Old-Time Texas Longhorns on Albany's Fandangle Show

Ready to ride up the trail in the Fort Griffin Fandangle, Clifford Teinert and Malcolm Leech of Albany, round up the herd of Longhorns to shown in the June 16-25 production of the Fandangle. The longhorns, direct descendants of the hardy animals on which Texans first founded the cattle industry, are from the herd kept at the Fort Griffin State Park. Teinert and Leech are Fandangle performers.

Albany Fandangle Truthful Reproduction of Old West

Ticket sales for the Fort Griffin Fandangle, scheduled for June 16, 17, 18, 23, 24 and 25, are progressing rapidly. The widely acclaimed musical historical show is written and directed by playwright Robert Nail. It is produced in its entirety by the people of Albany, Texas.

The show is based on pioneer life at the frontier outpost of Fort Griffin and the surrounding area. Out of old books and out of memories of descendants of these pioneers have come stories and ideals for many songs and scenes used in the Fandangle.

The music of the Fandangle is all original. Demand for copies of favorite songs has become so great that this year a Fandangle Songbook was published. Most of the music has been written by three people—Alice Reynolds, music director of the show author Nail, and James Ball.

The color and originality of the Fandangle sets costumes are an essential part of the show. Costumes for the Indians and pioneer sequences are carefully researched and designed. They, like everything else in the show, are made in Albany.

The Fandangle Association owns a number of antique vehicles including buggies, surries, and wagons. An authentic steam calliope and Butterfield Stagecoach made to scale locally are used each year. A calliope concert is given before each performance. The stagecoach and a replica of the Texas Central railroad train are used in the performances.

A herd of Longhorn cattle is moved each year from the Fort Griffin State Park to make its appearance in the trail drive scene of the show.

The Fandangle offers something delightful for each member.

Fishing Derby Set for Cub Scouts June 18

Rising Star Cub Scouts will hold their annual Fishing Derby on the north end of Pioneer Lake Saturday, June 18, at 5 p. m. The derby will close at 8 p. m. Awards and prizes will be given for the largest fish and the most fish in number caught by any Cub Scout during the hours of the derby. A weiner roast and achievement presentation will follow the derby.

All committeemen, Cub Scouts and families are invited to join in the festivities. A. W. Griffin, Scoutmaster, said.

Food and drinks will be furnished by the Pack.

There will be no further Cub Scout activities until the paper drive scheduled for the last week in July, Mr. Griffin said.

Miss Gayla Sue Swift, a student in Abilene Christian College, and her classmate, Miss Dana Smith, visited Gayla's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Swift, over the week-end.

of the audience seated at the prairie theatre. The theater, a feat in itself, utilizes 30 acres of prairie and hillside. Attractions at the theatre include a log cabin, and the dugout which serves as the ticket office. It is a scenic theatre offering a vista of wildflowers, open country, and during the last two full week-ends of June, a chance to return to the past of the western frontier.

COLLEGE STUDENT IS SUMMER MISSIONARY

Miss Cynthia Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry T. Brown, flew by jet from Dallas to Detroit, Mich., last Wednesday to begin a ten-week missionary assignment under the auspices of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention from which she received an assignment in April. She was accompanied to Dallas by her parents and sisters.

STAMP PADS AT THE STAR

Leader of Missing Scouts Son of Rising Star Man

John Rachel, scoutmaster from Hobbs, N. M., who was the leader of a group of 15 Hobbs Boy Scouts missing for several days on a raft trip down the Rio Grande river, is the son of Jay Rachel of Rising Star and the nephew, also, of Mrs. Sam Henderson and Mrs. Rob Dunn of this community.

The Scout group included three sons of Mr. Rachel, John, Jr. 14 Stephen, 12, and David, 15.

The Scout group, chosen for the trip because of their skill in boating, had built rafts of plywood and inner tubes for the trip. They rode in twos and towed a rubber raft of provisions.

The Scouts and Mr. Rachel were found safe and in good health on a ranch in Mexico Sunday. They had started their trip Monday morning and when they failed to show up at their destination Saturday a search was begun. They were spotted by a border patrol plane.

