Fourth of July will be over when many of the readers of the Record get this week's edition, but the holiday week-end will not. And because the holiday falls so near the end of the week makes a word of caution doubly in order.

No matter how careful a driver you are, how forethoughted, how skillful in handling motor vehicles or boats, how abstemious, you can never be sure. There is the other fellow, who may be neither as careful, as skillful or abstemious as you, and there is the ever-present possibility of a mechanical failure or other happening over which you can have no control.

The forecast is that Texas will suffer the highest accident death rate in its history unless the present trend is slowed.

The privilege of driving an automobile upon our fine Texas highways is an expression of confidence in ones good judgment and consideration of others. Behind the wheel of a modern car, with its slick smooth motor and velvet-like ride the driver of such a car tends to forget that he has under his control more than a wonderful and obedient gent of power. A vicious killer lurks there, too, ready to take advantage of any incautious or reckless act.

With this issue the Rising Record will be closed for the remainder of the week, while the force takes what we regard as a well-deserved vacation.

We'll be back on the job next Monday. Meanwhile, if you missed your paper, or need office supplies or other of the service the Record supplies, Call 613-3881 and we'll arrange to take care of the need.

Every time 10-year-old Donna Mitcham meets a member of a Lions Club her pleasant, freckled face shines. For the Lions Clubs of Texas are responsible for one of the finest encouragements she has known in a five-year struggle back from helplessness to a normal and useful life.

Tuesday morning at the Elite Cafe, she thanked the Rising Star club in person for what the local Lions have done in support of the Crippled Childrens Camp at Kerrville, which is maintained by Texas Lions with contributions of 25c per member.

Goodness knows, the Rising Star club has done very little toward that worthy project, but it was a heart-touching experience to sit in the meeting Tuesday and have it revealed how so little could mean so much in the life of that game little miss from Houston, Texas standing braided and crutched and smiling, to thank the boys for helping to keep the Kerrville Camp going for such as she.

There are some things that even God won't give, and I doubt that the Devil would sell if he possessed them. They can be gained only within ourselves, and they are pearls without price.

Donna, who is the granddaughter of Mrs. Fairle Jones, the great-granddaughter of Mrs. A. D. Jones, and the grandniece of Duby Jones, all of Rising Star, has gone back to Houston where she lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mitcham. She was stricken with polio five years ago and almost completely paralyzed, although she had taken all the polio shots. She could barely move a limb and could not raise her head. For long, long months she lay in a Houston hospital slowly regaining what polio had robbed her of. Three summers ago a Houston (Continued on page six)

Scout Hut Dedicated Monday

About 75 parents and boys along with all of the members of the Rising Star Troop Committee, attended the dedication of the new Scout hut built on City park property under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, local Scout troop sponsor, Monday evening.

The ceremony was held at 7 o'clock with Roland McFarland, district Scout executive of Eastland as the speaker.

Mr. McFarland expressed the thanks of the Scout organization to Ira Hudler, who donated tile for the building and supervised its construction, to Higginbotham's and Rutherford and Steele for contributing materials for roof and floor, and to all who made contributions of money and time toward making the hut possible.

Every member of the Troop Committee was present for the ceremony. They are:

Chairman H. McDonald, Lane Wells, Arley Bibby, Robert Butler, George Steel, Ira Hudler, and John Pruet.

Also present were A. D. Jenkins, Institutional representative and Jimmy Wilson, Scoutmaster. James Rutherford, CoC, president, and assistant scoutmaster, presided at the meeting.

The building, of haydite tile, is a 24X30 feet in dimensions and has a washroom. It is not yet furnished.

Plans are being worked out so that all units of Scouting group in Rising Star may use it.

Eight additional Scouts were signed up during the evening.

Pecan Crop of 240 Million Pounds Forecast for '63

College Station—Pecans should be plentiful once again this fall following a disappointing crop in 1962, says F. R. Brison, Professor of Horticulture at Texas A. and M. College.

Several factors were to blame for the scanty 79,000,000 pounds produced in Texas last year, says Brison. But he predicts that the 1963 yield will again be as large as was the 1961 crop when 240,000,000 pounds were grown.

"The crop looks very promising this year," says the horticulturist. "Shoots are heavily loaded with clusters and many clusters have 4 to 8 pecans on them."

