Just Peanuts

by Evelyn

Families took advantage of the Labor Day holiday and took that one last trip or joint to the lake before becoming totally absorbed in the fall school semester and all its activities.

The Rising Star Junior High kittens take on Cross Plains in their opening game of the season, Thursday night September 8th at 7:00 p.m. in Cross Plains. Come back the kittens!

While some of us enjoyed the leisure pace of the holidays weekend, others diligently took part in the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Muscular dystrophy Tele-Thon. A total of $942.00 was raised locally by Dena Willett, Shelly Gray, Kathy Woody, Teresa Underwood, Tanna Lewis, Marc Kizer, Gretchin Williams and Kyle Williams. These kids deserved a round of applause.

The Cats lost their opener to the Early Longhorns in a close 7-6 meet. The Wildcats play Tolar September 9th at 8 p.m. in Tolar. Be sure and support the Wildcats!

You probably noticed last week that a building has been moved in on the lots recently cleared next to the red light. It is reported that this site will house a convenience type food store. The building came from Cisco and is to be bricked in the future.

H.M. (HENRY) CARTER AND BIRTHDAY CAKE

Many things have changed in the 77 years Mr. H.M. (Henry) Carter has lived in the Rising Star area. Looking back over the years, he remembers some good and some bad. But insists that there is no better place to live!

Students may register at

by DeMarquis Gordon

Peanut growers are invited to attend a nutgrass control Field Day and free barbecue near Carbon Friday, September 9.

Gordon said an extensive nutgrass control demonstration using various rates and timing of application of Basagran has been established on Tommy Cozart's peanut field about one mile east of Carbon of FM 2526.

Gordon said many peanut growers have fought the battle against nutgrass and in most cases lost. The BASF Company recently received EPA clearance for their chemical, Basagran, in peanuts.

The field day will start at 10:00 a.m. September 9 with a brief introduction of plot information and will be completed following a catered barbecue at noon.

Round-Up Now Underway

Abilene (SPL)—The 18th annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is now underway. Southwest ranchers and farmers have been challenged by Chairman C. A. "Charlie" Morris to donate enough livestock to raise $150,000 through the event—with all proceeds going to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center facilities in Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder.

Entertainer Rex Allen, long-time friend of the Center and wife Bonnie met with a gathering of 300 person including area chairman for CRCC, Rehab Board members special guests and their wives last Saturday evening at the kickoff event in Abilene. A new promotional film about the Rehab Center was premiered at the kickoff dinner.

Allen praised the work of the Center in his brief to the crowd: "It has been my pleasure to see this institution grow from treating 20 patients to the almost 5,000 who will be served this year alone. It's the purest charity that I know anything about. It's people taking care of people. It's a shrine to humanity more than a rehabilitation center."

The Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children raises a major portion of the funds required annually to provide, without charge, care for those handicapped from birth, or from accidents and strokes, as well as those with hearing and sight disabilities.

Very simply, the Center asks cattlemen from all over the Southwest to donate livestock or cash. The livestock will be sold in special auctions with the money used to run the Center. The cattle sale is set for September 26, in Abilene with additional sales for horses and other livestock to follow in October.

Pledges may be made by contacting the West Texas Rehabilitation Center at 915-692-1633. WTRC field representatives Danny Isbell and Sonny Dillard will make arrangements to pick up the livestock and haul it to the sales.

West Texas Utilities Aims To Provide Reliable Supply Of Electricity

Hull Reunion Held Over Labor Day Weekend

Planning now being carried out by West Texas Utilities Co. and its three sister companies in the Central and South West Corp. is aimed at maintaining a reliable supply of electricity in the system's three-state service area after some other forms of energy have become unavailable.

"Our constant goal is to be prepared to meet all demands for electric energy and to handle any type of emergency," said Durwood Chalker, WTU president.

Two factors dominate current planning, Chalker said.

One is the fuel crisis, which is forcing many electric utilities to turn to new sources of fuel for power generation. The other is the impressive population and economic growth of the WTU territory.

Facing up to the fuel situation, the Central and South West Companies have launched a five-year $2.7 billion construction program which will substantially reduce the system's dependence on natural gas and oil for boiler fuel.

