

United Way Gives $8,000 to Agencies

Deaf Smith County United Way directors today voted to give to the agencies what President Paul Sims called "some relief" by cutting proposed United Way local expenses by $8,000.

The board also discussed plans for next fall's fund drive, approved recommendations for a nominating committee and voted to give plaques of appreciation to businesses on payroll deduction during this morning's meeting at the Railroad Crossing Steak House.

"I feel we're obligated to give the agencies everything we can," said Sims while proposing to trim expenses.

Of the recent drive's $199,815, the board had budgeted $11,500 for local expenses, which would have paid the salary of a professional fundraiser. The board decided this morning not to hire a fundraiser.

Sims, in presenting a financial report to the board, announced that the fund drive collected $134,110, which amounts to 68 percent of the original United Way goal. With the $8,000 added to the agency allocations, participating United Way organizations will receive 70 percent of their operating expenses.

Director Raymond White proposed that agencies be allowed to conduct fund-raising projects provided that no business or house-to-house solicitations are conducted.

White said the proposal falls within United Way guidelines, which do not permit agencies to return to local businesses to solicit funds following the UW drive.

Other directors agreed that the agencies should be allowed to hold projects only when admission fees are collected at the door.

Sims announced that United Way officials will meet with agency representatives "in about two weeks" to discuss how the just-ended drive will affect the participating organizations.

White suggested that the United Way executive committee of directors meet with agency representatives prior to that meeting to obtain their opinions on the 1978-79 fund drive and to begin plans for next fall's fund drive.

Board member Lynton Allred said that directors should "show a willingness" to be replaced on the United Way board by agency representatives or persons closely connected with the organizations as a possible step towards ensuring the drive's success.

Allred added that such a transition would result in the agencies being more directly involved in United Way, and other directors agreed that the move might be an important step.

"When our executive committee meets with the agencies' executive committees, we'll get their ideas about that kind of a transition," Sims said.

The president recommended that

Gayle Cotten, Harrell Holder, Mal Manchee, Bud Eades and Rex Easterwood be appointed to the nominating committee of United Way. Sims said that Eades had agreed to serve as chairman of the committee, which will make recommendations for new directors and officers.

The board accepted the recommendations.

Plaques will be given to those businesses which have allowed payroll deduction for their employees, the board decided.

Stones' Trial Date Set in Plainview

PLAINVIEW--The murder trial of Loy and Louise Stone of Easter who are accused of the shotgun slaying of a 15-year-old girl has been set for April 16 in 64th District Court here.

The trial was moved to Plainview from Dimmitt on a change of venue hearing Jan. 5.

Stone, 48, and his wife, 47, are charged in the Halloween, 1977 slaying of Roxanne Casas, a Dimmitt school girl. Miss Casas was one of five persons in a pickup which was turning around in the driveway of the Stone farm near Easter when a shotgun blast was fired.

Travis Shelton of Lubbock and James Doores of Amarillo are defending the Stones.

Midwest Hurt By Snowstorm

CHICAGO (AP) - Emergency blood supplies from the West Coast were airlifted to Chicago as travel remained snarled by snow in the Midwest. Temperatures finally warmed a bit, easing energy demands.

The death toll from the weekend storm and bitter cold rose to 61.

Checker Taxi Cab Co. offered $25 to anyone willing to dig out one of more than 100 abandoned cabs in Chicago, and National Guard troops planned to use hoists today in Milwaukee to free snowbound autos.

In Iowa, National Guard troops and farmers used helicopters and snowmobiles to take hay to starving cattle. Some animals were reported stuck in snow up to their necks.

Gov. Joseph P. Teasdale turned down a plea for National Guard troops to feed cattle in Missouri because "the state isn't equipped to handle" the job, a spokesman said.

The governors of Wisconsin, Missouri and Indiana added portions of their states to the list of states - Illinois, Iowa and Kansas - seeking or getting federal disaster relief.

There have been 22 reported deaths in Illinois, 15 in Wisconsin, nine in Kansas, six in Missouri, four in Iowa, three in Michigan, and one each in Ohio and

Singers Invited To China

The Hereford Chamber Singers have been invited to sing in China as part of a cultural exchange between the communist country and the United States, it has been announced by the club.

The Chamber Singers are among the first persons to be invited to Communist China since President Carter announced the normalization of relations between the countries.

Representatives of the singers were asked to join a group of 50 persons from across the country to tour Hainan and then China to meet dignitaries as a step towards future cultural and artistic exchanges.

"Due to a very short notice and the great expense involved, it is doubtful that anyone could make the trip," Campbell said. "But we were greatly honored to be among the first to be asked to go."

The trip to China by the small group is being sponsored by Friendship Ambassadors.

Outstanding Beet Growers To Be Honored Saturday

The Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association will honor its outstanding beet producers and the Hereford Brand will recognize Deaf Smith County's "Man of the Year in Agriculture" at the association's annual banquet to be held Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Bull Barn.

The annual beet growers business meeting will precede the banquet on Friday afternoon.

The business meeting will be held at 2 p.m. at the Community Center, and will be highlighted by an address by David C. Carter, president of the U.S. Beet Sugar Association, Washington, D.C.

Tickets for the banquet are on sale at both city banks at a fee of $6. Tickets will also be available at the door the night of the banquet.

Robert Gadberry, vice president and director of public affairs with the Fourth National Bank and Trust Co., Wichita, Kan. will be the featured speaker.

The Brand award will recognize achievement in farming and/or ranching practices by a local agriculturalist, as well as the individual's support and aid to the agribusiness industry and participation in community affairs.

A committee which includes John Fuston, Deaf Smith County ASCS executive director, Tom Cunningham, soil conservationist with the Deaf Smith County Soil Conservation Service office, Jess Robinson, Hereford FFA and Young Farmers advisor, and Jim Steiert, Brand farm editor, are responsible for the selection of the agriculture award winner.

Plainview Country Boy Goes Hog-Wild in Business

DALLAS (AP) - The Head Sausage Peddler just kept turning over rocks, and sure enough, he came up with a big ol' bait worm.

That's really the way Jimmy Dean talks, whether he's working as board chairman of Jimmy Dean Sausage, country entertainer, music producer or jacket maker.

Dean has parlayed his poor, small town Plainview, Texas background and soft drawl into millions. Some of the cash comes from entertaining and other ventures, but most of it comes from hogs.

The hogs are made into Jimmy Dean's Pure Pork Sausage, and their skins are turned into wearing apparel. The proceeds from these processes provided the sausage company around $40 million last year, and Dean expects to gross around $100 million this year.

The man who gave us "Big Bad John," a recording about the fictional hero of a mine disaster, presides over these enterprises from different locales. There's a condominium along Dallas' plush Turtle Creek Boulevard, a home in New Jersey, a 53-foot yacht that's his home for a couple months a year, and land in Charlestown, S.C., where Dean vows he will build a home some day.

If Dean's folksy manner and casual style of dress are part of the man, so is the elegance of the Dallas office, on the 11th floor of a high-rise north of downtown. The furnishings are tasteful, but there are some hints.

The walls in the corridor leading to the office of the Head Sausage Peddler his own term are decorated with grade-school sketches made for a class project at a school in Iowa, where Dean has a meat packing plant.

Beneath a chair in the office lay two golf balls, often used for impromptu putting matches where a dollar or two may change hands. The putting is done on the carpet, sometimes across a sculpted corporate symbol-two cowboy boots, arranged to somehow make you know they stand for "JD." Visitors probably should not putt against the peddler-he knows the breaks in the carpet.

His smile is easy, his laugh spontaneous.

But there is still a slight bitterness, a bitterness once greatly magnified in a falling out with his younger brother Don, who was his partner in the sausage-making business.

Many brothers fight, but the Deans feud. Jimmy at one point obtained a temporary restraining order to keep Don away from the family home at Plainview after he said Don nearly ruined the business. Jimmy bought Don out, and Don, who lives in nearby Irving, has a pending slander suit against Jimmy.

"It was really for the best," Dean said in a rare somber moment during an interview. "I was bitter for a long, long time. I think now it's more pity."

He said the two were never close growing up, calling Don the "fairheaded one" while referring to himself as "the black sheep, the wanderer."

Nor did Don take part in Jimmy's rise in the entertainment ranks.

