Farm bill negotiations to begin soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has endorsed a $28.1 billion farm and food bill for the coming year and now goes to work to iron out its differences with a less expensive House version.

Approved Wednesday on a 81-14 vote, the bill provides money for the 1986 fiscal year for farm subsidies, agricultural research and extension, conservation programs, food stamps and other nutrition programs, rural development funds and various Agriculture Department functions.

It also contains money to run the Food and Drug Administration and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

The Senate spending figure, while it appears to be far below the $36.4 billion approved earlier by the House, leaves out an estimated $9.4 billion that will be needed to maintain the Commodity Credit Corporation, the government entity which pays farm subsidies.

Instead of specifying an amount for the CCC, the Senate bill gives open-ended spending authority in an effort to prevent a recurrence of last July's funding crisis. At that time, the CCC ran out of money and had to suspend operations temporarily because supplemental funds could not be approved in time.

Anticipated bumper grain crops this year are likely to cause heavy loan forfeitures to the corporation, and that, coupled with other factors, makes it difficult to set a specific spending figure, the Appropriations Committee said in justifying the unusual "indefinite" spending.

Actual fiscal 1986 spending, if the CCC estimate were included, would be $37.4 billion.

"I am convinced that the bill represents fiscal restraint on the one hand, and will provide needed assistance for distressed farmers and for food assistance on the other," said Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., chairman of the Appropriations agriculture subcommittee.

The spending levels "will permit (farmers) to work their way out of their current economic difficulty," Cochran said.

Overall spending in the bill is $185 million below last year's figure, Cochran said, adding that it contained a particularly painful 40 percent cut in rural housing money for the Farmers Home Administration.

The Senate rejected two attempts to cut the bill's spending levels. One, by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., would have cut 4 percent from the measure across the board, a reduction of about $1.1 billion. That attempt lost on a 65-29 vote.

Mid East talks may resume

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres is exploring with President Reagan and other U.S. officials prospects for opening peace talks on the Middle East, where violence is on the rise.

The Israeli leader, describing himself as "a friend who comes to visit friends," said he would survey opportunities for peace talks in his meetings here with Reagan, Secretary of State George P. Shultz, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and members of Congress.

But U.S. officials acknowledged hopes had been dimmed by the seizure of the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro by Palestinian gunmen last week, apparently in a plot for an attack in the Israeli city of Ashdod.

Peres said on the top of his agenda for the three-day visit starting today was finding "ways and means to remove the threat of terrorism from innocent people and from the momentum" to the bargaining table.

"I pray wholeheartedly that we shall find the opening needed to secure a better future for all of us," Peres said on his arrival Wednesday.

Prosecutors pinpoint hostage killer

By The Associated Press

Israel's military intelligence chief and an Italian prosecutor both say they know who killed an American passenger on a hijacked Italian cruise ship. Neither identified the killer, but the Israeli said it was the youngest of four Palestinian pirates.

In Rome, politicians predicted that Socialist Premier Bettino Craxi would announce the resignation of his coalition government today. Defense Minister Giovanni Spadolini and two other Cabinet members from the Republican Party withdrew Wednesday to protest Italy's decision to release a Palestinian accused by the United States of planning the hijacking.

Prosecutors in Genoa also said

Wednesday that all seven Palestinians detained in connection with the hijacking of the cruise ship Achille Lauro had been charged with murder and kidnapping in connection with the death of 69-year-old Leon Klinghoffer.

The seven include the four hijackers, two unidentified fugitives and a Palestinian arrested in Genoa before the cruise began Oct. 3.

Klinghoffer's badly decomposed body was identified in Damascus, Syria, on Wednesday and flown to Rome for an autopsy. Officials said the body had two bullet wounds.

Maj. Gen. Ehud Barak, chief of Israeli military intelligence, said Klinghoffer "was chosen by the Jewish sound of his name and dragged

Seven held for incident

against his will to the edge of the ship's deck. The youngest of the terrorists shot him in the head once or twice."

He said Israel's information about the death was "determined conclusively by the evidence taken from the people on the ship." He did not identify by name the hijacker who allegedly shot the partially paralyzed Klinghoffer.

Barak said a Portuguese cleaning worker and the ship's hairdresser were forced at gunpoint to push Klinghoffer's body over the side of the Achille Lauro, and then to "clean the blood stains off the ship."

Prosecutor Dolcino Favi told a news conference in Genoa early today after the Achille Lauro returned to its home port: "We have reconstructed the killing of the American in all the details."

He said prosecutors were certain who shot Klinghoffer, why he was killed, and who threw the body overboard. However, he declined to provide details.

Authorities have said the hijackers were traveling on false documents, and have not identified them. But criminal complaint filed against them in the United States identify them as Hallah Abdalla Al-Asan, Maged Youssef Al-Malaki, Hammad Al-Abdulla, and Abdel Atif Ibrahim Fatayer.

Italian news agencies have said that a hijacker they identified as Hallah Abdullah Alhsan is 19 years old, and that the three other hijackers range in age from 20 to 23.

Judicial sources have said the four deny killing Klinghoffer.

Barak also played a tape recording on Israel television of a conversation in Arabic that he said was conducted Oct. 9 between PLO official Mohammed Abbas and the four hijackers, the same day they surrendered.

The United States accuses Abbas of masterminding the hijacking and Barak said the ship-to-shore conversation proved Abbas knew of the pirate's plans in advance.

In an interview broadcast in Rome on Tuesday, Abbas denied he masterminded the hijacking, saying: "I was only responsible for the mediation and freeing the ship."

PLO chief Yasser Arafat appointed Abbas to negotiate the hijackers' surrender and the release of the ship and the more than 500 people aboard, and he was at Egypt's Port Said ship-to-shore radio station when the conversation took place.

Pioneer farmer, rancher dies at residence

Colby C. Conkwright, 79, pioneer Deaf Smith County farmer and rancher, died at his home Wednesday morning after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday in First United Methodist Church with Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor, and the Rev. Bruce Kochsmier, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gililand-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Conkwright moved to Deaf Smith County from Winchester, Ky., in 1926 to work on a ranch in the northeast part of the county. He married a Hereford teacher, the former Dorothy Flanery, in 1934 and they established their first home north of the Progressive Community.

Mr. Conkwright bought a ranch and more farmland north of Hereford and after starting a commercial cow herd, he then developed a registered Hereford herd. He was an officer in the Texas Hereford Association and president of the Panhandle Livestock Association.

