Rising Star, Texas

Ten Pages In Two Sections

Thursday, May 27, 1976

If Rising Star wasn't on the map prior to this Bicentennial year of 1976, be assured that it is now. Mrs. Ruth Smith reports that our "Kaleidoscope of Freedom" is receiving all sorts of recognition, including the international type - - from the Holy Land no less!

Also Mrs. Smith has received word that the Kaleidoscope story along with a picture of the flags has recently been published in the official publication of the Alaska Retired Teachers' Association, which incidentally is read in almost every one of these United States.

This, plus the excellent coverage which we received on recognition of Rising Star as a National Bicentennial Community symbolizes the attainment of a goal and the culmination of several months of time consuming effort from a group of dedicated citizens. However, this event does not mark the conclusion of this bicentennial effort - - much remains to be done before the planned projects will reach completion.

A word of appreciation is due to a number of people who were responsible for the success of last Saturday's events - certainly to Owen Aikin, general chairman of the local Bicentennial committee, and to his working committee members; to the Rising Star React Club for the use of the P.A. system; to the officers of the Rising Star Roping Club for their cooperation; to the local merchants for their attractive decorations; to Mayor Carroll and his staff for clean streets; and to each and every individual who contributed in any way to this community effort.

Recent meteorological events have brought to mind the TV commercial that says in part "It isn't nice to fool Mother nature", well what about some of the shenanigans that lovely lady has participated in lately? This is supposed to be the season of "gentle spring", but what with the tornadoes, hail, floods, etc., the weather of the past few weeks could hardly be labeled "gentle". Walnut sized hail fell north of Rising Star on Sunday afternoon, and the Monday evening storm dumped baseball size hail in an area south of Rising Star. Some damage resulted from these two little "spills" of weather, but generally speaking, the Rising Star area has gotten the "cream of the crop" weatherwise - - the spring rains have been wonderful.

It's good to have Edra back in the office after a brief vacation. They report a most enjoyable week in Las Vegas.

It is hoped that a good response will come from the appeal in this edition of The Rising Star for funds to restore the old log Scout Hut - - it is truly a landmark of Rising Star and should be preserved.

Plea Made For Restoration Of Old Scout Hut

Calling all forner members of Troop No. 115, Boy Scouts of America in Rising Star. Your financial assistance is sought to save and rebuild the Scout Hut on Methodist Church property in Rising Star.

This call is made by Jack McCarty, of Glen Rose, former long-time Scoutmaster of the troop, who said he had been told, the old Boy Scout meeting place is in bad state of repair and needs to be rebuilt or torn down and friends of Scouting in Rising Star would like to see it saved for future generations.

There are memories by the dozen in this old log structure and McCarty said he felt there are sufficient former members of the troop to provide the financial assistance to save it.

Memorial Holiday To Be Observed Locally

Rising Star merchants, First State Bank and the Post Office will all be closed on Monday, May 31, in observance of the Memorial Day holiday. Local post office boxes will be serviced, but no rural delivery will be made and there will not be any window service, Postmaster Don Boyett said. The Rising Star will be published according to regular schedule, with Tuesday noon as the usual deadline for all news and advertising.

Rising Star Is Proclaimed Bicentennial Community

Saturday was the culmination of a year's planning and work for the city of Rising Star in the Bicentennial realm, and, hopefully, was just the re-birth of a future of progress and self esteem for our talented com-

Rising Star received the national and state official Bicentennial recognition Saturday in ceremonies held on Main Street as part of the 24th annual opening parade of the local summer rodeo series.

A proud and enthusiastic crowd of about 200 persons on hand for the ceremonies, in hte balmy, shirt-sleeve summer heat. The crowd milled and visited, and seemed to be in no real hurry to leave following the parade. One local resident likened last Saturday afternoon to "Saturday afternoons of 25 or 30 years ago in Rising Star", when everyone was in town on Saturday afternoon, visiting on the streets, shopping and staying until well after dark.

On hand for the official Bicentennial recognition ceremonies, which began promptly at 3:45 p.m., was Joe Hodges, chairman of the Abilene Bicenhandled our discipline problems tennial Commission and partner in H&H Oil Company in Abilene.

Following a greeting to the people by Owen Aiken, minister of the Rising Star Church of Christ and general chairman of the Rising Star Bicentennial Committee, Mr. Hodges delivered an informal, and very heart-warming talk of about 10 to 12 minutes, after he removed his suit coat and remarked that he would speak "as long as the temperature and the mood of the people would allow." Mr. Hodges expressed his delight at being invited to Rising Star for this historic occassion. He reminded the attentive audience that there are many things to reflect on in this Bicentennial year and that there are many things to be thankful for, but, he stated, the future still holds much to be thankful for.

"The real heart-beat of the nation is in the hearts and minds of people who live in tonwns like Rising Star, Cross Plains, and Abilene," Mr. Hodges said. "The celebration of our Bicentennial actually started in the grass-roots communities like this," he added. Hodges issued a challenge to individuals and communities to recognize their heritage and to carry on in the great American tradition.

