Transporting Sick Baby

A Panhandle Emergency Medical Systems helicopter landed on the snow-covered grounds of Deaf Smith General Hospital Tuesday to transfer a 5-pound, 9½ ounce baby boy, who was born hours earlier, to Northwest

Texas Hospital in Amarillo. Hospital officials in Hereford said that complications developed in the baby shortly after his birth, but added that he was in good condition today in Amarillo. The baby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lucio, was the winner of The Brand's "first baby of the year" contest, sponsored by several local merchants. (Brand photos by Paul Hamilton)

Local law enforcement officials may have cleared up 19 burglaries, in which thousands of dollars in merchandise was stolen, with the arrests Tuesday of a 21-year-old Mexican-American woman and three 16-year-old males.

Police declined to release the name of the woman and details of their investigation and arrests.

"We're planning to make at least three more arrests," Detective Vernon Hope said. "Until then, we can't give out much information."

The woman and three males, also Mexican-Americans, reportedly were arrested in a house on W. 2nd. Several allegedly stolen items were recovered.

"It looks like they were either giving the stuff away or selling it," Hope said.

All of the burglaries allegedly cleared up by the arrests occurred since Dec. 1. The following places were burglarized and vandalized in the break-ins:

Dickie's Restaurant, Ruth's Gift Shop, Helena Chemical, Purina Feed, Tide Chemical, golf course pro shop, Max's Big Burger, Tower Drive-In, Footboy Wrecking, AA Diesel, Oglesby Implement, Poarch Brothers, Shu-Gro Industries (two burglaries), Kemin Industries, Summerfield Fertilizer, Lesly Motors, National Fuel and Fertilizer and Playhouse Skating Rink.

The woman was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property. The youths were being held today on burglary charges.

Hope could not estimate the value of the stolen merchandise.

"It'll run into the thousands, but there's no way to tell exactly how much it was all worth. There's also no telling how many thousands of dollars in damages were caused," Hope said.

Arresting officers included Hope, Detective Roger Scott, officer Dale Morgan and Chief Deputy Art Burton, of the sheriff's department.

Jerry Clower To Be C-C Headliner

Jerry Clower, of Yazoo, Miss., will bring his famous style of country humor Jan. 11 to the Deaf Smith County Bull Larn, where he will speak at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Tickets are available at the chamber office or at both Hereford banks for $10. Reservations should be made or tickets purchased as soon as possible to obtain limited seating, chamber manager Michael Carr said.

Clower, who has been named "Country Comic of the Year" for the last four years by major trade publications, is co-host of a nationally-syndicated television show, "Nashville on the Road", and is the author of the best-selling book, "Ain't God Good!"

The Yazoo native also is known for national radio and TV commercials for Dodge Trucks and Chrysler Motors. He has released eight record albums and has appeared on the Grand Ole Opry, David Frost Show, Mike Douglas Show and the Country Crossroads radio show on numerous occasions.

Clover also has entertained crowds in personal appearances of Charlie Pride.

Another highlight of the chamber banquet will be the announcement of Hereford's "Citizen of the Year."

New chamber directors and officers will be introduced at the banquet.

SPS Says Cutbacks Not Urgent

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

There is no urgent need for Southwestern Public Service Co. customers to curtail electrical usage during the present cold snap, an SPS spokesman said Tuesday.

That bit of good news came following a Texas Public Utility Commission statement that a "critical condition" in gas-fired electrical generating plants, has created a potential for brownouts.

The PUC urged business and industry, as well as household customers, to reduce their consumption of electricity until the crisis passes.

"Due to the unusual weather conditions and the resulting curtailment of natural gas throughout the state, a critical condition has developed in which natural gas electric generating units are not capable of operating to their maximum extent," the commission said.

"As a result, a temporary generating capacity problem has developed in which electric utilities throughout the state are operating at close to their maximum output.

"Unless the weather improves, thus freeing more natural gas for use in generating plants, the potential for additional brownouts throughout the state exists."

Frank Lee, SPS public information director in Amarillo, told The Brand that the electric company has the generating capacity to take care of all its customers in the Panhandle-South Plains, even though Pioneer Natural Gas Co. has curtailed the supply of gas to SPS plants at Lubbock and Hart.

"We don't have a problem right now. Even though we're going to have to use some fuel oil at the Lubbock and Earth plants while we're being curtailed, we're not going to have to ask our customers to cut down," Lee said.

SPS has eight other generating plants which receive natural gas from

Local Firemen Respond

Explosion, Fire Destroy House in Castro County

Hereford volunteer firemen joined firefighters from Dimmitt and Friona in unsuccessfully battling a blaze at the Kenneth Christie home, two miles south of Summerfield Tuesday night.

The expensive home, which is on Christie's farm in Castro County, was destroyed in the fire.

Hereford Volunteer Fire Department received the call of the fire at 11:04 p.m. The attic was completely engulfed by the time firemen arrived several minutes later, and the fire quickly spread to the rest of the house.

"It just got too much of a head start on us," Fire Marshal Jay Spain said. "Because of the icy roads, the attic was totally involved when we got there."

The Christies apparently were asleep when an explosion occurred, Spain said.

"It's a good thing they were (asleep). If they'd been in the living room, they would have probably gotten hurt," he said.

The Hereford fire department sent three units and 13 firemen to the blaze. Two units from Dimmitt and two from Friona also responded to the alarm.

Cause of the fire is not known. "It may have been natural gas," Spain said.

anyone with a scrap of intelligence knows that is not going to happen," says House Speaker Bill Clayton.

Budget-balanced districts are those deemed so rich they can pay their Foundation School Program costs without state aid. The only state dollars they get are per capita payments from the Available School Fund.

Clayton sees action on intangibles as bound tightly to action on agricultural value taxation of rural land.

The "Tax Relief Amendment" approved by the voters Nov. 7 says the Legislature must provide for "ag value" taxation of farm and ranch land and may also grant the tax break to timber acreage.

"It's a two-way street. You have to link taking out intangibles with a good formula for taxing agricultural land," Clayton said.

There are lots of ways to value agricultural land on its productivity, and rural lawmakers want one that will provide the best possible break for their constituents.

"Ag values" probably will be part of any new formula that is adopted for parceling out state school aid.

One of four alternatives recommended by the Legislative Commission on Public School Finance, also headed by Massey, included personal income within a county as part of a state aid formula.

Rural lawmakers often remind their city colleagues that taxes are paid from current income, and a family can be land-rich but dollar-poor.

"My theory is that we need an economic index to measure ability to pay...The economic index, whether one-factor or multi-factor, will be very much an issue," said Sen. Pete Snelson.

D-Midland, a member of the commission. No legislative consideration of school finance is complete without a raging debate over teacher salaries.

The Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) has proposed about $1 billion worth of pay raises for the 1980-81 biennium, starting with a boost in the minimum pay of new teachers from $8,541 to $9,740. All others would get 7 percent raises in the 1979 school year and 8 percent the following year - not to mention normal longevity increases.

But the Legislative Budget Board, which includes leaders from both houses, recommended only 5.1 percent annual raises, the same as state employees.

The board's unprecedented action in putting teacher salaries in the general appropriation bill was widely viewed as a loud message that the TSTA could count

How many times have you heard that statement, or how many times have you made that statement to someone outside the Panhandle area?

What we're getting around to writing about is that weather is always a good topic for conversation, but what's said ain't necessarily so.

