School Board Discusses Old Central School's Fate

Elementary School Named 'West Central'

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Thousands of dollars can be spent in minutes, but the Hereford Board of Education took over an hour before settling on the seemingly simple task of naming the new elementary school "West Central" during a lengthy regular monthly meeting Tuesday. Further action consisted of designating a task force to decide the disposition of the old Central School, charging a board committee to work out arrangements with the city and county on building a tennis complex at the high school and postponing bid invitations for a depository for school funds.

Also, the board approved participation in media services program sponsored by Panhandle Educational Services Organization (PESO), discussed a preliminary figures on 1975-76 school finances, heard a presentation by A.B. Lyles, math department chairman, and further considered a policy relating to school board, teacher, administration and public relationships.

While the job of selecting a new school name might appear simple, it was carefully considered to find the least offensive name. While most of the board members had specific preferences of their own, they walked softly around the suggestions of others and waited for someone to take the initiative.

THE METHOD OF SELECTION became the first problem as board president Jim Conkright had each of the members submit written preferences taken from a predrawn list. These were Escarbada, West Park, West Central, and New Central Thunderbird.

Once this failed, Clark Andrews said that among the 30 or so submitted suggestions, he ruled out those named for persons since too many possibilities as well as any containing a form of central due to confusion that would occur with the existing school.

"I would agree to any of the early western names or possibly one of the geographic names," he said. Board member James Arney and Danny Martin agreed.

About 30 members of the Central School Staff had signed a request to retain the present school name, which some felt would result in less confusion than other names. The discussion fluctuated back and forth, mainly between Central related names and geographically descriptive names.

Martin finally moved to accept West Central rather than postponing the decision. It was approved with an affirmative vote of five with James Gentry and Andrews abstaining. Gentry was opposed to any form of Central since it was one he said would too closely be identified with the old school.

Other names suggested included Bluewater, Watergate, Richard Nixon, Estacado, Westside, Palo Duro, Sunset Central, and Lakeside.

ROY FAUBION, representing the Deaf Smith County and Panhandle Community Action Agencies, proposed that the old Central School be used by the agencies as a Human Service Delivery Center which is broadbased facility for community programs. Such facilities have been established in Dalhart, Amarillo, Shamrock and Tulia.

The organizations or programs included in the HSDC would include Planned Parenthood, Day Care, alcohol counseling, housing counseling, Meal-on-Wheels, Texas Rehabilitation, Commission Migrant Program, skill classes, driver's license classes, Senior Citizens and the Community Action staff.

"By having a variety of programs which meet the needs of people housed in one building, the needs of these individuals could be assessed and met in a more efficient manner," he explained. The Panhandle Community Action Agency would be able to do minor renovation such as painting, but leave it essentially as constructed.

Faubion, president of the Cowgirl Hall of Fame, said he had been under pressure to use it for the hall of fame, but said the school lot is nowhere near the ten acres needed.

Roy Hartman, superintendent, said, "There is false conclusion in this community that the schools have no further use for Central. The gym is an excellent facility...and would be of use to us if used for nothing else but a warehouse."

Conkright then appointed Martin and Andrews to a task force to study the proposed uses and report back at the July 10 meeting.

THE SCHOOL BOARD was approached on the proposal to construct a tennis complex of four new courts and four resurfaced courts at Hereford High School. It would be a three-way project between the schools, city and county with the schools providing the maintenance and the city covering the light bills. See related County Commission story in this issue.

The depository contract bids were delayed until the July meeting for further consideration on whether to go outside the community to solicit bids. The depository has been the First National Bank of Hereford and bids usually have

Branding Time

By Speedy Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says tolerance is that kindly feeling we have for people who don't agree with us, but who admit that we COULD be right.

It's a fact we might as well realize—life is just a succession of things to be enjoyed, endured, or licked.

The Brand will publish a special agricultural section in Sunday's edition, and we believe it will be of interest to all our readers. Farm editor Jim Steiert and other members of the staff have written special articles, and the section is supported by the agri-business community. Watch for the special section in Sunday's Brand!

A proposal to build a tennis-court "complex" at high school with the city, county and school joining together in the financing is now being studied by the three governmental units. County commissioners tentatively agreed on the proposal Monday, and school trustees followed suit Tuesday night. The city commission meets Monday night.

The idea is not a new one. Local tennis buffs have been wanting tournament facilities for several years, and interested citizens came up with the suggestion for each governmental unit to participate in the project. The city, we understand, had planned on building four new courts—placing two at two different locations.

While the neighborhood courts are great, it seems the suggestion to put eight in one location has over-riding merits. In today's society, travel to a central location to play tennis should be no problem. Besides providing a place for tournaments, maintenance of the courts should also be easier. Unless there is a need for still more courts, duplication of services by the governmental units could also be avoided.

Besides, it's good to see the three governmental units working together!

From "The Texas Outlook" comes these listing of "laws":

Murphy's Law--If something can go wrong, it will.

Brownworth's Law--Any time things seem to be going better, you've overlooked something.

Plumber's Law--Nothing is impossible for a man who doesn't have to do it himself.

Pinacle's Law--Once a job is fouled up, anything done to improve it makes it worse.

Crane's Law--There's no such thing as a free lunch.

Bird's Law--There's never enough time to do it right, but there's always enough time to do it over.

Dingle's Law--When somebody drops the ball, everybody else will kick it around instead of picking it up.

Ag Section Published On Sunday

What's the state of the basis of the main foundation of the local economy--Agriculture?

Well, some answers will be provided through a special agriculture section in this coming Sunday's newspaper. It is intended to salute the agriculture field and its many diverse parts.

Included in the section will be features and pictures of the grain industry, the Holly sugar plant, the Armour Foods plant, the irrigation and dryland farmers in the area, the vegetables grown, as well as the improving cattle and feedlot industry here. These make it possible for most of us to enjoy the good life we do.

It is hoped it will be informative and interesting. It just might turnout to be worthwhile reference material to hold on to for awhile.

The tabloid size section will appear inside the regular section of the paper.

County Approves Paving Bid

8-Court Tennis Complex Planned For HHS by County, City, Schools

By O.G. NIEMAN

Paving repairs at the Bull Barn parking lot were approved, and commissioners tentatively agreed for the county to participate in a community tennis court project during a regular meeting of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court Monday.

A bid of $6,055 was accepted from Jake Diel Paving for work on the Bull Barn parking area. Commissioners also approved work on the small courthouse parking area at the same price per square foot. The court also had bids from Jackie Messer and C.R. Caperton.

Although no formal action was taken, commissioners generally agreed to a proposal that the county, city and school join together in building four new courts and re-surfacing four others at the high school. The city commission and school board have not acted on the matter.

The school board voted Tuesday to participate in the project splitting the cost three ways and performing the maintenance themselves. The school would retain the right to first priority during school hours with the public being allowed to use the tennis courts during the evening hours and on weekends.

A committee was appointed to work out the arrangements. It includes Roy Hartman, Ron Zimmerman and James Gentry.

BURNS HAMILTON, representing a group of interested citizens, appeared at the commission meeting Monday to discuss the proposal. He estimated cost of the entire project at about $46,000. He had checked with other communities who have combination-type facilities.

He pointed out that the eight courts at one site would provide tournament facilities for Hereford—giving a boost to the high school program as well as local tennis fans. He said the city already had plans to construct some more courts, and he was hopeful they would consider the "complex" concept in conjunction with the school and county.

Commissioners called in Andy Shuval, district attorney, to get an opinion on the legality of the proposal. Shuval reported the legal questions could be worked out with city and school attorneys if commissioners desired to approve the partial funding.

During the school board meeting, Hamilton explained the proposal to resurface the present four courts with a special surface used at all other city courts and schools and to build four new ones. Steve Thomas, Hereford tennis coach, explained that the other schools in Hereford's 4-A district have the special surfaces and Hereford is the only school with cement courts.

He didn't say it was required, but Thomas said he felt the other schools might not even consider playing on cement courts. Hereford sponsored the district tract and tennis tournaments last year, but the tennis portion had to be held in Lubbock due to lack of facilities here.

WHILE IT WAS suggested that the city build their proposed courts and let the county and schools split the cost of the high school courts, the board decided it was better for the three governmental bodies to work together.

"I think we would benefit not only by the courts, but more importantly by establishing a practice of the county, schools and city working together," said Jim Conkright, school board president.

The city Commission is meeting Monday night to discuss the tennis complex as well as bids for their already

Flag Day Remembered

Act of Respect Saves Historic Flag

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The American flag. It's been taken advantage of and even disgraced during radical rallies of the 60's but its significance rises above such disrespectful activities for most American citizens who understand the freedom it represents.

One such patriotic American's act to preserve the flag has resulted in Hereford being the home of the more valuable United States flag. He is Roscoe O. Wilkerson, 206 Ave. K, and his flag, now on display at the Hereford State Bank, is thought to be one of the few remaining original flags bearing 25 stars.

THE FLAG WAS in use for only a year

(July 4, 1836-July 4, 1937) when Arkansas was admitted into the union on June 15, 1836. The 25th star was added a month later on the birthday of the nation. The 26th star was added for Michigan, which joined the union on Jan. 26, 1837.

How was this particular flag being disrespected?

Well, Wilkerson, who is presently in the business of buying and selling combines, said, "It's kind of a wild story, but it's true."

It started in 1945, when Wilkerson was on wheat harvest during his custom harvesting days. He was traveling through Linton, North Dakota, when he noticed that the American flag was being used as a road marker to warn against danger ahead.

"There was a washed out bridge up the road and the flag was attached with a wire to an end gate rod that was stuck in the ground," he said. "I went over to a man standing near it and told him I wanted the flag."

HOWEVER, THE RESPONSE was negative and Wilkerson said he would call the F.B.I. if he wasn't given the flag.

"Well, he wouldn't give it to me and I just went over and took it," he emphasized. "The man got another piece of red cloth for the marker."

A hole in the center of the flag shows where the wire was stuck through.

The rarity of the flag might be of some question, but Wilkerson has done enough checking to believe it is the real McCoy. First he talked to people at Linton and was told the flag was brought through the town by some immigrants. The flag then was supposedly put in the county courthouse where it had remained for sometime. From there it was questionable as to how it got to the rod for a marker.

"It has coarse weave (as might have used back then) and from what I know it is one of only three in existence in the U.S.," he said. The others which have been identified containing the stars of the original 25 states are located in the Smithsonian Institute and the Museum of National History, both in Washington D.C.

A TEACHER IN MINDEN, Nebraska did the checking to find the other flags. Also an offer for the flag was made by a museum in Minden for a nominal amount.

"I figured that since so little was offered, I would just keep it," he said. "I really haven't had any other offers and don't know its true value. However, I don't plan to sell it. I will hand it down to the children."

Wilkerson, who came to Hereford in 1967 has kept the flag at his home for awhile but decided later to put in a safe deposit box at the bank, where it has remained most of the time. Irene McKinster, of Hereford State Bank, was aware of the flag and thought it appropriate to display it during flag week culminating on Flag Day, Saturday June 14.

"It will continue to be displayed for about a week beginning today," she said.

"Wilkerson said that it is our duty to respect the flag" and that's why he retrieved it, Wilkerson indicated.

THE BATTLE to preserve the flag has gone through some fairly rough times including wars and eventual legislation passed on August 3, 1949 designating Flag Day as June 14. Each year, Presidents of the U.S. are required to issue proclamations for Flag Day, which Gerald Ford has done. June 14 was the date in 1777 when the Continental Congress adopted the design of the flag, which has gone through various changes as each state was added.

The first nationwide observance of Flag Day was on June 14, 1877 on the 100th birthday of the nation. About 12 years later, George Bolch, a New York school superintendent, held patriotic services on that day. It caught the attention of the New York Legislature and it passed a law providing the annual flag day observance.

In 1893, the mayor of Philadelphia required the raising of the U.S. flag on all public buildings on June 14 and let the day be known as "Flag Day."

THE AMERICAN FLAG DAY Association was formed in 1894 in Chicago to promote the designation of a nationwide holiday honoring the flag. It was first suggested the third Saturday in June but switched to June 14 after its significance was emphasized. Pennsylvania was the first state to declare it an official holiday on May 7, 1937.

President Woodrow Wilson in 1916 and Calvin Coolidge in 1927 issued proclamations for Flag Day observance on June 14, but the national law didn't come until 1949.

During the week, not only have area businesses and residences been displaying the flag and showing the community pride for the flag, but a historic flag has been symbolizing the courage it sometimes takes to stand for one's own country. It was preserved through an act of respect and remains as a reminder to others that this is a "land of the brave."

Flag Day Display

R.O. Wilkerson gazes with pride on the 139-year-old flag he found as a road marker. The flag is being displayed in the lobby of the Hereford State Bank through most of next week. It contains 25 stars, which was the U.S. flag in 1936-1937.

Nelson Reports Revenue, Case Load Occurring in JP Court

Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace W. Glen Nelson, in his monthly report, notes that revenue received from fines and fees in JP court for the first five months of the year amount to about $30,000. More than 1,750 criminal cases were filed during this period. Nelson files the report at the beginning of each month with the state government, which keeps running totals for all counties.