Is Don jealous of Jimmy's celebrity?

"You know...I really feel like that probably may be the thing," Jimmy Dean said. "There was a certain paranoia there."

Dean is anxious to reopen a pork plant in Plainview. He shut the plant down a year ago, claiming it was costing him $27,000 a week to keep it open. He feels that some in his hometown are bitter about the lost jobs, but he hopes to make amends.

The rebirth of the Plainview facility is a key to his money projections. He won't say what will be produced there, but it won't be sausage.

"It's a totally new thing," he said. "I'll tell you what, I'm not an avasive person, but I'm not at liberty to say. But we will use about 8,000 hogs a week there, possibly more." He points out that the plant will mean around 110 new jobs, with additional benefits to farmers in the area.

"This is not like it was when we built the plant originally," Dean said. "We built it and said I hope we can sell some sausage. Everything that we will produce there this time is already sold."

Dean takes his sausage seriously. He said he got into the business because he believed there was a market for a quality product... and because he's liked sausage ever since he was a kid.

There is no claim that Jimmy Dean's sausage is perfect. "I don't say we don't make a mistake," he said. "You'll find a bone chip. You get a guy working real close with a boning knife and it'll get in there."

Dean believes in telling it like it is, and said he runs his business the same way. "We're all partners, really," he said. "There's no boss. I don't want our people cuss-fighting when we can talk about any problem."

He likes doing his own ads, too. "It's not Myrtle Bluckumfutch talking about Myrtle Bluckumfutch's chicken and she don't own none of it. Hell, I go into the plants. I know what's going on."

Dean cackles when he tells about a new product problem. He wanted to change the flavor of the sausage to attract a new market segment. He wanted to call the new product Jimmy

Iranian Earthquake Kills 129 Persons

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - At least 129 persons were reported killed by an earthquake in southeast Iran as the rest of the country celebrated the departure of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

The quake hit at 1:51 p.m. Tuesday - 5:21 a.m. EST - demolishing the villages of Bazanbad, Khorramabad and Ebrahimabad in the Quae'n area 500 miles southeast of Tehran, the state radio said.

The broadcast said 129 bodies had been recovered so far and that it was expected more would be pulled from the debris.

The Red Lion and Sun, Iran's Red Cross, said rescue teams had reached the remote villages about 100 miles west of the Afghan border and more than 120 miles south of the holy city of Mashhad.

However, relief efforts could be impeded because planes and trains have been idled by months of anti-shah strikes and there is little gasoline for motor vehicles because of the long oil workers' walkout.

The Hagfors seismological observatory in Sweden said the quake registered an estimated 6.8 on the Richter scale. No readings were available in Tehran because employees of the university's Geophysics Institute who had been on an anti-shah strike joined throngs of others rejoicing over his departure after a year of antigovernment violence in which at least 1,500 persons died.

Hightower Replaces Mahon on Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Texas congressional delegation, revamped by the retirements and defeats of several powerful lawmakers, has regained several crucial committee assignments in the U.S. House.

The biggest news Tuesday for Texans was the appointment of freshman Rep. Martin Frost to the powerful House Rules Committee by Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill.

Two Democrats, Reps. Jack Hightower and Sam Hall were, as expected, named to fill key committee posts vacated by the retirement of George Mahon of Lubbock and the primary defeat of John Young of Corpus Christi.

Hightower moved from the House Agriculture Committee over to the Appropriations Committee. Hall, beginning his third term, joined fellow Texan Jake Pickle on the Ways and Means Committee.

Frost, a Democrat from Grand Prairie will replace Omar Bureson, one of nine Texans who retired from the House last year.

Each bill must pass through the 11-member Rules Committee before reaching the floor of the House.

"I am deeply honored that Speaker O'Neill has placed his confidence in me by nominating me for the House Rules Committee," said Frost. "To be named to the committee as a freshman Democrat is a humbling experience and I will work hard to justify the speaker's trust."

Iran Oil Cutoff

Inspires Carter Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration is asking some 1,500 state and local officials and U.S. business leaders to take immediate steps to conserve energy in response to the cutoff of oil from Iran.

If the voluntary program doesn't work and if Iranian production is not restored soon, more stringent steps may be needed to curb the nation's appetite for imported oil, say Energy Department officials.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger was going before the Senate Energy Committee today to outline steps the administration is taking to deal with the Iranian situation.

The current unrest in Iran has resulted in a complete halt in oil exports from that nation - exports that had been running at around 6 million barrels a day. Of that, the United States had been getting about 900,000 barrels a day, or about 5 percent of its total consumption.

Schlesinger aide Jim Bishop said letters from Schlesinger are being mailed to "more than 1,500 governors, business leaders, mayors and county officials."

The letters urge them to use their leadership to encourage further voluntary energy conservation in response to the cutoff of oil exports from Iran.

Governors are being asked to more strictly enforce the 55 mph speed limit and urged to turn the heat down in state-owned buildings, Bishop said.

Davis Awaits Verdict In Conspiracy Trial

HOUSTON (AP) - Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis, who about 13 months ago waited in the West Texas city of Amarillo for a jury's verdict on a capital murder, waited once again today for 12 persons to decide his fate in a murder conspiracy trial.

Davis, 45, was acquitted in December 1977 of the slaying of this 12-year-old stepdaughter.

Today he sat in a crowded courtroom, this time in Houston, to await a verdict from seven men and five women who have listened to 11 weeks of testimony and final arguments.

When the case went to the jury at 6:16 p.m. Tuesday, Fort Worth Judge Joe Eidson sat on the front row no more than five feet from the jury box, his head cupped in his hands.

Davis was accused of soliciting the murder of Eidson, the judge who had presided over the long and bitter divorce case of the defendant and his estranged wife Priscilla.

Eidson was asked if he was at the trial at the request of the prosecution and he said, "Let us say it was a suggestion. I have tried to cooperate with the state."

New Country Club Officers

Dave Hopper, left, was named president and Gladys Cavness was elected treasurer of the Hereford Country Club board of directors during an annual meeting last night. Wes Fisher, not pictured, was named vice president. Elected as new directors on the board were Dan McWhorter, Bill Walden, Earl Brookhart, Tom Legate and Rex Easterwood. Hopper, who served as president in 1977, succeeds Terry Caviness as president of the board.

Hopper Named as HCC President

Dave Hopper was named as president of the Hereford Country Club last night, following the election of five new directors and reorganization of the board of directors.

Wes Fisher was named vice president of the board, and Gladys Cavness was elected treasurer. Elected to the board for three-year terms were Dan McWhorter, Bill Walden, Earl Brookhart, Tom Legate and Rex Easterwood.

Hopper had served as president of the board in 1977. He succeeds Terry Caviness, who presided over the annual meeting last night. Emory Brownlow was vice president last year and Richard Green served as treasurer. Directors whose terms expired were Brownlow, Caviness, Ed Allison, Earl Stagner and Gene King.

Members approved three amendments to the bylaws at the meeting. One concerned payment of delinquent dues; another set a one-year limit on inactive memberships, and the third provided identification for board members. Members also approved the annual financial statement. Membership was reported at 308, and a limit of 325 has been established.

Pensions Not Covered

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Tuesday that non-contributory pension plans covering millions of American workers are not subject to federal securities laws.

In an opinion by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., the high court overturned a federal appeals court ruling that had left hundreds of thousands of retirement funds potentially liable for enormous money damages.

Tuesday's decision stripped former Illinois trucker John Daniel, a 68-year-old hospital patient, of a preliminary legal victory over the Teamsters Pension Trust Fund.

Daniel, who retired at age 63 in 1973 because of cataracts, had been told at various times during his career that he would receive a monthly pension of $400 if he retired after 20 years of service and above age 60. But after his retirement, Daniel was told that an involuntary four-month layoff in 1961 prevented him from having 20 years of continuous employment and made him ineligible for any pension benefits at all.

Daniel sued his local union and the Teamsters' national unit, charging that he and others covered by the non-contributory pension plan were victims of misleading statements and omissions.

Such acts violated the anti-fraud provisions of federal securities laws, he charged. Before Daniel's suit proceeded very far, however, the pension fund operators claimed that federal securities laws could not be applied to a non-contributory pension plan. Their assertion won unanimous Supreme Court support Tuesday.

