Now and then someone becomes curious as to how Rising Star got its name. There are a number of explanations, but nothing quite authoritative in the absence of official records.

The most probable explanation is contained in a History of Eastland County written by Mrs. George Langston of Cisco and published in 1904. At that time there were many people who could remember the events of the founding of the community and for that reason the account must be given credence.

I am indebted to Mrs. A. D. Jenkins for the account as follows:

The year 1875 had passed into history, yet no hunter nor early settler with his ax, his gun and his dog, disturbed the putter of the wild turkey mothering her young, the feeding of the prairie chicken in the high sage grass that abounded, nor the gambols of the deer that sported on the banks of the streams. But in the dawn of 1876 a star of promise began to shed its radiance, and in the light of its dawning six families from Gregg County wended their way to the valley, over which it settled and made their homes there. These fortunate pioneers were W. W. Smith, Dave McKinley, Isaac Agnew, Fletcher Fields, Allie Smith and Andy Agnew. Finding good soil, abundance of wild game, and water, they decided to remain permanently, and began the improvement of their claims. Fort Worth was the nearest railroad station, and from this town and Waco the people bought their supplies and marketed their products.

In these early days, 1876-1879, the mail was brought once a week from Sipe Springs on horse back. Mr. Osborne, who lived two miles east of where Rising Star is now located, was the postmaster. It may or may not have been this postmaster who could not read and whose wife carried the mail in her pocket. When a call was made she handed the letters to the party and he, taking out his own, returned the rest. She carried one for the postmaster a week.

When application was made for a post office, Star was suggested as a name, but the authorities answered back that there was already a Star, Texas, so they sent in Rising Star instead.

In the fall of 1879 Uncle Tommy Anderson bought from Dave McKinley the tract of land on which the town has been built. In the spring of 1880 he moved the post office to his home and put up a small storehouse. Here he kept the post office, groceries and farm supplies. In 1883 a larger store was built near by, since which time the town has grown steadily, and now numbered about seven hundred souls.

The people early evinced a strong desire for enlightenment by raising a 10x12 log school house and electing a Mr. Bill Welch as teacher. Mr. Welch was thoroughly in harmony with his environments, often teaching under the branches of the trees, and not infrequently going to school barefooted. This small, floorless, log house stood 1 and one-half miles east of the present town. A few years later a better and larger log house was built near the cemetery, and here many of the substantial citizens of this county were educated. Mr. James Irby, who came here in 1877, was one of the pioneer teachers.

The business interests of the town represented by loyal citizens. There are several dry goods and grocery firms, drug stores, hardware, a bank, hotel and the usual number of smaller shops and eating houses. There are two newspapers, five churches with as many organizations, and a handsome school building with seven teachers and three hundred fifty pupils.

The town is supported by a very rich farming and truck growing district of fifteen miles radius. The soil is a light sand (Continued on page two)

Vision Key to Future, CofC Anniversary Dinners Are Told

"What Rising Star is 40 years from now depends upon the vision of its people." That was the gist of the message which Putter Jarvis, young Brownwood, left with 125 Chamber of Commerce diners at the conclusion of an entertaining address Tuesday night.

The place was the dining room of the First Methodist Church, the occasion a dinner celebrating the fortieth year of the Local CofC organization and the purpose was to recognize meritorious civic service and to stimulate a renewed interest in the functioning of an organization whose objective is the promotion of the growth and economic welfare of the Rising Star community.

The dinner drew a capacity crowd and was a success by all standards. The women of the church served the meal.

A hatful of awards were handed out by President James Rutherford as the concluding feature of the program. Certificates of appreciation were given to 13 members of the original charter group of the CofC.

Awards were also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hulín Erwin, who were chosen as the outstanding farm family of the Rising Star area in 1963; to Dr. W. S. Carter for 50 years of professional service as a dentist here; to W. E. Tyler and Cecil Shults in recognition of the lifelong devotion to community growth and welfare, and to Minister H. McDonald of the Church of Christ who was singled out for special recognition as the outstanding civic worker in Rising Star during the past year.

To each of these went special plaques suitably engraved.

Mr. Rutherford headed a list of officers and directors who were re-elected in toto for a new term of service. Others of the group are Bill Dennard, vice-president; A. D. Jenkins, secretary; and E. M. Crisp, George Steel, Robert Butler, John Pruet and Cecil Shults, directors.

