I have been loaned a clipping of a hot onion cure for pneumonia published during the '80s and preserved in the family Bible.

Nowadays when most types of pneumonia yield readily to treatment with anti-biotics and sulpha drugs the terrors caused by attacks of the malady back in those days cannot be appreciated. But pneumonia was a major killer at the turn of the century and until the advent of the sulphas in the 1930s of our own era.

"Hot onions, according to a French physician, are said to be a sure cure for pneumonia. The remedy is as follows: Take six or ten onions, according to size, and chop fine, put in a large pan over a fire, and then add the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar enough to make a thick paste. In the meantime stir thoroughly, letting it simmer for five or ten minutes. Then put in a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs and apply to chest as hot as the patient can bear. In about ten minutes apply another, and thus continue reheating the politics, and in a few hours the patient will be out of danger. This simple remedy has never failed to cure this too often fatal malady. Usually three or four four applications will be sufficient."

You may say that if the patient wasn't cured he was in the process of being roasted out of his misery.

But for all of its primitive assurance, the remedy was more than the curiosity it is today. It was a gleam of hope, and you can bet it was tried out in more than one anxious sickroom where the kindly old doctor was rather a symbol of need than a messenger of cure.

That list of South Carolina cologualisms I swiped from a Houston Post columnist a few weeks back got quite a response — proving that the Houstonian knew his stuff, at least so far as reader interest is concerned. I haven't heard from South Carolina, yet, and I do not know if he has.

But one Cisco lady, who asks to be "anonymised" sent me an amusing little piece which she got from a teacher of hers in her home state of Illinois, and I quote her own words, "03-04". It is entitled:

"Which is Witch?"

Where can a man buy a lock for his hair
Can his eyes be called a school because there are pupils there?

In the crown of his head what gems are found?
Who travels the bridge of his nose?

Can he use in building the roof of his mouth,
The nails on the end of his toes?

Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did it do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I'm stupid, I don't know. Do you?

Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand,
Or beat the drum of his ear?
Can the calf of his leg eat corn on his toe?
If so why not grow corn on the ear?

Sunday afternoon's dust storm was an oddity. Usually the plaguey things arrive by degrees, sweeping in on a long wind that arrives ahead of the dust cloud, and gradually darkens. (Continued on Page Four)

WALTER SMITH, Mayor
City of Rising Star, Texas

April 27 - May 2 Designated Clean-Up Time In Rising Star

The week of April 27 - May 2 has been designated by proclamation of Mayor Walter Smith as Clean - Up Week in Rising Star. The designation, supported by the Chamber of Commerce, the Volunteer Fire Department, the Parent-Teachers Association and other civic organizations, is aimed, not only at ridding the community of unsightly fire and health hazards, but also at stimulating improvements in the city's residential property and other real estate.

This week's issue of the Rising Star Record carries appeals from a number of these organizations and leading business institutions urging community cooperation in the program. Facilities of the city and

Band Concert Scheduled For Next Thursday

The Rising Star High School band will present its annual Spring concert at the High School gym Thursday evening, April 23, Director Alton Roan announced this week.

The concert will be in three parts, Mr. Roan said. The first section will be presented by the stage band of 22 members and will consist of popular and old standard tunes.

The second section will be presented by the Junior band made up of students from the Fourth through the Eighth grades. They will play a variety of numbers, principally marches and overtures.

The final and main part of the program will be presented by the Senior band, consisting of 50 members.

They will play overtures, marches, novelties and some swing music. There will also be a few solos and ensembles. The program will start at 8 o'clock and will last about an hour and a half.

Admission will be 50c for adults and 25c for students.

Band Parents Will Elect Next Month

The Band Parents Association named a committee at its meeting Monday night to nominate new officers. The nominees will be voted on at the next meeting of the association Monday, May 11.

The group also voted to have charge of the concessions at the rodeo here during the summer.

time for the residents to gather the rubbish — and haul away the trash free of charge. Such rubbish as can be burned—such as waste papers, tree limbs, weeds and grass cutting—will not be hauled, but should be disposed of on the premises. But cans, old iron, and similar waste will be removed.

Conveniently placed

Residents were asked to place their rubbish in places where it will be convenient to the trucks.

Meanwhile emphasis is being placed on removal of all fire hazards which may be detected in faulty wiring, unkempt attics and storerooms and other places about the premises. Getting rid of these hazards has a definite relation to the reduction of fire losses in the community and the lowering of the insurance rates.