An Air Force helicopter from Goodfellow Base at San Angelo lifted the Scouts from the Mexican Ranch to the Big Bend National Park headquarters.

The Scouts said they had pulled the rafts 12 feet up the river bank Thursday night but that a flash flood caused a 15-foot rise during the night, sweeping away their craft and provisions. They said the first day they got water from the river and ate a fish they caught but that they were furnished food after a Mexican rancher picked them up in a truck late Friday.

"We didn't consider ourselves lost because we knew where we were," one said. They said they became concerned Saturday

New Dental Office To Be Opened June 22nd

Dr. Robert J. Mahoney will open his dental office in Rising Star in the building occupied by the late Dr. W. S. Carter on June 22, it was learned this week. The new Rising Star dentist received his degree recently from the University of Tennessee.

The doctor, his wife and their small son will move to Rising Star in the near future.

Hospital News...

Special Services June 19 at Methodist Church

Rev. J. W. Hodges, pastor of the First Methodist Church, has announced special services to be held at the church Sunday, June 19, when Texas Narcotic and Alcohol Education Day will be observed. The day has been set aside for that purpose by the Cisco district for that purpose. Guest speaker for the 11 a. m. services will be Lem Willis.

Father's Day will also be observed.

All parents are specially urged to be present with their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs have returned to Denver City where he is employed.

Rattler Bite Kills Colt Born to Aging Mare

The colt born about two weeks ago to "Jill", the aging mare that had been superannuated to the Ralph Kizer pasture at Okra, is dead, the victim of what a Brownwood veterinarian said was a rattlesnake bite.

Mr. Kizer noticed Saturday that the colt was bleeding a bit

The rattlesnake believed to have fatally bitten the colt born to the mare, Jill, was hunted down and killed Wednesday by E. O. Kizer and others at the farm. The reptile was almost five feet long.

just above the hock on one leg, but concluded that the mother had stepped on it and cut the leg a little. A short while later he found the colt lying down, apparently ill.

He and his father, E. O. Kizer, took the colt and its mother to Brownwood where a veterinary treated it for snakebite. It seemed at first to respond to the treatment, but Sunday it worsened and Sunday night it died.

Popular Pastor Returns To Methodist Church

The Rev. J. W. Hodges was returned to the Rising Star First Methodist Church for the second year of a pastorate at the conclusion of the Joint Annual Conferences at Dallas last week.

The Rising Star minister returns to a charge at the request of the local church with whom he had a very successful ministry during his first year.

Many ministerial changes were made in the more than 2,000 appointments announced during the final session of the conference.

The May Methodist Church and Blanket Church were combined in one pastorate under the Rev. G. M. Seipp, May is in the Brownwood district of which the Rev. William M. Greenwaldt is district superintendent.

Dr. S. Wayne Reynolds is superintendent of the Cisco District in which the Rising Star Methodist church is located.

A new pastor was assigned to the Cross Plains Methodist Church. He is the Rev. J. Lloyd Coker, who will also serve the Burkett and Cottonwood congregations. The Rev. Robert Shaw, pastor last year was assigned to El Mott church in the Waco district. He will also serve Christ Methodist church of Waco.

Scattered Showers Give Slight Relief

Scattered showers brought only local and limited relief from the early summer drought to this area early Monday.

The rains varied in intensity from a reported three inches in parts of the Okra area to only a sprinkle south and west of Rising Star.

Northwest and north of Rising Star there were reports of from one inch to two and one-half inches, particularly along the Sabanna valley, but the extent of the rains was small and farmers this week were still waiting for moisture for peanut planting.

In Rising Star less than half an inch fell. There was none at May or in the Williams community area and none at Cross Plains.

Second Program For Teenagers To Be Held June 21-23

"Operation Teenager" will be held in Eastland County June 21, 22 and 23, it was announced this week by the sponsoring group, the Family Living Committee of the Eastland County Program Building Committee.

The new operation was undertaken as one consequence of the outstanding success of the "Teen Scene" program last fall, it was explained.

