. 15-16 celebration

A queen was selected Saturday night to reign over the Mexican-Independence Day celebration in Hereford Sept. 15-16.

Anita Talamantez, 16; Liza Torres, 16; and Dee Dee Trevino, 19, were the three candidates for queen of the celebration, being sponsored by the Holy Name Society Men's Organization from St. Joseph Mission in Hereford. The selection and crowning of a queen and a dance was held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the St. Anthony's Catholic Church Auditorium.

There will be a Fiesta dance at the Bull Barn the nights of Sept. 15 and 16 and a parade in downtown Hereford on the 16th. Anita, daughter of Ambrosia Talamantez, 513 Whittier, is a sophomore at Hereford High School.

Liza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Toby Torres, 424 Ave. I, is a junior at Hereford High School.

Dee Dee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Trevino, 314 Ave. I, is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School.

'Vision' put city on forward path

The people of Hereford made it the booming community it is, new teachers in the local school system were told this week, and it will be the people's attitudes and actions that determine whether Hereford will continue to make a mark for itself.

"There is no spit-and-whistle club here. The people are busy here. It's one of the busiest towns I've ever seen," Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of the First Baptist Church, told them. "And that's a reason for our success. The willingness to work has been important." He sounded a warning to the new teachers, who were gathered at the Country Club for the Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet honoring them, that the success of the past gives no guarantee Hereford will be successful in the future.

Most of the city's 56 new teachers—including six from St. Anthony's Catholic school—were at the banquet. Supt. Roy Hartman introduced them.

Ernest Langley was master of ceremonies and introduced other key guests.

Jim Lindsey, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave the welcome.

"All through our growth, there have been those who have said it's too expensive, it's not worth it, it's too much trouble, and if we had listened to them, we'd still be a sleepy town, with the best spit-and-whistle club in the Panhandle," Mann said.

"Some of the very people who have been made wealthy and prosperous by the vision that made all this possible, now say let's don't do anything new, let's leave things like they are. I think the main thing that threatens Hereford as a community is that we may lose our vision and rest on our laurels."

Of course, Hereford was aided in the past by excellent economic resources, said Mann, who gave the annual presentation of "The Hereford Story" to the new members of the faculty. "But other towns had the same resources. Our town grew because of the people. When you talk about the people, you talk about their vision. Where there is no vision, towns perish, communities perish.

"Hereford has been willing to step out, do things. We've got a few soreheads, but I think we've probably got less than anyone else. They key has been that Hereford has refused to listen to people who want us to 'turn in and stare at our own navels,' so to speak. The people had the vision to spend $100,000 to bring a big industry here, like Holly Sugar. While the rest of the Panhandle has continually declined, we have experienced a continuous boom. We have increased our population five times in 30 years."

He pointed out that Hereford was the only non-urban community in Texas to increase its population by more than 50 per cent. See 'VISION' PUT, Page 9

Doris Barnett funeral services set for Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. L.B. Barnett of Del Norte, Colo., resident of Hereford from 1946 to 1964, will be conducted at 3 p.m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home by the Rev. Richard Cagle of Colorado Springs, a former pastor of the local First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Barnett, 50, died Thursday in a hospital at Del Norte. Her family has requested that memorials to her be made to the Doris Barnett Scholarship Fund in care of Rio Grande County Bank, Del Norte.

Born Aug. 13, 1921, at Dallas, she was Doris Mae Owens before her marriage to Dr. Lewis B. Barnett at Fort Worth on June 25, 1943. The Barnetts came to this county from Dallas and Dr. Barnett practiced medicine during their residence here. They moved to Center, Colo., from Hereford, then to Del Norte last year.

Survivors in addition to her husband are two daughters, Beverley of the home and Jennifer Marshall of Greeley, Colo.; a son, L.B. Barnett Jr. of Adams State College at Alamosa, Colo.; and a brother, John D. Owens of Salem, Ore.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery, directed by Gilliland Funeral Home. Pallbearers named are Dub Reeves, O.Z. Golden, B.F. Cain, Ralph Hastings, J.R. Allison and Robert Veigel.

Wild chase nets 2-year jail term

A 22-year-old Lazbuddie man who led police on a weaving, 25-block chase at high speeds up and down Hereford streets and alleys two weeks ago, has been sentenced to the maximum two years in county jail.

He appeared before County Judge H.C. Williams Thursday and changed his innocent plea to guilty.

Jerry D. Cooper, charged with driving while intoxicated, said in his behalf that the only thing he could remember "is hearing that shotgun go off. That's all I remember."

Capt. Edward Owsley, whom Criminal Dist. Atty. Andy Shuval put up as a witness, described the chase and said it finally ended when a policeman fired a shotgun at Cooper's car, hitting it on the hood and fender. He forced one police car trying to pass him, off the road and into a tree. Then, when arrested, he fought with officers until they subdued him.

"You certainly had a merry chase. What if you had killed someone?" Williams asked Cooper prior to sentencing.

"True, true," Cooper replied. "I'm just glad I didn't."

"I find you guilty and set the punishment at $50 and costs and two years in jail," Williams said. "The court does not recommend time off for good behavior." He credited Cooper for the 10 days he had already served.

Cooper's expectant wife and other close relatives were with him in court. Cooper and his wife have two children, they said.

Cooper was on probation for a New Mexico conviction, but it expired two days before the episode in Hereford, so there was no violation of it involved, contrary to what was first believed.

Two other men also changed their pleas to guilty of driving while intoxicated and received fines of $150 and costs and 30 days in jail, with no credit for the five days already served.

They were Esequiel B. Morales, 27, of P.O. Box 1065, Hereford, and Jose Lucio, 19, of Hereford Street, Hereford.

Prior to sentencing, the judge asked whether any aggravation was involved. Shuval told him Morales' car barely avoided several accidents. Morales did not take the breath test.

When officers began pursuing Lucio, he turned off his car lights and turned off the highway, Shuval said. Lucio then jumped from his car while it was running and the car hit another vehicle, Shuval continued. He said Lucio then fought with officers when they arrested him.

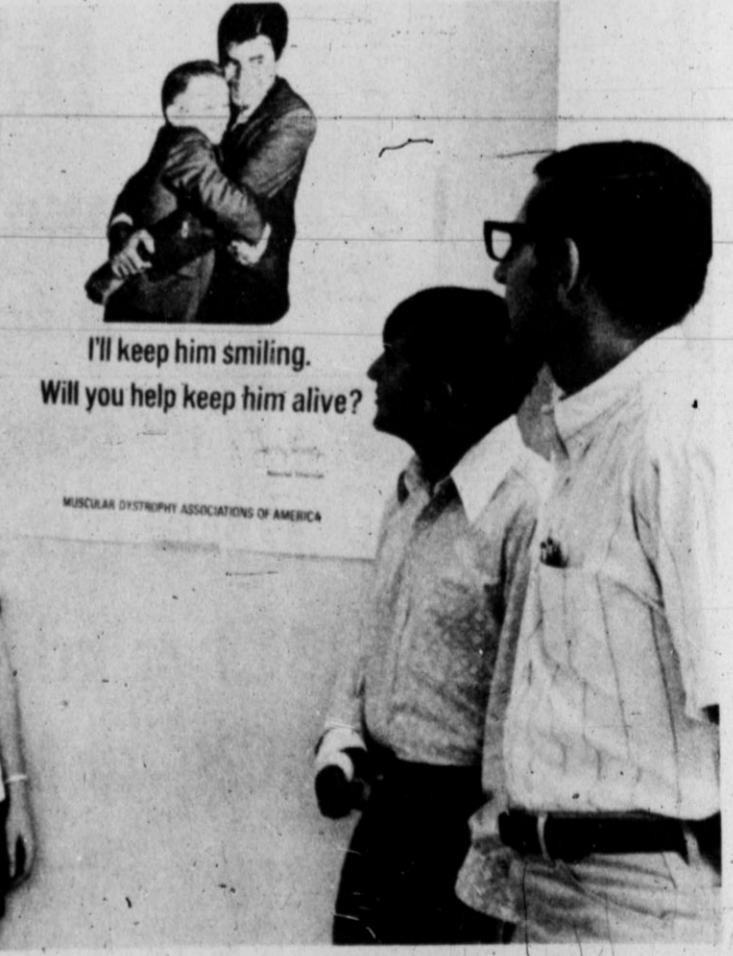

Lucio confirmed to the judge that what Shuval said was true, and said he did it "because I was scared."

Ricky Cordova, 18, 430 Long St., pleaded innocent of aggravated assault and was told to return to court next Thursday with his attorney, Seidon Hale of Amarillo. The judge set a $2,000 bond. Shuval said Cordova's 16-year-old wife, whom he is accused of beating, was admitted at the hospital for numerous face bruises.

MD WORKERS — Some of those who will help in the muscular dystrophy drive telethon tonight and Monday look at a poster of Jerry Lewis, national chairman of the MD campaign. Headed by the Evening Lions, workers will receive telephone calls at the Hereford State Bank (364-3456) for pledged contributions to the drive during an all-night telethon on KFDD-TV, Amarillo, Channel 10.

Mrs. A. C. Stengel, local drive chairman, is third from left. Others are, left to right, Mrs. Jimmie Jesko, Mrs. Tony Urbanczyk, Patsy Paetzold, Leo Club president Pat Swindell and Evening Lions treasurer Larry Aley. The Leo Club will make house-to-house calls to pick up pledges called in by telephone.

READY FOR PRIZE TRIP — Mrs. James McMahan is the lucky sweepstakes winner whose prize is a trip to Europe, and the camera which she will take along is also a part of her winnings. A neighbor, Mrs. Carl Sevier, will accompany her on the tour which begins Oct. 16. The jar of salad dressing she holds is the Kraft brand which supplied a label sent in with Mrs. McMahan's coupon to win the award.

Winner late learning her sweepstakes luck

BY SANDY FIELDS
Staff Writer

Speaking of lucky people, Mrs. James McMahan of 1023 S. Main won a grand prize in the 1971 Kraft Miracle Whip "Dream Vacation" sweepstakes and didn't know it until a month after the award was made.

She won two weeks in Europe and a camera plus $500 bonus and $200 in spending money. She was one of 20 grand prize winners.

She had her choice of a European-African tour or two-week European Tour. She will go first to Brussels, Belgium then to Paris, Frankfurt, and on to Rome.

She will leave by plane the 15th of this month from Amarillo and next day from New York to go to Belgium.

She is having trouble getting her birth certificate for her passport. She has called 3 counties and her birth is not on record anywhere, but she expects to have this difficulty cleared before time to start the trip. Mrs. McMahan had been visiting her daughter in San Antonio two months. She returned home Saturday and found that she had a package holding a camera. She called her husband and asked him what it was for and he said that he didn't know.

Then she remembered that she had entered the contest in May. She thought the camera was 3rd or 4th place prize.

Later she was looking through the remainder of her accumulated mail and in some magazines found the envelope with the lucky letter in it. She said it seemed like an answer to prayers.

Mrs. McMahan is always entering contests she says but had never won anything "Everyone always laughed at me for entering contests, so now..."

Brunch opens year for L'Allegra Club

A brief survey of programs for the coming year, featured by a silver anniversary tea Oct. 7, was given L'Allegra Study Club members who began a new season with a brunch Thursday morning. Mrs. Bill Warrick and Mrs. Cal Garrett were hostesses in the Warrick home south of Hereford.

Scheduled meetings for the next two months were announced, the next on Sept. 16. Date for the appearance of Mary Allen Vincent of Dallas, to give a singing review of a musical comedy, will be Feb. 17.

This will be a return engagement for the popular Texas entertainer, whose program was sponsored here by L'Allegra last year and pleased a large audience. It will replace the club's customary tasting luncheon as a source of funds for community service projects.

Topics of programs during the year are varied, including Holiday Crafts and Cookery, Understanding Children, and Home Decoration. A guest will speak on work of Hereford Day Care Center, and a tour of Tierra Blanca Elementary School will fill one meeting day.