The total number of criminal cases filed during May amounts to 376. About 65 civil cases were filed during May.

Revenue from fines and fees for May was $7,498.50.

The total revenue received to date during 1975 is $29,900.50.

Criminal cases filed so far during 1975 total 1,864. Criminal cases handled for this period are 1,766.

Civil cases filed during the first five months of 1975 number 715, with 358 civil cases cleared during this period.

remained just with that bank or Hereford State.

The advantage to seeking outside bids could mean as much as $20,000 annually in interest at a possible two per cent higher rate.

THE DISCUSSION on next year's finances centered around the school finance legislation as passed. Bill Phillips, administrative assistant, explained that 12 more professional positions would be available under the new legislation based on the state funding the complete salaries of these requested. The system of selecting personnel is more flexible with the possibility of districts getting more money by claiming an experienced teacher rather than a principal.

HE SAID THE Local Fund Assignment, the local amount subtracted from state aid, is increased by about $582,000 and this is partially offset by increased state aid of $270,000 more for operating funds and other special program categories.

Hartman indicated at tax increase of about 15 or 20 per cent could be necessary. This is based on limited information. A special meeting is set for 4 p.m. June 24 to discuss finances based on interpretations by the Texas Education Agency expected by then. A tax increase could be recommended then.

Lyles said the math programs are drifting away from the modern math concept and returning toward the basics, which he expects should allow the slower learner to grasp more efficiently the functions of multiplication, division, subtraction and addition.

He recommended that eventually, the more advanced students, helped under modern math, should be given a Calculus level course in high school since University Interscholastic League competitive classes are being phased out.

UNDER POLICY discussion, the practice of advising teachers not to visit with school board members on school related administrative matters was again considered. This is the advice given by Hartman at the beginning faculty meeting of each year.

He explained it was a practice instituted with an earlier superintendent because too many petty matters were being directed toward individual board members and not through the administration.

The board exchanged examples of problems confronted them and Ron Zimmerman asked if it wouldn't be advisable to write a policy. But, as more examples were presented, it was agreed that not all possible situations could be covered.

Hartman suggested checking with other districts on their practices and Conkright agreed to investigate another district to compare policies. It was generally agreed that the problem was mainly with the public understanding of the practice, and that only a few teachers felt jeopardized with conferring with school board members.

All board members were present.

Rotary Board Votes To Give Donations To 4 Organizations

After its regular Luncheon Monday, the Hereford Rotary board of directors decided on contributions of $570 for four organizations, to which the club has given in the past.

Buddy Peeler, Rotary president, said the donations include $100 to the Mental Health and Mental Retardation (MHMR) center in Hereford, $320 to Camp Wig Wam, $100 to the Hereford Chamber Singers, and $50 to the Cowgirl Hall of Fame. The contribution to Camp Wig Wam is the equivalent of four scholarships.

"We also gave the Cowgirl Hall of Fame a donation since the barbecue we sponsored for it didn't profit as expected," Peeler said. "When the final expenses are added up, they will probably outnumber the total income. But we definitely wanted them to have something."

During the luncheon, the usual program was skipped to discuss pending activities and business. The next regular activity is a barbecue for Kids

Inc., a non-profit organization promoting summer baseball and softball programs for girls and boys. It will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, June 27, at the Bull Barn for an expected crowd of about 1,500 persons.

The guest speaker will be Dennis Menke of the Houston Astros baseball team. Tickets are $2 each with Kids Inc. members receiving first choice. Public ticket sales begin soon.

During the luncheon, a senior active pin was presented to Alex Schroeter for 15 active years of service to the club. In his place, a new member was installed to fill the certified public accountant classification. New members are brought into Rotary International according to occupational status.

MAUDE MAUK

Services for Maude Mauk, 92, were Wednesday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. Dewitt Seago, Chaplain of Kings Manor, officiating. Interment was at West Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Mauk died Monday in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was born in Dallas County November 20, 1882 and came to Deaf Smith County in 1900 from Tulla.

Mrs. Mauk was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, J. Edwin Mauk of Hereford, one granddaughter and two great-grandchildren.

READER QUESTIONS

Dear Happy: I would like to know what you'd suggest planting in a border bed which receives only a few hours of morning sun, but is mostly shaded by a high redwood fence and tall shrubs. I want something with bright flowers and pretty leaves. -Blossom-Lover

Dear B-L: Impatiens or begonia would be perfect in such a spot. I am particularly partial to the dainty impatiens which now include hybrids of brilliant oranges and reds contrasting with lovely dark green foliage. The F1 hybrids of semiferren begonias are also enthusiastic growers under these conditions and produce flowers in bright pinks, corals and whites.

Dear Happy: I'd like to put most of my house plants out on my terrace for the summer. Are there any that don't appreciate the great outdoors? -Wondering

Dear Wondering: Yes! House plants with soft fuzzy foliage don't appreciate outdoor conditions at any time - gynura aurantica (purple velvet) and African violets, for example, would really rebel. Dracaena and ficus plants, on the other hand, enjoy spending the summer outside. Do shade any plants you put out, however, as a house plant which is used to even the sunniest window indoors is susceptible to sunburn from the much stronger outdoor sun. Also, water more frequently.

Dear Happy Gardener: My fuchsia plant is not responding at all well to the water-soluble nitrogen fertilizer I've been giving it. How come? -Perplexed

Dear Per: Fuchsias don't like chemical fertilizers, that's how come. You've got to give it an organic one such as liquid fish emulsion. Water it well before feeding, dilute the liquid slightly more than directions call for, fertilize once every three weeks while the plant's flowering, and take care not to get any of the emulsion on leaves or blossoms.

Wasp From India Battles Bean Beetle From Mexico

A miniature "war of nations" is being waged in Maryland and the soybean grower on the sidelines may be the winner.

The battle is being waged by a tiny wasp from India against the Mexican bean beetle, a primary pest of soybeans in the Middle Atlantic states.

The pest has been on the rise in that area for the past three years, and chemicals to keep it under control have been costing soybean growers over $5 an acre.

Dr. Allen Steinhauser of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station released numbers of the beneficial wasps two years ago at six different sites. Within several weeks, they were destroying bean beetle eggs in soybean fields as far as 40 miles away.

Results from additional releases have been so promising in reducing beetle population, that large-scale control efforts may be tried.

The non-stinging wasp - which is smaller than a gnat - was discovered by an Agricultural Research Service entomologist on a search in India for insects beneficial to man. Early tests in New Jersey pointed to the wasp's effectiveness, and additional wasps were brought in.

Researchers say the wasp is probably adaptable to any soybean growing area in the U.S. It must be re-released each year in Maryland since it does not overwinter in that state.

Scientists consider the soybean plant ideal for biological controls because it can tolerate 40 percent defoliation without loss of yield. These growers can postpone insecticide use until this threshold is reached.

Boys State Gets Started

The thirty-fifth annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held on the Campus of The University of Texas, got under way yesterday as 900 high school boys from all parts of Texas, and two from Mexico, began registration. James W. White, Department Commander, announced.

Among those registering from Hereford were Johnny Manuel Almazan - 421 Barrett, Samuel Anthony Finley - 414 Ave. I who were sponsored by local American Legion Posts.

Following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties—the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party, he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship. This program arouses a keen interest in the detailed study of our government. These civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and bring better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men who are participating this year.

In Boys State, The American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

The program takes on added significance since the vote has been extended to 18 year olds. Most Boys Staters are in the 16 to 17 age category.

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Tuesday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 19,251 junior high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Macrame creative knotting is practiced by Terri Seiver and Wanda Bartels under the direction of Mrs. Mark Hicks. Through the summer phase of the local homemaking program, girls are learning the basics of home economics and craft ideas. Adult leaders of the activities are Mmes. Leland Shelton, Joe Bradley and M.T. Burlesmith.

A&M Repair Course Includes Local Man

Paul Hamilton of Hereford is enrolled in a key systems installation and repair course at Texas A&M University's Power and Communications Training Center.

The center, a division of the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEES), offers numerous training courses throughout the year for telephone technicians.

Marvin Moss of the center staff instruct the current course. Eight students in the program will get theory and hands-on experience in proper installation and trouble clearing methods for relay and transistorized types of key telephone systems.

Course requirements, according to Moss, include each student installing one of each type of key system, providing two central office lines with dial and manual intercom on each. The two-week course ends June 13.

The TEES division conducts such courses under sponsorship of the Texas Telephone Association and Texas State-wide Telephone Cooperative Association.

Other divisions of the Texas A&M University-based Engineering Extension Service provide a broad spectrum of training that helps make life better for the people of Texas.

The training program are for municipal inspectors, heavy equipment operators, law enforcement officers and firemen, among others.

The Power and Communications Division under Ed Kerlich also provides electric power and community antenna television technician training.

Hamilton works as an installer-repairman with the West Texas Rural Telephone Coop of hereford, where he resides.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER
TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens in the Panhandle and on the South Plains issued over 120 citations during the Memorial Day weekend.

Most of the violations involved no fishing license, lack of proper life saving devices and unregistered motorboats.

"Every spring there is a rash of fishing and boating violations as boaters and fishermen head for the Texas lakes," Ted Wheelis, Lubbock Regional Supervisor said.

"These fishing and boating regulations must be observed for the enjoyment of all who use our natural resources," Wheelis continued.

Many campers and picnickers leave home with no intention of fishing but with the appearance of large stringers of crappie or sand bass and then out come the fishing rods. There is usually a flurry of pictures and papers as the fisherman is checked by the wardens and many times an expired license is found. The possession of a citation is usually all the reminder the angler needs to tell him that this is 1975 and he should have bought the new license earlier in the season.

Boating violations are nearly as numerous as fishing violations.

Texas state law requires all Class A, I and II motorboats underway on public waters to have approved US Coast Guard Life preservers available for each crew member or skier. There are additional rules for larger boats but one rule that all boaters must observe is that every operator of Class A and Class I motorboats, while underway shall require every passenger twelve (12) years of age or under, to wear an approved life preserver at all times.

Many lakes in Texas have regulations that are more restrictive than the state law. Pickup the rule books as you arrive at these lakes and look for new regulations that are not familiar or different.

For more information about boating, stop by a Texas Parks and Wildlife Office and ask for the digest of the Texas Water Safety Act.

Knowing and obeying these rules could save you time, and money and even your life.

Social Security

Questions and Answers

BY TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

BENEFITS DURING VACATION FROM SCHOOL

Q. I've been getting monthly social security benefits on my father's records, and I started college last fall. Will my payments stop during summer vacation?

A. You can continue to get social security payments during your vacation provided that it is no more than 4 months. But you must have been a fulltime student before the vacation period, you must plan to continue fulltime after the vacation, and you must remain

unmarried. SUMMER JOBS MAY AFFECT BENEFITS

Q. I get social security payments as a student. Starting this month, I'll be working full-time until summer vacation is over. How will my earnings affect my payments?

A. If you earn $2,520 or less for the year, your benefits won't be affected. If you earn more, your payments will be reduced $1 for each $2 over $2,520. But, regardless of your total 1975 earnings, you can get your full social security payment for any month in which you neither earn over $210 nor do substantial work in your own business.

Did you ever stop to think how bad the situation would be if everyone agreed with you?

Magnetic Forces May Improve Use Of Pesticides

Making crops magnetically attractive to pesticides is one way agricultural scientists are attempting to reduce environmental risks and cut farm production costs.

Uncontrollable field conditions — like wind, terrain, and other factors — often make it difficult to get maximum efficiency in spraying crops with pesticides.

A University of Georgia research engineer believes it can be done through electrostatic spraying. In this process, pesticide spray particles are given an electrical charge which causes them to be attracted to plants just as iron filings are drawn to a magnet.

The idea was first tried about a decade ago using electrostatic dusts, the National Cotton Council reports. However, the early prototypes proved commercially unreliable and their high voltage made them impractical for farmers' use.

A new system being developed by Dr. S. E. Law, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at Georgia, is said to be relatively inexpensive and more reliable. Easy to operate, it utilizes a solid-state power supply that can be run off a tractor battery.

Recent lab tests with the new electrostatic spraying system devised by Law indicate it increases the amount of pesticide deposited on cotton plants as much as five times. It also distributes the pesticide more evenly on the plants, including the underside of leaves.

Additional field tests are planned this summer before the equipment will be ready for commercial production.

While tests to date have centered on cotton, Law says his process and devices will be applicable to all crops. In the future, he plans to research their use for other row crops, orchards, and aircraft application.

As the days continue to get warmer, we can expect more electrical clouds and storms. Do you remember the lightning count? Does it really tell you how far away the lightning bolt was?

When you see a bolt of lightning and do not hear thunder, begin a "second-count" and note the number of seconds until you hear the thunder. Divide this number by five and you have the distance of the lightning.

This is an infallible rule and is based on the knowledge that sound travels only a fifth of a mile per second. Therefore it takes five seconds for the sound to travel a mile, even though you immediately see the flash, even at some distance.