Lions and Rotary Clubs of the County are meeting in joint luncheons during the week to host the programs in the following schedule:

June 21—12:00 noon to 1 p. m., Eastland White Elephant restaurant;

June 22—12:00 noon to 1 p. m., Cisco, Victor Hotel;

June 23—12:00 noon to 1 p. m., Ranger, Paramount Hotel.

Due to limited space, it was explained, attendance at the above meetings is limited to club members and their invited guests.

"Operation Teenager" will be presented Wednesday night, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church in Cisco. An invitation to this program is open to anyone interested. There will be no charge for admission and the program will last approximately 30 minutes, it was said.

"Operation Teenager" evolved from the convictions of four inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections that serving a sentence doesn't repay a thing. They developed a program with the aim of steering others from the errors they had made.

"One of the most despairing features of the present crime explosion," they pointed out, "is the increasing number of young people involved. A country may well pride itself on noble tradition with its roots and foundation in the past. But it is the future—the youth—which holds the

Cottonwood Musical Friday Night, June 17

The Cottonwood Musical will be held at the Cottonwood Community Center northwest of Cross Plains Friday, June 17, at 7:30 p. m., it was announced this week.

There will be a "good country music program of picking and singing by our local and area talent, plus guests from Abilene and Stamford," said Pop Whitaker, who also said that the public and all musicians are invited. There will be no charge for admission.

LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. John Stock returned Thursday from a vacation through South Texas. Their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Rigdon, Rickey, Kathy and Debra, spent the week-end with the Stocks, Rickey and Debra stayed for an extended visit and are attending vacation Bible school at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jack N. White and her brother, D. J. Perkins of Cross Plains, attended the Hext homecoming Sunday. Mr. Perkins and Mrs. White attended their first school at Hext, situated 16 miles east of Menard. This was the first time Mrs. White had been back to the place in 35 years.

Eddie Joe Henry will teach in the Andrews school system this fall. He will serve as coach and teach math. The Henry family will move to Andrews.

LINDY PENS AT THE STAR

Council Turns Down Step Telephone Rate Increase

By a tie vote of the four councilmen present, broken by Mayor W. G. Reed, the Rising Star City Council Monday night of last week, turned down a motivated proposal of the Kizer Telephone Company for an increase in telephone rates in Rising Star.

The company had asked that the increase be granted in a step process, one-half July 1 and one-half in January 1967. It had agreed to eliminate a proposed increase in rates for extensions.

Votes in favor of accepting the compromise were cast by Elgie Crisp and Willie Cooper and negative votes by E. N. Marsh and Bryan Milner.

In a subsequent and called meeting Thursday night of last week the council voted to reduce the water minimum from 4,000 gallons to 3,000 gallons as one means of increasing water revenues. The minimum price is $2.00.

Mayor Reed explained that Rising Star has one of the most generous minimum water allowances of any city, which adds to the heavy drain on the summer water pumping capacity without increasing the needed revenues.

He also pointed out that the city has just purchased and installed three new water pumps to help the system maintain its pumping efficiency. During the summer about half a million gallons daily are pumped from 15 wells.

In another move to improve the revenue situation, 200 new water meters were purchased for delivery this week. These will be installed where customers are being served on a minimum charge basis.

Next winter it is planned to install new and larger water mains in areas where pressure is now low, the mayor said.

The council also offered the chamber of commerce a site on the south side of Williams City Park for the Historical Marker which the County Historical Committee has offered the community. If accepted the marker will be located there and, it is understood the Highway Department will build and pave an access lane to the site.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith attended graduation exercises at Abilene High School last Tuesday—June 7. Their grandson, Allen Reeves, was a member of the class.

Mrs. Linnie Whitaker and Mrs. Velma Hibbard of Monroe, La., spent the week-end here in the home of their sister, Mrs. E. N. Marsh.

