I notice in the Brady Standard that they are having a deer hunting contest in McCulloch County. Winner at the time of publication was a hunter who had killed an eight-point buck weighing 137 pounds.

Well, they either grow smaller deer in McCulloch than in Eastland county or the McCulloch variety is more elusive. Bob Clark, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. (Skeet) Clark this week bagged a fine 10-point buck weighing 160 pounds in the area northeast of Rising Star. The animal was one of the finest I have ever seen, glossy-coated and fat as a butterball.

The buck was taken in an area which was maintained for several years as a game preserve, a fact which may account for its prime condition, remember, too, that Eastland County experienced a long summer drouth.

Deer hunting, so Skeet tells me, is becoming more and more attractive as a sport. In many sections of South and Southwest Texas, he said, people are paying more for the deer hunting lease on ranches than grass leases bring.

The number of deer in Eastland county and in the adjoining areas have been increasing steadily. If properly managed and conserved, deer hunting could become important economic asset to the county, I am told. Mason and other counties to the southwest have long reaped a nice annual harvest of money from the deer crop.

To keep the crop good from year to year the ranchers and the game officials have cooperated in a way that cuts down losses from poaching and out-of-season killing.

In our area where there has been less emphasis on the economic importance of deer hunting there has been an understandable less interest in the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Moore were meeting old friends here during the game with Eden. The Moores have lived in Eden, since leaving Rising Star nine years ago.

4,000-Ton or Better Peanut Crop Is Estimated for Area

A cautious estimate of the 1964 peanut yield in the Rising Star area, based on records of the local drying plant, statistics as to average per acre yield and other data, is that the crop will run between 4,000 and 5,000 tons—a most remarkable, almost unbelievable figure, in view of fact that most of the crop was put on after the late rains of August and September.

To have forecast such a yield in the midsummer when the land all around lay parched with drouth, would have been counted as sheer madness.

Wednesday morning the drying plant of the Winfrey Feed and Peanut Co. had processed about 750 tons. It has been running at capacity for the past month, with the exception of a few rainy days, turning out about 100,000 pounds of dried peanuts every 24 hours.

Parked on the lot of the plant on South Mayben were trucks loaded with bulk peanuts estimated at 200,000 pounds waiting their turns at the dryer.

Even so, Jerry Winfrey, owner and operator of the plant, said that he will be able to handle only about one-fourth of the crop in the Rising Star area. The rest is being processed by plants elsewhere, he said.

"Despite the fact that growers must wait in line for their loads to be dried, they are happy," said Mr. Winfrey. "The yield is so much greater than they could even hope for last summer that they are glad to have something to wait for."

The outlook for the crop at mid-summer was about the dimmest in history. Farmers looked dourly at dusty fields in which they had invested costly seed and fertilizer, not to speak of labor, and prayed after the fashion of each. The peanut is highly drouth-resistant in its young state, but when the young sprigs get ready to grow and to put on fruit they need rain, and quite a lot of it. Rain came in August, unusual for this section but ideal for the peanut crop, and September added its rare bounty of soaking moisture. The outlook changed to one of optimism made cautious only by the prospect of early frost or too much fall rain. In both respects Providence has favored the farmer, and the crop being harvested now is, by a remarkable reversal of fortune, one of the best that has been reaped here in many seasons. Unfortunately for them, farmers in most other areas of the section have not been so blessed. In those areas there was no plantings of any consequence. Feed plantings in these districts, however, have prospered.

In the Rising Star territory yields better than 30 bushel per acre and the grades are running in the middle 60s and lower 70s, which is excellent.

At present prices—which average $210. to $216. per ton the estimated Rising Star area crop would bring an income of between $800,000 and $1,000,000 into the economy of the community.

The harvest season was about half over this week, Mr. Winfrey said. Given good weather, it was expected to be practically completed by the first of the year.

The session Friday night, a called meeting, was attended by

Cats Play Strong Eden Team Well In Bi-District

The Rising Star Wildcats lost their bi-district contest with the Eden Bulldogs 26-13 before a capacity Thanksgiving Day crowd at Rising Star stadium.

The Wildcats, rated to lose by a big margin, made it a contest down to the wire, yielding two of the Eden touchdowns largely by their own overeagerness and a willingness to gamble on a fourth down situation in their own territory.