Lightning seen in the west is most dangerous (in the north temperate zone) for it is probably heading toward you.

briefs

England's tight control over the use and ownership of land in the colonies was one of the factors involved in the outbreak of the American Revolution.

Under the feudal system, the crown served as a universal "landlord" and required oaths and tributes.

In little more than a century after the Revolutionary War, American pioneer farmers had brought into agricultural use more than 300 million acres of virgin forests and almost as much virgin grassland.

By 1900, most of the land favorable for farming had been developed. For the next two decades, farmers continued to irrigate dry lands and drain wetlands. And by 1920, cropland acreage leveled off at about one-fifth of the nation's total land area. Grassland pastureland, forests, and wasteland an eighth.

While cropland has been abandoned at the rate of almost 3 million acres a year in recent decades, new cropland has been added at an annual rate of 1.3 million acres.

Prior to the agricultural revolution of the early 1950's, increases in crop production came largely from additional acreage farmed. By 1972, however, productivity per acre had shot up by two-thirds.

The increased output after 1950 was enough to provide 37 percent more people with 9 percent more food per person, even though one-fifth of our harvest was exported.

Even if you haven't joined a Legion of Decency, there's nothing to make you attend an indecent show.

Good intentions, besides paying a well known area, are a prelude to many fine achievements.

INSIDE TV

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT—MIKE CONNORS and his family are taking a two-month vacation in Hawaii while waiting for the verdict on his series, "Mannix." That's the comfortable way to bide one's time, "If we do go off the air," says Mike, "I'd like to do another series. After nine years on TV, it's my home." He's had a number of offers to make pictures in Europe but even if he never works again he's financially secure; "Mannix" made him over a million dollars a year... "Maude" will be back for another season on TV but the rapport between star BEA ARTHUR and BILL MACY, who plays her husband, isn't much to talk of; in fact, they don't speak to each other off the set... ROBERT BLAKE recently stunned millions of TV viewers with his startling confession on the MERV GRIFFIN talk show. The law and order undercover guy viewers have gotten to know as Baretta suddenly blurted out, "I've sold dope, snorted it." Not only was Griffin shocked by the outburst, but Blake admitted he even shocked himself. "That chair (on the talk show) is as scary as the electric chair," he confided later. "Sometimes, I'd come off the air and want to blow my brains out!" Blake was one of those implish young rascals, who entertained fans years ago on Our Gang. Then, at 16, he ran away from home, wound up in the Army and spent time in the brig. He's had plenty of ups and downs in life, including bouts with drugs and alcohol, but always seems to bounce back.

CHANNEL TO CHANNEL—ART CARNEY may be hilarious when he's performing, but offstage the comedian is a serious, sober individual. He hasn't been sober for long, however—his shy, troubled nature made him turn to alcohol, and for years Art was a compulsive tippler. "Usually," confesses this year's Oscar winner, "I never had trouble with liquor when I was depressed. It is the highs that worry me. I'm so elated over it because I have difficulty in coping with exhilaration. But now when I recognize the danger signals, I don't open up the bottle and get blind drunk the way I used to. I go talk to a doctor." Alcoholics Anonymous proved to be the key to sobriety, and Art now does speaking engagements for them.

EYE ON TV—CHER is the biggest star in the music world today — although SONNY'S career seems to be waning, his ex-better half is more popular than ever. Her weekly show is now firmly established, her records are all AM hits, and her gorgeous face and form can be seen in family and fan magazines everywhere. But has the Dark Lady been overrated? In the past days, she always seemed to be held back by Sonny — even their most ardent fans admitted that his talents were a little dubious. Cher, on the other hand, always seemed to be just on the verge of delivering. But there's no Sonny to hold her back these days, and she still has yet to record a memorable album. Oddly enough, this has not affected her popularity. At the recent Academy Awards, she received more attention than the talented performers who received the Oscars.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The 64th regular session of the Legislature wound down with a few bangs and several whimpers this week.

In five months of activity, it considered legislation touching almost every segment of the state's economic and social life.

Despite criticism, the session did turn out legislation of far-reaching importance.

Even before final last-minute decisions on a $12 billion record budget, school finance reform and utilities regulation, the session chalked up these accomplishments:

—Article-by-article constitutional revision, set for a statewide election November 4.

—Approval of Health Maintenance Organizations, a new form of fixed-fee health care coverage, and two medical malpractice insurance bills.

—Provision for issuing certificates of need for hospital facilities and reorganization of the State Board of Health.

—Adoption of a permanent voter registration bill and a measure to authorize primary election finance.

—Passage of a nine-counties House of Representatives bill which will assure single-member districts for the counties.

—Establishment of a 1976 presidential preference primary.

—Agreement on a "rape victims' bill" to aid in prosecution of sex crimes.

Bonds Approved

A proposed constitutional amendment to raise the ceiling on state water development bonds from $400 million to $800 million will be voted on in November, 1976.

The resolution contains a prohibition on use of money to import Mississippi River water. A $35 million limit is also ordered for individual projects which are not part of a statewide water plan.

A bill to authorize issuing all or part of the new bonds will be put off until the 1977 Legislature convenes.

Redistricting Passed

A bill providing single-member House of Representatives districts for nine Texas counties survived a Senate filibuster and was sent to the governor.

It applies to Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, Galveston, El Paso and Hidalgo counties.

All the counties except Galveston and Hidalgo were covered by a 1974 court order (later delayed) decreeing single-member districts.

Revenue Rising

Comptroller Bob Bullock, who raised his state revenue estimate more than $200 million, said he may boost it still another $200 million due to President Ford's oil program.

Bullock urged the legislature to adopt a one-year budget and give him a chance to draw a sharper sight on tax income.

He said Ford's $1 a barrel oil import tariff proposal and recommendations to remove price ceilings from "old oil" (domestic crude oil produced at 1972 levels) would certainly bring further hikes in state taxes unless rejected by congress. Oil is taxed at market value by the state.

Court Speaks

The State Supreme Court declined to order dismissal of a lawsuit which resulted in removal of Archer Parr as Duval County judge.

In other action, the High Court declined to reconsider its earlier ruling that the Texas Railroad Commission could not set aside natural gas contracts. Two months ago, the Court held the agency was not required to apportion gas in Lo-Vaca Gathering Company's lawsuit to help Austin and San Antonio meet a shortage.

The Supreme Court refused to cancel an order of an Austin district judge banning publication of names of jurors in a murder trial until the case goes to the jury. An appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court is promised.

A lower court award of $11,422 damages to an injured Houston Oilers offensive lineman was upheld by the Supreme Court.

A.G. Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill, in an opinion requested by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, held Richmond Mayor Hilmar Moore is not barred by law from serving as both mayor and a State Board of Public Welfare member.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A bill which would allow students and military personnel to select their place of residence for purposes of eligibility to vote is constitutional.

Awards Received

Six Texas businesses received the Governor's 1974 Industrial Expansion Award.

Recipients of the award were Mooney Aircraft Corp., Kerrville; Amoco Chemical Corp., Alvin; Timex Corp., Abilene; G&H Casting Corp., Slaton; Inca Metal Products Corp., Lewisville and Mr. Fine, Athens.

Governor Briscoe credited the firms with "fighting the recession in the best way possible—with aggressive expansion and civic responsibility." Texas Industrial Commission selected winners based on nominations by chambers of commerce and industrial foundations.

Short Snorts

The governor has signed into law that bill banning smoking in many public places. It takes effect in September.

GI Bill Enrollment Passes Old Record

GI Bill enrollments have set two records high, topping all monthly totals for the current GI Bill and exceeding all previous fiscal year totals in only nine months, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, announced recently.

Veteran enrollments under the Veterans Administration program reached 1.8 million high mark in March, pushing the total in the first nine months of the fiscal year to 2.158 million, Coker said. This compares to 2.128 million for all of fiscal year 1974.

Enrollment among active duty servicemen also was up -- 11,000 more than the fiscal year 1974 figure -- bringing the total for veterans and servicemen to 2.370 million. College level trainees during the period numbered 1.501 million.

Coker added that the spurts followed enactment of a December 1974 law raising benefits by 22.7 per cent.

Fifty-eight per cent of all

Vietnam veterans have used at least a portion of their eligibility. This compares to $0.5 who used World War II benefits and 43.4 using the Korean Conflict program.

Under current rates, a single veteran enrolled full time at an institution receives $270 monthly. Veterans with one dependent draw $321 monthly, with two dependents $366, and those with three or more dependents draw an additional $22 for each dependent over two.

March statistics also revealed an increase in another VA education program. The program for wives, widows and children of veterans military service personnel attracted 62,400 trainees, an increase of 19 per cent over March 1974.

Eligible educationally minded persons should contact the nearest VA office, veterans county service officer, or veterans service organization representatives.

Prof Blames Political Factors For Inflation

Today's inflation is not the product of economic difficulties but of political constraints, Dr. W. Philip Gramm, noted economist at Texas A&M University told a Hereford SOARS student and others, in the program last week.

"The economic disruption which has stopped economic growth, sent prices spiraling and impoverished millions has been produced by an incompetent and irresponsible government," Dr. Gramm explained to Studies of Advanced Real Estate Subjects students, including freshman S. Marie Griffen, Real Estate Broker, Realtor.

"In 1969 we had 5 per cent inflation and 6 per cent unemployment and we re-inflated to eliminate the unemployment. We got 12.2 per cent inflation and 8.2 per cent unemployment in the bargain. We must not allow the federal government to repeat this cycle," he said.

The construction industry is currently experiencing high unemployment in its two year recession. High interest rates and capital shortage conditions were cited by Gramm as causes of the problem.

"Depressed construction has caused unemployment to spill over into the furniture industry and into all industries which supply inputs into the construction industry," he said.

Although the automobile industry has been depressed for a year, it took a nose dive in the last quarter of 1974 when demand for new cars fell by more than $11 billion, said Gramm.

The economic expert also holds the government responsible for rising interest rates.

"Interest rates have gone through the ceiling because inflation has stifled both the ability and the incentive of the American consumer to save and government has become an increasing absorber of loanable funds," he told the professionals in real estate and related industries.

Gramm concluded by calling on the students to "not be merely passive observers, (but) be active participants in the coming struggle for the survival and success of the American experiment."

While you are about your business, take some time to be about America's business, he said.

SOARS is sponsored by the Texas Real Estate Research Center and involves students and professional staff members from across the country.

Rotting Hurts Vegetable Plants

Rotting of fruit on certain vegetable plants is a common disorder in home gardens this time of the year.

The problem, called "blossom-end rot," affects tomatoes, squash and peppers, points out Sam Cotner, vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Blossom-end rot is identified by water-soaked areas near the base of the fruit which rapidly turn dark and eventually rot.

"Although the exact cause is unknown, blossom-end rot is thought to be caused by plant roots being unable to take up water as fast as it is being lost by the leaves," explains Cotner.

Conditions causing the disorder may occur several weeks before symptoms appear, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist. Soils which are too wet or too dry inhibit uptake of water by plant roots and this results in the rot.

Blossom-end rot often becomes a problem during prolonged wet weather as well as during extreme dry conditions. Of course, during dry weather the home gardener can water plants at regular intervals to keep the problem at a minimum.

According to the specialist, mulching around plants helps equalize the soil moisture and will reduce losses from blossom-end rot. Applying lime or gypsum before planting may also be of some help.

If the problem is already occurring, Cotner recommends a foliage spray of one level tablespoonful of calcium chloride per gallon of water. Repeat the treatment every five to seven days if conditions are favorable for blossom-end rot to continue, such as hot, dry winds in combination with overly wet or dry soils.

"Fortunately, blossom-end rot is usually only a temporary problem, and fruit which develop and ripen during good weather conditions should be of high quality," adds Cotner.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

The Panama Canal-Sovereignty-Wallace's World-The Votes-

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Ford may soon be caught between recommendations from the State Department and opposing congressional sentiment on the question of maintaining U.S. sovereignty in the Panama Canal Zone.

In recent years Panamanian governments have fanned the Canal Zone sovereignty question into an emotional issue. At one time a few years ago, Washington was on the verge of giving in, but Congress was in no mood to give up U.S. sovereignty and then President Lyndon Johnson never sent such a proposal to the Hill.

Now the State Department is flirting with the same proposition. Should the U.S. give Panama sovereignty, retaining a commercial agreement to operate the canal? Hill sentiment is still against this because that would lay the foundation stone for an eventual seizure of the Canal Zone by some hot-headed Panamanian leader.

Senators and Congressmen opposed to giving up U.S. sovereignty have a good case. Panama has been paid handsomely for the Zone. The treaty gives the U.S. permanent possession. Of course, in today's world and at the U.N., many look askew at such treaties—wherein a big power maintains sovereignty in a foreign country.

But Britain, even with Labor governments, has hung on to the vital base at Gibraltar, in spite of agitation and bad feeling in Madrid, even threats a few years back. That precedent should guide Washington in this case.

The Canal is vital to U.S. security and Panama is not a stable country capable of defending it. There have been 44 Presidents in the last 70 years in this nation of only 1,500,000. To turn the Canal over to such a country would, in effect, be a reckless gesture to appease international public opinion.