There is the further and important consideration of a more healthful community environment which would result from a thorough clean-up of the town. City officials pointed out. At the same time property owners were being urged to make needed improvements to their buildings, which would not only add to the community appearance, but to the money value of the property.

"If our people will join in a concerted campaign to make this Clean - Up week a success, the benefits will be more than worth the effort," said Mayor Smith. "We hope they will. The City will do everything in its power to help them do a good job of it."

"Points for Progress" ...

FFA Members Rated on Points Earned In Program of Agricultural Studies

Recently the Rising Star F. F. A. chapter adopted a program called "Points for Progress." This program has been set up to award the outstanding future farmer of each month. This boy is selected by his achievements in the following ways: project records, citizenship, grades in school subjects, participation and atten-dence at chapter meetings, committee reports, by reading articles from farm magazines, and through being a chapter officer.

A certain number of points are given to each of these items, and at the end of each month points are turned in from each boy in the chapter. The boy who has attained the highest total number of points receives this honor.

Mike Donham, a Freshman boy, was elected farmer of the month for the month of January. Mike Stroebel another freshman boy was elected for the month of February. The boy who has recently been selected for the month of March was Bob Clark, another boy from Freshman class. These boys have started their first year of F. F. SCHOLASTIC COMPETITION

Competition is a healthy stimulus in schools today; it spurs the students on to higher learning. If a person's ability is never challenged, he may become set in a pattern far below his mental ability.

Teachers should establish a sound reward basis for recognizing those who have put forth their best efforts; in some instances the losers have worked harder than the winners. Reward should be given when it is deserved; but we should remember that those who try hardest and do not win should earn some recognition. This will instill a desire in the pupils to work even harder.

Honors and awards should be distributed to allow all capable students to have an opportunity to achieve these goals. As many as possible should be allowed to hold important positions in the school.

Competition will make student work harder to attain their goals. So much competition should not be placed on the student as to create emotional pressure on his mind. A person must learn to realize when the competition is too great; but he must also keep the competition great enough to be a challenge to him.

Competition should not be continued to the point that it causes rivalry and hard feelings between the students. Students should be mature enough to accept defeat, but consideration of their feelings is important. The winner's personal satisfaction is a large part of his reward; teachers should not dwell too long on the accomplishments of one student. Competition is very worthwhile, but it should be kept on a high level with no jealousies. We are encouraged to do our best work with the right kind of competition. Our rewards are of more importance to us if our competition is greater. We must all try to improve by including competition in our goals.

"UPWARD AND ONWARD"

We seniors are confused as to just what the Jr. Sr. Banquet will be? The juniors are giving us all kinds of hints and so far it sounds very original! I'm sure we'll enjoy it, and we say "thank-you" for not having a weiner roast under Mr. Henry's car port!

We are in the last stretch—or maybe I should say last six weeks!—I think all of us are ready to go!

Right now the most talked about event is the senior trip for us seniors. The boys are planning all kinds of mean things, but they don't need to think we girls are sleeping!!!

The volleyball girls had their district volleyball game Tuesday. Most of the boys are enthused with track now.

And now for some gossip:

Don West — Are you still maintaining a good dating average—eleven nights straight—Wow!!! How about you Harriet?

Loretta P. — I know you look forward to the days J. R. is absent so he won't beat you!

Lovey B. — There's more than one fish in the sea; isn't there!?

Sharon D. — Chum, we're gonna get caught one of these days! Maybe you have already!?

Until next week—
Harriet

KNOWLEDGE COMES BUT WISDOM LINGERS

April is here and things are really spinning at R. S. H. S. As each day comes and goes, the Junior class play, Junior-Senior Banquet, and Spring Concert get closer to happening. The Junior Class Play "It's a Great Life" is scheduled for April 21 and from practice sessions; it seems that everyone is doing his part very nicely. We wish to take this opportunity to invite everyone to our play; the juniors are now selling tickets. We think you will enjoy "It is a Great Life" very much; it is a fast moving comedy with a lot of laughs so please try to leave an open date and come to see the play.

Next on the agenda for April is the Spring Concert, which is April 23. The stage band, the junior band, and the high school band will all be taking part. Mr. Roan will present a medal to the outstanding stage band and concert band musicians. We have been working very hard to make the concert a real success.

On Friday night of April 24, we have scheduled the Junior and Senior Banquet. The junior class room-makers met and have decided where it shall be and have prepared a menu.

This is all the news for this week, but we will be back next week with classroom news.

"LIVE AND LEARN"

Hi! This week is the beginning of another six weeks. It has really gone by.