Mr. Hodges, in bringing out the three official phases of the nation's Bicentennial celebration, referred to the Heritiage division as "time for reflection", the Festival division as a time for parties and celebrations and to the Horizon division as what we can do to influence the future of our nation. He further urged each of us to ask ourselves, "What can I do?" Before expressing his best wishes and congratulations for Rising Star's Bicentennial accomplishments, he concluded: "If you are going to do something, do it now.'

At this time the rodeo parade had approached the speakers platform, located on the west side of street, where the Rising Star High School band played the national anthem, directed by Paul Fullerton, director.

Mr. Hodges then presented the state and national Bicentennial certificates in handsome brown and gold frames to Mr. Aiken, and the striking national Bicentennial flag to Mayor Pro Tem Lane Wells, thus making Rising Star an official Bicentennial community. Mr. Wells accepted the flag in the absence of Mayor C.M. Carroll, who was out of town.

Following an appreciative round of aplause, Mr. Aiken then read a citation and presented a certificate to Mrs. Hodges, making him an honorary citizen of Rising Star, "With all the rights and privileges thereof, including the paying of taxes," Mr. Aiken quipped. Hodges was also presented a complimantary copy of the 'Kaleidoscope of Freedom' script, autographed by its author, Mrs. Ruth Smith, and Mr. Aiken explained the back-ground of "Kaleidoscope of Freedom' in Rising Star's Bicentennial observance.

The Bicentennial flag, carried by Don Boyett and Rev. Hubert Taylor then became a part of the rodeo parade and the mardh continued.

The parade was led by the Rising Star Roping Club, headed by Shelley Gray, and rodeo sweetheart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray.

Other riding clubs participating in the parade were the Callahan County Rough Riders and the May Riding Club, as well as numerous individual

It's Time to Remember Our American Servicemen.

I hroughout history, there have been many who dedicated themselves to upholding our nation's high ideals. They were from all backgrounds. But they had one common bond. They were Americans.

Each and every one of us owes them more than words could express. Let's show our gratitude now, by taking this day to honor them in our hearts...and pay tribute to their outstanding courage.

We all have our "thorn in the flesh". It may be some physical infirmity or deformity, long continued ill - health, an ungovernable temper, a nagging enemy, an uncongenial alliance, an ungrateful child, or a heavy bereavement. If God does not remove the thorn, let us seek its purpose, and convert it into an asset; remembering that no chastening is for the present time joyous but grievous, yet in the end it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who are properly exercised thereby.

Milton's personality became a far more potent influence after blindness had stricken him. The loss of physical sight intensified the keenness of spiritual vision. Had Paul Bunyan never lain in Bedford jail he had never dreamed the "Pilgrim's Progress". Had David never fallen as he did the world would never have felt the passion of pentitence and aspiration of heart which breathed through some such psalms as the fifty - first. Had John never been banished to the island of Patmos we should never have had the revelation of heaven as he has unfolded its glories in the last book of our Bible. In a sense, most solemn of all, had Christ n ever passed through the darkness of Calvary and tasted that bitterness of death, he would never been exalted as the Saviour of the world.

It is a blessed experience no longer be quite so heady and surely if for any one of us from high minded, but will have a whom the sunlight of prosperity has been withdrawn for a season the light of a new purpose and the beckoning of a hand of divine strength are made manifest. Let us remember Our God never closes a door in the face of anyone without opening another. With eyes to see let us see opportunities of service even in times of adversities.

Again, all are reminded of the Memorial Day Services; sponsored by the American Legion, to be held Sunday, May 30, at 4 p.m., at the cemetery. In case of rain the service will be moved to the school gym. The public is encouraged to join in this service out of respect for "Our Heroes" now deceased.

A Fellowship Supper sponsored by the Crusader's Class of our church will be enjoyed on Wednesday, June 2, at 8 p.m. All members and friends are invited to unite with us, each bringing a covered dish to share.

A Recital, including great American songs of the past two hundred years will be presented by Mrs. Frank Gray with James Steel at the piano on Saturday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to enjoy these fine artists in the sanctuary of our church. Hubert Taylor

Like Solomon, many things have been tried; human wisdom, technology, hedonism (pleasure), wealth, etc., but these have failed and will continue to fail (Ecclesiastes 12:13). The only real solution lies in "fearing God and keeping his commandments" (Ecclesiastes 12:13). Then will the nation, along with the world, the family and all social levels, know real dignity and happiness. "Righteousness exalts a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people" (Proverbs 14:34).

Church of Christ

But where does this "righteousness" of God really begin? In World councils? In the nation's Congress? In the legislative halls of states or cities? For righteousness to be present in an effective way, it must begin, not in some spectacular way, but on the individual level. Men and women: young and old, must first "yield themselves as instruments of righteousness" (Romans 6:19) under the direction of Jesus, through the Gospel (Romans 1:16 - 17; Romans 6:1 - 23). Of course, Mrs. Wordis Ervin visited her the earthly context will always sister and husband Mr. and be imperfect, but the presence of righteousness on the earth has never failed to enrich and beautify life and constitutes, in

During the peak recreation season, between March 1st and August 31, hunting will not be permitted. The safety of other recreationists, including children, was our main concern in closing hunting for this period. Hunting will be allowed from September 1st through February. Hunters may use shotguns with shot or longbows with hunting arrows on all but Canyon Lake, which is closed year around to hunting.

