Many of you read an article in the Satevepost of June 2 written by Dr. Walter M. Lifton and entitled "Will College Be Wasted on Your Child?" Dr. Lifton said, in gist, that a college education is not a guarantee of success and that in a great percentage of cases the time and expense of securing a college degree is wasted. What we need he suggests, is more Indians and fewer chiefs. Over-ambitious parents who propel their children through a college education for the "prestige" of a degree and a "college-type" job, are more than often doing them and the nation a grave injustice, he writes. "Because we have forgotten about the host of occupations that are going unfilled, we face dangerous shortages of skilled manpower. There are openings today for 25,000 machinists, electronics technicians, tool and die workers and machine operators. We have a surplus of people who can design rockets and a shortage of people who can build them."

There is at least the suggestion of an answer to the question of why we have had such a large incidence of rocket failures due to malfunctions. Maybe we don't have enough skilled technicians to do a good building job.

But whatever the reason, Dr. Lifton said a mouthful when he warned of the neglect of technical career opportunities and its consequences.

One of the most neglected fields of individual enterprise is the service industries. Any householder who has struggled with plumbing problems, with television malfunctions and other electronic or mechanical grievances while waiting for a technician to become available won't be hard to convince of that.

Good service to follow appliances sold is not merely an effective salesman, it is a community essential in all fields. A town which does not have conscientious, able and dedicated service men and women, technicians capable of meeting the emergencies and functional demands of its machine equipment, is a community sorely lacking in an absolutely indispensable resource. The problem of buying a machine is not nearly so great, or even so important, as the problem of keeping it run.

Faculty of Schools Is Announced

There will be few changes in the faculty of the Rising Star school system for the next term beginning Tuesday, September 4, according to the official list just released by Supt. Sam Jones.

Two new members will be added and a former member of the high school faculty, on leave for military duty, will return.

The new members are Frank Gray, who will teach science — a full-time course under new State requirements — and serve as assistant coach, and Felton Carr, former bandmaster, who will be a cooperative teacher dividing time between Rising Star and Scranton high schools.

The returning faculty member is Weldon Hill, coach of the Wildcat athletic teams, high school commercial teacher and teacher of driver's education.

The other members of the faculty are:

High school — Ray Nunnally, principal and teacher of social studies; Mrs. Mary A. Claborn, English; Horace L. Geyer, Agriculture; Lloyd Gonzales, high school band and elementary school music; Mrs. Billie Nowlin, home economics.

Elementary school — Edward Watkins, principal and math in 6, 7 and 8 grades; Mrs. Madolyn Sone, first grade; Mrs. Joyce Geyer, second grade; Mrs. Lois Ferrell, third grade; Mrs. Betty Jo Fisher, fourth grade; Mrs. Irene Vermillion, fifth grade; Mrs. Dorothy Shook, sixth grade and social studies in 6, 1 and 8 grades; Miss Alice Wheeler, English in 6, 7 and 8 grades.

Repainting of the interior of the High School was under way this week and repairs and some repainting were being done at the Elementary school building.

Pfc Rubin Myers Is Serving in Hawaii

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, HAWAII (AHTNC) — Army PFC Rubin D. Myers, 18, son of Mrs. Ruby Tuchstone, Star Route 2, Rising Star, Texas, recently participated with other personnel from the 25th Division's 2nd Battle Group, 35th Infantry, in Army training tests in Hawaii.

During the tests, Myers' unit, with tank and artillery support, engaged in tactical exercises designed to evaluate the combat readiness of his unit.

Myers, a member of the infantry's Headquarters Company, entered the Army in March 1961 and arrived in Hawaii the following August. He completed basic training at Fort Hood.

Myers attended Lexington High School.

Installation of OES Officers

Development Corporation Nears Chartering Stage

The Rising Star Development Corporation, launched at a meeting of some 20 citizens and business men Tuesday night of last week, was near reality Tuesday of this week.

Stock subscriptions already reported to the central committee of temporary directors, were within a few hundred dollars of the initial goal, members of the chamber of commerce were told Tuesday noon at the Elite Cafe. It was regarded as certain that subscriptions made and not yet reported would carry the total well over the $10,000 capital stock sales set as the minimum for the activation of the corporation.