Daniel's federal lawsuit against the fund will be dismissed. "We hold that the Securities Acts do not apply to a non-contributory, compulsory pension plan," Powell wrote for the court.

Because Daniels other charges against the fund "do not provide grounds for relief in federal court," his suit should be dismissed, Powell said.

Daniel's case had been watched closely by American business and the government. Its importance stems from the enormous impact the lower court's ruling would have had in requiring non-contributory pension coverages to be spelled out in great detail.

Numerous organized labor and industry groups aided with the Teamsters in urging reversal of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling. But the Securities and Exchange Commission argued that an employee's interest in a pension is a "security" and should be protected by federal securities laws.

Also siding with Daniel was the Gray Panthers, a national organization promoting the rights of senior citizens.

Powell's 18-page opinion concluded that a worker's interest in his pension does not meet the common definition of an investment contract.

Under the court's decision, however, Daniel and others in similar situations are free to seek legal remedies in state courts — for example, on breach-of-contract charges.

Tuesday's ruling came on an 8-0 vote. Justice John Paul Stevens took no part in deciding the case, for reasons not made public.

Dean's Southern Style Sausage.

The federal government told him that was a no-no, because it was made in Iowa. Dean bristled, and said he called a government official.

"I told him, you know I'm gonna put out southern style anyway. He told me, 'I tell you what I'm gonna do ... I'm gonna fine you $10,000 and put you in jail for 10 years.' I said I'd like to reconsider."

The product is marketed as Jimmy Dean's Special Recipe. He said it's accounted for a big rise in profits.

The climb from boyhood poverty started with music, and it still has a part in the sausage-maker's life. He said he'll make a new recording soon in Nashville and is working on putting together a unit to play some dates in Nevada.

The boyish-looking 50-year-old said he saved his money from the music and invested "a little here and a little there. If you ever saw my act, you'd know I had to diversify."

Dean dresses modishly, with fresh-styled hair, fancy jeans and a sport shirt. He wears a gold-and-diamond watch, bracelet and two rings. His glasses are tinted, but he comes off more of a country boy than a celebrity.

His comments are direct and open. A female employee in the room is told, "You got a thing (thread) on your butt, there." She laughs and removes the thread.

A lot of the musician is still alive. He can recall and recite lyrics without pausing.

Dean made his way through the music world with only one encounter with drugs. He said he was playing Las Vegas, two shows daily, seven days a week for four weeks. "I was tired," he said. "I called this doctor, and he sent over some pills. I can't remember what they were called, but they were tiny yellow ones. He said take one about a half hour before each show. I took one, and boing! I could have hunted ducks with a rake."

He said he later noticed that he was sweating and his heart was pounding.

"I took what was left of them pills and put them in the commode ... flushed 'em, man. The lids blew off of the city sewers."

Nor were all the performances successful. He once had a horse fall on him prior to a performance in the Astrodome in Houston.

"I noticed during the set, I could hear the blood squishing in my boot. They had to cut off the boot."

Dean clearly enjoys his life and probably has all the money he'll ever need.

"No, 'cause I'd die. I saw 'em take my granddaddy off the farm and kinda put him out to pasture ... and the old man just kinda withered up and died."

With an 11th-grade education he hesitates to say it, fearing that children will use him for an example. Dean has managed to claw his way to prosperity. Any secret?

"I've always tried to be aware of where I was dumb ... and then endeavored to hire the smartest son-of-a-gun I could find."

Hereford Bull

and money managers are forecasting a depression by the third quarter of 1979. No one knows for sure what lies ahead, and it's a good thing we don't. Life would get boring if people could accurately predict the future.

Just because some top-drawer economists have made the forecast, we shouldn't get too excited. Economists probably miss the mark more than weather forecasters.

One economist predicts a very short, very shallow recession for the total economy. Some believe that a decline in business activity would be good because it would slow down inflation.

Let's just remember that the predictions for the total economy don't always cover us in this part of the country. If farm prices reach decent levels and the cattle market stays up, then we sure won't have a recession here.

Even as we worry about inflation and a possible recession, we Americans need to remind ourselves that we have it pretty good these days. We are blessed with all manner of good things. We enjoy the fruits of the earth and our labors to an extent far beyond that of any previous generation in any land.

We have poor people, but not as many as we once did, and even the poor by today's standards would be rich in comparison with people in many lands on this earth. We spend only a portion of our income for food, clothing and shelter, leaving us something for recreation and entertainment and even foolish pursuits.

It's great to be an American. Maybe it sounds trite, but we need to count our blessings as we head into another year.

Cancer Society

Slates 1st Meeting

The Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society will conduct its first meeting of 1979 at noon Friday at the country club according to president Bob Nigh.

Reports on the District Annual Meeting held last Friday in Amarillo will be included during the business meeting.

"We will also hear from district representative Gary Moberly, and launch serious plans for the upcoming Annual Cancer Crusade," Nigh said.

"All ACS board members as well as those interested in becoming working board members are urged to attend the meeting Friday," Nigh concluded.

District Election Scheduled

The High Plains Under-ground Water Conservation District No. 1 board of directors has announced that Saturday, January 20, is to be election day for electing two members to the district's board and 14 county committeemen.

Jim Conkwright will be running unopposed for the Precinct Four Director's position. Precinct Four includes the Water District territory located in Armstrong, Deaf Smith, Potter and Randall Counties. Voting for Director's is done "at-large" for qualified voters residing in the Water District area of each of the counties.

County committeemen in Deaf Smith County are to be elected from Commissioner's Precinct's Three and Four. The candidates, both unopposed, are W.L. Davis, Jr., in Commissioner's Precinct Three, and Bill Cleavinger in Commissioner's Precinct Four.

Qualified voters residing within each of the respective Commissioner's Precincts may vote only for the candidate from their precinct.

All voting is to take place at the Hereford Community Center from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

LINNIE MAE ROBERSON

Services for Linnie Mae Roberson, 82, are being conducted today in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Roberson, a resident of Hereford for 57 years, died Sunday night in Westgate Nursing Home, where she had been living for one year.

Obituaries

Mrs. Roberson was born Sept. 15, 1896, in Denton. She married Thomas Wiley Roberson Sept. 1, 1921 in Lamesa and they made their home on a ranch in Deaf Smith County before moving into Hereford. The couple helped organize Hereford Riders Club, of which Mrs. Roberson was a charter member.

She was also active in several social clubs, including Hereford Music Study Club and La Afllatus Estudio Club. She was registered with West Texas State University Alumni Association with membership in the WT Phoenix Club.

She was a longtime member of First Baptist Church, where she taught in the Primary Sunday School Department and was a choir member since her arrival here. Mrs. Roberson was preceded in death by her husband and two sons, Melvin and Hicks.

Surviving her are a son, Donald C. Yuma, Ariz.; a brother, John L. Donald of Denver City; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

REC Picks Five As Board Nominees

The nominating committee of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative recently selected five members to run for three slots on the board of directors of the electric cooperative.

Sloan Osborn, president of the board is up for reelection this year.

"Because of Mr. Osborn's long tenure of dedication to the betterment of the Cooperative, and the completion of this three-year term will extend his service to 40 years, the Nominating Committee felt it appropriate not to nominate an opponent as a tribute to Mr. Osborn," said James Hull, manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative.

Those selected from Deaf

Smith County are incumbent Clark Andrews from the Frio area and Jerry Sublett who lives south of Hereford. Castro County nominees are incumbent Noel Golleher and Donald Wright of the Dimmitt area.

Nominations from the floor at the 1979 Annual Membership Meeting to be held March 3, at the Hereford Bull Barn are also encouraged by the nominating committee.

Those comprising this year's official directors' nominating committee are Pat Robbins, chairman, Hereford; D.L. Carmichael, Frio; Allan Dobbmer, Nazareth; Norman Hodges, Hereford; Carl Kleushens, Hereford; Clarence Martin, Frio; and Dan Petty, Dimmitt.

Familiar Pair

The well-known characters of flincky Felix Unger and lax Oscar Maddison have been revived for the hit comedy "The Odd Couple," which is now being presented by The Country Squire Dinner Theatre in Amarillo. Cast in the role of Oscar Maddison is Archie Dwyer of Hereford, shown at right. Jim Slaughter, left, is paired with Dwyer as the fastidious Felix in the Neil Simon comedy. The play will be shown Tuesday through Saturday until Feb. 10.