The system's first coal plant was placed on line this past spring in East Texas. It was built and is being operated by Southwestern Electric Power Co. of Shreveport. Another of the operating companies, Central Power and Light of Corpus Christi, is a partner in a nuclear project under construction in South Texas.

West Texas Utilities Co.'s first departure from gas and oil as boiler fuel will be coal-fired generation from two units now being built near Tulsa by Public Service Co. of Oklahoma. The units are to be jointly owned by PSO and WTU.

And within a decade, WTU hopes to complete a huge new coal-fired generating station on the edge of its own territory in Lake Kemp-Lake D IVERSION AREA NEAR Vernon. WTU contracted for water rights from the lakes this past winter, and possible plant sites are now being considered. The CSW companies will share in the cost of building this $1 billion plant.

Looking further into the future, WTU hopes to benefit from lignite deposits the four CSW companies own in East Texas. A rule of economy in the Electric utility business, Chalker explained is that power plants should be built as close to the fuel source as possible. This is especially true of lignite, which is a low-grade coal not economical to transport long distances.

"We will be able to generate a great deal of power over there in East Texas where both fuel and water are plentiful," Chalker said.

"But to get our share of that lignite we already own, and to control the size of our reserves for the greatest benefit to our customers, we must link our four Central and South West companies as tightly together as possible," Chalker explained.

In fact, he said, WTU's ability to provide its customers the most reliable and economical service in the future hinges largely on its ability to establish strong interconnections with the other companies.

To accomplish this, WTU must operate across state lines, and so far, all attempts to do so have been blocked. The main obstacle has been objections raised by several large Texas utility firms over WTU establishing inter-state connections which could place all companies tied with WTU under jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission.

After a hearing this past spring in Austin, the Public Utility Commission of Texas ordered WTU to drop connections it had made in Oklahoma. WTU complied, but filed an appeal questioning the PUC's authority to order a company out of interstate commerce.

Referring to state lines as "artificial barriers," Chalker said that if such restraints are allowed to continue, the consumers will be the losers.

"We must be able to operate in the best interests of our customers," he said.

"No one wants another level of regulation, but FPC jurisdiction is just not that onerous."

Chalker noted that four investor-owned electric utilities in Texas have always operated in interstate commerce subject to FPC jurisdiction without any adverse effects. These are Gulf States Utilities Co., Southwestern Public Service Co., El Paso Electric Co., and Southwestern Electric Power Co.

"The facts of life in the utility business now are that the financing of power plants, whether they be coal-fired or nuclear-powered, is more than many companies can handle alone," Chalker said.

"There must be sharing of construction costs and subsequent sharing of the electric energy produced. This calls for strong electrical ties with our sister companies."

The importance of an adequate and reliable power supply was emphasized in July when New York was blacked out for an entire day.

"There can be no absolute guarantee," Chalker said, "But we have taken all possible precautions against anything in the order of the New York blackout happening down here."

WTU's current generating capacity has a built-in reserve of about 26 per cent above the peak demand. This is well above national standards. Other safeguards include a transmission system designed to eliminate too much dependence on any one power plant, and oil circuit breakers situated at strategic points to keep any power outage from cascading through the entire system.

Because of the company's confidence in its present system an in its plans for the future, WTU is continuing a program of assisting communities in their efforts to obtain and hold new industry.

Through its Area Development Department, WTU works closely with local communities, especially through their chambers of commerce and industrial foundations.

Gary Vest, area development representative, says much of the work is done in response to requests from the communities, but that WTU initiates some efforts to interest new businesses in locating in the area.

The WTU area development staff, though small, has helped a number of towns establish their own industrial foundations and has trained sales teams to prepare facts and figures about their communities to present to prospective industries. About 30 of the 61 towns in which WTU has offices now have industrial foundations.

Vest said he keeps an eye out constantly for new prospects. WTU works closely with the Texas Industrial Commission and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Among the things stressed when trying to lure a new industry to the area are the climate, the availability of labor, and the availability of land, buildings, and energy. Energy, of course, is WTU's strongest selling point. And WTU is taking steps to keep it that way by planning for alternate forms of boiler fuel in the future as petroleum supplies dwindle.

