Benefiel and Others Were Sentenced in Federal Court Friday

Steve Benifiel, 39, alleged leader of a drug ring, was sentenced in Federal Court in Lubbock Friday, June 7 to 12 years in prison. Benifiel received his sentence for conspiracy to manufacture and sell methamphetamine, and for the laundering of money.

Benifiel was fined $100, and must serve five years supervised release after he leaves prison.

Also sentenced was Deborah Dawn Simmons, 31, who received 4 years in prison for using a telephone in relation to a drug connection with the Benitrafficking crime. Simmons was fined $50, and must be supervised for one year after her release.

Another individual sentenced in Federal Court Friday was former Eastland County Sheriff Dee Hogan. The Judge handed down a 3-year prison term for Hogan, who was fined $50, and must be supervised for 3 years after his release, and can never work as a law enforcement officer again. Hogans sentence was reported to be for obstruction of justice in fiel organization.

Hogan had filed an objection to his pre-sentence report which is closed to the public - and was going to contest statements made there. A plea bargain was approved, however, by U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings, in which Hogan agreed to drop his objections in return for a 3-year prison sentence. He also agreed to enter a guilty plea to a state charge of aggravated perjury in connection with an Eastland County Grand Jury.

County Commissioners:

Petition Prepared for an Ambulance Taxing District

missioners Monday continued to discuss setting up a county-wide Taxing District to fund Emergency Medical Services.

District Attorney Leslie Vance brought the court a petition he had prepared, a document that an election be called on setting up the district. He said this petition met all the state requirements.

Vance said he was not sure how many signatures are required to make the petition valid, but indicated around 200.

The petition and a fee of $150 would allow the Commissioners Court to call an election where voters could decide whether they are willing to be taxed to pay for the county wide service.

Vance said that each signer of the petition must own taxable real property, and each municipality must approve the petition. The Commissioners handed out an open letter to the public, explaining their view of the situation.

Eastland County Com- That letter is published On another agenda in full elsewhere in this newspaper.

> On other matters, the Commissioners heard a letter from the Texas Jail Standards Commission stating that the county jail was found to be in compliance at the annual inspection May 27. Bob Dearing made this inspection.

Pct. 4 Commissioner Reggie Pittman reported that 22 prisoners were currently in the jail - 6 for TDC, 4 on "Blue" or state warrants, 2 being held for other counties, and 10 Eastland County prison-

Sheriff Ronnie White reported that lightening had recently damaged electrical wiring on top of the jail, and that an electrician was out repairing

The Commissioners heard a request from Sheriff White to allow for a line-item adjustment of $650 in his budget to pay for schools for employees to maintain certification. This item was approved.

Citywide Garage Sale to Be July 4

Progress is being made on planning Rising Star's annual 4th of July citywide garage sale, and it looks as though it will be the biggest yet.

The advertising started about three weeks ago and signs will go up at the edge of town this week. This is the third year for having circulating from $6,000 to $8,000 in our little town the first two years.

This is an excellent way to get rid of your unwanted items (junk). Clean out your garage and closets and get ready for a sale and have a good time vis-

PUBLIC NOTICE BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION AUGUST 10, 1991

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 42 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the newly created county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation a percentage of the market value of the residence homestead of a married or unmarried adult. The percentage exempted could not exceed 20% of such market value, and the amount exempted could not be less than $5,000. The amendment would also authorize county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation not less than $3,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of a disabled person or a person sixty-five years of age or older. Finally, the amendment would authorize elections in county education districts for the taxation of certain tangible personal property exempted from ad valorem taxation by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads and to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 5 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws authorizing Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to issue and sell up to $300 million of general obligation bonds to finance educational loans to students. The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in an interest and sinking fund established at the end of the preceding year that is pledged to the payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students."

