WHY WORRY?

There are only two things to worry about:
 Either you are well,
 or you are sick.
 If you are well then there is nothing to worry about.
 If you are sick there are two things to worry about -
 Either you get well or you die.
 If you get well, there is nothing to worry about.
 If you die there are only two things to worry about -
 Either you go to Heaven or Hell.
 If you go to Heaven there is nothing to worry about.
 If you go to Hell, you'll be darn busy shaking hands with your friends.
 You won't have time to worry.

T.V. Cable System Available To Rising Star

The City Council of Rising Star held a public meeting Tuesday night, June 27 in the high school gym. J.M. McHan, systems superintendent of the Brownwood TV Cable Service and Doyle Collup of the Fort Worth office - Andrews Tower Company, where he is director of services, were present to answer questions that local people might have about the prospect of bringing a TV cable system to Rising Star and to present a general outline of the system.

The TV Cable system will offer better pictures to people of Rising Star and area, according to the two men. The system will possibly service both Cross Plains and Rising Star with the cable tower located between the two cities.

The cable representatives explained that almost any channel can be picked up on the cable; although, there is a level where it is not conceivable to pick up some channels, it was explained. One educational channel, three networks, and two independent stations will be included in the programming. Mr. McHan went ahead to explain that channels 8 and 4 of Dallas, channel 39 and 11 will be a few of the stations offered on the cable system.

Cost will be $7.50 per month, for the first TV set, with a minimal charge for additional sets. The initial installation fee will be free to those who sign onto the system before construction is completed.

The physical construction of the plant will take about three to four months. However, the government must approve the franchise, along with other preliminary details to be completed. There fore construction should be complete five to six months from the date of franchise.

A broad - banded FM amplifier can be included upon request at no additional charge per month; however, there will possibly be a small initial installation fee.

Also included in cable programming will be a local station equipped with a weather scanner. Video tape recorders will be installed by which local events, such as ball games and other school events, emergencies, etc. can be televised for broadcast at later dates. Weather information will normally be presented on this channel.

Residents of Rising Star and surrounding area may obtain more information by phoning 915 - 646 - 1559, in Brownwood, collect. The staff at Brownwood TV cable service will be happy to answer any questions.

Children's Pictures Taken Free In Color

Thursday, July 13th, is the big day set to take Living Color pictures of your little ones. The Rising Star is having pictures taken of all children accompanied by their parents or other guardian to the News office between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. absolutely free of any charge or obligation.

The Rising Star wants to publish a picture of your child in a photographic feature series of local children entitled "Citizens of Tomorrow".

A professional children's photographer will take the pictures in Direct Living Color. We emphasize, therefore, that you dress the children colorfully so as to take full advantage of the beauty of Color photography.

NO CHARGE TO PARENTS

There is not charge or obligation for taking the pictures. Parents don't even have to be a subscriber to the Rising Star nor even a reader. You do not have to purchase pictures either. Proofs will be shown in Color and you may obtain Color portraits by arranging direct with the studio representative if you want them. That is entirely up to you! The pictures appearing in the newspaper will be in black and white.

GOOD PICTORIAL FEATURE

In keeping with the quality Feature policy of this newspaper, we want to make this a memorable Feature. This means we want all the pictures of local youngsters we can get to run in the paper. Kiddies and parents alike will reap no end of fun and pride as the pictures appear in the paper. Mothers and fathers of children in the area which this newspaper circulates, please help us and remember the date Thursday, July 13 at The Rising Star and bring your children to be photographed.

If you have not already made an appointment for this community event do it now. Call Sara Butler at phone number 643 - 3371 or 643 - 4141 and avoid the possibility of a long wait.

Rising Star Has Another New Business

Another new business has opened in Rising Star the past week. It is Kelley's Second Hand Store located in the old Higginbotham building.

