There has been talk of some unsportsmanlike conduct toward game officials on the part of a few spectators at football games here recently and school officials, concerned for possible influence on the attitude of the boys and the school's relationship with the Interscholastic League have expressed hope that overwrought fans will put a bridle on their spirits henceforth.

Regardless of whether or not there may be any basis for the indignation of those who try to call officials to account for what they consider unfair decisions, the officials are responsible for the conduct of the game, their word is law on the field and the game cannot be run without them. The Interscholastic League takes that position. If it did not high school athletic contests would dissolve in chaos.

Officials are human and they are subject to human mistakes. It is not possible for any individual, no matter how perceptive or alert, to see everything that goes on during a football game. Someone has suggested that if it were possible never a down of football would be completed. A penalty would be called on every play.

Officials are also subject to the same passions that spectators are subject to. They are capable of bias and resentments when they consider themselves mistreated. And there are in every game instances in which disagreements over official decisions or the lack of a decision have caused resentments and even outbursts of anger. Any one who is a consistent viewer of big league baseball games or pro football contests can testify to that.

But, all in all, considering the foibles and errors to which we are prey, our school athletic contests have been run at a high level of justice and fairness. If we feel ourselves discriminated against in one call, we might consider those times when, in the secret honesty of our own conscience, we find our team to have been unduly favored. There have been such times.

But the important thing to keep in mind is that the game belongs to the kids. The loss of a game whether deservedly or by a so-called "break", will not destroy the school or the community. Each will continue to function without any ill effects. Nor will the winning of a game make any significant difference. The future of our schools and towns does not hang by any such slender thread.

But the antics and tirades of an overwrought fan can have a serious effect upon the character of a 16-year-old boy who has been taught that it isn't whether you win or lose but how you play the game that counts. That boy is worth much more than anybody's "patriotic" satisfaction in the scoring of an illusory six points or so. If he loses faith in good principle because an adult to whom he looks for exemplary conduct has abandoned faith, what have we gained?

Officials do not have to call a game. They can refuse to subject themselves to unpleasant situations. And there have been instances in which the Interscholastic League has penalized member schools because of what it has found to be unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of fans. A school does not find it easy to recover from such sanctions. And who gains? The students? The community? The fans?

Let's stop acting like Mr. K. and act more like Americans.

HERE'S HOW IT LOOKED THEN! This view of mechanical behemoths roofing and scraping through the earth of West College Street gives little suggestion of the wonderful, smoothly paved new thoroughfare which they made possible. The contractor, Ernest Loyd of Fort Worth, finished laying the final stretch of asphalt paving on the street last week and now, paved from new curbing to new curbing from the traffic light west to the city limits, the new street gives promise of a beauty, as well as a service, to make all the inconveniences worth while. The city paid for the curbing. This week, and until rain halted the work, contractor was busy backfilling behind the curbing. The street is the route of Highway 36 through the city.

Roach Motor Co. Loans Car for Driver Training

A safety-equipped Ford to train Rising Star High School driver education students was donated to school officials here by the Roach Motor Company.

Weldon Roach, dealer, told school officials he was happy to have the opportunity to make this contribution to the driver training program. He complimented the school for its part in making highway travel safer.

Coach Weldon Hill, who took a course in driver education training financed by the Rising Star Lions Club at ACC, Abilene, last summer, is the instructor. The car donated by Roach Motor Company is a Fairlane 500 Fordor equipped with safety features which Ford pioneered and developed. The include padded instrument panels and sunvisors, deep center steering wheels, safety door locks, non-shattering rear-view mirrors, and safety belt seats which, an independent research group stated, have sharply reduced injuries to occupants.

The donation is part of a nationwide program under which dealers are loaning 1961 Ford automobiles to schools at the start of the school year. Last year 13,300 cars were loaned to schools across the country.

Twelve Inches of Rain Brings Smiles and Then Gloom to Area

Rain! Rain! Rain! With rain clouds still rolling over the land, discharging shower after shower of moisture, total rainfall in Rising Star for the month of October had risen to 4.9 inches Tuesday morning, according to the gauge at the city hall.

The moisture, halting a peanut harvest just getting into full swing with a much better than normal crop in prospect, continued what has been one of the wettest late summer and early fall seasons on record here. Since August 12, when 2.55 inches of rain gave a big boost to crop prospects, the city gauge has registered nearly 12 inches of precipitation.

The August total was 4.34 inches; September had 1.97 inches and the current season's moisture

LSGCo To Take More Area Gas

Lone Star Gas Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Lone Star Producing Company, have been active in development and purchase of natural gas from oil and gas fields in the West Central Texas area for more than 30 years, according to Lone Star president L. T. Potter of Dallas.

Latest action by the company is its proposal to build an 18-inch, 52-mile natural gas pipeline in West Central Texas which will increase capacity of the company's transmission facilities by more than 100-million cubic feet of gas daily, Mr. Potter said. The new pipeline is estimated to cost in excess of $2-million, he noted.

"The proposed project, which is subject to final approval by Lone Star's board of directors, is endorsed by company management," he continued. "When approved, this action will demonstrate the company's confidence in growth of energy demands in its present market areas, and confidence in West Central Texas gas producers."

Preliminary engineering and surveys for the pipeline are now underway. Actual construction would begin early in 1961, the Lone Star president stated. It would run in a southwesterly direction from the company's Springtown Gasoline plant, across Parker and Palo Pinto counties.

At Gordon the pipeline would tie into the outlet of the company's Gordon Gasoline plant and the east end of a recently completed 18-inch Lone Star transmission pipeline, which will collect gas from the Rising Star area in Brown, Comanche and Eastland counties.

At Springtown the 18-inch pipeline would tie into a 48-mile, 20- and 24-inch pipeline recently completed by Lone Star to the edge of Northwest Dallas County.

Lone Star Gas Company has long been active in gas purchase activities in West Central Texas. Its transmission system was extended to this area during 1926. Since then it has proven a continuous, valued source of supply for Lone Star's ever growing markets.