Mr. Jenkins reviewed the activities of the CofC during the year just past, citing among its accomplishments was the Rising Star Development Corp., which made possible a peanut drying plant for Rising Star; additional freight service for the community, assistance in expanding telephone service to this area including the linking of Rising Star and May, helping to make possible a home for the elderly now under construction, assistance in securing new farm to market road construction, maintenance of retail credit reporting service, support of the Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs, support of the High School band and many other projects.

Mr. Jarvis prefaced his effective and serious climax with a fund of humor that was delightful, and laid the groundwork for a telling thrust at community inertia and blindness. He used a verse from Proverbs as a text of sorts: "Where there is no vision the people perish."

"I do not want to speak to you as a chamber of commerce, but as individual merchants and citizens," he said. "Rising Star has maintained a fine plateau of community growth in a time when small communities are shrinking as a general rule. It has had a remarkable 40 years. But let's think of the 40 years ahead. Where will Rising Star be forty years from now?"

The next forty years, he said will be what the vision of the individual business men and citizens make it and he also suggested that a business man should step back and look at his business as a stranger might see it.

"Would you be proud of it?" He cited the influence of one Brownwood business leader who by his vision and initiative in behalf of his own business, had exerted a quickening influence upon the entire business community.

Among the out of town guests were Fred W. Husbands, executive vice-president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Abilene; County Judge Scott Bailey of Eastland; O. A. Burnett of May, and others.

High School to Host Career Day Tuesday

Tuesday, March 5, 1963, Rising Star High School will host its third Career Day, which has become an annual event in this school.

Dress-up day will also be featured on this date and all students are required to participate enthusiastically. This event is sponsored chiefly for the benefit of Junior and Senior students. Previous events have been a great success and all students who participated in this activity feel that it has helped them to decide which career they are most inclined to follow. There is a wide field from which to choose, and each student will be present for five consultations or conference periods.

Several colleges will be represented by speakers on various subjects. Among these are A&M, Tarleton State, Cisco Junior, ACC, Howard Payne and TCU. The TSTA will also be represented, and speakers are invited from the surrounding towns — Abilene, Comanche, Eastland, Cisco, Ranger, Brownwood and Rising Star.

The fields from which we have to choose are as follows: Medicine, Pharmacy, Beautician, Psychology, Civil Service, Vocational Trades, Nursing, Secretarial Training, Engineering, Forestry, Agronomy, Law Enforcement, Law, Veterinary Medicine, Armed Forces, Journalism — including Commercial Arts, and Teaching; which includes I. E., Music, Coaching, Science, Home Economics, Math, Vocational Agriculture and general teaching.

The five sections are divided as follows: 9:00-10:00; 10:00-11:00; 11:00-12:00; noon; 12:45-1:45; 1:45-2:45.

VISITS TO SCHOOLS INVITED NEXT WEEK

While the feature of Public School Week — to be observed at Rising Star schools Monday through Friday, March 4-8 — will be Career Day Tuesday, March 5, at the High School, observance of the event will not be limited to that feature, Supt. Sam Jones said.

All during the week patrons and friends of the schools will be invited to visit classes and view exhibits of work done by the students under a program worked out by Principals Ray Nunnally of the High School and Edward Watkins of the elementary school.

While visitors will be welcome to observe Career Day events at the High School — of which Mrs. C. A. Claborn, English teacher and student counsellor is in charge — there will be no classes at the school during that day, Mr. Nunnally explained.

Mrs. Frances Wilkerson left by plane Tuesday for Church Falls, Va., where her mother-in-law, Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, 80, fell and broke her hip Sunday. The older woman is living with her daughter and husband. She underwent surgery following the injury.

Retired Okra Man Found Dead of Gunshot Wounds

Monday at the Church of Christ in Rising Star. Ollie Cantrell, Brownwood minister, officiated and burial in Rising Star cemetery was under Higginbotham Funeral Home direction.

Mr. Brazzil was a native of Texas, born June 1, 1889 in The Grove, and was married to Dora Ellen Burns on Sept. 8, 1912. She died January 25, 1961.

By profession he was a barber and had worked at Brownwood, Rising Star and at Okra, among other places, and during the past few years until his retirement he had operated a small shop at Okra. He was also a farmer.

The body was found by Mrs. Jim Christian who called at the residence to inquire after Mr. Brazzil's condition. He had been ill and only a short while before had received treatment from a Rising Star physician. When he did not respond Mrs. Christian summoned neighbors.

He was found to have been shot twice with a .22 caliber weapon. A rifle of that caliber lay on the bed. Neighbors identified it as belonging to Mr. Brazzil.

