One of the big state papers carried a Labor Day cartoon showing a mechanical robot seated at picnic with a laborer's family. The robot was labelled "Automation."

This spectred invasion of the inanimate reflex into the field of human horsepower is of course, the prime reason underlying our present problems of labor and employment. It is at the bottom of the civil rights volcano which was content to smolder undetected in the sub-strata of the substrata of our society so long as there was opportunity to sell muscle-power for bread.

Loss of ones future in the job one is trained for is a frightening prospect. Where mechanical progress is swift and revolutionary, as it is today, the prospect is broad and terrible.

But one wonders why is it that while automation is reducing manhours of labor in industry it seems to be having the opposite effect in the home.

The contrast between the household of 75 years ago and that of today, with its emphasis on gadgetry, decor and a bedroom for each member of the family, is quite a bit, don't you know. In the old days a family with three bedrooms, one of which doubled as a sitting room, was considered upper middle-class.

The woman drew water from a well, or at best, a hand pump, made the family's clothing washed with soap home-made from pork fat and ash hopper drippings, put up the winter meat, canned, dried and preserved fruits and vegetables from the garden she tended herself, raised chickens for the table and geese for pillow down, cooked on a wood-burning stove, to mention a few of her tasks, and then had time to go to the fields and help with the crops in a pinch. In between there was leisure for visiting, going to church and bearing from half a dozen to a dozen children.

Today's home has as many electric motors as yesterday's had jobs. There are dishwashers, washing machines, driers, air-conditioners, mangles, grinders, vacuum cleaners, hair driers, can openers, massagers, rotisseries, waste disposers and even motorized toothbrushes.

There are TV sets, electric blankets, hot water heaters, central heating, ovens that think and remember and many other labor-saving devices undreamed of three-quarters of a century ago.

With all this you'd certainly think today's housewife would live in a world of deliberate yawning indolence in which her most exhausting task would be the pushing of a button to await the electronic production of all those comforts and conveniences that both bless and condemn our society.

But does she? As a matter of fact she seems to work as hard and long hours as her great-grandmother. Why?

I think it because so many luxuries have become necessities. Modern life offers so much more and it has plenty of takers, so to speak.

When life was simple, it took long hours and hard physical work to provide its essentials. Today it takes long hours and labor of a different sort to provide the multitude of comforts and variety of sensations that modern technology has made possible. We have drowned simplicity in pleasure, creature comfort and ostentation. Just read the specifications and the equipment of the average mid-level-class home offered for sale in the real estate ads. We have mechanized ourselves out of physical drudgery into drudgery. (Continued on Page 5)

Hi School Increased; Grade Down

Rising Star public schools opened for the 1963-64 season Tuesday morning with an enrollment slightly under last year's total.

The school routine began uneventfully.

High School enrollment was up sharply, with 117 students registered in the four classes, but there is a decline in registration at the elementary school, Supt. Sam Jones said.

One hundred and ninety-two students were enrolled there. Principal of the High School is Ray Nunnally and Edward Watkins is principal of the Elementary School.

Reunion Seeking $500 Fund For Tabernacle Repair

A report of the tabernacle committee of the Salt Tank Crocker Reunion Ass'n, which meets annually at Barnes Chapel Methodist Church just northwest of Rising Star, indicated, as of Aug. 31, the fund being raised to repair the tabernacle of the church was $320, short of the goal of $500.

A plan to raise the money was set up by the association at its meeting in July, according to the committee, and each member has been contacted by letter urging that a contribution be made. Oct. 1 was set as the deadline at which time all contributions will be returned to the donors if the $500 is not raised.

It is imperative, according to the committee, that contributions be made immediately if the project is to materialize.

Checks should be made to the Barnes Chapel Tabernacle Fund and mailed to the committee treasurer, I. G. Sherrill, Box 513, O'Donnell, Tex.

The committee also reported that should the church at Barnes Chapel ever be abandoned or discontinued, its tabernacle is to become the property of the association provided repairs are made as planned.

Girl Scouts Now Organized In Four Age Levels

The Girl Scout family takes on a new look this year. Girl Scout Troops throughout the nation are meeting for the first time in four age levels: Brownie Girl Scouts (7 and 8 years), Junior Girl Scouts (9 to 11), Cadette Scouts (12 to 14) and Senior Scouts (15 to 17).

"The new look in Girl Scouting represents a recognition of the changing needs of young people in a changing world. It aims to bring a richer and more meaningful Scouting experience to a larger number of girls while it keeps in tact the fundamental principles on which the movement was founded more than 50 years ago," said Mrs. John Clark, personnel chairman for the Heart of Texas Council.