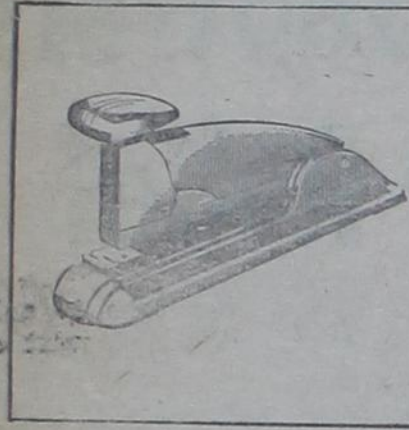

Visitors in the home of Mrs. B. G. Elliott over the week-end were her children, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hill of Nocona, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Elliott, Midland, and Sam Elliott of Borger.

Guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Vise were Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Walker of George West, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Plummer of Heavener, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plummer of Poteau, Okla. Mrs. L. C. Plummer is a sister of Mr. Vise and

The Flying Leviathan

Staggering statistics tell the story of Lockheed's projected four-engine C-5A cargo plane designed to meet Air Force demands for a jet carrier twice the size of the mammoth airlifters now in operation, and the biggest airplane ever built. The new carrier would fly more than 6,300 statute miles non-stop, at a speed more than 500 miles an hour with a 100,000 pound payload. It could cross any ocean non-stop with twice this load. It is as high as a six-story building, as wide as a two-lane highway, as long as some steamers, and could accommodate six Greyhound buses within its commodious interior. The C-5A is Lockheed's latest entry in the heavy airlift field. It features a huge nose that swings up to permit free passage of trucks, tanks and other heavy equipment. Lockheed is the builder of the fan-jet C-141 StarLifter for the Air Force, and the C-130 Hercules, used by all military services and a dozen other countries throughout the world.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Clark and Mrs. George Scruggs and son of Abilene were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Ada Holamon.

HOW IMPORTANT IS SIDE-DRESSING CORN?

By: T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist
Cyanamid Agricultural Research Center

Just consider that corn and other crops contain more nitrogen than any other element supplied through the soil—and side-dressing can be truly a yield pusher. Neglect nitrogen and your most profitable yields are never reached.

In a general sense, though, no one essential element is most important. A shortage of any one element can seriously limit yields. Only when your soil is supplied with adequate amounts of other essential nutrients, can nitrogen push yields to tops levels.

Side-dressing is efficient

Fortunately, there is still time to apply needed nitrogen to your corn, sorghum, sugar beets, vegetables, and other row crops. When applied as a side-dressing, nitrogen is placed in the root zone near the time of most rapid crop growth. During this peak-use period, nitrogen must be available in the soil or yields will be cut short.

Corn, for example, takes up over half its total nitrogen during the third month of growth. In this period—starting with tasseling—the crop produces about half its total dry weight.

Side-dressed nitrogen is utilized more efficiently than pre-plant in many soils—especially light-textured or sandy soils. Money for side-dressed nitrogen is invested a shorter period of time than money spent on most other production items.

Nitrogen should be applied as soon as possible after the crop is up and well established. At this time, root systems have not reached into the middles and will not be injured by application equipment or cultivators. Putting off the job may result in undue delays from wet soil or unavailability of equipment and materials.

However, corn and sorghum can be side-dressed with good results until the crop is too tall to get through with application equipment. Nebraska research shows very favorable response to nitrogen applied when corn was 3 feet tall. If you cannot get the nitrogen needed on early, you can apply late.

Sugar beets should be side-dressed as early as possible. In Northern Ohio, for instance, it is generally best that nitrogen be applied before June 15.

How much Nitrogen to use

By side-dressing time, yield potential can be estimated, based on stand of plants, moisture reserves, and other known factors. Take, for example, a yield goal of 150 bushels corn per acre and assume that nitrogen already available in the soil will produce 100 bushels. Based on the average requirement of two pounds N for each bushel increase desired, then at least 100 pounds nitrogen should be applied as a side-dressing.

The kind of nitrogen used is not as important as the amount. Properly applied, the liquids and solids will give comparable results. Normal injection of ammonia puts it down in reach of deep roots. Solids should be cultivated or applied into moist soil for quick results.

Use the form of nitrogen that fits best into your farming system, but be sure to use enough on all your crops to reach most profitable yield levels.

INCOME TAX TATTLETALES

Last year, Uncle Sam collected an extra $13 million in income taxes because somebody tattled for pay.

