There is quite a bit of scientific curiosity nowadays about the possibility that some type of life can be evolved to endure and even prosper in the high temperatures that exist on Venus and other planets in closer relationship to the sun than our own Earth.

You can bet your life an experiment in that subject is being carried on in Texas right now. I maintain that the current summer has set a record.

In that I am in complete disagreement with the official City figures. Would you believe it, the City thermometer has not recorded a single 100-degree day in the entire month of August. The highest point reached by the red line of that deceptive instrument is 98 degrees. At least that was true up to Monday when this is being written. In the time it takes to get this in print and in the hands of the readers, it may have reached the hundred mark.

The City's rain gauge has often been accused of being too honest. While private gauges here and there are registering—oops! they used to register—two and three inches of moisture, the City gauge will solemnly point up an inch and a half or two inches.

Perhaps the private gauges are the Chamber of Commerce variety, distinguished by over-optimism and a spirit of boastfulness, while the City gauge holds to the Kennedy school of news-management, on the theory that you are better off with half a truth and something to wonder about.

At least, I am convinced that the City mercury is not telling all it knows by a long shot.

Indeed, I am becoming convinced that the City thermometer is as accomplished a liar as any diplomat who can make you believe that what you actually see isn't true.

It is a clever bit of tactic. It consists in telling you half-truths, just enough to make you doubt your own senses.

The City mercury is doing just that. It is trying to conceal the fact that the country is burning up even though we can see it all around us. It is "Yes—but"ing us out of our senses. "Yes, it is hot—But—"

Why do I think so?

For the simple reason that darn thing recorded a whole passel of Over-100-degree-days in July. There were 101-degree days, 102-degree days, and one 103-degree day. It was a regular 100-degree binge.

Now anyone with any sensitivity to heat knows that it has been a lot hotter in August than it was in July. As a matter of fact, we really enjoyed those warm July days after the arctic weather of last January and February when it seemed as if the very stove would freeze and you could break-off flame like an icicle.

Remember how cold it was then?

No doubt the thermometer enjoyed it, too. We were in a pre-Cuba state of complacency and blessedness. There wasn't anything worth concealing. It could be safely virtuous and honest.

But as July stretched into a rainless August it became scared. It has resorted to subterfuge in order to reassure us even while the weatherman is telling us that no relief is in sight. It is trying to save Texas in its own way. (Continued on page four)

Monday Will Be Holiday

Labor Day, next Monday, September 2, is one of the holidays officially designated by the merchants through the Chamber of Commerce for observance here.

For the most part stores public institutions and all other places of business in the city will be closed for the day.

Customers in need of merchandise were urged to anticipate their needs and secure them on Saturday preceding in order that business men and their employees may have the day off without unnecessary interruption.

Both the First State Bank and the post office will be closed for the day.

Plans For New Nursing Homes Here Approved

With a few minor changes, the State Health Department has approved plans for the nursing home planned to be built on City Park land in West Rising Star by J. R. Newton of Fort Worth, a letter from the department to Mayor Smith said.

The building, to contain 32 rooms for elderly guests, will be of brick veneer and will be located on a site adjoining that the city deeded for a home which was never built. Steps to recover the earlier site under a reversionary clause in the earlier deed are now being taken.

Mr. Newton said he hoped to begin construction on the building within the next week or so. The site was not given, but purchased from the City.

Wildcats Open Season In Game Here Sept. 6

The Rising Star Wildcats will scrimmage the De Leon Bearcats at Wildcat stadium Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in their first practice under game like conditions, Coach Hill announced.

The scrimmage will be open to the public free of charge.

The Wildcats will open their regular season schedule in a game with the Melvin Tigers here Friday evening, Sept. 6, at 8 o'clock.

Last year the Wildcats, with prospects for one of their best teams in years, went to Melvin for the opener and took a painful lacing. They were able to recover from this abrupt and painful reversal of prediction and went on to win the district title. Melvin, with a mediocre team, gained no further distinction.

