

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th Texas Dist.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—SIGN-UP for medicare program ended last Tuesday May 31. The Program becomes effective July 1.

EFFORTS HAVE been made to advise people to their right of selection and participation, and to alert them to dates which may later be important to them.

NOW THAT the deadline is passed and its operation soon to begin, it seems in order to also warn against disappointment which some are bound to find in Medicare.

TWO pamphlets are available in limited quantity for those who may have a need for the publication and who may not have gotten one at the time they signed up under the Medicare Program. If more information is needed, write: Congressman Omar Burleson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515 or inquire at your Social Security office.

70 percent of the population could qualify under the provisions of State Law as it relates to the receipt of Federal funds. About all that is perfectly obvious is that the cost is staggering. Even this does not seem of concern to some where these new programs are viewed as the forerunner of something vastly larger. The New York Times commented that this set-up "makes it logical for Congress to begin thinking seriously about the desirability of providing comprehensive health insurance for all Americans."

THE PEOPLE of our country have long accepted an obligation to care for those who cannot care for themselves. It is another thing to think that any nation has the resources to provide free medical care for everyone, whether they need it or not and still maintain its solvency and its standards.

THERE IS considerable concern on the part of those who strongly supported Medicare in the beginning that the rules laid down for its administration could wreck the Program very quickly. The larger States, such as the one cited, could siphon off money made available while other people all over the Country are paying the bills by increased Social Security payments.

LAST WEEK the house of representatives passed an increase in the Minimum Wage and added coverage for approximately 7 million people. Mostly, these were of the work force which can summon organized power, but it does nothing than increase the burden of the unorganized 39 or 40 million people on fixed pensions. It increases the problems of those privately employed in household services who are below the age of eligibility for Social Security payments. The employers of those people will have difficulty in raising their wages because of the ever sharper bite of the Social Security payments and the prices of goods. It would make as much sense for the Government each month to make up the difference between the original purchasing power of income and current prices.

IN VIEW of all the programs passed last year and in the present Session of Congress, the theories of Dr. Robert Theobald, the British economist, do not appear by comparison as radical as when he first proposed a guaranteed income for everyone.

FACING UP to what appears to be an early experience with Medicare, this is likely to happen to a great many people, regardless of age:

FIRST, THE wait to get into a hospital for conditions which do not require immediate attention will become longer.

SECOND, IN a great many cities and towns an emergency patient, after July 1, may find himself bedded in a hospital corridor or a waiting room converted into emergency use.

THIRD, THE medicare patient may find it necessary to go home from the hospital before he feels ready to go, and perhaps even before the doctor thinks he should.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Williams have recently moved to Rising Star from Shamrock, and are living in the Harris home in the North west part of town. The Williams are Baptist.

Continued Work May Hike S S Payments

People who continue to work, or return to work after applying for social security benefits may qualify for higher payments because of additional earnings, R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of the Abilene social security office, announced today.

"The Social Security Administration will use its electronic computers to determine whether recent earnings will increase benefit amounts," according to Tuley. "If so, the increase will be made automatically. In the past it has been necessary for a beneficiary to file an application to have his benefit amount refigured. Now the application is not necessary."

Tuley emphasized that this change should encourage people to file an application for benefits before they become 65. Such an applicant can be filed as early as three months before one's 65th birthday.

An additional and very important reason is the fact that applicants who file applications during the 3 month period before they reach 65 will have medicare protection at the earliest possible date. A delay in filing would, in turn, delay the date their medicare protection would become effective.

Browsing With Bev

By Beverly Nicholson

Now that Spring is here, it is time to store winter clothes. Special attention should be given to your wool and mohair garments.

Store only clean garments. Spots and stain will be harder to remove—or they may not come out at all—a year later. Moth larvae are attracted more to solid clothing. Send the solid garments to a dry cleaner and call his attention to any spots or stains.

Besides dry cleaning, brushing and sunning garments will also help rid clothing of moths including their eggs and larvae. Brush thoroughly, especially in seams, folds and pockets. For added protection to store your clothing with moth balls—paradichlorobenzene crystals, or naphthalene flakes or crystals. Directions on the container suggest the amount to use.

It is a good idea to remove plastic buttons, buckles and other plastic ornaments before storing. Avoid using plastic hangers, which may cause a stain or melt into the fabric. If space is available, store hangable garments in bags on rust-proof hangers.

Put sweaters and other knitted garments in boxes or bags. Tightly-wrapped paper packages air tight boxes or chests, or garment bags are the best storage places. Cedar chest are old favorites for winter clothing storage, but all garments must be moth-free before they are put into a cedar chest. Cedar oil vapor does kill small moth larvae but not older, larger ones.

As a cedar chest gets older, however, there is less cedar oil vapor. Therefore, a cedar chest that is several years old may give no more protection than any other air-tight container.

'and the truth shall make you free...'

The following editorial, reprinted from the Mineral Wells Index, explains why most responsible citizens of the 63rd Legislative District are supporting John Musselman for State Representative.

Cast Your Vote for Honesty, Integrity, and Action in Austin

AN EDITORIAL

THREE GOOD REASONS

Just prior to the First Primary the Index endorsed for State Representative from this District, Mr. John Musselman from Albany. We believed then, as we still believe, that this young man is the best qualified candidate to represent us in this very important state office. The Index has been both praised and criticized for our stand and this is fine. Contrary views represent the finest tradition of the good old American custom of standing up for the candidate of our choice.