John and Jeannette Kelley, owners and operators, moved to Rising Star from Odessa. They had been in business there for thirteen years as owners of A to Z Mart, a store similar to the one they now have here, but on a much larger basis.

The Kelleys' have two married children and three children at home. Lorri will be a junior at Rising Star High School this year. David will be an eighth grader and J.T. a sixth grader. The Kelleys are all active members of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Kelley said he is most interested in buying all types of second hand merchandise, such as furniture, appliance, air conditioners, all kinds of tools, lawn mowers, radios, televisions and many more items.

He has several items for rental purposes. Some of these are hospital beds, wheel chairs, a four - wheel roll - a round for painting inside or out and a cement mixer which runs on a three point power take - off from a tractor. He will also dig water lines for the public.

While there I saw everything from a 14 foot Lone Star boat with motor and trailer to an old block machine for making concrete blocks.

The Kelleys would like for everyone in Rising Star and vicinity to come by, look around and chat a while.

We're certainly glad to have them in our town and feel they'll be a great asset to the community.

Shannon Shares His Summer Vacation

By Shannon Childers

Well, we started our trip on a Saturday afternoon. Mike and Jimmy Rutherford kept our dog, Bandit.

We spent the first night in Sulphur Springs, then we went on our way to Opryland (it is sort of like Six Flags). We still went on. We ended up at the Hermitage and we went in. It was very interesting. We went to the Smoky Mountains and spent the night at Safari Camp where they have a heated pool. Then we went to Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson.

Inside we took a tour, he had these two doors that if you pushed one door the other door would open too. He had a fish pool and all sorts of funny things. Then we went to Washington D.C. and saw the capitol and the White House. On the way back we saw the Nature Bridge; it was pretty.

We got home last Friday. It was a great vacation, but we are glad to be back.

P.S. Larry Alford showed us around in Washington.

AVIATION CORNER

By Walter T. Le Blanc CFI

Since aviation began, the mysteries of flying seem to have always been kept a dark secret except by a select few called Pilots. It used to be, that if you talked to a pilot, he would use words that you couldn't understand, or how much of a dare devil he was. In the early years of flying, you almost had to be a dare devil. Flimsy flying machines built of wood, cloth, wire and even paper. To be able to fly 200 feet above the ground in itself was a feat of courage. To these men and women, aerodynamics was just a word. Nothing was really tested and if it worked, they were really lucky. Today we have wind tunnels, stress machines, testing equipment, which will prove that an airplane will fly, how much of a load it will carry, how safe it is, and what speed it will fly, even before it is built and actually flown. We have radios that not only are used for talking over, but are used to tell you what course to fly, how high we are, how far we are from our destination, how fast we are going over the ground. These radios allow us to make landings when visibility on the ground is almost zero, allow us to fly through clouds without ever seeing the ground, at the same time telling us our exact location. We have radar in airplanes to warn us of thunderstorms, radar on the ground to advise us of other airplanes in the sky and their locations, radar to guide us into a safe landing. If by chance, we are forced down in a remote location, there are radio devices that send out signals that bring help quickly.

Yes, I might say that we pilots, even today are a close knit group, always ready to assist or guide our fellow pilots. We also help you, the public, in many ways that are unheard of. I fly a lot in California, and while flying there, I have reported forest fires that were stopped before they got out of control. I have sent help to stranded motorists on desert highways, many of them unaware that that little plane flying high above became aware of their plight and with his radio called the nearest airfield and who in turn called the highway patrol. Some day you may owe your life to that little plane flying peacefully in the blue.

Last week I gave you a sample of what your first flying lesson would be like and possibly the thrills and excitement that go with it.

As you continue on with your lessons, you will find it is hard work and will take a very concentrated effort on your part. You won't be doing much sight seeing, that will come later. There will be days when things go smoothly and other days that everything you seem to do goes wrong and you have the feeling that your instructor hates you. There will be times that will make you wonder why you are learning to fly, but when you see that cute little 17 year old girl get into an airplane, take off, and then come back and land about an hour later, tie down her airplane and walk away as if she had just been out for a ride in the family car, you say to yourself, "If she can do it, then I sure as heck can," and before you realize it you can hardly wait for your next lesson.