Members agreed to serve a month early in 1972 to give chauffeur service for residents

Girl 'adopted' in club project

Sponsorship of a Girlstown resident will be a project of Simms Study-Craft Club this year, members voted when they began a new season with a coffee at Simms Community Center Wednesday.

They will "adopt" a girl in the residence home, visit and correspond with her and help support her.

Mrs. James Cavin, Mrs. Ray Brorman and Mrs. Joe Meyer were hostesses for the season opener, when 1971-72 yearbooks prepared by club officers were distributed.

Members decided to continue serving dinners to Simms Lions Club this year, as a community service and a fund-raising project.

The club is observing its 20th anniversary and will celebrate with a luncheon in November. Names of secret pals for the year were drawn.

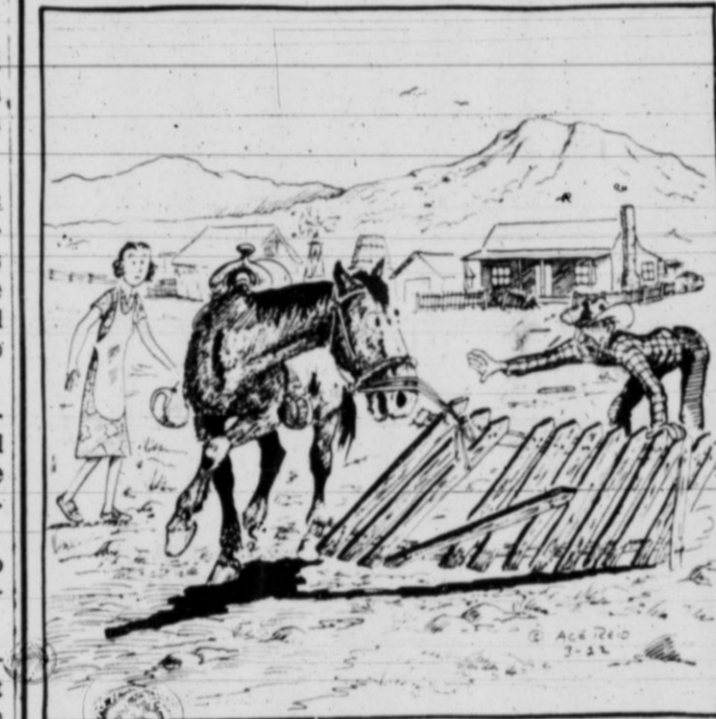

Two new members, Mrs. Jimmie Charles and Mrs. Morris Blankenship, were welcomed. It was voted to have two associate members.

Those present included Mmes.

is Mrs. Carl Sevier who had been a close friend for years. Mrs. Sevier is a lucky winner herself. In 1941, she won a car. McMahan will not be able to go with her because of his work.

Mrs. McMahan and Mrs. Sevier will fly Sabena's spacious 747.

WISH UPON A STAR

With the world-wide emphasis on outer space and interplanetary systems, it is only natural that there should be a recurring interest in our very special gemstones that exhibit a star asterism. The best known are the star sapphires in a rich blue, and the star rubies. The phenomenon may also occur in quartz, garnet and diopside material. The four-rayed star in diopside, for example, is sometimes mistaken for black star sapphire. The star garnet, often from Idaho, may resemble star ruby. The star quartz, seldom seen today in jewelry, is a colorless or slightly pinkish material.

For fine jewelry, and certainly in the eyes of gem collectors, the six-rayed star of a fine ruby or deep blue sapphire is the ultimate. Unfortunately, gemstones that exhibit both fine color—and a fine, perfect star are very rare today, and notably expensive. The black star sapphire, being less rare, is attractive in both men's and women's jewelry. Star-garnets are easier to obtain for jewelry use than is the ruby, but are a pleasing color, often with a nice star.

The star effect is created by interior "needles" which intersect at 60 degree angles. The star appears when a single beam of light is concentrated on the convex surface of the cabochon cut stone. The three chatoyant bands forming the star are said to represent "faith, hope and charity." They are further believed to bring good fortune to their owners and ward off evil. Many born in September wear their birthstone in the star sapphire form. Today, there are also attractive synthetic "stars" on the market to enchant the eye. We will be happy to show you some of our special "stars" in fine jewelry.

CHARLEY PRIDE — The Charley Pride Show, featuring Pride, left, and his group, will be staged the final three days of the 48th annual Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, Sept. 23-25. He had several sellout performances a year ago.

Charley Pride, moon rocks share Tri-State Fair billing

Headline attractions at the 48th annual Tri-State Fair, Sept. 20-25, in Amarillo are the Wayne Newton and Charley Pride Shows, a display of Moon Rocks supplied by NASA at Houston, the Bill Hames Carnival, and a special show for Senior Citizens of the Golden Spread.

The Wayne Newton Show will be staged the opening three days, Charley Pride, who had several sell-out performances at last year's fair, returns for the last three days. Each show will present two performances daily.

All Senior Citizens with Medicare Cards will be admitted free to the Fairgrounds on Thursday, Sept. 23. A free show is set for the Senior Citizens at 1 o'clock that afternoon in Fairpark Coliseum.

Free horse shows are on tap daily through the week of the fair. Quarter Horses, Appaloosas, Paints and Arabians will vie for nearly $14,000 cash awards. A Shetland Pony show will be held Sunday, Sept. 19, and an open horse show is slated for Sunday, Sept. 21.

Officials of the fair, the largest annual event on the Golden Spread, expect this year's attraction will be the largest in the organization's history, dating back to 1923.

Twenty high school bands from across the Panhandle-Plains will join with 14 Amarillo bands to provide music for the fair's opening day parade at 10 a.m., Monday, Sept. 20. The Wayne Newton Show cast will occupy an honored position in the miles-long parade.

The free exhibition of Moon Rocks was arranged by Abe Feerman, president of the Tri-State Fair Association.

The free act on the Bill Hames Carnival midway has been described as the most spectacular ever presented at the fair.

TSTI graphic arts department seeks students

The program chairman for the graphic arts department of Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo came to Hereford the past week to appeal for more students in that field.

There are more job offers than the school has enrollment to fill, said Mel Witte. "If anyone is interested in learning a trade with good job openings, he should look into this."

The program delves into both letterpress and offset printing; the methods which newspapers and printing shops use for turning out printed material.

The major emphasis is on "cold type" composition and offset printing, which is the most principally used printing method today. The department is tied in closely with the commercial art department, so that students get a good grounding in both fields, Witte said.

Classes start this week, but late registration is permitted into late September. TSTI is on a trimester basis and the second trimester begins the first of 1971. Students could enroll then if they wish.

Financial aid is available to students wishing it, Witte said. He will answer any questions about the course, he said.

The wedding in First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe with the Rev. J. Frank Peery of Canyon officiating. Several relatives of the bride from Hereford were in the wedding party and Mrs. Barrett was a guest.

Mrs. Max King, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and best man was Nelson Sprague of Amarillo.

Of silk cloud satin, the bride's empire gown had bodice and fitted sleeves overlaid with Alencon lace and skirt with back fullness sweeping into a chapel train. Of equal length, her veil was caught to a coil of English net. Her bouquet was carried with her great-grandmother's Bible.

Attendants wore satin pant-dresses, each a different color for a harmony of rose, gold, green, blue and purple.

The reception was in the church hall, with Mrs. Ronnie Osborn of Hereford and Mrs. Andy Wilks of Canyon serving refreshments at the bride's table, Mrs. Kent Wiley and Miss Betty Barrett of Amarillo at the groom's table.

The couple will be at home after Sept. 15 in Muleshoe, on their return from a Colorado trip.

The bride is a 1971 graduate and the bridegroom a 1970 graduate of West Texas State College. He served three years in the U.S. Army and is now farming near Muleshoe.

Miss Schulte is married in Saturday vows

The marriage of Miss Patricia Schulte of Tulsa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Schulte, Route 3, to Jon Maul of Amarillo son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Maul of Pampa, was solemnized here in a late afternoon ceremony Saturday.

The nuptial mass was conducted by the Rev. John Kiesling, S.A., assistant pastor, in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Carnations and gladiolas were arranged in tall bouquets at the altar. Mrs. Bryon Birkenfeld of Irving was her sister's matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Sherrel Mason of Tulsa, a former roommate, and Mrs. W. E. Poole of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom. Larry Jorgian of Oklahoma City acted as best man, Smith Cole and Truman Chambers, also Oklahoma City residents, as groomsmen. The bride's brothers, Michael and Gerald Scaulte, were ushers.

Younger members of the wedding party were Brenda and Douglas Chamlee, children of the Lee Chamlees of Odessa and cousins of the bride, as flower girl and ring bearer.

Wedding music was by Mrs. L.A. Birkenfeld, who sang solos, and Mrs. Arhart Reinart, organist.

The bride's lace dress was in empire style, the high squared neckline outlined with scallops of the lace the sleeves with fullness gathered to wide cuffs and the skirt rounding into a chapel train.

Sequins and seed pearls accented the neckline and embroidered the caplet which held her shoulder-length bouffant veil. Her bouquet was of white carnations with fresh foliage.

Her attendants wore skirts of sky blue with empire bodices of flower print emphasizing blue, cap sleeved. Bridesmaids in their hair repeated the color, as did their carnation bouquets. Misses Jo Ann and Jackie Guggemos of Nazareth, cousins of the bride, served wedding cake and punch at the reception which followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Mrs. John Uhles was at the guest registry.

The bride's cake was four-tiered decorated in white and topped with bride-and-groom figurines. A horseshoe-shaped groom's cake was also served.

After September 7 the newlywed couple will be at home at 1510 Heather, Amarillo. For the wedding trip Mrs. Maul changed her bridal dress for a pastel blue pantsuit with beige lace trim on the princess style tunic.

She has been employed as head accountant at the Warehouse Market in Tulsa. She and the bridegroom are both graduates of Oklahoma State Tech at Okmulgee; her high school studies were completed in Hereford.

After graduation from Pampa High School, he attended Phillips College at Borger and Central State at Edmond Okla., before enrolling Tech. He is employed with Cummings Design Co. at Amarillo.

The Hereford unit is in the process of acquiring an aircraft, at no charge to the unit, for the flying enjoyment of the membership.

The Civil Air Patrol is the search and rescue arm of the U.S. Air Force.

The state penitentiary at Vienna, Ill., has 18,000 books in its library.

Civil Air Patrol meets Tuesday at air terminal

The Hereford composite squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will hold an organizational meeting at the Hereford airport Tuesday evening, and all persons interested are invited to attend.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. A spokesman said the meeting is open to both pilots and non-pilots and to both women and men.

"Yankee" comes from the Dutch word "yanku" meaning to snarl.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:
This is a very vital subject "The Greatest Thing in the World" (1 Corinthians 13:13). This is not expressed exactly as Paul the great Apostle to the Gentiles expressed it, but it is easily understood, that is, if any one is interested in the subject. If one is interested, please read all of the 13th Chapter of 1 Corinthians. It is known as the "Love Chapter."

LOVE

If I knew everything about everything; if I knew everything about everybody, but did not love them, what good would it do? If I had the gift of faith so that I could remove a mountain, I would still be worth nothing out love. If I gave everything without love. If I gave everything I have to feed the poor, but didn't love them, it would be no value. If I could speak all languages of the earth, and could even persuade angels, but failed to love others, what profit would it be?

Even if I gave my body to be burned, and did not have love, it would be of no profit. Love is very patient and kind, it is never jealous or envious, never proud nor boastful, it is not haughty, selfish or even rude.

Love does not demand to have its own way. It is not irritable or touchy. It does not hold grudges, and will take no offense even when others do it wrong. It is not glad when there are injustices, but rejoices when truth prevails.

If you love someone you will be loyal to him no matter what the cost may be. You will always believe in him, always expect the best of him, and you will stand your ground in defending him.

