The nomination of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson for the vice-presidency by the democratic national convention at Los Angeles was a shrewd move by the Kennedy strategists.

It appears on reflection to have also been a shrewd move by the Texan.

For the benefit of the Kennedy ticket, it will have an effect in uniting the ultra-liberal northern and eastern wing of the party with the southern bloc. To what degree it remains to be seen. For Sen. Johnson, its political wisdom lies in the position in which it will place the Texan four or eight years from now.

It is true that Johnson stands to lose a great deal of prestige along with the power he wielded as majority leader of the U. S. Senate. That was inevitable. Henceforth democratic legislative strategy will be directed by the youthful Kennedy to whom Johnson must defer.

It is also true that as vice-president Johnson would be boxed into a position of political futility. His political influence and authority are needed to deliver the southern bloc to the Kennedy ticket. But it can be doubted that his abilities as a statesman would be much in demand in shaping and directing the policies of a Kennedy administration.

There is the further consideration that Senator Johnson was in a bind. He could not well refuse the nomination and maintain an appearance of loyalty to his party. His political future was at stake. He had been inundated by the Kennedy tide. It was join up or become a has-been.

His only chance to gain a political advantage from the steam-roller that flattened him along with all other opposition to the Kennedy nomination was to step into the second position on the ticket. That places him in a favorable position four or eight years from now when the Kennedy cause has fizzled or run its course.

From the immediate view one can have every sympathy for the man who has been given the job of winning southern support for the Kennedy ticket. Can he do it? It will be a supreme test of the Johnson leadership and influence; and his success in doing it would enhance his prestige enormously. But win or lose in that ordeal, Johnson has protected his future in the party, avoided sectional limitations which have frustrated so much able southern talent, and placed himself in the most favorable position to receive a nomination four or eight years hence. It was the best he could salvage from his earlier defeat, but who can say that the adroit Texan has not made the Kennedy machine work for him?

Watching the democratic national convention struggle in the coils of a Tammany machine expanded to national proportions was a study in frustration. How little voice, indeed, has the individual American citizen in the selection of those among whom he must choose for national leadership!

With the help of the big city machines and the pressures of other powerful organizations allied with the Kennedy ideals and interests, the Massachusetts senator was able to maneuver and strong arm his way to the nomination by accumulating such a plurality of nominating votes that frightened politicians scrambled to deliver their reluctant delegations before the bandwagon parade left them behind.

The best insurance against such a rigging of a national democratic convention was the two-thirds rule. By that rule the south was able to counter-balance northern political power. If it had been in effect at Los Angeles last week Kennedy would never have built his total to an impressive point and the delegates would have been freed to nominate a real choice.

Mrs. Roosevelt, weeping, might perhaps have reflected upon the irony of that "new deal" reform.

One outcome of the extensive television coverage may be to expose to the rank and file voters of America the sham, pretense and insincerities of the convention nominating system and to force a revision in the methods by which candidates for the presidency are chosen.

The convention system is a professional politician's institution; it is not representative of the mass of the voters, nor of the party as a whole. It exposes the delegate to pressures, threats and emotionalism at a time when he should be at his sanguine best, free to evaluate and choose without fear or distortion of judgment. It is the end result of a process rooted in political prejudices and indifference. Anyone who attends precinct or county conventions can testify to that fact. They are meaningless in all things except that they limit voter choice.

There is no substitute for the integrity of the secret ballot. It is the only competent insurance that the average voter has to make a choice free of retaliation or pressure. But in the case of our presidential elections it can now be employed only to solemnize a choice already made for him or to choose between two candidates, both of whom may be regarded as incompetent.

Even if Kennedy should be elected this fall, nothing more may be said for the result than that the tactics used in securing the nomination were successful.

General Mills Man to Talk to Young Farmers

The Young Farmers Club will hear James L. Owens, of the General Mills organization, Abilene, at its meeting on August 2 at the High School Ag Building. Mr. Owens will discuss integration of poultry and swine programs.

The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Dan Craig, Ciseo veterinarian, was the speaker for the club's meeting on Tuesday, July 5. He talked on prevention and treatment of brucellosis. His discussion was followed by a question and answer period during which the nine members present sought information on a variety of disease problems in livestock.

Frank Gray is president of the club which is composed of young farmers who have completed their schooling and are now engaged either in full or part-time farming.

All who are interested are invited to attend the meetings.