Below average populations of nut casebearers is another reason he gives for the bright pecan crop outlook. These pests have been more effectively controlled due to better spraying programs and better chemicals. Malathion and Sevin were widely used last year and gave good control of casebearers, Brison said.

Producers may receive slightly lower prices for their nuts this fall due to larger yields but the quality of the pecans will also greatly affect the price, he says. The size and number of pecans produced by a tree has a physiological effect on the quality of the pecans it bears, he adds.

The horticulturist explains that the leaf-nut ratio has an influence on both the size and number of pecans a tree produces. There should be about 11 compound leaves for each pecan on the tree, he says, and maintenance of a good leaf-nut ratio is an important production practice. Controlling leaf destroying insects will help accomplish this.

Another production practice that is especially important during dry weather is the controlling of competitive vegetation. This may be done in the way commonly used by the producer whether by grazing, mowing or cultivation, Brison says.

Dr. and Mrs. David Braungard are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCollum. They are moving to Fort Worth.

Adriano F. DiDomenico is one in a million—or rather, one in two thousand million. Here he receives the $25 U. S. Savings Bond bearing the serial number 2,000,000,000 from Mrs. Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, Treasurer of the United States. Mr. DiDomenico, who lives with his wife and 13-year-old son in Camden, N. J., bought the bond through the Radio Corporation of America's Payroll Savings Plan. It turned up as one of the 10,000 bonds RCA obtains monthly for its Camden payroll savers. In presenting the bond, the Treasurer called it appropriate that the bond with the magic number two billion should be issued during the 1963 Freedom Bond Drive, and that it was bought through the Payroll Savings Plan, which accounts for about half of all E Bond purchases.

It's the Law in Texas

Because the stakes are high, a person's life, his good name, his liberty, or his property, courtrooms are sometimes supercharged with drama and anger.

Despite the excitement, the judge has to be impartial and open-minded as to issues, evidence, parties, witnesses, and lawyers. To fail in this may cause a case to be tried again or reversed on appeal.

This makes a judge's job a hard one. For he must first keep order so that the facts go to the jury in a way to lead to sound, unprejudiced verdicts. The judge must also instruct the jury on the law, and decide what testimony goes into evidence.

Meantime lawyers on both sides are duty bound to work with skill and vigor to protect their clients and to advance their cause.

In this tense atmosphere some people break over the line and do things which may be termed "foul play" or show disrespect for the court.