Love and understanding can bring out that which is good in a person. Maybe if we all took time to give each other more love and understanding this would be a better world, a better community, and a better church. Where there is love, it is easy to smile; this proves someone cares.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

SEVERAL SPOTS in northern New Mexico were visited by Gladys and Onias Carroll on a vacation that began at Red River, then took them over to Santa Fe and to White Rock, a residential area near Los Alamos.

They were accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Doll Vance of Arlington, Va., who left Thursday morning to fly back home.

EMILY AND GEORGE SUGGS are "getting their land legs back," to use an old expression which used to apply to sailors after long voyages, after a summer of voyaging in their trailer.

They've been back about a couple of weeks but it takes a while to get accustomed to living in a house again after two months of travel. This trip took them around and about in Canada.

They went first to Salem, Ore., to join a caravan of Airstream trailer owners with whom they have taken previous trips. About 250 trailers were in the caravan that went up to Surrey, British Columbia, and took off to tour national parks and other beauty spots in Canada.

On the way home, the Suggs stopped in Denver for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Dexter Davenport.

MRS. WARREN Mueller, a former Hereford resident who was Jane Messick of El Paso before her marriage, has returned to Germany to join her husband, Captain Mueller, who is stationed at Bitburg Air Force Base. He was recently given command there of B Battery, 7th Battalion, 61st Artillery.

Mrs. Mueller visited her parents, the W.J. Messicks, and her brother Robert in El Paso, also her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Messick, in Plainview and other relatives in West Texas.

A GUEST of Mr. and Mrs. W.O. McCutcheon, 130 Ave. B, this weekend is their daughter, Gloria, a student in North Texas State University at Denton. She came up to attend the wedding yesterday evening of Lynne Barrett and Kenneth Box at Muleshoe, as well as to visit her parents.

WHEN SHE BROUGHT her garden club report to the Brand Friday, Fern Ford apologized for being in a hurry but explained it by saying that she and Herman had their grandson, Mike Ford, visiting them from Amarillo and it was keeping her "sort of busy."

DOZENS OF FRIENDS congratulated the W.B. Phillips at their golden wedding reception last Sunday, and there was quite a number of out-of-town guests in addition to their daughters, Earlene Barbee of Colorado and Wanda Rockel of Pennsylvania, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. W.B. Phillips Jr. of Amarillo, and members of their families. They included Phillips' brother, W.M. Phillips, with his wife from Andrews and their son, Joe and family of Lovington, N.M.; also the Tom Stacys of Abilene, the R.V. Glassey family of Peryton, Charles White family of Dumas and Marsh family of Vega.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

We want to toss in our 5 cents worth on behalf of all Hereford Brand carriers (well, for carriers of all newspapers for that matter).

Every subscriber ought to have a boy (or girl) engage in this youthful enterprise. Then they should be appreciated as never before.

We enjoyed helping our son, even to delivering on foot in a blinding snow storm, wind and rain, until it came to the headache of help with collecting. When a boy has to return a half dozen or more times as is often the case, only to be told, "I don't have the money," or "Mother ain't here, come back later," or "all I've got is a $10 bill," etc., this is enough to dampen spirit of the best.

Some people are nice enough to call and say they're going to be away awhile and pay before leaving. Others never say anything and let a whole month elapse without calling to say they can collect.

They are supposed to have collections in by the fifth of each month with exception of paid-in-advance subscribers.

Our plea is that they have the money ready, for it certainly saves them a lot of back tracking, especially during school season.

They glow with pride in a job well done when handed words of encouragement and know their efforts to make good deliveries are appreciated.

BY MELVIN YOUNG

For the most part, Hereford businesses will close their doors Monday for the Labor Day holiday, and a lot of local residents will take advantage of the long weekend to get in one last fling before settling down for the current school year. All government offices, including the post office, and most of the downtown and Sugarland Mall businesses will be closed. The exception will be the grocery stores, a couple of discount houses, cafes and most of the service type businesses.

This is the last of the long weekend holiday periods this year, and since school has already taken up, it's the last opportunity for most people to take a short trip.

And speaking of school, we understand that as of Friday, the local public schools (not counting the parochial schools), had enrolled a total of 5742 students which is an increase of 247 students over the same period last year, and 40 students more than the October 27th peak last year. School officials expect a number of students to enroll Tuesday after the Labor Day holiday, and a few more to transfer here before the end of October.

So it appears that we are continuing to grow, although not at the rapid rate of a few years ago.

Paul Abalos tells us that the Mexican Independence Day Fiesta will be held this year on September 15th and 16th. There had been some talk of discontinuing the event locally, but according to Paul, it will be on. Details of the event are carried in another story in the today's Brand.

Don't forget the big barbecue at Milo Center Monday.

The event is an annual affair put on by the residents of Milo Center, with Pitman Grain Company and Pioneer Fertilizer furnishing the goodies. The barbecue is free and everyone is welcome.

And speaking of barbecues, you might as well get ready to buy a barbecue ticket from one of the Rotarians, for the big event preceding the first home football game, Friday, September 17th. The Rotary barbecue will be served at the High School Cafeteria and will start early enough for everyone to be fed and get to the game by kick-off time.

The Dallas Cowboys looked pretty good Friday night while knocking off last year's Super Bowl champions, the Baltimore Colts. Could it be that Dallas has another "super" team this year, or will they play out just before the Super Bowl?

Stay tuned for the next few months to learn the answer to that mystery!

Were it not for the sporting events, a few special programs and the 10:00 o'clock news, we could sell our television set, but we have enjoyed the football games immensely, and the golf tournaments as well. These events make it all worthwhile.

And have you heard about the Texas Aggie who was sent out to hi-jack a jet? He came back with Joe Namath.

'Vision' . . .

"The American dream is still a reality in this town. If you work at it, you can make a go of it in this town. Three-fourths of our population wasn't here 20 years ago, and I'm not talking about those who were just born. We have numerous people who are known throughout the state."

Hereford was founded around the turn of the century—it was 73 years old at 8 a.m. last Wednesday, to be precise—and had grown to about 2,000 persons in 1910. By 1940, 30 years later, Hereford had grown only 25 per cent, to 2,500.

People from Idaho came in during the war and put in the potato industry, knowing of the plentiful underground water supply. That started Hereford's upward surge, Mann said.

With the end of World War II, young men came home to put their efforts into the economy.

In 1946 came the hybridization of maize that let people produce more maize than ever before, and coupled with the underground water supply, the agricultural economy began to climb steadily.

Then in 1960, Fidel Castro began to make noises in Cuba, and the imports of sugar the U.S. was getting from Cuba dropped sharply. It was necessary that more sugar be produced elsewhere.

"Interested people in Hereford thought some of that competition should be in the United States, and they started striving for that here in Hereford, in the form of beets," Mann said.

With the increased maize acreage, this area suddenly became a desirable area for cattle feeding. With Deaf Smith County leading the way, Texas now is the nation's leading cattle feeding state, coming from nowhere 10 years ago to pass the midwestern states.

With the maize and beets, added to the cattle, Deaf Smith found itself a year ago pushing its way into the No. 1 spot among the state's counties in agricultural revenue.

The end is in sight to this boom, only if the people of Hereford lose the vision that let them attain such a prosperous economy in the first place, Mann said.

In March there were 4,212 foreign diplomats, 2,475 wives and 261 service staff entitled to claim diplomatic immunity in Britain.

Officers . . .

Gillespie and two other deputies were in on the Wednesday night arrest. They questioned the three boys in their car on a parking lot, and began a search that turned up seven marijuana cigarettes and a small bag containing more of the substance, they said.

County Judge H.C. Williams took the boys' drivers license during their appearance before him Thursday morning, placed them under 9 p.m. curfew and warned them not to associate with each other until after the juvenile board has considered their case next Wednesday. He placed them under Hodges' authority.

Sheriff's officers were looking for the three boys Wednesday night and saw their car pull up in a parking lot in the 200 block of North 25 Mile Avenue.

Gillespie said he saw one of the boys throw something under the car while getting out, and another deputy just driving up, picked up what turned out to be a plastic "baggy" containing the narcotic.

A search of the car found seven marijuana cigarettes under a chrome railing beneath the front seat.

The boys were taken to the county jail, where they waited with officers in the lobby until Judge Williams could call an attorney to come to the courthouse with the boys' parents.

The boys were warned of their rights, with the parents present, and then were placed overnight in the jail. After their court appearance Thursday, they were released to their parents, who were with them in court.

The juvenile board has the authority to summon the boys and their parents before it to help in deciding whether to recommend if formal charges should be filed.

Possession of marijuana is a felony.

JVs make prediction look good

Don Cumpton, one of the assistant coaches for the Hereford High School football team, caught a lot of ribbing Thursday and Friday from his prediction his junior varsity team would beat Farwell "Six and oh, six touchdowns to nothing" in their scrimmage Friday night.

The prediction got quoted in the paper, and Cumpton himself wasn't so confident he wanted to go on record with it, and the junior varsity team a year ago beat Farwell just one touchdown to nothing. This year, the JV team isn't considered as good, and Farwell is considered better.

Friday night, Cumpton's junior varsity squad rolled up a big 400-yard total offense figure in outscoring the Farwell varsity five touchdowns to one.

James Harris scored twice, from 2 and 35 yards out. Micki Ward went across from 15 yards out. Randy Alexander scored on a two-yard run, and Terry Poin-dexter scored on a 35-yard jaunt.

James Higgins connected on four of 10 passes for 100 yards passing out of the 400-yard total.

"We did a good job," Cumpton said. Alexander, Joe Sheffy, Willie Glass and Alfred Sanders shined defensively, he said.

Club celebrates 40th birthday

A history of North Hereford Home Demonstration beginning with its organization Sept. 14, 1931, was read to feature the program at a tea Thursday honoring its 40th anniversary. Charter members were special guests.

They were Mmes. E.M. Cox, Elmer Paterson, B.E. Brumley and H. L. Hershey. None of the four is now a member of the club, but one charter member, Mrs. C.L. Whitehead, is still on the active membership list although she has lately been ill and was unable to be at the tea.

Mrs. Paul Hoff, a past president, was chairman of arrangements for the party, and read the history. The club was organized in the home of Mrs. R.J. Kibbee. An inspirational message written by a former president, Mrs. Ivan Saltzman, and titled "Who Am I?" was also read by Mrs. Hoff.

Cake squares inscribed with the figure 40 were served with pink punch and coffee.

In addition to honorees, guests were Mrs. Charles Russell and Mrs. Jerry Bartels.

Members present included: Mmes. Clinton Ward, Velma Salvino, Tony Hoffman, A.E. Hodges, Otto Massie, Gaylon Bryan, J.A. Crofford, Kenneth Haggard, Roger Williams and Miss Roberta Campbell.

State frees money for road projects

The go-ahead has been given, for 1972, on Highway Department improvement to two roads in Deaf Smith County, including a one-third mile strip of South Main in Hereford, from the Tiera Blanca Creek Bridge to Country Club Road.

Also approved is a 7.4-mile stretch of Farm Market Road 809 south from Interstate 40 in Wildorado.

The two projects, are part of the Texas Highway Commission's Farm-to-Market Road Improvement Program for 1972. South Main is also known as Farm Market 1259.

The South Main project will involve reconstruction to provide a municipal-type curb and gutter section, at an estimated state cost of $39,400. The City of Hereford will provide the finances for curb and gutter and necessary storm sewers. The proposed curb and gutter section was requested of the state by the city.

The work near Wildorado involves reconstruction of grading, structures and surface to provide a modern two-lane road with paved shoulder, at an estimated cost of $320,000.

The projects were among 797 approved in 195 counties for 1972. More than 4,800 miles of Texas highways and farm-to-market roads are involved, at an estimated construction cost of $40.4 million.

The Farm-to-Market Improvement Program and the 1972 State Highway Safety and Betterment Act is aimed at enhancing traffic safety by modernizing and rehabilitating highway facilities which are becoming obsolete due to age and increased traffic.