County Pecan Crop Outlook Is Promising

EASTLAND.—Eastland County pecan growers are anticipating a good pecan crop this year, a survey just completed by County Agent J. M. Cooper reveals.

The survey shows that growers overall expect to harvest 50 percent of the potential crop, which would be a big improvement over last year's small harvest.

Some growers, Cooper found, are anticipating a harvest of as high as 75 percent of potential. The lowest estimate was 10 percent.

Last year disease wiped out most of the crop, but Cooper believes that most trees have escaped disease damage this year.

"It takes moisture and heat for disease to damage pecans," he said, "and we haven't had the moisture."

The agricultural agent mailed out postcards to county growers and most returned the cards. That way he received a good picture of the county pecan situation.

LIVING FACILITIES available to students at the schools of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization are comparable to private schools and convenient to classroom areas. Shown are the cafeteria and a typical student room for the O.C.D.M. Staff College or Chemical-Biological-Radiological Defense School at Battle Creek, Mich. Rooms are $1.50 a night. Students attending O.C.D.M. tuition-free courses under State sponsorship are eligible for partial Federal reimbursement for travel and living expenses. For additional information write to the above schools or to the Western and Eastern Instructor Training Centers at Alameda, Calif., or Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y., respectively. (O.C.D.M. Rodeo Events Full For Two Weeks

Logan Adams of Indian Gap set what is probably a new record in calf roping at the Rising Star Roping Club's Saturday night performance at the rodeo grounds on east Highway 36 when he roped and tied his calf in 10.7 seconds. Tommy Bacon of Rising Star was only about half a second behind with a time of 11.3 seconds in securing his calf while Horace Gibbs of Winters took third place with 13.6 seconds, a good time in anybody's league.

Although the performance last week had been changed from the usual Friday night date to Saturday night to allow the Rising Star Roping Club to attend the Coleman rodeo, the crowd and the number of entries was but little below normal. The rodeos this year have shown a great increase in attendance and income while the quality of the performances has been professional.

Harold Paack of Stephenville took the jack pot roping nightcap with a near record time of his own, completing his chore in 12.4 seconds. Harry Jones and Connie Gibbs tied for second in this event with 13.4 seconds.

In the bronc riding event Horace Boyd of Abilene was first and Donald Schoonemaker of Stamford was second.

Lee Roy Hodges took the goat roping contest with 19.3 seconds and Connie Gibbs was second with 25 seconds.

In the bull riding Richard Hash, Tommie Vines and Sammie Odum finished in order.

Charlene Moore was first in the girls open barrel races and Peggy Tate of Throckmorton was second. Miss Moore was timed in 20 seconds and Miss Tate in 20.2.

Lee Ann Chalk of Rising Star won the boys and girls amateur barrels with 21.7 seconds and Sharon Donham of Rising Star and Jane Paack of Stephenville tied with 23.2 seconds.

The rodeos will be held this week and next on Friday night as originally scheduled. All events were reported full for both evenings.

Spy Story Tops at Pioneer Drive-In

"Man On A String," starring Ernest Borgnine, Kerwin Mathews, Colleen Dewhurst, Alexander Scourby, Glenn Corbett and Vladimir Sokoloff, will be featured at the Pioneer Drive-In Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 31, August 1 and 2.

This picture rates among the top spy stories to have reached the motion picture screen. It presents the almost unbelievable story of an American, a well-known motion picture producer, by the way, who, at constant risk of his life ferreted out Soviet secrets for the U. S. while posing as a spy for the Soviet Union.

Adapted in part by John Kafka and Virginia Shaler from "Ten Years a Counterspy," the book by Boris Morros, it describes with power a series of events which, previously reported in the newspapers, captured the admiration and imagination of the nation.

In furtherance of the plot, there are interesting scenes of life in Berlin and Moscow.

Little League Scattered Showers All-Stars in Bring Relief to Farms District Play

An all-star team of 14 boys and two alternates selected from the four Little League teams which have just completed the season here, will represent Rising Star in a four-city district Little League tournament at Coleman beginning Thursday night.

Two teams from Brownwood, one from Coleman, one from Cross Plains and one from Rising Star will compete for a district title which will send a winner into regional play-offs.

The Rising Star team, coached by Art Fisher, Fred Fisher and Horace Geyer, drew a bye in first round play-offs Thursday night which match two Brownwood teams and the Cross Plains and Coleman teams.