Mrs. Robert Butler, Personnel Chairman for the Rising Star Girl Scout Association and in charge of the troop organization this fall will announce schedules for troop meetings at a future date.

For girls to get the most out of their Girl Scout experience, it is important that parents take an active part in their daughter's troop. Each troop is led by carefully chosen adult volunteer who not only meet each week with the girls, but who takes special training to enable them to carry out a quality program welcome and need the support with the girls. These leaders of all Girl Scout Council parents.

Wildcats Open '63 Football Season Here Friday Night

The Rising Star Wildcats will open their 1963 football season in a game here Friday night with a team always found tough. It is the Melvin High School eleven from a school near Brady which they meet in a game called at 8 o'clock at the Wildcat football stadium.

Although the Wildcats, with a heavy, well-balanced team and a starting eleven consisting almost entirely of lettermen have good prospects, they are remembering what happened at Melvin last year. Favored to win by almost any score they wished, the Rising Star eleven took a 0 to 0 score. The memory of that moral defeat which haunted the local team all the way to the district finals and a hard-fought bi-district game with the Johnson City team, will no doubt be uppermost in the minds of the boys Friday night.

The team showed strength in a scrimmage session with Class AA De Leon last Thursday, when neither team was able to score in controlled scrimmage.

Average weight of the club will be in excess of 160 pounds with a starting line averaging near 165 and a backfield about the same. All of the offensive starters, with one exception, will be lettermen.

Terry, 165 Junior, veteran quarterback with a good passing arm, will lead the team on offense. In the backfield with him will be Bill Clarke, 160, right half; Danny Wooley, 145, left half; and Kenny Butler, 185, fullback. Kenny in the only non-letterman starter.

In the line Jimmy Rutledge, 160, at center, will be flanked by Gary Duggan, 165, right tackle; Frazier Clark, 165, left tackle; Roger Goodwin, 165, left guard; James Cox, 165, right tackle; Larry Duggan, 150, end, and Rex Long, 160, right end. Bobby Burns, a promising squad-mate, will be used a great deal at offensive guard, and Russell Botts, 225 pound letterman will be used as a lineman on defense.

Other players who will see lots of action defensively are Doug Fisher, Franz Pittman, and Davy Jones. Bobby Reeves, a freshman from last year's fine junior high team, is looking good, Coach Hill said.

The entire squad of 25 boys, is showing lots of spirit and fight.

Coach Hill is coaching the backfield and the line coaching shores are being done by Eddie Joe Henry and Frank Gray.

The Rising Star Wildcat Band under the new director, Alton Roan, will make its first public appearance of the season at half-time. Majorettes will be introduced and there will be a precision drill, Mr. Roan said.

Next week the Wildcats play the Bangs Dragons here in what is predicted to be one of their toughest games.

The season schedule is:
Sept. 6, Melvin here;
Sept. 13, Bangs here;
Sept. 20, Rochelle here;
Sept. 27, Cross Plains there;
Oct. 4, Eastland there;
Oct. 12, Evant, Homecoming;
Oct. 18, Open;

Businessmen to Play Saturday

Two teams of Rising Star businessmen—the "West Side Money Grubbers" and the "East Side Nickle Nurers"—will vie in a softball game at Rising Star Little League Park Saturday evening in behalf of the Boy Scouts.

The game, for which admission charges of 50c and 25c will be made, is planned to raise about $250 to payoff the debt on the new Scout hut constructed at Rising Star City Park.

Most of the cost of the building, including the tile, roof, floor and wiring, was contributed. Certain other costs, including plumbing, furnishings, sewer, water, and gas connections all must be paid for, and these costs are included in the debt which the merchants hope to pay off with their ballgame.

Managers of the teams are M. G. Joyce for the west side and L. B. Forbes for the east side. H. C. Childress will assist Mr. Joyce and Arthur Smith will work with Mr. Forbes.

Bargaining in Bad Faith

"It doesn't go very far," writes a syndicated columnist who favors ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union. "It involves very few and very limited risks because it is a minute step toward controlling the arms race. It does not reduce or restrict the production of nuclear weapons. It does not inhibit or limit their use by either side. It does not halt underground testing, because the Soviet Union rejects necessary on-site inspections to police such a ban."

One wonders why anyone should be in favor of a treaty the arguments for which admit the reasons for its rejection?

"The risk in all of this," continues the writer, "does not stem from the test ban treaty, which has merit in itself, but from the CERTAIN EFFORT OF THE SOVIET UNION (our emphasis) to tempt the United States and the West into false relaxation while getting ready for its next move in the cold war."

Isn't that exactly what opponents of ratification have been warning all along—that the Soviet Union is entering into this treaty in bad faith? Are the risks so very limited after all?