Intense use of Corps of Engineers' lake projects has increased rapidly and has generated the need for new regulations. Federal laws, coupled with concern for the preservation of nature, also helped create the need for controlled hunting. Sportsmen will be interested to learn that trapping has been banned. Predator hunting for foxes, bobcats, and coyotes is prohibited. Raccoons and foxes can be taken only with dogs.

Federal regulations on Corps of Engineers' lakes prohibit the discharge of firearms except for hunting. Shooting of firearms in the period closed to hunting will be in violation of our regulat-

Deer and turkey hunters will be admitted to six Corps of Engineers' lakes. Rifles may be used on North Fork Lake at Georgetown and at Whitney Lake. Rifles are permitted on that portion of Belton Lake managed by Fort Hood Hunt Club on the west side of the lake. Rifles are permitted on the TPWD leased area at Town Bluff Dam and B.A. Steinhagen Lake in Jasper County. Shotguns with shot are mandatory at O.C. Fisher Dam and Lake, San Angelo, Texas and at Sam Rayburn Dam and Reservoir.

A GOOD WAY TO PRESERVE VEGETABLES.-This year, try pickling a variety of vegetables, suggests the Texas Department of Agriculture home economist. Pickled Vegetables makes a colorful mixture of cucumbers, onions, celery, carrots, sweet peppers and cauliflower that you'll be proud to serve guests throughout the year.

from the TAP kitchen

Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

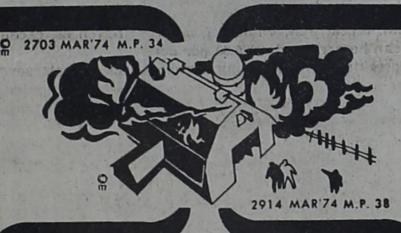

PICKLED VEGETABLES

- 1/2 up prepared mustard
- 4-2/3 cups white vinegar
- 3-1/2 cups sugar 1/2 cup pickling salt
- 4 Tbsp. celery seed 2 Tbsp. mustard seed
- 1/2 tsp. whole cloves
- 1/2 tsp. ground turmeric 1-1/2 tsp. powdered alum
- 4 lbs. pickling cucumbers, cut into chunks
- 2 lbs. small onions, peeled and quartered 1 qt. (1/2 inch) celery pieces
- 2 cups (% inch) carrot pieces
- 2 cups chopped red or green
- sweet peppers (or combination) 2 cups cauliflower flowerets

In a saucepan, blend prepared mustard with about ¼ cup vinegar. Stir in remaining vinegar, sugar and next six ingredients. Heat to boiling. Add vegetables; heat just to boiling. Simmer while quickly packing one clean, hot jar at a time. Fill to within 1/2 inch of top, making sure vinegar solution covers vegetables. Cap each jar immediately. Process five minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: 9 to 10 pints.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

How to Avoid Pickling Problems

AUSTIN -- Commercially prepared pickles are convenient, but home canned pickles are highly prized for their fresh, delicious taste and crisp texture.

Texas cucumbers are doing well, thanks to spring rains, and they should be plentiful for cooks who want to "put by" their own pickles.

The Texas Department of Agriculture home economist says that it is important to learn to distinguish between spoiled pickles, which should not be eaten, and those which are unattractive but still edible. She points out that cooks should learn to check pickles (and other canned foods) for the following signs of spoilage: broken seal; seepage around a seal; mold in the contents or around the seal or on the underside of the lid; bubbles in the contents; spurting liquid as the jar is opened; mushy or slippery pickles; cloudy or yeasty liquid; and off-odor, disagreeable smell or musty smell.

Canned foods exhibiting any of the above signs should be destroyed so that neither people nor animals can eat them. The jars and closures should be washed in hot soapy water and then boiled for 15 minutes in clean

If jars have good seals and there are no signs of spoilage but the pickles are hollow, shriveled, dark, or bleached, they are still edible.

Hollow pickles can result if more than 24 hours elapsed between the time the cucumbers were picked and the time they were pickled.

Cucumbers that developed imperfectly on the vine can also cause hollow pickles; these may be culled out

when washing the cucumbers

since they float in water. Shriveled pickles may be caused by too-hard water, or by too fast cooking in a sugar-vinegar solution, or by putting cucumbers into a salt, vinegar or sugar solution that is too strong to be absorbed gradually.

by iron in hard water or by loose ground spices. Bleached-out pickles sometimes are caused by exposure to light during storage.

Dark pickles are caused

LITTLE TOWN

I like to live in a little town Where the trees meet across the street.

Where you wave your hand and say "Hello" To everyone you meet.

I like to stand for a moment Outside the grocery store And listen to the friendly

For life in interwoven With the friends we learn to