Jarrell to Give AARP Talk

A guest speaker will address local members of the American Association of Retired Persons Thursday night during a meeting at the Community Center, announced Ed Dziuk Sr., president of the local chapter of AARP.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend. The group will convene at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Keith Jarrell, AARP insurance plan representative. He will present a 45-minute summary of the AARP insurance program, including the purpose and benefits of the policy. After his presentation, Jarrell will answer questions from the floor. At the close of the meeting, he will be available to talk individually with any others who have personal questions.

A native of Jasper, Jarrell attended one year of College on an athletic scholarship. He served in the US Army Medical Corps from 1943-46. He resumed his studies at Baylor University and graduated in 1949.

He resides in Dallas with his wife.

Weekend Workshop Scheduled Feb. 3, 4 for 4-H Leaders

The Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood will host a weekend workshop for 4-H clothing project leaders on Feb. 3 and 4. Theme of the weekend training is "A Carousel of Ideas."

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Claudette Mitchell invites all interested 4-H leaders of prospective leaders who wish to sharpen their knowledge and skills in clothing to participate. Instructors for the training sessions will include Beverly Rhoades and Nancy Brown, extension clothing specialists from College Station; George McArthur, 4-H youth specialist, College Station; Teri DeBolt and Nancy Justice, both of Abilene.

Activities planned include a fashion show and fabric trends for 1979, cosmetic application hints, and exercise demonstrations to help compliment the fashion ideas for the new year.

For further information, interested persons may contact Miss Mitchell at the County Extension Office, located on the third floor of the Courthouse, or phone 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Chickens, Produce Priced Well Now

COLLEGE STATION - Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week are fryer chickens and several fresh fruits and vegetables, Gwendolyn Cyatt reports.

FRESH FRUITS - Grapefruit by-the-bag is the most economical choice in most markets.

Other items in best supply and most economical include bananas, apples, pears and pineapple.

Trash On Market

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I was in a supermarket looking at the magazine rack. I couldn't believe the trash I saw. I'm only a 13-year-old girl, but I know garbage when I see it.

I am speaking particularly about the movie magazines and scandal sheet newspapers. Here are the headlines of some "hot stories."

"Farrah Catches Lee With Nude Beauty."

"Burt Reynolds Leaves Girlfriend In Delivery Room - 'I'll always love Dinah,' says Burt. Dinah says, 'We will take your baby for you.'"

"Cher's Kiss Man Admits. 'I've Slept With 1,000 Women.' What Cher Will Do That No Other Woman Will."

which is exactly what the scandal sheet is after -- more publicity. If the scandal-mongers lose the suit -- so what? It's considered an added "cost" of doing business and they couldn't care less -- because business is awfully good.

Who are these publishers anyway? Some of the actors and actresses they write about are very talented and likable people. Why is everyone so ready to smash a career and give them a bad reputation? Money is a good guess, but is there something more to it? Appalled Cape Codder

DEAR CODDER: Your first guess is the right one. It's money. Unfortunately there are a lot of people who love garbage and the publishers are making a fortune. I've received hundreds of clippings from readers who are shocked at the stories in these cheap, sensational magazines and newspapers. The readers ask, "Ann, can this stuff be true?"

Often the stories are full of lies. Garbage publications pay their reporters astronomical salaries to put together stories on celebrities. Some sources are just plain crazy and the "journalist" knows it but he doesn't care if the stuff is juicy.

Other sources are people who knew the star ever so slightly 25 years ago. It makes them feel important to be interviewed, so they make up salacious (and vicious) yarns. Still other informers are paid "for their time." (Bribed.) They are assured that their names will not be revealed so they feel safe when they lie. Their input is reported as fact, because they make great headlines and this is what attracts the suckers.

Why don't the celebrities sue? Because their attorneys wisely counsel against it. When a well-known person sues it hits the legitimate press and calls attention to the original story.

IN WASHINGTON Martha Angle and Robert Walters Moment of truth in judging

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The moment of truth is rapidly approaching for President Carter's highly publicized commitment to select federal judges "strictly on the basis of merit, without any consideration of political aspect or influence."

The White House is expected soon to disclose, possibly within the next few weeks, the first batch of Carter's nominations for the 152 new federal judgeships created when Congress late last year approved the Omnibus Judgeship Act of 1978.

Enough evidence already is available, however, to suggest two seemingly contradictory conclusions about the nature of the president's forthcoming selections:

"They undoubtedly will be as capable and distinguished, if not more so, as the judges designated by Carter's predecessors in recent decades. There also will be a dramatic increase in the number of women and members of minority groups named to the federal bench."

"Like many of his other simplistic campaign promises, the president's pledge to "no longer ... treat the administration of justice as political patronage" will be severely compromised by the realities of politics."

As in the past, the difference between failure and success for many of the candidates being assessed in the complex screening process will be their "connections" or friendships with members of the Senate, the White House staff and various other politicians.

To screen candidates for seats on the appellate courts serving the country's 10 federal judicial circuits, the White House has established its own "merit selection" commissions. But Carter political loyalists are heavily represented on those panels.

The president has had only limited success in convincing senators to establish "independent, blue-ribbon judicial selection commissions" to fill district court vacancies — a drastic departure from the past practice that allowed senators to dominate the selection process in their states.

About half of the states now have such commissions, but the senators designate the members of those panels and politics remains an important element in the screening process.

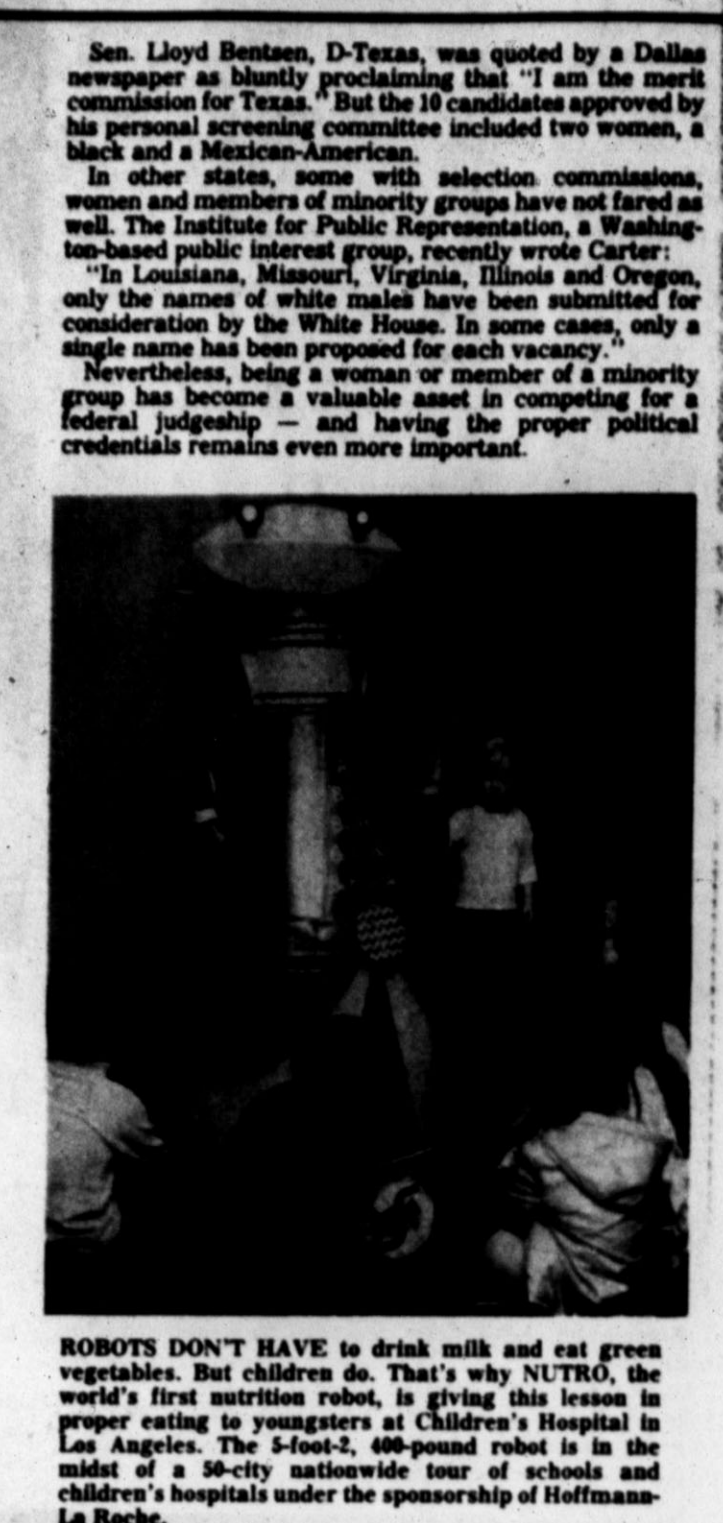

To fill a U.S. District Court vacancy in Iowa last year, for example, a "blue-ribbon" commission picked the White House names of five potential nominees.