"But we are not going to stop there," said President James Rutherford of the Chamber of Commerce. "We are going to push this thing. We are going to make it as big as the people of Rising Star and area want to make it. We are going to give everybody a chance. The broader the participation and support we have the better, and the more money we have the more projects we can undertake."

A report on the initial steps toward organization of the corporation at the meeting last week was made by Charles Rutherford.

The corporation will make application to the State of Texas for a charter as soon as the minimum stock is sold and after the charter is issued the stockholders will elect permanent directors and officers who will manage the organization. Projects will be chosen for their need and feasibility and loans sought from appropriate government agencies and perhaps private lending agencies to help finance these projects.

Stockholders will be asked to make suggestions of projects which will be beneficial to the community, and a number of suggestions have already been made.

Sale of the stock is in the hands of the temporary directors who are Cecil Shults, Ed Kizer, Charles Rutherford, James Rutherford, C. R. Tyler, J. D. (Skeet) Clark and George Steel.

At noon Tuesday the following subscriptions had been reported:

L. J. Collins, $200; John D. Clark, $500; Roy Hickman, $100; O. R. Shults, $200; George Hill, $100; Joe Fraley, $100; C. R. Tyler, $500; Lee Hughes, $100; J. A. Rutherford, $100; B. A. Butler, $200; Wayne C. Hill, $100; Lanham Brown, $100; Chas. D. Ballew, $100; H. H. Frye, $100; (Continued on page five)

New Minister To Methodist Church Sunday

The Rising Star First Methodist Church will welcome a new minister Sunday.

He is the Rev. Milton Slayden who comes to the local church from a Waco charge.

He will follow the Rev. D. L. Barnes who retired from the ministry at the end of the conference year. Rev. Mr. Barnes had served the church for one year.

A Rising Star minister, the Rev. W. C. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Crawford and who entered the ministry two years ago, received a new appointment at the Central Texas Conference which ended in Fort Worth Friday of last week. He was moved from his first pastorate — the Putnam-Scranton circuit — to become pastor of Wesley Methodist Church in Cisco.

Other ministerial appointments in the area included: May, Rev. Ross Grace, re-appointment; Cross Plains, the Rev. C. J. McAfee, re-appointment; Carbon-Flatwoods, the Rev. Norris J. Pritchard; Cisco First Church, the Rev. G. W. French, Jr.

Rev. Allen A. Peacock, Cisco district superintendent for the past six years, was assigned to the pastorate of the Central Methodist Church in Fort Worth.

The new district superintendent is Dr. S. Wayne Reynolds, former pastor of the First Methodist Church at Weatherford.

Visitors in the homes of Era Witt and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Witt last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Richey of Brownwood, Aubrey Richey of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Seeber and girls of Glenville, Va. and Mrs. Bill Hicks and children of Midland, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bowman and daughter, Tommie Kay, of Odessa spent last week with Mrs. June Harris and children. Mrs. Bowman is a niece of Mrs. Harris.

Pfc and Mrs. Ronald Alford and Deann are home on a 10-day leave from Columbus, Ga., to visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Alford and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Starks.

Rainfall Totals 4 Inches Since June 1

The oddities of west Texas weather have been demonstrated in current weeks, and not altogether unfavorably for Rising Star area farmers and stockmen. A May almost as rainless as the moon — though normally a month of ample moisture — has been followed by a June very nearly as persistently precipitative as the rain forests of the Amazon.

It has been a change accompanied by tornadoes, hail and destructive winds which brought serious damage to areas of the Rising Star and May territories, although the immediate Rising Star area has generally escaped any bad effects.

Since the first of June the city gauge has recorded total precipitation of about four inches, all of it having fallen in a most beneficial way.

Ample moisture has been received to put the soil in excellent condition for peanut planting, and to replenish supplies of stock water which had fallen dangerously low.

Pastures are in fine condition. Small grain, which was in the harvest stage, has suffered some damage, but as a general rule the yield of grain has been very short due to the prolonged dry weather of the winter and spring.