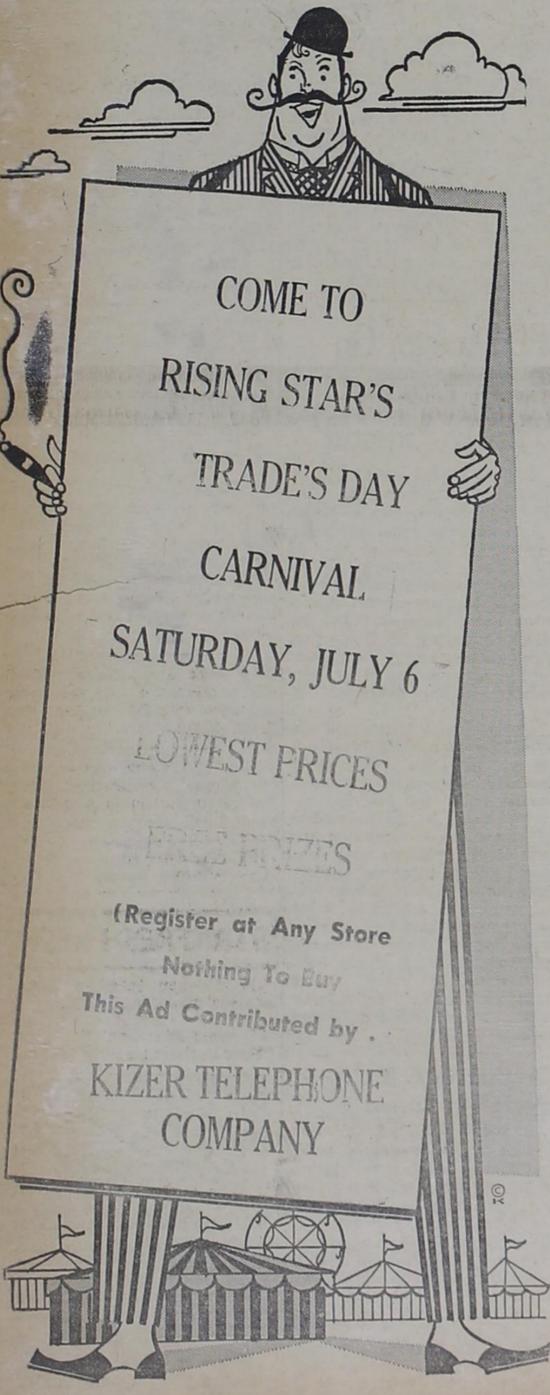

When this happens, the judge has "inherent" power—power that grows out of his hard job—to crack down and punish violators for "contempt of court". Within wide limits he can levy fines and give jail sentences on the spot—when the offense takes place before him. He can sometimes do the same for things that take place out of the court—like the disobedience of a court order. But such indirect contempt of court calls or hearings to prove that an offense has been committed.

Judges may fine or give jail sentences to protect the due administration of justice: A juror or a lawyer for being tardy, for impugning the judge's honesty, for a witness to refuse to testify, for improper attempts to influence the jury or the court, for deceiving or taking advantage of the court, making personal attacks on the character and motives of the other side or its lawyer, for appealing to prejudices, and referring to facts in court not admissible in evidence.

Strength of Our Nation

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Bursleson, M. C. 17th Texas District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—DISCUSSED IN THIS COLUMN LAST WEEK WAS the "Public Accommodations" theory as embodied in the President's proposal on Civil Rights.

HISTORY HAS STRANGE WAYS of repeating itself! Historical researchers now show that this issue has been around since 1865. In this year the Commonwealth of Massachusetts passed the first State Law abridging the right of businessmen to discriminate against customers for whatever reasons they saw fit.

IN 1875 THE CONGRESS PASSED a strong Equal Accommodations Law that applied to "inns, public conveyances on land or water, theaters and other places of public amusement". Violators were subject to fines up to $1,000, a year in prison or both.

THE MEASURE WAS DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL by the Supreme Court in 1883.

FOLLOWING THIS ACTION, IN 1884 the States of Connecticut, Iowa, New Jersey and Ohio passed their own Laws on Equal Access to public places. The following year the States of Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska and Rhode Island passed similar laws. In 1897 Pennsylvania, Washington, Wisconsin and California went along. Several other States adopted similar laws even prior to the 1875 Federal Act that was later overturned by the Supreme Court.

THUS, OVER THE YEARS, 30 States and numerous cities have enacted Laws against discrimination in places of public accommodation. In a negative sort of way, the action of the Supreme Court in holding such laws unconstitutional spirited these States into taking action in guaranteeing access to public facilities, including businesses of a private nature.

AS THE SPIRIT OF RECONSTRUCTION FOLLOWING THE CIVIL WAR gradually ebbed, State Laws in most places became dead letters. By the very nature they seemingly were either forgotten or ignored as being impractical of enforcement.

ALMOST THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY has passed before another resurgence of this theory emerges with the force of the present Administration behind it. No doubt, of course, the Supreme Court's 1954 School decision lent impetus to this new interest to "equal rights," including the doctrine of "public accommodations."

BUT JUST A YEAR PRIOR TO THE 1954 Supreme Court Decision, the State of Oregon passed such a law, followed by Montana, New Mexico, Vermont, Maine, Idaho, Alaska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Maryland, Wyoming, and South Dakota. Last week, by Executive Order, the Governor of Kentucky added his state to the list. In all, there are now 31 States, including the District of Columbia, with such Statutes in force.

SOME STATES HAVE MORE SWEEPING INTENT of the Law than others. The Law of California, for instance says that "All persons within the jurisdiction of this State are free and equal no matter what... entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities, privileges or service in all establishments of every kind whatsoever." Connecticut revised its old Law in 1953, which now says "Every place of public accommodation, resort of amusement..."

THE PROPOSAL BEFORE THE CONGRESS enumerates a broad range of public accommodation to include virtually all classes of business at the national, state or local level which serves the public.

EIGHT STATES AND SOME CITY ORDINANCES specifically require segregation by law. The remainder evidently have no requirements one way or the other. IT WILL ALWAYS BE DIFFICULT TO subvert human nature and the impracticality of the cold word of the law. There is urgent need to recognize that for every "right" there is a corresponding responsibility; for every privilege there is an obligation.