A Rising Star physician who made an examination said that death was due to internal bleeding from a severed heart artery. Mr. Brazzil was a member of the Church of Christ. He had lived in Okra for about 45 years.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th

Washington, D. C. — In 1920 Lenin said to the Soviet Congress, "It is necessary to bribe capitalism with extra profit. Capitalism will get the extra profit and we will get the basic materials which will strengthen ourselves. When we finally get on our feet we will then defeat capitalism economically."

Lenin's statement is not outdated. The purpose he stated is one of the chief factors of their cold war strategy today.

In practice and theory the socialist economic system is exceedingly weak. It would be much more so if the free world did not ship vitally needed equipment to the Communists to build their economy, and thus their war-making potential.

Under an agreement between the NATO countries and Japan, the strategic materials are not to be supplied to Russia, but what is not strategic and what is not has little or no meaning if it ever had any. Any goods or any material furnished Russia enables her to divert items she is able to produce to other purposes.

It appears to be most unrealistic thinking since the struggle between East and West is not only military, but also economic.

Since the Soviet Union owns all industry and the State controls all trading, it can be selective by only importing that which aids her politically without regard to the factor of profit or loss. Seemingly the free world has never realized that in the cold war we are contributing to our own defeat.

In addition to supplying the Soviet BLOC nations with vitally needed goods of one kind or another, Russia is able to export into the free world commodities of her own at a price to upset world markets. Oil is the best example.

Oil is Russia's major weapon in the economic war on capitalism. In the first place, they produce it more cheaply than it can be produced in this country, but this maybe incidental. She can sell and barter oil at whatever price suits her convenience. The result is to upset and to depress world prices; to disrupt the internal economy of producing nations.

The publisher of "Oil World" says, "Bartering this low cost necessity of life for Western commodities provides the spearhead for political penetration into the heart of a nation. Witness sugar and nickel for Red oil in Cuba — coffee for Red oil in Brazil — steel products, tubular goods, synthetic rubber and diesel engines for Red oil in Italy.

"So powerful a weapon is oil barter, Europe can be expected to increase its trade beyond the Iron Curtain."

Our government realizes that it is necessary for many nations to engage in foreign trade in order to survive. Both England and Japan are good examples. As a matter of fact, it is necessary for our own country, as sufficient as we are in many things, to trade in order to maintain our present strength and standard of living. We should, however, find ways to supply free world needs and absolutely cut off vital trade with the Soviet bloc. There is good evidence that Russia itself is perhaps 20 years behind us in industrial output, but we are helping her catch up at a more rapid rate than we ourselves are advancing.

In the case of Cuba there is good reason to believe that a "quarantine" such as was imposed last October could dry up her economy in a matter of months to the point of total collapse.

Our free enterprise system in the world must find ways to compete with a socialistic economy which Lenin said 43 years ago would destroy capitalism.