"West Texas Utilities couldn't stop growing even if it wanted to," Chalker said, "because we are dedicated to providing an essential public service in a growing region."

Stretch your energy dollars - install an energy-efficient electric heat pump

A heating system that's more than 200% efficient may seem like something out of the future. But it isn't. It's yours today, with the electric heat pump. Because when correctly installed in a properly insulated home, the heat pump produces two units of heat for each single unit of electricity it uses. The heat pump operates by using the future's most abundant energy source, solar energy. It transfers heat that's always present in sun-warmed outside air into your home during the winter. And reverses the process, pumping heat outdoors during the summer.

If you have plans to buy, build, or remodel, or are looking for a new heating and cooling system for your home, call a local FACTORY CERTIFIED heat pump dealer or talk with WTU. We will arrange for a WTU heating and cooling specialist to contact you. Learn more about the easy-to-install, economical electric heat pump — your most energy-efficient heating and cooling system buy.

Pecan Spraying Time

Adult pecan weevil emergence has been observed throughout Eastland County reports DeMarquis Gordon, County Extension Agent. That means it's time to spray for the control of the weevil, one of the most damaging pests of peccans. Gordon said last year many pecan growers lost a large portion of their pecans because of weevil damage. Chemical control will reduce adult weevil numbers before feeding and egg laying occurs. Once the pecan has been punctured or eggs have been deposited, the nut is destroyed. Proper timing of insecticide applications and retreatment schedules are important in achieving protection of the pecans.

Gordon said about this time each year pecan weevil adults emerge from the soil and move into pecan trees to mate and deposit their eggs. After an egg has been deposited, the larva will develop inside the pecan, cut a hole in the shell about 1/8 inch in diameter and emerge from the pecan as a fully grown larva from late October to December. The little white grubs with red heads or larvae will tunnel into the soil 4 to 12 inches. Much of the pecan weevil's 2 to 3 year live cycle is spent as a larva in the soil. Larvae that enter soil this fall will emerge in August of 1979 with the exception of about 10 percent of these larvae which will emerge as adults during the fall of 1980.

Early maturing varieties are unusually more susceptible to weevil attack. Feeding of adult weevils cause the nuts in the water stage to drop. Chemical control during the water stage may be required to protect the fruit on the tree. After the kernel begins to reach the dough stage, the nut is susceptible to egg laying. A single female may deposit up to 60 eggs over a month period. Adult weevil populations will vary greatly from year to year but in heavily infested orchards pecan weevil population will probably be present in most years.

Insecticide applications should be applied to pecans as the pecans reach the dough stage. This can be determined by cutting through a developing pecan kernel. It will contain water or gel or dough depending on its stage of maturity. Nut protection can be achieved with several applications of Sevin, an application rate of 2 to 3 pounds of 80 percent Sevin on 3 to 4 pounds of 50 percent Sevin per 100 gallons of spray may be needed to effectively control pecan weevil infestations. There should be an interval of 5 to 12 days between applications. When using any pesticide, read and follow the directions.

- Mrs. A.C. Halsell

Today is Labor Day, a holiday that is given little notice when compared to Christmas or July 4th. Samuel Gompers gave his support which established laws to make the first Monday in September a holiday honoring the laboring man. Oregon was the first state to make such a law, in 1887. All other states have such a law.

Some moments of thought on the importance of labor may result in our having more appreciation for the day. Think of the dignity of labor, the origin of labor, (Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden and to care for it); all that is accomplished by labor, to the laborer as well as to recipients of its results. Citing the many people who have made great contributions to the progress of mankind would take us back into history to its beginning. That is another story. But most people know that labor both physical and mental is health-giving. (Even much better than medicine.)

St. Bernard said, "He who prays and labors both and prays lifts his heart to God with his hands." Samuel Johnson also contributed to thinking along this line; He said, "Labor, if it were not necessary for the existence, would be indispensable for the happiness of man."

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Beggs went to Sulphur, Oklahoma last week, where they visited her mother, Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Young and her uncle Mr. and Mrs. Campbell. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Smith and son, Mark and friends from Ft. Worth visited in the Beggs home. They did some hunting, while there.