Most tips about income tax fraud come in anonymously, from people seeking no reward beyond the satisfaction of doing their duty—or of getting even with someone they don't like.

But in 1965, a typical year 4,000 informers filed formal claims for a reward. And the government paid out $600,000 for their information.

The practice of paying money for tax tips has existed ever since the early days of the republic. In each year's budget Congress sets aside a specific sum for this purpose.

There are those who condemn the whole idea. They argue that tattling is unsportsmanlike, not in keeping with our traditions. Certainly generations of American readers have despised Tom Sawyer's half brother Sid for tattling on Tom to Aunt Polly.

On the other hand, tax cheaters are not as endearing as Tom

Sawyer. And, as one court put it:

"It is the duty of every citizen to communicate to his government any information which he has of the commission of an offense against its laws."

The Internal Revenue Service takes no position on fine philosophical grounds. Its job is simply to collect all the money that the government has coming—and informers are a big help. Using them not only puts the IRS on the track of cheaters but also helps to keep many a tempted citizen honest.

How much can an informer collect? Up to 10 percent of what the government recovers, which can be considerable. However, the exact amount is left largely to the discretion of the IRS.

In one case the informer sued the government, complaining that he wasn't paid as much as his information was worth. But he got nowhere. The court said the IRS is obliged to make an honest evaluation of services rendered, but is not obliged to pay what others may consider a fair sum.

In another way, too, the IRS has the last word. For the informer, having won his reward, must then pay income tax on it.

In fact, there have even been cases in which informers themselves were fined for failing to pay the tax on their reward. No doubt Tom Sawyer would have a phrase for that:

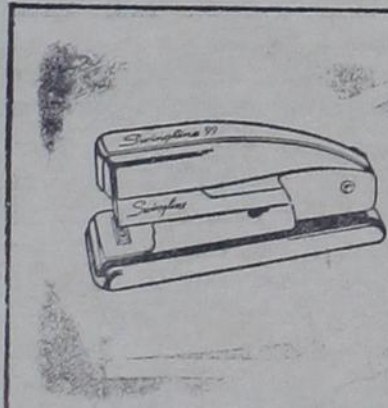

Poetic justice.

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burlison, M. C. 17th Texas Dist.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—FUTURE HISTORIANS will undoubtedly mark September 1, 1945, as a significant turning point in the affairs of the United States, as well as the world. The history of World War II ended on this date with the surrender of the Japanese, but there is also another important significance.

AT THAT exact time the United States stood alone on a pinnacle of power. No other nation anywhere on the earth could challenge us.

BOTH ALLIES and the Vanquished had turned to us for assistance. Russia could not have saved herself without the equipment we had given her. Europe could not have rebuilt itself without our wealth. Smaller nations everywhere had no other place to look for help except to America.

ALSO AT this time it seemed that we developed a sort of complex of half apologizing for having won the war in the first place. Ever since VJ Day it seems some self-consciousness has bitten deep into us and has affected our foreign policy. At times we have seemed to apologize for our power. This appeared to be the case with Berlin, Korea and the middle East, which were dealt with by several Administrations.

THIS IS what sets Viet Nam apart from other periods of actual wartime. Other wars, with all their agonies, were made bearable by an enthusiasm for what we felt was right and a confidence in our ability to bring victory. What we knew we had to do was to rise up and fight.

THIS ATTITUDE seems to be lacking in our conduct of the war in Viet Nam.

THE EVIDENCE of this is now being demonstrated in Geneva where Secretary of State Rusk is trying valiantly to gain support from European leaders for the United States' position in Viet Nam.

SECRETARY RUSK admits that our prestige is down in Europe because "it has been so long since the United States has had a resounding success or victory."

EUROPEANS HAVE observed the hesitancy and reluctance of the United States to use its power—in Berlin, in Korea, at the Bay of Pigs—and now what appears to them to be a stalemate in Viet Nam.

THE FORCES of history have not changed. Despite the introduction of nuclear weapons, a nation is not regarded as a great power if it shrinks from the use of its strength when attacked. It is doubtful that under such conditions a nation could expect allies to flock to its side when it is said we only have "limited goals" and those goals not clearly defined.