Rehabilitation center for addicts planned in Amarillo

A $250,000 rehabilitation complex for drug addicts will be begun in Amarillo soon, the Hereford Peace Officers Association was told Thursday night at its regular monthly meeting.

The unit will house approximately 65 patients, both female and male, and will serve all of the Panhandle area.

Rev. Henry Marshall, an Assembly of God minister who was a drug addict himself for 18 years, "prior to becoming a Christian," talked about the rehabilitation program in his capacity as guest speaker for the Association.

Marshall has been working with various rehabilitation programs in recent years, trying to help others break the drug habit.

Land has been purchased for the site of the project, and two barracks from the old Amarillo Air Force Base may be obtained. If this happens, the unit possibly could be put into operation for $25,000, Marshall told the officers.

"The fact is, we have a growing use of drugs in our area, and the program is set up in such a way as to help not only those already addicted but to try and prevent the expansion of drug usage by conducting clinics and seminars for parents, as well as youth," he said.

The center will be non-denominational, but Marshall said there will be a religious atmosphere.

Officers will be interested in the center because of the extent of the problem today and since the center will be working with law enforcement officers, the minister said. The center also will work with churches, civic groups and individuals, he said, to try to help anyone needing help.

Board members from Hereford are Chief of Police Don Brush, Sheriff Travis McPherson and Rev. Homer T. Goodwin.

The Peace Officers Association voted to help with the program anyway it can.

Three members of the unit's executive board from Amarillo also attended the meeting.

Walcott 4-H'ers begin new year

Mrs. Richard Fortenberry, adult leader, and Joyce Shipp, assistant county Home Demonstration Agent, met with the 20 girls who enrolled. Mrs. Shipp gave a demonstration on electric lighting, showing how different lights affected a piece of fabric.

The next meeting will be on Sept. 15.

Want to take courses in appliance repair, speed reading?

Fall courses under the adult Vocational Education program at Amarillo College are scheduled to start during the week of Sept. 13.

The current offering consists of 36 courses ranging from "Motorcycle Maintenance and Repair" to "Real Estate Law."

The courses meet one night each week from 7 to 10 and vary in length from 4 to 15 weeks.

Students are not required to be high school graduates to enroll.

Adult vocational courses are designed to provide the training needed for entry into the labor market. The courses also furnish the training or retraining needed, by those already working, to achieve stability or advancement in their employment. Course content is designed to meet the particular needs of the students.

Registration for these courses is now in progress.

Students may enroll at the registrar's office in Ordway Hall at 2201 S. Washington, Amarillo. Additional information on the courses may be obtained by calling 376-5641, Extension 294 at Amarillo College.

Most of the courses are 10 or 15 weeks in duration, but one is four weeks, one is five weeks and one is 16 weeks. ## Livestock farmers sow small grains in some row crops

"Sowing small grain in some row crops in the late summer is becoming a common practice for livestock farmers on the High Plains of Texas," according to Jimmy Lewis, soil conservationist for Hale County. "They obtain an early pasture for their stocker calves, and the soil and water conservation which is established may be incidental to their economy but it is very real."

The fall season, the weather and principally the rains that so often occur in September on the Plains of Texas is a determining factor as to the amount of fall seeded—small grains sown in row crops.

In 1969, 10,000 to 12,000 acres of row crops (mostly cotton) were seeded to wheat or rye, and to wheat-rye mixtures. This was the year of the rains in September. In 1970, only about 5,000 acres were overseeded because of extremely dry growing conditions during late summer and early fall.

The 1969 seedings were made principally in cotton. The 1970 seedings were made in both cotton and corn ensilage land which had been cut early.

The livestock farmer figures that most of this overseeded pasture is worth at least $32 per acre. They graze the small grain for four months using two 400 pound stocker calves per acre. At one dollar per hundred weight for one month, this adds up to $32 per acre for a four months grazing period. Again, depending upon the weather conditions, the grower may need to irrigate the pasture once or maybe twice during the four months period.

James Cannon, Edmonson Community, Hale County, Texas, has seeded his cotton fields, at least 800 acres, each year (1969-70) by plane. He recommends one bushel of seed per acre. Some farmers use one and a half bushels per acre of seed.

"The general procedure for most farmers in seeding rye, wheat, or rye and wheat in the row-crop is, first, about August first to go into the field and run out the middle—rough the middle up a little," a Plainview seed company official said.

"Then seed the small grain with a plane or with an inter-row seeder with two disc openers per middle. Follow this seeding with an application of irrigation water if no rain occurs. On cotton, this should be the final application of water for the crop for the year. In this area of the South plains that means on irrigation application about August 10-15."

Overseeding corn and grain sorghum has not been successful except where corn or sorghums were cut for ensilage. Cotton is the best crop to overseed. Soybeans are considered the second best choice.

In cotton, on a wet fall season, the small grain does extremely well and aids the cotton crop by reducing the available moisture at a time when the cotton doesn't need it. This may improve the grade of cotton but no effect has been observed on the yields per acre. The small grain uses up the moisture, giving the cotton a better chance to dry down for harvest.

It appears that the small grain actually makes harvesting of cotton much simpler. The stripper slides along the grass cover with ease. Cannon checked the grades and yields of cotton from overseeded cotton versus cotton from clean cultivation. The grades were slightly better on overseeded plots, but there was no difference in yields per acre.

SUMMERFIELD MOBILE

16-year-old is declared as an adult

A 16-year-old boy charged with auto theft was taken out of the jurisdiction of juvenile court Thursday and into that of district court.

It means he will be regarded as an adult, instead of as a juvenile, in future consideration of his case. He will come before the next session of the grand jury.

The action before County Judge H.C. Williams was in lieu of hearing on the question of whether the youth should be declared a juvenile delinquent, such a decision would have left open a strong possibility of a commitment to the state reformatory at Gatesville.

As a 16-year-old adult, there was a strong possibility that if indicted and convicted, he might receive probation. Any violation of the probation then, could result in a term in the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Two other juveniles were handled similarly in the past several weeks. It gave the boys one more chance to avoid confinement in state correction facilities.

Passing motorists get free coffee, doughnuts

Hereford Jaycees are operating a "Holiday Rest Stop" near the intersection of U.S. 60 and U.S. 385 to provide free coffee, soft drinks and doughnuts to travelers passing through Hereford.

It is an annual project conducted each Labor Day weekend by Jaycee chapters throughout the nation.

The local stop is on U.S. 60, about one block west of its intersection with U.S. 385, and across the street south from the Caison House Restaurant.

The rest stop went into operation at 8 p.m. Friday and stayed open until 6 a.m. Saturday, then shut down to avoid any conflict with local restaurants. It was open again all night Saturday.

Since most travelers are already at their destinations, the rest stop is not open today. It will open again at 8 p.m. Monday and stay in business through midnight, hoping to provide the coffee and brief stop that may help keep motorists alert.

Boys Ranch rodeo set today, Monday

Young rodeo contestants at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch are preparing for record crowds this weekend during their 27th annual rodeo at the Ranch.

Qualification rides to determine just who would be the contestants were held for three months prior to the rodeo today and Monday. After trying for the best riding times on calves, steers, bulls and broncs, the number of boys has been narrowed to about 160.

Although just about all of the 375 boys now at the Ranch would like to be contestants, the two performances limits the number of entries. The four clowns in the rodeo were selected from 54 boys and five trick riders were picked from 36 boys.

All of the boys will have some part in the rodeo, however, working at the many jobs necessary for a successful production. Some will prepare a bar-be-que plate that will be sold for $1 for visitors who want to picnic at the Ranch. The rodeo is also a traditional homecoming for former boys of the Ranch, and many are expected to attend with their families from widely-scattered areas. Area riding clubs will participate in the Grand Entry.

The rodeo is nationally known as the only rodeo of its kind in which the only contestants are boys riding professional rodeo stock under R.C.A. Rules. The two performances are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. today and Monday.

General admission tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children and servicemen in uniform. Box seat tickets are $2.50.

H.D. CHATTER
Recipes with tang of fall
By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

MRS. ED BLAKNEY says this grape jelly recipe is the best she has ever used and will share it with you.

GRAPE JELLY
Wash and stem grapes. Crush grapes, and heat, stirring constantly, to 145 degrees F. Cook for 15 minutes. Press through a jelly bag and strain. Measure juice and heat to boiling point. For each cup of juice add ¾ cup sugar. Boil rapidly to jelly stage. Pour into sterilized glasses or jars. Seal.

Crystals often form in grape jelly. To prevent this allow extracted juice to stand overnight in a cool place. Next morning carefully pour juice off sediment in bottom of pan.

THIS MAKES good grape juice at home. The method can be with any juice.

MAKING GRAPE JUICE AT HOME

For a small quantity of juice made at home: an enamel or aluminum dishpan; a thermometer (dairy or candy); a clean cloth; ½ yard of cotton flannel for filtering; bottles or jars and lids; a bottle capper and caps.

If grapes of improved varieties are ripe when used for grape juice no sugar is needed. If you prefer a sweeter juice add ½ to 2 cups sugar. A blend of different varieties makes for better flavor and a more attractive color. A bushel of grapes will yield approximately 3 gallons of juice; some varieties only 1½ gallons.

Steps in making grape juice:

- (1) Wash Grapes on the stem thoroughly.
- (2) Crush grapes in aluminum wooden or earthenware vessel. Do not use tin, iron, zinc or steel vessels.
- (3) Heat the crushed grapes, stirring constantly, to 145 degrees F. Hold at this temperature for 5 minutes. No water is added. Most of the color of the juice comes from the inner skin.

Heating the crushed grapes and pressing while hot will produce a rich wine color.

A higher temperature than 145 degrees will extract tannin from the stems and tartaric acid from the seeds, giving the juice an undesirable flavor.

(4) After heating, extract the juice by pressing, or hang up in a bag and squeeze.

(5) Filter the juice through cloth or jelly bag. Heat again.

(6) Pour into bottles or jars, filling to neck of bottle or jar.

(7) Cap bottles. Seal Jars.

(8) Place in water bath. Cover completely with warm water. Heat and hold water at 165 degrees F.

Pint bottles or jars 5 min.; ½ gal. bottles or jars 15 min. Quarts 10 min.; Gallon 20 min.

IF YOU USE saccharin, you might try this jelly recipe.

GELATIN JELLY
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 grain saccharin
2 cups, unsweetened grape juice
½ lemon rind, grated
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Pinch of salt

Place gelatin and saccharin in cold water and allow gelatin to swell and soften. Bring one cup of grape juice to the boiling point and add the gelatin mixture; stir until dissolved.

Add second cup of grape juice and other ingredients, mix well and pour into jelly glasses. When cold, cover glass and store in refrigerator.

HERE ARE TWO more good recipes.

CHOW-CHOW
4 C. chopped cabbage

(If too salty, rinse and drain again). Mix vegetables with sugar, seed and vinegar. Simmer 20 minutes. Bring to boiling. Pack, boiling hot, into hot jar; seal at once.

Chopped red sweet peppers can be substituted for the green tomatoes.

Smith okays grant for SBA projects

Gov. Preston Smith today announced his approval during the past week of a community action grant of $32,890 in new federal funds to Aspermont Small Business Development Center, Inc. in Aspermont for Economic Development.

It operates in this county and several others.

The grant, funded under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act, also involves $4,500 in unexpended funds making a total of $37,390, and is effective Oct. 1, 1971, through Sept. 30, 1972.

Objectives of this program include establishing, preserving and strengthening small business concerns; improving managerial skills; mobilizing private managerial skills and resources; and assisting those who have not had adequate opportunities to enter into the mainstream of a free enterprise system.

Also, the program will strive to assist in establishing or expanding businesses and services operated by local individuals and groups, and to locate outside industry for community, tourism projects and the development of natural resources.

Rural Texans set record in FHA farm loans

J. Lynn Futch, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, announced today that the agency extended credit to rural Texans in the amount of $155,456,817 during the 1971 fiscal year ending June 30, 1971.