Driver Hurt When Big Truck Plunges From Highway 36

William Earl Landers, 33, of 10821 Stover, Genoa, Texas, a Houston suburb, driver for Ryder Tank Lines, Houston, was in Rising Star Hospital Tuesday with serious multiple cuts and bruises after being thrown from the cab of his truck when it left Highway 36 at a high embankment west of Rising Star Monday night.

His condition was satisfactory, the hospital said. He suffered serious cuts about the head, chest and legs, but so far as could be determined, there were no internal injuries or fractures other than one of a minor character, the hospital said.

The accident occurred shortly after 11 p.m. Monday and Landers was brought to the hospital by Higginbotham ambulance at 11:40 where he was given emergency treatment.

The truck, consisting of a tractor and a large pressure type trailer used for hauling compressed gases, petroleum products, etc., left the highway at a point about two and a half miles west of Rising Star, plunged down a high embankment and into a pecan orchard. The truck remained upright, but the trailer appeared to have rolled over at least once or twice. It came to rest on its side and separated from the trailer.

Landers was flung from the cab of the tractor. Many of his injuries seemed to have occurred in contact with the ground.

A Program For Our Town!

Citizens of Rising Star and the Rising Star area are being invited to join in a bold and imaginative attack upon the problem of the continued growth and prosperity of their community.

It is a heartening fact that the response has been good. There is a general recognition of the imperative need, and a general willingness to meet the issue with cash and confidence.

It is a business program, financially sound, and insured by both the judgment of successful business men and the thorough appraisals and necessary approval of lending agencies which exact appropriate interest and process only those projects which can amortize their costs in operating income.

It is the same kind of program which built Kizer Telephone Company from a handful of ringer-operated telephones into automatic dialing system of 1,700 stations that is paying its way while providing three communities with the ultimate in modern communication service.

It is no secret that the small community, and particularly the small agricultural community, is being challenged in its very life. Moreover, it is in a very poor way for any help that it does not provide for itself. In this issue of the Record there is a page advertisement entitled "Operation Bootstrap." It explains a plan by which Rising Star can help itself toward a future of growth and continued prosperity.

We believe it is one of the most important and promising projects undertaken in the history of Rising Star. It offers the advantage of drawing all community effort into one common focus; it deserves the support of every person who is interested in the stability of property and business values and the social and cultural interests of this community.

It has been a change accompanied by tornadoes, hail and destructive winds which brought serious damage to areas of the Rising Star and May territories, although the immediate Rising Star area has generally escaped any bad effects.

Since the first of June the city gauge has recorded total precipitation of about four inches, all of it having fallen in a most beneficial way.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

PARENTAL CONSENT NEEDED FOR CHILD'S MEDICAL CARE.

It's a good idea to give written consent for necessary medical care if your child leaves home for a visit or a camping trip, or if you plan to be away for any length of time.

For example, a summer camp nurse may bring a boy into a hospital with an acute case of appendicitis. But the doctor may well hesitate to go ahead and operate without the parent's consent.

Is the doctor arbitrary, and is such permission just a legal technicality? No, he is well within his rights, though he may give first aid — but only for emergency treatment where a child's health or life may be at stake. He is unlikely to put off follow-up care until he can reach the child's parent. A relative or baby sitter generally cannot give consent for a child's treatment.

Even an adult must request treatment and grant consent to medical care on his own before a doctor can give it to him. Children cannot do this.

By going to your doctor you show your willingness and consent to accept his treatment. Your consent is assumed also when you ask for a house call by the doctor, or if as a result of an accident you come to a hospital for emergency treatment. If you are unconscious, the doctor may well give you emergency care, yet later he should get your consent to further treatment.

Minors cannot consent to medical treatment, and except in dire emergencies their parents or guardians must give it for them.

The consent should not be broadly or loosely phrased, but should be as specific as circumstances permit.

The principal reason for having the consent in writing is to avoid misunderstandings. It is a protection both to the patient and physician.

Through the Editor's Specs

I have often wondered if it would prove a profitable business for some enterprising young man, with a good knowledge of lawn culture, landscaping and horticulture, to invest in the necessary high production equipment and develop a contract clientele in that field. Most of us think of lawn care only in terms of mowing and trimming. At any rate it could be a relief from the necessity of running down someone to push a mower every time the grass gets hairy — or doing it yourself, mostly in a poor fashion.