Mr. Conkwright was a former president of Consumer Fuel Co-Op, a hospital board member, a director of Hereford State Bank, a chamber of commerce director, county ag committee member, a Boy Scout committeeman, a charter member of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, and a longtime supporter of the stock show. He had served on the board of stewards at the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy; one son, Jim Conkwright of Hereford, and two granddaughters.

An unusual amount of rainfall in recent weeks has put a damper on harvest operations. Some farmers tried to harvest corn and milo the past couple of days, but it was too wet for most sugar beet growers to get into the fields.

"I just don't feel right complaining about too much rain," said one Deaf Smith farmer, "but we really need some dry weather!" We overheard another farmer say that most farmers are suffering from AIDS...Agricultural Income Deficiency Syndrome.

The nuclear waste that could wind up in Deaf Smith County might be thought of as buried treasure in the future, according to some nuclear waste experts.

Dr. Paul Robinson, principal associate director of the Los Alamos National Laboratory, says "some people call it waste because we don't use it, but it's very valuable stuff." He says the Panhandle might try to claim title to the radioactive wastes "because today's nuclear garbage will be tomorrow's nuclear fuel."

Dr. Linn Draper, senior vice president of external affairs for Gulf States Utility Co. in Beaumont, has also been quoted as saying, "It is certainly plausible that at some future time when the radiation levels have died away to a great extent, a nuclear waste repository might be an attractive place to go after these chemicals, if they are needed."

Should the United States be cut off from inexpensive supplies of the heavy metals, radioactive waste would be the next place to get them, he added. Draper said most of the heavy metals entrapped in radioac-

Man says he swallowed stolen diamond

EULESS, Texas (AP) — Police have turned to brain cereal after potent laxatives failed in an attempt to recover a $10,000 diamond that a 45-year-old Dallas man says he swallowed after taking from a jewelry store, officers say.

"We're still in a wait-and-see pattern," Eules Police Capt. Tommy Free said late Wednesday. "Assuming he's telling the truth, we are still continuing our investigation."

Free said the man was given a potent laxative after his arrest Tuesday and that theft charges would be filed against him if and when the 3-carat diamond surfaced.

The laxative did not produce the results sought and officers used bran cereal Wednesday, Free said.

"We're just watching and waiting. The diamond has not surfaced yet, and we're not sure when it will," Free said. "We've got somebody with him around the clock, though."

Austin woman accused of cable TV theft

AUSTIN (AP) — An Austin woman has been charged with stealing cable television programming in a crackdown by the city's cable company against an estimated 40,000 cable pirates reportedly operating the city, police say.

The woman was being held in lieu of $500 bond after she was arrested on a charge of illegally intercepting subscription television transmissions from Austin Cablevision.

The charge filed against the woman is a Class B misdemeanor with a maximum punishment of a $1,000 fine and up to six months in jail.

Officials of Austin Cablevision have estimated as many as 40,000 people in the city are receiving some sort of cable programming without paying for it.

An affidavit filed in Municipal Court alleges that the cable company discovered Sept. 3 that an unauthorized cable connection had been set up at her apartment. The connection was severed and the woman was notified, the records show.

Jail men accused of 'improprieties'

HOUSTON (AP) — An investigation indicates "a certain amount of validity" to allegations that a former Harris County jail inmate exposed to the AIDS virus had sexual relations with several guards and deputies, Sheriff Johnny Klevenhagen says.

One deputy who refused to cooperate in the investigation resigned Wednesday, Klevenhagen said. At least two other deputies are under investigation, Klevenhagen said, but the inquiry is far from complete.

"The more they (deputies) keep talking, the bigger it's getting," the sheriff said.

He refused to identify the deputies or the former inmate, all male, involved in the investigation.

Jail officials said blood tests indicate the former inmate has been exposed to a virus that causes AIDS, which destroys the body's immune system, leaving it helpless against disease and infection. People exposed to the AIDS virus do not always develop the deadly syndrome.

McDonalds buys high school mascot

BAKER, La. (AP) — Buffy, the 1,500-pound buffalo mascot of Baker High School, has been purchased by McDonalds restaurants, but the big bison won't be turned into McBuffaloes.

McDonalds' Baton Rouge franchises have agreed to buy Buffy and donate him to the school, which was worried for its mascot's future after owner Ken Ryder put him on the auction block three months ago because he couldn't afford Buffy's keep.

"Of course it's good publicity," said Mike Brice, office manager for the 19 area restaurants. "We're putting our logos on the trailer."

Ryder was asking $4,500 for Buffy and the black and red trailer in which he was displayed at the high school's athletic contests the past three years.

Jobless workers given priority in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two thousand family breadwinners left homeless and jobless by September's earthquakes will begin training today for new jobs, while others will be put to work rebuilding Mexico City, an emergency employment commission announced.

An additional 3,000 workers will be notified this week of vacancies in civil service jobs around the country, under a 6-point employment program published Wednesday in the government newspaper El Nacional.

Meanwhile, the head of the 4-million-member Confederation of Mexican Workers said the rank and file would donate two days' salary a year for as long as necessary to repair damage in the capital.

Union chief Fidel Velazquez also called on the federal government, with which his organization is closely affiliated, to reduce the legal work week to 40 hours from the current 48 hours over six days. The shorter work week would spread employment more Mexicans, he said.

An unknown number of jobs was lost when powerful earthquakes struck the city Sept. 19 and 20, toppling homes, hotels, office buildings and factories. The government said 4,600 people died but has not revised that figure since Sept. 26, and other sources put the toll at over 8,000.

The government's new Employment Coordinating Committee told President Miguel de la Madrid it would determine by mid-November the number of jobs that disappeared in the quakes.

Victim to use computer voice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When Lee Kweller declares "today I am a man" at his bar mitzvah next month, the cerebral palsy victim will use a computer's voice to recite in English and Hebrew for the Jewish rite of passage.

"Other boys with cerebral palsy had two choices," said the system's designer, John Eulenberg. "Either they don't have a bar mitzvah, or they do it in some way that is not traditional."

The device is the first portable computer programmed to speak Hebrew and chant in the traditional Jewish manner, Eulenberg, head of Michigan State University's Artificial Language Laboratory, said Wednesday.

"This will allow him to sing and carry out the tradition of chanting which he feels is important and which the Jewish tradition says is important."

Kweller, who usually communicates in sign language, chose what sounds like a 13-year-old voice from several Eulenberg programmed. The computer is told what to say through a typewriter-like keyboard.