In fact, a couple of friends and I were engaged in some "weather conversation" on New Year's Eve and we came up with a "bad-weather syndrome" theory. It explains why we have the best weather

Corn Growers To Sponsor Meeting

The Texas Corn Growers Association, headquartered in Dimmitt, is sponsoring a meeting to form a bargaining association for the region's corn growers.

The meeting will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Castro County Exposition Center in Dimmitt.

According to Carl King of Dimmitt, TCGA president, a bargaining association could prove advantageous to farmers, particularly those who deal with firms on a contract basis for food-grade corn.

"Firms could deal with a bargaining board instead of individual farmers, and this could mean additional income for all corn growers," said King.

King pointed out that in the event a bargaining association was formed, it would be chartered and officers would be elected.

He issued an invitation to all area corn producers to attend Friday night's meeting.

Shah Protestors Take Fight to California

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Hundreds of rock-throwing demonstrators chanting "Death to the shah" besieged a hillside mansion occupied by the mother and sister of the Shah of Iran, torching two cars and setting at least a dozen fires.

Neither the princess nor her mother was injured.

Mina Azad, a spokeswoman for the protesters, said there would be more demonstrations.

"We're going to demonstrate as long as they (the shah's family) are here. We're not going to let them steal from the Iranian people and then come here and live in peace," she said.

At least 35 demonstrators were injured, two seriously, in the bloody confrontation Tuesday, as chanting Iranians and their supporters repeatedly tried to storm the home and were driven back by police using clubs, high-pressure fire hoses and tear gas.

Sheriff's Department spokesman Chet Ballou said five or six demonstrators were arrested for investigation of various charges, including arson and assault on law officers.

The demonstrators carried placards calling for the death of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and an end to U.S. support of his reign.

Several demonstrators came near to entering the expensive home before about 300 protesters were forced from the steep slopes around the residence, herded down the hilly streets and corralled in a park.

The demonstrators were then released in groups of four or five without incident.

An unknown number of protesters were hit by police cars during the 45-minute melee in an exclusive residential area in the hills above downtown Beverly Hills.

Ballou said the protesters were knocked down by sheriff's cars responding to a report of a female deputy being dragged from her patrol car. The deputy was unharmed and had not been dragged out of her car, Ballou said.

Several policemen were injured in the melee, none seriously.

Legislators To Study School-Finance Issues

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - As country legislators see it, the cities' school finance plight is their golden opportunity to guarantee rural landowners the kind of property tax cuts they have been pleading for.

The reason, they say, is that for the first time they have real "leverage" over their urban colleagues.

Failure of the 66th Legislature to change the 1977 school finance law would mean disaster to urban districts. It's that simple.

Current law says the Texas Education Agency must count the intangible wealth - bank accounts, stocks, bonds - of each school district in determining its state aid payments for 1979-80.

And therein lies the country legislators' strength as they seek the most favorable terms possible for taxing rural land only on its productive value.

"My idea of what might be a fair productivity formula might vary somewhat from some of my brothers in the House and in the Senate...Suppose we can't come up with one we can live with. Then I am going to hang onto intangibles. It's the only leverage we have," says Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, chairman of the House Public Education Committee.

The School Tax Assessment Practices Board determined that Texans' intangible wealth totals $154 billion, and half of it is in the four most populous counties - Harris, Dallas, Bexar and Tarrant.

Since state aid is handed out proportionately to the wealth of a school district, intangibles would badly skew the system against the urban areas.

"Intangibles has to be addressed. If you don't, you'll find a lot of the urban districts become budget-balanced. And

Vietnamese Forces Advance in Cambodia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Vietnamese forces and their rebel Communist Cambodian allies were reported advancing deep into Cambodia today on four fronts under intense air strikes. The insurgents claimed one attack force was only 45 miles from Phnom Penh, the capital.

Reliable analysts in Bangkok reported the Vietnamese had opened a new front in the Parrot's Beak salient southeast of Phnom Penh, through which the U.S. and South Vietnamese armies invaded Cambodia in 1970. These observers believed the Vietnamese would advance westward, trying to cut the highways from the capital to the coast.

The three other fronts are northeast of Phnom Penh, between the Vietnamese border to the Mekong River. The aim appeared to be to amputate the northeast so that the rebel United Front for National Salvation sponsored by Vietnam could establish a government there.

The Bangkok sources reported widespread, intense air strikes by the Vietnamese using both Soviet and captured American-built warplanes. Cambodia claimed Soviet pilots were doing some of the flying and said one MiG was shot down New Year's Day.

Cold Snap Continues As Texans Freezing

By The Associated Press
Shivering Texans looked for relief today from a wintry blast that sent temperatures plunging, forced giant-utilities to brace for power shortages, caused the death of a Dallas boy and threatened the multi-million dollar Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus crop.

Forecasters predicted a slow warming trend would thaw ice-gripped regions of North Texas and bring more pleasant weather statewide.

Citrus growers in the Valley said it could not be immediately determined just how much of the $40 million current crop of citrus had been damaged.

Temperatures dipped into the mid-twenties and remained there for up to seven hours in some citrus growing areas of the Valley. By 3 a.m., the mercury had been low enough long enough to damage the fruit.

Growers said there would be some damage to the current crop, but it would take up to a month or more to determine if there was damage to the trees.

Less than 10 percent of the crop is protected by artificial heating devices.

An 8-year-old Dallas boy died Tuesday when he grabbed a dangling high-voltage wire that had snapped more than two days earlier under the weight of a heavy coating of ice.

Barton Clark was pronounced dead on arrival at a Dallas hospital after he touched the wire to see if it was still live.

Abilene Remains Wet, Says District Judge

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Saloon patrons in this West Texas city can down a shot of red-eye to toast their victory in the latest challenge to a disputed June 17 local option liquor election.

Retired State District Judge J.H. "Dick" Starley of Pecos made it official Tuesday with his ruling that said Abilene is still wet.

In a 13-page hand-written opinion the judge struck down an election contest filed by "dry" forces. He said of 29,985 votes cast during the June election, "11,557 were cast in favor of the proposition and 11,428 were cast against."

Starley overruled challenges filed by Abilene attorney Buck Woods to approximately 250 votes.

"Practically everyone on these lists who testified made an affirmative effort to be sure they were entitled to vote and that they voted in the proper voting precinct," wrote Starley.

In his opinion, the judge wrote that even if the court erred and the votes were declared invalid, "it would not change the result of the expression of the electorate."

Justice Department Upset over Request

WASHINGTON (AP) - Justice Department officials are privately expressing anger over a congressional request to re-open investigations into the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

While the department officially said Tuesday it would wait to review the House assassinations committee's report before deciding its next move, some officials who asked not to be quoted by name said they see little value in attempting to pursue cases that are respectively 15 and 10 years old.

"They're asking us to finish what they started," said one official. Another said, "They had $5 million and they came up with loose strings that they want us to tie together."

The assassinations committee issued a summary of its findings last weekend, concluding conspiracies were likely in both slayings and recommending that the Justice Department review evidence in both cases.

One official said the department wants to appear circumspect and not to pre-judge the committee's evidence before reviewing it carefully. But he expressed skepticism over any new efforts to track down unknown assassins or accomplices at this date.

Friemel Reflects on AAM

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

"I've learned one thing. If you'll just get up there in these darn places and say your peace, they'll darn sure listen."