Recently developed new sources of supply, particularly in Erath, Palo Pinto and Stephens counties, are now being connected to the Company's vast interconnected transmission system, Lone Star records revealed.

Company records show that during the past five years alone (1954-59), more than 321 billion cubic feet of natural gas was purchased from producers in the West Central Texas area. The records also show that Lone Star's purchases have been increasing each year during the five year period.

These purchases are the result of contracts negotiated with about 125 different producers in the West Central Texas area, Lone Star records show. In addition, the company holds contracts with several gasoline plants in the area which buy from numerous smaller operators.

The producers and plants are located in the following counties: Palo Pinto, Erath, Hamilton, Comanche, Eastland Stephens, Young, Brown, Coleman, Callahan, Shackelford, Runnels, Taylor, Jones, Stonewall, Scurry, Fisher, Nolan, Coke, Tom Green, Schleicher and Sutton.

Wildcats Lose To Baird 36-0 Here Friday

The Rising Star Wildcats played the Baird Bears a good game for a half at Wildcat stadium Friday night of last week, but let down in the second half and the Bears scored 28 points in the last two quarters to run the score to 36 to 0.

The Cats threatened only once during the game, advancing to the five-yard line. Rodney Smith was outstanding in that drive, personally accounting for most of the yardage gained from the Rising Star 16-yard line to within five yards of a score.

The Cat effort began after stout defensive work had stopped the Bears on the Rising Star 16. The visitors showed strong blocking and power running in their advance, but the Wildcats showed what they are capable of doing when the chips were down. Coy Edmiston, Carroll, Ezzell, Rucker, Maynard and Butler were very effective on defense and Jones stopped a number of Baird runners at critical moments.

The Rising Star passing game was hampered by the Baird rushing tactics but on several plays Smith, and other swift Wildcat backs, very nearly got loose. Smith in particular did some very fine running. The attack carried to the five where it failed to make the distance for a first down and Baird took over on the second play of the second quarter.

The visitors promptly drove for a score, Barnes, their quarterback, breaking through the line for 27 yards and the count after a nine yard loss. The try for two points failed and the score at the end of the half was 6 to 0.

Once more during the second period the Bears carried to the Rising Star 17 but an alert Rising Star defense pushed them back with considerable yardage loss and a pass into the end zone was broken up.

Kittens Defeat May 38-14; Meet Cross Plains Here

The Rising Star Junior High Kittens continued their winning ways at May Tuesday night, defeating a strong May junior high team by a score of 38-14.

Danny Wooley, scored one touchdown, Tommy Darnell two, and Larry Duggan scored four extra points. Frazier Clark caught two nice passes and made one extra point. Danny, injured when he fell on a loose ball, was taken to Gorman Hospital where his injuries were reported not to be serious.

The Kittens have only a tie with the Early High juniors to mar an otherwise perfect record.

Two severe tests of their gridiron strength are facing them this week and next, however. In the first they will meet the Cross Plains junior high team at Wildcat stadium Thursday evening at 7 o'clock and the following Tuesday they go to Brownwood for a game with the Brownwood Eighth Graders at Lion stadium.

C. E. Smith Named State Director of Texas Peach and Plum Growers Ass'n

C. E. Smith, Rising Star orchardist, was named as a director of the Texas Peach and Plum Growers association at the annual meeting of that organization at A&M College recently.

Smith will serve for a two-year term. He operates both a peach and a pecan orchard near the above city. He was formerly in the plumbing contracting business at Midland.

"I have been in the orchard business for the past 12 years and I think there is a good future in it for those willing to work. If I had known as much about orchards 12 years ago as I do now my 68 acre orchard would have been worth $10,000

"Good Crop, If We Can Get It Out, Says SWPGA

Heavy rains of the past few days have caused a considerable sprouting of undug peanuts and forced growers to turn vines on top of the ground to prevent sprouting of the nuts already dug, Ross Wilson, manager of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Ass'n at Gorman, told the Record Tuesday.

Growers interviewed in a spot check of the peanut area generally predicted extensive damage if the rains keep up, he said. They blamed the rain of a week-ago for the sprouting, Mr. Wilson said.

The general opinion was, however, that if the skies clear and the growers are given a chance to harvest and market their crop the damage will not be as extensive as might be indicated, Mr. Wilson said.

"We've got a good crop and we won't suffer too much if we can get it out," he said.

He estimated that about 10 per cent of the crop in the Cross Timbers area, which include Eastland, Brown and Comanche counties, had been marketed before the rains, as compared with 45 per cent of the Texas crop as a whole. The yield has been uniformly good and the grade averaged between 65 and 69 per cent, he said.

This conforms to an average of about 66 on peanuts marketed with Rising Star buyers prior to the rains.

"There is always a tendency to overestimate the true damage," said one observer. "Very likely we will find that the actual loss from sprouting and other damage will be much less than now feared. Provided, of course, there is a let-up in the rains."

There were also reports of damage to young grain from an infestation of army worms in many parts of the Rising Star area. Some growers will have to plant over, it was reported.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

TRADEMARKS
Our government has tried to encourage enterprise by rewarding good work. It does this by protecting a good name through our trademark laws.

From the time the clock starts your radio until night when you switch off the electric light, you surround yourself with things which you buy their advertised brand names.

A trademark may be a word, emblem, or other device.

Brick makers of old Egypt the lamp makers of Athens, and English helmet makers used them.

In a market, a trademark sets off one maker or seller's goods from those of others.

You may be the first to "think up" the idea of using a given trademark to identify certain goods. But that alone does not give you a property right in the trademark or make you its owner. The maker or seller who adopts and actually uses a trademark on a line of goods, becomes its owner.

The law protects ownership of trademarks. In doing so, courts will order a late-comer to stop using another's trademark. It will award damages if the owner has suffered.