Vega to observe Diamond Anniversary

Immaculate Conception Parish of Vega will observe its Diamond Anniversary on Sunday with a special Mass to be celebrated at 4 p.m. followed by a blessing of the classroom addition to the parish hall, a dinner and family dance.

Special honorees will be Joe, Glen, and Spinhirne and Leona Groneman who are lifelong members of the parish and descendants of two pioneer families of the founding congregation.

The parish dream began with a Mass celebrated in a home in 1904. When the Vega townsite was formed in 1907, land was set aside for a Protestant and a Catholic Church.

In 1910 Fr. H. Dunn of the Amarillo missions, who had traveled by train from Amarillo for six years to celebrate Mass, collected $1,000 from the Commercial Club of Vega to start the church building. With donations from the Catholic Church Extension Society and the Poole Land Company the church was begun. It was completed and housed its first Mass on Oct. 20, 1910, when the indoor temperature was 32 degrees. Fr. C.J. Bier was the priest for the seven persons attending.

A severe draught in 1912 caused many of the settlers to move. However, the church survived for the next 40 years as a mission of Amarillo's Sacred Heart Church. The building was moved to east of the Oldham County Courthouse in 1927.

The second church was built during the administration of Fr. Jerome Hancox at a cost of $12,500. It was dedicated May 30, 1949. Soon after, a rectory was built on land donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hons and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Spinhirne.

Immaculate Conception was established as an independent parish on Feb. 4, 1950, with Fr. Hancox as the first resident pastor.

In 1964, with the growth of the parish, a new parish hall was built containing classrooms and a facility for church social functions. Fr. Kevin Hand was the pastor then.

Under the direction of Fr. Peter DiBenedetto in 1979, the church interior was renovated. During the summer of 1985, five classrooms were added.

Priests who have served the Vega Parish have been Frs. F.W. Hickey, W. Bender, Bart O'Brien, J.R. Allard, C.B. Boutich, F.M. Kaminsky, R.H. Kramer, H.J. Hofer, Tom O'Brien, James Daley, Gabriel

Diamante, J.A. Zienta, J.J. Neff, W.J. Riechel, M.F. Schafle, Walter Washila, Andrew Marthaler, A.M. Bottoms, M.J. Matthiesen, Hancox, Bernard Binversie, Andrew Quante, Norbert Wagner, Hand, Clifton Corcoran, Wilfred Bosen, DiBenedetto, Bill Brashears, and Phil Lindley.

Today's parish has a membership of 85 families.

Celebrating Anniversary

The blessing of classroom additions at Immaculate Conception Parish of Vega will be part of its seventy-fifth anniversary celebration set for Sunday. Following a 4 p.m. Mass is a dinner and family dance. Frs. Peter DiBenedetto and Phil Lindley are parish pastors.

No-pass rule sidelines players

AUSTIN (AP) — Used for the first time during football season, the no-pass, no-play rule has sidelined about 15 percent of high school varsity football players, with losses running heavier in junior varsity and freshman ranks, coaches say.

Some junior varsity schedules face cancellation and schools reported losing marching band members, prompting one official to say Wednesday, "There's not going to be much to rally around at those places."

The no-pass, no-play rule — a critical element of public school reforms enacted by the Legislature last year — prohibits students from participating in extracurricular activities if failing any course.

Grades for the first six-week period came out this week, and the rule takes effect Friday. Those who failed can't play again for at least six weeks.

"It doesn't look very good," said Eddie Joseph of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

"Statewide, somewhere in the neighborhood of 15 percent of varsity athletes are going to become ineligible after this Thursday. For the sub-varsity, the percentage is close to 35-to-50 percent in places," Joseph said.

He said the association has no reports yet of schools being forced to quit football, although some of the smallest teams will be cut to just 14 players.

"A lot of junior varsity schedules are going to have cancellations. And I've heard of some bands that are not going to be able to participate," he said.

Joseph said officials anticipated the higher failure rate among younger players.

Besides the traditionally tough time they have adjusting to high school, he said, younger players who didn't make the varsity may not have received special tutoring and weekly grade monitoring coaches provided for the top squads.

"The thing that bothers us is that if you lose these younger kids right now, you've got a great chance to lose them for good. They may just drop out if they can't have the opportunity to play," he said.

Across the state, coaches assessed the results of the no-pass, no-play enforcement.

At Beaumont, West Brook High School lost four varsity players and 78 in the lower classes. "More than 25 percent of our band members failed," added Coach Leo Nolan. "It's been a rough day over here."

The Austin Independent School District indicated about 15 percent of varsity players, 25 percent of the junior varsity and up to 35 percent of freshmen failed.

Austin High Coach Gary Tuberville said 11 of 42 varsity players are ineligible, including five starters.

That 26 percent casualty rate was the district's highest. The school also will lose 23 of 37 freshmen players, he said.

Dallas Thomas Jefferson High School, which upset Dallas Carter on Saturday, lost nine varsity players including its starting quarterback. The team had playoff hopes, but it now must make the third playoff round before the nine could become eligible again.

"They're crushed to have something like this happen after we were so up after beating Carter. They were damn near crying," said Jefferson Coach Allen Stumbo.

Seagoville High had to cancel its junior varsity season after losing 12 of 19 players. Dallas Hillcrest did the same after losing all but four from a squad of 30.

Greenville High lost nine varsity players, and Coach Gary Callaway said he may be forced to cancel the JV program so he can promote those players to the varsity.

FARM

Another, by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., would have eliminated $1.8 billion in spending for farm and rural credit and food stamps. Helms claimed the bill was over budget by that amount, but he lost, 68-27.

As it worked on the bill, the Senate adopted an amendment requiring the FDA to complete by June 1, 1986, a study on the safety of sulfites as food additives.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who proposed the amendment, said the chemicals have been linked to 21 deaths in people who are hypersensitive to it, and another 1 million Americans are at risk.

Among major items in the spending measure were $12.7 billion for food stamps, $4.1 billion for child nutrition programs, $1.5 billion for the Women, Infants and Children feeding program, $1.2 billion for agricultural research and extension, $314 million for animal and plant health and inspection services, $4.7 billion for farm lending through FmHA, $612 million for FmHA water and sewer and industrial development loans, $621 million for the Soil Conservation Service and $1.3 billion for the Food for Peace program.

Also included were $421 million for the FDA and $30 million for the CFTC, which regulates commodity futures trading.