This credit was furnished farmers and rural residents through the many loan programs administered by the agency with rural housing leading the way with $72,302,453.

Loans for community services facilities such as rural water systems and sewer systems totaled $24,205,192. Credit extended to individual farmers and ranchers for operating expenses, capital purchases and land purchases totaled $58,949,172.

This was the largest-yearly volume of loans in the history of the organization, which has as its overall mission the development of rural areas.

Futch said he was also pleased there was a sizeable decrease in the percentage of loan delinquencies as compared to previous years.

Due to the severe drought in the spring and early summer of this year, it is expected that the demand for emergency credit to farmers and ranchers this fall and winter will substantially increase the volume of farm loans in fiscal 1972, with all other programs also expected to be expanded.

The program is administered in Texas through 144 county offices and the state office in Temple.

All-day singing, dinner on the ground, Bippus style

FIFTH SUNDAY SINGING — Whenever there is a fifth Sunday in a month, the folks of Bippus community invite their friends and gather at their community house for an old-time singing and dinner. Last Sunday these were among Bippus residents at the morning singing, which began at Sunday School; in the afternoon visitors from Hereford, Adrian, Vega and other neighborhoods came in to help make the rafters ring with favorite gospel songs and old hymns, accompanied by piano and guitar. A long-time resident of the community in Northwest Deaf Smith County,

Tipps-Coleman wedding Couple married Friday takes place in church will make home in Vega

The bride's maternal grandfather officiated for the marriage ceremony of Miss Janet Raye Tipps and Ted Ray Coleman just before sundown Saturday, when the couple exchanged vows at the altar of First United Methodist Church.

D.C. Hamilton of Lubbock, a Baptist minister, conducted the service in a setting of yellow chrysanthemum bouquets and yellow tapers held in paired wrought-iron candelabra.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tipps, Route 2, and Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Coleman, 207 Elm.

Miss Lisa Williamson was Miss Tipps' maid of honor; her sister, Mrs. Terry Albracht of Vega, was bridesmatron, Miss Paula Harrison of Levelland bridesmaid and Tammy Durham junior bridesmaid.

With Sheldon White as best man, Mr. Coleman was attended by his brothers, Rex and Joe Coleman, as groomsmen and his cousin, Jeff Coleman, as junior groomsmen.

Lisa Wiley, small daughter of the Raymond Wileys, was flower girl and James Parker Fanning, son of the Keith Fanning, the ring bearer.

Miss Shawnessy Durham and the bride's cousin Greg Hamilton of Levelland, lighted candles before the ceremony.

Ushers were David Tipps, brother of the bride, and Gary Coleman, the bridegroom's cousin.

Wedding music was by Miss Carol Sectt, vocal soloist, and Mrs. William Penn, organist. Principal selections were "A Time for Us, For All We Know and The Lord's Prayer."

Given by her father in marriage, the bride was gowned in snowflake organza and lace. Her grandmother's cameo was pinned at the center front of the standing lace collar and her cuff bracelet accented the wide band of lace at the wrist of the full sleeves.

A panel of lace extended down the bodice front, centered with a row of tiny white buttons which continued down the skirt to the lace-edged hemline. The illusion veil, bordered in lace, cascaded from an off-the-face cap. She carried orchids and yellow roses with stephanotis.

Sunny yellow dotted Swiss made the bridesmaids' dresses with ribbons run through lace banding around the empire waist, puff sleeves and bottom of the skirt. They wore garlands of white and yellow summer blossoms in their hair and carried feathered mums in nosegays.

Miss Cindy Coleman, the bridegroom's cousin, registered guests at the reception in the church fellowship hall, where bridesmaids' bouquets decorated the tables.

Miss Mona Gale Gibson and Mrs. Joel Williamson cut the wedding cake and Misses Yvonne Merrill and Kathy Shannon poured punch. Also in the houseparty were Meses. Joe Bradley, Wayne Hodges, Bob Word, Bob Hamman, Reuben McGilvary and Miss Patsy Giles.

A trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, began for the couple immediately after the reception. Mrs. Coleman chose for travel a knit dress in navy, tan and orange with coordinating orange vest and tan shoes.

She is a student in West Texas State University, after graduation in May from Hereford High School. Presently employed with Wilson Beef and Lamb Co. here, the bridegroom was a 1969 HHS graduate and attended WTSU.

Their home will be at 505 S 25 Mile Avenue after the brief trip.

Wedding guests from other cities included Mrs. D.C. Hamilton of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Harrison, Miss Cindy, Susan and Martha Harrison of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Walker of Ada, Okla.

It is only 18 miles across the English Channel from Dover, England to Calais, France.

In ancient times the Pyramids of Egypt were used as tombs of the rulers.

A double ring ceremony in First Christian Church Friday evening united in marriage Miss Susie Eileene Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Henderson of 702 Irving, and Charles Dennis Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Short of Vega.

J. Hilton Henderson, the bride's brother who is a Church of Christ minister at Friona, conducted the wedding service. Afterward, the couple left on a trip which will end September 8, when they return to a home in Vega.

Bridal attendants were Sherry Janssen, maid of honor; Mrs. J. Henderson of Friona, the bride's sister-in-law and matron of honor; Misses Debra Wyly and Cheryl Patterson of Friona and Miss Jena Short of Vega, sister of the bridegroom. John Baxter of Friona was best man; serving as groomsmen were the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Wayne Pate of Dalhart; his cousins, Leaton and Lonnie Noyes, and Larry Martin. Ushers were another brother-in-law, Jerry Chriswell and Wayne Walker.

Kim Noyes, daughter of the Jimmy Noyes, was the flower girl; Kevin Bull, son of the Richard Bulls, ring bearer. Both are cousins of the bridegroom. His sister, Kelli Short, and Chris Wyly of Friona were candle lighters.

With Jim Hannaford as organist, Caye Clearman, Genie Robbins and Rojean Block sang One Hand One Heart, Fairest Lord Jesus, Wedding Prayer and the theme music from Romeo and Juliet.

Imported Chantilly lace sprinkled with seed pearls masked the empire bodice of the bride's gown, circled the high neckline and was applied on full sleeves and above the hemline of the skirt.

The Watteau train was bordered with lace and the tiered waistlength veil was held by a lace headpiece. Her bouquet was a cascade of roses and chrysanthemums, her only jewelry a diamond dinner ring, the bridegroom's gift.

Ruffles at the neckline and on gathered sleeves trimmed the attendants' dresses of rose sateen, styled on empire lines with Venise lace accents. They carried pink roses and mums.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Jerry Chriswell and Miss Sherry Janssen served the cake. Mrs. Lonnie Noyes, Miss Wileta Wyly of Friona and Miss Alicia Henderson of Colorado City, cousin of the bride, poured punch.

Miss Sabrina Marshall of Edmondson, the bride's cousin, was at the guest register, and another cousin, Miss Lynnetta Moore of Plainview, assisted in the houseparty.

The wedding cake was decorated with a replica of an open Bible between the base and second tiers, and on the top tier a flagree heart set with seed pearls and ruffled with tulle as a background for bride-and-groom figurines. Tiny figures representing others in the wedding party stood around the base with clusters of pink sugar roses.

For the honeymoon trip, Mrs. Short wore a pink A-line dress, sleeveless, with long-sleeved double breasted coat to match.

She is a 1971 summer graduate of Hereford High School and has been employed with Henderson's Department Store. The bridegroom, who farms with his father at Vega, attended West Texas State University two years as an agriculture major. He was graduated from Vega High in 1968.

HHS club picks year's officers

VICA Cosmetology Club of Hereford High School held a meeting Monday night to elect this year's officers.

Officers are Julie Vogel, president; Carol Edds, vice president; Sharon Coffey, secretary; Debbie McDonald, treasurer; Nellie Cockrum, reporter; Pam LaFleur, parliamentarian; JoAnne Young, historian; and Karen Koozer, sergeant at arms.

Along with their advisor, Vanna Thurlow, 27 other members attended.

ECONOMICAL DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—West Germans spend an average of $58.47 on their cars monthly, the German Automobile Association reports.

This includes price of the car, repairs, parts, gasoline, insurance and garage.

That's not too much considering some New Yorkers pay $50 a month garage rent.

We need water project

Two rather large headlines in the Hereford Brand (Thursday, Sept. 2), should get the immediate attention of every Brand reader.

"County crop picture looks bright", and, "California water project impresses local visitors."

We hope both stories will be scanned carefully by our subscribers.

The crop picture in the Hereford area is probably as bright at this point as it has ever been, in spite of the normal "August lag" in the vegetable market, and it is a sight to behold as one drives down the highways and sees field after field of grain sorghum, sugar beets and cotton in manicured fields that would do credit to the most fastidious gardener, plus thousands of cattle grazing in ankle-high wheat pasture. It proves beyond a doubt that we have the finest farmers on earth working the land in the Magic Triangle.

But it also points out that we have had the blessing of an ample supply of water in this area, and that we must insure a continuation of the supply if this area is to continue to thrive and prosper in the years to come. We must then, get behind the organizations which are now pushing forward in the efforts to bring "river water" to our fields. A delegation of local citizens have just returned from a visit to California's mammoth $2.8 billion Water Project, and they have returned convinced that it's also possible to get water pumped to thirsty West Texas farm fields from several hundred miles away, even several thousand feet uphill, if we will "get to work." These citizens have had the benefit of a "first-hand" look at the same type of venture in California.

The California project brings water 3,000 feet uphill, bringing it across the state for use along the way. Its final destination is Los Angeles, which needs water for industrial use. Farmers get water along the way.

Some water authorities are now estimating that this area's underground Ogallala formation water table, which has been decreasing each year, will become critical in many areas by 1980. At the present rate of decline, it is entirely possible that by the year 2000, there will be no underground water in the area to pump to our crops. Water will have to be transported here from elsewhere, and mammoth storage facilities will be required enroute. Obviously, the only time we'll be able to take excess water from major rivers such as the Mississippi will be during the flood stages and this excess water will have to be stored somewhere enroute. All this will cost money—lots of money—but more important, it will take time to plan and to construct the canals and reservoirs. The Texas Water Project should have been started years ago—probably when the California project initially came off the drawing boards, but we have delayed because we were fortunate in having an abundance of underground water.

Further delay however, could be disastrous, and it behooves us all to "push and pull" until the Texas Water Project is completed. It may make little difference to many of us now, but it would be a shame to deprive our children of the same opportunities we have had simply because we were too selfish, or lacked the foresight to give back to the area that which we have taken from it—the water supply.

Organized labor, which enjoys talking about the allegedly bloated profits of corporations, may insist on profit curbs as the price of its cooperation with economic stabilization efforts. Only in that way would profit controls make any sense at all.

It isn't at all clear what sort of controls anyone is talking about. In seeking to group corporate profits with prices and wages, the unions may be thinking of some sort of a ceiling, possibly at the level that prevailed just before the price-wage freeze.

One trouble with that is that just before the freeze both wages and prices had been trending sharply upward. The freeze plainly caused many individual inequities, but on the average prices and wages were frozen at what was, in recent history, a high level. Profits this year have edged upward from the depressed level of 1970. In the second quarter, however, corporate net profits were still at an annual rate of $44.6 billion, only slightly above the figure for all 1969 and still well below 1968. Union officials still may favor a freeze at that level, but to others, it's likely to look inequitable, to put it mildly.

Actually, past efforts to limit corporate profits have come through special taxes on so-called excess profits, and presidential economic adviser Paul W. McCracken now says they offer the only "practicable" way to control earnings. Such taxes call for decisions as to what is excess, and one result is what tax authorities consider some of the most complicated tax law ever written.

Excess profits tax laws in the past have produced litigation that has dragged through the courts for many years after the laws themselves have expired. The chief product of such legislation is not equity or economic stability but lots of work for tax lawyers. As former presidential adviser Gardner Ackley says, the excess profits levy is a "lousy" tax.