Friday night at 8 o'clock the Rising Star boys will play the winner of the Cross Plains-Coleman game.

Players selected to the all-star team must be 11 or 12, so some good good boys of the four Rising Star teams were not old enough, the coaches said.

All-star players named are Davy Jones, Floy McInerney, Gene Burns, Dick Goldston, Bob Fisher, Fred Fisher, Paul Henry Burns, Harold Butler, Dougerson, Jerry Lindley, Doug Harding and Rex Long. Alter Pittman, Mike Donham, Charles nates are Larry Burns, and Kenny Putman.

The Rising Star Little League ended its season with the Braves and the Indians in a tie for first place. The Indians defeated the Braves 5-2 in the last game to achieve the tie.

More than 60 boys from Rising Star and May took part in the four-team schedule during the summer at the lighted field in the City Park.

36 Eastland County Students at NTSC

EASTLAND.—Eastland County was represented by 36 students at North Texas State College in the school year just ended, the registrar's office has announced.

During the nine-month session, a total of 8,130 different students were enrolled. They came from 211 of the state's 254 counties, from 37 other states, and from 12 foreign nations.

Dallas County again sent the largest number to NTSC, 2,279. Other counties represented by large groups were Denton 890, Tarrant 837, Collin 186, Grayson 166, Cooke 140, Harris 135, McLennan 118, Wichita 118, Ellis 97, Gregg 91, Wise 87, Montague 81, Taylor 78, Galveston 76, Smith 72, Navarro 57, Parker 56, Young 51, and Ector 49.

These record figures reflect the steady increase in enrollment at the college in recent years.

The campus is undergoing a large expansion program to accommodate the growing student body. A physics-mathematics building was opened last fall, and a business administration building and 300-capacity men's dormitory are nearing completion.

Also under construction are an education-home economics building, an additional structure for the School of Music, and two more women's dormitories.

Joyce Drilling Ahead in Patterson Well

Joyce Oil Interests were drilling ahead in their No. 1 Reed Patterson southeast of Rising Star one and a half miles.

The well is located 330 feet from the east line of the farm and is aimed at the Marble Falls from which the Joyce Interests now have several producing wells recently drilled on the Agnew.

Mrs. Bernice White is visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Dora Taylor, and her aunts, Mesdames Elizabeth Williams, Jim Angel, Bess Bowers and other relatives.

Scattered showers brought relief to thirsty crops and pasture land throughout the Rising Star area during the past week. The peanut crop was generally in an excellent condition but feed crops and pas-

Mrs. McClesky Buried Friday At Long Branch

Mrs. Belva Auzle McClesky, 74-year-old Okra housewife who died at the Golden Age Nursing Home in Cisco at 12:10 p.m. Thursday, July 14, was buried in Long Branch cemetery Friday afternoon after services at the Higginbotham Funeral Chapel here at 3 o'clock. The Rev. H. K. Neely, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated and Higginbotham Funeral Home was in charge.

Mrs. McClesky had been in ill health for the past six years. She was a native of Cash County, Texas, where she was born on November 15, 1885. Her husband, David McClesky, a farmer, died in 1953.

She is survived by a son, Sgt. Wilson McClesky of Fort Sill, Okla.; a brother, Fred Milford of Eastland; two sisters, Mrs. Lela Medford and Mrs. Annie Medford of Eastland; 10 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

She was a member of the Baptist church.

Lt. Horton Takes Army Course in Radio Monitoring

Second Lt. Lowrey P. Horton, 39rd Signal Bt'n. Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and a former resident of Rising Star, has just completed a Radiological Monitor Training Course for Instructors at the new Western Instructor Training Center, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Alameda, California.

The Western Instructor Training Center, just recently opened, serves the special purpose of training instructors in non-military defense from local, State and Federal Government officials, industrial leaders and Armed Forces personnel. These trained instructors in Radiological Defense return to their home communities and conduct training, first, within their governmental or industrial organization, and then, for the additional personnel who will be required to augment existing government units. Students attend the Training Center from all States west of the Mississippi. O.C.D.M. headquarters in Washington, D. C. are in the Executive Office of the President.

Generally speaking, eastward and northeastward of Rising Star the country received good rains over the period, but west of Rising Star there were many sections still badly in need of summer moisture.

