EDITORIAL

For tens of millions of the nation's youngsters, the official closing of summer will be signaled by the ringing of the first school bell.

In days past, that bell often rang in the typical one room schoolhouse calling youngsters from the dusty lanes, the fields, the swimming holes where they worked and played, learned and grew during the days of summer.

Answering its call, they came to resume, often with considerable reluctance, the regimentation of school hours and the traditional pursuit of at least a passing proficiency in the 3 R's. For most people, an education was something you got through "when you were a kid" so that you could get on about the business of making your way in the world.

The school bells of today carry a far different message and challenge to the nation's present generation of young people. The store of man's knowledge is increasing so rapidly that no one can estimate what it may hold 10 or 20 years from now. In such a world, the schoolroom has become, not a place of drudgery, but a vital and broadening bridge of understanding and knowledge spanning the present range of man's accomplishments and offering the young people of today the capacity to build a future beyond our present imagination.

Our young people have a new enthusiasm for education, and this is our greatest national asset.

But, they must learn of our heritage and the roots of our freedom, as well as the wonders of our technical accomplishment and capacity.

As they return to school this fall, they deserve all the encouragement and opportunity which we can give them.

"Melanie Meddles"

By Melanie Whitley

This week I received a letter from a man seriously opposed to any gun legislation. This man is very conscientious about using guns and has helped young boys learn to use and respect guns.

He says, "... you are meddling in a subject you are not familiar enough with to grasp the magnitude of what is going on or the consequences. If you disarm all of the law abiding citizens of this nation, what will you counter the gun toting criminals of the nation with, a baseball bat?"

A criminal by his intent and nature knows only one thing—force of equal or greater danger to himself. There are hundreds of thousands of service and ex-service men who have a fond feeling for a rifle and who are taught to trust in God, but rely on his ability to use a rifle to survive.

As far as I know, and I've never claimed to know all of everything or even most of anything, no one is trying to disarm any law abiding citizen. Any such person can buy a gun by registering and licensing it. I also disagree with the idea that in this country of freedom and peace, we must have a gun to survive. That is why we have law officers. Along with the gun laws, there must also be a strengthening of laws to punish offenders.

I also took out another letter written to me several years ago, that I reread when I need to. J. Tom Graham, one time columnist on this paper, wrote to me after I spoke my paper piece and in a later edition tried to smooth it over. He said, "Never back down when you think you're right."

It is for the dead Kennedy brothers, my late cousin, the girl whose father shot and killed her late at night mistaking her for a burglar, for the people sighted from the University of Texas tower, for the innocent Knox City youth who would be dead right this minute if a gun had not misfired a few weeks ago; it is for these people I must speak.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sloan, Becky and Sherry spent the weekend in San Marcos and at the HemisFair in San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Sloan and Scott also visited with them. Scott returned home with them to visit the next two weeks with his grandparents, and in Haskell with his other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Young.

Keep your troubles to yourself or they will expand.

Miss Joan Shaver Becomes Bride Of John Edward Muller

The beautiful sanctuary of The First Methodist Church was the scene for the wedding ceremony which united Miss Joan Shaver and John Edward Muller Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Shaver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shaver Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Muller of Mankato, Minnesota, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Reverend Jarrell H. Sharp, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church in Stamford, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Four seven-branched white candelabra held white tapers illuminating the altar area which was set before the huge cross and communion table. Two massive arrangements of white gladioli flanked the white satin-covered prie-dieu.

Music was provided by Mrs. Melvin A. Lowrey, organist, and Mrs. Buddy Angle, pianist, Mrs. R. A. Shaver Jr. of Rochester, accompanied by Mrs. Lowrey, sang, "Ave Maria", and also

"Our Wedding Prayer" as the benediction, "Trumpet Tune and Air" and "Trumpet Voluntary" both by Henry Purcell, were chosen for the processional and recessional marches.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight organza over silk-faced peau de soie fashioned with an Empire waistline and a portrait neckline. Re-embroidered Alencon lace covered the bodice as well as the scallops at the hemline and was repeated on the chapel train which hung from the shoulders. Her chapel length veil of imported English illusion fell from a cluster of lace petals and pearls.

Her bouquet was of stephanotis surrounding a white orchid. Mrs. Lynn Mendenhall of Abilene was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Marsha Shaver of Rochester, Mrs. Hershel Hanks of San Antonio and Mrs. Joe Smith of Canyon, Suzanne Gruben of Hobbs, New Mexico, was junior bridesmaid.

Attendants' gowns were formal length pink and green floral voile with apple green grosgrain ribbon banding the Empire waistlines. Clusters of daisies held their bouffant veils of melaine. The carried long-stemmed green pompoms.