One reason for the avoidance of technical skills as a means of livelihood may be that a degrading thought still clings to the idea of work with the hands. Nothing could be sillier. Back in times when muscle power was about the only machine, and human slavery, legalized or de facto, was the rule there was at least a social reason for this notion. But today's technician requires a skill and a knowledge often far above a level equated with the average college degree. The rewards he gains, both financially and culturally, compare very favorably with those available in the college type job, while the sense of security and belonging inherent in the possession of a needed skill and the satisfactions of using that skill are certainly as great.

An education, whatever kind it may be, does not make a person; it can only bring out what is in him or her.

But for the cancer they admit in our vegetating system of federal paternalism, some of the antics going on in the Billy Sol Estes case would be amusing. A lot of people are doing a lot of running, but no one seems anxious to catch a rabbit that may turn out to be a wildcat in a very bad mood, indeed.

You can look for two objectives. One, of course, is concealment; the other is political advantage. These seem to be the real motives. No one, new frontiersman or old guard, is going to poke a twisting stick into a dark hole until he's mighty sure what sort of an animal he's going to bring out. It's simply too much to ask of any political party or faction to love the naked truth at the cost of its own ambitions. Justice is a beautiful thing, when she serves our own ends.

What is going on down at Franklin in the case of the exhumed "murder or suicide" case will probably prove as futile as a clabber-brained ex-pug's sessions of shadow boxing. It may result in some improvement of our system of certifying unattended deaths — which certainly is due for revision — but the fact is you can get an expert to prove almost anything you want to establish. If the suggestions evolved from the controversy have any real basis, it seems quite certain that much more than our outmoded inquest procedure is in need of reform.

Shortly after the Estes case broke, I wrote that I regarded it as the pathological product of a diseased system. I also said I hoped it could be worked out with the least damage to our economy and the least hurt to the thousands of innocent people directly or indirectly affected.

The authorities seemed to be moving to that end in the appointment of a receiver with full charge of the tottering empire and authority to manage it under the guiding eye of the court. There was prospect, with continued income from government grain storage, that some salvaging formula could eventually be carried out.

Now comes the government — and despite the fact that it must take as much responsibility for the system as Estes is blamed for taking advantage of it — and orders all grain removed from the Estes reservoirs.

Such belated and pious concern for the sensibilities of certain voters — a concern which will add several million more dollars to the national debt won't save a dime in storage costs — is a wellnigh fatal blow to any hope of saving something from the fiasco.

Seems as clever as locking the barn door to recover a stolen horse.

Local Contractor Designs Special Brush Rake To Clear Land For Pecans

A special brush rake designed by Glen Hubbard, Rising Star conservation contractor, and successfully used to clear 500 acres of blackjack and post oak brush on the A. B. Foster ranch, northwest of Rising Star, is the subject of an article in the Texas Sheep and Goat Raiser magazine.

"On the A. B. Foster ranch near Rising Star, Texas, 500 acres of blackjack and post oak were producing nothing but trouble. To convert the waste lands into a productive pecan orchard, ranch management turned to Glen Hubbard, veteran conservation contractor in the Central Texas area. An analysis of the land by Hubbard, who has studied every phase of land clearing, brush control and land renovation, determined that much of the growth could be cleared with a rake. However, to keep costs low, maximum raking production would be necessary.

Colony Reunion To Be Held At Ranger June 17

RANGER — The annual Colony Reunion will be held in Ranger on June 17 in the CIO Union Hall located on Highway 80 east. Last year's reunion attracted 169 former residents and students of the Colony Community.

Efforts are being made by the reunion committee to locate former teachers at the Colony School, students and residents of the community. Approximately 350 letters have been mailed to ex-residents and students inviting them to attend the reunion. Mrs. Mae Isabell, secretary-treasurer of the reunion committee said other addresses are being sought so that letters may be sent inviting others to the reunion.