Seminar concerning AIDS scheduled Oct. 24 at WTSU

The continuing education program of West Texas State University's School of Nursing will present a seminar on "AIDS: Myths and Realities;" from 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24 in Canyon. The seminar will be held in Room 101 in the science center on the WTSU campus. Further information may be obtained by contacting Ted Beckett (806)656-2441. The seminar is structured to serve a diverse audience—public health officials, educators, nurses, medical personnel, high risk individuals who want to avoid contracting the disease, or anyone who just happens to be interested in knowing more about AIDS. Karen Gregory (RN, MSN, ANP) will conduct these seminars. Gregory is a member of the nursing faculty at WTSU. She is also director of inservice education and infection control at Coronado Community Hospital in Pampa.

Mary Warren best loser

Mary Ann Warren was announced as best loser of the week and Vicki Jones runner-up when members of TOPS Chapter 576 met Tuesday morning at the Community Center.

Roberta Blackburn was in charge of the program during which members discussed various topics. A turkey game was planned for November.

Supper scheduled Friday

The public is reminded of a Mexican stack supper to be held from 5-8 p.m. Friday at Hereford High School cafeteria. The event is being sponsored by the Pilot Club of Hereford. All proceeds from the supper will be used for the Hereford community. Tickets are priced at $4 in advance, $4.50 at the door and $3 for children. Cobbler will be served with the meal.

Adoption precautions could prevent pain

Newspaper advertisements requesting infants for adoption can be legal, but couples should be careful when taking this route to adopt a child.

Texas Tech University Law Professor Charles P. Bubany said that under Texas law the adopting parents can pay reasonable medical expenses for the mother and child, but cannot pay any amount over those costs. "If the couple pays more than the medical expenses they are getting into the illegal area of buying a child," Bubany said. The law is not meant to stop private adoptions through friends, family, clergy or even newspaper advertising, he said. It is meant to stop the black market selling of children. Bubany said the newspapers advertisements apparently are being placed by people who are unwilling to wait for an agency to find them a baby.

"It is my understanding that there is a pool of children to adopt, but the type of child that people typically want to adopt is in short supply," he said.

Bubany said people who advertise in the newspaper could be opening themselves up for a great deal of pain and possible loss of money.

"If people are advertising in the newspaper, they obviously want to adopt a child. That's an emotional time anyway and people are vulnerable," Bubany said. "There are those who will approach the advertisers saying they have access to a child, for a certain price. Those con artists then take off leaving the prospective parents hurt and out a lot of money."

Bubany said that once the adoption is granted, the natural mother will not be able to challenge the adoption. "If the proper procedures are followed, a paper relinquishing parental rights will have been executed," Bubany said. "As a matter of fact, the Texas Family Code states that an adoption cannot be challenged at all after two years have passed from the time the decree is final."

Bubany said the best advice he can offer is to always make sure who you are dealing with and have an attorney draw up the proper papers to make the adoption legal.

"People should not be afraid of the adoption process, it really isn't that difficult or time consuming," Bubany said. "The fees you may pay an attorney to make sure the adoption is legal now can save lots of money and heartache later."

FLU MAY BE FIBROSITIS

ATLANTA (AP) — Almost everyone experiences "flu-like" aches and pains from time to time. But if pain, stiffness and fatigue become constant, it could mean you have fibrositis, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

The main symptoms of this arthritis-related disease are aching and stiffness around the muscles, tendons and ligaments. Fibrositis is self-limited, which means that sooner or later the symptoms can go away by themselves. However, it is impossible to predict whether the symptoms will last for weeks, months or even years.

Steiert speaks to Veleda Study Club

Suzanne Stevens introduced guest speaker Jim Steiert when members of Veleda Study Club met Monday evening in the home of Ruth Fish. The program concerned "Call of the Wild." Steiert, an editor for Texas-Farmer Stockman Magazine and a free-lance outdoor writer published in several outdoor magazines, is co-founder of the Texas Waterfowlers Association. This association is a group of sportsmen working to conserve the water fowl resources.

Steiert, who is also a professional hunting guide specializing in pheasant, duck and geese hunts, told the group he is an 'ingrained hunter' having heard hunting stories from his father and uncles at a young age. He was quoted, "It's not the actual killing, but being out there knowing the bird and learning what you are doing, why and how that is important." He also stressed the importance of using the birds killed and gave a recipe for grilled duck breast. This area, he said, abounds in wildlife. In Palo Duro Canyon there is mule deer, aoudad sheep and turkey, not to mention quail and pheasant in this immediate area. Bald eagles, along with an abundance of geese, are seen at Buffalo Lake.

Steiert went on to explain that the area's natural resources are under pressure. Complex management is needed to keep the balance of nature for the continuing pleasure of having wildlife in Texas.

During the business session with President Marcella Brady presiding, minutes were read and approved and an announcement was made of the club's next meeting slated Oct. 28 in the home of Norma Walden. Frances Crume will present the program.

Members present answered roll call with "a memorable wildlife experience." They included Margaret Zinser, Patricia Weldon, Walden, Stevens, Norma Martin, Donna Lindeman, Sylvia Khuri, Fish, Crume, Juanita Brown and Brady.

Defeat Toronto 6-2 Wednesday

Royals advance to World Series

By HARRY ATKINS
AP Sports Writer

TORONTO (AP) — George Brett likes the role of underdog. He and his Kansas City teammates wear it like a comfortable old sweater — they can push up their sleeves and do a lot of work in it.

The Royals, claiming they were the underdog from the very beginning, climaxed a stirring comeback Wednesday night when they defeated the Toronto Blue Jays for the third successive time, 6-2, in the seventh and deciding game of the American League playoffs.

The Royals open the World Series in their own park Saturday night against the St. Louis Cardinals and, again, they're picked to lose.

"We had nothing to lose," Brett said, noting that Kansas City was down 3-1 after four games against the Blue Jays. "We were loose. When we won that third game we came back relaxed (Sunday), and even though we lost, I said the pressure was on Toronto. I don't know why I said it, but I think I was right, the pressure was on them."

As a result, the Royals — who won the AL West with a 91-71 record — never felt any pressure to win.

"No one expected us to win, just like during the year," Brett said.

It marked only the fifth time in major-league history that a team has bounced back to win after losing three of the first four games in a best-of-seven series. The other instances have all been in World Series play since the playoffs were a best-of-five affair until this year.

"Toronto didn't choke," Brett said, tempering remarks he made over the weekend. "They didn't give anything away. We won."

The fact is, however, that the Blue Jays, who won the AL East with a 99-62 record, had been struggling for two weeks. They lost five of their last six regular-season games — winning only the division-clincher against the New York Yankees — and lost four of the last five playoff games.