The man selected from that list by Carter was Donald E. O'Brien, a bright, capable Sioux City attorney who also happened to have a long and distinguished history in Democratic politics, at both the state and national levels.

O'Brien, Carter's Michigan campaign manager in the 1976 general election, was promptly confirmed by the Senate despite objections raised by the American Bar Association.

Similarly, Rep. Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill, D-Mass., the powerful speaker of the house, successfully lobbied Carter to pick the brother of Rep. Gunn McKay, D-Utah, to fill a vacancy on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 10th Circuit.

Numerous senators have flatly rejected Carter's call to establish special commissions in their states, included in that category are two reform-minded lawmakers, Sens. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md.

Mustangs Slip By Whitefaces, 56-54

I Got This One

Larry McNutt grabs a rebound in the game against Coronado, as Hereford outrebounded the much taller Mustangs 35-22. McNutt ended the night with 14 points and the Whitefaces leading scorer despite fouling out of the game with 6:20 left in the contest.

Booster Club To Hold Meeting Following Bonfire

Hereford High School head basketball coaches Bobby Decker and Roy Shipp will present films and offer comments about the boys' and girls' cage programs when the Whiteface Booster Club meets at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria Thursday.

The Boosters' meeting will immediately follow a bonfire, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, and is sponsored by the HHS cheerleaders.

"We urge all Boosters and prospective members to attend the meeting and hear the progress reports from the coaches," club president Bob Nigh said. "The boys have already opened district play, and the girls will host Plainview Friday night in their first loop contest."

The meeting may be the last one until the All-Sports Banquet, which has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 24 at the Bull Barn. Nigh added, however, that it's possible that a spring meeting honoring the baseball, track, golf, and tennis teams may be held if a date and time suitable to those respective coaches can be arranged.

The bonfire which will precede the Booster Club meeting will be held two miles north of 15th Street on Avenue K. High winds forced postponement of the event Monday night.

The clock struck midnight a bit early for the Cinderella Whitefaces last night as they lost 56-54 in the last four seconds of their game against the Coronado Mustangs at La Plata Junior High.

Trailing for only the first three minutes of the initial period, Hereford took command of the game at the 5:02 mark with two free throws by Brent Allen to take a 10-8 lead. Using an aggressive defense and excellent team play the 'Faces built its lead to 24-17 by the end of the first stanza.

Hereford dominated the boards throughout the first half against the much taller Mustangs. Increasing its lead to 11 points midway through the second period Hereford ran into foul trouble when three personals were called on Jackie Mercer and Allen. Hereford, even without their services, continued to control the game.

The Whitefaces took a 36-28 point lead into the locker room at halftime.

The Mustangs started the second half by cutting Hereford's lead to six but the Whitefaces stretched their lead to 10 with two consecutive jumpers by Mercer.

Fouls plagued the Herd again, this time against Larry McNutt when he picked up his second and third personals within a 47-second span. Using the opportunities at the free throw line the Ponies cut the lead of the 'Faces to four, 46-42 at the end of the third quarter. At this point in the game Hereford had three starters with three fouls, and the other two players having two personals whistled against them.

The Mustangs, closed to within two points in the final period with a steal and layup, but Hereford answered with a short jump shot by David Mays to make the score 48-44 with 7:07 left.

Disaster struck when McNutt fouled out of the game at 6:30 after trying for a steal.

Coronado took the lead for the first time since the beginning quarter at 3:49 with six points in a three-minute span while holding the host Whitefaces to one—a free throw by Robert Graves. Hereford regained the lead at the three-minute mark on a layup by Mercer to make the score 51-50.

Fouls once again stopped the Herd as they committed two infractions. The Ponies regained the lead on the free throws and a layup. Down 54-51 with only 1:42 remaining, Hereford battled back to tie on three free throws by Allen and Mays. With 30 seconds remaining and the Mustangs in control of the ball, they went into a stall. As the clock ran down to the eight second mark a Coronado player missed on a jump shot from the corner. Coronado's Steve Ahlenius muscled his way to the ball and put it back in the hoop for the deciding score.

Fouled on the play, Ahlenius went to the line with two seconds remaining on the clock and Hereford had one last try to tie the game if he missed. The free throw was off target but the Herd could not control the ball before time had expired.

Coach Bobby Decker in reflecting on the game said, "We won in every category except the final score. We outrebounded them 35-21 and shot better from the field and the charity stripe."

Fouls proved to be the deciding factor in the game as the Mustangs were whistled for 13 personals while Hereford committed 17 fouls.

"It hurt us when Larry (McNutt) fouled out but we still should have won. The last part of the game we started trying to protect our lead instead of the way we played earlier - to win it," Decker said.

"All we can hope for now is that Monterey beats the Mustangs and we can win the rest of our first half games if we have a chance for the first half title," he added.

Leading the Herd in scoring was McNutt with 14 points and Mercer and Graves with 12 each. Allen tossed in seven points while Mays added nine points to round out the scoring for the Whitefaces. Coronado's Ahlenius and Law scored 15 points each.

Next action for the Herd will be Jan. 19 at Plainview. The Bulldogs have a 1-1 record in district play after beating Lubbock High and losing to Monterey.

In the junior varsity game the Mustangs used a strong second half to capture the victory 51-38. Trailing by only two at half the Herd could not get the ball to fall and only managed four points in the third quarter while Coronado put in 16 to take control of the game.

Leading the scoring of Hereford was Gary Parman with eight points.

SMU Nips Tech

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist's Brad Branson and Reggie Franklin scored for 14 points each to lead the Mustangs to a 69-65 victory over Texas Tech in Southwest Conference play here Tuesday night.

Tech's Geoff Huston led all scorers with 18 points and Raider reserve David Little had 17. Phil Hale and Richard Harris had 13 each for the Mustangs.

The Mustangs are now 2-1 in conference play and 2-1 for the season. Tech is 2-2 in SEC play and 11-4 for the season.

Tech hustled several turnovers in the second half, but never was able to gain more than a one-point lead. The Mustangs led 38-28 at the half. Mustang Billy Allen, sick with the flu, scored 11 points and 10 assists.

Billy Upsets Jews, Others

ATLANTA (AP) - Billy Carter, a beer-guzzling gasoline dealer who's made a habit of making people boil since his brother became president, is in hot water again.

This time he's upset Jews and a national Republican Party leader with purportedly anti-Semitic remarks made during a visit by members of a Libyan delegation, who are in the United States as his guest.

No one seems immune from brother Billy's wit. His targets have included the Carter family, the White House staff and even himself.

He called his cousin, Hugh Carter, "a self-made son-of-a-bitch" after the Georgia state senator wrote about the family, and suggested Hugh belonged in a mental hospital.

Apparently his current troubles do not mark the first time Billy's devil-may-care blend of humor and folk commentary has descended into the minefield of anti-Semitic comment.

At a banquet in Georgia, he said he thought Atlanta Braves pitcher Phil Niekro, the guest of honor, was a "bastardized Jew." He also called him "a Polack."

Billy burst onto the national stage when he left the family peanut business to help brother Jimmy in his 1976 presidential campaign.

"There was about 100 reporters in Plains, sitting down there with nothing to do, trying to cook up stories, and that's how it got started," he said last fall while filming a television movie in California.

After the election and an unsuccessful campaign for mayor of Plains, the president's home town, Billy went on the road as a professional entertainer, reportedly commanding $5,000 or more the appearances.