The Wildcats may not win their game next week, but it is a safe bet that Coaches Hill and Eddie Joe Henry will not have them in an over-confident mood.

The team is not without good prospects. Out of 25 candidates reporting at the start of the practice season last week, there are 11 lettermen, and the starting lineup with one exception, will be composed of veteran players of last year's team.

The team will be slower than the 1962 eleven, but it will make up for this deficiency in soundness, Coach Hill said, and in good defensive strength.

Workouts are being held once daily—at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and for two hours—until the beginning of school next week. Thereafter practices will start at 2:45 p.m.

Lettermen reporting for the team are:

Seniors—Jimmy Rutledge, 160, center, Roger Goodwin, 165, guard; Bill Clarke, 160, half; Juniors—Terry Geyer, 165, Rising Star's Most Spectacular Fire In 1948 Recalled . . .

This picture taken during the afternoon of June 9, 1948, shows the height of the fire which destroyed the main building at the Higginbotham stores in Rising Star, with a loss in excess of $150,000. The building, a wooden structure, occupied the site on which Higginbotham's modern building now stands.

Higginbotham's Anniversary Sale Recalls Fire Which Destroyed Store

The most spectacular fire in the history of the Rising Star area and the most destructive ever suffered by the Higginbotham company, is recalled this week as the big Central Texas merchant organization celebrates the 80th year of its founding with a store-wide sale.

The fire broke out in the ceiling of a warehouse located at the rear of the big store, probably from faulty wiring, and quickly spread through that building and into the main store. Failure of the city pumps through interruption of the electric power supply due to the fire, caused available water resources to be quickly exhausted. For a while the situation was extremely critical, and it was feared that the flames would spread to other sections of the business district before a strong wind.

Heroic efforts of the fire fighters, a moderation of the breeze, and the timely assistance of Harry Campbell, Fort Worth highway contractor who rushed two water trucks with pumps into the battle, turned the threat, however, Campbell one of whose trucks received a speeding ticket in an ironic incident of his good neighborliness, hauled water from a creek to be poured on the blaze.

The fire was discovered about 3:15 p.m. and brought under control about 7 p.m. Loss was in excess of $150,000.

The company immediately set about building the new brick building it now occupies. Merchandise was carried on in the City Mar-while, merchandizing business Building.

A new funeral home, already under construction on North Main, was occupied in 1948, and the new main store structure on Feb. 1, 1949.

Higginbotham's is the largest employer of merchantile personnel in this section. Its four departments are staffed by:

Jay Koonce, manager; C. A. Claborn, accountant; Mrs. Geraldine Richter, office; Paul Maxwell, furniture; Tommy Grisham, Bryan Milner and Johnny Cook, hardware; Herman Claborn, Mrs. Inez Elliot, Mrs. Eula Grisham and Mrs. Lila Jarrett, dry goods; W. V. Fenter, Canon Burns, and Oliver Smith, lumber department, and Roy Holly, mortician.

Eight New Housing Units For Elderly in Planning

A preliminary loan for cost of planning eight units of public housing for the elderly to be added to the existing 12 units of low rent housing on North Main Street in Rising Star has been approved in Washington, it was announced.

The units will be constructed on a site adjoining the present project on the north. This site, a portion of the block purchased from the McDonald estate for the location of the existing units, has been held by the City of Rising Star in prospect of the enlargement of the original project, and it will be sold to the Housing Authority for the price paid for it.

Planning of the new units will be done by the local Authority's architect, Elwin Fitch and Associates of Houston, Texas.

The new units will be of brick, two dwellings to the block, and will incorporate the most advanced designs in housing for elderly people. All of the present apartments

Merchants to Play For Scout Hut Debt

A baseball game between the "West Side Money Grubbers" and the "East Side Nickle Nurers" at the little league park Saturday evening, Sept. 7, will be a feature of the Fall trades day program.