For the Soviets this test ban is merely another tactical move in a continuing warfare against the West. The truth is that it will relieve Khrushchev from further expensive effort in a field of armament in which he is already superior, while it ties our own hands, what, really, do we gain?

Anyone who thinks that that the productive energies of the Soviet Union thus released, will be devoted to improving Russian domestic standards to the exclusion of emphasis upon other phases of the cold war is as naive as a person who believes a bug will reform if his intended victim disarms himself.

History in our time is replete with tragic instances of such trust, a sainted blindness arising from the idea that because we are peace-minded those who would bury us require only our assurance that we are. And yet, we have been told time and time again, and it has been as persistently proven, that the communist concept of peace is universal communism, and that peace as we think of it is a weapon he uses to achieve that enslavement.

The tragedy is that our leaders know this. They cannot be so ignorant, so naive or blind as not to know it. By their failure to act with realism and political courage they are encouraging the public apathy and false sense of security of which they warn so solemnly.

When you deal with unscrupulous characters your own morality is poor persuasion. The only remedy for such as Mr. K is to make their road hard to travel.

It's the Law in Texas

COURTROOM DRAMA

We've all seen a great many courtroom dramas in the movies, on the stage or on television. Too many, some may say, but there's no denying the drama in the courtroom.

A theater seat or a comfortable chair in front of the TV screen is the closest many of us ever get to a courtroom. It's from such vantage points that most of our ideas come today about court procedures and how a trial is carried on.

Stage and screen trials normally present only the highlights and take many short-cuts in the interest of brevity and audience appeal. Often an attorney is pictured making objection after objection to the questions and answers as witnesses testify. He makes these objections vehemently, pompously, or sarcastically—and often in a voice louder than necessary—according to the demands of his role, and depending upon whether he's on the side of the villain or the hero. The judge then raps for order, and booms out, "sustained," or "overruled," and those of us in the audience usually are in the loss over why he made his decision.

In a real courtroom it's true that attorneys protest against what's being done or said, as a means of assuring a fair trial, and the judge must allow or disallow each objection.

The principals in the real courtrooms are just practicing common sense when they follow the "rules of evidence" in placing facts before the judge and jury. If there's to be a fair trial and a just verdict, there must be true facts.

Evidence in the courtroom may take several forms, but two are most common. Answers to questions from a witness under oath are the best-known type of evidence.

Exhibits—written records, letters, "the murder weapon," and other physical objects having to do with the case—are the next most common. "Depositions," or written statements, from a witness who for some reason is unable to appear personally in court are sometimes admitted as evidence in certain cases.

Perhaps you've heard: "A trial is not a contest of learning, skill, or tact between lawyers, but a proceeding to find out the truth according to the evidence received and the law as explained by the judge."

That's about the size of it, and that's the way each of us wants it to be if ever we are placed on trial or taken to court for even so much as a speeding ticket.

About Your Health

AUSTIN—Hay fever is neither caused by hay nor is it associated with fever, but the 10,000,000 Americans who suffer from it know the misery of stuffed running noses, watery inflamed eyes, sneezing, wheezing and general discomfort.

Hay fever can be caused by trees, grasses, molds, weeds and even disintegrated insect bodies. But the greatest sinner—nation-wide—is the ragweed. In only five hours one ragweed can produce 8 million grains that can be airborne over a distance of 75 miles.

In Texas some varieties of cedar trees are the principal offenders and in some areas of the State, there is no escaping drifting clouds of pollen sweeping across a city from a rural community.

Of the four species of ragweed, three grow knee high, but the fourth—the giant ragweed—reaches head high. For some unknown reason, the giant ragweed's scientific name is Ambrosia trifida. Ambrosia means pleasing to the taste or smell. No hay fever sufferer would agree with that distinction.

It may seem strange, but the ragweed pollination season begins earlier in the north than in the south. In parts of Canada ragweed starts pollinating in the latter part of July, whereas in South Texas it begins about the middle of September.

Reason for this phenomenon is that pollination occurs as the amount of sunlight becomes less. Thus the farther south the plants are, the later their pollination starts.

Why some of us become allergic to cedar pollen; others to insect remains a mystery. But it is known that the allergic tendency is inherited.

Mild seasonal attacks can usually be treated effectively with simple medications prescribed by your doctor. More severe persistent cases may require skin tests and desensitization against the offending substances, which differ from person to person.

If asthma or other complications occur, still other methods of treatment will be required. Your doctor can determine

Many Others Now Eligible For Social Security Benefits

Anyone who is now 62 or older, and who has worked in employment covered by social security at any time, may be losing money regularly by not finding out what his rights are, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager of Social Security in Abilene.