The committee is also seeking information for the year 1908 on the old Colony School that was located near the Colony Cemetery. It is known that Mr. Eric Bruce taught school during that period, but very little is known of the students of that time. Mrs. Isabell said that if information for that period is known by anyone, she would appreciate hearing from them.

A number of former teachers of the school have indicated that they will attend this year's reunion. During the past five years, ex-students and residents of Colony have attended the reunion from far away as California, New York, Illinois, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma, as well as from every section of Texas.

President of the Colony Reunion Association is Mr. Wesley Poyner and vice president is Mrs. Loretta Weaver. Both reside in Ranger.

"Working with Harlan Owen, range specialist at Treanor Equipment Company, a nearby Caterpillar dealer, Hubbard designed a special ten-tooth rake, using the basic components of the Fleco MA Rake. Mounted on a Cat D8 Series H Tractor, equipped with hydraulic controls, the rake could clear a 16-foot swath through the tangled growth.

"A recent visit to the Foster ranch proved that Glen Hubbard knew what he was doing. The special 16-foot wide Fleco MA Rake was doing an outstanding job. Hourly raking production was greatly increased, while a better clearing and raking job was being done.

"Hubbard reports, 'I think this Rake does a perfect job, even in this deep sand. The 16-foot width fits our D8H just fine. We can rake about two acres an hour, even in the heavier timber. I've always had a rake like this in mind and feel it's just the thing for our type of clearing.'

"Hubbard has acquired a spread of five D8s, one D7 and a D6 Tractor, a Fleco Root Plow, cleaning chain, a deep plow, a rolling chopper and other specialized tools. With this equipment and the experience of fifteen years as a conservation contractor, Hubbard is both equipped and qualified to handle any Texas-sized task — including clearing for a nut orchard!"

Turkey Growers Urged To Vote In Referendum

COLLEGE STATION — Eligible Texas turkey growers are urged to vote in the upcoming referendum on the proposed national turkey marketing order. Votes may be cast between the dates of June 18-22.

Though there are unanswered questions, the basic issues of the order are fairly clear, believes F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. The outcome of the referendum, he adds, can have a great influence over production, both in method and volume.

The referendum may be approved if two-thirds of the producers voting favor it, or if those voting favorably handled two-thirds of the total turkey marketings in 1961, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service announced.

Growers who have not certified their volume vote with their ASCS office should do so immediately. Though growers may do this as late as the voting period, Beanblossom explains that by doing it in advance of the referendum, it will allow all volume votes to be certified properly before the voting.

The specialist urges all growers who want more information on the referendum to contact their local ASCS office at an early date.

Salt Tank and Crocker Reunion July 7-8

Early Spraying Necessary For Bagworm Control

COLLEGE STATION — Bagworms are now occurring in rather large numbers on trees and other plants in many parts of the state. This insect is a general feeder and can cause serious damage to certain trees, especially evergreens, points out C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

At this time, the worms are small and can be successfully controlled by proper spraying or dusting of the plants with insecticides. It is important to apply chemicals early enough to control the worms before they become too large and cause serious damage, adds Garner.

He suggests a check of all plants around the home, especially evergreens for the spindle-shaped sacks which may be hanging from the twigs, leaves and branches.

The following insecticides are recommended for bagworm control, Malathion (50 per cent emulsifiable concentrate 1 to 1½ ounces per 5 gallons water), Toxaphene (60 per cent emulsifiable concentrate, 2½ ounces per 5 gallons water), or lead arsenate (2½ to 3 ounces per 5 gallons water).

In addition to these materials there are several brands of combination sprays (two or more insecticides combined together) on the market which will give good control of bagworms as well as other pests. One of the common combination sprays contains malathion plus DDT. Combination sprays and other insecticides can be purchased from any store or business establishment which handles household or agricultural chemicals, says the entomologist.

Sprays are preferred over dusts and the label instructions should be followed for mixing and using insecticides, cautions Garner.

Several types of hand sprayers are available which can be used for applying the sprays. The common types are the compressed air sprayers, trombone sprayers and garden hose attachment sprayers.

Insecticides are poisons and should be handled with caution. Follow safety directions listed on the label and keep children and pets out of the treated area. After spraying, wash the grass

Continued Cooperation In Screwworm Program Necessary Says County Agent

Are they really screwworms? The only sure way to identify a screwworm is to collect maggots for microscopic examination by a specialist. This is why livestock producers are asked to collect worms from every infested animal.