Alabama Governor George Wallace's recent press conference on foreign affairs probably didn't cost him any votes in rural America. In fact, it might have won him a few.

On the other hand, his limited background and knowledge in diplomacy and history did show. And some feel he would be well advised to hire, and listen to, an experienced, highly informed expert in this area, if only to avoid slip-ups which reveal a sketchy background and understanding.

Tijerina Scores Victory

One of the highlights of the Tri-State, Region Nine AAU Boxing Tournament was a team victory in the intermediate division for the West Texas Jr. Olympics team, which included a victory for a Hereford youth.

Joe Tijerina ran his season record to 25 wins and only three losses with a victory in the finals Saturday night at the Arena in Houston.

According to Harold Wheeler, Hereford boxing coach, Tijerina "was very impressive in all his bouts."

Two Hereford youths reached the finals in the Senior Division. Eddie Deleon ran his record for the season to 23 straight victories before losing in the finals. Wheeler said that the bout which Deleon lost was one of his best efforts against his toughest opponent of the season.

"We want Eddie to know that regardless of the result of the fight, we in Hereford still think of him as a champion, and we appreciate his hard work, his ability and his attitude in representing Hereford in Houston and other areas," Wheeler said.

Deleon's loss was by a close split decision.

Hector Guerrero also reached the finals before losing. Guerrero took a brilliant thirty wins and no losses record into the finals, but lost to a San Antonio boxer.

Asian Pheasant In Texas

The dry, rugged terrain of Terry County southwest of Lubbock must look like home to a recently introduced population of white-winged pheasants from northern Afghanistan and the arid valleys of southern Russia.

During the drought of 1974, the Asian pheasants not only survived the dry weather but evidently multiplied.

According to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department regional wildlife director Jack Parsons, pheasant "Crow Counts" conducted in mid-April indicated a 19 percent increase in the Terry County population. "The birds were established in Terry County by the release of 1,531 pheasants from 1970 through 1973," said Parsons.

Parsons said that in addition to the Terry County releases, white-winged pheasants were put in Gaines, Lynn and Lubbock Counties and in the El Paso Valley and around Balmorhea.

The Balmorhea and Terry County pheasants seem to be faring the best.

The white-winged pheasant is supposed to be well-adapted to survival in dry climates and able to withstand droughts. First releases of the pheasants in West Texas were made in 1966 from eggs hatched at the Parks and Wildlife Department's Management and Research Station at Tyler.

Area Racers Turn Out For Motocross

The increasing popularity of motocross racing was evident Sunday as 44 racers from Hereford and wide-spread points in the Panhandle turned out for a series of races here.

In the micro mini man event, 0-80 cc, 12 years and younger, Joe Reay of Tulla took first on a Honda. Kelly Dunn, also of Tulla, took second on a Honda.

and Greg George of Dimmitt placed third on a Kawasaki.

In the mini-man event, 0-100 cc, 14 years and younger, Gary Turner of Clovis finished first on a Suzuki, and Martin Puetzold of Hereford was second on a Kawasaki.

Roger Hamilton of Hereford, riding a Kawasaki, finished first in the maxi-man event, thirty years old and over. Eddie Carroll of Canyon was second on a CZ, with Deke Carthel, also of Canyon, third on a Kawasaki.

In the "100 class," Dan Adkins of Friona was first on a Yamaha. Gary Turner of Clovis was second on a Suzuki, and Jim Bob Walsh of Amarillo took third on a Honda.

Bruce Baker finished first in the 125 A Class. Riding a Yamaha, Baker is from Dumas.

Jeff Grinson of Bovina took second on a Yamaha, and Robert Bridwell of Hereford placed third on a Kawasaki.

In the 125 B Class, Dan Adkins of Friona finished ahead of the field on a Honda. Also riding a Honda, Butch Rayburn of Amarillo was second, and riding a Kawasaki, Roger Bradley of Hereford finished third.

The 250 A Class saw Roger Miller of Dumas place first on a Yamaha, Randy Pritchard of Plainview was second on a Kawasaki, and Soeve Millician of Amarillo was third on a Yamaha.

Roy Reinart of Hereford riding a Kawasaki, was first in the 250 B Class, with Leon Trivino, also of Hereford and also riding a Kawasaki, taking second, and Ronny Johnson of Plainview taking third on a Kawasaki.

In the Open Class, 251 and up, Jerry James of Plainview finished first on a Kawasaki. Galen Cox of Plainview took second on a Kawasaki, and Wayne Reinart of Hereford finished third, also on a Kawasaki.

The next running of "The Course" will take place on July 13 at 2:00 p.m. To reach the site, drive two miles south of Hereford on Highway 285, then 2 1/2 miles on F.M. 1055, and follow the signs.

Classes will include micro-mini, mini-man, 0-100, 101-125 A&B, 126-250 A&B, 251 Open, and Maxi-Man (thirty years and older).

Six bikes make a class. Entry fees are $4.00 per class. Admission is $1.00, with those under 10 admitted free.

Races will be run every second Sunday here, rain or shine.

Riders meeting will be held at 1:30 the day of the races. For more information, call 364-2444 or 364-3394.

Romero Wrestles Again In Mat Wars

Ricky Romero, popular Mexican speedster, returns to the mat wars at the Bull Barn Saturday night, according to the Hereford Lions Club.

The club sponsors wrestling in Hereford, and its officers further announced that Romero's opponent would be Don "Body Beautiful" Fargo. Fargo is a street fighting product of Hells Kitchen in New York City, wrestled in the notorious "Chain Gang" team for several years, and was affiliated with an outlaw motorcycle gang.

Romero has held several regional championships with distinction, and is the current Rocky Mountain Heavyweight wrestling champion. When not working out on the mats he works out his horses on his ranch not far from Amarillo.

Also on the card will be Ray "Candy Man" Candy, a 300 pound black wrestler from Atlanta, Georgia. He grapples with the 260 pound masked man, Zodiac.

Newcomer killer Tim Brooks, a wild man from Detroit, will take the measure of Hurricane Hernandez. The crowd-pleasing Hernandez hails from Phoenix, Arizona.

In the opener, 6'6", 280 pound Billy Ravens, another newcomer to Panhandle mat fans, will try rugged veteran Alex Perez. Perez is remembered by many Hereford fans for his fistic exploits.

He held the national middleweight golden gloves crown, and was a successful coach. Lieutenant Paul Ramirez of the Hereford Police Department was among the many fine boxers coached by Perez. Action at the Bull Barn starts at 9:00 P.M.

KVII Schedules Golf

KVII-TV will hold its eighth annual tall tower open golf tournament June 28th and 29th at Southwest Golf Club, located south of Amarillo on Hollywood Road.

The two day, medal play tournament is open to all golfers in the pro news viewing area. Entry fee for the event is only $3.00 and this includes green fees for both days.

Each golfer in the tournament must have a certified handicap card or an attested score card from his or her home course. The number of entries in the tournament will be cut off at 300.

To enter, send the $3.00 entry fee and handicap or score card to Ronnie Bailey, Southwest Golf Club, Rt. 1, Box 559 Amarillo. Shot gun starts will begin play both days at 7:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

Highlight of the tournament is that each golfer entered will receive a prize, plus prizes will be awarded to the top finishers in each flight. This is only the second time in the history of the event that it has been held in Amarillo.

Previous tournament sites include Clovis, N.M., Borger, Dalhart, Childress, Hunsley Hills, and Clarendon.

The defending tournament champion is E.V. Price of Childress.

Ticket Deadline Friday For Banquet

Ticket sales for the annual Kids Inc. sports banquet will end tomorrow (Friday). Tickets for the event are $2 and may be obtained from any Kids Inc. baseball player or at the Hereford State Bank.

Denis Menke, former infielder with the Houston Astros will be the featured speaker.

Menke has 12 years of experience in major league baseball, including six seasons with the Braves, four with Houston and two with Cincinnati.

He was a member of the Cincinnati Reds during the 1972 World Series.

While with the Astros from 1968-1971, he hit .304 in 154 games during the 1970 season. Youngsters of the Pony Leagues and all girls' softball leagues will be honored.

Highlighting the awards ceremony will be the naming of the Coach of the Year and the winners of the sportsmanship awards.

Naming of the Most Valuable Player and All-Star teams will also be highlights.

The Hereford Rotary Club will serve a barbecue dinner at the banquet.

The banquet is sponsored by the Hereford State Bank.

Cecil David Bosley recently received a baccalaureate degree from Howard Payne University in Brownwood.

Bosley received his degree during the university's spring commencement exercises. During the exercises, Dr. Roger L. Brooks, president of the university, conferred more than 200 baccalaureate degrees and two honorary doctorates.

In the main address, Dr. Brooks challenged the graduates to "give to all within your reach."

He also asked the graduates to "search for the key to understanding ourselves and others."

In addition, Dr. Brooks conferred an honorary doctor of humanities degree on Brownwood businessman and philanthropist Joe N. Weatherby and an honorary doctor of laws degree on special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Sunday Reception Honors Couple On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gentry observe 35th wedding anniversary

Exotic flowers and plants formed the setting Sunday afternoon in Hereford Country Club for a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gentry who were observing their 35th wedding anniversary.

Receiving guests with the couple were their children, who arranged the party, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gentry of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Smelley of Pleasanton and Mr. and Mrs. James Gentry of Yucca Hills Addition. Creating a backdrop for the receiving line were poodle trees bedecked with Red Rover daisies and white doves.

Nearby in the entryway, where grandson Scott Gentry greeted visitors at the door, was an antiqued ivory fountain brimming with bird of paradise, pink and red anthuriums, coral proteas, lemons, limes and oranges. Asparagus sprengeri cascaded down the side of the piece which was banked with greenery, consisting mainly of lemon leaves and mock orange leaves.

Two large bouquets of anthuriums, proteas, bird of paradise and citrus fruit stood on pedestals flanking the long serving table which was placed between a pair of smaller round tables. White lace spreads crocheted by Mrs. Mary Poston, Mrs. Gentry's mother, were draped over green cloths on the tables.

A large Boston fern was suspended over the three-tiered white cake which was heavily adorned with white grape clusters and had pillars separating each of the layers. The honored couple cut the cake with the same silver knife which their daughter, Ann, had used at her own wedding reception. Complementing the array were mints moulded in the shape of green and white grape clusters.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Meses. Charles Hoover, B.F. Cain, R.C. White, Norman Hodges, Tommy Braddy, Labry Ballard, Richard Winget, Tom Robinson and Bob Poston. Out-of-town members of the house party included Mrs. Bill Poston of Dallas and Mrs. Allen Gentry of Reno, Nev.

Registering guests, who numbered approximately 350, were Mrs. Kenneth Longenecker and Mrs. Randy Arnold, both of Dallas, and the Gentry's granddaughter, Miss Shelly Gentry.

Miss Sherry White, Mrs. Sid Shaw and Mrs. Sam Long alternately provided selections at the piano which was accented by a silver epergne containing lighted tapers and the same motif of flowers used in surrounding arrangements.

Reception guests were seated at tables centered with bouquets of coral cushion pompons, Red Rover daisies, lemons, limes, oranges and babybreath. Out-of-town visitors cited included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Poston of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Hodges of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thomas of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Edward

Thompson and daughter, Kathy, of Albuquerque, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie George of Tulsa; Mrs. Irene Taylor and Mrs. Margaret Gregory, both of Reno, Nev.;

Cora Poston and Will Howard Gentry, both of Dallas, were married at that city June 11, 1940. In 1943, they came to this area, but their residency here was interrupted briefly while he served in the U.S. Army.

The couple are members of First Baptist Church and have seven grandchildren. He is engaged in farming and ranching interests.

Men Have Duties In The Home Too

Discussion of homemaking often refers only to wives—but husbands have responsibilities in the home too, Roberta Dix, family life education specialist, contended this week.

"A home situation that has one parent away at work most of the day might define the responsibilities each would assume for child-rearing," this specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, admitted.

"But if the wife is the only one to interact with the family, children lose the opportunity to experience a well-rounded atmosphere for personality growth," she said. "When fathers don't participate in child-rearing, the children lose their most valuable resource for understanding and acquiring male attitudes.

"A chance for observing both male and female behaviors within the home equips sons and daughters to cope with situations they will encounter outside the home."

The specialist explained that it might take added communication between husband and wife to divide child-rearing responsibilities, but the outcome should be beneficial for all.

Mrs. Coker Honored At Reddy Room

Mrs. Phil Coker was feted Tuesday evening with a layette shower in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service.

Recognized among the 25 guests present were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Flake Barber of Follett, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bob Coker. Mrs. Coker's sister, Mrs. Sam Curtsinger, registered guests. Mrs. James Pankey and Mrs. Thomas Davis presided at the refreshment table which offered lime sherbert punch and cake decorated with yellow and green stars. Burlap flowers in hues of yellow, ecru and lime green were fashioned into a bouquet for the centerpiece.

Hostesses included Meses. Pankey, Davis, Curtsinger, Tony Hardin, Jim Monroe, Randy Jones and Jerry Coker.