Lessons vary little from one instructor to the next. We have to learn step by step and we have to master one step before we can go on to the next. We learn to crawl before we learn to walk. To spell and read simple words before we can read a great book. Your instructor may have you only making turns to the left and right for a full hour or doing some other maneuver until it is letter perfect. Remember in doing these maneuvers, each one leads up to another and all must be used to fly safely.

That turn is needed to fly a pattern around the airport in order to land properly, or those hours of slow flight are needed to slow your airplane down to a safe and proper landing speed and still maintain complete control. These all lead up to that great day when the instructor steps out of the airplane and tells you to take it up alone. Believe me, he won't do that until he knows that you can do it. It may take only eight hours or it may take you as long as 15 or even 20 hours.

Sometime after your first solo you will have to take a written examination in one of the Federal Aviation Administrations (FAA) offices which are composed of multiple choice questions. A passing score of 70 percent is needed. The questions are not hard or tricky if you have faithfully studied your books. This test will take about four hours and all you will be allowed to bring to the examination room are a computer and a plotter. All pencils and papers will be taken about three weeks to get your final results and score.

If you fail this examination by any chance, don't give up hope. Your Instructor will go over the questions you missed and help you to bone up on your other weak points. He will give you a letter to allow you to retake the examination and I bet you pass it with flying colors the second time.

You should be well schooled by now in navigation and weather. There should be no mysteries as to what makes an airplane tick. Before you finish your training, that airplane will fit you like a glove, it will respond to whatever you want it to do, go where you want it to and let you know when it doesn't want to.

You will have to make three 'cross country' flights. These flights will be 100 miles or more to other airports and when you land, someone will sign your log for you. You will be doing maneuvers that your instructor wants you to practice, and practice you'd better, because he'll be going up with you to see if you can do them right. He will be leading you up to the big day when you'll be taking that final flying examination by someone from the FAA.

So far, your sight seeing has been limited. Now you will begin to see more of the ground. Your instructor will have you point out once in a while where you are located on that map which has been sliding off your lap. You will constantly be referring to landmarks outside, like rivers and towns, railroads, mountains, water towers and locating them on your map. Hard? Wait until you start doing this at night. Everything takes on a different aspect then. Worried about night flying? Don't be. At night it's a different and beautiful world. The stars are bright, the colorful lights on the ground of various cities and towns. You'll get the feeling that you don't want to land and leave this wondrous sight. Landing may seem hard at first with only lights to guide you, but after two or three landings, you'll be an old pro.

I mentioned before that I flew a lot in California which is much more difficult than it is around the Texas Area. I've had to cope with mountains, smog, fog, rain and even snow. Then there is the desert with no land marks to guide you. Layers of clouds that you can't see sky through and many days that flying was impossible. With my 'Instrument Rating' I would ask for a clearance from the tower to go IFR (Instrument Flight Rules) on top. I'd fly through three or four thousand feet of dirty grey murky clouds where I could hardly see my wing tips and then I would break out into a new world. Clear bright blue sky, a white puffy layer of clouds below me looking like a gigantic snow field and all the clean fresh cool air in the world to breathe. My only regret was when I had to descend through all this again to land at the airport. I think if anyone could or would ask me why I like to fly, my reason is this. I have the sense of real freedom, I can lose myself like a bird, go where I want, see what I want and best of all I can live for what I am doing at the moment, not thinking about yesterday or what tomorrow may bring.

Next week, I will tell you about the final flying test, what is like to fly under the 'hood', and something about small airports in general.

