I have been giving some anticipatory thought — and not altogether regretful thought at that — to the time when I can retire and begin drawing the Social Security payments they tell me I am entitled to by virtue of having made certain compulsory payments into a so-called 'insurance' fund these years past.

But I am wondering now if I shouldn't have to keep on working long past normal retirement age in order to make the money to pay the taxes to pay the payments that I was supposed to have already paid for with Social Security contributions.

It may come as somewhat of a shock to lots of folks that the Social Security fund doesn't have any money. All it has is government IOU's — more than 200 billion dollars worth. None of the money which has been collected since the Social Security system went into effect in the mid-thirties, has been saved, put aside in a special fund, to make the Social Security payments as they come due. All of the payments now being made to beneficiaries — whose numbers are multiplying rapidly as more and more people reach retirement age under the program — all of these payments are being made out of current taxes.

They tell you that the Social Security fund is in wonderful condition, that it has great fiscal assets. But what they do not tell you is that none of it is in cash or in capital investments that can produce revenues to help pay the retirement benefits which are supposed to make the sunset years of our citizens such beautiful and carefree times.

All it has is a lien on the sweat of the American brow — on the labor, the private savings and the investments of all the people of this country, out of which must be exacted the taxes to pay current Social Security obligations and the interest and principal of the Government bonds. As the Social Security taxes were collected the Government merely put an IOU in the Social Security fund, took the money and spent it — much of it in form of gifts to other countries which are now repaying us with "neutrality", hatred and insults and, in some cases, with competition for markets out of which we have priced ourselves by unrealistic economic measures fostered by fraudulent ideals of total politics.

Social Security taxes alone are becoming so heavy that they very nearly equal the income taxes paid by the average worker. They will ultimately, and not far in the future, no doubt, exceed these income tax payments as the demand for more revenue to meet increasing Social Security costs and added obligation becomes imperative.

The 200 billion dollars in Government bonds held by the Social Security system is not even included in the so-called National Debt which already is in excess of 300 billion and climbing.

You don't have to wonder what a Federal or State court would do with an individual or a firm which managed a trust fund as the Social Security program of this nation is being administered.

And now they are planning to add total medical care for all people above 65 years of age to the system — a program which would increase its costs tremendously and totally without regard to the abilities of the vast majority of American people to provide their own care through savings, medical insurance and charitable programs. The sponsors of Medicare are finding themselves hard put to justify their claims that the American people are suffering for want of medical and hospital care. Look around you. How many people in Rising Star are unable to secure medical treatment when needed?

Sensational Times Are Made in Rodeo Roping

The third rodeo of the new summer series last Friday night produced what is believed to be the fastest time ever recorded in a calf-roping event during the ten-year history of the program when Horace Rankin roped and tied his calf in a time of 9.4 seconds during the jack-pot event, concluding the performance.

Then, to make the record a double event, Steve Williams set what would otherwise have

Through the summer months each Thursday at 8 p.m. there will be jackpot roping at the May arena which will be free to the public and each Saturday night will be play night, also free.

"Subcontractors" Must Meet Rigid IRS Tests

Area employers wrongly designating their employees as "subcontractors" for income withholding and social security tax purposes, is one of the biggest current problems facing Internal Revenue Service, Dallas IRS District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., said today.

The IRS uncovered an alarming number of employees claiming to be "subcontractors" or "independent contractors."

"Employees cannot simply decide they want to be bona fide contractors," Campbell said. "To qualify they must actually be in a trade or business with some kind of an investment. The fact that they have signed a statement, or had a card printed doesn't make them a contractor, or a subcontractor under the law."

Campbell cautioned that employees willfully naming themselves as "subcontractors" to avoid withholding and paying federal income and social security taxes, are making themselves subject to severe fines and jail sentences for fraud.

Campbell explains that the Employment Tax Law has three separate and independent tests for determining who are employers. The test relate to: (1) Officers of corporations, (2) individuals who, under usual common law rules are employees, and (3) occupational groups, including agent-drivers, life insurance salesmen, home workers, and salesmen. The second group includes the most people. Employees and employers in other categories should discuss their individual problems with their IRS office," Campbell suggests.

A new booklet, "Employer's Tax Guide," or "Publication No. 15," defines "employers" and "employees" under federal tax laws. This is a 31-page official booklet and is available in all IRS offices. "There's no charge and every employer should obtain a copy, and they will readily see where they come under the law," Campbell concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hudler had as their guests Sunday, Mrs. Hudler's brother, Elmo Eubanks, and Mrs. Eubanks of Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Reed went to Odessa Sunday to greet a new granddaughter, the adopted daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ed Welch.