Profits are already limited by the freeze on prices. Since companies reinvest nearly half of their net profits in projects that help create additional jobs, some profit rise is needed to keep the economy on the track toward solid expansion. Some growth in profits is needed, moreover, to make it possible for firms to raise investment funds in capital markets.

Putting a ceiling on profits might mean a political gain with the labor unions, but it would be a gain purchased at the risk of enormous economic loss.

Hail the judge

PERHAPS SOMEONE will think of collecting a fund to buy a fancy gavel, or some other token of appreciation, for U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

The long-time jurist spoke up sharply as the first day of the Texas stock fraud trial drew to a close in Dallas. She took note of the fact that only one of 69 witnesses had been heard, because of fumbling and mumbling by assorted lawyers.

"I could sum up all the relevant testimony of this witness in about five minutes," she commented. She was fed up, rightly, with repetitious testimony, pointless legal haggling and long-winded talk. The lawyers had failed to "exercise some discrimination in their handling of the witnesses," as she put it.

Business of the courts, at all levels, could be expedited, without legal damage and at considerably less expense to the taxpayers, if more judges placed shorter fuses on their patience.

Here's a vote for Judge Hughes and her determination to run her court properly.

Talk of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

HAPPINESS HOLLOW—During the Great Depression, an idealistic Texan set out to build a kind of poverty-free Utopia along the de Cordova bend of the Brazos River in southeastern Hood County.

In 1928, John B. Christensen, a Dallas attorney-turned-industrialist, had acquired several thousand acres along the river. He decided to use it for the establishment of an industrial and agricultural community that would be self-supporting through good times and bad.

Calling his settlement "Kristenstad" (literally, "Kristen's homestead"), he enticed newcomers with offers of cheap land and long-term mortgages. Settlers were urged to build their homes from native timber and stone and Christensen provided them with a sawmill for that purpose. Later he built a chair factory, a charcoal manufacturing plant and a community store where food and supplies were available at cost.

By 1933, some 200 people were living and working in Kristenstad. But as the depression worsened and agricultural prices fell, the settlers began moving out. By 1938, Christensen's dream of a model community had disappeared.

THE SIGNS OF TEXAS—Signs along highways leading toward Centerville carry the silhouette of an antlered buck and inform the motorist that this is "Leon County—the deerest place in Texas."

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—Quarantines imposed on animals to halt the spread of disease (like the present one on horses) aren't new in Texas. An animal quarantine in 1916 almost forced one of the nation's largest circuses into bankruptcy.

The Al G. Barnes Circus, then comparable in size to the old Barnum & Bailey and Ringling Brothers shows before they combined, was halted in Dallas after an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease spread through the state. For six weeks, the 1,000-man circus crew and all of its livestock were stranded.

After a month and a half of cancelled performances and mounting expenses, the circus was permitted to leave Texas. It was not bankrupt, but it never recovered from the financial blow brought on by the quarantine on its animals. It survived for awhile, but later was absorbed by Ringling Brothers.

THE CHANGING TIMES—Farmers may someday have to acquire a pilot's license if they want to raise seed corn in Texas.

Labor needed to detassel cornfields has become increasingly scarce and expensive. However, a San Antonio company may have solved the problem by equipping a helicopter with four circular saw blades underneath the cockpit. The spinning blades cut the tassels from four rows of corn each time the chopper makes a low pass over a field.

It takes a helicopter only an hour to detassel 40 acres of seed corn. It would require a small army of laborers to do the job in the same time.

... from the Brand's files

50 YEARS AGO—1921

If Hereford will fix up an official landing place for airplanes it is entirely possible that the city may be given a place on the first airway map of the United States government. Hereford is on government air route from San Antonio, Texas, to Cheyenne, Wyo. as an intermediate station. Intermediate stations are those cities that are on air ways at approximately 25-mile intervals. A heavy rain cloud started up to the west of Hereford Monday afternoon, circled the town and finally settled down late in the afternoon, where it rained heavily in Castro and adjoining counties. During the night Hereford received something like a half inch or more. A real good rain is badly needed just now and it is hoped more will be received soon.

35 YEARS AGO—1936

Students in the first six grades will report to Central school at 9 o'clock Monday morning and will be kept only long enough to be enrolled. High school and seventh grade pupils will report to the high school building Monday and remain throughout the day. Since the Central school building has not been completed, the school authorities will wait until it is finished before inviting the public in general for an inspection of the building. All stores will be closed Monday for Labor Day.

20 YEARS AGO—1951

Deaf Smith County farmers expressed their preference for the present farm support program over one giving direct payments (such as the Brannan plan) as one of their suggestions at the Family Farm meeting held by the U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies. They okayed supports, and asked for realistic loan ceilings. Plans for conducting the membership drive for the Hereford Concert Association during the week of October 8-13 will be formed at a meeting to be held in Hereford during the coming week.

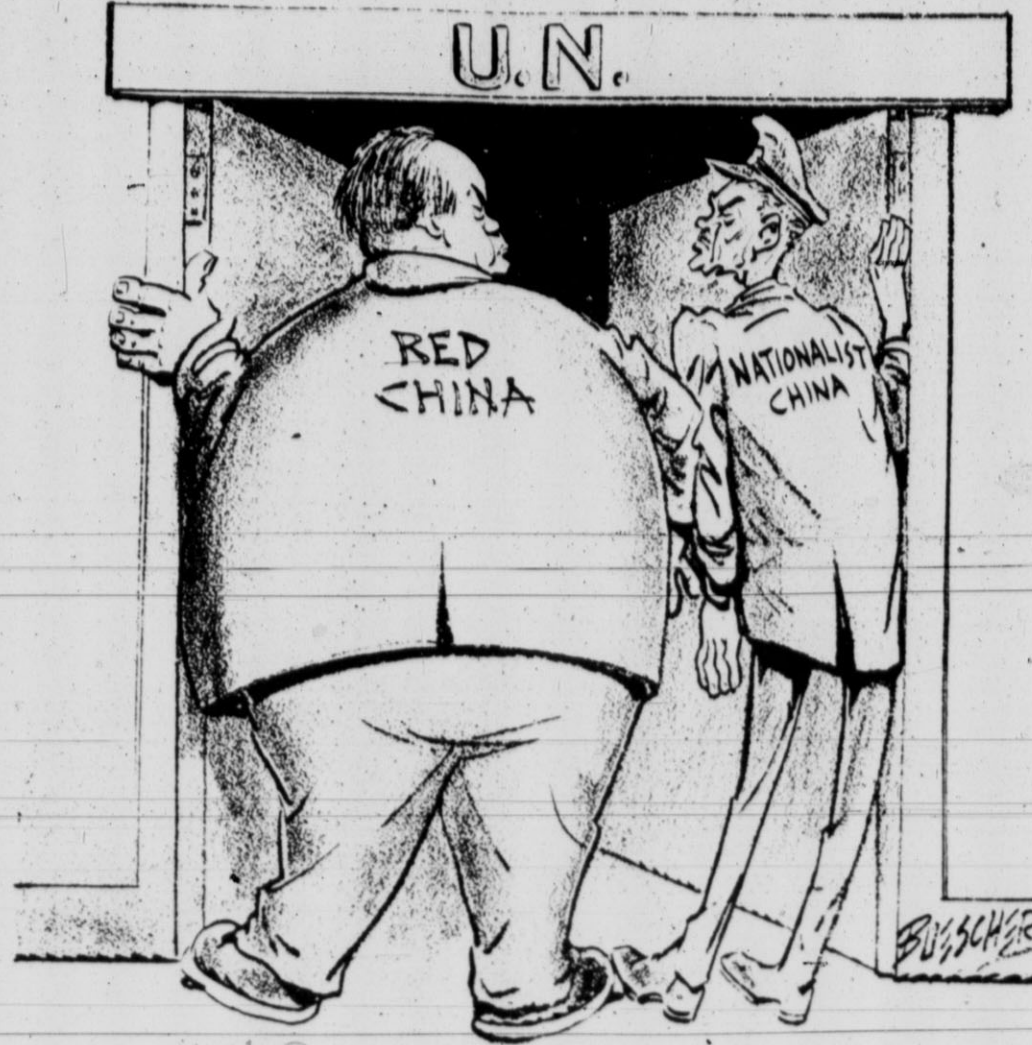

5 YEARS AGO—1966

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce's government affairs, working in a discussion meeting this week over the issue of proposed bond elections for Hereford schools, said "no" to voting bonds for another elementary building at the present time and "yes" to proceeding with plans for a vocational school to be incorporated into the present high school system. Land and buildings suitable for potential industries would be assets for this area in attracting businesses in the million-dollar levels to the Hereford and Deaf Smith County area.

1 YEAR AGO—1970

In 1958, the entire state of Texas fed less than 300,000 head of cattle commercially. This year, Deaf Smith County feedyards alone will feed more than that. An official of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association presented that contrast to the Hereford Rotary Club Monday. It is a new billion-dollar business. A little bit of Russia apparently slammed down in a rye field 43 miles northwest of Hereford last Friday afternoon. It was a U-shaped piece of metal weighing about 125 pounds that whipped, white-hot, through the atmosphere and imbedded itself in the ground.

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

Earn-and-learn program pays kids for schooling

BY BERT MILLS

Washington, D.C.—Tax dollars are being used this summer to pay salaries to youthful dropouts in the District of Columbia who return to school under a unique Earn-and-Learn program financed by Uncle Sam.

More than 1,000 youths between the ages of 14 and 21 have been paid $32 per week to attend summer school. They go to school four hours per day and are paid at the statutory minimum wage of $1.60 per hour. The students may use their salary money in any way they choose.

The program is costing about a half million dollars. The funds come from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development under the Model Cities program. A 1966 law allows HUD to make grants to blighted neighborhoods. Since 1967, HUD has awarded contracts to 150 cities for Model Cities programs costing over $1 billion.

Earn-and-Learn, however, is something novel. It was developed locally, is administered by the D.C. Board of Education, and had the approval not only of HUD but also the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The original idea of District officials was to operate a work-study program. Youths who had dropped out of school or failed courses necessary for advancement would work half-time and study half-time. When jobs were not available, it was decided to pay salaries simply for attending summer school.

Ineligible Students Enrolled

Earn-and-Learn has been beset by difficulties from the start. Students must reside in three blighted neighborhoods and at least 1,000 applicants were rejected initially because they did not meet the residence restrictions. Another 119 were discharged after school began, either because they lived outside the boundaries, or because they were skipping classes.

Misway in the program, another 100 students were denied their $36 paychecks because they too were found to reside in the wrong area. There were tears and much resentment among the students but some continued in school to gain credits, even though denied a salary.

Attendance at class dwindled, particularly after the first salary checks were paid. Absenteeism amounted to about one-third on an average day even during the first month. However, teachers reported those who did attend presented no disciplinary problems and were eager to learn.

The coordinator of the program has called Earn-and-Learn "a success." Mrs. Valerie Green "a success." Mrs. Valerie Green told a reporter: "There were few problems and the enthusiasm of the teachers was very high." She added "I don't think it is the money that has made it a success."

Sen. Byrd Sees "Waste"

Although local in scope, Earn-and-Learn has been publicized nationally and widely criticized. Therefore there is doubt the program will be repeated or adopted on a national scale. There has been some criticism in Congress, which did not specifically authorize the program.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., the Virginia Independent, attacked Earn-and-Learn as "a waste of the taxpayers' money—a waste that is particularly inappropriate at a time when the President is calling upon the people to tighten their belts to fight inflation."

Termining the program "radical," Byrd said he had protested HUD Secretary George Romney, who defended Earn-and-Learn as "legally permissible." Byrd also complained that his original protest had to be followed by two telegrams and a telephone call before even received a reply.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm sounds about half-way serious this week.

Dear editor:

Every time somebody gets taken advantage of, somebody wants to pass a law to stop it, and it was with amazement I read an article in a newspaper last night that Congress is considering a law to keep airlines and telephone companies from losing money by prohibiting them from extending unsecured credit to political candidates.