Why does the law do this? First, to keep the buyer from being deceived and to make sure that we, the public, get what we want. Second, to prevent piracy of the trademark and the goodwill which its owner has built up in the mark through making, selling and advertising such goods.

A trademark may be a firm's most valuable asset. It stands for the firm's goodwill and good name. So choose a trademark with care. It must not be too much like any other trademark.

When you have chosen a word or symbol, you must then use it properly with the goods for it to become valid. Once in use, guard it. For a trademark may lose its legal safeguard if you or the public do not use it properly.

To be valid a trademark need not be registered in any state or federal agency. But registration makes protection easier to enforce and may afford other advantages.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Prior Service Program Of Air Force Restored

The Air Force has announced the restoration of the Air Force Prior Service program. This program will allow many former service personnel (from any service) up to a year to enlist in the Air Force with the same grade formerly held. The plan will also allow former service men who have been discharged more than a year to enlist in grades higher than those formerly offered. Under this plan there are 134 career fields listed as needed by the Air Force and if a prior service man does not fall under one of these fields, he may be sent to a school in one of the needed fields if he can pass the test.

Sergeant Mabry, the Air Force recruiter for this area, pointed out that these prior servicemen may select a base of their choice and will know to which base they are going to be assigned before leaving the recruiting office in Abilene. For further information concerning this program, contact the Air Force recruiter here in Rising Star every Thursday afternoon or call Abilene Collect at OR 288949.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee White and Mr. and Mrs. Will Ware attended the funeral of their cousin, Miss Georgie Moore, in Abilene on Saturday, Oct. 15.

Letter to the Editor

7364 Dale Rd.
El Paso, Texas
October 3, 1960

Dear Editor:

Have just read in the Rising Star Record about the arrangement for carrying on the work of the hospital there. Even though I am not a resident of Rising Star at the present time I am still interested in the town and people for many reasons, and I just want you, and other interested ones, to know that I am in wholehearted agreement with the arrangements which you have made.

Our family physicians here in El Paso are Osteopaths, a doctor and nephew who work together, and operate the Tigua General Hospital, which is an Osteopath institution. If I were to go to a hospital here I presume that is the one I would go to. I think these two doctors are mighty fine.

Also, in Dallas and Fort Worth, as well as in El Paso, I have relatives and friends who could afford the best medical care available and who have chosen both doctors and hospitals of this type because of the excellent services and considerations offered. I have been to regular M. D.'s here in El Paso, and they were all good, but find Drs. Mickie, and John Holcomb to be using the very latest developments in medicines and medical techniques in every instance.

My interest is with you in this undertaking.

Very sincerely,
M. L. Watkins

Social Security Questions Answered

QUESTION: What change was made in the amount a social security beneficiary may earn and keep all his social security checks for a year?

ANSWER: A person earning over $1200 per year will still have some deductions made from his benefits. However, instead of making the deductions by holding up entire checks for one to 12 months of the year, there will be held out 50¢ for each $1 of earnings between $1200 and $1500 in the year, and on a dollar for dollar basis for earnings over $1500. For example, if a husband and wife are getting $150 per month, they will still get $650 in benefits even if the husband earns $2500 in the year. For full details as to how much you may earn and still get some benefits, write your social security district office. All beneficiaries will still get a full month's benefits for any month in which earnings are judged to be less than $100, no matter how high the annual total.

QUESTION: How was the required time to become shortened?

ANSWER: Heretofore, you must have acquired social security quarterly credits for a period equal to one-half the time after 12-31-50 (or age 21 if later) and before retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men) or death to be fully insured. Now, you need have only one such quarter of coverage for each three calendar quarters between 1950 (or the year you reached age 21) and the year in which you reach retirement age or die. If you reached retirement age before 1957, you need only six quarters of coverage (1½ years) to be fully insured. You will need two years of credit if you reached retirement age in 1958, 2½ if in 1959, 3 if in 1960, 3½ if in 1961, etc.

QUESTION: My claim was turned down last year because I had only 11 of the needed 17 quarters of coverage. Can I now collect my social security?

ANSWER: Yes. You should file a new claim as soon as convenient for you to contact your social security district office or a representative of that office when he is in your community.

QUESTION: My husband died in 1939. He was covered by social security, but I was told that year and several times later that I could not collect on his social security when I reached retirement age. Has that been changed?

ANSWER: Yes. Survivors of workers who died after 3-31-38 and before 1-1-40 can now be paid in the same manner that has been true for death after 1939. A widow who has reached age 62, has not remarried, and has not built up a higher payment by her own work, can collect monthly widow's benefits. Also, adult children who have been disabled since before their 18th birthday, may now be paid monthly benefits based on the record of a parent who died who died after 3-31-38. The same is true for dependent parents of such deceased persons. Of course, the deceased person must have had at least 1½ years of social security credits.

QUESTION: My minor child was not eligible for benefits when his real father died because he was living with and being supported by his stepfather, my present husband. Do the 1960 amendments change that in any way?

ANSWER: Yes. A child can now always be paid on his natural father's earnings record, even though living with and supported by a stepfather.

QUESTION: My father works in my store (or on my farm). When do I start reporting his wages for social security credits?

ANSWER: Your first report will be filed in April 1961, covering the first three months of 1961, and then each following calendar quarter will be reported in the first month following such quarter. However, for work on a farm, reports are made annually rather than quarterly, the first report to be made in January 1962 for the full year of 1961.

FHA Broadens Farm Loan Program Effective Oct. 1

Farmers who have regular off-farm employment, if otherwise eligible, may obtain farm operating and development loans from the Farmers Home Administration, under the recently revised regulations of the agency.

Homer P. Cole, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor for Eastland County, said the new regulations went into effect October 1. Previously, except in rural development counties, a farmer had to spend most of his time farming in order to qualify for a loan.

Experience gained in rural development counties has shown that many farmers who are regularly employed off the farm can profitably use the Farmers Home Administration's credit facilities to increase the farm portions of their total incomes. The regulation, which had limited credit assistance to farmers who spend most of their time farming, prevented some from obtaining the maximum income from their farms and from taking advantage of opportunities for industrial and other off-farm employment.

Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged. Applicants must have sufficient farm experience to carry on sound farm operations, must need credit, and be unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources. As in the past, credit will be extended only to operators of farms that are family-type size or smaller. No loan will be made unless a plan for the coming year's farming operations shows that income from the farm and other sources will be large enough to enable the farm family to have a reasonable standard of living, pay debts, and have an adequate reserve for emergencies.

Loan funds may be used to pay farm operating costs, purchase equipment and livestock, pay farm development costs, and refinance certain debts. The interest rate is five percent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated incomes from the farms. Usually, loans made for real estate purposes will be from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency. Technical farm and money management assistance is supplied to each borrower to the extent necessary.

The Farmers Home Administration office serving Eastland County is located in the Petroleum Building. The agency also supplies credit for farm housing and soil and water conservation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Brawner entertained their daughter, Miss Bill Brawner, a friend, Mrs. Kay Bean of Fort Worth and their son, Harold, of Rising Star with a dinner Sunday, Oct. 16. Earlier this month another son, David of Tulsa, Okla., spent his two weeks vacation with his parents.

TRADITIONAL ELECTION DAY CAKE

Election Day Cake has been served on voting day for more than a century. Traditionally it's raised with yeast, and filled with plump raisins and crunchy nuts. The recipe below for this old-time dessert modernizes the preparation but retains the character of the dessert our great-grandmothers made. Serve slices of Election Day Cake with mixed canned fruits heated in their juice, as a snack to be enjoyed while listening to the returns come in.

ELECTION DAY CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 4 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 3/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon mace
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped citron
- 3/4 cup chopped nuts

Measure water into a mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed). Add and stir in 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add 1 1/2 cups of the flour and beat well. Cover with a cloth and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until very bubbly, about 30 minutes. Cream margarine or butter with 1 cup sugar. Add and beat in eggs. Combine with bubbly yeast mixture. Sift together salt, spices and remaining 3 cups flour, and add to yeast mixture. Beat until smooth. Use mixer or beat by hand. Add and stir in fruit and nuts. Turn into 2 well-greased loaf pans, 9 x 5 x 3-inches. Cover with a cloth. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake at 350° F. 60 to 70 minutes. Cool in pans 5 minutes. Turn out on cake rack. Cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting if desired. Makes 2 loaves.

"I GIVE YOU TEXAS"

By Boyce House

When I was a youngster, I associated greatness with winnings. Therefore it was a matter of great surprise to me when, one season, the sports writers selected as the league's outstanding manager, Kid Eberfeld. His team was in last place.

What the sports writers were saying was that Eberfeld had almost no material and deserved the honor of "manager-of-the-year" for accomplishing something with little.

If winning were the only test, then the greatest general in history would be a man that most people never heard of—the Duke of Marlborough, of whom it was said that he never besieged a city he did not capture, and never fought a battle he did not win.

But a leader may win because he has superior numbers or heavier guns or because of luck or because he is opposed by poor generals.

Napoleon is generally considered the greatest military genius of modern times—yet he lost battles and died a prisoner on a rocky island.

Robert E. Lee is considered by many to have been the greatest general of the English-speaking races—(Theodore Roosevelt, for one, thought so)—yet Lee lost battles and the Confederacy, for which he fought, fell.

As one philosopher expressed it, "Success is not in winning—but in playing a poor hand well."

I didn't see "Giant" until I caught it at a second-run theater in Oklahoma City. The musical background is "The Eyes of Texas" and I expected it to be greeted with boos—but it only reminded the Sooners of their numerous victories over the University of Texas football team. (Before 1958 and 1959!)

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Boggs Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Braswell of Brownwood; Mrs. Sam Steel of Cisco; Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Steel and baby of Kerrville; Mrs. Roy Haynes of Ira, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Porter and baby of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wiggins of Rising Star and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Boggs of Plainview.

In another Oklahoma City theater, I saw a frontier movie of settlers and Indians—and when the cavalry was riding to the rescue of the settlers, I was afraid to cheer.

Daniel Webster once found himself the only passenger on a stage-coach. The driver was a villainous-looking individual who kept turning and looking back at Webster.

The passenger decided that the driver was actually a robber and at last said, "Why don't you go ahead and rob me?"

The driver exclaimed, "Rob you? I thought you were a robber."

There was an editorial writer who sometimes didn't feel up to writing an editorial. This usually occurred on a Monday. So he would clip out an editorial from another newspaper and write:

"What does our esteemed contemporary mean by the following?" And then would reproduce the editorial.

However he did this one time too many and lost his job.

Demos for Nixon Headquarters Open at Austin

AUSTIN.—Texas Democrats for Nixon and Lodge opened state headquarters here last week with Former Governor Allan Shivers as chairman.

Emphasizing the vast differences between the National Democratic platform and the state platform, Shivers said he does not believe that the Los Angeles document is in Texas' best interests.

"As I said in 1952," Shivers remarked, "when it comes to deciding between a party label and what's good for our people, I will vote for Texas."

The former governor reported that response to his Dallas television broadcast week before last been very great and enthusiastic, and he has received thousands of letters, telephone calls and telegrams from citizens endorsing his views.

Wildcat Band to Attend Band Day At TCU Saturday

FORT WORTH.—The 67-member Rising Star High School Band will be on the Texas Christian University campus Saturday, Oct. 22, for "Band Day."

Over 2,000 student musicians from 31 high schools across the state will rock the TCU-Amon Carter Stadium in a colorful "Massed Band" halftime show during the TCU-University of Pittsburgh football game that afternoon.

It will be the largest assemblage of bandmen to play on the field at one time in TCU history, according to James A. Jacobsen, director of the university's Horned Frog Band who will put the massed band thru their paces Saturday. The half-time performance will include a salute to the Golden Anniversary of TCU in the City of Fort Worth which is being celebrated this fall.