"It's over with," Toronto third baseman Rance Mulliniks said. "We can't change anything. This is a young ballclub and I'm sure someday soon there will be a World Series here."

"They won it. They executed and their pitching was great the last four games. We didn't give anything away. They earned it."

The loss was a bitter pill for flag-waving Toronto fans, for whom the playoffs were a morality play. Canadian media had made the Blue Jays' efforts to bring the World Series north of the border for the first time a struggle between good and evil as well as between "us and them."

Despite such loyalty, however, only 32,084 showed up at Exhibition Stadium for the final game, and none of the four games in Toronto came even close to a sellout.

Royals right fielder Pat Sheridan and catcher Jim Sundberg were the surprise hitting heroes in the final game. Sheridan belted his second homer of the series and Sundberg tripled off the top of the right-field fence to drive in three runs.

Almost unnoticed in the offensive fireworks was the splendid 5-1-3 innings of relief by Royals left-hander Charlie Leibrandt, who got credit for the victory.

The Royals took a 1-0 lead in the second. Sheridan reached on a one-out bunt single past Toronto starter and loser Dave Stieb, went to second on Steve Balboni's groundout and scored on a looping single to right by Sundberg.

With two outs in the fourth, Sheridan belted the first pitch from Stieb over the right-field wall, giving the Royals a 2-0 lead.

Leibrandt, the loser in both Game 1 and Game 4, took over for Kansas City to start the Toronto fourth because starter Bret Saberhagen had a bruise on the palm of his right hand at the base of the thumb.

The Blue Jays broke through for a run in the fifth. Damaso Garcia stroked a leadoff single, went to second on Lloyd Moseby's grounder and scored on Willie Upshaw's double into the right-field corner.

Kansas City broke it open with four runs in the sixth. With one out, Brett walked on four pitches and Hal McRae was hit by a pitch. Sheridan hit a checked-swing grounder into the hole, but shortstop Tony Fernandez made a splendid backhand stop and flipped to Iorg, forcing Brett at third. Balboni then walked on a full-count pitch to load the bases for Sundberg, who followed with his triple off the top of the fence in right.

Bufs ranked 2nd in I-AA passing

WTSU plays at Illinois State

The second ranked passing team in NCAA Division I-AA, the West Texas State University Buffaloes, will aim to stay undefeated in the Missouri Valley Conference when they battle Illinois State in a road game Saturday.

WTSU is 4-2 for the season, and Illinois State is 3-2-1. Illinois State played its first conference game last Saturday, losing 21-14 to Eastern Illinois.

The Buffaloes and the Illinois State Redbirds have played only one time before, in 1983 when the teams fought to a 24-24 tie at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon.

Illinois State's victories this season have been 18-6 over Western Illinois, 17-2 over Wayne State of Michigan, and 48-21 over Central Florida. The other loss for the Redbirds was 21-0 to Southern Illinois.

Illinois State tied Southwest Missouri State 17-17 the second week of the season.

WTSU quarterback Tod Mayfield is second in NCAA Division II total offense with an average of 313.7 yards per game. He is first in completions with 176, first in passing yards, 1,966, third in passing efficiency with 127.4 rating points, and tied for fifth in touchdown passes with 13.

Stan Carraway is third in catches with 46, third in reception yardage with 698 yards, sixth in catches per game, 7.7, and 15th in yards per catch, 15.2.

The Buffaloes are second in team passing offense with 327.7 yards per game, and 12th in total offense with 424.8 yards per game.

About WTSU's 33-21 victory over Wichita State last weekend, Coach Bill Kelly said, "I think this is a great way to finish our home schedule and wrap up homecoming. Hopefully, the victory will give us momentum going into the toughest part of our Missouri Valley schedule."

"We had a quick start and went ahead 20-0 in the first quarter. Sometimes that hurts you, just like it may have hurt Texas A&I," Kelly said, referring to how Texas A&I led WTSU 7-0 on the first play of the game, but lost 37-17 to the Buffaloes on Sept. 28.

"There's a tendency to back off. We made some mistakes offensively. We could have beaten Wichita State worse. Wichita State played hard and made a game of it. The pleasing thing was that we had two very nice drives of 88 and 70 yards after they came back to make it close," Kelly continues.

"It takes a good offensive team to do that. Our defense and special teams did a good job. We missed our usual extra point, but I think we're continuing to improve in that area. We're coming along fairly well," he adds.

Concerning this week's encounter with Illinois State, Kelly said, "I don't know much about them, but I know they're a pretty good football team. We've seen Eastern, which defeated Illinois State, and they're a good team. They'll be fired up. They're just getting into the Valley part of their schedule. They have a winning record and it's their homecoming Saturday."

Illinois State outgained Eastern Illinois in the 21-14 loss last Saturday, 381 yards to 255 yards. Redbird quarterback Steve Stull completed 19 of 32 passes for 240 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions.

The leading ball carrier for Illinois State is Stephon Wilson with 594 yards in 105 carries for an average of 5.7 yards per carry.

ISU is averaging 323 yards per game while allowing 306 yards by its opponents.

Wayne High of Hereford is the third leading ball carrier for WTSU this season, with 112 yards in 28 carries. High is also the Buffaloes' second leading pass receiver with 26 receptions for 197 yards.

High has scored one touchdown rushing and has caught one touchdown pass.

Tech hosts Rice in SWC game Saturday

The Texas Tech Red Raiders, who fell to Arkansas 30-7 last week, play at Southwest Conference game at home again this Saturday when they host the Rice Owls.

Rice is coming off its second win of the season, a 34-27 victory over Texas Christian. Texas Tech is 3-3 for the season, including an 0-3 conference record, and Rice is 2-3 for the year and 1-1 in the conference.

New session of fitness classes to start at YMCA

A set of YMCA fitness classes will start on Oct. 21 and continue through Nov. 29.

The classes with the six-week sessions are early bird fitness, stretch and flexibility, start out fitness, and fitness plus.

At least 12 people are needed for a class to be held, and an enrollment limit of 20 is set for all classes.

The schedule for the classes is as follows: early bird fitness, 6:15 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; stretch and flexibility, 8:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; start out fitness, 9 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; fitness plus, 9 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; start out fitness, 4:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; start out fitness, 5:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; and fitness plus, 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For more information on the fitness classes, call Susan Marnell at the YMCA, 364-6990.

Saturday's game at Jones Stadium has a noon kickoff.