The reason is that the airlines are stuck with more than 2 million dollars in unpaid debts by political candidates and their campaign organizations, and the telephone companies have nearly $400,000 in similar unpaid bills.

The article pointed out that the debts cross both political party lines, and in addition to the Democratic and Republican National Committees, debtors include Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey, the late Robert Kennedy, and Eugene McCarthy, the unpaid debts running into the thousands of dollars.

So, Congress is considering passing a law protecting the airlines and telephone companies by prohibiting them from extending credit to candidates.

We've got so many laws now I don't guess one more will hurt anything, but it's too bad the airlines and telephone companies aren't smart enough to catch on like newspapers did years ago.

It didn't take newspapers more than one political campaign 50 years ago to find out the most uncollected debt on earth is one owed by a defeated candidate.

They sized up the situation, and instead of rushing to Congress to get a law passed preventing them from giving credit to political candidates, each newspaper just set up a simple rule: All Political Advertising Is Cash In Advance.

Of course, this eliminated a lot of jobs by bureaucrats combing the country to make sure no newspaper was risking losing money by letting candidates charge their advertising bills, but anybody with any confidence in Washington knows they probably got jobs with some other bureau.

In time, the big airlines and telephone companies may get as smart about human nature and bad debts as The Hereford Brand and The Amarillo Daily News.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Marriage solemnized for Poarch-McWhorter

Exchanging wedding vows in First Presbyterian Church, Miss Lynn Poarch and Ted McWhorter were married Saturday evening in an altar setting of white blossoms, jade palm branches and tapers burning in tiered candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoot Poarch, Route 3, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. D.C. McWhorter, 210 North Texas.

Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated for the service in which Mr. Poarch gave his daughter in marriage.

She was dressed in candle-light peau de soie with floor-length skirt gathered softly to the basque bodice of peu d'ange lace. The front-V waistline, high round neckline and wrist ruffles of the leg-o'-mutton sleeves were edged in narrow Venise lace.

Her veil, falling in tiers to form a chapel train, was of illusion held by a headpiece in oriental design, of peau de soie embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet of white rosebuds was carried on a bridal Bible.

She wore as "something old" a silver ring which belonged to her great-grandmother, and as "something borrowed" her aunt's diamond-studded watch.

Her sister, Mrs. Jarrell Russell Jr. of Shamrock, was her matron of honor while the bridegroom's brother, Steve McWhorter, was best man. Another sister, Mrs. Mike Howell of Tulsa, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wes Poarch of Fritch, were bridesmaids.

Groomsmen were Tim Gearn and Gayland Ward of Lubbock. Dan McWhorter and Jerry Don McCaslin served as ushers. Young members of the wedding were Kelly O'Lyn Poarch, daughter of the Wes Poarches, flower girl: Renne Poarch and Lynnette Cawthon, candle lighters.

The feminine attendants dressed in floor-length frocks with puff sleeves, the matron of honor wearing deep rose and the others pastel pink. All had white wristlet gloves and carried nosegays of pink and rose carnations.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Tim Gearn, who sang One Hand One Heart and Twelfth of Never, and Mrs. Charles Jones, organist who accompanied and played traditional selections.

The newly married couple and their parents received guests after the wedding in fellowship hall of First Baptist Church. Miss Janet McWhorter was at the book where callers registered.

Miss Cindy McWhorter served the wedding cake; Miss Carla Warning of Visalia, California, and Mrs. Charles Inman laddered punch and Mrs. Lois Warning of San Jose, California, assisted.

After Sept. 10 Mr. and Mrs. McWhorter will be at home at El Dorado Arms Apartments. They are on a wedding trip which takes them to Ruidoso, New Mexico, for the All-American Futurity racing event, then to El Paso. The bride traveled a red knit pantsuit with black patent accessories.

An enthusiastic horsewoman with numerous riding trophies to her credit, she has been employed by a school of horsemanship at Fargo, North Dakota, after attending the Pacific Coast Equestrian Research Institute in Badger, California. She was graduated with the class of 1965 from Hereford High School and attended West Texas State University.

The bridegroom is a 1970 graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in finance and banking. He attended Schreiner Institute at Kerrville two years after 1965 graduation from IHHS.

Out-of-city wedding guests included Misses Marjo Johnston and Terri Hicks of Albuquerque, Mrs. J.A. McWhorter Sr. of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. George Pulley of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barrier and children of Big Spring.

A TIRELESS SOLDIER
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—There isn't any women's liberation movement in Argentina, the land of the Gauchos, and President Alejandro Lanusse feels women are not fully appreciated.

In a speech on the Argentine economy, Lanusse said "we should also mention the woman, to whom the government has a debt. The woman is the unrecognized and tireless soldier in our great struggle against the cost of living and inflation."

Wedding set

The engagement of Miss Karen Elaine Jesko to Dale Leonard Reinart is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jesko of Route 2. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Reinart, Route 3.

A November 27 wedding is planned in Saint Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Boniface Riedmann officiating.

Both are graduates of Hereford High School. Miss Jesko is employed by Dr. Weslie B. Owen and Reinart is employed by Case Power and Equipment.

Barbara Darlene Sparkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Sparkman Jr., and Jerry Wayne Richardson of Hollywood, Florida, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Richardson of Plum Branch, South Carolina, were married Saturday evening in the Frio Baptist Church.

Vows were exchanged before an altar centered with three memory candles in a bank of greenery. Spiral candelabra holding white wedding tapers and jade palm trees formed their base, and branched candelabra completed the wedding setting.

Rev. Darold Baldwin, pastor of First Baptist Church of Wilson, officiated.

Mrs. Eugene Baldwin, sister of the bride was matron of honor with Miss Nancy Black of Clarksdale, Mississippi as maid of honor. Rick Schally Jr. of Saint Paul, Minnesota was best man.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gene Duvall of Amarillo and Mrs. Tommy Sparkman. Groomsmen were Tommy Sparkman, brother of the bride, Eugene Baldwin and J.D. Harder.

Ushers were Norman Harder, Gerald Harder, Steve Robbins, and Gene Duvall of Amarillo.

The flower girl was Robin Baldwin, niece of the bride. Candle lighter was Brenda Richardson, sister of the groom. They wore dresses similar to bride's attendants, except the dresses featured a high round neckline.

Music was by Mr. Joe Hacker with Miss Rosie Rogers singing solos. Selections were Somewhere, Twelfth of Never, Wedding Prayer and traditional marches.

The bride was dressed in white silk organza over satin fashioned with a high waisted bodice flowing into a softly gathered skirt. Neckline and hemline were enhanced by organza ruffles. The long full sleeves ended in double ruffle cuffs.

A mantilla veil of silk illusion was edged with lace and adorned with scattered motifs of lace. The bridal bouquet was cascade style, white roses centered with gardenias carried on a white Bible.

The bride's heirloom pieces were the wedding band of her grandmother, the late Mrs. J.F. Andrews, and a linen handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother Mrs. T.L. Sparkman Sr. The bride gave a red rose to her mother on the way to the altar and a red rose to the groom's mother after the ceremony.

Attendants dresses were of a floral patterned chiffon mist stressing pink and orchid, styled with V opening in low round neckline and floor-length skirt gathered to sleeveless bodice above the natural waistline. Their flowers were gardenias tied with white satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length deep pink empire crepe dress featuring a keyhole neckline, short sleeves, and a center pleat in front. She wore beige accessories.

The mother of the groom wore a floor-length pink dress with an A-line skirt. Each wore a shoulder corsage of white roses centered with gardenias.

Reception was at the church fellowship hall. Cake was served by Mrs. Marsh Pitman of Norman, Oklahoma, punch by Mrs. Larry Baggett of Portales.

Registering guests was Mrs. Guy Stewart of Palestine. Those assisting in the houseparty were Mmes. Ernest Harder, Elmer Jones, Charles King, Clark Andrews, Herb Bruns, Glen An-draws, Chesley Johnston, Jack Andrews and Joe Edd Andrews.

Brett Baldwin and Kirk Sparkman, nephews of the bride, distributed rice bags and wedding scrolls to guests at the reception.

The bride's table was centered with a five branch silver candelabra with multiple colors of pastel flowers. The tablecloth was all white, lace over satin. The four-tiered cake was decorated with cascades of roses and topped with white satin wedding bells.

The bride's traveling wardrobe was a red, white and blue knit suit with navy accessories and a corsage from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home after September 16 in Miami, Florida.

The bride was a 1968 graduate of Hereford High School and at-first rose blossoms should not be cut for arrangements, let them remain on the bush until the cycle is completed, then remove with a sharp tool.

Cutting long-stemmed flowers reoves foliage that is essential to the plant's ability to make food. If they are so cut, then the growth and future flowering is harmed. Also, gardeners do not recommend that even the older, healthy plants should not be cut excessively. Keep at least two leaves between the cut and the main stem. Remove withered flowers within a cluster giving the remaining (floribunda and other clustered flowers) flowers more room to develop. For the best cut flowers, and good keep- ing blossoms, cut just before the petals begin to unfold. I have learned that cut roses will last much longer if they are cut before they reach full development. Dr. Carlson, a horticulturist, advises also that the blooms be cut in late afternoon, groomed, and hardened in water, before arranging in the container in which they are to be used.

A good garden book. The fourth edition of the encyclopedia guide (revised) by Pascal P. Pirone, senior plant pathologist and curator of education, in the New York Botanical Garden, is the author. Is published by the Ronald Press. Everyone should add a new, well recommended book to their reading list each season.

WSCS luncheon is followed by study program

The Women's Society of Christian Service of First United Methodist Church met Wednesday for a luncheon in the fellowship hall with Carrie Black Circle as hostess.

The program began with the group singing the Spanish words of the hymn, Blest Be the Tie That Binds, led by Bob Wert and Mrs. Tony Dela.

Mrs. Don Davidson reported on the school of Christian mission at McMurry College in Abilene this summer, attended by four Hereford women. They were Mmes. L.N. Cox, M.H. Richie, Davidson and Carroll McDonald.

Mrs. Robert Train directed the program entitled the Americas-How Many Worlds? Mrs. H.L. Benefield told of her trip to Chile.

Mrs. C.D. Womble closed the meeting with prayer. Sixty-one were present. Circles will meet separately next Wednesday.

ford. They have a very beautiful range of color from light cream to deep brown-red. Also the size and form makes them very pretty.

My friend Audrey Thompson. One of the most loved of friends and gardener who was happy with her plants, both in growing and sharing. She was a great and gracious lady, and we of the Hereford Garden Club and many others are going to miss her so much.

SOMETHING NEW. The other morning while I was visiting with Mrs. Gerald Payne, we were looking at her growing plants. (The young son has a most excellent pumpkin vine, and he won't have to worry about a Halloween Jack-o-lantern. Is beautiful and adds an extra something to the back yard.) Also in the flower bed at the front of the house, Mrs. Payne has planted a mixture of plants, some vegetables, some flowers. While we talked, she casually stooped over and picked several beautiful well developed green bell peppers, and gave them to me. The plants were also pretty, the height, added to the gradation of the other plantings, and the foliage and tiny minute star-like blossoms were pretty on the bushes. Then too something good to eat was grown. She had the bed bordered with one of the types of Laeporia (common name Monkey grass) as a border plant. It added much to the flower bed, the shape of foliage, color, and the lovely blue of the spiked flowers was indeed an interesting note. (I got me some of the plants of the same family while I was visiting this week.)

Also saw some pretty and interesting cactus, in flower in the gardens at the Francis Hill home. Red roses were lovely, too. Wilma planned and had executed a most interesting and different landscape plan for her gardening.

Many beautiful marigolds are in full bloom throughout Here-

Audrey's Philosophy
It's preparing the soil for a plant or a seed,
And knowing before very long,
A lovely flower is going to emerge... with a stem that is sturdy and strong!
It's seeing the dark clouds up in the sky, and knowing that behind them,
The golden sunshine is going to break through.