The Horned Frog Band, billed as the "Show Window of TCU," will be presented in a pre-game program featuring precision drilling.

The Rising Star High School Band is directed by Lloyd Gonzales.

Intimidation of Texas Voters and Officials Charged

AUSTIN.—Former Governor Allan Shivers charged this week that Texas voters and public officials were being subjected to a "shrewd campaign of intimidation and misinformation" to keep them from supporting the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

Shivers is chairman of the statewide Texas Democrats for the Nixon and Lodge organization.

"Texas officeholders and nominees are being ordered to endorse the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in many counties," Shivers said. "Party officers are being told that they will forfeit their positions unless they actively support the ticket. This, of course, is not true.

"Voters are being led to believe that if they voted in the Democratic Primaries and have their poll tax receipts or exemptions stamped 'Democrat', they cannot vote for Nixon and Lodge on Nov. 8.

"No voter gave up his freedom of choice when he voted in the primary.

"Legally, a person may vote as he chooses. Morally, there is no obligation; the so-called 'party pledge' applies only to nominees of that party, not to the national nominees. Actually, we cannot afford to settle for second best in this election because of a party label.

"We will choose the two men, Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, who have proved they possess the leadership, judgment, courage and experience to guide us in an extremely perilous time in world affairs.

"This time, of all times, is no time for petty partisan politics."

Shivers charged that the "wholesale dragooning of public officials and nominees" in public support of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is a manifestation of the "Kennedy machine approach to politics.

"This is something new in Texas, where up to now a man has pretty well run his own race and let the other fellow run his. That is the Texas way—and I might add—the smart way in Texas.

"Now we are having a tryout of the big-city Eastern way—the way they do it in Boston." Shivers said he had personal knowledge that many of these officials and nominees were embracing the National Democratic nominees and platform with "something less than enthusiasm."

"They don't like the socialistic implications of the Los Angeles Manifesto," he observed, referring to the National Democratic platform which he has bitterly criticized. "They don't like Kennedy's plan for a 'managed America,' which would effectively deprive local government of its powers.

Demos Has Real Farm Program, White Declares

AUSTIN.—A real farm program to guarantee farmers their fair share of the national income is the goal of Democratic candidates and the Democratic party, a Texas farm leader and public official declared this week.

"And we will reach that goal once we get a Democratic administration led by John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson to work with a Democratic Congress after January 1," Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, assistant Texas Democratic campaign director, emphasized.

Senator Kennedy's farm program calls for "parity of income which gives acreage producers a return on their invested capital, labor and management equal to that for comparable resources in non-farm employment."

Com. White, who also serves as chairman of the Texas Farmers for Kennedy-Johnson Committee, pointed out following the Kennedy farm statement that "for the first time in eight long years farmers will have an administration in Washington that offers them wholehearted support and sympathetic understanding instead of adroit opposition to the farmer and his problems.

"For the first time in eight long years, our Texas farmers and others over the nation will be able to look to an administration in Washington determined to use the resources of government to preserve the small, family-type farm which has been the foundation of our agricultural economy," Com. White

COPYRIGHTS

America has led the way in protecting the fruit of man's mind. Our literature, drama, scholarship, and vast media of public information prosper because of our copyright law.

Are you an author? An artist? A playwright? Or are you thinking of going into such work? If so, find out about copyright law. It protects you—against copying, but not against independent reproduction of a similar work.

A copyright enables you to sue him in the federal courts for damages and collect — if someone copies your work or any substantial part of it without permission.

The most important single thing about copyrights is this: Do not publish anything until you find out what kind of a copyright notice you need. If you publish without proper notice, you lose all rights in the work.

As long as your book is not published, you own the script. The common law protects your rights in it the same as in any other property. For an unpublished book you need no added legal safeguard. You cannot register its copyright.

But you may copyright such work as a play, lecture, sermon, or art work, though it has not been published.

A book's copyright may be registered in the author's name or anyone he selects, such as the publisher, who can better guard the copyright or grant proper consent to quote the book, under a contract between himself and his publisher.

Here are some other kinds of work you can copyright: Poems, maps, photographs, dramatic and musical compositions.

A copyright is good for 28 years. You may renew it once so as to keep it in effect for a total of 56 years.

You may apply for a copyright at this address: Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. Note briefly the kind of work you wish to copyright.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

850 DIE IN FARM FIRES

Last year 850 persons died in the United States in farm fires. Fires also caused an estimated 174 million dollars loss in property. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council says a lot of these fires happened in Texas and there will be others today, tomorrow, next week and next year; that is, unless rural Texans do a much better job of fire prevention. The Council believes that most fires can be prevented and that losses can be greatly reduced if all Texans will make it impossible for "Fire to find a place to start."

SENIOR JIVE

Once again I find myself with pen and paper in hand setting myself to the task and privilege of writing the Senior Jive.

This week in English IV we find that we are enjoying the study of "Macbeth" very much. "Macbeth" will also be the material which we will use for our term theme due shortly.

In Homemaking III we are in the midst of learning the art of lining a jacket or light suit. We are having a few problems but hoping that they will soon work out.

This week our Wildcats meet with Blanket at Wildcat Stadium; c'mon, Cats, let's show those Tigers how wild Wildcats are supposed to be. O. K.?

Carolyn Cawley would like to thank all the people who bought magazines from her for helping her to win the beautiful watch. Thanks a lot.

I would like to recognize the fact that the Junior High Kittens are doing a fine job this year being undefeated. Let's all go out to their games and lend them a helping hand. O. K.? Keep up the good work "Little Wildcats."

Now I'll let you in on the top secrets of the Seniors. Bombs Away!

Johnnie, I didn't know you could dance!! (I'll bet James doesn't either.)

Jetta, wouldn't you like to go to M. W.? I'll bet I can guess why!! By the way, have you lost your purse lately?

Lanette, if you think life is so complicated now, just wait a few days! Remember "All's fair in love or war!" (Don't take me seriously, Dug) HA!