"I think that most of the things I do tend to offset the image he (the president) has - you know, his position, the religion. I think it gives people the idea that we're just a regular family like everyone else. Besides, there's a black sheep in every family," he said.

His antics sometimes might seem to more appropriate for a court jester than a member of America's first family.

Billy judged the third annual World Belly flop and Cannonball Diving Championships in British Columbia, where he jumped, fully clothed, into a swimming pool - a rose in his teeth and a beer in his hand. The beer can is his trademark, and a Louisville, Ky., brewery named a new beer for Billy. It was, the label said, "Brewed especially for and with the approval of one of America's all-time great beer drinkers, Billy Carter." But it was a commercial flop.

Last September, Billy visited Libya, where terrorists who killed members of Israel's 1972 Olympic team had been welcomed as heroes.

When he served as host for the Libyans on a return visit this week, he called them "the best friends I've had in my life."

At a Georgia press conference, Billy was quoted as saying, in urging friendlier U.S. relations with Libya, that "there's a hell of a lot more Arabians than Jews."

It was the final straw for the Atlanta Journal. "The Joke is Over," the newspaper said.

"Billy Carter isn't funny any more. In fact, he's not even just embarrassing any more. He's getting downright dangerous," the Journal said in its lead editorial on Wednesday.

Jewish groups condemned the remarks as "irresponsible, boorish and despicable," and Republican National Chairman Bill Brock said Billy is bigoted and urged President Carter to disavow the statements. "Mr. Brock is trying to run for president and I think he's full of ----," Billy said at a news conference Thursday. He said his comments were "not intended to be anti-Semitic."

Ironically, one of the first to respond from the White House was press secretary Jody Powell, who Billy said in a recent Penthouse magazine interview "would be better off running a farm."

Said Powell: "Billy is a private citizen. He doesn't make foreign policy for the United States, nor is he, as far as I know, an official or unofficial adviser to the president in that regard."

And Powell added: "As far as any remarks that might be anti-Semitic, it is clear that doesn't represent the president's view."

"Ain't no way I could drink as much as they say I do," Billy said once. "Maybe some days I do smoke six packs of cigarettes. Some days maybe I drink 20 to 25 beers - but not every day."

"I've run a business for the last seven years that grosses about $10 million a year," he said. "I'm a damn good businessman."

Carter Calls Shift Ironic

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) - When President Carter made his bid for public financing of congressional election campaigns, he said it would be ironic if moneyed political interests simply shifted their spending from presidential to House and Senate campaigns.

Presidential candidates get federal campaign funds. Congressional candidates don't, and the spending records of the 1978 campaign seem to bear out Carter's concern.

Almost every candidate in the 35 Senate elections of 1978 raised and spent more than would have been allowed by the public finance proposals that failed in the last Congress.

"It would be a tragic irony if the 1974 law which reduced the pressure special interests could place on presidential candidates increased the pressures on candidates for Congress as the large contributors look for new means of gaining influence with their political funds," Carter said two years ago.

Now the administration is preparing to ask again for enactment of a system of federal subsidies to pay at least part of the price of House and Senate campaigns, with spending limits imposed on candidates who accept the money.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, the administration's point man on election reform proposals, says the rising influence of big money in congressional campaigns has reached dangerous proportions.

"This nation is not for sale," Mondale told Democratic chairmen. "It belongs to our people and we should have a new system of comprehensive public financing for congressional campaigns."

For a time, it seemed that the last Congress much approve at least partial public financing of House and Senate campaigns. It didn't, at least in part because of the reluctance of incumbents to provide campaign money for their likely challengers - plus Republican complaints that spending limits could enhance the advantage of those very incumbents.

There are hints the administration will push harder this year.

Along with the campaign finance idea, the administration asked Congress in 1977 to enact a nationwide system of Election Day voter registration. That got nowhere, and the White House has decided against recommending it again.

Election Day registration was supposed to be a partial remedy for declining voter turnouts. The administration is still pondering proposals to reverse that trend.

Dallas Woman Indicted

DALLAS (AP) - A 37-year-old Dallas woman has been charged with two counts of attempted murder in connection with the beating and mutilation of her young children.

Municipal Judge Lee Clemens set bonds of $100,000 each Monday on the charges against Kathleen Gradi.

Both her children remained in critical condition as a result of the wounds they received last Friday in their northeast Dallas apartment.

Clifford Cecil Gradi, 11, was taken to Parkland Memorial Hospital after police found him and his 8-year-old sister in their blood-spattered apartment.

The boy underwent two operations for damage from a screwdriver that was rammed to the hilt through his right eye.

Aimee Jean Gray was taken to Baylor Medical Center, where she underwent surgery for a skull fracture and a punctured lung.

Electrical Workers Strike Prompts Violence, Vandilism

ATHENS, Texas (AP) - A five-week-old strike by the electrical workers union against Gulf States United Telephone Co. has brought minor violence, arrests and acts of vandalism in the company's East Texas service area.

A Gulf States supervisor was assaulted as he left an Athens restaurant last weekend. Roger Mize told police he saw two men putting sugar in the gasoline tank of his utility truck and they attacked him. His wounds required 16 stitches to close, and doctors said he suffered multiple cuts and a possible skull fracture.

Two men were charged with simple assault but authorities said that would be changed to criminal mischief, a felony.

The vice president of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1506, Melvin Pulliam, was arrested on a charge of burglary after a set of keys turned up missing from the Neches central office of GSU.

Pulliam charged harassment, saying he had gone to the Neches office to report his telephone out of order.

A Tyler supervisor said his keys were in the door when Pulliam stopped by but were missing after Pulliam left.

There were reports of handmade spikes being placed in front of wheels of GSU vehicles and trunk cables being cut in the Lake Athens area.

Nixon Correspondence Displayed at Center

WASHINGTON (AP) - The General Services Administration was making public Thursday about 600,000 pages of Richard M. Nixon's correspondence before he became president.

The first segment of documents from Nixon's presidential years is being made available at the National Archives and Records center in Laguna Niguel, Calif.

Included among the papers are some of the documents for which Nixon once claimed a $576,000 tax deduction.

During the first year of his presidency, Nixon gave the papers to the government with a deed dated March 27, 1969. It was not signed by Nixon but by Deputy Counsel Edward L. Morgan and was not delivered until April 10, 1970.

Nixon claimed his gift of papers to the National Archives was worth $576,000. But the Internal Revenue Service disallowed the claim in 1974 and ruled that he owed the government $432,787 in taxes including a 5 percent negligence penalty for 1969 through 1972 as well as interest for 1970-1972.

The president agreed to pay without a contest.

The National Archives has 2.6 million pages of Nixon's pre-presidential materials.