Jerome Friemel, area farmer and prominent voice of late for the American Agriculture Movement, made the statement while reflecting on the accomplishments, and setbacks, of the year-long movement during a speech Tuesday at the Hereford Rotary Club's noon luncheon.

Friemel told Rotarians that farmers had been notorious for "staying on the farm and not saying anything" until the movement, which began in December, 1977, as an effort to receive higher prices for their products.

He said that during last year's farm strike, he encouraged farmers to speak to politicians and, in general, spread the word about the farm economic problems.

"We need to get involved in the political system," Friemel said. "I don't care which party—we just need to be involved."

Friemel, in December at Memphis, Tenn., was one of five farmers in the country to be elected to the advisory committee to write the platform for the Democratic party in 1980.

"One of the things that the agriculture section on this committee will point out to the administration is they better not have their heads in the sand on this issue," Friemel said.

The issue, he said, concerns the fact that agricultural prices have been below parity level since 1952. "We're getting less for corn than we did in 1948, but you're paying more for things like bacon. Prices at the supermarket aren't affected by the prices we receive for our products," he said.

"Instead of blaming inflation on agriculture, it might be good to look at the real culprit. The national debt, both public and private, is $4 trillion."

Friemel said the blame lies in those running the country. He said cattle imports, federal embargoes and government interference in farm programs have limited farmers' chances for making a profit.

"Economists only know the textbook side of agriculture. Until they go with me to the bank and sign that note with me, I'll have to say, 'Mister, you're not qualified to know the seriousness of the problem.'" Friemel said.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

A convicted rapist is turned free to murder 20 people. A convicted killer of 27 is granted a new trial on a legal technicality.

Has anyone given a thought to the feelings of the families of all these victims? Or the jury of their peers who convicted them? Or law enforcement officers who risked their lives to apprehend them? And what about the cost of new trials to be paid for by people already taxed into penury?

There is also another consideration: Young punks and potential criminals are given the license to kill, maim and destroy, knowing the odds are in their favor.

It seems to me that if we don't start using some reason in law enforcement, we risk the destruction of our whole judicial system. Then the rampaging felons, instead of bawling about "civil rights" and "police brutality," can start bawling about lumps on their heads placed there by ordinary citizens who, in disgust, have reverted to law by vigilante committee and lynch mob.

on 5.1 percent and no more.

The LBB bill would provide $1 billion in new state money for public schools, including $314 million for teacher pay raises and $269 million in increased state aid. The rest - $450 million - is simply to reimburse school districts for part of the revenue they will lose to the "Tax Relief Amendment."

Only $110 million of anticipated state revenue is left by the LBB bill.

With Gov.-elect Bill Clements and legislative leaders committed to no new taxes, teachers and school men will have to compete with state agencies if they expect to get more dollars than the LBB recommended.

School officials would like to have more state funds for routine operating expenses and for equalization between rich and poor districts.

Raymon Bynum, an associate education commissioner, had this to say recently about achieving the goal of equity in the face of limited state revenue:

"I guess I'd have to say we are not going to get there this time."

Bull

in the world, despite publicity to the contrary.

The theory is this: In other parts of the country, people remember the good days of weather and that's what they brag about. Around here, we have good weather most of the time so it's the bad days we remember...and talk about. Maybe this "bad-weather syndrome" is not fully plausible, but it makes a good story to tell our friends in other parts of the country!

AND, SPEAKING OF bad weather, it's usually the bad or unusual weather that makes the news—just like bad or unusual events or the things people want to read about.

demonstrators surged past a large gate and battled with helmeted officers in the driveway of the home before retreating amid clouds of tear gas, leaving behind a burning police car. The protesters started at least a dozen other fires on the hillside around the mansion, throwing placards and dry brush onto the fires while chanting "Death to the shah."

"It was like a combat zone," said

Beverly Hills Police Capt. Lee Tracy. "Once they got to the front of the residence, they began throwing rocks and sticks at officers behind the gates. They stormed the gate and broke the lock and continued throwing missiles at the officers. They turned over a car in the driveway and set it afire and became more and more violent."

Some police officers drew their pistols during the disturbance, but no shots were fired. About 100 sheriff's deputies were called to aid Beverly Hills police.

The shah's sister, Princess Chams, owner of the house, and her ailing 90-year-old mother, Tadj Ul Moluk, were inside the mansion during the melee.

The queen mother came to California last week, reportedly for medical care.

Electricity

companies besides Pioneer and has two coal-burning stations, both near Amarillo.

"We still have a reasonable reserve left," Lee said.

It is approximately twice as expensive to burn fuel oil than natural gas, and in that respect, SPS customers will pay for the cold spell. The additional cost of burning the fuel oil at Lubbock and Earth will be passed on to SPS customers through the fuel adjustment cost.

"We haven't been without problems within our own system, but these problems haven't been passed on to the customer yet," Lee said.

"One of the reasons we're not having to ask our customers to cut back is we've had some people at our power plants working night and day. We've been able to go to manual controls when our automatic controls froze up. This is the first time our equipment at Harrington (a coal-burning plant) has been exposed to these temperatures," he said.

PUC's warning was echoed by major utilities, who said the problem was not a shortage of gas, but a transmission problem caused when cold weather freezes controls.

Brown To Run Tight Ship

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown says he's running a tighter ship than his predecessor, Democratic National Chairman John C. White, and won't tolerate sloppy dressers, "playboys" or loafers in his agency.

Brown also said at a news conference Tuesday he has trimmed the State Department of Agriculture's staff from 517 to 505 employees in 21 months and underspent his 1978 budget by $800,255.

He said he places a high priority on integrity in office, asserting, "It is time in this state for people to have respect for their public officials."

mishandles funds or violates the public trust will be dismissed. Equally important, any person engaged in trying to influence or coerce any employee in carrying out his official duties will be prosecuted with every means at my disposal," Brown said.

In reply to questions, he said he had in the past year fired an inspector for pocketing a nursery's $10 license fee and a West Texas weights inspector for putting a $158 pleasure trip - including hotel bills and liquor - on his state credit card.

"He was a playboy. We get rid of playboys in this agency," Brown said.

"...We are going to put him in the penitentiary if we can catch him."

The commissioner said there had been recent attempts to bribe inspectors and an incident in which a service station manager - accused of giving short measure - threatened to run inspectors off with a gun.

A call to the company that owned the station quickly resolved that problem with removal of the manager, Brown said.

Brown credited a reorganization that eliminated three regional offices, plus greater productivity, for his return of $800,255 to the General Revenue Fund.

Report On Gasahol

Gasahol—a mixture of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gasoline—is but one of many alternative fuels. But this is a progress report on that one.

Brazil has raced on ahead of the rest of us in the development and use of gasahol. Most of Brazil's automobiles now run on a 90-10 or an 80-20 mix.

Meanwhile, for a conversion cost of about $350 per car, Brazil is running more and more automobiles entirely on alcohol. Five hundred telephone company Volkswagen repair cars now operate exclusively on alcohol.

Farm Antique Auction Set For Saturday

A farm goods and antique auction, sponsored by the American Agriculture Movement, will be held at the Merchant's Building of the Tri-State fairgrounds in Amarillo Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m.

On sale will be varied items from the farm community of the Texas Panhandle.

Half a beef, furnished by Palo Duro meats, will be given away free after the last auction item is sold.