Rucker, did I see a tint of red on your face second period? Aw, c'mon now, Rucker, don't be bashful!!

Rex, what are you laughing about? I saw you turn red behind the ears!! HA!

Charlie, did you by any chance threaten me? You won't tell what the threat was though, will you? Snail, you'd better stuff that extra hanky in his mouth!!

Elaine—Home, home again, where Tom and his 52 Chevy roam! HA! (How about that, Tom!)

That's all for this week; be sure to join us next week.

We started the new six weeks in English by studying "Snow-Bound", which is a poem by John Greenleaf Whittier.

In Biology we're studying Insect Control. We built an ant den and a terrarium; also we have begun working on our term project, for which every student must have 30 insects.

We are trying very hard to get our American History workbooks up to date, as we spent a great deal of time last week on current events.

I hear that the annual is coming along just fine in Journalism.

In Civics we are studying legislative powers.

The Chemistry class has started the study of nuclear fission. There is one face longer than most since the Pirates defeated the Yankees—huh, Johnny Jones?

P. H., J. H., and S. A., have you forgotten where the gate is to the football field? Watch that!

L. K., I didn't believe it until Mrs. C. showed me your picture. See you next week.

SOPH TALES

Hi there,

Winter must be coming on. All this stormy weather must mean something bad is about to happen, so says William Shakespeare. Yes, we finally started "Julius Caesar", and I must admit it isn't as bad as I thought it would be. We received our booklets and information regarding the theme we must write on "Julius Caesar" for our term project.

Our Biology term project has everyone thinking we're nuts or rather buggy? Every time a Soph sees a bug, after it he goes. This is very simple to explain. We have to catch 30 insects and with winter coming on, it isn't too easy.

Here are a few of the activities in which the Sophs are engaged.

Donnie—Did you enjoy walking home from the show? Good, wholesome exercise!

It seems some of the Soph boys were very interested in something at the school house last Thursday—What about it, boys?

Don—Good at figures, huh?

And that's it for this week.

Bye for now,

Monday—Judy how are you and your pal getting along? Patsy, what were you doing in "that" picture? Lovey, you have one of those pictures, too?

Tuesday—Got out early for P. T. A. Our class won the prize (2.50) in high school for the greatest number of parents in P. T. A. The football and Wednesday—Everyone is hurrying around and trying to get their football "heroes" picture or trying to get a picture of their favorite girl. We got our report cards today—ugh!

Thursday—Hey — Carolyn, I forgot to ask you how you liked that cute little yell that was used Tuesday night? In Homemaking I the girls made a meal using eggs. Some of us do not know how to boil eggs yet; do we, Lovey?

Friday—What a day (and night). Pep rally, football, and at 4:30 Dallas Fair here we come!

The Future Homemakers of Rising Star left Saturday morning at 4:30. Every girl came prepared with pillow, blankets and lunch. There were forty-five homemakers on the bus.

We were sitting three to a seat. We arrived at the Fair around 8:30. Everyone was off the bus by the time it stopped; we were headed for the Midway and exhibits. There were many interesting and educational exhibits. In the afternoon we went to the "Ice Capades," which brought our day to an end.

The bus pulled out from the Fair at 4:45 with a load of tired and weary homemakers.

Here's wishing you Wildcats a victory against Blanket.

14 Boys and Sponsors To Attend RA Rally

DALLAS—(Spl.) — Fourteen boys and their sponsors from the First Baptist Church of Rising Star, Texas, will attend the Regional Texas Baptist Royal Ambassador Rally October 22 at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

After hearing a message by the Rev. B. P. Emanuel, Southern Baptist missionary to Japan, and touring the Hardin-

To Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kizer, former residents of Rising Star and now living in Pittsburg, Texas, will be honored by their children with a tea from 2:30 to 4:30 in Pittsburg on Sunday, Oct. 23, celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kizer are the parents of seven children, all of whom are planning to be present for the occasion. They also have 10 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. One grandson lost his life in a plane crash in Korea.

Simmons Campus, the group will attend a football game between Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State College.

The Abilene meeting is the first of four rallies which are expected to attract around 6,000 persons throughout the state, said Robert Chapman, state RA director.

"The whole idea is to get Royal Ambassador boys on a college campus so that they will have some idea of what college life is like," Chapman said.

The Royal Ambassador program enlists more than 34,000 Royal Ambassador boys in Texas. They participate in programs of fellowship and recreation designed to help mold Christian Character.

Mrs. Anna K. Hittson of Rotan is here for a visit with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Baker.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Cleaner Air Week begins Sunday, October 23. The observance will last through October 29.

What is "Cleaner Air Week?" First we need to answer another question: "What is air pollution?"

A confused admixture of contaminants from an infinite variety of sources combine to make up the complete pattern of polluted air. To understand the whole, we must first understand the separate parts.

And—for engineers and industrial hygienists—this is fairly easy.

They recognize four basic atmospheric factors which cause conditions ranging from mild unpleasantness to actual physical danger to people, animals and crops.

Odors—from paper mills, rendering plants, chemical processing, incinerators, backyard trash fires, and other sources.

Chemical substances—which may cause odor, paint blackening, corrosion or other effects—such as sulfur dioxide, acid mists, solvent vapors and others, plus automobile exhausts believed by many scientists to be the biggest culprit.

Dusts—cement dust, metal fumes, dusts arising from unpaved roads and construction work, and also lint and dust from cotton gins.

Smokes—both industrial and non-industrial—from sludge and waste oil burning, power plants, incinerators, junk yards and, importantly enough, from backyard trash fires.

Weather factors such as temperature inversions play important roles. A temperature inversion occurs when overlying layers of air are warmer than the underlying air.

Under normal conditions, smoke rises into the cooler air and gradually dissipates, but in unfavorable conditions smoke and other pollutants are liable to hang like a pall over tremendous urban and even rural areas.