By now we know the winners of the District Track meet on Tuesday.

We want to remind all the Sophomores to pay their class dues, annual payments, biology fees, and typing fees. Time is running out.

Our teachers are still giving us lessons; they just don't realize that it is spring and our minds are wondering. Mr. Nunnally's history class is continuing the study of Chapter 20, "World War I." Mrs. Claborn's English class is working with verbals. Mr. Henry's Algebra Class is still working with fractions.

You are urged to come to the last track meets and back the Wildcats!

Until next week—
Marcia

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Elliot and son from Seagraves visited his sister, Mrs. Otis Wolf, and his mother, Mrs. B. G. Elliot, during the week-end.

"BUILDERS OF TOMORROW"

The band kids are still practicing music for the spring concert. The Algebra I class is having lots of trouble multiplying and dividing fractions; some of us did not do too well on pop test on which we were to perform these operations. In General Math we are measuring objects by their shadows and finding angles of triangles. The General Science pupils are studying sound and hearing; we took our six weeks test last Wednesday.

The sixth period P. E. girls go out to the courts each day. Pam Geye and Sarah Schmidt attended a tennis meet in Brownwood last Saturday.

In interscholastic league declamation Roxie Smith, Nancy Calloway, and Dwight Carter entered the contest at Early last Tuesday. On April 16, Gwen Eberhart, Karen Harris, and Roxie Smith went to Brooksmith to spell in the district meet.

Gossip—

P. G. Has a new look since she has become an auntie.

F. S. What did your dad have to say about you and your party?

"ONWARD FARMERS"

Last Saturday the band, livestock and dairy judging teams went to Stephenville to the area judging contests. The land team, which consisted of Freddy Stover, Danny White, Dwight Carter, and Dickie Tucker won first, with Freddy Stover winning the highest individual award in the area. Danny White won second highest in the area. As an award for high point man, Freddy won a scholarship for one semester at Tarleton College. The dairy team—Gene Burns, Russell Botts, and Bob Clark — won sixth place in area and will go to the State Contest the first of May. The livestock team did not place in the top ten of the contest. The land judging team will return to the State Contest, which will also be held in Stephenville.

JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor... I am happy we have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

ON THE OTHER HAND—

Jim Langdon's Opponent Is a 10-Time Loser!

Jesse Owens, 69-year-old attorney, is still running for office after 38 years and TEN DEFEATS. He has lost the following races:

- 1926—Defeated for Sheriff of Foard County by L. D. Campbell.
- 1930—Defeated for District Attorney by John Meyers.
- 1932—Defeated for District Attorney by Ed Gossett.
- 1940—Defeated for District Attorney by T. Gene Rogers.
- 1946—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by Tom L. Beauchamp.
- 1952—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by K. K. Woodley.
- 1956—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by W. A. Morrison.
- 1958—Defeated for District Judge by Tom Davis.
- 1960—Defeated for Court of Civil Appeals by James Denton.
- 1962—Defeated for Texas Supreme Court by Meade F. Griffin.

A Winner All the Way—

Jim C. Langdon

RE-ELECT THE QUIET MAN WHO GETS THINGS DONE

OMAR BURLESON

INCOME TAX REDUCTION

The income tax reduction bill that became effective in April of 1964 had the vote and support of OMAR BURLESON who has long felt that tax relief for the public was one of the most important issues before Congress.

LIMITED BEEF IMPORTS

OMAR BURLESON introduced a bill in Congress to limit the imports of beef from foreign countries. With a 25% wholesale price decrease caused by foreign imports this bill would provide a broader market for the ranchers and cattlemen. Retail prices remain high.

REDUCE FEDERAL BUDGET

Long an advocate for lower federal spending, OMAR BURLESON, in his 18 years in Congress, has voted to reduce the federal budget from three to 13 BILLION dollars each of his nine Congressional terms. He has never voted to reduce defense expenditures.

CUBAN EMBARGO

During the Cuban affair OMAR BURLESON introduced a bill for a complete embargo on trade with that country. He voted against the sale of wheat to Russia, recognizing that it would encourage our allies to sell to Cuba which they have done in fact.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Because the present form of the Civil Rights bill contains provisions to limit the freedoms of all Americans, he voted against it. He is for the constitutional guarantees for all Americans regardless of status.

LIMITED OIL IMPORTS

In 1949 OMAR BURLESON introduced the first bill to limit oil imports, and then voted for the bill that gave the President of the United States power to limit or abolish oil imports.