Success of the eradication program will depend, in part, on positive identification of as many cases as possible. These records are vital in the day-by-day execution of the program. Cooperation in Eatland county to date has been excellent, but County Agent, J. M. Cooper, also stressed the importance of continued cooperation.

Although the largest number of wounds infested with maggots are infested by those of the true screwworm, other kinds of maggots may be involved. This has been confusing to some producers.

The true screwworm is only one of a large group of flies, most of which are referred to as common blow flies. However, screwworm maggots infest only the wounds of living warm-blooded animals.

Some of the maggots infesting wounds may be maggots which breed primarily in carcasses. When they are found in living animals, carcass-breeding maggots are usually found feeding on soil, wool or in wounds containing decaying blood and tissue.

The true screwworm is distinguished from common blow fly maggots by two dark parallel air tubes which are readily visible in the full-grown maggots of the screwworm but are scarcely visible in the maggots of other blow flies. Screwworms have a pinkish tinge when they have completed feeding and are about ready to leave the wound. Most common blow fly maggots have white, yellow or gray colors.

However, microscopic examination by a specialist is the only sure means of identification. Producers should continue to collect 10 or more worms from deep in each wound and take them to their county agent, vocational agricultural teacher or local livestock inspector.

"Operation Bootstrap"

This is a Message - and an Invitation - To Every Person in the Rising Star Area, a Message which affects the Property Values, the Business and the Job Stability of Every Individual!

It Involves the Future of Our Community

The small town, you hear it said, is on the way out.

Good roads, fast transportation, better community services and mass merchandizing methods, they say, are drawing trade and population to the larger centers, making it harder and harder for the small town merchant to compete and destroying job opportunities in the smaller communities.

To a great degree this is true. We think it has always been true. But there is one evident fact which is most often overlooked:

SOME of the smaller communities are not only surviving the trend — they are Growing and Prospering. Why?

In nearly every case it is a community which has faced up to the facts and adjusted itself to changing conditions and new opportunities. It has identified its needs, analyzed its resources, made a plan and helped itself. Its evident faith in itself stimulated local enthusiasm and effort, and attracted new investments, new business and new citizens.

Rising Star, in common with many other small towns is at an economic cross roads. It is not the first time; there have been crises of a similar nature in the past, moments when its future was at stake. And this won't be the last time — not unless we let it become so!

We have a choice of two alternatives. There is no middle ground; we cannot be neutral in this battle to survive and grow. At stake is not merely the existence of our community. The security of every job, the value of every piece of property, the soundness of every investment, the success of every single business is affected. Even the future of our children is involved.

What we choose to do about the question before us is not simply a community problem. It is a PERSONAL problem. It is your problem.

You can run away, of course. Each of us can salvage what he can and go elsewhere. But wherever we go and whatever we do, the same qualities of faith, investment and work will be demanded of us. What we expend in the difficult and often discouraging process of becoming established in a new place can most often yield magnificent results when invested in the opportunities that lie under our noses.

WE BELIEVE THAT RISING STAR IS IN A MOST FORTUNATE LOCATION TO GROW AND PROSPER.

It has obvious advantages as a community of homes and public services and as trading center. But we must make it so.

Some fundamental changes have been taking place during the past two decades in its population characteristics and economic support. But, on the other hand, there have been fundamental changes of a general character — in population trends, economic resources and rural-urban organization — which offer opportunities for communities like ours to attract and hold new citizens, new industry and new business.

For one thing, the population of Texas is growing rapidly. It is destined to grow even more rapidly in the next few years as more and more people look to this State as one of the new frontiers of opportunity.

We believe our community has a wonderful chance to get its share of this new growth. But it will do so ONLY IF IT GETS THE SPARK.

We propose, with your help, to furnish that spark — the initial incentive, the decisive push which will get our community off dead center and moving.

We propose to do it with only a small investment on the part of each person, but an investment which, in the sum, will make it possible to secure certain very essential institutions and industries. It will give us a tremendous boost in morale and, by demonstrating our own faith in our area, have a most attractive influence upon other people who are looking for places to invest and live.