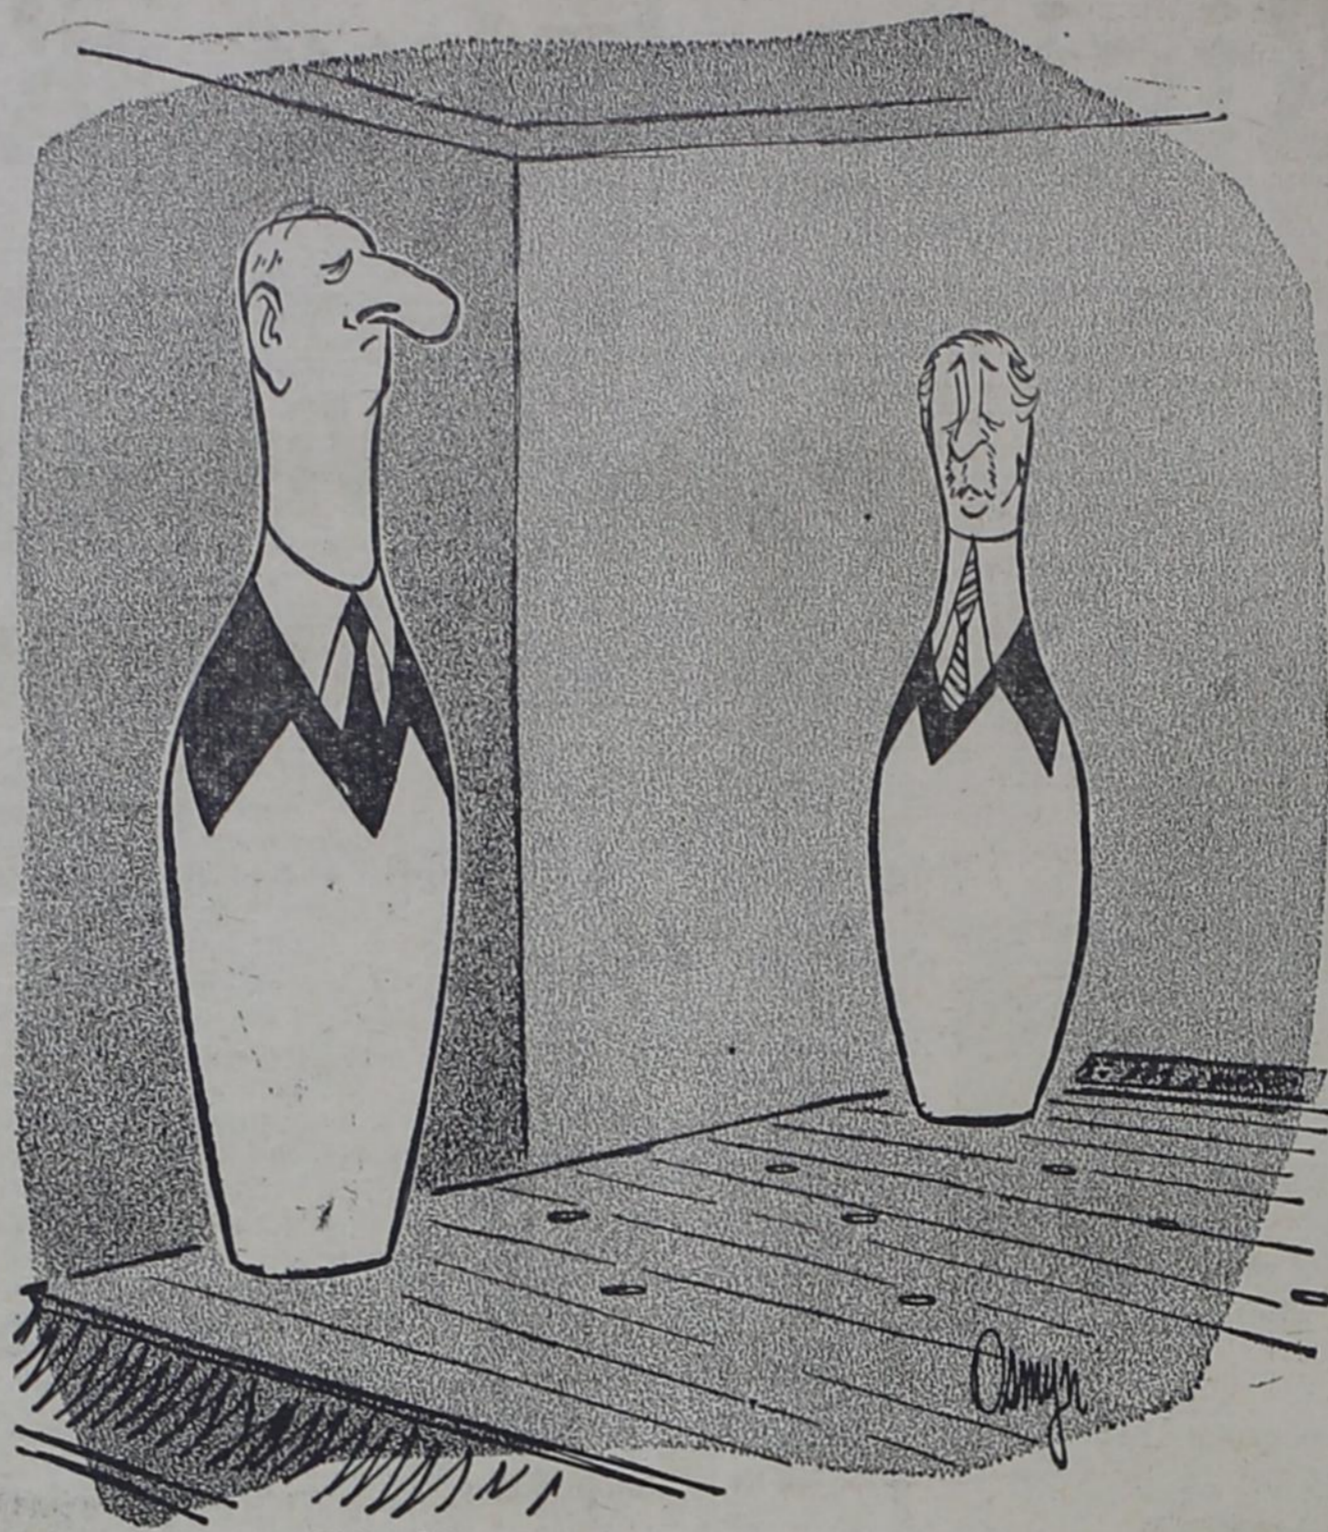

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

Having your tax return audited by Internal Revenue Service is not recommended by most people. A lot of folks get plumb excited when they are asked to take their records to Internal Revenue for audit. The tax folks want taxpayers to be calm and cool when it is necessary to discuss items on their tax return. The tax folks carefully train agents and auditors to look at both the government's side and the taxpayer's side of each question. The law requires every person to keep proper records to substantiate items of income and deductions. If you keep records to prove your deductions, you will have no trouble.

Corn, cotton, maize, cane and oats grow luxuriantly; berries, apples, peaches, plums, apricots, grapes and all kinds of fruits are easy and prolific producers. As a truck growing section it has no superior. Cabbage, without irrigation, has produced heads weighing thirteen and a half pounds, beets have weighed twenty five pounds, onions two, tomatoes, and potatoes of both varieties, grow easily and are heavy bearers.

Now the nearest railroad point is about twenty five miles. Carloads of fruit and vegetables rot on the ground for the lack of convenient shipping markets.

In 1903 forty five hundred bales with red clay subsoil and is esy two hundred were ginned by the two plants here. This same year eighteen thousand bales were ginned at the ten plants within the neighborhood of Rising Star.

HOW TO PREPARE FOR FREEZING

Any successful roll or bread recipe may be used for frozen dough. A dough fairly rich in fat is likely to dry out less than one containing little. A little more sugar than is used in freshly made rolls and bread may be desirable because more of the sugar is likely to be used by the yeast during the longer period the dough remains unbaked. Grease the surface of the shap. Grease the surface of the shap from drying out.

1. Permit the dough to be frozen to double in bulk.
2. Shape it into rolls as desired and grease the surface of each roll well to prevent drying.
3. Immediately place the rolls close together in shallow packages.
4. Lay a piece of cellophane or waxed paper on top. If necessary to pack in two layers, place a very thin piece of stiff paper between them. Do not pack so many layers in one package that the bottom ones are mashed. The shaped rolls may also be placed in paper baking cups before packaging.