ENGLAND'S Winston Churchill did not rally the free world to Britain's side by calling for restraint against the Nazis or giving the half-V sign.

THESE ARE the things which it is hard for our friends abroad to understand. Voices of "no win" policy for the United States are loud and clear. They were mistaken by a well-known Canadian newspaperman and parliamentarian who recently visited Washington. Before coming they thought "American public opinion was shifting toward disengagement in Viet Nam and some kind of rapprochement toward Red China."

AFTER BEING in Washington a few days the Canadians found a different view. "Right or wrong, the vast majority of Americans still cling to the opinion that the war in Viet Nam must be fought to the bitter end, that Communism must be contained in Southeast Asia, and that it must be stopped there if we do not want it to come over here."

CERTAINLY MOST people would like to see a peaceful settlement in South Viet Nam, but who can imagine a "peaceful settlement" under prevailing conditions and attitudes?

INDICATIONS ARE that Mr. W. Averell Harriman will soon set off on another round of travel, the possibility of a negotiated settlement.

MR. HARRIMAN'S trip has added significance by statements from Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, calling for "mutual cessation of all types of hostilities in Viet Nam and a new Geneva Conference to reaffirm the 1954 and 1962 Agreements."

IT SEEMS time that we should conduct our affairs in such a way that those who want peace may come to us instead of our doing all the going.

Hopper Threat Developing In Some Sections

COLLEGE STATION.—Young grasshoppers are appearing in abundant numbers in several areas of the state as they did in 1965, say Texas A&M University Extension Entomologist, W. H. Newton, P. J. Hamman and J. G. Thomas.

Grasshoppers are relatively easy to control when they are young but become increasingly difficult to control as they near maturity, Newton said. They are best controlled in their hatching areas before they begin to migrate over larger areas. Frequently, spot treatment of the hatching areas will prevent later widespread damage.

Eggs are usually deposited in late summer and fall in the soil in grassy, uncultivated areas such as roadsides, fence rows, idle crop land and pastures, the entomologist said. The young nymph, after hatching the following spring, feed in the vicinity for several days before beginning to disperse to fields, pastures and gardens. Applying control measures while the population is still fairly concentrated will reduce later damage to pastures and crop, Newton added.

Several insecticides give effective control of young grasshoppers. Producers should pay careful attention to the label precautions before applying any insecticide to pastures or crops and observe strictly the prescribed harvest, grazing or slaughter intervals, the entomologist said.

For control recommendations on grassland and specific field crops, a visit with the local county agent is suggested by the entomologists.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brizendine visited Six Flags Over Texas recently. They were met there by relatives of Mr. Brizendine.

TREAT DURABILITY AS A VALUE, NOT A CHALLENGE

Sometimes success gets out of hand. A product comes to be so well thought of that users automatically expect too much of it. For instance, some people polish the finish right off their shiny new automobiles.

Decorative laminated plastic for counters, cabinets, furniture and walls is so well thought of, it too takes a beating, says the Decorative Laminate Section of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

Laminated plastic is one of the most attractive and wear resistant materials available for surfacing kitchen and bathroom counters, for finishes of fine furniture and for wall panels. All that it takes to clean it is to wipe it with a damp cloth, any of the generally available dishwashing soaps or detergents, and a light hand. This high-pressure laminate has an extremely dense surface that is highly resistant to dirt and stain, and impervious to moisture.

Decorative laminated plastic is scuff and scratch resistant, but cooks should use a cutting board when slicing or mincing. The board will also protect the sharp edges of your cutlery.

Modern technology has developed a decorative, versatile, material that resists cigarette burns—but for a limited period of time. Nicotine stains, however, can be removed with a mild abrasive or a light soap.

Decorative laminated plastic withstands heat, too, but please protect it from sizzling hot pots. It's hard to find another beautiful surfacing material that will stand up to heat, water and stains like high-pressure decorative laminated plastic. Use it, enjoy it, but give it the loving care it deserves.