Also featured will be a "country store" where homemade bread, cakes, pies, cookies, jams and jellies will be available.

New pickups, trucks and campers will also be on display by Amarillo and area dealers.

Last year Brazil produced more than 200 million gallons of alcohol for use in automobile engines.

In the United States gasahol is already available in selected service stations in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa.

Users of gasahol report this cleaner burning fuel reduces carbon-monoxide emissions by 30 percent and increases miles-per-gallon by 5 percent. Critics argue that alcohol as a motor fuel—either in pure form or a mixture—uses up too much critically needed grain.

Promoters of gasahol remind the critics that our nation has a chronic annual grain surplus—and also that the alcohol used in gasahol can be made from weeds that will grow where most grain crops won't. Also from garbage. Indeed, alcohol is the one fuel which can be made from "almost anything."

In Selma, Alabama...employing the expertise of a former bootlegger and a young agricultural scientist...a farmer's co-op is now turning out 200 gallons of grain alcohol a month.

The idea of alcohol as a fuel is not new. A blend called "Agrol" was marketed in the 1930s—but in those days—when oil was a dollar a barrel—"Agrol" was prohibitively costly.

Now that oil is 11, 12, 13 dollars a barrel and going higher—gasahol is becoming price competitive.

The new gasoline pumps are being designed to record prices up to two dollars a gallon. Increased petroleum prices inevitably will make alternatives more desirable.

I believe my file includes all of the arguments against gasahol. Yet at least one oil company, Mobil, is betting $10 million that alcohol eventually can be economically extracted from coal.

Out of this research could come an all-new concept in combustion engines. Under the auspices of the EPA and the United States Naval Academy, a heat-balanced engine is being tested which "is more efficient than the regular combustion engine, offers a substantial increase in miles per gallon, is 98 percent free of noxious emissions, operates at lower pressures and lower temperatures which should mean lower repair bills—and it can run on almost anything—gasoline, diesel fuel, benzine, kerosene or alcohol." We are getting there.

Heart Board Sets Goal for Fund Drive

Through a number of special events and a door-to-door drive, the Deaf Smith County Division of the American Heart Association hopes to raise $14,000 here during February, which has been declared Heart Month.

Dean Stallings, president of the County AHA board, announced yesterday that this year's fiscal goal exceeds last year's by $1,000. The 1978 goal of $13,000 was reached locally.

Stallings is being assisted in the upcoming campaign by the following chairmen: Bessie Story, special events; Virgil Slentz, rural donations; Thelma Lamb, memorial donations; Mack Tubb, special gifts; Leona Kimball, door-to-door drive; and Don Davis, business donations.

Stallings is being assisted in the upcoming campaign by the following chairmen: Bessie Story, special events; Virgil Slentz, rural donations; Thelma Lamb, memorial donations; Mack Tubb, special gifts; Leona Kimball, door-to-door drive; and Don Davis, business donations.

Stallings is asking county residents to "give generously" during Heart Month by making individual donations and supporting the special fund-drive projects. Volunteers will be needed to conduct the door-to-door drive on Heart Sunday, Feb. 18.

The mainstay of this year's special events is again expected to be the third annual Heart Ball, which officially kicks off the Heart Association's campaign here. The formal dinner-dance will be held Jan. 20 at the Country Club with live music to be provided by Tiffany Brass. Couples attending will be asked to make a $50 donation to the Heart Association. About half of that amount will be spent on the evening's meal and entertainment. All gifts to AHA are tax-deductible.

Tickets for the Heart Ball are being sold now by AHA members, both local banks and members of Kappa Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. The sorority chapter will be making decorations for the dance as a service project.

Other special events to be staged here in connection with the fund drive include a bridge tournament, slated Feb. 15 at the Community Center, a teen dance on Feb. 17 and a Walk-A-Thon, to be held in April under sponsorship of Hereford Striders Club. Other spring events tentatively planned by the local division are a square dance and barn dance.

Stallings believes that increased public awareness of cardio-vascular diseases is the main reason for a 14 percent reduction in heart attacks and heart-related diseases during the past year. However, heart disease remains the nation's No. 1 killer.

"Because of an increasing awareness of heart disease, people are more active. They are doing things to improve their health," Stallings said. "Also, there is more advanced medical technology to help save lives."

This is the fifth year that the Heart Board has been in operation here and, according to Stallings, 100 percent participation has been given by the board each year. There are currently about 30 board members, each serving a three-year term. Any individual can become a member of the Heart Association and local involvement is welcomed. All association members are invited to attend the board's monthly business meeting on the first Thursday of each month.

The Deaf Smith County AHA division provides numerous services locally, Stallings related. Former heart patients visit recent victims of heart attack or stroke. A speakers bureau has been formed, making educational programs available to local clubs and organizations. These programs include informative films, too.

The local chapter of the Heart Association also sponsors CPR (cardiopulmonary-resuscitation) classes here each month. There are approximately 30 CPR instructors available to present special classes for groups and businesses who request them.

Local residents have the opportunity to have their blood pressure checked by trained professionals, free of charge, twice a year. These hypertension screenings are sponsored by the Heart Association.

Local donations to the Heart fund go to the Texas Heart Association and are dispersed through the state level. Contributions are spent according to the following percentage: research, 29 percent; public education 23 percent; community service, 20 percent; professional education, 11 percent; fund-raising, 11 percent; and administration, 6 percent.

Donations to the Heart Association may be given to Gladys Cavness at First National Bank or Thelma Lamb at Hereford State Bank.

Home-Operated Business Helps Ease Inflation

WASHINGTON -- A woman in Illinois sells custom made draperies with two hired helpers. A Nebraska woman operates a wallpapering business with a friend. An Ohio woman gives sewing lessons--for pay.

What do these women have in common? They all learned their skills from the Cooperative Extension Service.

"Professional home economists throughout the country are training people to make slip covers, reupholster and refinish furniture, wallpaper, design custommade window treatments, make new clothing, make over old clothes, prepare homemade cakes, breads, jellies and preserves and do simple household repairs," said Glenda Pifer, U.S. Department of Agriculture housing specialist. "We're helping more and more people learn marketable skills. Many are developing small businesses out of their homes," said Pifer.

"Many homemakers have taken full-time jobs outside the home these days," said Pifer. "They have less time to do things for themselves so they appreciate help from people who can do household jobs. In some cases, homemakers and some retired people offer to do babysitting, for instance, in return for having a piece of furniture refinished."

How does the average person learn the do's and don'ts of setting up a business at home? In some parts of the country, Extension sponsors workshops to train them. These workshops are sometimes held cooperatively with the local Small Business Administration office.

The training activity isn't new. Home economists of the Cooperative Extension Service have taught these skills for decades. But now, as Pifer says, "Running a small business out of your home is one way to deal with inflation. The extra income helps families."

Classes are usually free. Generally, they're instructed by a professional home economist or someone she's trained.

Pifer said "There's an extension office in nearly every county providing out-of-school educational programs. Local Extension offices are usually listed under county government in the telephone directory."

The training programs are given through cooperation of the department's Science and Education Administration, state land grant universities and local governments.