5. Always keep out pockets of air from the packages, and freeze the rolls immediately. Rolls that have been allowed to rise before freezing are likely to have a smaller volume, a less uniform texture, and a less desirable flavor, than those that have not been allowed to rise appreciably after being shaped. Roll dough may also be frozen before it is shaped.
6. Do not store longer than 3 to 4 weeks.

HOW TO PREPARE AND BAKE FROZEN DOUGH

1. As soon as you remove the rolls from the freezer, place them in warm greased muffin tins over hot water, out of any draft, to rise. You may wish to remove the rolls from the paper cups because paper is a good insulator and tends to slow the warming of the dough; or you may wish to set the cups of dough on racks where the warm, moist air can circulate around them. Rolls spread out on baking sheets where they have no support tend to increase in size by spreading out rather than rising.
2. Let the rolls rise in a warm, moist place until light (from 1 to 2 hours). If the rolls rise slowly, "off" flavors may develop and coarse flattened cells and thick, tough crusts may form.
3. Bake the rolls in the usual way at 400 F. If desired, package the dough for rolls without shaping it into rolls in a flat sheet in the same manner as bread dough then thaw and shape the rolls in a similar manner.

Freezing and Canning Workshop

A "Freezing and Canning Workshop" will be conducted by the County Home Demonstration Agent during the month of March.

The first meeting will be held Friday, March 1, 1963 at 10:00 a. m. in the Conference Room of the Texas Electric Service Company in Eastland. Anyone interested in attending the actual workshop, which will probably be held March 22, should attend the first meeting on the first of March, as plans will be made and the supplies you will need for the workshop will be discussed.

Employers Are Required to Report On Household Help

Could you afford to pay your maid or other household workers a pension for the of her life when she becomes too old or disabled to work any longer? Would you be willing to help support her children if she were to die? Unfortunately, even many of us who can afford to hire household help could not attempt to meet such obligations. But there is a way we can help.

Domestic workers who are paid as much as $50 cash in a calendar quarter from a single employer can receive social security credit for these earnings. But to get the credit, the earnings must be reported. And that's where you come in. Employers must make a quarterly report to Internal Revenue Service when they pay a domestic worker as much as $50 cash wages in the quarter. These reports should be filed after the close of each calendar quarter and are due by April 30, July 31, October 31, and January 31 every year.