If you have time this weekend, why don't you and the family take a drive to one of the small airports in your area. Marvel at the soft landings and take offs. Look at the airplanes and talk to the pilots, airport operators and the mechanics. I know that they will answer any questions you may have in the Aviation Field and who knows, you may be tempted to sit behind the controls of that airplane that can take you to adventures unlimited.

PATTY GAIL ROSE

Patty Stuard Becomes Bride of Donald Dean Rose

Patty Gail Stuard and Donald Dean Rose were united in marriage at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 1, 1972 in the First Baptist Church of Rising Star, Texas. Rev. Vic Allen officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Stuard of Rising Star, Texas. The Groom is the son of Mr. Douglas Rose of Ranger, Texas. The church and altar were decorated with white candles in candelabras. Yellow roses and runners of entwined English ivy were also used. Organist Pat Walker provided traditional wedding music for the ceremony.

Frankie Baker was the candle lighter. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white wedding gown of chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice with a high lace scalloped neckline. Long fitted sleeves that tapered to petal points over the wrist. The full skirt and train was outlined in scallops at the floor-length. Her veil was outlined in scallops of chantilly lace attached to a headdress covered with a motif of lace roses and seed pearls.

The groom chose an arrangement with two white orchids designed to be carried atop a white Bridal Bible for the bride's wedding bouquet.

The Bride, in keeping Bridal tradition wore something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and wore a six-pence in her shoe. The six-pence was given to her by the Groom's father, Douglas Rose.

Betty Jo Burcham served as Matron of Honor. Karen Stuard was Bridesmaid for the Bride. Both are sisters of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns with high rise waistline bodice of imported mint green Jacamar crepe. Their headdress was ruffled bands of the crepe with light green shoulder-length illusion net attached under the bands. They carried French nosegay bouquets of yellow miniature roses backed with white lace collars.

Don Rose, brother to the groom, served as Best man. Braxton Burcham, brother-in-law to the bride served as Groomsman. The Groom and Groomsman wore black suits with white boutonnieres.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Church Fellowship Hall. The Bridal table was covered with a white floor-length cloth of taffeta and topped with a full ruffled net skirt. English ivy was draped in scallops around the edge of the table and attached with yellow bows with long streamers. On one side of the table featured a three tier wedding cake decorated with yellow roses. The layers were divided by white columns and topped with a miniature bride and groom. At the opposite end mint green punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. The table was centered with large white magnolias backed by crystal candelabra with white candles arranged on a round mirror. The decorations carried out the bride's chosen colors of light yellow, green and white. Della Brown, grandmother of the bride, served the wedding cake. Frankie Baker, aunt of the bride, attended the serving of the punch.

Lou Randolph, cousin of the bride, attended the registering of guests in the Bridal Book. Karen Stuard, sister of the bride, was hostess of the pre-nuptial luncheon.

For travel, the bride wore a dress of yellow polyester lace with a white orchid corsage and light yellow accessories.

The couple will reside at Hillside Apartments in Eastland after their wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate nurse of Cisco Junior College and is employed at Eastland Hospital.

The Groom is assistant manager of the Chestnut Cycle Center in Ranger.

The program includes study of common emergency, heart attacks, strokes, and epileptic convulsions. Skills studied are types of bandaging, improvised litter, artificial respiration, immobilization of fractured extremities, three man hammock carry and improvised fixed traction splint.