Monday night and Tuesday morning Rising Star itself and a section northeast of the town received good showers, ranging from .75 of an inch to an inch and a half, according to reports to the Record. The rains did not extend very far immediately north or west, however.

Lone Star to Build Gathering System in Area

Completion of a 12-inch gas line from Gordon, in Palo Pinto County, to the Rising Star area of Eastland and Comanche counties was announced this week by the Lone Star Gas Co. which also said it would soon start work on a gas gathering system in the Rising Star area.

The pipe line will take gas from a 1,320-horsepower compressor station near Okra, northeast of Rising Star, of the Coastal States Gas Producing Co. now under construction. Engines for the compressor plant have been set.

The gathering system will take gas from wells drilled by the Coastal States over a wide section east of Rising Star.

Coastal States has been engaged in extensive development of the gas and oil resources of the area. It just recently completed a Marble Falls discovery three miles northwest of Slipe Springs which has been prorated in the regular field.

The well is the Coastal States No. 1 F. B. Whitlock located in H. F. Williams survey 215.

Daily potential of the well was 148 barrels of 42 gravity oil. Flow was through a 3/4 inch choke with 195 pounds casing and 120 pounds tubing pressures. The well is producing from an open hole at 2,763 to 2,800 feet, pay topped at 2,762 feet.

Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band to Play at VFW Meet

ABILENE.—The Cowboy Band of Hardin-Simmons University will be the official Texas band at the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars in Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22-26.

The Texas VFW has picked the famed band to lead its drive for the election of Ted C. Connell of Killeen as national commander-in-chief.

Connell, 35, is almost certain of election, as the VFW is expected to follow its tradition of naming its senior vice commander to the post of commander-in-chief. He has served as senior vice commander for the past year.

About 45 musicians and specialty performers will make up the Cowboy Band for the Detroit appearances, according to Marion B. McClure, director. Featured twirlers will be Griff O'Neil of Alamo and Lynda Lynch of McAllen, both former national baton twirling champions. The University Girls Trio, made up of Marilyn Myatt, Nancy Stevenson and Barbara accompany the band. Miss Lunsford also is solo vocalist.

In addition, George French of Angleton, bullwhip expert, and Billy Ray Johnson of Clinton, Ark., rope specialist, will perform with the band. While in Detroit, the group will march in the big VFW parade, play for the Dixie Benquet of 12 Southern states, stage numerous impromptu concerts in hotel lobbies and other public places in support of Connell's candidacy, and will escort the new commander-in-chief to the speaker's platform at his election.

The Cowboy Band has performed as the official Texas band at several previous VFW conventions and also has played at Lions and Kiwanis International conventions. It has toured Europe and the major islands of the Atlantic on three occasions.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

U. S. Supreme Court Tops Nation's Court System

The Supreme Court of the United States sits at the pinnacle of the nation's court system. Its justices, as they are properly called, have the final say as to questions concerning rights arising under the U. S. Constitution and as to matters over which the federal courts are given jurisdiction.

The Court sits at Washington, D. C., in a magnificent building located near the Capitol. At present the Chief Justice is Earl Warren while the eight Associate Justices are, in order of their service on the court: Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter, William O. Douglas, Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, William J. Brennan, Jr., Charles Evans Whitaker and Potter Stewart.

The Court holds one regular term each year, commencing on the first Monday in October. The term usually continues until sometime in June. During its course the Court will hear oral arguments on well over a hundred cases and will dispose of many hundreds more without hearing argument.

Certain cases may be appealed automatically. But in most cases it is discretionary as to whether the Court will grant reviews. The seriousness of the legal question, conflicts of interpretation among the lower courts and on some occasions erroneous results will motivate the acceptance of a case for full hearing and argument.

Court Procedure

The general practice is for the Court to hear arguments for two weeks, then recess for two weeks, alternately until near the end of the term. When cases are being argued sessions are held Monday through Friday. On these days precisely at 12 noon, the Marshal cries the opening of court and the black-robed Judges step forth from openings in the velvet drapes behind the judicial bench to assume their duties.

In the usual case each side is given one hour to present its argument. The presentation is frequently interrupted by sharp questions from the bench and the lawyer with a weak point often finds himself seriously embarrassed by cutting remarks from some impatient justice. Argument continues until 2 p.m., when the Chief Justice announces a recess for a half-hour lunch period. Then at 2:30 court resumes and is finally adjourned at 4:30 p.m. With arguments concluded the Court then takes the case under consideration, and prepares the decision and opinion of the Court. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cox and son, Larry, of Morenci, Ariz., have been visiting her mother, Mrs. G. H. McGuire; her sister, Mrs. B. H. Hearron, a family, and her niece, Mrs. Bud Linney and family.