Visitors from Rising Star, were Mrs. Lavonne White and Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Dean, Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Brown went to Brownwood on Monday and Tuesday to get checkups from Mrs. Brown's eye doctor and from her medical doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fore visited with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackburn in Cisco a week ago Sunday. Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Fore from Oklahoma City were Dr. and Mrs. Russell Dennis, on Wednesday. Mrs. Fore's sister Bi Harlow of Marble Falls is spending the week with the Fores.

Those visiting with Mr.

and Mrs. Ben Atwood were Mrs. Tina Odom, Mrs. Ressa Glover and Mrs. Halsell.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stretch and John of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Sessums Jr. of Lubbock were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sessums recently. Mr. and Mrs. Sessums spent most of the week in Lubbock, visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Sessums saw his doctor while they were there.

Mrs. Nell Flemings Sister, Mrs. Lucy Stephens and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Thompson of Ft. Worth visited in the Fleming home last weekend. On Sunday they visited Mrs. Fleming's mother, Mrs. Nancy Mathews in Nursing Home in Rising Star.

Visitors in the Norris home were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Foster, Mrs. Elaine Ratliff, of Pioneer, and Mrs. Ruby McCowan and Naomie of Cross Plains, Mr. Ronald McCowan of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris had lunch with Mrs. Winnie Flippin on Friday, where they visited with Mrs. Wanda Cloud and daughter, Judy Barr. (Judy is an ex-pupil in music of Mrs. Norris.) She states that Mr. and Mrs. Cloud have purchased a home in Early where they will be moving soon.

Mrs. Lottie Sooter was Hostess for a Pie Supper at her home, Sunday night, in honor of Mrs. Edna Helms who is moving away. Many Pioneer and Cross Plains people attended this going away party for a member of the East Side Church of Christ.

Danny and Patricia Hutton and Bobbie had Sunday lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parsons. Mrs. Parsons wishes to remind readers that there is time yet to become a Demonstrator for the products she represents. The deadline is Sept. 17th.

THE WEEK'S NEWS IN BRIEF

Dr. Guy Newman, President Emeritus of Howard Payne University in Brownwood will introduce John B. Connally at a fund raising dinner on behalf of Jack Burgess on September 13 in Waco. Connally, the featured speaker at the banquet to honor the conservative Republican, will be addressing a full house at Ridgewood Country Club. In 1949, Newman joined Baylor University as Assistant to President W.R. White. He became Vice-President in 1952, the same year he received his Doctorate of Theology from Southwestern Seminary.

Dr. Newman left Baylor in 1955 to become President of Howard Payne University and served in that capacity until 1972 when he received his present title. He received his B.A. from Baylor in 1941 after leaving the business world to become a Baptist pastor.

Not Too Late To Plant Fall Gardens

Did your winter resolution to paint a spring garden fizzle out with warm weather and a bad case of spring fever? No problem. It isn't too late to plant a fall garden. And, if you'll follow a few basic rules of conservation and soil management, you'll be rewarded with crisp, fresh vegetables from early fall to midwinter.

You can grow a medley of vegetables in the fall including snap beans, beets, cabbage, greens, cucumbers, okra, onions, tomatoes, and squash - almost any you can grow in the spring. "The difference between a dismal crop failure and a harvest of overflowing baskets of delicious vegetables hinges on the decisions you make at planting time," Charles Adams, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Eastland, stated. "Is your soil type satisfactory? Does the garden space get enough sun? Do you need to contour and mulch the garden for conservation of soil and water?"

"For help in your planning your fall garden, contact our office for two brochures, Mulches for Your Garden and Gardening on the Contour," Adams said. "You should also contact your County Agriculture Extension office," Adams continued. "The extension specialists can give you information to help you decide which vegetables would do best, and whether to seed or transplant. The Agricultural Extension specialists also have information about fertilizers, pesticides, and suggested planting dates for your area."

"Before planting your seeds or plants, give some thought to the arrangement of your rows. Contour farming isn't only for big fields. The principle can help save soil and water in your backyard. To contour your garden, make the rows follow the natural lay of the land so runoff water doesn't trickle downhill carrying good soil along with it. This means the rows go across the slope, rather than up and down."