"Rice will be one an emotional high when they come into Jones Stadium. They are a dangerous offensive team and their defense showed what they can do when they stopped TCU inside the five late in the game," said Texas Tech Coach Jerry Moore.

"We have five games left so there is no reason for us to pack it in. We can still go on to have a good year if we don't give up on ourselves. We have lost to Baylor, Texas A&M and Arkansas, and all are proving they are good teams," Moore adds.

About last week's loss to Arkansas, Moore said, "We had some mistakes that really hurt. I felt our defense really played well for the most part. I am not pleased at this point with our running game, but Arkansas is one of the best defensive teams in the country."

Texas Tech continues to rank among the leaders in the NCAA in pass defense and kickoff returns, after leading the nation in both categories last year.

The Red Raiders are second in kickoff returns with a 27.5 average, just behind South Carolina's average of 28.0. Texas Tech is third in pass defense, allowing 106.5 yards per game, behind Central Michigan's 87.2 yards and Oklahoma's 89.3 yards.

The Red Raider defense will be faced with trying to stop Rice quarterback Mark Comalander, who completed 18 of 27 passes for 321 yards in his team's win over TCU. The Owls had 509 yards total offense against TCU.

Registration deadline nears for YMCA racquetball leagues

Registration continues for the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA racquetball leagues, with a deadline of Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 5:30 p.m.

Competition will start the last week this month and the first week of November for the four leagues.

Men's singles competition will be held on Monday nights, beginning on Oct. 28. The men's and women's doubles leagues open on Oct. 29, with all matches played on Tuesdays.

The women's singles league competition will be held on Thursdays, starting on Oct. 31, and the co-ed doubles competition will be held on Sunday afternoons, beginning on Nov. 3.

Matches begin at 7 p.m. on week nights and at 1 p.m. on Sundays. Each league will have competition for six weeks, including a single-elimination tournament.

Divisions for class A and class B divisions in each league will be offered. Eight players or teams are required for each division. If fewer than eight are registered in a league, the class A and class B entrants will be combined in the league.

For more information on the racquetball leagues, call the YMCA at 364-6990. Registration forms are available at the YMCA office.

NOSE
The aroma, or nose, is one of the most important and revealing aspects of wine. However, it is also one of the most difficult to verbalize. How does one describe an odor? Search your memory bank and associate what you smell with your own personal references. Swirl the glass of wine in slow, steady circles. Swirling exposes wine to the air, which in turn releases the wine's aroma. Next, smell. Check the soundness of the wine by making sure it smells clean, healthy and free of flaws such as the smell of vinegar. A wine's aroma can remind one of any combination of flavors from flowers and fruit to smoke and the sea. Retain your humor and do not be intimidated.

Four games to two over Dodgers

Cardinals win National League pennant

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have been springing surprises all year long. Suddenly, they're one surprise away from winning it all.

"We've still got another team to beat," Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog said Wednesday after Jack Clark's three-run homer in the top of the ninth gave St. Louis a 7-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers and the National League pennant.

St. Louis, picked by most observers to finish no better than fourth in the NL East coming out of spring training, faces the American League champion Kansas City Royals in the World Series beginning Saturday night in Kansas City.

The Cardinals bounced back from losses in the first two games of the NL playoffs to stun the Dodgers with a four-game sweep in the best-of-seven series.

"It's a heck of a compliment to our team to have won this series," a smiling Herzog said after the dramatic sixth-game victory over the Dodgers.

The Cardinals have a reputation for lightning on the basepaths, but they won the series against the Dodgers with thunder.

In Monday's fifth game in St. Louis, switch-hitting Ozzie Smith hit his first left-handed homer ever in the majors — with one out in the bottom of the ninth — to give the Cardinals a 3-2 victory and a 3-2 lead in the series.

Wednesday at Dodger Stadium, it was Jack Clark's first home run in nearly a month that decided the contest after Mike Marshall's solo homer gave Los Angeles a 5-4 lead in the bottom of the eighth.

Dodgers reliever Tom Niedenfuer, their bullpen ace during the regular season, was the victim of both game-winning homers.

Smith, who went 10-for-23 in the playoffs and was selected the most valuable player, and Clark were quick to shrug off individual credit.

"This is not for me, it's for the whole ballclub," Smith said upon accepting the MVP award.

"I'm not the hero," said Clark, who realized immediately when he hit a Niedenfuer fastball that it was a homer and looked over at the Cardinals' dugout before running around the bases.

"I'm not the guy; it's a bunch of guys."

"When I looked over at the dugout, I was thinking this is for the team and the Cardinal fans," he said. "It was good timing for my biggest, farthest and best home run ever."

The way the sixth game was decided provided great ammunition for second-guessers. With St. Louis runners at second and third and two away, Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda decided to pitch to Clark rather than walk him and have Niedenfuer face Andy Van Slyke.

In the seventh, Lasorda had instructed Niedenfuer to intentionally walk Tommy Herr with runners on second and third and pitch to Clark. That time, Niedenfuer struck out Clark, and then Van Slyke to end an inning in which the Cardinals got three runs to tie the contest 4-4.

Even Van Slyke said he expected Clark to get an intentional walk in the ninth. It was the first time since mid-April that the Dodgers had lost after leading entering the ninth. Lasorda said he decided to pitch to Clark because Niedenfuer had struck him out in the seventh.

"If he had hit a long fly ball for the final out, nobody would be talking about it," said a crestfallen Lasorda. "After he hit the home run, everybody in the world knows who should have walked him."

"If you second-guess anybody, second-guess me. I'm the guy who made the decision."

"I made a slight adjustment in my stance, moved about a half-step back from the plate and squared away more," Clark said of his ninth-inning plate appearance. "I was just trying to get a base hit and tie the score."

Although Clark's homer decided the game, Smith again played a key offensive role in the victory. He tripled home the tying run in the seventh, just after Niedenfuer had replaced Los Angeles starter Orel Hershiser.

The Dodgers took a 4-1 lead in the fifth inning, getting one run against St. Louis starter Joaquin Andujar on Pedro Guerrero's sacrifice fly and another on Bill Madlock's third homer of the playoffs.

The Cardinals knotted the game with the seventh-inning outburst. Willie McGee's single drove in two runs before Smith's triple made it 4-4.

Marshall then led off the Dodgers' inning with his homer off St. Louis reliever Todd Worrell.

Los Angeles took an early 2-0 lead with single runs in the first and second innings. The Cardinals cut the lead in half in the third.