So it is that the combination of pollutants emitted into the air from all sources—domestic, industrial, automobiles—contribute to air pollution. When coupled with untoward weather conditions, air pollution can be expensive and dangerous.

Cleaner Air Week is a good time to start practicing air pollution abatement and keep it up all year long. (A weekly feature from Public Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

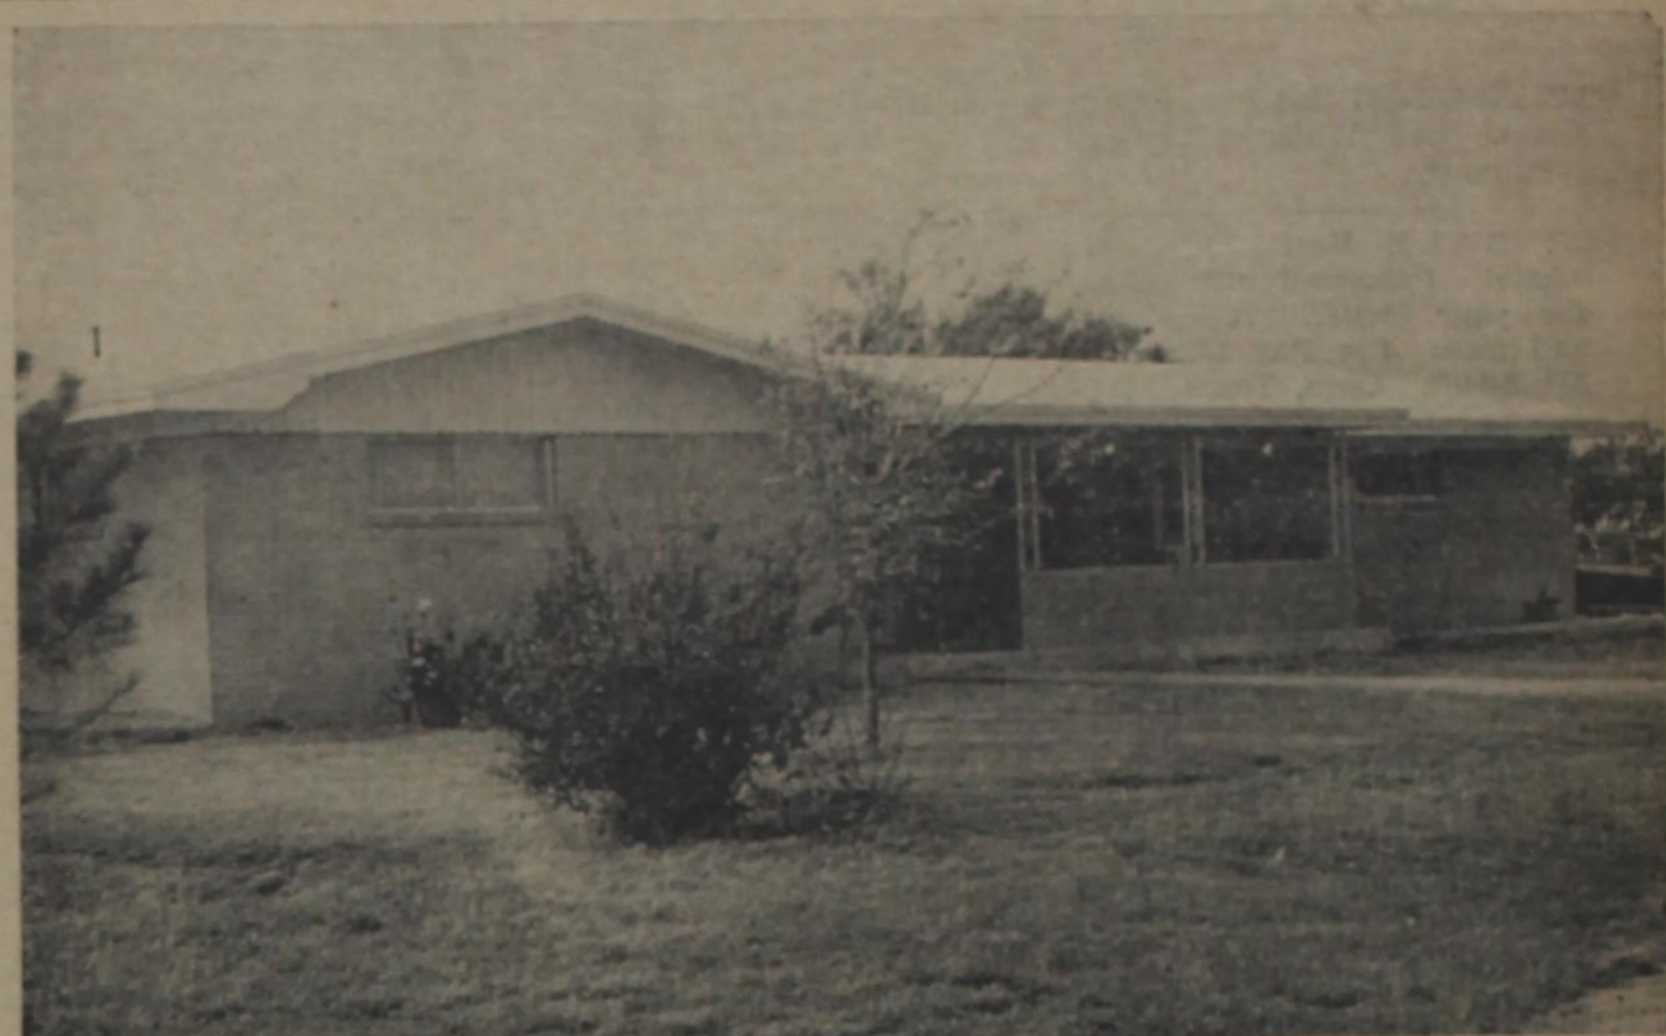

Eddie Joe Henry, who teaches in Hico High School, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Henry.