More important, it will be a means of raising funds with which to pay off an indebtedness of about $250 against the new Boy Scout hut built at the City Park.

The teams will be composed of merchants captained—in the case of the East Side Team—by L. B. Forbes, and for the West side team, Martin Joyce.

Admission charges of 50 and 25 cents will be charged for adults and children respectively.

It is hoped to raise enough money to clear the Scout hut debt, and any contributions in excess of the ticket price won't be turned down, James Rutherford, president of the Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the Scout program, said in a masterpiece of understatement.

The Scout Hut was built with contributions of material and labor. Ira Hudler, who captained the building committee, donated the tile for the walls and Higginbotham's and Rutherford and Steel Co. the roof and floor. The American Legion Post here furnished the windows and doors and John Nunnally furnished the wire. The building has been painted white and stands as a very attractive testimony to one bit of civic interest on behalf of the boyhood of the community.

It is well furnished, with rest rooms and lavatory equipment. It is planned to make it available for the use of other Scout units such as the Cub Scouts and the Girl Scouts.

Record Number Of Students For CJC Is Foreseen

CISCO—A record enrollment for the 1963-64 school year is in prospect for Cisco Junior College as the registrar's office began pre-enrolling students for the fall semester. The new year begins officially on Sept. 9.

The optimistic look was based on a record number of dormitory room reservations, the number of high school record transcripts already sent in by prospective students, and by the many inquiries that have been coming in from all directions.

Dean E. W. Mince who is directing the pre-registration activities, reported that the college has added several new courses to its curriculum. New courses include Organic Chemistry, Anatomy and Physiology, Electronic Data Processing and Chemical Calculations making a total of 116 classes presently scheduled on the school calendar.

A fully accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Cisco Junior College offers two years work on any degree plan with a wide range of subjects, including two foreign languages, Spanish and French. Tuition and fees are $70 per semester, and board and room may be obtained for $240 a semester.

Nike-Hercules Missile In Peanut Bowl Display

The Army's Nike-Hercules surface-to-air guided missile is coming to Eastland County and will be on display at the Fourth Annual Peanut Bowl Festival in Eastland, Saturday, Sept. 14, it has been announced.

The missile, a duplicate of those on guard now at sites near Abilene and Denton in this area, will be trailer mounted and will be exhibited both in the giant Peanut Bowl Parade, set for 2:30 p.m., and for special exhibit on the parking lot at Maverick Stadium.

The stadium will be the site for the climaxing clash of the day's activities when the grid teams of Cisco and Ranger Junior Colleges meet for the fourth time. Game time will be 8 p.m. and there will be a special pre-game events, as well as half time performances of particular note.

Eastland county lies within the scope of protection of the Abilene-based missiles because their "kill range" is listed as being in excess of 75 miles.

Peanut Bowl visitors will be given a free, close-up look at the gigantic weapon system, and there will be specialists on hand to answer questions. There are several Eastland County men assigned to the Abilene Nike base.

Emphasizing the theme of this year's Festival, the club has made arrangements for the Nike and other space age displays for the benefit of the Festival visitors. Selections are now being made for entries in this year's Peanut Bowl Queen Contest, which will be held at the Majestic Theater on Tuesday, Sept. 10. The queen will be recognized at the Bowl game.

How High?

Flowers can make your home more beautiful, but care should be taken in the selection of plants, where to locate them and how to maintain them.

Even the planting dates should be carefully chosen. For example, most national magazines suggest that African Daisies should be planted from Sept. 15th to Nov. 30th. This is only good for locations with elevations up to 2,500 feet.

In elevations from 2,500 to 4,999 feet, the planting dates for African Daisies are from Sept. 1st to Oct. 15th.

Biggest "savings book" in the world

Keeping the Free World free is a mighty expensive proposition.

And our enemies are doing everything they can to make it so. They've said they expect to "bury us" economically.