Display Of Month

Dee Ocon will have her display of "Spoons Around the World" on view in Deaf Smith County Library for the rest of the month of January. Mrs. Ocon has been collecting these spoons along with other antique dishes since 1968. She is displaying 38 spoons from her collection. (Brand photo by Denise Smith)

Quilting Workshop Jan. 10

Betty Sturquell will be conducting a quilting workshop for members of Simms Study-Craft Club and other interested persons on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Individuals interested in pre-registering for the quilting demonstration are invited to call Elsie Lloyd, 578-4560. The fee will be $5.

In addition to the three hours of instruction, which will be presented in two parts, a covered dish luncheon will be held at noon. The workshop will be staged in Simms community building, northwest of Hereford in Simms community.

Hostesses for the workshop will be Sondra Blankenship and Rita Bronniman.

The heavier the sirup, the more costly the item, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Ann Landers

Unwed Mothers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a long-time social worker in Ohio who has counseled wayward girls for several years. I have become increasingly annoyed at the manner in which out-of-wedlock pregnancy is handled by the media. And you, Ann Landers, are no better than the rest. Recently I was shocked by your statement, "Unless a boy uses chloroform or a lead pipe, a girl is responsible for whatever happens to her."

These unfortunate girls are victims of something far more dangerous than chloroform or a lead pipe. Empty promises and sweet talk are the most effective tools of destruction. You should be advising parents to teach their young sons that girls are not put on earth to give males pleasure and then be cast aside when something goes wrong. Mothers and fathers should teach their sons at an early age that they are responsible for the safety and well-being of the girls with whom they keep company.

After that "lead pipe" column I phoned the circulation department of the Cleveland Press and cancelled my subscription to the paper. -- Former Reader

DEAR FORMER: Since you've cancelled your subscription to the paper I hope someone will show you my reply.

Of course a decent boy assumes responsibility for his girl. But, unfortunately, not all boys are decent. Furthermore, out-of-wedlock pregnancies involve more than decency. Alcohol and drugs, permissive parents, ignorance about contraceptives, provocative movies, unchaperoned parties, skinny-dipping--these are all factors that overload the circuits.

Furthermore, it should come as no surprise to you that most 15-, 16- and 17-year-old boys are not thinking about marriage. They are thinking about sex. The juices are flowing, they are preoccupied with their manhood and trying every which way to score.

Since girls get pregnant, I tell them repeatedly it's THEIR responsibility to establish the ground rules, call the signals--and hold that line.

DEAR ANN: Settle a family fight, please. It's been just terrible. My husband and I recently visited our son and his wife in another city.

Our daughter-in-law invited her folks for dinner. I became very upset when her mother said, "Son, please pass the potatoes"...and then, "Son, what do you think of this?" and, "Son, what do you think of that?"

Finally I said, "His name is Charles. He is not your son. Please stop calling him that."

He gave me a very odd look. My husband turned white as a sheet. Our daughter-in-law broke into tears. Her parents sat there frozen. A few unpleasant remarks were exchanged and they left in a huff.

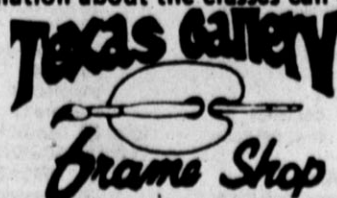

All the way home my husband gave me hell. I still think I was right. I'll bet if you'd fine a poll of your readers you'd fine a great many people would be on my side.--Mrs. C.S. Of Philadelphia

DEAR MRS. C.S.: Sorry, Buttercup, you lose me on this one. I think it's lovely that your son's mother-in-law calls him "Son." You should be pleased at the warm relationship instead of being so possessive and resentful. I doubt you're the type who is capable of apologizing, but that woman sure has an apology coming.

Simplicity In Satin

Keep a Kimono Handy, Just in Case

NEW YORK (NEA) - The hand's the thing in the Kabuki theatre. It's used for gestures and fans and karate chops.

So to make sure you can see it, the Japanese provided the kimono with sleeves that free the wrist and drape so gracefully that no matter who they're fanning or chopping they look good. Ah, those simple lines, that exquisite embroidery. Mmm-mmmm. Designer Shari Alexander just eats it up.

In fact, she spent some people's annual food budget for an 18th century black silk and satin mandarin jacket, embroidered with real sterling silver thread and worn by Kabuki actors over pleated skirts so the audience would think they were women.

That jacket inspired the kimono she's offering American women this year, for fanning at hot political caucuses and contending with chops, lethal or breaded.

Just a simple black kimono with sleeves colored burgundy inside and a tuxedo collar and lapel that goes all the way down, in one size. The way Ms. Alexander sees it, it's an evening coat or a top for pants or skirts.

Or a life support system. "When I feel like I'm going crazy, I take off my clothes and wrap the kimono around me. It's fine when you need something reassuring next to your skin," says the red haired, free-spirited former flamenco dancer from Manhattan who finally hung up her castenets when her feet gave out, and modeled for nine years before deciding on designing.

"I've always believed there's more than one career alternative and I'm a risk taker. I decided if I didn't try designing I was superchicken and that I couldn't live with. So I found this loft two years ago and spent the first three months with cardboard boxes saying what am I doing here?"

What she did, eventually, was men's blouson shirts, which did so well, she did women's.

fering in a short sleeve version -- in black or burgundy -- for $80. That wraps and ties in a bow on the side above a high side slit skirt, also for $80.

Which can also be very reassuring if you've got the legs to go with it.

COMMENTARY

Donald F. Graff
The Algerian succession

Now it is Algeria's turn. With the death of President Houari Boumediene, the North African country faces a challenge that has defeated many another revolutionary state: an orderly transfer of power.

Boumediene, the austere soldier-son of a poor farmer, held unquestioned power through 13 of the 18 years since Algeria wrenched its independence from France. What Algeria is today is largely his shaping. And that is: A firmly Moslem society committed to the building of an indigenous variety of socialism.

A hardliner in the Arab cause against Israel whose effective military efforts are directed westward, against neighboring and Arab Morocco.

The possessor of an army equipped by the Soviet Union in which commands are given in the language of the former colonial power, France.

A frequent supporter of the Soviet line in world affairs and standard-bearer for Third World independence from all forms of colonialism, political and economic, which is energetically expanding its own economic ties with the West.

In short, a paradox of a country in many respects, but one in which pragmatism tends to be the chief policy determinant and which has been for the last decade in its domestic politics an exceptionally stable element in the developing world, where such stability is not the rule.

Who is to replace Boumediene is only the first of several questions in the challenge now facing Algeria. There is a national constitution. And there is an official political party, the National Liberation Front, which the constitution empowers to name a president.

But the actual choice almost certainly will be made where real power lies, in the Council of Revolution, comprised of the surviving members of the group of 25 officers who engineered the 1965 coup in which Boumediene came to power. There are only eight members now and, other than Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika, they are not well known to the outside world or the Algerian public.

A larger question is whether Boumediene's successor can fill the Boumediene role. The late occupant created a presidency tailored to his personality and strengths. That power in the hands of a different personality could have very different consequences. In the Soviet Union, for one revolutionary example, a leadership role shaped to a Lenin had particularly gruesome consequences when assumed by a Stalin.

All this is of interest beyond Algeria. The country has economic and geographic significance. It occupies a chunk of North and West Africa, the Saharan heartland, and a strategic stretch of the Mediterranean coast to which NATO commanders are particularly sensitive. The post-Boumediene leadership, by choice or to divert attention from troubles at home, could be tempted to inflame the 3-year-old desert war with Morocco, an additional aggravation of which the world has absolutely no need.