Larry Muller of Houston served as his brother's best man.

Groomsmen and ushers were Miles Muller of Mankato, brother of the bridegroom; Brack Shaver, brother of the bride; Lt. John H. Smalley of Gloversville, New York; Captain David Kluck of Minneapolis; and Buddy Angle.

Candlelighters were Gwen and Stacy Angle.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mrs. Glen Metcalf of Canyon registered guests.

The refreshment table was laid with a cloth of natural linen and a floral arrangement of white Killion daisies and greenery in a silver container added to its beauty. The punch bowl and other appointments were also of silver. A three-tiered wedding cake frosted in white featured lilies of the valley in dark green icing cascading from the top.

Mrs. Larry Muller of Houston and Mrs. Bobby Seago of Arlington served cake, and Mrs. Larry Marshall of Lubbock, Mrs. R. A. Shaver III of Rochester, and Mrs. Larry Walling of Seymour ladled punch. Other members of the houseparty included Jennifer Lair of Canyon, Shay Lynn Robertson of Wichita Falls, Terri Whitten of Knox City, Mrs. Tom Woody of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Richard Monroe of Mineral Wells, and Mrs. Mary Alice Muller of Albuquerque.

Rice bags were presented the guests by Cheri Sharp of Stamford, Jan Lowrey of Knox City, and Heidi and Tanya Burmeister, both of Lanesboro, Minnesota.

As a request of the bride, Gwen Angle sang "The Greatest of These Is Love," accompanied by Mrs. Lowrey at the piano.

Mrs. Roger Williams and Mrs. Lowrey presented appropriate piano selections during the reception.

Following a wedding trip to HemisFair and other points of interest along the Gulf Coast, the couple will be at home at 300 A Canion in Austin.

The bride received a B.A. Degree from McMurry College in Abilene and the M. A. degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock. For the past two years she has been an English instructor at Amarillo College. She has been employed by the Austin School System and will begin her teaching duties there in September.

The bridegroom holds the B. A. degree from Mankato State College and has served as a captain in the U.S. Air Force. He has been accepted to the University of Texas Law School and will enter in September.

His parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the City Cafe.

A Memphis, Tennessee cotton merchant and nine seasonal employees of the USDA have been sentenced on charges of bribery and conspiring to downgrade the value of 20,000 bales of cotton, according to a news release from the USDA in Washington.

The cotton merchant, Horace W. Sims, was found guilty in U. S. district court for the Western District of Tennessee on several counts of bribing seasonal classers employed by C&MS' Cotton Division to downgrade cotton purchased from Commodity Credit Corporation. A lower classification meant that Sims would have paid CCC less than the value of the cotton. He was found guilty on all counts and was sentenced to four years in prison, fined $10,000 and assessed one-fifth of the court costs.

Two seasonal classers employed by the C&MS Cotton Division in Memphis were found guilty on charges of accepting bribes from Sims. One seasonal laborer was found guilty of diverting the cotton in question to the bribed classers. Two additional classers and four other laborers had pleaded guilty to the same charges before trial began.

A former employee of Sims was acquitted. A 12th defendant, a Galveston cotton merchant, has not yet been tried. C&MS officials explained that the Cotton Division was alerted

Stitching And Stewing

By RUTH ANN FANSLER

Do you know how to keep cool in the summer, why not use the following suggestions. Vary the work schedule during the summer. Since more energy is used while working in the heat of the day, plan some housework for early morning hours or at night. Keep housework to a minimum.

If part of your home is air conditioned, plan to use that room for as much of your work as you can. Mealtime can be cool if you cook when it's cool and put the food in the freezer or refrigerator and reheat at mealtime. Top-of-the-range meals along with fruit and pudding desserts will save baking and eliminate oven heat.

Paper plates at some meals save on dishwashing, too. Cooking outdoors eliminates heat. Meals served in the backyard or on a porch gets away from kitchen heat.

Diet changes are not necessary in summer, but a person needs fewer calories than in winter. Many people prefer dishes such as salads, cold cuts, cold soups and frozen desserts in the summer.

Foods and nutrition specialists say more liquids are needed to replace fluids lost through perspiration, especially after exercising.

Wearing cool colors, such as blues and greens, gives an illusion of coolness. Lighter colors, especially white, reflect light and actually can be cooler.

Loose-fitting clothing made from porous fabrics, such as knits and woven material, are cool. Cotton and linen, which are absorbent, and freshly laundered clothing also are cool.

Wear less jewelry as the temperature climbs. Heavy chokers and necklaces look and feel hot. Lightweight, enamel jewelry gives summer dress a lift.

Exhaust fans in kitchens, bathrooms or other rooms where heated or water vapor builds up are helpful. Attic fans keep roof heat from affecting upstairs bedrooms and they cool during the night.