Summer Promotes Water Safety

The thousands of local residents who will take to the water during the summer months, when the annual aquatic sports begin, are urged by the American Red Cross to play it safe and start off easy by not trying to swim too far or by getting too much exposure to the sun right away.

"Don't try to do it all at once," advised Mary Zinser, water safety chairman of Deaf Smith County ARC Chapter. "You've got the whole summer ahead of you, so take it easy at first and get yourself back into condition and acclimated to the sun before spending extended periods in or on the water."

The safety chairman also urged those who are new to water sports to begin by learning how to swim or by learning to swim better, if they already have some swimming ability. She said that 60 per cent of the roughly 7,000 persons who drown each year fall into the water accidentally and many of them could have saved themselves if they had been able to swim.

The local Red Cross chapter offers courses in swimming and lifesaving at all levels of skills.

Swimming Classes To Begin June 23

All levels of swimming instruction are being offered for youngsters and adults by the local Red Cross chapter at Hereford City Pool, according to Mrs. Richard Zinser, local water safety chairman.

This announcement is especially aimed at adults who are invited to enroll in evening classes held each weekday at 6:30 p.m. or morning sessions at 9 a.m. Fee for swimming lessons is $2.25 per person.

New classes will begin June 23 and will offer Junior Lifesaving in addition to all ranks from beginner-swimmer training. In order to register for Junior Lifesaving, one must be at least 11 years old.

Enrollment for this second session is scheduled June 20 at the pool. Individuals interested in signing up for advanced lifesaving courses can register for specific classes at this time. Instructors' courses are free.

Basics of lifesaving will be reviewed July 7-11 and this course should be taken before entering senior lifesaving. A new advance lifesaving class will be held July 14 and will offer modern techniques for water safety.

For further information, contact Mrs. Zinser at 578-4555.

Former Resident Weds At Albany Ceremony

Miss LaDonna Kay Williams, a past resident, exchanged nuptial vows with Johnny Max Viertel of Moran Saturday morning in First Baptist Church at Albany. The Rev. Dewey Lamb, pastor, officiated.

The bride and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob. W. Williams now of Albany, formerly lived southeast of the city. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Viertel of Moran.

Peace roses and stock formed the altar centerpiece which was flanked by palm fronds and candelabra with votive candles trimmed with greenery. English ivy garnished the piano, organ and choir lofts.

Miss Glenda Williams served her sister as maid of honor while Miss Ramona Roberts of Moran and Miss Vickie Kelley of Hereford were additional attendants.

Arthur Viertel assisted his son as best man. The bridegroom's brothers, Mark and Kyle Viertel, were groomsmen.

Escorting guests to their seats were the couple's brothers, Joel Viertel, Bobby Williams and Larry Williams. The latter pair lighted the wedding tapers at the altar.

Miss Stefani Shortes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Shortes of Ackerly, is the bride's cousin and appeared as the flower girl.

"Kyle's Lullaby," a song composed by the bridegroom and his brother Kyle, was a selection which had special significance at the ceremony. Other themes included "The Lord's Prayer," "Treasures," "Annie's Song" and "Wedding Song." Vocalists were Glenda Williams, Mitsi Hardisty, Sam Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Viertel. Accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Carolyn Hill of Albany at the organ and Mrs. Barbara Miller of Albany at the piano.

A gold cross suspended on a golden chain was a gift from the bridegroom and was worn as the bride's only jewelry.

Floor-length gowns of gingham checked cotton were worn by bridal attendants. Each was patterned with empire waistline, cameo neckline and short sleeves with lace and ribbon trim. Miss Williams' dress was yellow and other bridesmaids wore apricot. The ensembles were complemented by white picture hats and nosegays of white daisies.

The flower girl was clad in a yellow gingham dress with white apron. She carried a basket of rose and daisy petals.

Miss Kathy Pilcher of Albany and Miss Ramona Roberts served the three-tiered white wedding cake bedecked with white daisies during a reception at the church fellowship hall after the wedding. Peace roses and greenery were arranged at the center of the serving table which was laid with a white ruffled cloth. Punch and coffee were offered by Miss Becky Pilcher of Albany and Miss Vickie Kelley.

Photographs Record History Of Houses

A few snaps of the family camera and an accurate photographic history of the home is available, Denise Beigbeder, housing and home furnishings specialist, said this week.

"A series of exterior photographs can help record improvements—painting, landscaping, remodeling—since the house was purchased," this specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Photos can also be a guide for future maintenance if the record includes shots of critical construction points—plumbing and wiring, for example. Problem areas can be pinpointed without tearing down the whole wall, she said.

If it's time to sell the house, seasonal photographs can often help prospective buyers visualize the property as it looks throughout the year.

"A simple camera is sufficient—wide angle lens is better. Shoot from several angles, front and back, and be sure to include the background and parts of adjacent properties as well. Get some close-ups of especially attractive areas and fine details."

HD Members Round-Up Club Year

West Hereford Extension Club concluded their meeting season Tuesday afternoon with a salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. W.B. Phillips, 209 Ave J.

Elizabeth Burk and Chris Aleman were welcomed as guests by the following members: Mmes. Mary Flowers, Myrtle Aleman, Roy and Robert Boyd, Dale Walton, Louis Kiser, U.V. Pierce, Alice Cox and Miss Evelyn Bell.

TICKET ORDERS for the Miss Texas Scholarship Pageant have been less than stupendous according to the Chamber office. The contest, to be held in Fort Worth July 9-12, is right around the corner and in order for the Hereford delegation to be seated together, tickets should be bought now.

A season ticket for all four nights costs only $16 per person and will insure you the same good seats each evening. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Amusement Ticket Service.

It is hoped Hereford will have a stronger representation than ever before to support Monica Herring as she carries the local title in an attempt to win the state crown and a chance at the Miss America banner. The reigning Miss Hereford will preview her pageant wardrobe and talent entry during the Chamber Women's Division quarterly meeting on June 30. Also on tap will be the impressive vocal skills of Miss Teen Donna Kendall.

NOW THAT THOSE restless, fanciful days of summer vacation have arrived, grandparents get a chance to reacquaint themselves with their favorite subjects.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell of 207 N. Texas are enjoying their 2-year-old granddaughter, Ashley, who has been loaned by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Dan McDowell of Odessa.

ALTHOUGH THE Monster Club Reading Program is already in full swing at Deaf Smith County Library, it isn't too late to join. Gwen London is promising "lots of fun and entertainment," including the appearance of a Khiva clown tomorrow at 4 p.m.

The library is a haven for adults, as well as youngsters. Mrs. Ted Panciera will review "The Nine Lives of Deaf Smith" by Faye Campbell on June 26. Also, the full-length movie, "Robinson Crusoe" will be the family night film at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday. Of course, through the sponsorship of the Friends of the Library, all of these activities are free.

Specials for the month of June include artwork by Mrs. Gladys Braly and Judge Sam Morgan's knife collection.

But the best thing about the library is that it offers a cool respite from the summer heat by curling up in a good book.

MR. AND MRS. Bob Gilliland of Carpentaria, Calif. and Mrs. Ruth Sells and infant, Catherine Elizabeth, of Grosse Ile, Mich. were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pink H. Gilliland.

Arriving from a cross-country flight to visit the local couple were Frank Gilliland and Mrs. Homer Gilliland of Santa Barbara, Calif. While here, they saw Mrs. Cecil Williams who was hospitalized.

At The Library Historical Novels Rich In Realistic Human Drama

Human drama based on epic events in American history forms the basis for two books being advertised this week by Deaf Smith County Library.

J. Frank Dobie, known for his entertaining method of relating authentic tales of early pioneers, has released "The Flavor of Texas," in which he revisits his favorite episodes from Texas history. Christened "the consummate interpreter of Texas," Dobie describes such colorful Texans as Bigfoot Wallace, Rachel Plummer (who lived in captivity with Indians), Peter Ellis Bean and Sam Houston.

From a panoramic tapestry of the Civil War Era, Frank G. Slaughter threads the rich story of "The Stonewall Brigade," an infantry unit under the leadership of Gen. Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson. The author analyzes each of the characters who played roles in the historical narrative which is based on conflict from the early engagements at Harper's Ferry to the last beleaguered skirmish at Appomattox.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and until noon Saturday.

THE FLAVOR OF TEXAS by J. Frank Dobie

One of Dobie's very best books, this work appeared only in a limited edition for the Texas Centennial and now is finally being offered to the general public.

It contains Dobie's favorite episodes and characters from Texas history—such as the drawing of the black beans, the story of Bigfoot Wallace, The Gone-to-Texas tradition, Peter Ellis Bean, Rachel Plummer's captivity, trail driving tales, women on the frontier, buffalo in Texas, Sam Houston, and others.

"The Flavor of Texas" is probably Dobie's most entertaining book and makes fascinating reading. J. Frank Dobie, whom Dr. Joe B. Frantz has called "the consummate interpreter of Texas," devoted his career to the study of Southwestern culture, folklore and history. His fine literary style and tale-telling ability are at their peak in this delightful work.

THE STONEWALL BRIGADE by Frank G. Slaughter

"There's Jackson standing like a stone wall! Rally behind the Virginians!" That cry, heard in the thick of the fighting at 1st Manassas, gave Gen. Thomas J. Jackson, Confederate States Army, a new name—and it stuck to his 1st brigade as well. They were known in the Army of Northern Virginia, and to history, as the "Stonewall Brigade."

This magnificent novel takes in its broad scope the whole history of the Stonewall Brigade during the War Between the States—from the early engagements at Harper's Ferry, through Sharpsburg, Gettysburg, Chancellorsville and the death of Jackson...right up to the last skirmishes before Appomattox.

We follow the fortunes of David Preston, a young medical officer with the brigade, as he faces firsthand the awesome carnage of war, and through his experience, we encounter the famous figures of the time—from Abe Lincoln to Robert E. Lee, from J.E.B. Stuart to the great Stonewall Jackson himself.

And we also share in Preston's personal ordeal, especially his separation from the beautiful Cherokee-born woman he came to love, whose own life becomes endangered through the intrigues of war.

Blending history with marvelously imagined historical fiction, Frank G. Slaughter has created an immediate and richly satisfying narrative of one of America's most heroic and terrible struggles—clearly portraying both the sweeping military movements and the intense human dramas that made Stonewall Jackson's brigade a legend for America and the world.

Frank G. Slaughter has written many top-selling novels, with themes almost always centering around the medical profession. They include "Surgeon, USA," "Convention, M.D.," and, most recently, "Women in White." A resident of Jacksonville, Fla., he numbers among those residents there whose ancestors fought for the Confederacy.

4-H Members Score High At Texas A&M

The Deaf Smith County 4-H Clubs were well represented in the recent state 4-H roundup on the campus of Texas A&M University, with many local 4-Hers placing high in contests involving hundreds of competitors from 4-H clubs across the state.

JoAnn Wagner placed third in the state food show at the roundup. Rhonda Hager was fourth in food and nutrition demonstration.

The community improvement team of Wes Strain and Mark Betzen placed fifth. The livestock judging team of Britt Hicks, Rudy Coleman, Randy Coleman, and Steve Douglas also placed fifth in their competition.

Stephanie Kelso placed seventh in home environment, and the team of Frankie Wells and Randy Fellars placed seventh in dairy demonstration.

LeAnn Hughes was 11th in family resource management. The grass judging team of Sam Finley, Sandee Finley, and Micki Merritt finished 13th.

Joyce Shipp, Deaf Smith County home demonstration agent, expressed considerable pride in the efforts of the 4-H members from the county in the roundup.

Twirlers To Conduct Clinic

Hereford High School's twirlers will be instructors for a twirling clinic to be held in conjunction with the summer youth program June 16-27.

Classes will be held from 4:30-5:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Cost for the two week clinic is $20, with proceeds from the clinic going to the cheerleaders for purchase of new uniforms.

Twirlers instructing the class will be Cathy Walker, DeAnne Caison, Stacy Lea, Betty Banks, Dobra Jones, Sabra Hacker and Denise Schroeter.

They will give instruction in basic tricks, introductions, strutting and other techniques.

Artichokes Suggested As Meal Appetizers

Artichokes can add variety and glamour to the hors d'oeuvre table, Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week.

"Large, fresh artichokes give best value because they are usually priced per unit rather than by pound. Leaves should be compact, tightly closed, plump and green," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Artichokes may be stored in the refrigerator in a covered container or plastic bag for about four days without much loss of quality.

Turning to specific preparation advice, Miss Springer said, "Cut off the stem and one inch across the top. Clip off thorny tips with scissors. Discard tough outer leaves. Dip in a bowl of water with a small amount of lemon juice to keep edges from turning brown until ready to cook."

"Artichokes may be cooked in boiling water 10-12 minutes or steamed in a heavy saucepan about 20-25 minutes. Cook only until tender-crisp, or until stem end can easily be pierced with a fork."

Serve artichokes with any favorite sauce. For the hors d'oeuvre table, chill artichokes and serve with a blue cheese dip.

"Combine 1 1/2 oz. blue cheese, 1 cup sour cream, 1 diced hard-cooked egg and 1 tablespoon chopped chives."