LEGAL NOTICES

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
Sam and Ralph Grigsby, Route 5, Hereford, Texas 79045, have applied to the Texas Department of Water Resources for an amendment to Permit No. 02217 to authorize the disposal of agricultural wastes from a confined feeding operation. The applicant proposes to construct wastewater retention facilities capable of containing all process wastewater and rainfall runoff from a confined feeding operation for a period of 30 days. The feedlot is located immediately north of FM Road 1412, at a point approximately 4.5 miles west of the intersection of FM Road 1412 and U.S. Highway 385; further described as being located approximately 14 miles north of the City of Hereford in Deaf Smith County, Texas. It is proposed that the process generated wastewater and/or rainfall runoff containing wastes will be retained and utilized for irrigation. No discharge to the surface waters of the State is proposed. The Texas Water Commission or one of its Hearings Examiners will hold a public hearing on this application which has been scheduled for 10:00 a.m. - February 15, 1979, Amarillo Building, Room 216, 301 South Polk, Amarillo, Texas to receive evidence on the conditions, if any, under which the permit may be issued. This hearing will be held under the authority of Sections 26.020, 26.021 and 26.028 of Title 2, Texas Water Code, as amended, and the Rules of Procedure of the Texas Water Commission. The record of this proceeding will include evidence and testimony taken at the public hearing. The hearing may be continued from time to time and place to place, if necessary, to develop all relevant evidence bearing on the subject of the hearing. The Texas Water Commission reserves the right to schedule or reschedule hearings as it deems necessary. Further information concerning any aspect of the application, if available, may be obtained by writing Paul A. Seals, Staff Attorney, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 475-7841. Information concerning any procedures of the hearing may be obtained by contacting Larry R. Soward, Assistant Chief Hearings Examiner, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 475-1311. Persons desiring to protest the granting of this application may file written protests with the Commission at least eight (8) days prior to the hearing date and shall serve copies of the written protest on the applicant and all designated parties, if any. The written protest shall show the name and address of the protestant; identify the pending application; state the basis of the protestant's interest and any relevant facts and conclusions; describe the location of the protestant's property relative to the application; and, propose any amendment or adjustment to the application which, if made, would result in withdrawal of the protest. The written protest will be noted by the Commission but will not be considered as evidence since the right to cross-examine is absent. No protestant will be admitted as a party to the proceeding unless the protestant complies with Commission RULE 155.04. 00.001 which requires a justifiable interest and actual or representative presence at the hearing. Due to the technical nature of the hearing, it may be advisable for the protestant to have an expert witness, such as an engineer, available at the hearing. Any person who intends to offer prepared testimony at the public hearing shall prefile the testimony with the Commission not less than five (5) days prior to the hearing, and shall serve copies of the prepared testimony on the applicant, the Executive Director, the Public Interest Advocate and all other persons who have filed written protests or written requests not less than eight (8) days prior to the hearing. Any person who desires to receive prepared testimony submitted in compliance with this requirement, shall file a written request in compliance with the Commission Rules or shall file a written request with the Commission not less than eight (8) days prior to the hearing. If the hearing is before a hearing examiner, a written proposal for decision will be prepared prior to submission of the application to the Commission for decision and a copy will be mailed to all parties and to any other person who has made a written request for a copy of such. Information on procedures for making exceptions to the findings and recommendations in the examiner's proposal will be furnished upon request. Issued this 9th day of January, 1979.

Lady Uses Lint in Artwork

PLANDOME MANOR, N.Y. (AP)—Wendy Ward Ehlers is a lady with a glint of mischief in her eye, and she believes, the largest and rarest collection of its kind in all the world. She collects laundry lint. She also collects rusty nails and used teabags and dried up orange rinds and burnt waffles and other pretty things but it is the lint from her dryer that fires the heart of this housewife-turned-artist. "Lint is really nice stuff, don't you think?" she said. "I began stuffing it in paper bags because I thought it was a shame to throw it away, that something should be done with it." She does something with it, all right. She makes art pieces. Some titles of her works: "Booberry on Lint," "Lint with Dried Red Peppers," "Ehlers' Homage to Rothko's Homage to Matisse," in lint. "Booberry," she explained with a straight face, "is breakfast cereal. It tastes ghastly. The children wouldn't eat it, but it is pretty. That work is part of my Serial Series on Cereal." Others in the series are "Trix of Lint" and "Puffed Wheat on Lint." Wendy Ward Ehlers has done more than 250 such art works. Each is encased in plexiglass, which she cuts and fashions expertly, and each is a spoof of the precious world of art, artists and museums. Like any serious artist she takes great pains with each piece. "You can't make fun of something unless you do it very well yourself. It took me a year to learn to work plexiglass." Not long ago her county's Museum of Fine Arts dared to have a showing "From the Private Collection of Wendy Ward Ehlers."

As it happened, it appeared simultaneously with a showing of masterpieces from a famous foundation collection. "Couldn't have asked for a better setup." Art lovers, in angry letters and phone calls, treated her as though she had profaned a temple. "Collect", you see, are the prime targets of her burlesque. Some years back, when her five children were younger, the family custom was to spend a month each summer touring the country in a house trailer. "It seemed that every museum we visited, every art gallery, was full of collections. Collections of spoons, butterflies, bubble gum cards. The absurdity of it struck me. Are we a people possessed by possessions? I thought to myself, ruefully, here I am at 40 and I haven't collected a single thing. Then I thought of my dryer lint." Voila. A new art form. Since, Mrs. Ehlers has expanded her palette to include other kitchen debris. Her "Teacups and Used Ehlers Teabags," is just that. Her "Pheasant Under Plexiglass" is a plate with a pheasant painted on it and decorated with feathers plucked by the artist. Drier lint, though, remains her forte. "My project this year is to start a lint museum. I wrote to 60 celebrities asking for their lint. I guess they didn't take me seriously. Only seven responded." One who did was Charles Adams, the cartoonist. He sent not only his dryer lint but, in a separate plastic bag, a small bonus dutifully labeled: "pocket fuzz."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a summary of conclusions from the surgeon general's report on smoking and health. The overall death rate for current cigarette smokers is 70 percent higher than for non-smokers. It increases with the amount smoked, but ten to 15 years after they quit, the ex-smokers' death rate is about the same as non-smokers'. Cigar and pipe smokers have "slightly higher" mortality rates than non-smokers, but "substantially lower" than cigarette smokers. For low tar and nicotine cigarette smokers less than 17.6 mg. tar and 1.2 mg. nicotine the death rate is 50 percent above non-smokers. "Coronary heart disease is the chief contributor to the excess mortality among cigarette smokers," followed by lung cancer and chronic obstructive lung disease. Cigarette smoking is a major factor in the risk of heart attacks and sudden death in both men and women. Smoking increases the risk of heart attack tenfold in women using birth control pills. Cigarette smoking is causally related to lung cancer in women and men. Lung cancer may surpass breast cancer in a decade as the leading cause of cancer deaths among women. "Smoking is a causal factor in cancers of the larynx, mouth and esophagus. Epidemiological studies have shown a "significant association" between cigarettes and bladder cancer. Cigarettes also are associated with kidney cancer in men but not women. Cigarettes are "significantly associated" with peptic ulcer disease and increase a person's risk of dying from it. "Workplace chemicals may be transformed into more harmful agents by smoking." "Babies born to mothers who smoked during pregnancy weigh an average of 200 grams less than those born to non-smokers. "Maternal smoking "increases the risk of spontaneous abortion, of fetal death, and of neonatal death in otherwise normal infants." "Evidence is growing" that children of smoking mothers may have deficiencies in physical growth and mental and emotional development. "Children whose parents smoke "are more likely to have bronchitis and pneumonia during the first year of life." "Little is known about why the smoking habit "is so widespread and difficult to break." "Although some youngsters experiment with smoking in grade school, very few are "addicted" to cigarettes by the end of ninth grade. High school is the critical place for their smoking decisions. "Too many smoking-education programs try to scare "present-oriented" youngsters with threats of serious diseases they face years in the future. "Doctors, other health professionals, coaches and parents can have a powerful influence on teen-age smoking. "Children whose parents smoke are more likely to take up the habit."

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1979. There are 348 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, in World War II, Soviet troops and Polish patriot forces liberated Poland's capital, Warsaw, more than five years after the city had fallen to the Nazis. On this date: In 1707, Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston. In 1757, the Holy Roman Empire declared war on Prussia. In 1773, James Cook became the first explorer to cross the Antarctic Circle. In 1893, Hawaii was proclaimed a republic. In 1917, the United States bought the American Virgin Islands from Denmark for $25 million. In 1977, a convicted murderer, Gary Gilmore, got his wish and was executed by a firing squad at Utah State Prison. Ten years ago: The new chief U.S. negotiator in the Vietnam peace talks, Henry Cabot Lodge, arrived in Paris and said he would be neither hard nor soft, but realistic, in negotiations with the Communists. Five years ago: Egypt and Israel agreed to separate their military forces along the Suez Canal and to limit the arms each side had in the area. One year ago: Middle East peace talks were opened in Jerusalem with the foreign ministers of Israel and Egypt and U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance taking part. Today's birthdays: Former Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach is 57 years old. Former U.S. diplomat Kenneth Rush is 69. Retired admiral John McCain is 68. Cather Darrell Porter of the Kansas City Royals is 27. Thought for today: The firm basis of government is justice, not pity - President Woodrow Wilson, 1856-1924.

Longhorns Take SWC Cage Lead

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

The Texas Longhorns - preseason favorites to win the Southwest Conference basketball championship - are beginning to play like the team Coach Abe Lemons had expected.

"There's just not any phase of our game that I was not pleased with tonight," said Lemons after the Longhorns pipped the Rice Owls, 94-81, in Houston Tuesday night to improve the SWC record to 4-1.