Most household employers will make their reports on Form 942. This is a special simplified form printed on the inside of a return envelope. If you are a household employer who is already on the mailing list of the District Director of Internal Revenue, one of these forms will be mailed to you before the end of December. If social security taxes are due from a household employer who is not now on the mailing list, the employer should ask the District Director for the form and give him her name and address to be added to the mailing list before the next quarterly return is due.

The amount of the social security tax is 6 1/4 percent (7 1/4 beginning with 1963) of the total cash wages paid to a household worker in a calendar quarter. The employee is expected to share this tax with the employer. However, it is the obligation of the employer to report and send the total tax of 6 1/4 percent to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The $50 cash wage test applies separately to each household worker in your employ, and no report or social security tax is due on any household worker

Despite Bad Luck ACC Quint Sees Winning Season

ABILENE (Spl.) Racing down the homestretch of the 1962-63 basketball season, the Abilene Christian College Wildcats have improved in every contest and are on the verge of turning what looked like a dismal year into a sparkling triumph for Coach Dee Nutt.

Lifting their field goal percentage gradually, the Wildcats have hit at a good .467 for the season; the free throw shooting is holding its own around .700; rebounding averages are six per game ahead of the opponents, and the Cats have scored at an even 80 points per game.

to whom you pay less than 50 cash during the calendar quarter.

Monday night, Feb. 11, the Wildcats showed their defense tenacity and held a tough Midwestern University team to 58 points, ACC's best defensive performance of the year and Midwestern's poorest offensive output of the season.

Bad luck has not totally abandoned the Wildcats for four games ago 6-6 postman Pat Agnew seriously injured his right knee, benching him probably for the season. He was the Cats' second leading scorer with a 22.0 average. However, the Cats have won all four of their games since, two of them against foes that had previously defeated ACC — West Texas State and Midwestern — on the Abilene floor.

THE NEED FOR A COLLEGE EDUCATION CHOOSING A CAREER

"I have gone to school for twelve years; why should I go to college?" a high school Senior said. The question of a college education is faced by every high school Senior. I think that there is only one choice — to go to college. I base my conclusion on three main points.

The first of these is that an ever increasing number of jobs require a college education. We are entering the Scientific Age in which jobs are requiring demanding and exacting skills attainable only by a college education.

The second point is that we can enjoy a richer, fuller life with a college education. We will better be able to appreciate the fine things of life — good books, music, and art.

The third is often called "dollars and cents" sense; college graduates make more money. A recent study revealed that the average college graduate makes about one hundred thousand dollars more than the average high school graduate. One hundred thousand dollars for four years seems worthwhile to me.

A Senior girl may say, "That is fine for the boys, but a girl who goes to college usually marries and finds herself as a homemaker. How did a college education help her?" What could be more important than being a good parent? A girl with a college education also has a built in "insurance". If her husband dies, she is able to earn a quite satisfactory living.

All of these factors are important, but the most important to me is that what we give to society and our fellow man is dependent upon our education, so it is up to each of us Seniors to get the best possible education.

OFFICE SUPPLIES AT THE RECORD

Although our lives in this world are very short when compared to all of eternity, what we do with our lives has a direct influence on a number of people and an indirect influence on many others. In America, unlike many countries in the world, we are free to choose what we will do with our lives. Whether the choice you make turns out good or bad, the main responsibility of it rests on one person; that is you.

A career may be chosen at any time in life. Many choose a career while in childhood. Though these childish dreams are often given up, some people grow up with a specific career as their goal and could not be happy doing anything else. Others make their decision about a career while in high school; still others make it in college or afterwards. It is never too late, however, to decide on a vocation. Many very old people are not satisfied with their occupations and set about to change them late in their lives.

Influence of other people is very important in choosing a career. A parent's influence is seen very early in life, for many children want to grow up and be "just like Daddy" or "Mother". Parents help their children as they grow older in deciding such things as what college to attend or deciding what kind of job to get. Teachers are also big influences, both in ward school and high school, where they are especially important as counsellors. Your best friend at school is also a possible influence over your choice of career.

If one has not chosen his career while in high school, he might want to seek advice and help in the matter. More and more schools are setting up guidance counseling programs to give students help of this and similar natures. Another help given to students is Career Day, devoted to helping students in choosing a career, gives them an opportunity to think about and look into different careers. It helps them to know more about a possible choice by asking questions and listening to lectures.

A great many high school graduates do not choose a career until they have had a year or two in college. Even if the choice made at this time does not require the college education, time and money have not been wasted, for a college education is profitable no matter what career one follows.