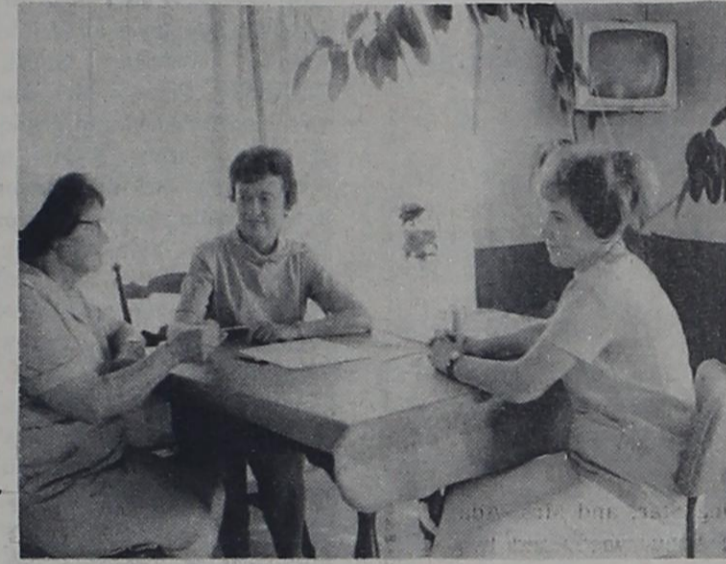

In the Nutrition the aides learn about special diets and how to feed bed patients who have special diets. They also also learn of food born diseases.

Jewel Newton, administrator of Twilite Acres Nursing Home, requires each employee to have an in-service training program on a continuing basis.

Mrs. Newton said, "We at Twilite Acres strive to give compassionate care with homelike atmosphere."

HOME AND FAMILY HINTS

From Higginbothams

Barbara Williams

Higginbothams sells refrigerators. You use them. And often you probably wonder if a particular food has been in the refrigerator a little too long to be truly safe for your family.

No one can tell you exactly how long a food will last in the refrigerator because there are too many unknowns involved. You do not know, for example, how long the food has been in the store before purchase; nor do you know exactly what conditions it was kept under before it reached the shelf. We can, however, give approximate limits on storing food in the refrigerator. The times are for foods properly handled before purchase and stored afterward in an average refrigerator in good repair. Remember not to overload your refrigerator for maximum cooling efficiency and do get leftovers into the refrigerator promptly; don't wait for them to cool completely.

FROM OUR CHURCHES

First Baptist Church Rising Star

We are anxiously awaiting our new pastor, Rev. Monte Mills, his wife and baby daughter who will be moving to Rising Star the latter part of this week.

Mid week prayer service was conducted by our interim pastor Ed Jackson and an inspiring message was brought by Rev. Jim Turner of Tahoka who with his family are visiting in the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Turner.

Youth Camp will be July 24-28th at Heart of Texas Camp at Brownwood. Rev. Scooter McCarty will be camp director. We want all of the young people to make a special effort to attend this camp. It should be a spiritual highlight of the summer. If you are interested in attending contact Jeannette Kelley.

Plans are in the making for another Youth Rally.

Our new children's choir has been singing the special music for the evening services. They have been a joy to hear and we invite your child to participate. Choir practice at 5:30 Sunday evening. Children in first through sixth grades.

Thought for the week.
Be big enough to be little!

First United Methodist Church Rising Star

Let's be thankful for the nice rain.

Several members were absent for vacations, and Fourth of July, Sunday services.

Friends and relatives were saddened last week of the passing of Mrs. Molly West and son R.D. Maxwell.

W.S.C.S. served lunch Friday to the families of Mrs. Molly West.

Rev. Lloyd Coker rendered services at First United Methodist Church of Cisco Sunday evening. Four denominations will be exchanging pulpits during the summer months. Those attending from Rising Star were: Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Coker, Ludy Boase, Lessie Smith, Madge Bell and Nina Grissom. Refreshments of homemade ice cream and cake were served by youth of church after services.

Two youngsters celebrated their birthday Sunday, Mrs. Clara Burkhead and Cecil Joyce.

Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Coker enjoyed fellowship and meal with members or Wesley Methodist Church of Cisco, Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook were enjoying their wedding anniversary Friday. Martha Bullard, of Corpus Christi visited her father Mr. J.R. Bucy and Mrs. Bucy last week.

Bill Crawford of Graham visited his mother, Mrs. L.G. Crawford the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Joyce, and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hill and others, attended the Smith-Alford Reunion at American Legion Hall Sunday.