4-H Record Book School to Be Held Here July 20-21

Record Book schools for the 4-H boys and girls of Eastland County have been set for July 20th and 21st. They will be held in four towns in the county, them being Eastland, Gorman, Rising Star and Cisco.

All 4-H members in the county are invited and encouraged to attend one of the schools.

The Cisco record school will be held in the Cisco Chamber of Commerce Conference room at 8:30 a.m. on July 20th and on the same date at 2 p.m. a record school will be held at Gorman in the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association Office. At Eastland the record book school will be held in the Texas Electric Conference Room on July 21st at 8:30 a.m. and in Rising Star on the same date at 2 p.m. in the Vocational Agriculture class room.

At the schools the 4-Hers will learn how to fill out record books that will qualify to enter in the county record book contest and if a winner there the record book competes in the District 4-H Records contest and from there the best two record books are sent on to A&M College to compete in the State 4-H Record Book contest.

The 4-H members are encouraged to bring their parents to these meetings also.

"I GIVE YOU TEXAS"

By Boyce House

The so-called smart, sophisticated humor of the New York City night clubs isn't difficult to produce. For example, if you see a sign proclaiming, "Our Bread Untouched by Human Hands," you can quip, "Baked by apes, I suppose?"

Or if a restaurant announces, "We make our own pies," you could remark brightly to the proprietor, "That makes it easy for the customer to fix the responsibility, doesn't it?"

Or if you have just finished making a speech, the club president can say, "This was the largest crowd since I've been president—three weeks."

The night club brand of humor is fundamentally cruel.

Like all newspapermen, I dislike writing letters but have exchanged them with Carl Sandburg, Rex Beach, Dr. Frederick Cook and W. J. Bryan. There is a foursome! Sandburg is, in my opinion, the foremost living American author; Beach wrote exciting novels of Alaska; Bryan was the greatest orator of his generation and Cook claimed to have discovered the North Pole and to have been the first to climb Mount McKinley.

It was late at night in a leading hotel. Two men were carrying on an animated conversation with the door open into the hall. Their voices penetrated through the closed door of the opposite room where the occupant who was paying a neat sum for a night's rest tossed sleeplessly. He had left a call for 6 a.m. and it was past midnight before the talking two quit.

A little incident, you say and not worth setting down. And you are correct except for this—it shows what's the matter with the world. There are too many people who never think of the other man, his comfort, his rights or, if they do, they just don't give a darn.

This-and-that:
Dr. H. E. Robinson of the Texas Education Agency is an orator—and you can't hardly find that kind any more.

In San Antonio, there's a place of business with a sign, "Our motto is caveat emptor." Well, you got to admit, they told you.

Pat Bullock of Colorado City has one of the most difficult offices there is. The former

Mr. and Mrs. Foy Warlick have purchased and are now living on what is known as the Burkhauler farm three miles northeast of Rising Star. Formerly of Clyde, Texas, the Warlicks will operate the farm while Mr. Warlick services toy routes which he has throughout this area.

They have a daughter, Sandy, who will attend Rising Star school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gardner of Odessa have returned to Odessa after spending a vacation at their farm here and visiting relatives including Mr. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tillie Gardner. They own the former Jacob farm northwest of town.

Senator, as a member of the State Pardon and Parole Board, hears many pathetic pleas.

Was San Antonio the last city in the country with a town-crier? As recently as the 1920's, a man rode around the business district on a horse, calling out about the baseball game that afternoon or a sale in progress at a store—(or so I was told by a long-time resident of the Alamo City).

Hamlett Family Has Reunion Here July 9th and 10th

FARM PROFIT

How To Sell Livestock For More Money

Cashing in on top market prices and saving pounds of shrinkage is a goal of every livestock farmer.

This extra profit is not so much luck as good management and common sense, according to the experts reporting to Massey-Ferguson research. Any livestock farmer can do it by practicing these four simple procedures:

Use the phone just before shipping. This tells you which market is paying the best price on a particular day. Economists at Purdue University found that hog prices have varied as much as $1.50 a hundred-weight between markets at the same time for the same grade. This could mean $200 more for a semi-trailer load of 72 hogs.