Choosing a career is a job for each individual, and each person should choose his career individually — according to his own personal likes and dislikes. Never should a person choose to do even for a little while, something that he dislikes but does for the mercenary value. The happy person is one who enjoys his work because to him it is not work but enjoyable recreation.

"NOT FINISHED, JUST BEGUN."

Hi there,
Now the waiting is over; we have received our report cards and now know just how bad or good we did.

The basketball girls ordered their jackets last week. They will be gold with gold leather sleeves. The boys ordered theirs, too, but I don't know what color they decided on.

The bookkeeping class has finally finished their practice sets, but not before we realized that anyone can make a mistake.

Right, Carol?

The volleyball team has been chosen and among those on the team are three Seniors — Mary Alford, Vondell Atwood, and Sandra White. Do a good job, Seniors.

The civics class is continuing the study of the National Court System, aren't we, Tommy?

Fifth-period study hall has been changed to Fifth-period observant time for some Seniors. Shall I go into more detail on that, Cynthia?

That seems to be it for this week.

—Bye for now,
KATY

KNOWLEDGE COMES, BUT WISDOM LINGERS

It's that time again, Sophomores — report card time, that is; some are beginning to worry, as usual. Better work harder next six weeks and bring those grades up!

The next big event of utmost importance coming up for us Sophs in the presentation of our two plays by the speech class. Except for one exception, the entire class is composed of Sophomores; the proceeds from these plays will go to the class fund. "An American Family," a serious drama for Interscholastic League competition, and "Love Hits Wilbur," a one-act comedy, will be presented March 21 at the high school gym. We would like very much to see all of you there.

Our full concert band has resumed rehearsals after a short vacation while the stage band took the spotlight. We are working toward our spring concert, an annual event at R.S.H.S.

We have been studying a unit of adjectives and adverbs in English II; those modifiers seem to be giving us all a bit of trouble.

The homemaking girls are still learning to prepare various foods. (We are also experimenting with new salads, aren't we, Group II?) We prepared a complete meal last week without many difficulties; we certainly are enjoying the eating part of the work.

It seems that J. W. is having some trouble with muddy roads and ditches; while, the only thing worrying M.P. is his age.
Charlene V.

"UPWARD and ONWARD"

We are now into our fifth six weeks with only one more to go.

Congratulations to our Stage Band who did really well at Brownwood. We have five Juniors in it — Judy Lewis, Sharon Donham, Willie Vandivere, Don West, and Arthur Jones.

We junior typing students are making devout vows to keep up and not get behind on those units. Right, Cherry?

We have started practicing for our junior play. It is set for March 28; nearly everyone has a part.

The Home Ec. girls are well in their cooking unit. We are planning and preparing meals. My waist line is gradually slipping out — a wee bit larger; I won't say for anyone else, but that was delicious cherry cream pie on George's birthday!

The American History, Civics and Chemistry students are working hard on term themes since they are due soon.

The athletes here at R.S.H.S. are now thinking about volleyball, tennis, and track.

What is this C. T. A. the typing students have organized?

See you next week —
Harriet

P.S. Jimmy would you mind your own business?
Clinton P. Wilson of Kinosa, Pecos county, was here for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, and other relatives.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK MARCH 4-8

From March 4-8, our school will present Public School Week. We often do not realize the importance of this event and fail to participate in it as we should. Its main purpose is to give the school and learn more about the attainments, goals, and problems of the teachers and students.

First of all, the teachers display the students' work for the parents' convenience; this exhibit enables them to see what progress their children are making.

Second, the parents visiting the school and learning more about the teachers' problems make possible a mutual understanding so drastically needed between the parents and teacher. Many times parents put teachers "on the spot", so to speak, unintentionally because they are not familiar with the school rules. To know the school's rules is an obligation of every parent.

Third, parents can, by visiting the school, see what the school needs in order to be a better one. At the present time, our science department is greatly in need of better laboratory facilities; also, the school and the town need an auditorium.

In conclusion, may I say that I believe those who are interested in making Rising Star Public Schools better should take advantage of Public School Week.

CHOOSING A CAREER

Choosing a career is the most important task facing Juniors and Seniors in high schools all over the world. This is not a task to be taken lightly, but it is one on which extensive planning, concentration, and study should be spent.

The career that a person chooses to pursue should be one in which he is interested and for which he is qualified. A career should be chosen which offers to one opportunities and promises for the future; however, careers should not be chosen on these merits alone. A career should offer challenges that will provide one with an incentive to do his best and, therefore, enable him to grow in mentality and character.