"With the amendments of 1961, many people who were previously ineligible, became eligible under the reduced work requirement," he explains. "And since benefits can be paid retroactively for only twelve months, each month's delay may cost one monthly benefit check."

Even those who are still earning more than $1200 should inquire promptly at age 62, because under the more flexible "retirement test" some benefits may be payable even where earnings are substantially greater than $1200.

Full information may be obtained from the Social Security Administration office at 203 Fannin in Abilene. The residents of Rising Star may meet a representative of the Abilene office at the Rising Star City Hall on Monday at 10:30 a.m. September 16.

Pete Barnes, a brother of Mrs. Lula Foster, and of the late Joe Barnes, was a guest of his sister and nephew and nieces recently. He lives in Arkansas.

News From May.

Dr. Jimmy Prentice of Austin J. Prentice and his uncle, Maj. visited his grandmother, Mrs. J. Max Prentice, last week. He recently completed his internship at a Hartford, Conn., hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Cade of Lubbock spent the week-end with Mrs. Cade's mother, Mrs. J. J. Prentice, and brother, Maj. Max Prentice. While here they went to Brownwood to visit Dr. A. M. Bowden at Golden Jaks Nursing Home. Dr. Bowden, who suffered a stroke several months ago, was reported in a serious condition. Mr. and Mrs. Cade also visited Mr. and Mrs. Otis Rogers at Blanket. Mrs. Rogers is a sister of Mr. Cade.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harlow of Killeen spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. O. C. Allen. They also visited Mrs. Maggie Robason, mother of the two women, at a Brownwood nursing home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chambers of Georgetown are with Mrs. Chambers' father, Dr. A. M. Bowden, at Brownwood.

Texas Seems To Have Screwworm Pest Controlled

Texas appears well on the way to licking the screwworm pest, according to Oscar Schaefer, chairman of the Eastland County eradication committee.

Eastland County livestock men and sportsmen participated in the statewide drive which netted more than $3 million in funds used to finance the sterile fly production program through which the breeding of screwworm flies is being controlled.

To date in 1963 according to Schaefer, there have been only 16 cases of screwworm infestation in Texas, compared with 1,264 in 1962 for the same period.

The screwworm is by far the most destructive insect pest affecting the livestock industry. The worm is the larvae of a fly which lays its eggs in cuts and other wounds of livestock. The larvae can cause great loss of flesh and even kill cattle. Previously the only method of control was treatment with special preparations which require a great deal of work and time.

Under the new program, flies produced and treated with radiation materials at Mission, Texas, laboratories, which make them sexually sterile, are dropped in vast numbers. Since the female fly mates only once, mating with a sterile fly prevents egg production and the insect cannot reproduce.

During the week of August 11-17, 140,866,250 sterile flies were dropped in areas of the Southwest where instances of screwworm infestation were reported.

Eastland County, which earlier reported a few cases of infestation, has not had a case in some time. Mr. Schaefer urged that farmers and stockmen keep a careful watch on their animals and where an infestation is suspected to report it at once. Specimens for identification are available at the County agent's office in Eastland and at banks in the county.

Cecil Shults, Rising Star stockman and implement dealer is vice-chairman of the county organization.

Texas License Plates Produced At Lowest Cost

AUSTIN—License plates for Texas motor vehicles are produced at the lowest comparable cost of any state in the Union, the Texas Highway Department said today.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said a report compiled by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators showed that Texas' delivered price on its 1962 plates was only 14.2 cents a pair—lower than any other state making two plates per car. The 1962 figures are the latest available.

The Highway Department supervises the production of license plates, which are manufactured by prison labor at Huntsville State Prison. Forty other states also use prison labor to make license plates.

The Highway Department derives a net profit for the highway fund of more than 97 per cent of the revenues it receives from license plates. Only about 2 1/2 per cent is required for administrative costs.

Guests of Mrs. L. W. Mayfield during the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Morris of Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Mayfield of near Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton and two daughters of Grand Prairie. Her grandson, Robert Foster, will enter the University of Texas Sept. 13.

of another sort. Modern life has broadened into so many fields—social, utilitarian and artistic—that what we have gained in efficiency we have lost in volume of demand.

And the responsibility for keeping all this automation running and providing the family with the new standards it requires falls primarily upon the housewife.

In addition she very often has to work at a job to earn the wherewithal to help pay for being relieved of the drudgery of housework.

Isn't that ironic?

Mrs. Travis Foster of Cross Plains visited her father A. P. Smith, Sunday, Sept. 1.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris during the week end were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mitchell of Albany and Lee Harris and a friend, Jayce Rause, of San Antonio.