Experienced gardeners give seeds or plants a good soaking after planting. Then they follow up with frequent light sprinklings until the seedlings pop out of the ground. After this, give them at least one inch a week. Give them a fighting chance against disease by watering early enough in the day so they're dry before night.

"One of the best things you can do for your garden soil is to start a compost heap," Adams said. "A two or three-inch mulch of compost, grass clippings, sawdust, or other biodegradable material helps the soil stay moist, and keeps the weeds down. It also protects the soil from beating raindrops and wind erosion."

"If you don't have compost, you can spread straw or autumn leaves over your garden," Adams said. "They're rich in carbohydrates but low in nitrogen, so you might want to add one or two cups of nitrogen fertilizer to each bushel of straw or leaves before spreading. But don't let the fertilizer touch the plants because they will burn if you do."

Two Real Estate Courses To Be Offered At C.J.C.

Two Real Estate courses will be offered at Cisco Junior College during the current fall semester. Registrar Olin O. Odom III has announced.

The classes will be Real Estate 113 (Principles and Practices of Real Estate) and Real Estate 173 (Real Estate Math.) The 113 course will meet on Monday evenings, beginning on September 12, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and the 173 class will meet on Tuesday evenings, beginning September 13, during the same hours. Registration will be held at the CJC Registrar's office on the first class meeting night at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Odom, who is a real estate instructor as well as college registrar, said that the 113 class is a basic real estate course that is needed before one applies for a real estate license. He described the 173 class as one that helps satisfy requirements for a broker's license, and that also teaches a real estate salesperson some of the mathematical procedures utilized in the industry. More information may be obtained by contacting Mr. Odom at Cisco Junior College, telephone 817-442-2567.

FROM OUR CHURCHES

Church of Christ

An anonymous writer has penned the following words, which I would like to share with you.

"My God and I raised a flower bed. He really did the most, I guess. We used his soil, his air, his water, his life, his sun. My part seemed so trivial that I said, 'Lord, you take these bulbs and make them grow right here in the box in the garage.' His reply, 'Oh no, I'll do my part. And I'm waiting to begin but you must do yours, too. You'll have to dig the bed, bury the bulbs and pull the weeds.' So I did my feeble part, and God took the bulb; burst it into life; fed it with his soil; showered it with rain; grew it with his sunshine...until we had a beautiful garden.

Then he seemed to say, 'Your life is like a garden and if you like, we'll make it a beautiful thing! but you must do the digging.' 'Lord, I said, 'You just go ahead and make me what you want me to be. Make me a saint...give me great faith; fill me with compassion.' 'Oh no,' he said, 'You've got to receive with meekness the implanted word (James 1:21), keep your heart with all diligence (Proverbs 4:23), obey from the heart the form of doctrine (Romans 6:17), hoe the weeds of evil (Colossians 3:5-10), chop away the second best (Matthew 6:33) and I'll make a thing of beauty and joy forever: pure, clean, noble, useful, happy...just about anything good...but only if you dig.' (end of quote.)

The recipe for the above kind of life is found in the Bible, God's book. Join us in open Bible study each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., as well as in the Assemblies on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Eddie Underwood, of Cross Plains, who passed away Saturday night. He was the brother of Velita Aaron. We also express our sympathy to Gregg and Kathy Goode (brother of Zandy Goode), at the loss of their infant daughter recently in Hillsboro.

Curtis and arquerite Alford have given funds for the purchase of a pew bible, in memory of Elmer Dean.

At this writing, Clifford Hale was still in Hendrick Hospital, but still expects to be home very soon. Herman Claborn is back home and already at work, following leg surgery in Temple. It was good to have Kenova Weaver back with us after a lengthy illness. Marion West is home and doing very well. W. W. Ezzell expects to be able to resume limited activity this week, following his surgery. Leonard Harris injured his leg last week.

Hope all of you had a pleasant and safe holiday period and that you are having a good week. Call us if we can serve you in any way.