Niedenfuer got the loss, his second in a row in the series. Worrell, who worked the seventh and eighth innings, notched the win in his first playoff decision. Ken Dayley, who set the Dodgers down in order in the ninth, picked up his second save.

The Cardinals will enter the World Series in fine shape. John Tudor, the ace of their pitching staff, will be available for three starts, if necessary, since he didn't have to go in a seventh game against Los Angeles. And Herzog said that he fully expects Vince Coleman, who stole a major-league rookie record 110 bases this season, to be back in the lineup for Saturday night's opener.

Coleman was injured in a freak pre-game accident Sunday in St. Louis when the tarp machinery rolled onto his left leg, and did not play in the final three games of the playoffs.

People searching for their ethnic identity

America's melting pot may be evaporating as its citizens, weary of the concept that equality means sameness, search for individuality through their heritage.

While the legal system has toiled to achieve everything for everybody, a Texas Tech University sociologist said some people have grown to feel lost in a mass society where lines designating differences are being erased.

"The old saying goes, 'no one is as lonely as the person in a crowd,'" said Dr. Walter J. Cartwright of the Texas Tech Sociology Department.

For all the legal attempts to demand civil rights and abolish delineation of certain groups, people are beginning to search for their niche in society through their ethnicity, Cartwright said.

"Something the law didn't do for us, we're doing for ourselves," he said. "People are searching for their roots."

The spirit of minority pride brought about by the civil rights movement of the early 1960s has carried over to a number of white populations who are beginning to tout their immigrant ancestry.

Cartwright said this trend is being displayed by the increase in regional celebrations which recognize background traits.

"People long assimilated in American life are wearing kilts and tossing cabers," he said.

The move toward discovery of individuals' genealogy has given them groups with which to identify, taking away the feeling of isolation ironically brought on by the melting pot theory.

Family reunions are back in style, Cartwright said, giving people a chance to broaden their base of support in society.

Cartwright said family get-togethers may be a response to the alienation of the nuclear family, consisting of father, mother and children. Businesses particularly have liked the smaller unit because its employees are more mobile.

"It's a whole lot easier to move the nuclear family than to move the whole clan," Cartwright said.

But what has been good for business has not necessarily been healthy for the family unit and has heightened the need for intimacy through outside sources. Today's married couples, much like the family, have found themselves more isolated and thus more demanding of the marital relationship, Cartwright said.

But people who can explore their family ties find a foundation from which to draw their emotional needs. People who can find a common link to others, and therefore society, often can go about day-to-day living with a renewed confidence that others like them exist in the world, Cartwright said.

"We're definitely becoming a pluribus unum—a pluralistic society," he said. "And we'll see this trend through this century and the next."

Thomas to be honored this evening

Wayne Thomas, Hereford attorney, will be among former members of the Coordinating Board, Texas College & University System, to be honored at a banquet tonight in the LBJ Library in Austin.

Thomas, a former chairman of the Coordinating Board, 1971-73, will attend the banquet tonight with his wife, Mary, and stay over for the board's quarterly meeting Friday. The reunion banquet honors 19 former board members and their spouses.

Thomas served two 6-year terms on the board. He was appointed to the Coordinating Board by Gov. Preston Smith in 1971-73, and later was chairman of the board's committee on senior colleges and universities.

Ann Landers

Having anxiety attacks

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in the hope that my letter will provide comfort and encouragement to others who are suffering as I once did.

From childhood, I experienced episodes of panic. I felt as if I was suffocating and that my heart was going to burst from racing or skipping beats or I was going to faint from a fear I couldn't understand.

I had no idea why I had these feelings. I was sure they were symptoms of some serious illness, but no doctor could find anything wrong with me. I ended up several times in hospital emergency rooms where I would be given a tranquilizing injection and told to "calm down."

These attacks would hit me sometimes three or four times a day. I used to wake up sweating, screaming, gasping for air. And believe it or not, I managed to function through all this. I was never without a job, and I made excellent money. I have had comfortable, long-term relationships with men, close relationships with members of my family, and an active social life.

When I turned 25, I could no longer tolerate those disabling episodes. They were becoming more intense and more frequent. I didn't want to see a psychiatrist for fear I might be branded as "crazy," but I knew it was my only chance to recover.

I was extraordinarily lucky to find a wonderful psychoanalyst on the first try. It took more than two years, but she and I worked together, and guess what—those dreadful episodes stopped, and I mean completely. It still seems like a miracle.

I see her regularly to work on other problems, but what is remarkable is that the symptoms that drove me to seek help in the first place are long gone, even though they had been bothering me since childhood.

It is essential that people who suffer from this problem see someone trained in psychoanalysis. It's expensive and time-consuming, but if you have good medical insurance and don't mind spending the time to become a healthy, well-adjusted person, it can be a life-saver.—RECOVERED IN S. JERSEY

DEAR S.J.: What you have described are anxiety attacks. More than a million Americans (mostly women) have them. Often these attacks evolve into an illness called agoraphobia. Dr. David V. Sheehan at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston said 70 percent of the people suffering from this problem had seen more than 10 physicians before they were diagnosed correctly.

Some authorities say these out-of-the-blue attacks are caused by a biochemical abnormality of the nervous system, which is usually inherited. Drug therapy in these cases is highly effective.

Other authorities recommended psychoanalysis, which you described as your godsend. Several experts are in favor of both treatments.

Many years ago I suggested two books by Dr. Claire Weekes, "Hope and Help for the Nerves" and "Peace from Nervous Suffering." Thousands of people wrote to tell me these books cured them of agoraphobia, even though many did not even know the name of the illness. Dr. Weekes was the first person, to my knowledge, to write about this illness. Her books should be available in your library or a good bookstore. They were published by Bantam Publishers, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10103.

Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior—where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. For a copy, send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The east front of the U.S. Capitol was entirely reconstructed in 1961.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on a minimum of 20 words. One day is 13 cents per word or $2.60 minimum. Rates below are for consecutive issues, no copy change, and apply to solid ad lines only.

TIMES	RATES	MIN.
1 day per word	.13	2.60
7 days per word	.22	4.40
30 days per word	.31	6.20
4 days per word	.40	8.00

30 day FREE
 Add 3 cents per word for additional days: 16 days (2 free) is 15.20 minimum; 15 days (3 free) is 22.60; month 27.90.

Classified display rates apply for special captions, paragraphing, bold type or larger type, and ads not set with full lines. $2.00 per column inch, $2 a column inch for additional insertions, or $1.75 a column inch per month.

LEGALS
 Advertising rates for legal notices are $3.50 per column inch for the first insertion and $3 per column inch for consecutive insertions.