Open Records: Cover for Business Espionage?

by Bruce Youngblood A few years ago some Japanese firms were caught red handed spying on IBM. Industrial espionage! They spent a lot of money doing it and suffered embarrassing publicity when they were found out. Did that stop them? No. They haven't stopped spying, but they've discovered a better way: the Texas Open Records Act! And they are not alone. The Texas Open Records Act is a law passed in 1973 to open up government to the people - in the words of its champions, to expose the affairs of government "to the sunshine." But it also exposes business secrets to the Rising Sun and others, including business competitors of the company or business you own or work for, no matter how small Texas isn't the only state that enacted socalled "sunshine laws," but its law has been interpreted in a way advantageous for business spies, thanks to the "Opinion Committee" of the Texas Attorney General's Office.

The Opinion Committee of the Texas Attorney General is currently composed of twelve lawyers (Assistant Attorneys General.) The twelve write the official Open Record Decisions (ORDs) and Open Record Letters (ORLs) that the Attorney General issues - or that the Opinion Committee issues in his name. Open Records Decisions and Open Records Letters always involve particular information that somebody is trying to get from a state, county, or city source, or from some other local governmental unit information that somebody else questions their right to have. They are bureaucratic orders that can give away the store.

Sometimes the city or the governmental body asking for a decision of the Attorney General wants to protect the information for reasons of its own. Schools, for example, object to releasing test answer sheets before the test is given. (Since the Opens Records Act says all information collected, assembled, or maintained by or for governmental bodies in Texas - including schools - is "public information" with certain exceptions only, students, not surprisingly, have sought test information more than once - unsuccessfully.) But often Open Records Decisions and Open Records Letters decide questions involving information about private citizens and businesses that happen to be in governmental files but which the agency or office has no special interest in protecting. That is when businesses must be alert.

IBM was recently awarded a contract by the City of Austin on the basis of a proposal it submitted. Hitachi Data Systems and Amdahl Corporation submitted proposals that weren't accepted. Now, the losers are demanding under the Open Records Act that the city give them IBM's proposal which contains, that company claims, information about methodology that it developed over a number of years and that is unique to it. The whole thing is pending before the Attorney General's Opinion Committee, but if IBM can't find a stout exception to hang its case on, and do it with precise and supported-in-detail objections, its "proprietary" information may soon become public information in Japan as well as here! Under the statute, the Japanese are as much another disappointed bidder, wants the University of Houston to turn over to it not only the proposal of the successful company, but the proposals of the four others who were in the running. Ernst & Young, Price Waterhouse, Arthur Andersen, Coopers & Lybrand, and Deloitte & Touche must now go quickly into legal battle. The Opinion Committee in the past has had little sympathy for prominent firms that don't respond in what the Committee considers the appropriate manner. (Or for prominent firms, period.)

entitled to it as anybody

KPGM Peat Marwick,

Don't think such intrigue is limited to the world of high tech or giant corporations. A veterinarian in Lubbock asked that city to disclose the customers of the other animal doctors in town (and information about their customer's pets). Fortunately for the other veterinarians, they got notice of the request and hired an attorney to defend their interests. That gave them a chance, but a letter from the Opinion Committee in April ordered release of the information. The Legislature included exceptions in the Open Records Act that it probably thought would give businesses several ways to expeditiously protect their secrets. But what the Legislature giveth, the Opinion Committee can taketh away.

If you have business secrets to guard, either make sure they don't get into governmental files or find a way to put the squelch on their release. If may be business harakiri to depend on the Texas Attorney General's Office or its Opinion Committee to do it for you without the pressure of timely and pertinent legal arguments.

Next week: Safe slander.

GROUNDWATER PROTECTION IS EVERYONE'S

BUSINESS Over the last five weeks the paper has run a special five part series on water quality and conservation. This has been a follow-up of programs conducted by the Eastland County Extension Program Council Economic and Community Development Committee over the last six months. Today there is much debate about the control of this valuable natural resource called water.

How important is groundwater in Texas? Approximately 52 percent of the water used in Texas and nearly 72 percent of the state's water used in agriculture comes from underground water supplies. As these figures indicate, underground water is an important resource in Texas both for drinking water and for agriculture.

Texas landowners have historically held the right to capture and use groundwater beneath their property. Groundwater rights have been an inherent part of property ownership.

Increasingly, there has been more interest to control underground water as a way to manage it. One such method used to manage underground water is through groundwater districts.

Texas The 1949 Groundwater District Act gave underground water conservation districts the authority to conserve and preserve the underground water supplies and develop more efficient methods of water use.