Offensively the difference in the game was Eden's fine passing attack, with Robert Stansbury the Bulldog's able quarter, completing 10 of 13 attempts one for the initial touchdown of the game. The Wildcats did not do so badly in this department themselves, completing eight out of 12 attempts, one of them the most spectacular completion of the game when Terry Geye, Rising Star's equally able quarter, threw to Rex Long for a 41-yard gainer that carried to the Eden 15 yard line and set up the Wildcat's second touchdown.

Exclusive of touchdown plays the Eden team racked up 14 first downs to 11 for the Wildcats.

Kenny Butler was the chief groundgainer for the Wildcats, scoring both touchdowns for

New Gas Line Almost Completed

Laying of a new 4-inch welded gas line from the Reed Patterson farm south of town to the intersection of North Main and Pioneer was proceeding rapidly this week.

The contractor, Leroy Laughlin, expected to have it ready for testing this week-end. After and correction any leakage that show up, the line will be ready to tie into the city system replacing a present two-inch line from the Patterson farm where the pipelines from the various city gas wells converge.

The new line is being laid up South Mayben St.

Meanwhile the City was awaiting word from the State Highway Department relative to its request for widening of paving Main Street, the route of U. S. 183 through the city.

Engineers are making a survey of the proposed project and Mayor Walter Smith said he was confident it would be approved. He said it was unlikely anything would be done until after the first of the year.

The project involves widening the paving in the city to the curbs, and adding eight more feet of paving to the slab from the south city limits to the line of Brown county.

It's the Law in Texas

"FINDERS KEEPERS"

Few people realize that a dirty-faced urchin is responsible for the main principles behind our law governing the ownership of lost articles.

Percy Army was a chimney sweep's helper who lived in London shortly before the birth of our own George Washington. Trudging home one day from his grimy work he found a diamond ring in the public street.

Percy took the ring to a goldsmith's shop to find out what it was. There he placed it in the hands of the goldsmith's apprentice, who, under the pretense of weighing it, stole the diamond from its setting. When he told Percy that the ring was of very little value, Percy demanded the return of the jewel as well as its setting. The goldsmith and the apprentice, thinking that Percy was just a simple-minded boy, refused to give him back his treasure.

But Percy was not the kind to be badgered about. He sought the services of a lawyer to sue for recovery of the ring and its jeweled set. The results of his suit have immortalized Percy's name in the common law.

The goldsmith and his apprentice claimed that since Percy had only found the ring, he had no better right to it than they did. The court felt differently about the matter and ordered the diamond returned "because the finder of a lost article has the right to hold it against the whole world except the true owner." This principle established by Percy's case remains effective today as it was over two centuries ago.

However, as far as the owner who lost the property is concerned, the finder of lost goods is merely regarded as a depository, holding the goods for the true owner.

The courts draw a distinction between "misplaced" and "lost property." Lost property is property which the owner casually and thoughtlessly parts with, as the dropping of a wallet in the hurry to get on a bus. Misplaced property, on the other hand, is property which the owner has purposely laid down and then forgotten, leaving it where placed. An example of this would be a handbag placed on a shop counter while a customer examines merchandise. A finder must leave misplaced articles with the proprietor of the place where found.

Students Urged To Apply for SS Numbers at Once

Students, housewives, and all so others who plan to make extra cash working during pre-Christmas rush may find delays in getting on the payroll if they are without a social security card.

R. R. Tuley Jr., district manager urged students who have never had a social security number to get an Application for Social Security Number form and mail to the nearest social security office, or Box 3253, Abilene, Texas 79604.

Housewives should check to see whether their social security card might still be in their maiden name. If so, application should be made to change it to their married name, Tuley suggested.

The competition for Christmas jobs is always hectic, Tuley said. Having your social security card available will make finding cash producing Christmas employment easier.

EFFECT OF RECENT INVENTIONS ON THE ARMED FORCES

The invention of atomic and hydrogen bombs, of guided missiles and of long range rockets, and of other weapons of mass destruction have made war a task for specialists. Although one of our great needs now is for research and scientific development, troops are still the basic part of our armed forces. The age of "push-button warfare" has not arrived; even when it does arrive, someone will be needed to push the button.

This is the responsibility of the American young men. They are the police force that keeps the peace at home and guards the country against foreign attack. We are very often forgetful of the great task that these young citizens are faced with until we have the chance to experience the actual training and work through one closely related to us. We should try to remember that each of these boys, and in some cases girls, has his own family and friends. These young people are our protectors and they should have our deepest admiration; they are the ones that are actually doing their duties to their country.