BOYS SPORTS

The Wildcats made a good showing against May but didn't look so good against Baird. The Cats host Blanket at Wildcat Stadium this Friday night at 7:30. Come out and back the Cats!

The boys who are not playing football are playing volleyball and soccer. They seem to be just about as rough as the Wildcats!

V. A. NEWS

We arrived at the Dallas Fair about 9 a.m. Everyone had loads of fun.

I think all the boys that went to the "girly girly" shows were disappointed, weren't you, Mack?

Richard came back with some mighty tall tales about some girl, but, of course, we can't always believe what Richard says.

We also found that to have a good time you don't have to stay on the Midway. We saw many modern exhibits, which were very educational.

Winfield Scott of Fort Worth visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Scott, on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 16-17.

Even though the auto has replaced the horse, it's still a good idea for the driver to stay on the wagon.

Comment from the Capital —

THE MONSTER IN OUR MIDST

by Vant Neff

The court calendars are crowded with cases against business firms for alleged violations of the anti-trust law. Yet you'll find that not one similar case is directed against any big union organization.

We may well ask, why? Aren't big union organizations often guilty of "restraint of trade?" Shouldn't there be an anti-trust law for them?

The truth is that nothing in our laws protect business or the public from any monopolistic powers modern unions decide to exercise.

In the Thirties, the Wagner Act helped to create a Frankenstein monster of union power. Today, all of us are being victimized by it. Across the nation, people (including many workers forced to join unions against their wishes) are asking: what can we do, in the public interest, to control the power of unions?

It's a good question, but to get an intelligent answer to it you must first understand the main sources of union power. That power today comes from a variety of laws which protect unions, along with privileges and practices generally accepted in the courts.

What is urgently needed are laws that take full account of the sources of union power — laws to protect the public from abuses of union power, just as the anti-trust laws protect the public from any effort on the part of big business to exert too much power.

What are the sources of union power? Here are six of the important ones:

1. Exclusive bargaining rights. Under present laws, unions have the power to speak for all employees. And all employees are subject to the terms of the labor contract, whether they belong to the union or not, and whether they like the terms of the contract or not!

2. Compulsory union membership. Every year, under so-called "union shop" contracts, whether they wish to or not. Those who don't want to join are still forced to pay union initiation fees and dues or lose their jobs.

3. Economic power. Besides coercing employers, strikers also coerce employees and others who may want to work but can be prevented from doing so. This is a forceful power tool for many unions and explains the growth of ruthless union bosses.

4. Legal immunities. Unions have legal immunities which are denied to other organizations. Exemption from the anti-trust laws is one of them. This source of union-leader power makes it possible for unions to control labor supply and wages (and therefore control prices) and to engage in other practices which, under the anti-trust laws, would be considered "in restraint of trade."

(There are more than a dozen such immunities that unions enjoy, including the one to compel one employer under certain circumstances to disclose his financial records. The unions are immune from any corresponding obligation!)

5. Political Power. The economic power of unions goes hand in hand with their political power. A good example of this was the outcome of the last steel dispute. The steelworkers union got a settlement which it wasn't able to get through months of striking. For it was made clear to the steel company that unless a settlement was reached, Congress would pass legislation forcing a settlement that industry would not like.

6. Underworld power. Some unions' connections with underworld characters have proved too numerous to require listing here. How the Johnny Doss and the army of similar hoodlums, racketeers and convicted criminals suddenly turned up as officers and leaders of labor unions nobody understands, nobody explains. But more important, almost nothing has been done about them, yet.

For the past quarter of a century union leaders have been lobbying in Washington to block any major legislation that would control the enormous power in the hands of union bosses. The Taft-Hartley Act was one piece of legislation they were not able to block out, but as subsequent events have proved, this law had many loopholes which union leaders have exploited.

Another bill they weren't able to stop was the labor reform legislation known as the Landrum-Griffin Bill. The main reason for that was public indignation. The people of this country had enough of union evils, and expressed themselves with an avalanche of opinion in favor of the bill.

The Landrum-Griffin law attempts to protect the union member from abuses by his own union bosses but did nothing to protect the public from union excesses.

This is a reassuring fact about ordinary Americans — when they are made sufficiently aware of a situation that acts against the public interest, they respond vigorously. Today, the time is ripe for the public to react to the monopolistic power of unions. Unless effective legislative action is taken, we shall soon reach a point of no return, when unions will have so much power that they will be able to do anything they wish.

WILDCATS LOSE—

beginning of the second half chilled the Rising Star team. The Bears returned the kickoff to Baird 33, made a first down on the Rising Star 47 and then ran out on the Rising Star 20. In three plays they carried across the goal and then racked up two extra points to make the score 14 to 0. Kicking off to the Wildcats, they forced a punt and returned the kick all the way for their third touchdown.

The Cats made another scoring gesture when Jodie Edmiston ran to the Baird 32-yard line, but a clipping penalty cost the Wildcats 15 yards. Another pass, Jones to Jodie Edmiston was completed on the Baird 25 and a pass interference called on the next play gave the Cats the ball on the Baird 17. A passing attack failed and Baird took over.

Mack Harris dropped a Baird back for a loss in the next series of downs and forced the Bears to punt for the first time, Jones returning to the Rising Star 20. The Cats' offense was ineffective, however, and Jones kicked to the Baird 46, where the Bears were again forced to kick, Dicky Morrow returning to the Rising Star 36. Morrow barely got a punt away that rolled to the Baird 31. A Baird pass and run, barely completed, was good for 65 yards and a touchdown. The Bears scored their final touchdown after recovering a fumble on the Rising Star 26.

Friday night the Cats meet the Blanket team in a non-conference game at Wildcat field at 7:30 o'clock.

Better Keep This in Mind—

... if you buy real estate without an abstract the chances are good that you will be required to furnish one when you go to sell or borrow money. It is customary for seller to furnish buyer with an abstract as he usually adds cost of same and other necessary expenses to the sale's price. So for many reasons all in your favor get an abstract and have it examined by your attorney when you buy real estate.