You Said It

"Sowed His Wild Oats"
This expression means a person acted foolishly. Wild oats are actually useless meadow grasses. To sow them would be like planting a field of weeds, and sometimes the results can be hard to rid.

Cool Quality
If you buy frozen foods, be sure that they are kept near zero. In that way they will hold their quality for more than a few days. However, plan to use them within 10 days in a refrigerator-freezer combination. A food freezer keeps frozen food for a much longer period without any loss of quality.

About Your Health

When the first school bell rings this September there will be 264,783 six-year-old children entering school for the first time in Texas, according to estimated enrollment figures compiled by the Texas Education Agency.

In addition to the million-and-one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school—new shoes, clothes, health examination—most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested.

Anticipating this, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas State Department of Health is readying itself for the onslaught of requests for such copies that comes pouring in during the middle and late summer.

The problem is, too many parents wait until the last moment before requesting their copy.

Because of this, a temporary increase in staff is necessary. It takes a sizable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily let alone search out the requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, photograph it or make a certified copy, mail it out, and then return the original certificate to its proper place.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually, the copy is mailed within a day or two after the request is received. However, one serious bottleneck still exists—persons who insist upon waiting until the last few days before school begins to mail in their request.

In recent years the last minute rush hasn't been quite so bad, but it is still a serious problem. Requests should be sent in as soon as possible. The State Health Department fee for certificate copies is $1.50.

Certified copies can also be obtained from county clerks and local registrars for a similar fee.

Most important aid for speedy service—aside from getting requests in early—is complete and correct information.

Parents should include the child's name, his birth place, date of birth, and his parent's name (including the mother's maiden name).

Armed with the correct information, a certified copy or birth card will be speeded on its way as quickly as many years of experience and a well-trained staff can send it.

7th Screwworm Case In County Is Confirmed

The seventh case of screw worms to be identified in Eastland County was confirmed by technicians at Mission Laboratory at Mission, Texas, on June 23, County Agent J. C. Cooper said.

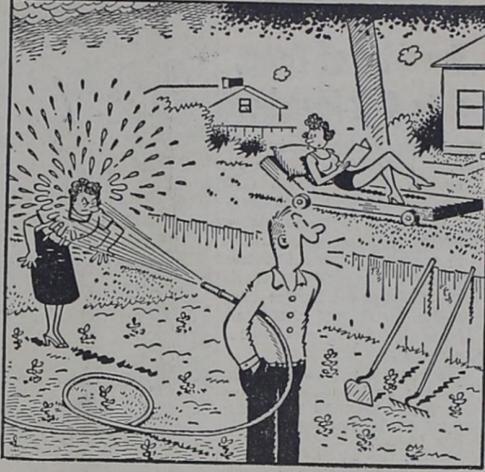

The infestation was on the E. H. Mills farm in the Colony community, northeast of Morton Valley.

"Don Boaz, Texas Animal Health Commission inspector, and his crew were on the job immediately, making a large white X on the ground with lime to designate the spot for the benefit of the airplane pilot who was to begin dropping sterile flies and spraying; free of charge, all of the cattle on the several farms in the immediate area," He said.

"We hope that you will spray your cattle as often as possible," he said. "We also remind you to be sure to send samples of maggots from livestock wounds in to the Mission Laboratory for identification. Include with the maggots an accurate report. If you do not have a mailing tube for this, we have plenty and will furnish you one if you will let us know."

Rising Star Kin of Famous Parker Family Plans to Attend Reunion

Mrs. Mable Ellis, whose grandmother was reportedly a cousin of Cynthia Ann Parker, 9-year-old white girl captive of the Comanches who became the mother of famous Comanche chief Quanah Parker, plans to attend the gathering of the Parker clan at Fort Parker State Park near Mexia this week-end.

The park includes the restoration of the fort from which Cynthia was taken by a Comanche war party in the bloody raid of more than a century ago.

The reunion, says a story from Mexia, will begin July 5.

The Parker family is responsible for one of the great romantic stories of Texas history. More than 200 blood relatives of the late Comanche chief are expected for the three-day assembly at Fort Parker State Park.

Most of the Texas Parkers, about 150 strong, live in the Palestine area.

Their Oklahoma relatives reside around Cache, Okla., where the government placed the Comanches on a reservation nearly a century ago. The action came after Chief Quanah Parker led the Comanches to surrender to the Fort Sill Military authorities.