Beef Cuts Are Prizes Offered At Drawing

Choice cuts of beef will be prizes in a drawing to be sponsored by Hereford Cowbells in conjunction with the Beef for Father's Day campaign.

Winners will be announced the evening of June 17 at Hereford Country Club where the "Dad's Day" barbecue supper will be held for spouses of Hereford Cowbells. In order to be eligible for the beef awards, an individual must register at one of the local barbershops.

Another aspect of the Beef for Father's Day strategy is beef gift certificates which are negotiable at grocery markets throughout this area. These can be purchased in any amount and are available from Mrs. Dick Coupe at Hereford Cattle Sales Inc., 136 E. 3rd.

Beef recipes selected by local Cowbells will be featured in each issue of The Brand until Father's Day. Mrs. Elmo Hall and Mrs. Jim Perrin, co-chairmen, stated that these recipes are "some of the best in the Southwest and are excellent for getting the most from beef."

Renting Appliances Offers Flexibility

Practically any household item can be rented rather than bought outright.

But "when does renting pay?" is a question consumers often ask, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist, noted this week.

"The monthly charge for renting a typical item usually ranges from one-twentieth to one-tenth of its original cost. So renting a piece of equipment for a long period may cost as much as buying," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Sometimes it's possible to rent with an option to buy—especially with medical or exercise equipment. In these situations, rent payments are applied to the purchase price.

"Some people feel that renting an item motivates them to use it more often than if they owned the item. They say that if they rent it for a day, they'll probably use it instead of putting off the job," she said.

Mrs. Chenoweth noted some points consumers might want to consider in deciding whether to rent or buy household items.

"How often will the item be used? A garden tiller or floor sander may be used only once a year for a day or two. A frequently used item such as a lawn mower would be needed more often.

"What about service for the item? Some people prefer to rent because of the convenience of having someone else sharpen the blades, oil the engine or perform maintenance.

"Is storage space available? Some items require storage space disproportionate to their frequency of use and seem to be always in the way.

"Will the item be satisfactory for a long time? Will next year's model change or improved features make a difference? Renting offers the advantage of flexibility—consumers can change their minds.

Gary Newell Wins Grant

Gary Newell, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newell of 133 Ranger Dr., was awarded the Mary Whitfield Memorial Scholarship recently by the 75-member faculty of Mayfield High School at Las Cruces, N.M.

Designated for the school of his choice, the grant is earmarked for a student who has made outstanding accomplishments in academic and extracurricular activities and citizenship. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Newell of Mesilla Park, a suburb of Las Cruces, Newell was among 500 graduating seniors.

He was president of ICT-VICA for two years, held a membership in President's Club, participated in intramural sports and worked at University Ford as an automobile painter.

He is currently employed as department manager at University Ford. Newell and three younger sisters reside with their parents at Mesilla Park.

THE 27TH ANNUAL EMYS AWARDS presentation

happened in Hollywood recently. When the ceremony was done, there were those with a competitive heart and pencil and pad who had added the network's score and ranked them by the numbers. The totals were CBS 32, ABC 24, NBC 10, and PBS 5.

SPEAKING of summaries, this past year has been a season of situation comedies. Excusing "The Waltons" and "Hawaii Five-O," the top ten in audience favorites leaned heavily toward humorous half-hour offerings. According to the ratings, the favorites are "All in the Family," "Sanford and Son," "Chico and the Man," "The Jeffersons," "M*A*S*H," "Rhoda,"

"Good Times," and "Maude."

PBS OFFERED an excellent two and a half hour portrait of Joseph Stalin recently.

Those interested in history and one of the world's most well-known criminals offer a hearty well-done to PBS for this effort. Documentary films and subjective materials were used to trace Stalin from his peasant beginnings through the Russian revolution, the purges and the wars.

ALL OF WHICH again emphasizes that PBS is a good alternative to commercial broadcasting.

Don't believe anything you hear at cocktail parties.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

They've Found A Better Way to Diagnose Iron Deficiency

Iron deficiency in humans is a major health concern in Texas. A better way to detect it is of great importance to better health.

Like many elements, iron is essential to good health. Among other things iron is essential to hemoglobin production in red blood cells.

Nutritional problems among large portions of the population were revealed in a study made by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The 10-state nutrition survey that included Texas gave iron deficiency a high priority health rating, especially among pregnant and lactating women and low income groups.

A new human iron deficiency diagnosis method is attracting international attention. Dr. George W. Bates, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station biochemist who developed the technique, says it should help us to better understand and measure the extent of human iron deficiency in both developed and undeveloped nations.

Several standard iron deficiency diagnosis methods have long been used, but these can be inconsistent and misleading. Therefore, Bates and Graduate Student Gary Graham of the Texas A&M University Biochemistry and Biophysics Department developed what they call "differential chelation-ultrafiltration," or simply, DCU. They believe it provides "unparalleled accuracy."

If DCU is accepted by the science world, Bates says it should prove especially valuable in nutrition studies of iron deficiency. The new technique should also be valuable in preventive medicine, since it enables diagnosis of latent iron deficiency before the condition develops into severe anemia.

Asked just how serious iron deficiency is, Bates said, "Iron deficiency in various stages is perhaps the most prevalent nutritional problem in the world today, affecting the health, vitality and economic productivity of countless millions."

"While iron deficiencies have been recognized and treated for centuries, it is only within the past few decades that reasonably large groups have been examined and a true appreciation of the prevalence of iron deficiency has been recognized."

"Studies in Southern Germany have shown 65 percent of the women tested to have latent iron deficiency and 14 percent to have overt anemia. These figures compare with 10 percent and two percent for males.

"In Sweden, 40 percent of the women tested showed signs of iron deficiency and 25 percent were anemic."

"In the United States, iron deficiency anemia may be found in 12 percent of nonpregnant and 20 to 58 percent percent of pregnant women."

"It is estimated that the iron assimilation for the average American or European diet is generally not sufficient to satisfy the nutritional demands of women in their child-bearing years."

Basic blood chemistry research conducted by Bates and his associates is giving medical science new insight into this complex, but basic problem of animal and human metabolism.

When something containing iron is eaten, it enters the digestive system and eventually comes into contact with the membranes surrounding the small intestine. Here it is absorbed into the blood stream through a process involving a blood protein called transferrin. Apparently, the transferrin protein finds its way to the intestinal membranes where it loads up with iron and returns to the blood stream. Once in the blood stream, the transferrin carries the iron to the red blood cells where it is used in production of hemoglobin, the oxygen transport protein essential to cell life.

The new DCU technique measures the amount of transferrin that does not contain iron. This aids the detection of iron deficiency.

Bates' blood chemistry work is gaining attention both in the U.S. and abroad. He has discussed his DCU method specifically for the Hungarian Institute of Hematology and the Hematology Congress, Israel. Last fall he was invited to and participated in the international Conference on Coordination Chemistry in Ireland. The biochemist was symposium speaker on metals in biological systems during the American Chemical Society national meeting in New Jersey and discussed his DCU method at the Texas Medical Association meeting in Houston.

"The biochemistry field is just beginning to understand the molecular role of metals (such as iron) in living organisms," Bates concluded.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Many consumers are looking for bargains these days in places they may never have shopped before. But in the search for "good buys" some people end up paying more and getting less than they would have if they had bought from a traditional source.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers say that people who are shopping at unclaimed, repossessed, or damaged merchandise stores, private party sales, or garage sales could become dissatisfied if they don't know what to expect.

Such consumers, in their haste to find a bargain, might also fall for deceptive trade practices used by a few unscrupulous sellers.

One important thing to remember is that purchasing from such sources likely means that conveniences such as charge accounts, layaways, delivery, service or parts, and warranties may be curtailed or eliminated in order to sell at a lower price. If these things are important to the consumer, the lower price may not be attractive enough to offset their absence.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys also remind consumers that the mere fact that an item is found at such places does not automatically mean the price is lower than elsewhere. The only way to determine if the price is a good one is to comparison shop at several places. Sometimes a consumer is amazed to learn that as low or lower a price can be obtained from a department store or specialty shop.

Occasionally unclaimed, repossessed, or damaged merchandise sellers who attract shoppers with especially low prices say they "just sold the last one" when the consumer arrives. If they then try to sell a more expensive item, they could be practicing the familiar "bait and switch" selling tactic, which is illegal. Never deal with merchants who do not sell as advertised.

Checking the classified, advertising section of the newspaper is often a way to locate a needed item at a good price. Sometimes, however, a professional con artist will rent a house or apartment, fill it with furniture, appliances, and clothing and have a "moving sale." Unsuspecting persons might end up purchasing items at far higher prices than the merchandise justifies. This is another time when comparison shopping could alert you to such high prices.

Occasionally, according to police, these "stuffed flats" are filled with stolen merchandise. Use caution when purchasing from individuals you do not know, for you will have little recourse if an unscrupulous person disappears just after selling you his merchandise.

Garage sales have become tremendously popular and continue to attract consumers hunting for a bargain. Most garage sales are just what they seem to be—families or individuals selling household or personal items they no longer need.

Amarillo College Plans Safe Driving Course

Defensive driving, a course intended to save a driver his money as well as his neck, will be offered by Amarillo College June 14.

The one-day Community Service program, to be instructed by Walter Eubanks, chairman of public safety education at AC, will be held on the West campus from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cost of the course is $11. Those interested may register before June 14 in the registrar's office at either the Washington Street or West campus Administration Buildings. Either office may be called for more information.

U-2 CRASHES
RAMSTEIN, WEST GERMANY—A United States Air Force U-2 reconnaissance plane crashed in West Germany recently about 85 miles from the East German border, an Air Force headquarters spokesman said. There was no harm to anyone.

"Persons satisfactorily completing the course will receive a 10 per cent discount for three years on auto liability, collision and medical payment coverages written by insurance companies who are rate-regulated by the State Board of Insurance," said Charles Gaither, supervisor of Community Service programs.

PORTS OF CALL

For Travel And Adventure

By Edward H. Sims

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM — When the French pouted NATO out of France and the headquarters organization moved to Brussels, that brought a third set of ambassadors to this beautiful city.

One group of ambassadors deals with the government. Another constellation represents their governments at European Common Market headquarters. And a third group of ambassadors are assigned to NATO headquarters.

The result? Ambassadors are a dime a dozen. One recent Saturday night the writer was dining with General Gunther Rall and his wife of one of Belgium's finest, "La. Maison du Cygne."

Rall is the commanding general of all of NATO's air forces, in addition to being a military celebrity as one of history's greatest fighter pilots. (He shot down 275 aircraft—Russian—in World War III)

It was not unexpected, then, that the owners presented Mrs. Rall with flowers and served, gratuitously, a special hors-d'oeuvre. There is only one commanding general of NATO air—and the western world looks to few officers more than to him for security in case of an emergency.

But Rall was among other famous people.

"Do you know how many ambassadors we have in this town?" he asked. "Two hundred and eighty six." How can one keep in contact with so many? That would mean seeing a new ambassador every working day for more than a year—just to meet them all privately.

Old House Still Stands

Pictured is the T-Anchor ranch house standing in a grove of trees as it appears today. The fence surrounding the house and tack room was erected to protect the buildings from cattle and vandals. The

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—When we talk about energy in Texas we are talking about oil. And when we talk about oil we are talking about big money in state taxes.

But despite oil's importance to Texas, the future and the fortunes of our oil tax revenue depends on the actions and situations at the national and international levels.

This is why President Ford's energy programs—and whatever the Congress does about them—will have a drastic effect on our state treasury.

In the first place, the President has announced that effective June 1 he was putting a $1 a barrel import tax on all foreign oil coming into America. Congress gave him authority last year to order such import taxes up to $3 a barrel. He levied $1 of the $3 in February.

The net result of raising the price of imported oil $1 a barrel is to raise the price of oil produced in the United States also. The result of price increases is an increase in tax revenue because Texas' oil production tax is figured at 4.6 per cent of the oil's market price.

Based on price increases we saw when the first dollar's worth of import tax was put on in February, we estimate that the new increase will bring in an additional $32.5 million in tax money—above the $1.1 billion oil production taxes will produce in the next two years.

But there is a chance Congress will override the President's plan. Therefore, Texas can't bank on this money until Congress has its say.

The President also wants Congress to phase out price controls on what we call "old oil". This is just a name—and not a very good one—given to the amounts of oil produced by each producer in 1972. Today oil produced up to the 1972 level is under a federal price ceiling of $5.25 a barrel. Oil produced above the 1972 level is considered "new oil" and is not under price controls. It now sells for about $11 a barrel.

Obviously, if the $5.25 price ceiling is removed—altogether or by phases—the price will rise and as it does the revenue from the 4.6 per cent tax will increase.

We estimate that taking off the price lid would bring about a fantastic tax revenue increase of between $175 million and $225 million because about 60 per cent of the oil produced in Texas is under the price control.

Whatever gains we get from whatever federal action is taken comes too late for use on this year's budget. By early next year the picture will be in focus and if we had annual budget sessions of the Legislature the money could be used then.

Ranch Building Will Move To WTSU

The T-Anchor Ranch Headquarters will soon be moving to its new home north of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum annex.