Yes it's walking with firm faith with God each day, that brings joy, and imparts into our hearts His Goodness and Trust.
Oh! His world is WONDERFUL to all... gardeners, whether with plants or deeds.

After January 1, 1972, all motorboats in Texas must be registered with the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Have just returned from a quick trip down state, to Wichita Falls. The morning drive was delightful. The rains had washed everything so clean and the fields had been beautifully tilled, weeds cut out, so they were in excellent condition. The color, foliage, and stalks of the cotton are very good, and on the return trip we noticed that the blossoms were showing up. Do so hope that the frost will hold off long enough for the maturity of the plant and the crop will be a bumper one.

Also had good company as my Aunt Minnie (Mrs. Jack Robinson) accompanied me. We both enjoyed the gorgeous crepe myrtles. There was an abundance of bloom and in most every town there were many large and full blossomed trees. Yes they grow much taller in that town than ours. In Wichita Falls, they had been used in the city landscaping, and the boulevards were very beautiful with the full flowering crepe myrtles. Also saw many attractive white ones in blossom. Really I am partial to the fuschia color, or the pink, but the white was very appealing, especially in developing landscape plans.

Each morning as the red, red sun would make its appearance in the sky, and start rising to its height for the day, I went into the garden and the birds fascinated me. They have so many more there than we do here.

Red cardinals, the black glossy black birds, and many others with pretty splashy colors flying hither and yon.

There were some very striking lilies blooming in the garden, and when I asked as to name, etc., was told they were Peruvian Lilies. A friend while on tour had brought some of the bulbs home and shared with our hostess. She in turn gave me some, and I am hoping this time next year I will have some of the dainty, red lillies blooming in my garden.

If you haven't included crepe myrtle in your garden plantings, do so now. Mark them on your master landscape plan, and start studying about them. They really are very beautiful. There are so many real nice ones growing and flowering in Hereford. I have a very pretty pink one, and it certainly adds beauty to the back yard. It is planted near a brick wall, and has roses as a near neighbor. Makes a very interesting and pretty picture to see from my picture window on the east. Remember they do not make very good cutting materials, as soon the tiny florets start falling. They will last for a time, and would add a bit of beauty to a centerpiece for a meal. They are also very good for spike materials. If the bloom head is a bit large it can be so trimmed that it has a spike effect. They use well in oriental arrangements.

Flowers which are beginning to wilt, and some that have really wilted so much they can not be used, can be revived by making a slanting cut (this is important) an inch or so from the base of the stem. Then put in very hot water—such as boiling water—plunge the cut ends of the stems into the hot water, let remain for a few minutes (perhaps five). Remove from the hot water treatment, immerse the stems in cold water (from the tap). The hot water drives out any air bubbles from the stem and permits the cold water to rise and revive the flowers. Make sure that the foliage is removed from the length of the immersed sets.

Now don't expect miracles, as this treatment won't save old flowers that have been in a wilted condition for hours. Personally I have tried it, and have been very successful. Was making arrangements for a wedding several years ago, and the daisies started wilting on me (the large Marguerites) so I did the hot water treatment to them. They responded well, and really saved the day, as I was limited for time, also flowers.

Cutting roses properly adds flower quality. Cutting your roses properly is very important to the health of your bushes and vines. Horticulturists advise that incorrect cut flowers will injure and cause loss of vigor to the plant.

Sharp tools are a MUST as one should never bruise plants, by tools which are not sharp. They should not be broken or twisted either, this is all harmful to the plant. Really some horticulturists advise that the

CUT FLOWER HINTS—Since the roses will soon become very full of bloom, and the chrysanthemums will be starting to blossom, the perennials will be having their last fling of the season, so care for them well, when they are cut to be used in arrangements.

Flowers which are beginning to wilt, and some that have really wilted so much they can not be used, can be revived by making a slanting cut (this is important) an inch or so from the base of the stem. Then put in very hot water—such as boiling water—plunge the cut ends of the stems into the hot water, let remain for a few minutes (perhaps five). Remove from the hot water treatment, immerse the stems in cold water (from the tap). The hot water drives out any air bubbles from the stem and permits the cold water to rise and revive the flowers. Make sure that the foliage is removed from the length of the immersed sets.

Now don't expect miracles, as this treatment won't save old flowers that have been in a wilted condition for hours. Personally I have tried it, and have been very successful. Was making arrangements for a wedding several years ago, and the daisies started wilting on me (the large Marguerites) so I did the hot water treatment to them. They responded well, and really saved the day, as I was limited for time, also flowers.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

Our Story: THE DUEL BETWEEN PRINCE VALIANT AND OTHMAR WAS POSTPONED UNTIL DAYLIGHT. CONFIDENT THAT HE HAD DISCOVERED HIS OPPONENT'S WEAKNESS, VAL GOES PEACEFULLY TO SLEEP WHILE ARN STANDS GUARD.

DAWN COMES WITH A RISING WIND AND SWIRLING SAND WHICH PROMISES TO GET WORSE. "WE MUST FINISH THIS TEST QUICKLY," DECLARES VAL, "ELSE WE WILL FIGHT BLINDLY."

OTHMAR STEPS FORWARD TO FINISH THEIR INTERRUPTED DUEL. HE IS NOT THE CONFIDENT BRAGGART OF YESTERDAY, FOR HE CAN HARDLY LIFT HIS SHIELD, AND HIS ARM AND HAND ARE BADLY SWOLLEN.

NOW THE WILD-EYED MUEZZIN RUSHES FORWARD: "HALT!" HE CRIES, "BY THE WILL OF ALLAH THIS STORM HAS BEEN SENT TO SAVE THE CHRISTIAN. IN HIS INFINITE WISDOM THE ALL POWERFUL HAS DECREED SOME OTHER FATE FOR HIM."

VAL AND ARN MOUNT AND FEEL THEIR WAY UPSTREAM UNTIL THEY FIND A SHELTERED PLACE. FOR, AS VAL SAYS: "THAT FANATIC MAY MISINTERPRET HIS OWN DESIRE TO SLIT OUR THROATS AS THE WILL OF ALLAH."

THE STORM ENDS, BUT NOT ITS DISCOMFORTS. "SAND!" GRUMBLES ARN, "SAND IN MY HAIR, SAND IN OUR FOOD, THERE IS SO MUCH SAND IN MY SHIRT OF MAIL IT SQUEAKS LIKE A FLOCK OF BLACKBIRDS!"

IN THE BEAUTIFUL PALACE GARDENS ALETA WANDERS, LONELY AND UNHAPPY. NO WORD HAS SHE HAD OF VAL SINCE THEIR TRAGIC MISUNDERSTANDING. HER ONE HOPE IS THAT HIS LOVE WILL CONQUER HIS PRIDE.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
To keep your keys from falling to the bottom of your purse, try this:

Buy a metal clip with a hole in the top from the variety or office supply store. Then attach your keys on a small chain, running the chain through the head of the clip.

Now, instead of dropping them in your purse, clip the keys on anything inside your purse where it will show.

I like this because many times when going to the store I just carry my billfold, and my keys will clip right on the end of it. For further security, I just hold them to my wallet with my thumb or fingers as I clutch it in my hand.

My clip is about 1 1/4" wide and 1 1/2" high—sturdy enough and easy to clip onto anything.

You're a "katydid" for sure, 'cause you really dood it when you came up with this lollapalooza...

GREEN THUMB DEPT.

DEAR HELOISE:
I do a lot of gardening and have found a most useful tip:

By painting rings on the handle of my garden trowel, I have converted it into a handy gauge for planting bulbs and seeds.

I mark off the trowel handle in the most used measurements, and paint different-colored rings completely around the handle at the marks.

Moreover, if the trowel is laid down in the grass, it is easier to spot.

STAPLE PRODUCTS

DEAR HELOISE:
It's no trick at all to keep potato chips, and such, fresh after opening if you have a stapler.

My husband and I have eaten from the same 49-cent bag of chips off and on for several weeks and the last were as fresh as the first.

First, keep the bag the chips come in until you see if some will be left over. Return the surplus chips to the package, fold the top of the bag over twice (the smaller the fold the better), and staple across the top, making it airtight again.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

When you want chips again, either remove the staples or cut off the fold—staples and all. Repeat the process as long as you have chips left and I guarantee you will have fresh chips as long as they last.

Rose Wallace

Cutting off the stapled strip is a great idea... this way you're sure not to let a staple slip down into that bag where it could be eaten by mistake.

ONE SWEET ROSE

DEAR HELOISE:
I had one velvet rose that I wanted to put in a bud vase, but how to make it stand upright and centered?

Well, not having any sand on hand, I struck on the idea of using sugar.

I filled my vase with the sugar and as an added security I poured water around the stem of the flower. After the sugar hardened, the flower was perfect and permanent.

Did you every try using two- or three-day-old raisin bread to make bread pudding with? Delish!

A GLOWING ACCOUNT

DEAR HELOISE:

You've probably seen those small votive candle cups that are being used so much these days.

Well, it was my job to clean the ones we have for a party we were giving. I settled down, prepared to spend the rest of the day cleaning. The main problem, as you well know, is removing the leftover wax from the bottom of the cup to make room for a new candle.

I was toying with a gadget that I had taken from the kitchen drawer and it had a corkscrew on it. I just screwed it into the candle and out it came, so easy.

"RAIN, RAIN, GO AWAY"

DEAR HELOISE:

Those plastic mesh onion or orange sacks make wonderful leaf guards in rain-spouts.

They are nonrusting, easily cleaned, and, best of all, are free.

Just double the two ends of the sack together, thread a short wire through the holes and hang in the spout opening.

They beat those metal guards by a mile.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE:

I am 10 years old and I have a hint for kids like me whose mother and father both smoke. I've found a way to stop both of them.

When my mother is knitting, crocheting or sewing she never smokes. When my father is doing something with his hands he never smokes.

So I try to keep my mother and father both BUSY.

A Big Fan

P.S. I signed myself that because I really am and I don't want my mom and dad to know what I'm doing. And they would if I signed my real name.

BUDGET SPECIAL

DEAR HELOISE:

When we bought our new king-sized bed, we couldn't afford everything for it all at once.

So, to protect the mattress, I put a plastic painter's drop cloth (9' x 12') on it. I just changed the plastic for the first time and we've had our bed for over a year now.

Worked and is so inexpensive.

Mr. Lynn Trahan

THE CAT'S MEOW

DEAR HELOISE:

I have two ideas for making toys for cats that I do believe any cat, no matter how high-brow would gladly trade his catnip mouse for.

One is a dreamy puff of nylon net with a tiny bell attached and the other is just a plain old empty plastic pill bottle with a tiny bell inside.

Honest to goodness, they go "cat-wacky" over 'em.

MAGIC COIN?

IT'S fun to defy the law of gravity. Note that we do it here with a "magic coin." The performer places a coin (any small coin will do) against his forehead and causes it to remain when his hand is removed. To accomplish this, he simply presses it firmly into his skin. The coin remains impressed, "defying gravity" for a surprisingly long time.

Give it a try at your next party. You'll enjoy it.

BULLETIN BOARD

- SHOW OF COLORS: In a Labor Day parade there is a flag in front of two flags, a flag behind two flags, and a flag in between. If all are current U.S. Stars and Stripes, how many red and white stripes are there?
Since there are three flags in the grouping, there are 21 red and 18 white stripes.
- Is cacography one of your problems? It's a common failing of many persons. What is it?
Poor handwriting.
- Wanna fool somebody? Try this. Hand your friend a square piece of paper. Offer to give him a quarter if he can tear the paper in four equal pieces. When he ~~hands~~ minds over four small squares, give him one, saying, "There's your quarter."

TIME WILL TELL! Our hero above has allowed himself one-half hour from nap to date time. Can you number the panels in chronological order — which is to say, in proper sequence? Time sequence from left to right across; six five three, one four two.