They see us as soft, self-satisfied, lazy. They don't think we're prepared to make any sacrifices for freedom.

But there's a "special book" in the U. S. Treasury Department that says they're as wrong about that as they are about a lot of other things.

It's a symbolic "freedom book" which shows that tens of millions of American families have invested 46 billions of dollars in their country in the form of U. S. Savings Bonds. Dollars the government uses to keep our economy strong. To help keep the Free World free.

This is one way you can meet the challenge to Americans. And there's no need to feel funny about collecting good interest on Savings Bonds. The financial strength of your family is part of the strength of the nation.

So help yourself as you help your country, by regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds . . . through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Civil Rights and Legal Wrongs

For the first time in the peacetime history of the United States it is proposed in legislation now pending before the Congress to deny the right of trial by jury!

This one of the most important (and least publicized) aspects of S.1731 and H. R. 7152 — that legislative Trojan Horse named "The Civil Rights Act of 1963" — in which dictatorial Federal control of business, industry, individual citizens and the "sovereign" states is disguised as protection of racial and religious minorities.

Under this iniquitous bill, the judgment of Federal inspectors, appointed to bring about social reforms, would supersede our traditional and Constitutional judicial processes. Through the sly device of eliminating criminal penalties, those who drew the bill have made it so a violator of the "public accommodations" section (Title II), would be haled without hearing before a judge and put under Federal injunction to cease and desist whatever act of discrimination the Federal overseer may have charged him with.

Given this cloak of civil rights, the President would thus have raw, unchallenged power. Similarly, under other provisions of the bill, Federal control would be extended to every home every school, every business, every bank and to every citizen who owns property or casts a vote.

THINK OF THAT!

As one critic has said: "The Administration's bill proposes, in effect, that the Congress abdicate, and turn its legislative powers over to the White House. The powers here demanded are not the powers rightfully to be exercised by a President in a free country. These are the powers of a despot."

No citizen, whatever his color, race or religion—for this bill extends to all races and creeds—should need further urging to demand of his Senators and his Representative that they vote down S. 1731 and H. R. 7152 — kill it all!

Making Us Look Silly!

The facial nature of much of the foreign aid this country is pouring into communist-threatened countries is nowhere better illustrated than in South Viet Nam. While we spend millions and millions of American tax money—a drain that continues to weaken the already precarious position of the dollar in world commerce—and, worse, pour out American blood in an undeclared war to protect that country from a communist takeover, the ruling clique manages to make us look like the ugly imperialists the communists say we are.

The South Viet Nam government, inspired, it is said, by a vicious-minded woman who appears to be the real power in the regime, is waging war against the Buddhists, violating their temples and shrines, killing and imprisoning monks and nuns, and otherwise creating an outrageous picture of ruling intolerance and religious persecution.

However much truth there may be in the government's charge, it is clear enough that the government is itself making that end a justifiable objective.

Meanwhile the communist guerillas are, bit by bit, taking a country which has turned its sword upon itself.

While we protest those decent and democratic freedoms we seek to preserve in a free world, our own hands are becoming stained with blood shed by intolerance.

Is it any wonder that Congress—influenced, no doubt, by the people back home—is taking a long, long look at the reckless spending of American dollars on the behalf of governments which seem to have no conception at all of the liberties and rights we seek to secure to their people?

It's the Law in Texas

MISTAKE AND FRAUD

When you get the short end of a deal you may feel inclined to claim mistake or fraud to get out of the contract.

But courts are not inclined to correct your business mistakes unless they also find serious injustices. For to charge the party with fraud is serious since fraud is a crime as well as a civil cause of action.