Museum workers, headed by Assistant Director Jack Downing, are currently carefully marking and dismantling the almost 100-year old structure at its original location at the West Texas State University farm next to Kimbrough Stadium.

According to Museum Director James Hanson, the ranch headquarters and its nearby shed will be taken to the museum next week, and hopefully will be ready for its dedication and public display by October.

The three-room headquarters, built by Charles Goodnight's brother-in-law Leigh Dyer in 1877, was the first such house in the northern 36 Texas counties. Its history has been long and varied, as its ownership progressed from early ranchers and English syndicates to WTSU, serving them at times as a pay office, post office, chow hall and bunkhouse for ranch hands.

The T-Anchor Ranch ended its short but colorful career in 1902, with its 225 sections of land being broken up and sold. The 80 acres on which the house now stands was purchased by the state in 1927, and given to WTSU.

The last people to live in the ranch house were West Texas State University agriculture students, who stayed there until the early 1960s. The modern conveniences of wall paper, sanitation facilities and cement and plaster had to be removed before the workers uncovered the headquarters' slowly decaying cedar logs which were cut east of Happy in Palo Duro Canyon, and their mud chinking.

The workers discovered that the headquarters was not completely uninhabited, however, when they disturbed the nest of two racoon cubs in the roof.

Not many artifacts, except for the broken leg of a china doll, have been found mingled in the dirt of the floors, but Museum Curator of Anthropology Bill Harrison will sift through at least the top foot of it to check.

MEDICINE CHEST

by H. BOSWELL YORK, R. PH.

Since many drugs are derived from petroleum, how is it that drug companies say drug prices are lower even though the prices of raw materials are going up? — S.R. The Consumer Price Index is not always a guide to inflation. Of the nearly 400 items on the index, seven have declined in price — pantyhose, televisions, portable tape recorders, movie cameras, multiple vitamins, antibiotics and hormones. Spokesmen for the pharmaceutical industry say some of their prices have dropped because researchers have developed ways to increase their productivity.

Are there any newer and safer birth control medicines coming on the market soon? — P.P.

Developments in the field of contraception are being seriously hampered by a combination of factors. The main reason is that there is less and less likelihood of the drug industry receiving a profitable return on research investment. Profit loss is due to: more stringent and lengthy premarket tests, lawsuits related to adverse effects, and a general public feeling that drugs should be taken without any risk to the consumer.

Can too much sunlight cause skin cancer? — F.S. Exposure to hot sun over a long period of time is conducive to skin cancer. Fair-skinned persons are in greater danger than dark-skinned ones. ## Director Advises Prompt Veteran Benefits Action

Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, advises veterans headed for the first time this summer or fall for classrooms under the GI Bill to act promptly if they want advance payment of educational checks.

Coker noted a record 2.4 million veterans and military service personnel trained in fiscal year 1974, and the agency made 563,250 advance payments totaling $211.3 million. So far this fiscal year, 659,300 payments in the amount of $243.6 million have been made.

Advance payments were initiated in August 1973 to assist veterans who, after starting to school, find themselves in financial difficulty while awaiting their first VA checks.

Coker said a veteran who plans to enter school should first make certain he has a certificate of eligibility. If he hasn't one should be obtained from the nearest VA office.

The certificate must be presented to the school of the veteran's choice. The school, if it accepts the veteran, will forward it and the enrollment certification (on the reverse side) to VA.

Coker explained that if the agency receives this information at least 30 days before registration, veterans who train half time or more may pick up their first check when they register. The first check will cover training allowances for the first two months, or one month and a portion of a month, depending upon the registration date.

Under current rates, a single veteran in school full time receives $270 monthly, with two dependents $366, and those with three or more dependents receive an additional $22 monthly for each dependent over two.

Half time rates are $135 monthly for a single veteran, $160 monthly for veterans with one dependent and $182 monthly for those with two dependents. Veterans with three or more dependents receive an additional $11 monthly for each dependent over two.

Winners Awarded

Father Jose Gilligan, president of the local unit of the American Civil Liberties Union, presents savings bonds to Brenda Owen and Richard Waters, winners of the ACLU essay contest. The theme of the contest was 'The Bill of Rights, How We Got It and How It Functions.' Miss Owen received $250 in bonds for first place, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Owen of 340 Elm. Waters received $200 in bonds. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Waters, 224 Ave. E. The contest was sponsored by the Hereford branch of the High Plains Chapter of the ACLU, and was conducted through the Hereford school system.

Photographer's Contest Offers Cash Awards

Professional photographers have until June 15 to enter a national photographic exhibition to be held in Amarillo July 18-20, a competition offering numerous cash and purchase awards.

The photo show, "Focus '75," is a project of the Top of Texas Branch, National League of American Pen Women. Its purpose is to promote and exhibit excellence in photo-journalism. Focus '75 is the first of what will be an annual competition staged by the Top of Texas Branch of NLAPW, according to Mrs. Julia Spurlock, president of the branch and chairman of the juried show.

There are five categories in which professional photographers can compete for cash awards of $75, $50 and $25: landscapes, portraits (both formal and informal), still life, news and/or human interest, and a special division encompassing architecture, industrial and commercial subject matter. Purchase awards will be available for $25, $75, $100 or $150.

Entrants are limited to one photograph per category. Entry fee is $7.50 for the first and $2 for each additional photo. The pictures should be mounted, they should be no larger than 8 x 10s, and both color and black and whites are acceptable.

A viewing committee will determine by July 1 which entries will be accepted for Focus '75. Color slides may be submitted for the determination but originals must be received by July 15. The three-day show, July 18-20, will be held at Amarillo Garden Center.

Further information about Focus '75, can also be obtained by writing Mrs. Spurlock at Tascosa Road, Box 331, Amarillo, Texas, 79106.

"Citation awards will be presented for all work accepted," she said, "and in addition to first, second and third place cash awards there are several others not yet publicly announced."

DAD CAN HELP

Dad remembers what it's like to fumble the ball on the one yard line, or to strike out when the baseball game is all tied up.

God made fathers out of men that were once boys themselves. Dad can still help boys and girls who have trouble. Remember your Dad this Father's Day.

Youth Work Force Pegged At 4.2 Million

About 4.2 million youths—roughly the same number as last year—will enter the labor force in the summer of 1975, according to projections published by the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Each summer the school-age labor force 16 to 24-years-old increases sharply as students enter the job market for summer work and as high school and college graduates take or look for regular jobs.

By July 1975, the labor force age 16 to 24 is expected to reach 25.3 million, about 550,000 greater than in July 1974. This projected increase assumes a continuation of recent trends in labor force participation rates. Students entering the labor force for summer work are projected to total about 2.7 million or 64 per cent of the expected total increase from April to July. The rest, 1.5 million, will be high school and college graduates entering the work force on a permanent basis. Excluded from the latter estimate are 760,000 students who were already in the work force in April (most of them employed part time) and who will be shifting to full-time labor market participation in July after they complete school.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

Did you know that your hair spray and perfume often attract flying insects? Use them sparingly on outings in warm weather.

Try using a paint brush to dust elaborately carved furniture and wrought-iron decorative pieces and railings.

Don't seek a deep suntan too rapidly. Recent research says there's a positive link between sunlight and skin cancer.

If you're planning to repair your roof or clean drain spouts, be sure your ladder extends at least two feet above the eaves line.

The Smells Are Gone

A newspaper feature writer, John Parris, lamented some time ago the passing of the smells of yesterday, pointing out that today's modern house, modern foods and modern cooking methods have all but killed out the familiar smells of yesterday.

Parris says in the old days everyone knew what mother or grandmother was cooking in the kitchen, and enjoyed it—especially a breakfast of country sausage, coffee, eggs and fresh-baked bread. Nowadays the fans take out the smell, nothing much is fresh-baked and much of our food comes frozen and practically odorless.

The country store was also a wonderful world of smells a few years back, as was the outdoors without all today's chemicals.

But the smell of nature, the old days in home and store, and on land, are being eliminated by modern progress, chemicals, building and the flight from rural areas. And those who can remember miss what has been lost, the good part at least.

Dear Debbie

Letters to DEBORAH WHITE

DEAR DEBBIE:

What do you do about people who constantly drop over without warning? I'm a bachelor who really enjoys his privacy. I have to work all day long for a living, just like everybody else, but when I get home my time is my own. My job calls upon me to assuage people all day long. Compromise and appeasement are the bywords of my workworld. I don't want to have to do it on weekends and evenings too. I just moved into a new apartment, and there has hardly been one evening that neighbors haven't dropped in. Last night it was two airline hostesses. How do I get rid of these people? I like sitting alone and reading and doing personal chores or listening to FM radio. Am I being unreasonable?

detailed re-run of his stay in the hospital. But now it's been two months and all I hear every day is what this guy went through. I think I could perform the operation myself by now. Debbie, advise me please, before I wind up in the hospital myself.

FRANKIE

DEAR FRANKIE: Be a little understanding. Most people who repeat a familiar story do so simply because their lives are so shallow there is really very little else to talk about. For a while this operation has given your co-worker a place in the spotlight he has probably never had before in his life. If it keeps up, excuse yourself from the company and take your coffee break with someone else. If he continues, try to explain, in the most sensitive way you can, that you've really heard enough about hospitals.

PERSONAL TO ELLIE: Although I think it wiser not to publish your letter, I will put my response down in writing for your boyfriend, D.J. I think he is not only selfish, but I cannot understand why a girl who comes across as sweet and lovely as you do would have anything to do with so vile and vulgar a creature. It saddens me to even glorify him by acknowledging his existence.

If you have a problem, write to me in care of this newspaper. Personal replies aren't always possible, but I'll answer letters of widest interest in this column.

PUT UPON

Are you putting me on? From what I read, loneliness is a real problem in this country, and here you are complaining you aren't left alone enough. Granted, loneliness and being alone are two different things, but what bachelor in his right mind wants to get rid of two airline hostesses? Nevertheless, it's your privilege. What I'd do is simply explain that you had some plans and ask to be excused, but please, ask for a raincheck.

DEAR DEBBIE:

There's a guy in our office driving me up a wall. He came back to work after being out over a month for an operation he had to have. Okay, fine, so the first few days you get a complete

FARM NEWS

TAES Releases New Sorghum Stocks

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock this month announced the release of a large number of sorghum breeding stocks for research and development by private industry, reports Dr. George McBee, resident director of the Lubbock station.

The material consists of 120 converted lines from the sorghum conversion program headed by Dr. Darrell Rosenow and cooperators and 140 breeding stocks from the Frank Gaines-R. E. Karper sorghum breeding nursery located at Lubbock.

All the converted sorghum varieties come from the World Sorghum Collection which is made up of over 16,000 entries collected from throughout the world. The imported lines were placed in a special research effort referred to by scientists as the sorghum conversion program. It is conducted cooperatively by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Research Service at the Mayaguez Institute of Tropical Agriculture, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rico was selected for the crossing and backcrossing procedure, said McBee, because of the favorable short day length periods during the winter. Selection for early, short plants is done in Texas under long day conditions during the regular growing season.

The converted lines were developed through a backcross procedure in which tall, late-maturing tropical varieties were converted to early-maturing, combine height sorghums. They represent new sources of germplasm and are of height and maturity for easy use in the United States and other temperate zone areas of the world.

"These converted lines should be useful to sorghum breeders as germplasm sources containing desirable characteristics, and should contribute greatly to the development of superior sorghum lines and hybrids," McBee noted.

The materials possess superior sources of most desirable characteristics in sorghum, especially disease and insect resistance and grain quality, he added. In these lines there are outstanding sources of resistance to downy mildew, head smut, maize dwarf mosaic, anthracnose, fusarium head-blight, and several foliage diseases. Good sources of resistance to lodging and charcoal rot also exist in these lines.

Several lines with high levels of midge resistance are included in the 120 released converted lines.

The conversion program is carried out cooperatively among several TAES sorghum scientists located at Lubbock, Chillothe, College Station, and Corpus Christi.

The 140 Breeding stocks from the Gaines-Karper nursery were selected for release by Frank Gaines (former TAES—now retired) as the best and most representative material from the large breeding nursery started by the late R.E. Karper.

As a former sorghum breeder and vice-director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Karper was one of the pioneers in sorghum improvement throughout the world. The Gaines-Karper nursery contributed the parents of the first sorghum hybrids. A yellow-sperm selection from this nursery is now being used extensively as a pollinator parent of hybrids in Texas and throughout the world.

The 140 released lines represent material not previously released from this nursery. Most lines have yellow endosperm and are of kaffi, feterita, or hegarl type.

Other characteristics in these lines include waxy endosperm, stiff stalk, and big seed. These characteristics plus their yield potential and wide adaptation should make these lines useful to breeders in developing improved hybrids, McBee said.

Feed Grain Execs Make Final Plans

Officials of the U.S. Feed Grains Council, currently touring Eastern Europe, have finalized plans for a waste and grain usage project in Poland and a nutrition seminar in Austria, each designed to increase demand for U.S. feed grains.