REDUCE COMMITTEE BUDGETS

As chairman of the House Administration Committee, OMAR BURLESON has consistently reduced the spending of congressional committees. He reduced Adam Clayton Powell's committee spending budget by 50%.

FOREIGN AID

OMAR BURLESON has voted against foreign aid since the late 1940s. The recent reaction in Congress as to drastically reducing foreign aid and discussion about abolishing it proves him correct.

A Young Man Going Places . . .

(From The Cisco Press) This newspaper does not attempt to tell its readers how to vote. But we feel an obligation to point out facts pertinent to questions on which the readers will decide for themselves the stand they will take at the polls. We believe, too, that the citizens of the five counties composing the Texas House of Representatives' District 63 deserve the most effective representation they can obtain in the Legislature at Austin.

The experience of two terms in the House equips Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge especially well for effective service. His dedication to purpose and principle during two sessions has very definitely marked Gibbens as a young man with a promising future in the service of his state.

Gibbens is serving as chairman of the finance committee of the Legislative Council, a research and bill-producing arm of the Texas Legislature, as a between sessions activity. In addition, he is a member of three other study groups, including a legislative internship program that has won recognition sufficient to be financed by the Ford Foundation.

Twice in the past two years Gibbens has been nominated to represent the state at interstate conferences working on official matters. In the last regular session he served on the revenue and taxation, rules oil and gas, agriculture, and contingent expense committees.

Gibbens has won commendation for his energy and effective representation of his district. An example of his service to his district was the successful fight he waged to keep the 11th Court of Civil Appeals from being moved to Abilene from Eastland. Gibbens faces issues. He considers the welfare of his district and state in every vote. A graduate of Breckenridge High School, where he won his letters as a football player, Gibbens has since graduated from Texas Tech. It is very definitely to his credit that Gibbens has used such time as he could spare and without neglecting the duties of his office to attend law classes at the University of Texas.

The mature judgment that experience has given him plus the energy of his youth have enabled Gibbens to become a real leader in the Texas house, as evidenced by this comment by Governor Connally: "Wayne Gibbens is an outstanding young man and an intelligent, effective legislator. . . . The people of his district are indeed fortunate to have his capable representation."

What do the colleagues think of Gibbens? Said Ben Barnes of De Leon and Brownwood: "Wayne is an industrious progressive and capable member . . . one of the most valuable members of the house." Said Raleigh Brown of Abilene: "He is a young man dedicated to the principles of responsible government and completely devoted to his duties as a representative."

These are some things that the voters will want to consider when they go to the polls May 2nd.

Now You See It . . .

A kind of glass which darkens in sunlight, becomes transparent again in normal indoor lighting, has been announced by two U.S. chemists. Another new type bounces when dropped — and still a third can be made hard enough to drive nails with.

A German Dissent

Air pollution by industry and automobile exhaust is the chief culprit in lung cancer, an extensive German study has concluded. If smoking is involved, the German scientists say, it is a minor factor.

Culprit Is Fingering

The agent which causes so-called "virus pneumonia" has at last been identified, report three American scientists — and lo and behold, it's not a virus at all. It's a very small fungus-like organism.

Three Heart Factors

Heredity, sex and aging appear to be the three most important factors in hardening of the arteries, a Philadelphia scientist finds. "Emotional excesses" are dangerous too, he warns.

New Lunar Clue

Are the craters on the Moon old volcanoes, or were they formed by meteor impacts? New photographs by French observers suggest both processes were at work.

Mrs. Julia Ross and Mrs. Lucile Huddleston visited Mrs. T. W. Respass at the Comanche Hospital, where she has undergone surgery. Mrs. Respass' daughter of Midland is with her mother.

It left about as abruptly during the night. As if old Boreas, in a freakish mood, had scooped up a giant double-honoredful of Panhandle dust flung it at us and chased off, playing with his own tail.

The housewives who had wasted a beautiful Saturday afternoon sweeping, mopping, changing linens and cleaning venetian blinds were pretty sore about the whole deal.

It's the Law in Texas

ADVERTISEMENTS AND LABELS

Of late the law of warranties has placed heavy tort responsibilities on advertisers. Sometimes buyer may treat what sellers say about their goods as promises it which the law will hold them.

In the old days a seller was responsible mainly to the buyer, but the product liability now goes beyond the first buyer. Warranties now sometimes protect the buyer's family, his friends, or innocent bystanders whom the product may hurt.

But the law is not all one way. Recently, in another state, a chemical firm sold an insecticide spray. Farmer Jones bought some, and sprayed his crops. Many plants wilted. Jones sued the firm for the loss of his plants.