L.G. III and Ronald Crawford of Cleburne, visited their grandmother Mrs. L.G. Crawford last week.

Mrs. Sam Henderson, accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Jess Starr and husband of Richmond, California, attended Church service Sunday. Mrs. Starr is a former Rising Star girl.

Friends and relatives would like to hear Mr. S.M. (Seth) Bucy of Coleman was reported making progress and in good spirits after surgery at Hendricks Memorial Hospital last week.

Weekend activities:
Sunday School . . . 9:45 a.m.
Morning Worship . . . 11 a.m.
Evening Worship . . . 6:30 p.m.
M.Y.F. . . . 8:00 p.m.
Thought for the week:

When a man begins to realize the truth about himself, it reduces his desire to reform his neighbors.

Mrs. Lloyd Coker

Church of Christ Rising Star

Recently I heard of a church member who saved his contributions for a year and bought a new car. His preacher later commented, "Boy, I wish I could get a car that cheap!"

When we consider the great sacrifice of Jesus Christ, God's Son, on the cross for us, our hearts should long to give of ourselves for Him. Our bodies are to be presented to God as "living sacrifices" (Rom. 12:1)

Wednesday evening was our fourth Wednesday night devotional and our theme was: "How Great Thou Art". Songs, prayers, Scripture readings and devotional thoughts were planned along that line of thought. It was a great evening of worship. Following the devotional, we had our monthly birthday fellowship. It was nice to have the Hershel McDonalds visiting with us.

Most of our sick seem to have improved. Martha Cook was at Sunday morning worship after being hospitalized last week. Sherry Cotton was dismissed from the hospital Sunday afternoon. Mrs. A.J. Lamb is still a patient in Eastland Hospital.

Again this week there was sadness among our members. We sympathize with Mrs. E.L. Buzbee on the death of her brother, Joseph Chandler.

When we consider the greatness of the universe which God has created, we are made to exclaim with David, "What is man that thou art mindful of him?" (Ps. 8:4) But God is concerned with each of us and because of his concern and love, we should give ourselves to Him.

James Haney

Bible Baptist Church Rising Star

Last Thursday night's fellowship was well attended and enjoyed by everyone. Plans are now in the making for our next fellowship. The time and place will be announced later. We urge you to make plans now to attend as Christian fellowship is necessary in the life of a Christian.

Speaking of attendance, I just must say something about our Wednesday evening Prayer Meeting. About eighty percent of our Sunday attendance came to Prayer Meeting last Wednesday night. Needless to say the Lord keeps His promise (as he always does) and meet with us and each one's soul was fed. This shows a work of God in the lives of these individuals who have a sincere desire for the things of God in this "sinful day" when people are "too busy" with themselves and the things of this world to have time for God. Not only is Prayer Meeting a thing of the past, but also Sunday evening services are almost gone and the Sunday Morning Worship Service itself is being threatened.

A "Work Night" is scheduled for July 6th as improvements continue to be made on the building.

Most of our sick are up and around now and able to attend church so we are looking forward for a good day Sunday. We invite you to come worship with us.

Sunday School . . . 10 a.m.
Morning Worship . . . 10:45 a.m.
Preaching Service . . . 7:00 p.m.
Wednesday Prayer Meeting . . . 8:00 p.m.
Hebrews 10:25: "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more as ye see the day approaching."

'Tune' Tires First To Save Time For Summer Fun

Motorists' chances of truly enjoying the lyrical "lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer" are a lot better if they bone up on warm weather tire care.

These maintenance and safety tips to drivers preparing for summer vacation trips or, traditionally, just more time on the open road:

- Make sure you have enough tread on your tires to last on long trips. If you're near the minimum safe tread depth of 1/16 inch in two or more grooves you may want to make replacements before you take off for isolated areas.

- If you buy any new tires remember the law requires the seller to register them if they were made after May 22, 1971. In the unlikely event a recall is necessary because of possible safety defects the manufacturer will notify you directly.