Representing the council are chairman Elbert Harp of Abertnathy, Tex., president Darwin Stolte of Washington, D.C. and consultant John Baumgardner, animal science professor at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Specifications for the livestock production research project in Poland will be provided by the council, which will oversee its operation along with the Polish Ministry of Agriculture.

While touring other council facilities in Poland, the USFGC executives met with officials of Rolinex, the government trading company which is responsible for buying all the grain imported into Poland. Baumgardner was expected to spend several days in Poland, encouraging the use of feed grains such as grain sorghum in place of poor condition corn, which has been the subject of quality complaints recently.

Prior to leaving Poland, Harp and Stolte attended the U.S. Food Show in Warsaw. The program, sponsored by the U.S. attache, attracted more than 300 key Polish agricultural leaders to view and sample U.S. food products.

According to Harp, the food was semi-prepared or prepared, ready for serving, and included everything from a grapefruit to cereal.

During a stop in Vienna, the council officials finalized plans for a livestock nutrition seminar to be conducted there later this year. Agricultural leaders from throughout Eastern and Western European countries and Russia are expected to participate.

Harp is executive director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, which was instrumental in the formation of the U.S. Feed Grains Council, and the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, both headquartered in Lubbock.

The council is composed of commodity organizations and agribusiness groups working through the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Alternative Energy Sources Program Scheduled At WTSU

"Alternative Energy Sources for Rural Operations," a symposium to brief area farmers and ranchers on supplemental energy sources, will be held at West Texas State University June 26. The symposium opens at 9:30 a.m. in Room 101 of the WTSU Science Center.

Opening the sessions on wind, solar and bioconversion systems for rural operations will be John C. White, commissioner of agriculture for the State of Texas, speaking on "Energy Problems" at 10 a.m. "Essentially, the symposium is to give farmers and ranchers information on what the possibilities are for alternative energy sources so they can then hopefully develop them for their own needs," said Dr. Vaughn Nelson, head of the WTSU Department of Physics and symposium speaker.

"He believes the agricultural industry can benefit from this knowledge because "They are going to be hurting for energy in the future, and, as a matter of fact, already, are, with the natural gas shortage."

Following Commissioner White's speech will be a talk by Dr. W.A. LePorin of Texas A&M on "Energy Consumption, Conservation and Projected Needs of Texas Agriculture."

Dr. Earl Gilmore, who has worked with Nelson on a Panhandle wind energy potential study, will speak on "Wind Energy Potential," followed by Nelson who will discuss "Solar Energy Potential."

Gilmore will return to brief participants on "Energy Program of Energy Research and Development Agency for Agriculture" and "Wind Energy Systems." "Solar Energy: Its Utilization in a Feedlot-Feedmill" will be the topic of Dr. James E. Halligan of Texas Tech University.

After lunch, participants will return to hear Ron Neely of Windol discuss "Solar Energy Systems." Dr. Robert Baricau of WTSU on "Bioconversion Systems" and Nelson on "Energy Independence for Rural Operations."

Participants of the symposium will be encouraged to come with ideas, questions or suggestions on solar and wind energy and bioconversion for discussion sessions at the end of the meeting.

The talks will last from 10 to 20 minutes each. Registration begins at 9:30 a.m., with a registration fee of $6, which includes luncheon and a bibliography of sources and information on alternative energy sources.

Individuals interested in attending the symposium should send their $6 checks, payable to West Texas State University, to Dr. Vaughn Nelson, Department of Physics, Box 298, WT Station, Canyon, Texas 79016.

Horse Club Members Win Honors At Dimmitt

Members of the Deaf Smith County 4-H Horse Club walked away with numerous honors in the Castro County Open 4-H Horse Show held Saturday in Dimmitt.

Patty Johnson showed the first place registered gelding in the class for registered geldings 5 years and over and also took Grand Champion gelding honors with her animal.

Other honors copied by Miss Johnson included 5th in showmanship for 14 years and over and 4th in western pleasure.

Laura Thames displayed the second place registered mare in the class for mares five years and over, was 9th in western pleasure for contestants 9-13 years old, 6th in western horsemanship and 7th in reining.

Lee Washington exhibited the third place registered mare of five years age and over and was third in pole bending for contestants 9-13.

Kristin Stallings displayed the fifth place registered mare under five years, was 7th in western pleasure for 9-13 year olds, and was 11th in western horsemanship.

Kelli Robinson had the sixth place registered mare under five. Kelli Stalling exhibited the third place grade mare of five years and over, was 6th in the 9-13 showmanship division, 9th in western horsemanship and third in reining.

Jana Johnson took third place honors in the Pee Wee halter division for mares, and also finished in third in the Pee Wee showmanship and Pee Wee western pleasure divisions.

Capturing 6th place in the class for registered geldings 7 and over was Tammy Cassels. She also finished 9th in the 9-13 western horsemanship competition.

Phylecia Rowland exhibited the 4th place registered gelding under 5, was 4th in the 9-13 western pleasure competition and third in western horsemanship.

Taking sixth in the class for registered geldings under 5 was Sheri Whitaker, who was also 5th in the 9-13 showmanship division.

Brad Cunningham exhibited the 6th place grade gelding of five years or over.

Jill Johnson captured 7th place Pee Wee showmanship honors and placed 8th in Pee Wee western pleasure.

Allyn Rowland placed 10th in western pleasure for 14 years and over, Kevin Cassels was 8th in 9-13 reining and Jeanine Jobe took first place finishes in pole bending and barrel racing for 14 years and over.

Recommendations Made For Horses

With the vacation season at hand, many Texas families are making plans to compete in various horse shows and contests.

Health recommendations for horses become more important as owners make plans to travel to these activities, reminds Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Certain requirements are necessary to obtain a valid health certificate to move these animals, Armstrong adds.

The Texas Animal Health Commission requires that all equines entering or originating in Texas intended for exhibition purposes must be accompanied by an official health certificate.

All equines must be vaccinated for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE). The vaccination information of the official health certificate will include: (a) date of vaccination; and (b) complete identification of the animal.

Certain of the larger Texas shows--and others outside of Texas--are now requiring a negative Agar Gel Immuno Diffusion Test (AGID) for Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA) prior to entry in the show.

Prospective exhibitors should check with show authorities about specific health requirements.

Individuals who plan to ship equines out of Texas will find that many states now require proof of a negative AGID-EIA test by a federally-approved laboratory. This test can be done by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at College Station. However, blood samples should be submitted for test 10-14 days prior to the time the health certificate is required.

In addition to the state requirements of vaccination against VEE, veterinarians at Texas A&M University's Veterinary College recommend that all equines have up-to-date vaccinations against the following diseases: Tetanus; Eastern and Western Equine Encephalomyelitis and Rhinopneumonitis.

Local large animal veterinarians can provide information on any additional health recommendations for the protection of equines prior to transportation or shipment, Armstrong adds.

TechDean's List Includes Reinauer

Arthur Reinauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer of Westway, recently received a certificate from the College of Agriculture Science of Texas Technological University for attaining the Dean's Honor List.

The Dean's Honor List at Texas Tech is limited to those students who achieve a 3.0 grade point average, or better.

Reinauer is a senior at Texas Tech.

Little Known Fact
The cotton plant produces a greater quantity of food for humans and feed for livestock than it does fiber. For each pound of cotton fiber produced, the plant yields about 175 pounds of cottonseed.

14. CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS We want to try to express our love and appreciation to all of you for the many lovely things done for our Mother-Minnie Roberson. So many of you visited her in South Hills Manor, Dimmitt, and your visits brightened her last days. Then your cards, phone calls, food, flowers and visits made her homing easier for her family. Thanks so very much. Billie Roberson Imogene Pogue Molly Schofield and all our families.

CARD OF THANKS We deeply appreciate and gratefully acknowledge all the kind expressions of concern during my stay in the hospital. The flowers, food, cards, visits and telephone calls were deeply appreciated. Especially do we thank the doctors, nurses and entire hospital staff for their attention and services. Pinky & Irene Matthews

IN APPRECIATION The spring football game staged as a benefit game for us was so greatly appreciated. We want to thank the Hereford Coaching Staff and team, the Hereford Brand and KPAN radio for publicity, the "substitute" coaching staff, and those who donated in our behalf. The willingness of people to help us will be an experience we will never forget. Sincerely, James and Maureen Self

The Abundant Life Gloom Not Invincible By BOB WEAR

Gloom is always trying to move in to make our lives unhappy, discouraged and ineffective. It just seems to hover near ready to take over, if we open the door to our mind. It comes in the newscast, the newspaper headlines, from general conversations and is found lurking in our disappointments, setbacks and failures. Gloom is a reality, with which we must deal some way.

We must realize that gloom is a persistent adversary. It just never gives up, and we must not neglect our defenses for even a moment. Gloom is easier to resist successfully than it is to get rid of after it has been permitted to move in. Even though gloom is persistent, it is not invincible. Therefore, if it does invade our thoughts and feelings; it is helpful to know that we can rid ourselves of it.

We can keep our thoughts on the things that will help us to be strong against gloom. Since we do have the right to choose the objects of our thoughts, we have a very effective defense. When we think about "the things that are true, honorable, just, pure, lovely, of good report, virtuous, and worthy of praise"; we will more than hold our own against gloom. With the positive, constructive thinking; we must be active in doing positive and constructive things. Such thinking and action are sure protection against gloom.

Gloom is "partial or total darkness; lowness of spirits; dejection; and atmosphere of despondency". All of us probably have some of this feeling, now and then, but, when we have properly prepared ourselves; we will be able to throw it off, without serious damage being done. It is helpful to keep remembering that we can do this. One of the biggest mistakes we can make is to assume the attitude that there is nothing we can do. We do have great determining power, and there is no good reason for giving in to gloom. "The spirit of melancholy (gloom) would often take its

Galley On Honor Roll

Frank Paul Galley, a sophomore at Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla., has been named to the President's Honor Roll for the spring semester, according to Dr. Carl H. Hamilton, Executive Vice-President for Academic Affairs. To attain this academic honor a student must earn a grade-point average of 4.0 on 14.5 semester credit hours.

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Galley, and a 1974 graduate of Hereford High School.

Oral Roberts University is a fully accredited liberal arts institution—recognized as having one of the fastest-rising academic programs in the nation. Degrees in 29 major fields are offered on the undergraduate level, with Master's degrees in business administration and theology on the graduate level.

Bean Bridges stars in "The Landlord"

A rich kid with more dollars than sense buys a ghetto building which he plans to convert into his own pleasure dome until the neighborhood residents remind him of a few firm facts on the city's mean streets in "The Landlord," the television premiere of a modern comedy of changing times, on the ABC Television Network's "The ABC Saturday Night Movie," June 14 (8:00-10:30 p.m.).

Bean Bridges stars as the well-heeled but over-privileged young man who learns that his search for personal expression is more laughable than feasible when he tries to evict the building's tenants, played by Pearl Bailey, Diana Sands and Louis Gossett. Lee Grant is starred as the boy's socially prominent and prominently scatterbrained mother.

Chaos follows the culture clash, leading all involved to a greater understanding of both sides of the dividing line between pride and privilege.

Bill Gunn wrote the screenplay, based on a novel by Kristin Hunter. The Mirisch Production Company presented the Norman Jewison-Hal Ashby Production, produced by Jewison and directed by Ashby (entirely in New York and its suburbs). Al Kooper wrote the music for the United Artists release.

"Kung Fu"

A former Shaolin master turns outlaw and Caline sets out to stop him before there are tragic consequences in "The Garments of Rage," on the ABC Television Network's "Kung Fu," Saturday, June 14 (7:00-8:00 p.m.).

Master Kwan Li, outraged because of his nephew's accidental death, wages war against the railroad, which he holds accountable for the youth's untimely end. But Caline, steeped in the tradition that violence is not the way of the Shaolin, steps in and attempts to stop Master Kwan Li before someone dies.

David Carradine stars as Caline. James Shigeta guest stars as Master Kwan Li and special guest star James Olson appears as Damion. Co-starring are Harrison Page as Pete and James Hong as Han Tsung. Mark Daniels directed the teleplay by Theodore Appleby, Ed Walters and Herman Miller were participating writers.

"Cher"

Cher is joined by guest stars The Pointer Sisters, comedienne Teri Garr, and special guest star Freddie Frixos of "Chico and the Man," on a rerroadcast of "Cher," Sunday, June 14 (6:30-7:30 p.m.), on the CBS Television Network.

Cher opens with a solo of "When You're Smiling," then sings "How Long Has This Been Going On?" She joins Princes for "Singing, Dancing, Clowning Around," and teams with The Pointer Sisters to sing "Girls Are Smarter."

In comedy sketches, Princes drives the long-suffering wife (Cher) up the wall with his compulsive lying, and becomes the latest victim of the unympathetic lady in the complaint department (Cher) when he tries to return an electric blanket.

Cher returns with her story of another Saturday night out, this time with "the girls," and Mable the Fabre Lady (Cher) gives a new view of Cinderella (Miss Garr) the day after the party, when the Prince (Princes) shows up with that glass slipper. Lavette (Cher) celebrates her husband Harry's birthday with her old friend from the bandstand, Olivia (Miss Garr).