The story of the first Parker is included in nearly every Texas history book.

It concerns blue-eyed, blond Cynthia Ann Parker, who was kidnapped by a band of Comanches in 1836 near Groesbeck. "She was 9 at the time and remained with the Indians until womanhood. "She became the wife of Chief Nocona and the mother of the most famous Comanche; Quanah.

"She refused to return to the white settlement, but was later captured by Sul Ross also of considerable historical fame. "In the skirmish in which she was captured near Crowell, Quanah was one of the two sons that escaped. He eventually won the rank of chief.

"Cynthia Ann was originally buried at Fosterville in Anderson County, then the body was moved to Cache.

"Quanah was the chief who finally saw the handwriting on the wall and surrendered to the white man. He held the nickname of Peacemaker, and is known as the Comanche's greatest leader."

Rising Star Girl Will Exhibit Art

An exhibit of art by Nelda Lee, Rising Star art major at North Texas State University, will be held in the exhibition gallery of the University Art Building in Denton, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 9 and 10 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. respectively.

The exhibit represents four years of study in the field of Art Education.

Mrs. Jesse Camp has with her a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Moore who will visit with her a few days.

Dog Project is Favorite of Farm, City 4-H Members

Further evidence that man is dog's best friend is borne out by the fast-growing 4-H Club dog care and training program.

In four short years the number of boys and girls enrolled in the program has increased tenfold to nearly 20,000, reports the National 4-H Service Committee. By the end of 1963 another big jump in enrollment is expected.

Sponsored nationally by the Ralston Purina Company, the carefully planned "pet" program has become popular with city 4-H'ers.

Learn Obedience

Obedience training is high on the list of things young dog fanciers accomplish. Even parents agree that a "well-mannered dog" is a joy both indoors and out. Among the important scientific facts boys and girls learn about dogs is how to keep them healthy, happy and a respected member of the family.

As one 4-H dog club leader puts it, "Owning a dog is good discipline for the entire family."

Being accountable for the dog's food and health needs, caring for the mother dog and her puppies, learning about breeds, and grooming for the show ring are some of the tasks that 4-H'ers undertake when they enroll in the care and training program.

At a recent obedience demonstration this young dog handler put a trio of poodles through the paces. Besides teaching dogs cute tricks, 4-H'ers train them to obey commands that make for a well-behaved pet.

4-H'ers Rewarded

At the close of the 4-H Club year, members who show personal progress have an opportunity to compete in various ways for awards provided by Ralston Purina. Selection of winners is made by the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the program.

Awards include free trips to the National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago December 1-5; engraved 19-jewel wrist watches and medals.

Additional information about joining a 4-H dog club can be obtained at the county extension office or from the state 4-H Club office.

She is a teacher in Golden Avenue School in La Mesa, Calif.

Modern Drugs

MEAN

Lower Death Rates

With the advent of modern drugs, many serious and previously fatal diseases have been brought under control. Prescribed by physicians and dispensed by pharmacists, these drugs are serving mankind in every field of medicine.

And results may be measured with considerable accuracy in the lowered statistical death rates or such diseases as pneumonia, tuberculosis, mastoiditis, septicemia, syphilis, and many other infectious conditions; in the leveling off and, in some cases, the decline of institutions as well as tu-admissions to our mental berculosis hospitals, and in the corresponding increase of the human life span in our United States.

Whereas, in 1900, a newborn infant had a life expectancy of 40 years, today the newborn can expect to reach the ripe old age of 70!

If there had been but a few ounces of sulfa drug in existence in 1923, Calvin Coolidge's son need not have died of septicemia. If, in 1790, they had known of streptomycin or isoniazid, or para-amino-salicylic acid, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart might have lived beyond his brief thirty-five years to enrich mankind with even greater contributions of his genius. If there had been only a half-dozen doses of penicillin available in 1863, President Lincoln's son, Willy, need not have died of pneumonia.

Many of the drugs which we take for granted today just did not exist twenty-five years ago; some of them were unknown as recently as five years ago.

Our pharmacy and your physician are dedicated to your welfare. In keeping with the high standards of pharmacy, we maintain a comprehensive supply of these modern drugs of many brands, so that your prescription may be filled promptly and in accordance with your physician's specification whenever the need arises.