Some of our good friends from Breckenridge have taken us to task for expressing our views and seem to feel that we are prejudiced against our fine neighboring city. Nothing could be further from the truth. A search of the records will show that in campaign after campaign The Index has supported the Democratic candidates for office from Breckenridge.

This paper supported Wayne Gibbens every time he was a candidate for the Legislature. On each occasion when Jack Cox ran for the Legislature, The Index supported Mr. Cox. Prior to this time, Mineral Wells in three separate elections gave overwhelming support to our friend Lester Clark from Breckenridge, and prior to that time this paper supported Bailey W. Hardy of Breckenridge when he was elected to the Legislature.

Why, then, does The Index not support Burke Musgrove?

These are the reasons.

First, we believe John Musselman to be the best qualified candidate.

Second, we believe that any man who serves us in the Legislature should be honest and his integrity above question.

Many of us have been hearing rumors and stories that Mr. Musselman's opponent has been charged in at least three different years, of passing worthless checks. It has been further told that Mr. Musgrove, who opposes John Musselman, in June of 1965, plead guilty and was sentenced to jail for "Swindling with worthless checks." This paper does not believe in "Mud-Slinging" politics, but all of us as voters are entitled to know if such charges are true or false. We have been asked concerning these charges and because the truth is important, The Index investigated and can report that such charges are true. We have in our possession certified copies from the Criminal Court of Travis County of such charges and the Judgment of conviction of swindling with worthless check. Regardless of the reasons given a young man seeking public office must set an example for other young people and his integrity should be above question.

Should a person with such a record represent us in the Legislature? That is the real question; the Index thinks not and doubts that honest and law-abiding citizens want such representation.

Third, every man has an inherent right to be a Democrat or Republican or belong to any other party of his choice. While some may disagree, under the law a man may vote for a Democrat in the Primary and Republican in the General Election. However, a candidate for office on the Democratic ticket should be a Democrat. We have in our possession a list which shows that Mr. Musgrove was a member of the Young Republicans at the University of Texas, and yet he is running for office on the Democratic ticket. One of his strongest supporters (who has openly endorsed him for this Democratic office) is the Republican Chairman for Stephens County. Another of his staunch supporters, who also openly endorsed Mr. Musgrove, is a Republican Precinct Chairman.

We are not opposed to Mr. Musgrove's past affiliation with the Republican party. We strongly believe that if he is a Republican and has such strong Republican support he should at least have conviction enough to run on the Republican ticket.

Again, we are for John Musselman. Since the names are so similar and since John Musselman is the only "John" in the race, we hope it will not seem corny to say that The Index proudly endorses "Honest John" Musselman. The choice is with the voters of the District.

By VADA ARNOLD

When the old freight wagons drawn by slow going oxen left Fort Worth on the Concho trail many years ago, they would halt for supplies and to leave the mail at Copperas Creek postoffice, which got its name from the creek on which it was located. Copperas Creek was five miles east of the present site of Rising Star.

In 1881 a mail route was established between Cisco and Brownwood and in order to be a little nearer to the intersection of the two great avenues of travel in that day, the old Concho trail and the new mail route, the post office at Copperas Creek was moved a few miles west, a year or so later the post-office was moved again, to the intersection of the routes and named Rising Star.

The westward predicted a future greatness for the remote postoffice.

Early in 1884, T. W. Anderson came to the settlement from Arkansas and opened a small store. The building was built in a thicket of scrub oaks and Johnson grass. All the merchandise for the store were hauled from Fort Worth, often taking six weeks or longer to make the round trip, with slow moving oxen teams.

Thousands of oxen, horses and wagons traveled over the Concho trail during the days when Indians were to be feared and raids from them were not uncommon.

As settlers moved into this section, clearing land, fencing farms and proving the fertility of the long uncultivated land, prosperity reigned.

Twenty-four years later the "Model Farm" of Texas was found in Eastland County.

"The Model Farm" was owned and operated by a German H. F. Massman. Mr. Massman moved into this country and bought a thousand acres of land, located six miles north of Rising Star on the Sabanno creek.

The land was set with Mesquite scrub oak, and Johnson grass. There were no cultivated farms near it.

In about nine years Mr. Massman had turned this wilderness into a garden spot, raising everything that could be grown on a Texas farm and many things it was thought impossible to raise here.

Products of the farm were corn, cotton, wheat, oats, maize, peanut hay, and many more products.

Mr. Massman had a herd of registered Hereford cattle and a flock of pure bred Plymouth Rock chickens a wonderful fruit orchard and a large vineyard.

He won second place at the State Fair of Texas held at Dallas for "The Best Model Farm" in the state.

On the farm were grown apples weighing almost two pounds Spanish onions weighing two pounds and more, snap beans 28 inches long. The story says "one bean would make a good meal". Some of these beans were coiled in glass jars and exhibited at the San Antonio Fair in 1903, taking first prize.

The late S. H. Clark sent a watermelon from his farm to the same fair. The melon weighed 105 pounds. First prize went to Mr. Clark.

E. A. Burkhead won first prize on red corn, first prize on garden and orchard products, J. M. Roach won first prize on Keifer pears, and J. M. Tyson won second on apples.

At the Omaha, Neb., corn Exhibition in December 1908, H. F. Massman won first prize on farm and orchard products, first prize on garden and first prize on the best half bushel of oats.

This story came from material in a scrap book kept by the late D. M. Jacobs, one of the most civic minded men ever to live in Rising Star. It was through the instrumentality of Mr. Jacobs that the railroad was built through here. Thanks to Mrs. Lee Burkhead for the interesting material.