60 Register For 17th Reunion Of Nunnally Family

Members of the Nunnally family gathered at the American Legion Hall Sunday, June 5, for their 17th annual reunion.

Sixty members of the family registered for the all-day event. After lunch a business meeting was held with President John Nunnally in charge. Mr. Nunnally was re-elected president and Mrs. Clark Crownover re-elected secretary.

Mrs. Cecil Lotief Dies; Services Held at Tyler

ROTAN — Mrs. Cecil Lotief, 62, a longtime resident of Rotan, died at 8 p. m. Monday in St. Mary's Hospital in Dallas after an illness of several months.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Tyler with burial there.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rotan.

She came to Rotan in 1938 with her husband from Cross Plains and established the Lotief's Dry Goods, which they sold in 1965 on their retirement. Earlier they operated a dry goods business in Rising Star.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Estelle Lotief of Dallas; two sons, the Rev. Cecil Lotief of San Angelo and Rudy Lotief of Canton, Miss.; and three grandchildren.

Teenager Program—

only ground for hope. "The fact that only 40 per cent of the population of the Texas Department of Corrections is between the ages of 17 and 24 is only part of the total tragic situation. If we are to include the populations of Gatesville, Gainesville and Crockett, which are our State schools for juveniles, the percentage becomes much greater.

"Every single boy or girl (or adult, as far as that goes) may possibly go to prison. There is no economic class, educational level, religious denomination, type of work or personality that is not represented in prison."

It has been the goal of the Family Living Committee, of which Mrs. Beverly Nicholson, county home demonstration agent, and Wanda Watson, asst. agent, serve as advisors, to help the youth of the county understand the responsibilities of adulthood, marriage and job. In its Teen Scene program on April 2, much was accomplished in this direction.

It Has Been

By VADA ARNOLD

"The area surrounding Rising Star in 1882 was as wild as any person could wish," according to a story told by Will H. Mayes, former publisher of the Brownwood Bulletin.

Early in the year 1882, Mr. Mayes, then a lawyer from Kentucky, passed through this area on a stage coach from Brownwood to Cisco, seeking a new location.

At the time Rising Star consisted of a newly constructed, unpainted building, 12x16 feet in size and used for a general store and dining hall for stage passengers and others who might be passing this way.

The cooking was done in a tent back of the store, by the Anderson family. W. W. Anderson was the store keeper and postmaster. Mr. Anderson cared for the horses driven on the stage line, there was a corral surrounded by a log fence, adjoining the store, where the horses were kept. About twenty minutes before the stage arrived fresh horses were harnessed and fed to replace the ones used on the first leg of the trip.

Stage coach fare from Brownwood to Cisco was $5 for each trip. The conveyance used was popularly referred to as a Stage coach" but was in reality a three seated hack. Many times the driver, eight to ten passengers and the Brownwood-Cisco mail were crowded into the hack which had springs heavy enough to withstand the constant bouncing over the "Post oak runners" that filled the sandy roadway.

Hacks going both ways, met at Rising Star at noon, and only stopped long enough for passengers to eat a hurried lunch, and to change horses on the all-day trip.

The "Star" was a busy place at noon each day, for at least a half hour. Until noon next day, the only commotion was the neighing of horses in the corral and the baying of dogs in the oak grove surrounding the store, except when venturesome horsemen or a homeseekers wagon passed that way.

There were frequent "hold-ups" by bandits along the stage route. They worked in gangs of two to four men on horseback hiding in the woods bordering the narrow roadway, and suddenly dashing out, grabbing the stage horses by their bridles and bringing them to a stop, while others ordered the passengers out of the stage, at gun point. The passengers were lined up by side the road to be closely searched and robbed of money and jewelry.

Some of the bandits were too chivalrous at times to rob the women passengers. Only occasionally were the mail bags molested. Sometimes these raids occurred weekly, at times every two weeks, and there were times when they were a daily occurrence.

Drivers and passengers, realizing they were at the mercy of the bandits, seldom offered resistance, but most of the time were careful to hide their money and jewelry before boarding the stage in expectation of a "hold-up." No account is given of bodily injuries or rough treatment of passengers or drivers.

