ESTABLISHED IN 1890

RISING STAR, EASTLAND COUNTY, TEXAS 76471

THURSDAY JULY 4, 1968

VOLUME 78, NO. 36

This old photo, treasured in the A. A. White family, shows the farm home and family of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. White, parents of A. A. (Banty) White, in 1897. Only two of those in the picture are now living. They are Banty and a sister, Mrs. Vera Roberts of Brady. An older sister, Mrs. Ellen Westbrook, is deceased. In the picture, left to right, are Mrs. Westbrook, W. T. White, father of S. J. White; Mrs. S. J. (Molly) White, holding Mrs. Roberts as an infant; S. J. White and Banty.

If you were to go into A. A. (Banty) White's barber shop and start complaining about the taxes you have to pay, chances are he'll point to the old photograph reproduced above.

"Those were the good old days," he'll say, very likely. "We didn't have any taxes in those days—or much of anything else, either. We didn't know when we were well off, did we? Want to go back there?"

Nobody, of course, including Banty, favors squandering taxes; most of us look upon the use of public funds with something of the same wariness with which we regard our personal expenditures. We expect the values we pay for.

But that isn't the real sense in Banty's little sermon in a barber shop. It's simply and truthfully this: The taxes we pay today are about the best bargain you can think of when you compare the living conditions of the present with those among which our pioneer forebears lived in 1897 and before.

The picture of Mr. White's childhood home is typical of the farm homes of this section at the turn of the century. It was made at Slap Out, a prosperous pioneer community just west of Pleasant Valley on the road to upper Lake Brownwood and the State Park. The residence conformed to the standards of its day, a day when women made lye soap in wash kettles and scrubbed clothes (and their knuckles) on brass washboards, and a man had to be able to squint between the ears of a mule and plow a straight furrow with a Georgia stock.

Slap Out, as Banty recalls, was quite a community back "in the good old days." It had a cluster of stores, school and churches and other evidences of a latent culture that in the 70-odd years since has proliferated in taxes.

The community got its name Banty recalls, not because it was "slap out" in nowhere, but from the invariable response of a general store proprietor when confronted with an order he couldn't fill. He was always "slap out" of the item.

"We all thought we were well off in those days," said Banty. "And I guess we were for what the times afforded. We even had a bicycle, which was the nearest thing to a car that you could have. But if you want to go back there, don't expect me to go with you. No, thanks. I'd rather stay here and pay taxes."

Apocryphal his remark, here is something to chew on the next time you sit on a feed sack, or whatever you sit on, muttering in your beard about money the government exacts from your pay check or peanut sale — you not only pay out taxes; you receive them, too. For taxes have a way of becoming a part of the wages you draw or the prices you get for your produce or services.

If nobody paid taxes you would not receive as much income as you now receive, or, as Banty remarked, much of anything else, either. This isn't to prejudice the right to make any criticism of tax-paying; it is simply to recognize the economic fact that the taxes we pay are roughly a good measure of the standard of living we enjoy.

One day right soon, a little seven-year-old girl of our area will go to Houston and the men of medical miracle there to have a faulty heart fixed. She is Rebecca Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ray and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Tucker.

What heart surgeons can now in correcting the mistakes of nature is almost beyond belief. Unfortunately, the doctors of economics have not proved so gifted in the matter of providing the financial means.

In little Rebecca's case the cost of hospital care alone will be $4,000 or more.

Neighbors and friends of the Rays have started a fund to help them with the expense. It is certainly a wonderful tribute to the Rays. It is also an opportunity to share with the surgeons in giving little Rebecca the lifetime of good health she would otherwise be denied.

Want to be on the team? Take your gift to the First State Bank.

Johnny Jones Back From Vietnam Service

Sgt. Johnny Jones is here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones after a year with the U. S. Army in action in Vietnam. Johnny was a member of a mortar crew in the Vietnam fighting. He will spend a month furlough here with his parents before reporting to Fort Hood where he will be stationed.

Last Week at Lakewood Center

Four days of high winds kept many swimmers out of the pool during the week. Only 222 non-members paid to swim.

High winds did not seem to bother golfers, as 70 from out of area were on the course. Some 39 fishermen caught good strings of bream. Bass fishing was poor all week.

Mrs. Anna Lee Porter will be hostess (bridge) Friday night of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barnes of Fort Worth spent the weekend here with their niece and husband, Rev. and Mrs. Jay Beavers.

Mrs. Florence Graves has returned from a visit in Fort Worth with her daughter, Mrs. Jack E. Clay and family and the Eddie Croan family. She visited her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Canafax in Waxahachie.

City Designates Week Of July 8 for Clean-Up Drive

The Rising Star City Council has designated the week of July 8 as Clean-up Week in the community, it was announced by Mayor W. G. Reed this week.