WE CALL IT "OPERATION BOOTSTRAP". That is exactly what it is — an operation to Help Ourselves!

Here is how it works:

A corporation is being formed with a total authorized capital of 1,000 shares of stock at $100 par value. It is proposed to sell 100 shares of this stock at first, and when this amount is sold and the money on hand, to apply for a charter under Texas law. The corporation will be known as Rising Star Development Corp.

When the charter has been issued, the stockholders will elect a permanent board of directors who will name the officers and operate the corporation. Decisions on what projects to undertake will be made with the help of the stockholders who are asked to make suggestions as to what they consider of most importance to the future and prosperity of the community and area.

Most of the financing for approved projects and industries can be obtained from government lending agencies set up to help in rural development, small business and industry promotion and community improvement. Interest rates are favorable and long terms are available. Once a project is built, such as a motor court, or an industry established, such as a peanut drying or processing plant, the corporation may either operate the business itself or sell or lease it.

By selling, the corporation will be able to recover its initial capital and invest it in new enterprises so that the local capital becomes a revolving fund. Other stock of the corporation may be sold to provide additional funds for development purposes, if needed.

What the corporation can do, any individual with good credit and a sound business record, can do. But it has not been possible to induce individuals to put up the large amounts of capital that are required. By selling stock in comparatively small denominations to a large number of people interested in their town and their own welfare, the corporation can provide the necessary local funds.

We want to make it absolutely clear that the sale of stock in the Rising Star Development Corporation is NOT a contribution. It is an investment. It is in fact, a DOUBLE investment, offering returns not only in dividends on the stock itself, but in a larger sense on the increase in community values and assets which affect the worth of all property and businesses in the town.

In order to secure financing, a project must meet careful tests of soundness, good management and need. It must contribute to the community welfare.

We are putting our money into this project. We believe it is the most constructive program that has been undertaken in our community in many years. We believe it is the answer to the question of our community future, to the question of the continued value of the business or the job and the property of each of us. It is a sound program.

But to be most effective, it must be a community-wide program. It needs you! Won't you join us?

Don't wait to be seen, if you have not already been contacted. Ask one of the committee for information. Help lift on the bootstrap!

Good Crowd, Good Show For Second Rodeo of Season

The second rodeo of the 1962 Rising Star Roping Club season was a good show witnessed by a good crowd despite the unfavorable weather last Friday night.

In the teenage calf riding event, four youngsters from May out on a good show. They were Fred and Danny Fisher; Jerry Lindley and Paul Moore. No winners were declared. The youngsters rode 400-pound calves.

Horace Gibbs took first place in the calf roping event with a remarkable time of 10.1 seconds. Second was Bill Guest with 12.9 seconds and third, Jay Stoker with 13.3 seconds.

Bill Hargrove took first in the bull riding and Lonnie Boggs was second.

The jackpot roping event likewise produced some stirring competition, with Connie Gibbs and his son, Connie Mack Gibbs, rating one and two with times, respectively, of 10.3 and 10.4 seconds. Frank Killough and Johnny Burris, tied for third place with a flat 12 seconds each. The next rodeo will be held at 8 p.m. Friday night of this week.

Milk Has Played Major Role In History of Man

COLLEGE STATION — The Story of Milk goes back to the beginning of civilization. Pre-historic drawings, unearthed in the Sahara Desert and dating back 8,000 or more years, feature picture-stories of cattle. A 5,000 year-old mosaic frieze, found in an ancient temple near Babylon depicts a dairy scene showing milk containers and strainers.

Down through the years, emphasizes A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, milk has continued to be a food of primary importance in the diet. The Bible makes references to milk and even describes the promised land as one of "milk and honey." Marco Polo noted in his early travels that the Tartars credited much of their strength and endurance to milk.

The history of dairying in America pre-dates that of the United States as a nation. Meekma points out that the first dairy cows landed at Jamestown in 1611 and helped bring an end to a terrifying period of starvation. Still later, as the pioneers moved westward, nearly every covered wagon was accompanied by a cow, literally, the family's "food factory" on the move.