Deadlines for classified ads are 3 p.m. daily for the next day's edition; 3 p.m. Friday for Sunday's edition. Cash is required on advertisements under $10.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in Classified Ads and legal notices. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. In case of errors not the fault of the advertiser, an additional insertion will be given.

Texans, Australians kick-off sesquicentennials with rides

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — Despite a stomach virus, bladder infection and freezing temperatures that at times made sleep impossible, Vickie Ives Speir still was able to smile about her 600-mile horseback ride across South Australia.

Ms. Speir, a Marshall equestrian, accompanied South Australians Peter Knudsen and Mickey McKeown on a 600-mile journey across the deserts of South Australia. They completed their trip Oct. 1. This week in San Antonio they started a similar journey across West Texas, accompanied by Leana Rideout of Marshall.

The two trips were planned to celebrate the 150th birthdays of South Australia and Texas, states which Ms. Speir says share a common heritage "of hoof and horn."

Ms. Speir missed a day and a half in the saddle because of her illnesses. She contracted the stomach virus after the trio had ridden some 200 miles. Later, after 400 miles had been completed, she missed another half-day due to the bladder infection. She thanked the Australian people who treated her.

"The whole trip, we could not have been treated with more kindness," she said. "The highlight of the trip was meeting the people at different stations (ranches). When we got anywhere near a station, people had barbecues for us. The people over there absolutely love Texas. The people surpassed anything I could have imagined."

There were physical hardships on both man and horse, said Ms. Speir.

"The first two nights, we nearly froze," she said. "We spent the second night in a sheep shed with three sides, with the wind coming through the unprotected side. We built a campfire to keep warm, but that didn't work. I must have gotten about two hours' sleep that night."

"The gibber (rock) plain of Australia is a field of small, jagged rocks, with maybe an occasional small bush. The horses have to have feet like iron over there. We had to take a day off to shoe the horses."

When things got tough, she said, the riders thought how things must have been for pioneers and missionaries. One such reminder, she said, was a moving church service the three witnessed that was a tribute to the Bethesda Lutheran Missions of the 1800s and early 1900s.

"They unveiled a number of plaques and dedicated them to the missionaries," said Ms. Speir. "I've never been to a more moving church service."

Two other highlights, she said, included the chance to see an emu, also known as an Australian ostrich, and a kangaroo.

"I chased the kangaroo on horseback with my camera," she said. "They can move very fast. We must have been going at least 30 miles per hour. I remember when I first saw him. I thought to myself, 'There he is, now what is he going to do.' We saw a group of emus at Wilpurina Station, at a watering hole. They are beautiful animals, with beautiful eyes."

After the Texas ride, Ms. Speir and Knudsen will team up to write a book about their experiences.

"Putting the Australian trip into perspective, I would say I had a chance to ride into the heart of the Australian land and people," said Ms. Speir. "I experienced things that in no way could you imagine by reading extensively about Australia. The problem with writing the book will not be with the amount of copy. It will be with editing. I have so many good stories that I could sit here all night telling."

"There are people in Australia who I will remember all my life. For a one-time visit, that's something."

The group still needs money to transport horses back from Presidio after the Texas ride. Ms. Speir remains optimistic that funding sources will be found.

"I am proud we made it (through Australia)," she said. "I admit to a little concern, because we would like to have those horses home from Presidio. But I don't believe the state of Texas is going to leave us out there."

"Our original plan was to change horses at Langtry, but now it looks like we won't be able to do that. We may have to risk going on with two horses each."

"South Australia has only one-fifteenth the population of Texas, and they got support from everywhere," she continued. "I don't believe Texas will let us down. I think the people of Texas will make it good."

Texas tour plans include stops at the YO Ranch near Mountain Home, the Judge Roy Bean visitor center in Langtry, Big Bend National Park and the Old Terlingua Ranch. Closing ceremonies will be in Presidio, population 1,000. It is an isolated village on the Rio Grande, which grew from an early Spanish settlement.

Colombians imprisoned

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Colombians arrested in connection with one of the state's largest cocaine seizures have each been sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Idinael Martinez, 36, and Anthony Romano, 39, were sentenced Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling.

Martinez was convicted of operating a continuing criminal enterprise and Romano of importing cocaine. The two men pleaded guilty to the charges in August.

The pair was arrested Oct. 19, 1984, at Houston Intercontinental Airport en route to Miami, authorities said. The arrests came after authorities seized almost 1,000 pounds of cocaine and 1,200 pounds of marijuana from three Houston warehouses.

An official with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration testified drug agents worked closely with the two defendants and arranged to have the massive drug shipments seized.

Authorities said the defendants also have been linked to some 2,500 pounds of cocaine that was smuggled on a plane to Atlanta.

Martinez, who faced up to a life term in prison, pleaded guilty as part of a plea bargain and agreed to forfeit more than $1 million in luxury cars, cash, jewelry and other property.

Foreman's house may be demolished

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A Beaumont house owned by Houston lawyer Percy Foreman may be demolished for failing to upgrade the building to meet the city code.

Foreman's house is among 15 the city council is considering for demolition or extensions to allow owners to upgrade.

The nationally known criminal defense attorney has already failed to appear in municipal court regarding his house, which apparently is used for storage.

Foreman, 83, was ordered to appear in July for failing to comply with the city's weed ordinance.

The city's code enforcement division has reported to council that Foreman's house is in violation of 16 codes.

ESCAPED...THROUGH LOCKED DOORS!

When the police arrived at the jail, the men weren't there. So they returned to the Council and reported. "The jail doors were locked, and the guards were standing outside, but when we opened the gates, no one was there!"

When the police captain and the chief priests heard this, they were frantic, wondering what would happen next and where all this would end!

Then someone arrived with the news that the men they had jailed were out in the Temple, preaching to the people! The police captain went with his officers and arrested them (without violence, for they were afraid the people would kill them if they roughed up the disciples) and brought them in before the Council.

"Didn't we tell you never again to preach about this Jesus?" the High Priest demanded. "And instead you have filled all Jerusalem with your teaching and intended to bring the blame for this man's death on us!"

But Peter and the apostles replied, "We must obey God rather than men... The God of our ancestors brought Jesus back to life again after you had killed Him by hanging Him on a cross. Then, with mighty power, God exalted Him to be a Prince and Savior, so that the people of Israel would have an opportunity for repentance, and for their sins to be forgiven. And we are witnesses of these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, who is given by God to all those who obey Him."