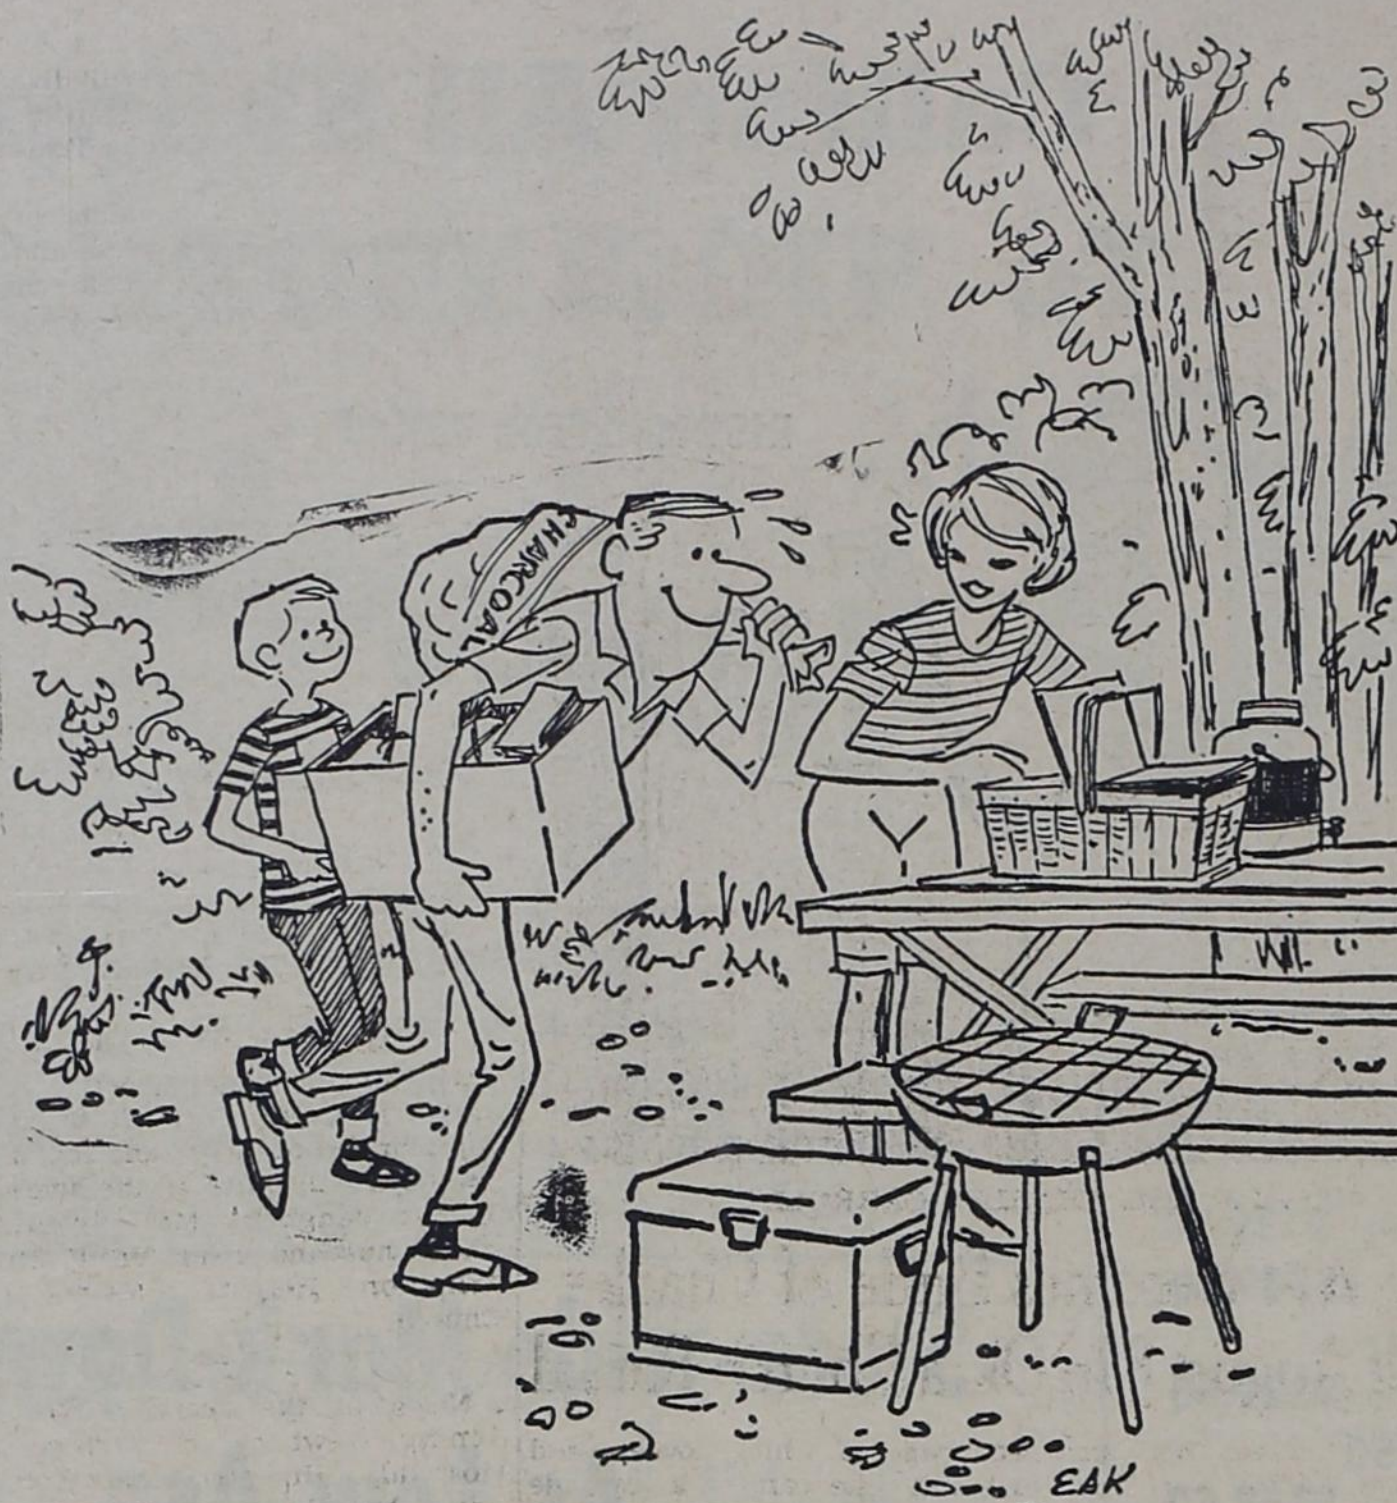

Our courts, therefore, demand more proof than usual in civil cases where one seeks to get out of a contract on the grounds of fraud.

Suppose Smith and Black agree to do something in a clear language, but Smith does not grasp the terms of a plain contract. This failure of Smith will not void the contract and our courts will enforce its terms.

But suppose instead, Black well knew that Smith had didn't explain it to Smith. Then if this can be proved, Black may have trouble enforcing the contract.

Both parties often make a mistake which may void the deal. In one case Raffles agreed to buy and Smith to

Labor Day: When Working Is Fun

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burleson, M.C., 17th Texas District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION is all over the place. Numerous letters received from people in the 17th Congressional District express their opposition to Federal aid to schools, but most have in mind direct Federal funds for our public schools in the form of grants for buildings and facilities and teacher's salaries.

AS A MATTER OF FACT we have had Federal Aid to Education since 1917. The Smith-Hughes Act and the George-Barden Act which have been in effect all these years, provide Federal funds for vocational training in our public schools. No one questions these provisions, but week before last the House of Representatives adopted a new concept to these measures. If finally passed by both Bodies of the Congress and signed by the President, it permits transfer of funds from one activity to another, and particularly establishes authority to build vocational training centers and provide for courses of instruction for people not in school. Age range from 15 to 65.