Sprinkle your hogs enroute. An easy way is to string a length of garden hose over your truck box, connect it to a water faucet at each stop on the way to market. This will save about $75 a truckload in shrinkage and loss, on a summer trip of 25 to 27 hours.

Haul your cattle at night. You'll get a lot less shrinkage and make money after dark. Night hauling was tested in Texas by Purdue's economists by loading steers at 5 P.M. and arriving at the market to weigh in at 8 A.M. the next morning. They found that the steers only lost 3.8 per cent of their weight. When they made the same shipment in the daytime, the shrinkage loss was 5.4 per cent. This difference in shrinkage is about 16 pounds of beef per head, around $4 worth at the market.

Pick the right date. Hogs usually bring about $3 more a hundred-weight in mid-summer and commercial cattle 10% higher in the spring. So, plan your feeding and breeding ahead to catch the best season next year. Buy feeder cattle which will reach market age in the spring, and breed sows at a time which will allow their pigs to be ready for market by mid-summer.

It has been estimated that these simple practices can mean as much as $200 more on a truckload of hogs and $10 to $15 more per head for cattle. The extra profit is worth the effort.

Dead Sea Scrolls Subject of Talk To Mary Ann Circle

Mrs. Helen Switzer was guest speaker from the WSCS of the First Methodist Church to the Mary Ann Circle of the society at the church.

Mrs. Switzer's topic was a review of the Dead Sea scrolls. Mrs. Jim Ray Bucy presided, and the opening prayer was led by Mrs. Carver. After a song, "I Need Thee Every Hour," there was special music by Miss Frances Eberhart with Miss Linda Koonce at the piano. Mrs. Vada Arnold gave the devotional.

Members of the WSCS were guests of the circle. Mrs. Vivian Koonce read the minutes. It was announced that the Circle memorial fund had now grown to $121.23.

Refreshments were served to ten members and seven visitors. —Reporter.

Mrs. Bruce Erwin of Brownwood visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Maynard, and her friend, Mrs. Beyrl Heath, on Friday, July 15.

Pat Howard Leads YWA Program July 12

The weekly meeting of the YWA's of the First Baptist Church was held on Tuesday evening, July 12, at Mrs. Ira Hudler's. The president called the meeting to order and Virginia Carr led the opening prayer.

Program Chairman Pat Howard led a discussion on "What is YWA?", the meaning of Community Missions, the YWA Theme, and outlined the YWA's place in community and church life. Following the discussion and the closing prayer, Mrs. Hudler served punch and cookies to Virginia Carr, Pat Howard, Kay Walker, Mary Awalt, Bennie Sue Morris and Danelia Darnell.

We would like to invite a girl of age 16 and over to attend the meetings which are every Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ira Hudler. Every girl who attends the YWA meetings will find that they are beneficial and very enjoyable.

Forms Available At Agent's Office Gas Tax Refund

Eastland County farmers and ranchers eligible to claim a refund on gasoline, used for agricultural purposes, who do not have the proper form may secure one by contacting or writing the county agricultural agent's office in Eastland.

Tenants as well as owner and operators are eligible for this refund. This is a different refund from the state refund it was said.

Many of those eligible have received the proper form thru the mail but there are many in the county who have never filed. The gasoline must have been used for agricultural purposes on the farm or ranch and must have been purchased from July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960. The claim must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Dallas by September 30 of this year.

The refund amounts to 3 cents per gallon on gasoline purchases from July 1 to October 1, 1959 and 4 cents per gallon on the amount purchased from Nov. 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960.

Mrs. Vera Mae Woosley and three children of Seymour were here for a visit with relatives and spent the night with her friend, Mrs. Rubye Ray Darnell and family.

Miss Jeanine Rodgers of Abernathy and Mrs. Florine Forbes and children, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cox.

Mrs. W. M. Ghormley is here for a visit with old neighbors and friends. Her home is now Pasadena, Texas.

MOVING TO FARM Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barker of Odessa are building a home on their farm three miles southeast of Rising Star and expect to move into it some time this week. Mr. Barker has retired after working for the Tidewater Oil Company in Odessa and plans to devote his time to operating their farm of 60 acres which they have owned since 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. James Irby and two children, Kay and L. D., of Austin, Mrs. T. O. Savage and Betsy and Joe of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Allen recently visited Mrs. Clara Cain.