- Check for proper inflation when tires are "cold", before starting out. Follow the car manufacturer's recommendations in your owner's manual, or posted in the glove compartment or affixed to a door pillar. Add up to four pounds of air per tire for long periods of highway driving at high speeds, but never exceed the maximum pounds per square inch (example: 32 p.s.i. max.) marked on the sidewalls.

- Use your own air pressure gauge if possible. Studies have shown station air towers are often inaccurate up to plus or minus four pounds per square inch.

- Vacation trips often mean heavy loads. Make sure the weight is distributed as evenly as possible, including weight in any towed vehicle. Check your owner's manual or a tire dealer for the maximum load limits of your tires.

- Driving on snow tires for any prolonged period in warm weather is poor economy. Abnormally high heat buildup in these thicker tires can wear down the tread faster than in regular tires. It may also cause sudden disablement.

- When the rain comes, beware of skidding on "summer ice". Water mixes with oil and gas films already on the road to form a slick surface. The risk of losing control is five to ten times more likely on wet pavement.

- Check front end alignment frequently, especially if you notice uneven tread wear or "pulling" to one side while driving. Back roads or a few solid bumps on any surface can throw alignment out, even if it was recently adjusted.

- Check for debris such as stones and glass embedded in the tread and in the grooves before starting out.

- Rotate your tires according to the recommendations in the owner's manual. If you notice abnormal tread wear or seem to be getting a bad ride, this is a good time to have your tires balanced.

- Let experts check your tires for proper inflation, cuts or other damage. You'll like the folks at

Animal Lovers Everywhere

BY NANCY STANLEY

Dear Reader:
Hello again!
Last week my column included information about the plight of exotic birds.

I would like to make a few more comments about such: Development of vaccines and research on other contagious bird diseases is now more than necessary if present and future investments in the bird industry is to enjoy any degree of security. This we think would be the greatest single thing that can be done to insure importation of avian birds from foreign countries.

It is extremely important that everyone interested in the plight of exotic birds make some effort in this move to encourage the Morris Animal Foundation to include birds in this worthy research program.

For this purpose the foundation's address is: Morris Animal Foundation, 531 Guaranty Bank Building, Denver, Colorado 80202.

The U.S.D.A. this week issued its new regulations for re-opening foreign and United States quarantine stations. They have six major regulations for importing parrot-type and Mynah birds. Birds will remain in quarantine in foreign stations forty-five days and then be shipped in and put in holding for thirty days here in the United States before turned loose on the market.

The first batch of parrots and Mynah birds are due to be on the market sometime in later August. And prices will be double.

The U.S.D.A. could at any time impose restrictions on any, or all other species of birds and denentry of them to the United States as they have done.

So "Bird Lovers" of Rising Star and far corners of the United States, I urge you to enlist the aid of as many friends of birds as possible in this effort to aid the Morris Animal Foundation avian birds in their research support programs.

It might be of interest to you to know that the foundation is no longer a private organization and will no longer have to pay tax on its investment income and individuals may not contribute tax-free up to 50 percent of their gross ordinary income as gifts go to the foundation. A gift of $100,000.00 from the estate of Mrs. Laura Ford, Gross Point, Michigan, has already been received.

You and I likely can't give these types of gifts, but we can write and show our feelings and encourage the adding of cage birds to their research support program. Let's do our part now.

We received today a survey to fill out and return to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin. Maybe you Rising Star sportsmen would like to write in your views to help our game department with this survey.

They say - Dear Sportsman: The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department needs your help in the management of mourning doves; let them know one of the following:

I definitely plan to hunt mourning doves during the 1972 season.

I definitely do not plan to hunt mourning doves during the 1972 season.

I am undecided whether I will hunt mourning doves during the 1972 season.

Please check the one statement that best describes your intentions and mail immediately to your Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78601.