We are never completely aware of the hardships and dangers that await these soldiers that are sent to serve for the United States, but they must encounter many difficulties. They are fighting for the American principles, and they need our support. It is up to us—the Americans left at home—to give them the encouragement they so desperately need. If another war should break out, it will be an atomic war; but this will not mean that American young people will not be needed. It will certainly mean a great increase in the number of lives that will be sacrificed for the causes of a free world. We must realize that some of these lost lives may be our own.

"KNOWLEDGE COMES BUT WISDOM LINGERS"

Knowledge comes from taking things apart; wisdom comes from putting them back together. This very well describes the emotions of the seniors.

This is the time for each individual to sit down and examine himself as a person, a friend, associate, and adult. It is a time to learn our feelings toward the future—college, business school, and work. It is a time to examine our faults, wants, ambitions, hopes and doubts. It is a time for each of us to realize our responsibilities—to ourselves, our teachers, our parents, and the future!

After examining each one of these things, it is time to put the conclusions back together correctly. It is time to turn doubts and fears into assets of determination and hard work. It is a time to try to correct our faults and strive toward adulthood. It is time to mature!

Seniors, now is the time to act—not tomorrow!

"BUILDERS OF TOMORROW"

As some of the girls have not yet completed their garments, the Home Ec. II girls are working overtime on their projects.

The biology class is still studying characteristics on the reptile phyla, and the World History students are working in our notebooks. We have read through the third chapter of "Silas Marner" in English literature. The novel is accompanied by problems concerning the plot and unfamiliar vocabulary terms. The Sophomore Health pupils have been discussing the first aid to administer for the various types of injury; while the seventh period P. E. girls have been working out in basketball.

"NOT FINISHED, JUST BEGUN"

This is the second week in the third six weeks. I guess we will soon be thinking of our mid-term exams.

In English, we are studying a unit called "Outdoors, Callino." This unit tells of outdoor life and people surrounded by the dangers that nature holds and also the thrills of climbing a mountain or scaling a cliff.

In Algebra I, we are studying harder problems to solve. Be ready for pop test any time!

The biology students are studying the higher groups of animals. We will study thoroughly the group in which man belongs.

The Ag. boys on the teams went to Stephenville on Wednesday. The chapter conducting and quiz contests were held at Tarleton State College.

Only eighteen more days until Christmas!!!!

"DO RE MI"

During football season we had forty-three marching in our band; they did a very good job so we had a very successful marching season. Now that football season is over, the band will get down to business. We will start getting music ready for the Christmas concert. Every year we put on a Christmas concert, and this year we hope that it will be the best that we have ever given.

The stage band has twenty-one members; we are all looking forward to the coming contests in which we will take part. The stage band will also present a program for the Christmas concert.

SPORTS SCOOP

The Rising Star girls suffered their first defeat of the season Monday night against Early When I say suffered, I do mean suffered and not necessarily by the score. They beat us by a score of 57-42. At half time they were in the lead by only one point, the score being 27-26. After that four of our girls fouled out of the game; and despite the fact that they won, I believe they will remember playing us for a long time. Markie Roberts led the scoring with 26 points. Sara Schmitt was high rebounding guard with 13, and Sandra Teague was high rebounding forward with 10.

This week we would like to recognize our two junior girls, Brenda Harris and Ginger Bishop. Both girls have lettered for two years and have been very valuable to our team. Ginger plays forward, and Brenda plays guard.

Your backing will be appreciated at the games.

The "Cats" really appreciate the fine job that everyone has done to make this such a great season. A special thanks can go to a lot of great fans and supporters.

March of Dimes Volunteers Help Parents of Birth Defects Children

Picture a child crippled by a severe birth defect.

A tragedy? Unmistakably. But how severe are the effects on the parents of this child? What is the extent of their shock and suffering?