Although not in the same league as Saudi Arabia, Algeria is a major oil producer. The United States is its most important trading partner, importing both oil and increasing quantities of natural gas.

Others than Algerians, thus, have considerable at stake in the Algerian succession. There are some encouraging examples of revolutionary regimes transferring power smoothly. Egypt managed its power transfer from Gamal Nasser to Anwar Sadat with minimal complications. Currently, Kenya in East Africa seems to be keeping its semi-democratic balance following the passing of Jomo Kenyatta.

On the other hand, the venerable revolutionary Soviet Union has yet to demonstrate that it can pull off a power shift without crisis in some degree. And in the People's Republic of China, the succession struggles that began years ago, while Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai were still on the scene, may not yet be settled.

Seizing power and consolidating it in a revolutionary state are one thing. Establishing a system for transferring that power effectively to succeeding generations of leaders without disrupting the state is altogether another.

The history of much of the rest of the world in that respect makes the achievements of the United States two centuries ago look all the more impressive.

TRAFFIC JAMS, FALLEN arches and high gasoline bills may be things of the past for these Minneapolis motorists — at least until winter blizzards relegate their sidewalk "handi cab" to the garage.

The new year started off on a positive note for the Hereford varsity basketball team as they whipped the Caprock Longhorns 71-47 at La Plata Tuesday night.

The 'Faces, 5-13, never trailed in the game after taking the lead midway through the first quarter. Trailing 5-0 after two minutes in the game, the Herd used an effective full court press to surge to a 17-8 lead at the end of the period.

Caprock closed to within five points, 17-12, early in the second quarter, but from then on it was all Hereford. Using an excellent tip-in by Larry McNutt to start its scoring barrage, Hereford scored 10 unanswered points. First half action ended with Hereford holding a commanding 29-16 lead.

The 'Faces opened the third quarter with a shooting spree that raised their total to 37-19 by the 5:37 mark.

At this point the Herd lost the touch and did not score again until the 2:32 mark, then had another spree of 10 points to end third-quarter scoring at 49-29.

Continuing to use the full court press, the Whitefaces surged to their biggest lead -- 28 points -- in the final stanza, 60-32. With every player on the team scoring during the game, Coach Decker used the strength of his bench to post the cagers fifth win of the season. Leading Hereford in scoring was Jackie Mercer with 16 and Larry McNutt with 14. Starters Brent Allen and Robert Graves saw limited action in the fourth period as each had four fouls.

The junior varsity could not make the magic work a second time against the Longhorns as a last second shot missed and they fell 59-57 in the early game.

Earlier in the season the team had won at Caprock with a last second jumper by Norman Hill. Hill again led the team in scoring with 12 and Derrick Dirks and Randy Ellis adding 10 each.

Next action for the team will be against the Clovis Wildcats Friday, at La Plata gym.

Oilers Ready For Game

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Coach Bum Phillips, remembering the last time the Oilers played the Pittsburgh Steelers, will add some sideline personnel for Sunday's American Football Conference championship game.

"We're going to take along some hospital attendants and maybe a few blood donors," said Phillips, whose home one-liners have eased the tension and helped carry the Oilers to the brink of the Super Bowl.

The last time these two teams met, Pittsburgh won 13-3 in a game where quarterback Dan Pastorini and rookie running back Earl Campbell suffered broken ribs, cornerback Willie Alexander received a broken jaw and wide receiver Mike Renfro was lost for the season with a knee injury.

Renfro was the only player to have his season ended in the game, spending the rest of the year on injured reserve.

Asked how many players Pittsburgh lost in that game, Phillips quipped "Pittsburgh puts other people's players on injured reserve."

Pittsburgh, with the best regular season record in pro football at 14-2, won the AFC Central Division title while the Oilers placed second with a 10-6 record and got into the playoffs as a wild card team.

But the Oilers, playing their best football of the season, have beaten Miami 17-9 and Eastern Conference champion New England 31-14 on successive weeks to gain the title game and their first chance at a Super Bowl berth.

Phillips says the Oilers forged their own way into the championship game.

"We believe we have earned the right to be playing for the AFC championship," Phillips said. "I don't think anybody can look back and say that we kicked out at any point during the season. I think everything we've done we've earned and when you do it that way you have a right to be proud."

The Oilers are a much better team in the playoffs than they were early in the regular season, Phillips said.

"When we started out we could run the football pretty well but we didn't throw as well as we needed to," Phillips said.

"But from the fourth game on, we started getting more play action passes, depending on what our runs were doing."

The Oilers resumed workouts today after getting an extra day off from drills Tuesday.

Caprock Surges Past Girls Team

AMARILLO - The Caprock Longhorns outscored the Hereford Whitefaces 29-18 in the second half to win 48-33 in girls basketball action last night.

Hereford, in its bid for a win to start off the new year, trailed 19-15 at the end of the second period. Hereford had trailed by nine at the start of the second stanza, but used a tough defense and the scoring of Earle Sanders and Louise Mays to pull to within four by the end of the half.

The third quarter proved to be the 'Faces downfall as they were outscored 18-7 to fall behind 37-22. There was an attempted fourth quarter comeback but it was a case of too little too late as Coach Roy Shipp's cagers failed to record their third win of the season.

The junior varsity game was a different story though as they whipped the host Longhorns, 51-32, behind the 18 points of Corena Suarez. Also scoring for the JV's was Kerry Hacker with 10. Playing a consistent game throughout the night, the cagers under Coach Gail Barnes never trailed in the game.

Next action for the girls will be Friday when they host the Borger Bulldogs at the high school gym.

CHICAGO (AP) - Forward Scott May has returned to the Chicago Bulls roster for the first time since last October after recovering from his second serious knee injury in two years.

A spokesman for the National Basketball Association team said Tuesday the Bulls made room on their roster for their No. 1 draft pick in 1976 by placing forward Steve Sheppard on waivers.

Sheppard, a second-round draft pick in 1977 from Maryland, has averaged two points per game in his 22 appearances this season.

May, a former Indiana star, averaged 14.6 points per game during his rookie year and 13.4 points a game last season. He played in two games this season before injuring his right knee.

May scored four points Tuesday night in a loss to the Washington Bullets.

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, West Germany - Josef Same of Czechoslovakia soared 101 meters to win the wind-shortened second event of the annual Four-Hill Ski leap of 100 meters.

Peniti Kokkonen of Finland finished third with a 97-meter jump and 114.4 points and seized the overall lead with 346.8 points.

Jochen Danneberg of East Germany is second in the overall standings with 344.6 points.

BOSTON - The New England Patriots filed a federal court suit against the University of Colorado for allegedly seeking to lure Coach Chuck Fairbanks away from a lucrative contract with the National Football League team and return to college coaching.

Fairbanks accepted the Colorado job last month, then took himself out of the running so he could coach the Patriots in the NFL playoffs.

MELBOURNE, Australia - Argentina's Guillermo Vilas defeated John Marks of Australia 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, to win the $300,000 Australian Open.

MIAMI (AP) - Oklahoma guard Reggie Kinlaw, who made 11 unassisted tackles in Monday's 31-24 Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska, shared most valuable player honors with Heisman trophy winner Billy Sims.

Sims, an Oklahoma junior halfback, gained 134 yards on 25 carries Monday, scoring two touchdowns. He led the nation with a season record of 1,762 yards on 231 carries.