UNDER PRESENT trends of trying to do something for everybody, the original Smith-sell goods arriving on a ship named the "Peerless." But it just so happened that two steamers had the same name. Raffles and Smith had in mind two different steamers. No contract. Why? No meetings of the minds.

But to end such a contract both parties must make a mistake about something in the contract.

People often make oral agreements, and later write the terms down. Suppose they make a mistake in doing this. When they find such a mistake they can go into court and have the contract reformed.

To induce the other party to agree through fraud makes the contract void. For a court to act in a fraud case one must prove five things:

- (1) A false representation;
(2) The speaker's knowledge of its falsity;
(3) His intention to mislead the other party;
(4) The other's innocent reliance on the statement; and
(5) Damage resulting from the deception.

Unless every one of these elements are proved, there is no legal fraud.

Except for guardians and others in positions of great trust, the law assumes that persons deal at arms length and have equal rights to protect themselves. The law, in short, expects you to use your head in checking out claims and facts. This goes to the ancient Roman principle: Caveat Emptor (let the buyer beware). The law expects you to look into the claims of the other party, and not to agree to any old paper shoved under your nose as a "standard" contract.

Hughes and George-Barden Acts could be weakened by setting up outside training schedules.

LAST WEEK THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES passed what is commonly known as a Higher Education Facilities Aid Bill. This measure, over a three-year period, calls for less than $2 billion.

IT APPROVES LOANS AND GRANTS to graduate and undergraduate schools with a large measure of control centered in the Commissioner of Education in Washington. Although the measure disclaims Federal controls, it gives the Commissioner of Education the authority to decide who gets the money. The Federal Administrator can exercise his judgment as to whether a grant to a college or university would increase the supply of "higher qualified personnel critically needed by the community, industry, government, research and teaching."

IN ADDITION TO THESE TWO MEASURES, the Congress has already approved Federal funds to aid dental and medical schools, which had the support of the Medical Associations of the Country.

YET TO COME IS THE re-enactment and extension of the Impacted Area Bill.

THIS IS A MEASURE which has been in effect since the war and provides assistance to schools located in the area of military installations or large defense facilities.

THE LATTER MEASURE MAKES SENSE in that the Federal Government is the cause of an influx of students into a public school system, it seems right it should share the burden thus created.

THE POINT IS WE HAVE Federal Aid to Education. All these measures had wide support across the country and passed the Congress overwhelmingly.

YET TO COME IS THE SORT OF FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION which most people consider the term implies. This is direct Federal aid to elementary and secondary schools. Had it not been for the religious issue involved, there would probably already have been Federal Aid to elementary and High schools. Aid to parochial schools is the objection expressed by many people. The fact remains that aid to higher education passed by the House of Representatives last week, does exactly this.

IN ADDITION TO THESE MEASURES FOR Federal Aid to education, there are other pending bills, a part of which provides a feature of Federal aid which most everyone has in mind when they write or discuss the subject, and this is direct aid to public schools. If all these other acts are law, direct aid to public schools will be all that is left to object to.

IT IS NOT NECESSARY that the Federal Government apply controls by dictating courses of study and other authority over local schools. It is simply a matter of withholding funds if this direction is not carried out.

LONG Peanut Combines

FIRST In Sales Because It's FIRST In Performance

LONG Peanut Combines outsell all other makes combined! This outstanding sales record is made possible because grower after grower has seen the LONG outperform all others.

Out-harvests all others

Harvests 24 hours per day in wet, green or dry peanuts. The LONG does a better job and does it faster. You may pay more . . . You may pay less, but the LONG will harvest faster, get more peanuts per acre and do a cleaner job day after day.

Lowest upkeep costs

Season after season upkeep costs on LONG combines run ONLY A FRACTION of others — in many cases 1/4 or less. Many users harvest 100 acres or more without spending a nickel for repairs. These combines actually have ONLY 25% as many parts as chain type machines. Gives you more hours WITHOUT down time, more hours WITHOUT repair costs.