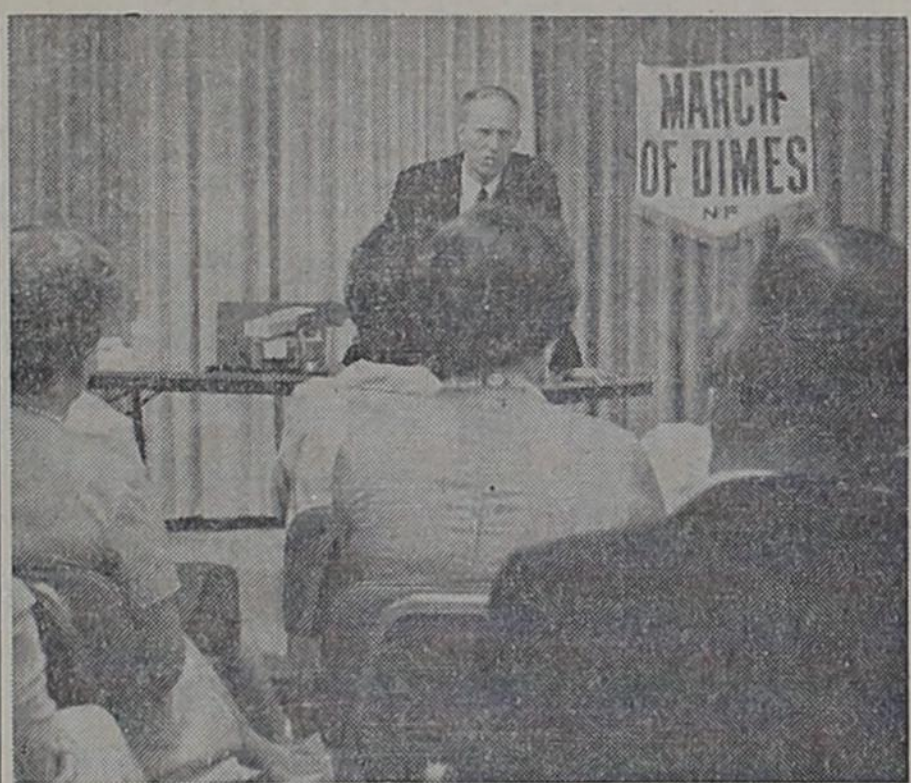

Dr. Hans Zellweger, a well-known professor of pediatrics and genetics at the State University of Iowa College of Medicine and medical director of the March of Dimes-supported Birth Defects Center there, reports that in his experience 80 per cent of the parents of defective babies harbor unwarranted feelings of guilt.

He believes that they, like their afflicted child, need help. For that reason he is about to organize group therapy "classes" in which troubled parents can talk among themselves and with medical experts to discuss the problems created by this family tragedy.

Dr. Zellweger points out that more than a quarter of a million babies are born every year in the United States with birth defects—among them blindness, deafness, missing extremities, imperfect spines and nervous systems, and many other crippling disorders. Feelings of guilt and humiliation in the parents of these children are commonplace and have been for centuries. He explains that unfortunately this sense of shame persists even in the "enlightened" 20th century, although the individual pediatrician today does all he or she can to combat it.

Help Is Expanding
Help for those grief- and guilt-stricken parents is being provided by March of Dimes chapters on a growing scale in several sections of the country.

"Actually, most of these parents aren't in need of medical treatment, but they are in need of some psychiatric help and the opportunity to talk over their problems with others similarly afflicted," according to Dr. Virginia Apgar, director of the division of congenital malformations of The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

MARCH OF DIMES volunteers aid in easing the psychological and other problems confronting parents of children with birth defects. Above, at Mankato, Minn., parents and members of March of Dimes chapter listen to lecture on birth defects by Dr. Warren Warwick, pediatrician, of University of Minnesota Medical School.

"Also, they are in need of a healthy dose of truth about birth defects," she adds. "That truth is that so far as medical science knows, by far the majority of parents of a defective baby have no reason to reproach themselves, or to point the finger of suspicion at the other partner in marriage."

March of Dimes chapters in five Minnesota counties now hold meetings of parents each month to discuss means of ridding themselves of their unjustified feelings of self-reproach. Usually they are also addressed by a pediatrician and are informed about the progress of March of Dimes research grants in birth defects at leading university-affiliated medical centers and laboratories across the nation.

At Houston, Tex., the Harris County Chapter has established a Spina Bifida Educational Association which meets monthly in a seminar room at Texas Children's Hospital. Fifteen to 20 sets of parents attend the evening lecture, exchange "traumatic" experiences, and discuss such practical problems as getting their handicapped small children into the elementary schools.