The company replied that the label said "Sellers make no warranty of any kind, express or implied, concerning the use of this product. Buyer assumes all risk in use or handling . . ."

The chemical firm won this law suit. Parties to a sales agreement, as a rule, can agree to disclaim liabilities, as for example, when the seller tells the buyer before he buys that he makes no warranty, or makes only limited ones. Jones should read the label and know of the limitation, otherwise, without any express limitations the law "implies" a warranty that the produce is fit for its intended use.

Like labels, advertisements may limit as well as increase a seller's responsibility. In a famous case a car maker claimed that all his cars' windows had safety glass that would not shatter when hit by small rocks. Smith bought a car, but when a pebble struck the glass, it shattered, hurting him badly. The court held that the seller had made warranties by advertising his car windows' special features to consumers. He had to pay.

In another case, Mrs. Brown was famous for her chicken salad. She bought canned chicken which was labeled and advertised as having "no bones." This time her chicken salad contained several bones which hurt her mouth. The court held that the canner had to pay Mrs. Brown for her injuries. She had a right to think there were no bones at all in the can.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who if fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Girl Scouts Sing For Home Residents

The Star Patrol of the Rising Star Girl Scouts entertained the residents of the Twilight Acre Nursing Home recently during their meeting time. The girls, dressed in their Bunny suits which they wore for the program at the Dad-Daughter box supper, went from room to room and sang songs. Those participating were Nancy Agnew, Shirlene Botts, Beverly Burns, Debbie Chambers, Donnetta Croan, Mary Jane Kizer, Betty Fay Phillips, and Avelon Wells. Leader for the group is Mrs. Weldon Hill.

Pecans Being Introduced To English Market

COLLEGE STATION, — Pecans, still something of an oddity to the British, are being introduced to England through efforts of the United States Trade Center in London.

The nut and its products were exhibited recently at the center's 10-day American food and wine show, organized by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. J. G. Woodroof, chairman of the University of Georgia Food Processing Division who represented American growers at the exhibition, said the show was seen by potential buyers representing more than 50 percent of the total purchasing power of the British Institutional Trade. Definite approval was noted.

"Twelve American exporters put 22 pecan products into the show," Woodroof pointed out. "The range included unshelled, polished and dried pecans, and pecan meal."

His said reaction of British traders and public, who had never seen pecans before, was "extremely favorable."

"Time and again those of us responsible for making this presentation in London were asked how much pecans will cost in Britain and if we can give assurance of a steady supply," Woodroof recalled. "It is up to us to meet this demand and make our product available to British bakers, confectioners, salters and ice cream manufacturers."

Dr. Paul J. Findlen, assistant agricultural attache in London

About Your Health

AUSTIN — Whom does cancer hit hardest — men or women? What part of the body is most vulnerable? Can cancer be cured?

Medical scientists know the answers to these most frequently asked questions about cancer but do you?

Does cancer hit men or women the hardest? The race is close, but the records show that younger women fall victim to the disease more often than men. In 1963, over 11,500 people died of cancer, the number two killer, in Texas.

More older men than older women die of cancer, but between the ages 30 to 50, there are among cancer deaths among women than among men.

Between the ages of 35 and 45, more women are killed by cancer than by any other disease. About 17 percent of all women's deaths are attributable to cancer; about 14 percent of all men's.

What part of the body is most vulnerable? At the top of the fatality list is cancer of the digestive organs, which alone accounts for about 35 percent of cancer deaths.

Among women who die of cancer, the breast and uterus are the most frequent sites, while cancer of the lung and of the stomach take the greatest toll among men. More than twice as many men die from lung cancer as from all forms of tuberculosis.

who has directed Trade Center food exhibits for the past three years, said the pecan display was so successful that a similar display has been included in Scotland's Food Exhibition now underway.

Can cancer be cured? There is no cancer cure-all, but early diagnosis and treatment saves lives. The rule that saves countless cancer victims and that could save countless more is "find it early." Yet without periodic examinations this is hard to do in cancer, since first symptoms usually come some time after the disease has gotten a start.

Pain and fever, those two alarmists of most other illnesses, do not appear until much later in most cancer cases. The only way to be on the safe side is to go at regular intervals—at least once a year—for a complete checkup.

In between regular physical examinations watch for the seven danger signs of cancer: usually bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickness in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing or a change in a

If any of these signs continues for two weeks, see your doctor to find out if this means cancer or not.