Prove to yourself before you buy any machine that you are getting the best—Ask for a

SHOWDOWN DEMONSTRATION

We challenge any other machine to outperform the LONG Peanut Combine in any way. When you buy a LONG, you will pocket more net profit.

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY witnessed the British Bombardment of Fort McHenry during the War of 1812 and when the terrible night had ended, Key saw the American Flag flying high over the ramparts in the morning mist. There was a gaping hole shot through one of its stars... but the flag was still there. Out of this experience came "The Star Spangled Banner." His portrait will be among 75 paintings in the "Faces of Freedom" exhibit in the Varied Industries Building during the 1963 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5 through 20 in Dallas.

About Your Health

AUSTIN—These waning days of summer vacation are attracting more and more Texas parents and their children into the great outdoors for a final fling at fun in the sun before reopening school begins to confine them to home.

It's a time of increased exposure to the hazards of accidents and sudden emergencies which inevitably come with accelerated outdoor activity.

Of the 68,000 people who die each year in Texas, some 10 per cent die as a result of accidents. No doubt many are saved by prompt emergency care, but many more could be saved.

It is rather common to find people throw all responsibility on the physician or the rescue squad which respond to emergency calls, undertaking none themselves except to telephone for help. Sometimes they do not know what to do; other times they are too excited to think and act wisely. The urgency of the situation may lead people to give grossly improper care for burns, internal injuries or extensive lacerations.

The person telephoning for help should not rely upon the physician or ambulance attendant to give him advice; he should ask what to do until help arrives. In most cases, the help arrives. In most cases, the telephone conversation need not be rushed; there is time for careful directions in cases of poisoning, heart attack, burns or head injury. Even though the caller has never had a course in first aid or has forgotten what he learned, he can still obtain directions that may save a life.

"Hurry cases" of first aid include cessation of breathing, severe bleeding and poisoning. In these cases a delay of even minutes may result in death. Rescue squads save extremely few people who have stopped breathing unless someone has given artificial respiration on the spot.

Teaching people to react promptly and efficiently in emergencies is one of the major goals of the "medical-self-help" courses now being given around the state by local medical societies and state and local health departments and civil defense organizations. Conceived originally as a tool for civil defense training against times of nuclear attack, the content of the courses also ideally equip people to cope with personal peacetime emergencies. Further information on medical self-help courses can be acquired from local medical societies.

Meanwhile the important rule to remember when summoning medical help in the event of serious injury or sudden illness is this: ask what first aid measures to take.

Sheep and Goat Field Day Invites Visiting Ranchers

RANGER—Ranchers from adjoining counties are being invited and are welcome to attend the second annual Eastland County Sheep and Goat Field Day Sept. 20, at the old Sinclair pump station at Tiffin, three miles north of Ranger, courtesy of Ranger Junior College, according to reports from the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce and J. M. Cooper, county agent are jointly sponsoring the affair. The first sheep and goat field day held last year, attracted 35 ranchers from four different counties, it was stated.

Sheep and goats and their by-products continue to be an important factor in the agricultural economy of this area. A Ranger firm with a large warehouse, purchases wool and mohair from over a wide area in North Central Texas.

Several sheep and goat authorities will be on the all-day program, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. on the above date.

The Chamber of Commerce will serve those in attendance with a ranch-style lunch at noon.

One of the features of the program will be a demonstration on the selection of breeding stocks of sheep and goats. Jim Gray of San Angelo and Jack Groff, Kerrville, sheep and goat specialists of the A and M Extension Service, will conduct these demonstrations.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brown over the week end was a sister-in-law, Mrs. Tennie Brown of Hagerman, N. M., also during the week, Mrs. Laster Hensley of Guthrie, Texas and Mrs. Allen Smith of Shamrock, were visitors in the Brown's home.