When a house has cooled during the night, it can be kept cool longer by closing the windows and pulling the shades in the early morning. A well insulated house will remain cool until evening when it can be opened up again.

Air conditioning, of course, can keep a house comfortable in spite of high temperature and humidity. Air conditioner users need to clean filters regularly to increase cooling efficiency.

When traveling even a short trip in the car, sticky plastic seats can be uncomfortable. An easy, inexpensive cure for this stickiness is to spread a large beach towel across the seat. Another more expensive remedy is the use of cushions on the seats to allow air circulation between you and the seat.

In an air conditioned car, leave the windows open part way for the first few minutes after the air conditioner is started. This blows the hot air out and makes cooling more rapid.

DOUBLE PEANUT CLUSTERS
 The low sugar content of this recipe makes it a good one for diabetics.

1/2 cup peanut butter
 1 cup whole peanuts, salted or unsalted
 1 cup semisweet chocolate chips
 Combine peanut butter and chocolate chips in top of a double boiler and place over hot (not boiling) water until melted together. Stir until blended, add peanuts and stir until coated. Add about 3 tablespoons paraffin and drop by teaspoons onto waxed paper lined baking sheet. Chill until set. Makes 24 clusters.

WASHINGTON "As it looks from here" OMAR BURLESON

Congressman 17th District

Washington, D. C. -- It is an axiom that behind most every great man there has been a great woman. Behind some men there have been many. It does not matter. What does matter is that man has aspired to his highest potential because of a desire to please and to earn the affection and respect of women.

The rewards of these efforts have usually resulted in material possessions or in power through military might, which led to material possessions.

After a long, long period, these possessions came to be measured by a substance known as gold. This mineral had absolutely no utilitarian value, it was extremely scarce and extremely beautiful. To acquire any quantity of it demanded high spirits, great energy, imagination, determination, courage and all the attributes that we assign to greatness in man.

Throughout time and in all societies, certain types of women were prized above others. To get the most highly prized woman one had to compete with most determined and courageous men. At first it was physical force, later brainpower entered into the picture so that a combination of brain power and physical force was able to triumph over force alone.

Early man, whether he acquired more caves, more hides or killed more enemies, was above his fellow in the eyes of most desirable women. Eventually, these successes became to be measured quite incidentally in terms of gold.

Where lay the power of this gold? Of what use was it? It was adored by women. Man has lost his blood for gold. He has expired on the desert and in the high mountains looking for it. But to those who succeeded, gold became the symbol of existence. So gold was homage of love. As such nothing in the world had higher value--though from a practical point of view it had none. It finally came about to be universally recognized that nothing was more valuable than gold. Gold would buy what the owner wanted, it was the magic medium. Unit values developed and it became the ultimate money. Until this time no Government had monetized it. Once it became the ultimate money, its desirability increased even more. It then came to represent the objectives of the greedy, the power hungry, the vengeful, the philanthropic. Even churches wanted gold. Its base, however, still lay in its desirability, its beauty and its meaning for women. It continues to represent a meaning peculiar to itself. The gold wedding ring has been the universal symbol of love for thousands of years graciously accepted by all young women from maids to queens and eagerly offered by all men from peons to kings.

Today gold has lost none of its romantic luster. To obtain it men continue to perpetrate dastardly crimes, rise to the most heroic heights and are led to the extreme of all emotions --- hate, love, fear, greed.

But men will accept token money as long as they know it is as good as gold. Once they doubt that, they will not accept any more. When a government's paper money is not backed by gold, it is not backed by anything.

Trust is the foundation of all money. It is the belief that it will buy goods which are equal in value of the goods which were exchanged for the money in the first place. In earlier times a shoemaker might have traded a pair of shoes for a bushel of wheat. A farmer might have given 10 bushels of wheat for a mule or 10 mules for a house.

Clumsy it was. So a medium of exchange developed -- gold or silver. Thus gold and silver were not a symbol of the wealth contained in a mule or a pair of shoes. It was the same as wealth, it was wealth.

Then came currency to eliminate the clumsiness of this solid money as exchange. Paper money is not wealth. It is a symbol of gold and silver which is wealth, which was exchanged for a mule, wheat or a pair of shoes. Those who took gold and silver did not need to trust any man. Those who take notes or symbols have to have trust in those who manage our fiscal affairs.

There is no law against any American citizen owning iron but it is unlawful for him to own gold. Removal of our gold cover on Federal Reserve notes supposedly was to demonetize gold but it will never be effectively demonetized by edicts or legislation. It is a measure of trust and confidence, whether it be psychological or real and some time soon we may realize it is both.