"I have no idea why we didn't play better before," the Texas coach said, referring to earlier losses, including one to Texas Tech in their SWC opener at Lubbock.

The defending National Invitational Tournament champion Longhorns hit on 59 percent of their field goal attempts and were paced by Jim Krivacs' 30 points and Tyrone Branyan's 24.

Rice, now 2-3 in the SWC and 5-10 for the season, was led by Elbert Darden who hit 30 points.

In other SWC action Tuesday night, Baylor beat Houston 85-77 and Southern Methodist defeated Texas Tech 69-65.

A crowd of 5,400 fans - many of them dressed in clown costumes - filled the Rice gym. The clown outfits were the result of a comment Lemons made last year when he said Rice seemed to be playing like clowns.

"It didn't bother me," said Lemons. "Besides, they didn't have much to holler about."

SMU used a balanced scoring attack - led by Brad Branson and Reggie Franklin with 14 points each - to improve its SWC record to 2-1 with the victory over Texas Tech, which fell to 3-2.

"With a break or two, we could have come out on top," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers, who saw his team drop its second straight game after upsetting Texas to start its SWC schedule.

"We've worked hard and now we're ready to really do something," said SMU Coach Sonny Allen. "We're going to shock a lot of people before this is over. It's taken a while to learn to play together. Now we have it together. What we want to do is put that ring SWC championship on our fingers."

In Waco, where Baylor handed Houston its fourth loss in five SWC starts, most of the talk after the game was about officiating.

Houston Coach Guy Lewis restated his distaste for the three-official rule. It results in too many fouls and disruption of the game flow, he complained.

Houston had 32 fouls and Baylor had 22 more.

"Both teams had to change their game plan when officials started calling the game so close," said Baylor Coach Jim Haller who saw two of his starters pick up four early fouls each.

Vinnie Johnson hit 30 points to lead Baylor and freshman Terry Teagle added 19 - including seven as the Bears outscored Houston 10-2 in a two-minute period near the end of the game.

Ken Williams led Houston with a game-high 33 points.

While Baylor evened its record at 2-2, Houston fell to 1-4 in SWC play.

But don't count the Cougars out of the race yet.

"The winner this year could easily have four losses," predicted Lewis.

Tonight 11th-ranked Arkansas is at 15th-ranked Texas A&M.

Aww-Right!

Robert Graves goes up for an uncontested layup in the game against Coronado. Graves finished the game with 12 points as Hereford was defeated 56-54.

Lambert Not Intimidated

MIAMI (AP) - The smile crept across Jack Lambert's lips and soon his face was creased in something of a grin, or as close to one as you'll get from the Pittsburgh Steeler linebacker.

Lambert's opposite number with the Dallas Cowboys, linebacker Hollywood Henderson, had celebrated his arrival in this Super Bowl town with an outrageous pre-game popoff. Henderson called the Steelers old, tired, without depth and a few other things. It sounded like a bit of intimidation.

And what did Lambert think about that?

"I'd like to see somebody try to intimidate the Pittsburgh Steelers," Lambert leered. "That would really be interesting."

Well, Henderson certainly is trying. Was he serious about all those nasty things he had said about the Steelers? Is he really as tough as he claims?

"Line up in front of me and find out," Henderson snorted.

Pittsburgh wide receiver Lynn Swann said he was a target of the Cowboys in Super Bowl X. "They tried to intimidate me here three years ago and I wound up the MVP," said Swann.

In the Steelers' 75-minute workout Tuesday, Swann suffered a bruised left foot when he was stepped on by cornerback Ron Johnson. Precautionary x-rays at Parkway Hospital were negative, the Steelers said. Swann was taped and limping, but was expected to return to practice today.

Mean Joe Greene, veteran defensive tackle of the Steelers, laughed off the suggestion that intimidation could play a part in Sunday's championship game.

"There's intimidation only in the sense that you go against a club that won't beat itself, a club you have to go out and beat," said Greene. "We are physical and so are they. Which team hits harder? You just can't say. The way Lambert tackles, the way (Mel) Blount covers a wide receiver...those things are intimidating. It's a mental thing, not physical."

Blount, whose shaved head might frighten an opponent if he could see it under the Steeler helmet, shrugged off the intimidation question.

"If a player can be intimidated, he doesn't belong in this business," said the veteran Pittsburgh cornerback. "I haven't played against anybody like that in nine years in this league. Every game is physical. For a big game like the Super Bowl, the intensity is higher, though."

But Dallas free safety Cliff Harris thought Blount was wrong.

"I think any wide receiver can be intimidated," he said. "You can't do it with words, though. I can't go up and say 'Boo' to a guy and expect it to have an effect."

Then would Henderson's war of words have an effect?

"Whenever he's talked in the past, he's backed it up," said Harris. "He hasn't let me down yet."

Dallas running back Tony Dorsett was asked whether Henderson's needling of the Steelers might backfire and cause Pittsburgh's defense to tee-off on the best available target, which just might be Dorsett.

"That's Thomas," Dorsett said of Henderson. "He's like Muhammad Ali. He talks. If anything, it might cause their offensive people to run at him to see how tough he really is."

Dorsett often had a problem hanging on to the football this season and that might make him susceptible to the Steeler defense.

"I don't think I have a reputation for fumbling," said the Cowboy running back. "Those things happen. I can give you excuses but I won't. Things weren't going right for the team. Sometimes you lose your concentration. Sometimes you get hit from behind when you're spinning or switching the ball from one hand to the other...Here I am, making excuses when I said I wouldn't."

Pittsburgh is certainly aware of Dorsett's tendency to drop the ball.

"The first thing you've got to do is get him down," said defensive end L.C. Greenwood. "Then, if we can get to the football, we'll try and do that. We won't necessarily worry about him. We can't put all our concentration on one player. It's 11 people on each side of the field, you know."

Swann The One To Watch

MIAMI (AP) - Lynn Swann's foot may wind up rivaling Paul Warfield's hamstring or Fran Tarkenton's arm before this day is over.

Nothing was broken, X-rays showed, and the Steelers said Swann would resume practicing today. But the foot, bound in tape, was bruised and Swann was limping.

And that was enough to cause a ripple of excitement in the rumor-ripe atmosphere that pervades every Super Bowl, where a snifle quickly becomes double pneumonia and a sprain turns into a compound fracture.

It was back before Super Bowl VIII in Houston that Warfield, the Miami Dolphins' premier wide receiver, supposedly had a damaging hamstring injury. It was the talk of the town for several days, but it was just so much hot air. Warfield made his quota of artistic catches and the Dolphins blew away Minnesota 24-7.

Now it was Swann's turn to become the center of attention.

"It's pain, but I've been able to take pain," he said in a telephone interview when asked about the injury. "I'll be able to go out there and play with a broken foot. It's going to hurt a whole lot and I might not be able to practice until Sunday morning. But I'll be tough. A broken foot isn't going to stop me."

And then Swann burst out laughing. He's been kidding all the time. He wasn't really hurt that bad.

"It'll be all right," he said, serious now. "I should be able to practice tomorrow."

The injury occurred when Swann and Johnson, the Steelers' left cornerback, were running side by side. I thought I had room to move to the inside and I was wrong. He just stepped down - right on my foot."

Fem Cagers Fall To Dumas

DUMAS - Using the 15 points of Patricia Fortenberry and hot shooting by the rest of the team, the Dumas Demons whipped the Hereford Whitefaces 62-26 in girls basketball action here last night.

Trailing throughout the game Hereford could never find the range on their shots as the host Demons took a 24-10 lead at the end of the first half.

The Demons raced to a 46-16 lead by the end of the third quarter. Hereford played its best quarter during the fourth stanza but it was not enough as the Dumas team rolled easily to the victory.

Leading the scoring for the Whitefaces was Darlene Sanders with eight and three players with four each.

Hereford will open district play Jan. 19 at home against Plainview. The Bulldogs sport a 19-3 record while Hereford will take a 5-18 record into the game. The game will be played at the Hereford High School gym at 7:30 p.m.

In the junior varsity game, Hereford could not match the fourth quarter play of the Demons as they pulled away to win 41-27. Leading scorer for the 'Faces was Corina Suarez with nine points.