Citizens of the community were called upon to make special efforts during the period to clean up their properties and to take advantage of the free hauling service which the city will provide.

The long period of rainy weather during the spring caused residents and city alike to fall behind in their clean-up chores, and period and provided he haul-period as provided the hauling service as a means of helping them "catch up."

Trash which can be burned or otherwise properly disposed of on the premises should not be placed out for the trucks, it was pointed out.

All other trash, such as cans, bottles, small junk, will be taken up and hauled away by the city crews provided it is placed in locations where it may be conveniently handled.

The trucks will begin their rounds Wednesday morning and continue them through Friday, Mr. Reed said.

Musgrove Honored At District Barbecue

BRECKENRIDGE — Between 350 and 400 people were on hand Monday night for a fund-raising barbecue to honor Rep. Burke Musgrove at the American Legion Hall in Breckenridge.

Rep. G. S. (Gus) Mutscher, Speaker-Elect of the Texas House of Representatives, was principal speaker for the dinner.

"People call him a short man, but he's long on friends. He's a man still growing in stature in government and will continue to grow in service to his district and to his state," Rep. Mutscher said.

The Speaker-Elect complimented Musgrove, particularly on his work on legislation to outlaw LSD and other dangerous drugs and for his work with the young men in Boys State, and said, "... you deserve the credit for having kept the 11th Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland." Mutscher also praised his efforts in behalf of junior colleges, declaring "Burke is quite a worker." He called on those present to continue their interest and participation in governmental affairs and said the representative's job is the biggest little job in Texas.

House Speaker-Elect Mutscher concluded, "Musgrove has certainly met the test of being a good, dedicated member of the House of Representatives. The people at home should be commended and thank you so much for sending Burke Musgrove our way.