After choosing his career, a person should begin to prepare for that vocation. If he has decided on his career early in his high school years, he can take courses that will prepare him for that career. If he as not made plans for the future until he is a Senior, a person can still prepare for his career by attending college or special courses offered in the vocation that he has chosen. In addition to preparatory courses, one can associate himself with the job that he has chosen by becoming an apprentice to someone who is engaged in that vocation. During this training period, a person can tell whether or not he is qualified for and interested in the vocation that he has chosen.

Many vocations are available to young people today. These vocations open doors of opportunities and new experiences to us. With so many opportunities awaiting us, we should be able to choose a vocation for which we are suited. This vocation, however, should be chosen after study, preparation, and thought have been given to our choice.

Yes, choosing a career looms largest on the horizons for most of us right now. This career will form and determine the kind of life we will have in the future. It is a task we have to do for ourselves, but it is one which requires the help of those who are more experienced than we.

"LIVE AND LEARN"

Hi! We are all very busy getting ready for Career Day. The freshman came last year and enjoyed it very much. This year Mrs. C. asked people from a number of outstanding colleges.

We are getting back to regular lessons after six weeks' tests. The General Math students are studying more difficult algebra problem and are finding them harder than just adding x and y. The Biology students are studying "Plant Life." As for the Drivers' Ed. students, they have finally graduated into the car. In English, we are reviewing verbs and verb forms. The Algebra I students are studying equations involving fractions. As for P. E., the boys have started track and the girls volleyball. I would like to congratulate Becky and Ginger on receiving their suits.

Davy has a new name — Squeaky.

Russell seems to like dill pickles as was reported to me by some little bird.

Until next week —

Mrs. Bess Raciels was a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Acker in Cross Plains Friday.

REASONS FOR FAILURE IN HIGH SCHOOL

The main reasons there are so many failures and drop-outs in high school today is because the students do not have enough ambition and determination. It takes time to prepare for a test or get an assignment; most of us would rather spend our time doing things we enjoy more. We need to be ambitious in everything we do if we want our lives to be successful. Not many people who have failed or quit school are really a great success in life. If a person is determined to make good grades, he will strive to fulfill his ambitions; even though, it might mean staying at home when he could be cheering the team on to victory or watching his favorite television program. Some students simply do not care if they pass; they are out for a good time and nothing else. Many young people today marry before they have finished high school. If they really did care for the future, they would go ahead and finish school. The number of failures and drop-outs is overwhelming. Each student should resolve to make the best of his education so he can have a more successful life.

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Beautifully decorated programs also served as place cards and fancy hearts were used to add to the decorations.

Hosts John Deere Local Dealer Will Day Here Monday

Farmers of this area will gather Monday to take part in the annual John Deere day which will be sponsored by the Shults Implement Co. at the American Legion Hall Monday at 7 p. m.

Cecil Shults and Bob Shults, host for the show, describe this year's John Deere Day as one of the most interesting they have ever offered. The day is to be devoted entirely to farmers, their wives and children.

"This is the one day of the year," said Cecil Shults, "that we set aside for the farm families this vicinity. It is an attempt on our part to acknowledge the great contribution of the farmer to the whole idea of American enterprise."

The full day's program will be highlighted by a film presentation featuring the very latest in farm equipment shown under actual working conditions. In addition, farmer-guests will be treated to some new films demonstrating the advances of chemistry in farming, new work methods, and decent innovations which keep agriculture in pace with world progress.

These films, according to Mr. Shults, are interlaced with entertainment which features some of Hollywood's and TV's most popular personalities. Among them is Cliff Arquette—better known to adults and children as Charlie Weaver. The supporting cast includes such perennial favorites as Andy Devine, Allen other relatives and friends during the week-end.

"Titus Moody" of Fibber McGee and Molly fame.

"We want every farmer in the vicinity to feel welcome," said Mr. Shults. An invitation is extended to every farmer and his equipment he has performance for. In fact, we think that this is the kind of program that will interest anyone who finds his livelihood closely linked with the soil.

Max Prentice, who spent much time there while in service in the Orient, brought a very interesting discussion of the island, its history, terrain, customs, civic, political and religious conditions.

Response to the Heart Fund appeal at May was gratifying. The money which was collected by Harold Sanford was taken to Brownwood and left at the drive center there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mayfield of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Mayfield of Coleman were here for a visit with their mother, Mrs. L. W. Mayfield, and orites as Andy Devine, Allen other relatives and friends during the week-end.