Browsing With Bev
By Beverley Nicholson, County HD Agent

For her tenth birthday, the young lady of the house announced she wanted a blue angel food cake. It was her birthday, so she got it. But when the cake was served at the party, few people ate it. The reason: A blue cake isn't very appetizing.

Food not only has to taste good, it has to look good. Blues, blacks, and purples are usually not too tempting food colors. For example, orange juice served in a blue glass has much less appeal than in a clear glass. Black is associated with burnt flavors.

Unusual colors arouse suspicion. Green bread suggests mold; red chicken loaf is alarming. So go easy on artificial food coloring. And when you do use it, keep within a seasonable color range. Also avoid serving foods of clashing colors. Purple-red beets, red cabbage, pink radishes, and orange-red tomatoes and pimientos are not attractive together.

Neither are mono-colored foods. A menu of mashed potatoes, creamed onions, fried liver, celery, white bread, and rice pudding lacks character. It needs perking up—with buttered peas substituted for the onions, pickled beets instead of celery, and some brown-crusted rolls in place of the white bread. A spoonful of red jelly will enliven the rice pudding.

You can also bring color to a meal with gay dishes, flowers, and table linen. Just see that the colors are compatible.

Only 50 percent of the green portion of a blade of grass should be removed each time you mow. The green blades of grass manufacture food for the plant. If 60 per cent of the blade is removed, root growth stops for several days or even weeks.

An easy rule for homeowners to remember is: Mow whenever the grass doubles in height. Set your mower at 1/2 to 1 inch for creeping grasses—Bermuda or Zoysia; 2 to 3 inches for Bluegrass and Fescue.

There is no chemical difference between cane and beet sugar. They may be used interchangeably in cooking.

The Sophomore and Junior girls have each prepared one meal in the last week. The Sophomore girl had fun trying out one new dish with which they were not familiar.

We would like to commend the girls who wrote reasons why they would like to attend the State Meeting. They turned in seven good paragraphs and their interest is appreciated.

Wins Cash Award . . .
Eastland Editor Cited for Series of Articles on Dockets of County Courts

EASTLAND — A series of three articles that H. V. O'Brien wrote in January, 1963, about the backlog of cases in county and district courts won for the young editor of the Eastland Telegram a $250 first prize award from the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation last week.

The check and certificate of award were presented to O'Brien at the attorney general's office in Austin Monday afternoon, April 6.

The series of articles appeared in The Telegram, the Ranger Times and The Cisco Press. The first described the backlog of cases in the county court, the second listed cases on file in the 91st District Court; and the third pointed out the number of personal or civil cases filed by all lawyers of the county.

The Texas Law Enforcement Foundation, an association of public officials and others interested in upholding the laws offers annual awards for significant contributions to its program. Second place went to Bruce Romig of the Amarillo Globe Times, and third was won by Jake Trussell of the Kingsville Record.

Judges were Dewitt C. Redrick, director of the School of Journalism at the University of Texas; Frank Arlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal; and Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

O'Brien, editor of the Telegram for two and a half years, is a native of Eastland County. He grew up and finished high school at Carbon. When he enrolled at Cisco Junior College, he became janitor, circulation manager and a printer's devil for the Cisco Press.

By the time O'Brien finished at CJC, he was a regular linotype operator for the Press. He then joined the Reporter as a linotype operator. Working nights and attending day classes at H-SU, O'Brien finished college with a bachelor of journalism degree.

O'Brien spent two years in the Army and then returned to the Reporter-News as a reporter and later as a military editor. In Eastland, he is active in various civic affairs, including the Lions Club and Jaycees. He is an active member of the First Baptist Church. He and Mrs. O'Brien have a nine months old son, H. V., III. His mother resides in Eastland.

Mrs. G. B. Laswell visited her people here and placed flowers on graves at the Rising Star Cemetery.

Need More Time?

The housewife of the Young Married Set is involved with so many activities, she needs all the time she can lay her hands on. A Gold Medallion Home is the answer! It provides so many time-saving conveniences, it's just like adding more days to the ordinary 7-day week. For instance, the electric clothes dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly and even the electric dishwasher saves 7 hours a week...why, that's 10 hours already! Not to mention that the electric range is so automatic, it's like having a hired cook to do all the watching. And the electric water heater provides hot water instantly upon demand. Heating and cooling systems are automatic too... the thermostat is set at the start of the season and forgotten until the season changes.

This is just a smattering of the many ways the total electric Gold Medallion Home saves time for the Young Married Set. Oh yes, with a flameless total electric Gold Medallion Home, there's one less bill to pay each month.