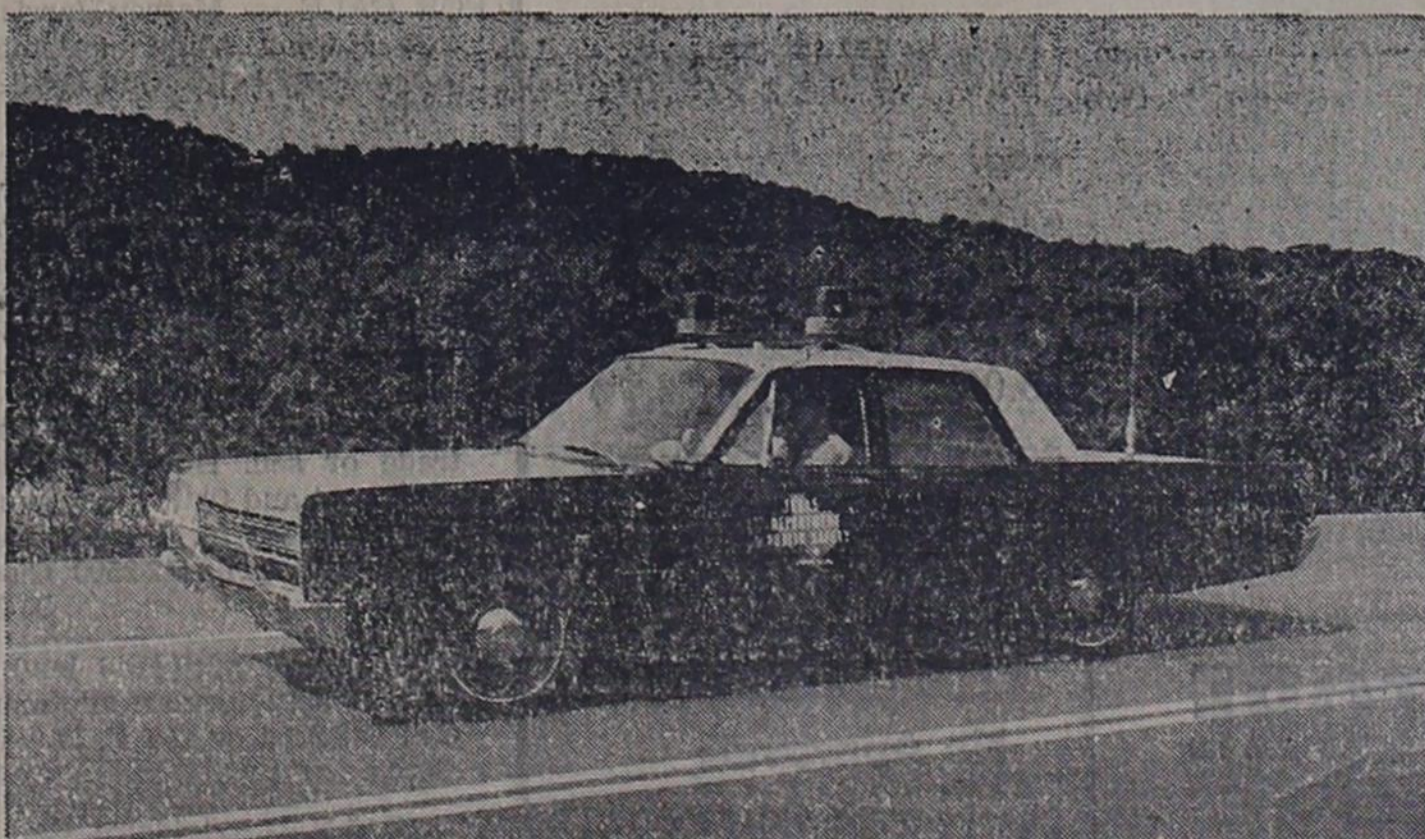

Musgrove spoke briefly, and said that he thanked everyone for being there and he renewed his dedication for his endeavors, saying that he just happened to be out in front, and that his being there was from the work of many, many people who want to maintain independent representation.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — ONE OF THE GREATEST BATTLES on tariffs and quotas since the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act of 1930 is shaping up

The Rising Star

THURSDAY JULY 4, 1968

HAS MUCH TO DO WITH OUR IMBALANCE of payments and the threat to the integrity of the dollar all around the world. The reasons for such conditions can be greatly oversimplified since every factor involved is complicated. Hearings now under way in the House Ways and Means Committee.

ABOUT 25 BILLS, SOME OF WHICH have as many as 25 sponsors each, have been introduced to limit imports on specific goods, ranging all the way from steel to mink skins and strawberries.

AT THE END OF WORLD WAR II THE INDUSTRIAL nations of Western Europe and Japan were rehabilitated largely with American funds. Today in many industries their factories are more modern than are our own, enabling them to produce by the assembly line method and to fill orders on schedule. Previously the United States could hold its markets pretty well for its dependability of delivering orders on time with higher quality products. This advantage in many industries has been lost.

WE OFTEN HEAR THAT WE ARE PRICING OURSELVES out of the world market. This is true in many respects but the reason for it makes a long story.

FOREIGN PRODUCED GOODS IN MANY INSTANCES HAVE a Government export subsidy. Generally speaking, and the reason most often given, is the maintenance of the high standard of living enjoyed in the U. S. in proportion to that of any other country in the world. The high standard of living comes about for many reasons, not the least is that of a Minimum Wage and working hours set by law.

ANOTHER REASON COMPLICATING THE SITUATION is the investments of American industries overseas. It is one thing to place quotas and tariffs on foreign owned and produced goods. It is another to limit shipment of goods produced abroad by our own industries. A case in point is petroleum products. Until the late 1940's and early 1950's the United States was a net exporter of petroleum products. Commencing at about this time we became a net importer. With the opening of the vast oil fields in the Middle East; with heavy involvement by our own major oil companies; with uncontrolled production and wages at 28c a day, our independent oil operators have been in trouble ever since.

IN 1957 A MANDATORY IMPORT OIL PROGRAM was passed by the Congress, limiting imports of foreign oil to 12.2 per cent of domestic production. The law was based on national security considerations. In time of war or disruption such as occurred in the Middle East and the lack of the use of the Suez Canal, which has since twice occurred, it has proved the proposition that we should not permit our domestic industry to deteriorate, causing dependence on foreign shipments.

UNFORTUNATELY, GOVERNMENT POLICY ADMINISTERED by the Interior Department has permitted loopholes to occur in the Law to the point that the Program is becoming meaningless unless the law is amended to close opportunities for circumvention.

ALONG WITH OTHERS WHO ARE TRYING TO FIND ANSWERS for mounting threats to domestic industries, those of us interested in the domestic oil producer must throw our full efforts in the fight.

THE OUTCOME IS UNCERTAIN ON ANY TIGHTENING of quotas and tariffs during this Session of the Congress. The biggest battle on the over-all issue will likely occur in 1969.

THE RISING STAR

It Has Been

By Vada Arnold

What has become of Boy Scouting in our town and community?

An organization designed to make men of boys. An organization that teaches, honor fidelity and how to live with others in peace and harmony. At the same time self reliance is stressed. It teaches the love of God and love of country. It instills patriotism in the hearts of boys to the extent that they are willing to serve their country wherever they are called.