This story sounds like "Laredo" but is actually a true story in the history of our present peaceful Rising Star.

Many people are under the false impression that with some diets you can eat all you want and still lose weight. This is not true.

Even if your diet is based on some "special foods" or it limits carbohydrates to 60 grams per day, it is still impossible to eat all you want and lose at the same time.

The simple principle of dieting is that when—and only when—less calories are taken in than used by a person's body is it possible to lose weight.

A high-fat, low-carbohydrate diet may cause quick loss of weight for a short time. However most of the loss is water that has been drawn out of the body tissues. There's little loss of actual fat. Also, a high-fat, low carbohydrate diet causes an imbalance of nutrients in the body which can have harmful effects.

Other devices to make dieting easier, such as making spaghetti thinner or, the hole in the doughnut larger, or cutting slices of bread thinner, are also easy way to control weight. It simply takes long sustained effort and will-power.

The best reducing diet is a low-calorie, nutritionally balanced diet of varied foods. No one food is fattening unless too much of it is eaten. So, cut out the extras, such as extra sugar, fat and second helpings, and stick with the balanced diet. Never attempt to lose weight without first having a medical checkup. Your family doctor can prescribe the correct calorie intake for you to help you lose weight safely.

Are you planning to sew with the sheer fabrics, such as voiles and dotted swiss?

They are popular this season, but their transparency calls for special treatment of the seams.

There are three different ways to make seams in sheer fabrics.

The first method is to stitch a plain 5/8 inch seam with the right sides of the fabric together. Make another row of stitching within the seam allowance, 1/8 inch from the first seam. Then trim the seam close to the second stitching line.

Another method is to make a French seam by placing the wrong sides of the fabric together. Stitch a plain 3/8 inch seam, and trim the seam allowance to 1/8 inch. Then turn the garment flat along the seam line. Baste and stitch along the regular 5/8 inch seam line so that the finished seam will be 1/4 inch wide.

A third method of seaming sheer fabrics is a mock French seam. Stitch the right sides of the fabric together along the 5/8 inch seam line. Next turn the raw edges in 1/4 inch toward the seam line and sew together by hand or machine to make a 3/8 inch seam.

Best results are usually obtained by using the French seam on straight seams and the mock French seam on curved seams where fitting is necessary.

When you are choosing a pattern for a sheer fabric, check to see that sheers are recommended. The garment will look better if few seams are in evidence.

INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS
... a must in Economic Development

Obtaining leads on industries that might locate in a community is one of the hardest parts of any sound economic development program. The lack of an industrial prospecting program that produces several leads may cause serious mistakes by a community in financing or other endeavors to attract unsound or unattractive industry. A community needs a well balanced program, combining all the techniques and utilizing all of the sources that will give it increased effectiveness and chances for real success. LOCAL PEOPLE AS A SOURCE OF INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS — usually provide a sound reason or give the community a competitive advantage in attracting the industry.

BUSINESSMEN—should ask the company representatives they buy from if the company needs additional manufacturing facilities to serve this market area, also, service stations, restaurants and motel people can ask their customers.

CITIZENS—who know someone that works for an industry should inquire if that industry might be interested in locating a plant.

EXISTING INDUSTRY—may need a companion industry to supply them with raw materials or services. Expansion of existing industry is sound economic development.

LOCAL IDEAS—can provide leads for the local people to establish an industry of their own or attract a certain type industry.

EX-CITIZENS—should be contacted, advising them and asking their help to obtain leads on any industry that could logically locate in the town.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTIVITY — should utilize such programs as direct mail, asking local citizens to call on industries when they are on a trip — watching all news media for possible leads or indications that a company might expand.

COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES — such as utilities, banks, railroads, regional and state development organizations can provide leads for new industry. Keep all of these organizations fully advised of the local programs, advantages, activities and community interest for attracting new industry for improved economy in your community.

ANY and ALL industrial leads should be handled through and by the local group that has been delegated this responsibility, usually the Chamber of Commerce.

Ask your WTD local manager for additional information and services available.