The awards, announced Tuesday, were based on votes of sports writers covering the game.

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Earl Campbell of the Houston Oilers, the first player selected in last spring's National Football League draft, has been chosen both rookie of the year and most valuable player in the American Conference by the Sporting News, a weekly publication.

Campbell, who amassed 1,450 rushing yards for an NFL record rookie performance, was selected unanimously for the rookie award by Sporting News correspondents. In the MVP voting, he outpolled the Pittsburgh Steelers' Terry Bradshaw, his closest rival.

It marked the first time a first-year player had been accorded dual honors by the Sporting News since Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns was similarly feted in 1957.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Common gas problem

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me something about gas gangrene. Do you have pains internally and especially if you are a diabetic? I belch quite a lot and pass gas.

DEAR READER — You can stop worrying about gas gangrene. It's caused by a bacteria that lives only in an environment without oxygen. It has nothing at all to do with the gas problem that's so common in our population.

At least 10 percent of the population has gas problems. They are usually the result of swallowing air or from fermentation that releases gas from undigested foods. A good example here would be an adult who can't tolerate milk and the undigested milk sugar is fermented releasing gas.

If you're swallowing air, you need to be able to find out that's what you are doing and how to stop the habit. If it's from foods, they need to be eliminated.

If it is from poor colon function, you need to improve the function of your colon, literally getting rid of spastic and irritable colon problems that many people have. To help you understand the causes of gas and how to manage it, I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-8, Controlling Gasousness.

Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Since symptoms from gas are common because of irritable or spastic colon problems, many people do better by increasing the amount of bulk in their diet. However, during the first three weeks after a person starts adding bran and bulk to the diet, he may have an increase in gas. If you get through that stage and can tolerate an increase in bulk, it usually improves the overall picture.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have heard many stories about this and I am counting on you to set me straight. Can a girl ovulate during the days when she has her menstrual period? If she does, what are her chances of becoming pregnant if she should have sex during those days?

I've also heard that if sex occurs up to eight days after your period is over you can't become pregnant. Is there any truth to these theories? Your answer is extremely important. I am sure that many other girls are wondering.

DEAR READER — And the fact that many other girls don't know the answers to these questions is one reason why there are so many teenage pregnancies. The only sure way of not getting pregnant when you don't want to is to not engage in sexual activity.

The basic rule that you're searching for is that a girl almost always ovulates 14 days before she has her menstrual period. Very few women are absolutely regular all the time.
Once the menstrual period occurs, you can count back 14 days and say that's when ovulation occurred. You'd better not count forward from the menstrual period though because the cycle may be different that month and you could be wrong.

It follows that it is possible for a woman to start to ovulate during a menstrual period but it is unlikely. If she did, her next menstrual period should occur in two weeks instead of four weeks. It follows that it is possible for a woman to ovulate very shortly after her menstrual period as well. They usually don't if they are regular.

In a woman who is regular the period in which she is most likely to get pregnant is midway in the 28-day cycle. Keep in mind that these are general rules and although a girl may be regular month after month, the very time that you count on it can be the very month that ovulation occurs early.

Shag won't stay put

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I have a new short shag carpet wall to wall. My problem is that I put a runner of the same carpet in the hall where there is a lot of wear and it keeps moving all around. I hope someone can tell me how to keep it straight. — SALLY

DEAR SALLY — You might try sewing a rubber canning jar ring on the underneath corners of the runner. If it is very long two or three might be sewn on each side too. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My little granddaughter spilled a strawberry drink on my beige carpet and I cannot remove the stain. I tried club soda and for the first time it did not work.

Also, what would remove a brown stain from a cotton sweatshirt caused by a hot iron? — KATE
DEAR KATE — Evidently you scorched the shirt with the hot iron. If the stains are light you can rub with hot suds and bleach in the sun or dampen with hydrogen peroxide and then launder in hot suds. When stains are deep they cannot be removed.

To remove fruit juice or soft drink stains from a carpet mix a teaspoon of a neutral detergent in one-half pint lukewarm water. Let this become absorbed in a sponge and then squeeze on stains. Blot up with a clean sponge or cloth. Do the same with clear water. Repeat several times.

Blot up remaining moisture and repeat the procedure using one-half cup white vinegar in 1 1/2 cups of lukewarm water. Squeeze on stain and leave two or three minutes, then blot with a damp towel. Rinse with clear water several times using the same method. Cover with a cloth pad or paper towels, put books on top to weight the towels down to absorb all of the moisture.

When removing any stains from a carpet be careful not to saturate or even wet the back of the rug. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When taking the band off rickrack or bias tape I put the band under the tape bundle so as to have the name and color number should I run short. Colors are different even when the name is the same.
When rolling a skein of wool into a ball I roll the ball around the wrapper that was on the skein and always have the band and eye lot color. — JEAN

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Seven state agencies and the U.S. Department of Justice entered historic agreements ending a 14-month dispute over alleged job discrimination in state government.

Separate orders were signed before U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts committing the agencies to affirmative action programs to improve job opportunities for minorities and women over a five-year period.

Assistant Attorney General Steve Bickerstaff, who headed negotiations for the state, said the settlement is unprecedented over the nation, because it also binds the federal government to assist state agencies in their efforts.

State Rep. Paul Ragsdale, an activist in the fight against job discrimination, called the settlement "the most significant stride toward true equal employment opportunity ever taken by this state."

All seven agencies denied any pattern of discrimination against women and minorities in their recruiting, hiring and promotion practices. But they agreed to specific goals of equal opportunity in future hiring and promotion, under justice department monitoring.

Instead of the old quota systems, the agencies are supposed to hire minorities and women in proportion to the "relevant labor force" for each group or class of employees.

Three-member "employee specific relief panels," will assess complaints and compensation for job denial, and monetary payments can be made ranging from $250 to $650 a year over a three-year period.

Entering agreements were the Merit System Council, Department of Human Resources, Department of Health, Texas Employment Commission, Parks and Wildlife Department, Rehabilitation Commission and Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, named in the original justice department complaint in October-November, 1977, declined to join the agreement. The Agriculture Department was dropped from the complaint.

Coming to Town

Texas legislators will be coming back to town next week, for their biennial session beginning January 9.

A variety of major issues confront them.

Included on the agenda is the state $18 billion budget, tax reduction schemes, school finance and other associated money problems, election law revision including consideration of reviving the Texas presidential preference primary, initiative and referendum proposals by which citizens in some states are allowed to initiate or veto legislation, the problem of products liability law changes, and proposed increases in the 10 per cent ceiling on home mortgages.

Governor-elect Bill Clements has taken strong positions on some of the key issues, placing him at odds with legislative leadership—mainly in the area of tax reduction. Clements demands a billion dollars in relief, in addition to that granted by the tax relief amendment of last November 7. Top legislators say the money just isn't there.

Clements has threatened vetoes and special sessions if he doesn't get consideration out of the legislature on some key points in his program. Uncertainty over what to expect has lobbyists and other veteran legislative observers uneasy.

Homes Criticized

An attorney general's task force charged patients are abused or neglected in a small minority of Texas nursing homes and blamed the Texas Department of Health for lax enforcement.

The task force report claimed the health department takes a protective attitude toward the industry it is charged with regulating.

Three legislative proposals were advanced: direct fines for violations of standards, a receivership statute to crack down on serious abuses and right of patients to bring private actions to redress abuse and neglect.