Before the foundations of the world were laid, Christ, the Only Begotten of God, pledged Himself to become the Redeemer of the human race, should Adam sin. Adam fell, and He who was partaker of the Father's glory before the world was, laid aside His royal robe and kingly crown, and stepped down from is high authority to become a Babe in Bethlehem, that by passing over the ground where Adam stumbled and fell, He might redeem fallen human beings. He subjected Himself to all the temptations that the enemy brings against men and women; and all the assaults of Satan could not make Him swerve from His loyalty to the Father. By living a sinless life, He testified that every son and daughter of Adam can resist the temptations of the one who first brought sin into the world.

Christ brought men and women power to overcome. He came to this world in Human form, to live a man amongst men. He assumed the liabilities of human nature, to be proved and tried. In His incarnation He gained in a new sense the title of the Son of God. Said the angel to Mary, "The power of the highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God" (Luke 1:35) While the Son of a human being, He became the Son of God in a new sense. Thus He stood in our world - the Son of God, yet allied by birth to the human race.

Christ came in human form to show the inhabitants of the unfallen worlds and of the fallen world that ample provision has been made to enable human beings to live in loyalty to their Creator. He endured the temptations that Satan was permitted to bring against Him, and resisted in all his assaults. He was sorely afflicted, and hard beset, but God did not leave Him without recognition. When He was baptized of John in Jordan, as He came up out of the water, the Spirit of God, live a dove of burnished gold, descended upon Him, and a voice from heaven said, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (Matt. 3:17) It was directly after this announcement that Christ was led by the Spirit into the wilderness. Mark says: "Immediately the spirit driveth him into the wilderness. And he was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted of Satan; and was with the wild beasts" (Mark 1:12, 13.) "And in those days he did eat nothing" (Luke 4:2)

When Jesus was led into the wilderness to be tempted, He was led by the Spirit of God. He did not invite temptations. He went to the wilderness to be alone, to contemplate His mission and work. By fasting and prayer He was to brace Himself for the bloodstained path He was to travel. How should He begin His work of freeing the captives held in torment by the destroyer? During His long fast, the whole plan of His work as man's deliverer was laid out before Him.

When Jesus entered the wilderness He was shut in by the Father's glory. Absorbed in communion with God, He was lifted above human weakness. But the glory departed, and He was left to battle with temptation. It was pressing upon Him every moment His human nature shrank from the conflict that awaited Him. For forty days He fasted and prayed. Weak and emaciated from hunger, worn and haggard with mental agony, "his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men (Isa. 52:14). Now was Satan's opportunity. Now he supposed that he could overcome Christ.

There came to the Saviour, as if in answer to His prayers, one in the guise of an angel of light, and this was the message that he bore: "If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread" (Matt. 4:3).

Jesus met Satan with the worlds, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God" (Matt. 4:4) In every temptation the weapon of His warfare was the Word of God, Satan demanded of Christ a miracle as a sign of His divinity. But that which is greater than all miracles, a firm reliance upon a "Thus saith the Lord" was a sign that could not be controverted. So long as Christ held to this position, the tempter could gain no advantage.

A familiarity with the Word of God is our only hope. Those who diligently search the Scriptures will not accept Satan's delusions as the truth of God. No one need by overcome by the speculations presented by the enemy of God and of Christ. We are not to speculate regarding points upon which the Word of God is silent. All that is necessary for our salvation is given in the Word of God. Day by day we are to make the Bible the man of our counsel.

From all eternity Christ was united with the Father, and when He took upon Himself human nature, He was still one with God. He is the link that unites God with humanity. "Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and lood, he also himself likewise took part of the same" (Heb. 2:14) Only through Him can we become children of God. To all who believe on Him, He gives power to become the sons of God. Thus the heart becomes the temple of the living God. It is because Christ took human nature that men and women become partakers of the divine nature. He brings life and immortality to light through the gospel.

name. Though we face war and struggle, and feel their good and rod; We know above confusion There always will be God". (Author : Dr. Albert Leonard Murray)

How true this little poem is. "There always will be God!" Too' all the Devils in Hell may rage an rant, they cannot destroy God nor His children.

How good it is to know that God is above all confusion and is NOT the author of confusion. God is the author of love, Joy, Peace and happiness. Tho hear taches come, Tho' disappointments be many, still God is God. We, as ministers and laymen alike must be led by the Spirit, not what man wants us to do, but what God in His great wisdom tells us to do.