Underground water is an important resource in Texas. Locally controlled underground water conservation districts with rules, programs, and activities specifically addressing the local problems and opportunities have generally proven to be useful vehicles for managing groundwater.

Underground water conservation districts have be granted flexibil-

Sentenced Hogan will serve any state sentence he receives concurrently with his Federal sentence, reports

General Dick Baker. Benifiel has remained in jail since his high-profile arrest Jan. 4 at his Wrecker Service in Ranger, said to be the headquarters for the conspiracy.

U.S. Assistant Attorney

At that time 12 individuals in all were arrested on charges of illegal drug manufacture and distribution. Most have since pled guilty and have been sentenced.

Four others also pleaded guilty Feb. 12 to charges connected with this operation. On April 22 Federal officials announced the arrest of 14 other individuals, with 2 more in custody.

Sheriff Dee Hogan was arrested Jan. 11 on the charges of obstruction of justice. He has spent most of the time since in jail in Lubbock. In February Weights and Measures Trooper Acey Van Steel was arrested on charges of aiding the Benifiel organization. Steel admitted in a

Feb. 12 guilty plea that he ran a license check on an undercover car for Benifiel, and that he provided Benifiel with sensitive law enforcement information. He has since been sentenced to a term in prison.

Federal authorities are proclaiming victory in this widespread case, which has resulted in 30 convictions. They still indicate there will be more arrests in the case, but do not say whether the arrests will be in Eastland County. The organization is said to have involved 16 drug labs and have sales as far as Florida.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Dick Baker says the case has had a more significant impact than any he has prosecuted in 18

These arrests by the F.B.I. and Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force has reportedly been cited in a U.S. Department of Justice report titled "Toward a Safer America: The Justice Department's Record of Accomplishment In the First Two Years of the Bush Administration."

The budget crisis has affected the Social Security administration in several ways. One of these is that we have less money to pay travel expenses. So, we have had to reduce our travel schedule. We regret the inconvenience and will resume our normal travel schedule, when and if, funds are made available.

You can call Social Security toll-free each business day, 12 hours per day, from 7:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. 1-800-234-5772.

Senior Citizens Center Obituary

Thursday, was a good day at the center. The Rev. J.O. Mitchell and daughter, Beckie, entertained us with a lot of sacred songs. They are from Albuquerque, N.M. Everyone really enjoyed the lovely Dorthy Paddock, a Registered Nurse with Mediplex Home Health Services was at our center Thursday, checking cholesterol, blood sugar and blood pressure.

Betsy Wilson, a Registered Nurse from Ranger, was also at the center checking blood pressures.

Their schedules, crossed by for June, but they will be here different days in July. We really appreciate both of them for this service for us. The weekend was a busy time for Marion and Marjorie West. The S.C. Steel reunion at Brownwood Lake was Friday through Sunday morning. They attended Friday and Saturday afternoon. Marion enjoyed the area school reunion at Cross Plains Community Center Saturday morning. he attended the Hickman and by Marjorie West Pioneer schools. Sunday we went to the Romney School Homecoming. Marion was a student there. Our area had another good rain shower over the weekend. The garden needs a few days of sunshine. The plant leaves are turning a bit yellow.

Edith Bostick is doing fine. She will have the surgery stitches removed Tuesday.

Paul and Blanch Cawley, Jerry and LouJane Davis and Oral and Amy Davis attended the 19th Cawley reunion at Bryan over the weekend. Maurine Wells attended the Romney reunion Sunday, June 9. She had a wonderful lunch, afterward she went to Gorman to the funeral of Claudie Welch, an old acquaintance and friend, Then I visited with a dear friend oflong ago, Zena Simpson.

Joe and Evelyn attended his family reunion this past weekend. They had a wonderful time. His son, Jimmy, from California came back with them to visit a few days.

Have a good week!

Multipurpose Center Moves To Cisco

The Multipurpose Center will have an Open Hoouse at its new location in August.

The former location of the Center was 204 N. Lamar in Eastland. The County Food Pantry will remain in this building. and will be run by volunteers only, Mrs. Roberts said. The clothing closet will also stay in this loca-

At the present time this facility will be open from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday. Wednesday and Friday. The new phone number for the Food Pantry is 629-2132. More volunteers are needed there, Mrs. Roberts said.