The report showed 27 per cent of the 1,000 Texas nursing homes are owned by 10 corporations and more than 11 per cent are owned or controlled by a single corporation, ARA Services Inc.

AG Opinions

A nurse practitioner may not generally provide medications to patients under standing orders unless a physician has prescribed for the individual patient, Atty. Gen. John Hill said.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A class paper prepared by university students is not a public document.

A commissioners court is not required to approve a salary or budget recommended by a juvenile board.

A bank may participate on a fee basis in a cash dispensing machine network operated by a corporate vendor without violating the constitutional prohibition against branch banking.

A justice of the peace or municipal court judge has no authority or power to change a complaint charging a moving violation to a non-moving violation.

Short Shorts

Texas State Teachers Association is backing a $1.1 billion school finance bill in the upcoming legislative session.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Travis E. James of Huffman and Kenneth E. Hood III of Richardson to the Polygraph Examiners Board and H.W. Monzingo of Del Rio to the board of regents of the Texas State Technical Institute.

In 1868 Longhorn Texas, a convicted outlaw had two choices: get hung, or get married.

Victory Over Penn State The Reason

Crimson Tide Is Top Football Team

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Crimson Tide of Alabama, conquerors of previously unbeaten Penn State in the Sugar Bowl, avenged last season's disappointing runner-up finish and was named college football's national champion for 1978 today by The Associated Press.

In a tight three-way race with Southern California and Oklahoma, Alabama received 38 first-place votes and 1,317 of a possible 1,360 points from a nationwide panel of 68 sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama defeated Penn State 14-7 Monday and thereby captured the national championship it thought it should have won a year ago when the Crimson Tide wound up behind Notre Dame in a controversial finish.

Southern Cal, which defeated Michigan 17-10 in the Rose Bowl, received 19 first-place votes and 1,285 points. Oklahoma received the remaining 11 first-place votes and 1,251 points following a 31-24 triumph over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

Alabama, Southern Cal and Oklahoma all trailed top-rated Penn State in the final regular-season poll. But the Nittany Lions slipped from first place to fourth with 1,168 points after Alabama ended their 19-game winning streak.

Michigan held onto fifth place with 989 points despite its loss in the Rose Bowl. Clemson moved up from seventh to sixth with 950 points for a 17-15 decision over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. Notre Dame's defending national champions finished seventh this time with 914 points. The Fighting Irish jumped from 10th place by edging Houston 35-34 in the Cotton Bowl.

Nebraska, the only team to beat Oklahoma this season, dropped from sixth to eighth after bowing to the Sooners in the Orange Bowl rematch. The Cornhuskers received 865 points.

The Texas Longhorns, who lost out on the national championship a year ago when they lost to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, climbed from 14th to ninth place with 706 points following a 42-0 rout of Maryland in the Sun Bowl.

Houston, ninth in the final regular-season poll, rounded out the Top Ten with 698 points.

The Second Ten consisted of Arkansas, Michigan State, Purdue, UCLA, Missouri, Georgia, Stanford, North Carolina

State, Texas A&M and Maryland.

Michigan State No. 1 In Basketball

By JIM O'CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

Michigan State, winner of the Far West Classic, took advantage of losses by the top three teams in last week's poll to move into first place in The Associated Press weekly college basketball poll.

The Spartans, ranked fourth last week, defeated Washington State, Oregon State and Big Ten rival Indiana on the way to the Far West title. Those triumphs, coupled with two losses by Duke and one each by Notre Dame and UCLA, enabled Michigan State to collect 31 first-place votes and 969 points.

The top eight teams in this week's poll each received at least one first-place vote from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Notre Dame held on to second place, receiving seven first-place votes and 878 points despite its 81-76 loss to Kentucky.

North Carolina moved from fifth place to third after winning the Rochester Classic with convincing victories over Dartmouth and Niagara.

Illinois, still undefeated at 12-0 and in fourth place, got four first-place votes. LSU, ranked seventh, received three and Duke, UCLA and North Carolina State got one each for the top spot.

Duke, a double loser in the ECAC Holiday Festival, dropped from the top for the first time since the preseason poll. The Blue Devils received 757 points, good for fifth place. UCLA, 75-72 which lost to Stanford in its conference opener, fell to sixth with 741 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten were LSU with 728 points, North Carolina State with 609, Kentucky with 584 and Texas A&M with 404 points.

Indiana State again leads the Second Ten. The Sycamores, who blasted Morris Harvey 99-63, received 387 points.

Georgetown, Michigan, Arkansas, Long Beach State, Louisville, Marquette, Mississippi State, Kansas and Maryland completed the weekly rankings.

Mississippi State, 8-0, is a newcomer to the poll, while Maryland returns to the Top Twenty with a record of 11-2.

Nevada-Las Vegas, runner-up to Temple in the Las Vegas Classic, and Syracuse fell from the ratings. Syracuse won its only game of the week.

Malavasi Confident Of Victory

DALLAS (AP) — Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi said Tuesday he thinks the Rams will kick the Dallas Cowboys again Sunday in the National Football Conference championship game.

In September before a regular season National Football League game, Malavasi predicted the Rams "will kick the Cowboys' butts."

They then did so 27-14 in Los Angeles Coliseum.

Malavasi said in a telephone hookup with writers Tuesday "I'm very confident our team can do the same thing Sunday."

Asked specifically what advantages he felt the Rams enjoyed, Malavasi answered "It is to our advantage to play on grass and on our homefield. We don't play many games on Astroturf."

Also, Malavasi said "it is a possibility" the Rams have the emotional edge over the defending Super Bowl champions. The Rams have never been to the Super Bowl, trying and failing each time in the NFC title game.

Coach Tom Landry addressed himself to Malavasi's prediction with a wry smile: "Well, they did it once. But I think we will be there (the Coliseum)."

Pressed whether the Cowboys have trouble playing on natural grass, Landry said "I don't play on it myself, you'll have to ask the players. I guess the only reason this has come up is because we lost at Los Angeles, Washington and Miami on grass. Those were good teams. We didn't lose to many lower echelon teams on grass."

The Cowboys beat Los Angeles 37-7 in 1975 on grass.

Landry got some good news from the doctors Tuesday — quarterback Roger Staubach has recovered from suffering a slight concussion in a 27-20 NFC playoff victory over Atlanta Saturday.

"I'm confident Roger will be OK once we start work-if we can find a place to work," said Landry.

"The doctors said Roger will be OK and I don't think he will have any trouble," said Landry.

Landry said films of the victory over the Falcons showed Falcon linebacker Robert Pennywell delivered to Staubach "was not a deliberate blow. It was a clean tackle. His helmet might have caught Roger in the chest but I don't believe it was intentional."

Landry had lashed out at Pennywell after the game, saying he was told Pennywell hit Staubach with an elbow and that National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle should investigate.

"Somebody told me it was an elbow and my reaction was based on that," said Landry.

Pennywell was penalized for roughing the quarterback on the play. He said officials told him he drew a flag for driving Staubach into the artificial turf in Texas Stadium.

Landry said the ice—which was rapidly melting away Tuesday—shouldn't hurt Cowboy practice plans for the Rams.

"I'm not worried," said Landry. "The key days are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday."

The Cowboys will leave Dallas at 7 p.m. Friday to fly to Los Angeles.