For many years now, June has been observed in America as Dairy Month. Meekma says it's the time of the year when the nation recognizes the vital contributions the dairy industry makes to the nation's economy. And it is also, he adds, the month when the industry goes all-out to tell its story and encourage greater use of its products.

Presently, Meekma adds that the milk industry is as modern and highly technical as any American industry. Modern dairy herds barely resemble the cattle of the pioneers. They are much more productive and more scientifically cared for than the herds of only a few decades ago.

There have also been great changes in the processing and distributing of the product. Milk today is pasteurized, often homogenized, often fortified with vitamin D, sealed in sanitary containers and, in general, improved beyond the fondest dreams of pioneer American dairy farmers. It is a food, concludes Meekma, which provides about 28 percent of our daily nutritional needs for approximately 19 percent of our food dollar.

Former Rising Star Boy Wins Band Honor

Larry Crump, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crump of Mineral Wells was one of four Mineral Wells Junior High School band members to receive a "Best Band Member" medal at the school's Awards Day ceremonies recently.

Larry, who played first chair flute in the band, received his first two years of music training under the direction of Miss Peggy Tate and Lloyd Gonzales in the Rising Star Band.

Earlier this year Larry was presented a plaque as the Optimist Club Boy of the Month. The Optimist Club selects nine boys (one for each school month) for this honor.

Larry's father was principal and coach of the Rising Star grade school before moving to Mineral Wells where next September he will begin his fourth year as teacher and coach. His track team won the Peeewe League championship this year and his basketball teams have lost only one game in three years in the League.

Larry will be a freshman in the Mineral Wells High School this year.

4-H Scholarships Offered To Six Texas Ag Students

Six 4-H scholarships that have to do with conservation are being offered again this year by the Cooperative Extension Service through the National 4-H Service Committee of Chicago and the scholarship sponsors.

Four are for $1,600 each and are the largest college scholarships offered in the national 4-H award programs. They will be provided for the sixth straight year by Homelite, a Division of Traxtron Inc. of Port Chester, N. Y.

Present or former 4-H Club members are eligible to apply if they are college freshmen planning to major or minor in forestry.

The other two scholarships for $800 each, are identified as crop protection - crop production. They will be given for the sixth year by California Chemical Company, Ortho Division, San Francisco.

To qualify, students must be juniors in a college of agriculture, majoring for two years in one or more of the following: agronomy, soils, entomology, plant pathology or horticulture (vegetable or fruit).

A forestry major now completing his first year at Texas A&M College last fall won the $1,600 forestry scholarship. He is Ronald C. Thompson, 19, who has spent more than eight years in 4-H Club work. Forestry has been his favorite project which he was able to carry out successfully on his parents' farm near Texarkana, Bowie county. He has won previous 4-H awards for his work in forestry.

Applicants for the 1962 scholarships should apply through the state 4-H Club leader or their county extension agent. Further information also is available from these sources.

Father's Day Is Also "Dennis" Day In Rising Star As Birthday Celebrated

Sunday, June 17, will be a "D Day" at Rising Star. Everyone has a birthday on some designated spot on the calendar each year, but not many are celebrated by everyone across the nation. Sunday is "Father's Day", and also the 62nd birthday for Dennis Clark.

Born June 17, 1900, Dennis has spent all of his 62 years amidst the dear folk and gentle people of his home town.

For more than 30 years he has been employed by Agnew's, driving thousands of miles with loads of feed and cattle. Never once has he had so much as a minor accident, which should qualify him for a "Safe Driving Award". Dennis is also engaged in his own cattle business.

As a young man, he was head of a family of eight, due to the death of his father. On Oct. 9, 1918, he married the former Miss Sally Ethel Evans, and they raise four sons — H. D. of Kermit; Carlton of Lovington, N. M.; Homer of Weatherford, and Virgil of Midkiff. They have 10 grandchildren.

With a quite sense of humor, Dennis enjoys playing dominos, but most favorite of his pleasures is eating home made ice cream, for which he claims the championship.

Sunday will be celebrated deferring this particular honor—cake and ice cream, and in wishing Dennis a very happy birthday and many more to come.