When a tiny baby is born into this world, he cannot talk or walk. Many things he cannot do. As the child grows older, he becomes able to do more and more. But many times that child ants to do things His parents know is not best for Him. Too much of having his own way is not good for him and can be the ruin and destruction of that child. He must grow and become mature before He can take on the responsibility of an adult. Many times we felt we 'knew it all' long before we became an adult. But sometimes we proved we weren't grown up by the way we acted.

So it is with us as Children of God. When we get saved we are Just babies in the Lord. And though we grow fast on the nature and admonition of God, we must one day get to be a mature christian and act like one.

God is love. God is gentleness goodness, faith. God is humbleness, meekness, forgiving Spirit.

God is "in love and honor preferring one another." God is "endeavoring to keeping the unity of the Faith.

For us to grow in the Lord, we must decrease, and God must 'increase in our life. When we forget about "Self" and what "Self" wants and put what is best' for the church, and great ' Body of Christ first and foremost in our lives. When we "endeavor to keep the unity of the Faith" many times we feel mistreated and betrayed but we must continue to stay sweet in our Soul and keep waling in His footsteps. The Lord loves ALL of His children and wants them to walk hand in hand w ith Him and each other. Certainly the enemy of Our Soul would cause confusion, mistrust, hard feelings andetc. but never forget, that is the enemy that brings these kind of feelings. Let us continue to trust in Jesus and watch for His return. He is coming soon.

You cannot push anyone up a ladder unless he is willing to go," said Andrew Carnegie.

I remember when growing up on the farm we had a pet goat. As a child at times I had to lead her out to pasture. I can still remember how stubborn that old goat was. I could pull, push, and hit her but if she did not want to go out she and I had a fight on our hands.

How difficult and frustrating it is for mothers and daddies to encounter the same attitude with their children.

Kids do waste time, get involved in useless activities and ignore rules and regulations, don't get home work and lessons. Parents have to bring pressure bear as unpleasent as it is at times.

Parents know it to be true, "He who tills the soil will have plenty of food, but he who follows worthless pursuits will have plenty of poverty," (Proverbs 28:19) As a true as this proverb is of life in general, how even more important it is to our spiritual life.

Can you imagine a man not working all week and then showing up on payday wanting you to pay him?

Too often christians seem to think that God owes them health, wealth, and happiness. None are gifts - they must be earned. Many never or hardly ever attend church, support the Lord's work, read the Bible and pray an then wonder why spiritual poverty results.

"What a man sows he will reap." "No work - no pay!"

Remember, "Man's ways are before the eyes of the Lord, and he watches all his paths. The iniquities of the wicked ensnare him, and he is caught in the toils of his sin. He dies for lack of discipline, and because of his great folly is 'lost.'"

Remember also to "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not rely on your own insight. In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will direct your paths. Be not wise in your own eyes; fear the Lord, and turn away from evil." (Prov. 3:5-21; 3:5-6)

Do you have to be pushed? Climb on your own - its the way to get ahead!

Commentary

By Myrtle Owen

They that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.

The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth into it, and is safe I will trust. And it be not afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation. I have been young, and now am old: yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread-For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints, they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.-The Lord will not forsake his people for his great name's sake: because it hath pleased the Lord to make you his people. Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us. Be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may Boldly say, The Lord is my helper, I will not fear what man shall do unto me.

Ps. 9:10 Prov. 18:10-Isiah 12:2. Psl. 37:25-28, Isa. 12:22. II cor. 1:10, Heb. 13:5,6.) Comm. Faith and confidence are close cousins. Paul had both when he said, "I know in whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Hom.)

Scripture Thought

Of The Day

And to these also Enoch, the seventh from Adam, prophesied, saying, Behold, the Lord came with ten thousand of his holy ones, to execute judgment upon all, and to convict all the ungodly of all their works of ungodliness which they have ungodly wrought, and of all the hard things which ungodly sinners have spoken against him. These are mumurers, complainers, walking after their lust and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, showing respect of persons for the sake of advantage. (Jude 14-16)