During World War II the late M. S. Sellers, editor and publisher of the Rising Star X-Ray, said in an article praising the numbers of young men from the home community who had gone to serve America on foreign battlefields, "Every young man from Rising Star in the different branches of military service are making good soldiers. They have risen in rank from Sergeant to Lt. Col. and I am convinced that their record of good soldering stems from Boy Scouting during the formative years in Scout Troop 115. We salute the boys and their faithful scoutmasters, who had a hand in shaping the lives of our wonderful Rising Star soldiers."

In 1927 thanks to the interest of the local American Legion Post a movement was set on foot to arouse interest in a Boy Scout Troop here. The Post elected the first troop committee to further interest in Scouting. That committee was made up of W. H. Kilgore, Cecil Shults, W. A. Williams, and M. S. Sellers.

Through the efforts of this committee, G. N. Quirl, area scout executive of Eastland, "brought a bunch of scouts from Eastland and Cisco over and staged a demonstration on the streets and in the Montgomery Motor building.

The first scouters school was held here in February and March of 1928. As a result "Scout Troop 115 was born on the night of April 12th, 1928."

Otha Venable was elected Scoutmaster with Charles Delmar as Assistant Scoutmaster.

The first meeting of the troop was held in the old Rising Star Record building on East College Street. Three years later the troop moved to the basement of the First Methodist Church on invitation of the church official board. Later the scouts, with the able assistance of Scoutmaster Venable, cut logs and built the log cabin still standing on the property of the Methodist Church.

During the week climaxing the celebration of the Boy Scout's 22nd Anniversary in 1932 a "Father-Son beef steak party was enjoyed at the Scout headquarters, the dining room of the Methodist Church.

Through the generosity of their sponsor, the American Legion and interested businessmen, the cats were free to fathers, scouts and guests, including the troop committee, Court of Honor and representatives of the Pecan Valley Area of Brownwood.

The affair was directed by Scoutmaster Venable, assisted by G. N. Quirl of Eastland. Charles Rutherford, junior assistant scout master, was toastmaster and scout commissioner H. C. Anderson of Ranger, was principal speaker.

An interesting program was given. Invocation by Rev. C. B. Diltz, pastor of First Methodist Church. Welcome address, Clark Roberts. History of Local Troop, Wayne Sellers. Scout songs were sung by the group and fathers made short talks.

As years came and went the Rising Star Scouts did good deeds in the town and community, attended camp during summer months at Camp Billy Gibbons in the Richland Springs area, and grew up to take their places in the affairs of life in local communities and all over the United States.

Cecil Shults recalls the very first scout troop in Rising Star of which he was a member. The organization was made in 1911 under the direction of Rev. J. N. Vincent, then pastor of the Methodist Church here.

Harve Simpson is at home after a lengthy illness in Hendricks Hospital in Abilene. He is able to walk about his home with the use of a cane.

Pat Boone, top exponent of the smooth-singing style, and the all-time favorites, the Mill Brothers, will appear at the San Antonio World's Fair Arena July 11-15. The double bill of popular vocalists initiates a new HemisFair Arena "bargain package" feature: a top reserved-seat ticket price of $3 for adults and $2 for children that also includes all-day admission to the fairgrounds. Mail orders may be sent to P.O. Box 2777, San Antonio, Texas, 78206. Include check and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WSCS MEETING MONDAY AFTERNOON

The Womens Society of Christian Service met Monday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall of the United Methodist Church with seven members present. Mrs. Louela Smith of Irving attended as a visitor.

"A charge to Keep I Have" was the opening song. Mrs. John Mathis presided. Mrs. O. Y. Miller gave the devotional. She chose for her subject, "Service," and read Scripture from the 24th chapter of Joshua, and conducted a responsive reading.

After moments of silent prayer Mrs. J. R. Bucy dismissed the group.

Mrs. Clara Burkhead, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark and baby and Mick Clark have returned from a trip to Hobbs, New Mexico, where they visited Mrs. Juanita McKown for a few days. Mrs. McKown came home with them for a visit. Mick Clark will report to Fort Lewis, Washing-

Expert Tells How to Prepare Diets for C Vitamin

COLLEGE STATION — Many Texans have diets low in vitamin C. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, suggests how to handle fruits and vegetables rich in vitamin C to retain their nutritive value and keep within the budget.

sible and have foods of top quality, buy items in season. Fresh grapefruit and oranges are excellent source of vitamin C; they are in greatest supply in mid-winter. Stay within the budget by using turnip greens, mustard greens, collards, cabbage, green peppers, broccoli, cantaloupe, strawberries and canned tomatoes - all high in vitamin C - in menus.

Recent visitors in the home of their mother, Mrs. J. W. Cawley, were Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Cawley of Pueblo Camp near Cisco and Aaron Cawley of Arlington. Mr. and Mrs. Oral Davis of the Okra community joined the other visitors.