Lois Robinson, one of the volunteers, sent a report about the work. She said that 25 families with 76 household members had received emergency food supplies during May.

The Food Pantry can use more canned goods, Mrs. Robinson reported. Staples are needed, and also cleaners and paper

A freezer is still needed in the Pantry, so that perishable food can be stored.

Other discussions at the County Resources Association meeting included ways of assisting people who need to travel for cancer treatments. Lesa Oswalt, President of the Eastland County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, brought ideas on this topic.

Corrie Cowley, Director of the Resources group, gave information on a Travel Fund for ill and disabled children.

The County Resources Association will not hold meetings in July and August, but will resume regular sessions on Thursday, Sept. 12 at 12 noon at Eastland Memorial Li-

Letter To Editor

(ED NOTE: The Eastland County Commissioners have issued the following statement, and it is carried here as a public information statement from them to the public.)

An Open Letter To The Citizens Of Eastland County: On June of 1989, Eastland County joined the City of Eastland with Eastland Memorial Hospital and the City of Cisco with E. L. Graham Hospital in an arrangement to provide ambulance service to the two towns and the outlying areas around them.

Our reason for doing this was: We had a privately owned business providing excellent service to these areas at that time but the owner was constantly threatening to leave if each City and the County did not pay him a subsidy.

In order for the county to spend tax dollars in these two locations, to be fair, an equal amount had to be allocated in the other two precincts. Ranger used their funds toward the purchase of a new ambulance the first year. Rising Star, Gorman and Carbon used their first year funds for fire fighting equipment, instead of ambulance service. Rising Star has an almost new ambulance and a volunteer service second to none. Gorman is dependent on Eastland, Ranger, or DeLeon.

We also helped purchase equipment with Eastland County paying half the cost of two ambulances for Eastland and are paying part of the lease cost in Cisco.

In the two years we have been involved in this, we have spent almost three hundred thousand dollars on emergency services. This has depleted our reserves until we are having to postpone scheduled highway projects.

Our present tax rate was not set to provide for emergency medical service.

We had hoped that if we helped to get it started, it would eventually almost break even. This has not happened except in Eastland. However, Eastland Memorial Hospital is not willing to use ambulance service profit to reduce the amount the City of Eastland and Eastland County are paying.

The cities say they can't continue to fund the ambulance service without the county helping. In order to try and keep what we have, plus providing a service for the Gorman area, petitions are now being circulated to call an election to see if the citizens want to establish a county wide Emergency Services District. Every voter in the county will have an opportunity to

The County is operating for approximately a thirtythree cent tax rate. If we continue to participate in these ambulance services, the tax rate will have to increase to approximately thirty-six cents (A nine percent increase). This would just relieve the county from deficit spending. The cities involved would have to increase their revenue by some means.

A six cent tax rate would be sufficient and would relieve the cities and the county of having to increase taxes substantially. If this fails, we do not know what the end result will be. Maybe one ambulance for tion in these final few days of the Texas Legislature's 72nd regular session, has created a terrible log jam. Many time consuming and controversial issues block the way for a great deal of legislation that really needs to be enacted. Time is running out and a feeling of desperation is prevalent among legislators.

The House of Representatives gets frustrated with the Senate, and the Senate gets frustrated with the House - but, in all, the 72nd Legislative regular session has been a productive one. Many important issues have been dealt with, some satifactorily, some not. Such issues as: Education Finance Reforn - the usual tenth year redistricting issue - Product Liability -DWI Legislation - Ethics Reform - Hazardous ma-

When It Rains....

A Rising Star couple togetherness. decided that Saturday afternoon's downpour of rain would be a good help in washing their car. Backing the car out of the garage and into the rainfall was no problem, but when the years have diminished your agility, making a dash back to the garage is not so easily accomplished.

What to do? Pick up the dominoes and take the doughboard for a playing surface to fill in the time sitting in the car while nature lends a hand with the wash job. That was the choice of Mamie and Cecil Joyce, who have shared more than 71 years of decision making and