Volunteers Well-Informed
Up to 75 parents attend the monthly gatherings of the Child Development Center Parents Group, at Children's Hospital, San Francisco. Half of the necessary financial support comes from the funds of the March of Dimes-financed Birth Defects Center at the hospital.

All the sponsoring chapters find enthusiastic and well-informed volunteers at these meetings on whom to call for help during the March of Dimes campaign each January when funds are raised nationally.

Other March of Dimes chapters around the country are planning similar projects to banish needless feelings of guilt among parents of children with defects.

GIVE THEM A FAITH TO LIVE BY...

Our times may be unique—both in the fears we and our children must face, and the conflicting distractions around us. Is religious faith enough to cope with our troubled world? The answer is this: if you care, the same place where your faith is built can be made a rallying point for the kind of realistic human involvement that can produce a stirring change—for the better—in your community, in the world, in your heart. Show the way. Give them a Faith to live by. This week, go to worship—and put your Faith to work, all week long.

FIVE AND LEARN"

Hello! Everyone here at R.H. H.S. is full of turkey and rested from the small vacation we had for Thanksgiving holidays.

I hope everyone did see the Wildcats play Eden here on Thanksgiving day; they showed us another Wildcat special.

The lessons are coming on strong after the weekend. The Civics class is studying "The Department of Interior"; while, the Typing class is working on Unit XII. Our Algebra II classes are working on Chapter V, "Rational Numbers and Expressions." In English literature we are saying memory work and studying the works of Henry David Thoreau. The chemistry classes have completed their experiments and study of water.

The month of December is a month of many things to the Junior Class. We first think of Christmas, then our Christmas party. Dad's check book is fast disappearing with the many presents we buy. Last we think of certain Juniors' birthdays we find during this month.

Until next week—
Marcia

FARWELL FOR '64

Our Fighting Wildcats played their last game Thursday, and I know all of you that attended the game found it as exciting as I did. Those Eden Bulldogs found it none too easy Thursday when they meet the fighting Wildcats. We lost, but you can be sure it was a tough game for them. The Wildcats played great, and the spirit and determination shown in the game was very outstanding. If you missed that game, you surely did miss a good one.

For each of us senior cheerleaders—Linda, Anna, and myself—that was our last game to cheerlead for you; but we will be out there next year cheering as loudly as ever in the grandstands. The Wildcats

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacobs spent Sunday here with her mother, Mrs. Lee Henry, and with his sister, Mrs. Clara Burk head, and other relatives have made this a wonderful and very exciting experience for each of us, and the support you fans gave in cheering was appreciated more than you know.

Each of us thanks you for helping make this a most unforgettable year.

play. Geye kicked beautifully to the Eden 30-yard line, but another 15-yard assessment against the Wildcats gave Eden the ball on their 21 from which point the Bulldogs began a drive that gained them their second touchdown shortly before the half ended. A pass attempt for two points failed.

With the opening of the second half the Bulldogs made threatening gestures beginning with a fine kick-off return to the Rising Star 46, but Doug Fisher intercepted a Stansbury pass on the Wildcat 33. Butler and Danny Wooley drove to the Rising Star 45 but the Wildcats puntd. Eden likewise found the going sticky and punted. Butler picked up a first in two assaults but penalties and pass failures forced the Wildcats to kick. A 15-yard clipping penalty set Eden back to their 20 and a hard driving Wildcat defense—the best that the visitors had faced during the season according to the press box comment—forced them still further.

Frazier Clark set up the first Rising Star touchdown when he grabbed a hastily thrown Stansbury pass who was badly rushed and gave the Wildcats the ball on the Bulldog 20.

Butler and Geye rushed to the Eden 13 as a third period ended, and Butler made the distance in two drives after the fourth period opened. Clark's kick for point after as good.

Sawyer made brilliant return of the kick-off to the Rising Star 39 to set up the third Eden touchdown which Larry Colley scored in a 21-yard end run. Stansbury ran the ball over for two more points.

A Rising Star gamble on fourth down gave the visitors their chance for a fourth touchdown and they made it good from the Wildcat 41. A pass attempt for two points failed.

Rising Star scored its second and the last touchdown of the game after the next kick-off. Fisher returning to the Rising Star 34 and Butler driving to a first down on the Rising Star 44. From that point Geye passed to Rex Long who ran out on the Eden 15. Butler scored on a bitcheut from the two-yard line. The try for point was no good.