Mrs. Paul Maxwell returned home this week from the hospital at Wichita Falls where she has been under treatment for several weeks. She was doing well.

been the fastest time of all with a 9.8 second rope and ties, while Tommy Bacon followed in third place with a remarkable 19.3 second performance.

These three ropers proved best in a field of 22 entries.

The regular calf roping contests were hardly less sensational in point of time when Shorty Russell came up with a 10.6 second time to take first; Tommy Bacon was second with 10.9 seconds and Connie Gibbs roped and tied his animal in 11.1 seconds for third money.

In the girls professional barrel races, Janice Page again took first with a time of 18.6 seconds and Charline Moore followed with 19 seconds.

Linda Koonce won the boys and girls open races in 19.5 seconds; Donald Jones was second with 20.8 seconds and Judy Lewis and Terry Changers tied with 21 seconds each.

In the teen-age steer riding contests Jimmy James Cox, Larry Alford and Terry Chambers rode, Terry being the only rider to stay aboard.

Billy Wester took first in bronc riding and Bob Golson second, while Bill Hargrove and C. A. Northcutt were first and second, respectively, in the bull riding event.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, M. C., 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The following story appeared in newspapers from Miami, Florida to San Francisco, California; New York to Cincinnati to Duluth and Denver. It is an excerpt from a speech which I made before the House of Representatives on May 31, 1962.

Representative Omar Burleson, Democrat of Texas, told applauding House colleagues yesterday that it would be a ridiculous and absurd mistake for the United States to bring in thousands of Chinese refugees from Hong Kong.

"How Gullible can we get," he said, "to welcome with open arms people about whom we know nothing."

Burleson, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he knew he would be criticized for making the comments. He also said there would be some who would charge that he was not in favor of feeding hungry people.

"Well, I'm in favor of feeding them in Hong Kong," he told the House.

Burleson said this country brought in thousands of refugees from Hungary and Cuba after crises in these countries.

"Some of them, he said, ended up picketing the White House, thus mistaking freedom and liberty for license."

"Many of these people have no concept of our customs and traditions." Because of this publicity, hundreds of letters pour in, the vast majority of which express approval. Those which are critical are invariably bitter in nature and, in fact, some are insulting. This is to be expected.

Of course, mail from our own constituents on any subject will be answered first, but eventually all these letters will have a reply, even if it may take most of the summer.

As mentioned in this column of May 31, this whole idea is, in my opinion, about asinine as anything our Government has ever done.

As mentioned in the speech before the Congress, while we are supposedly trying to ferret out subversion with our right hand, the left hand is waving in these hordes of people about whom we know absolutely nothing, and we have no way of finding out. As if we do not have enough problems already, we invite more by compounding conditions about which those who want to relieve the situations talk — more Federal Aid to Education, more Public Housing, more this and that and the other — but it seems there are these groups who want to take care of the foreigners before we take care of our own people.

There was a day not long ago when it was a crime to smuggle Chinese into the United States.

In 1943 a legal quota of 105 annually was established for Chinese which quota is hundreds of times oversubscribed.

Now there are two bills pending in the House of Representatives and one in the Senate to open up immigration to Chinese escaping out of Communist China into Hong Kong.

If the Great China Wall was around China today and worked as it did in ancient times, there would be little illicit narcotics in this country now, which is a big business over the world for Communist China, the best market for it being the United States.

QUEEN CONTEST MEETING HELD

A meeting of Farm Bureau Chairmen from all communities for the Eastland County Farm Bureau Queen Contest was held June 14, in the Farm Bureau office in Eastland. Plans were made for the Annual Queen Contest that will be held August 3, at Gorman.

Purpose of this contest is to give recognition to the Farm and Ranch girls of Eastland county. The girls are to be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness, and all the qualities that go to make a winsome Texas future homemaker.

A candidate must be a daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member, and between the ages of 16-22 and single. Each contestant will be required to speak approximately one minute on some subject pertaining to Farm Bureau. It is anticipated that through the institution of this contest more farm and ranch girls, and other young people may become better acquainted with the principles of Farm Bureau organization. Girls who would like to enter the contest may contact Mrs. Beth Coats, Cisco. The deadline will be July 25.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Beth Coats, county chairman; Mrs. Glenn Jordon, Kokomo; Mrs. B. O. Speagle, Scranton; Mrs. B. B. Freeman, Chaney; Mrs. Leo Brooks, Eastland; Mrs. Henry Fry, Cisco; Mrs. Luke Palmer, Gorman.

from to finance such a program? Obviously from only one source — a socialized society, government by bureaucrats who will exact the taxes at one point and at the other arbitrarily determine who receives the benefits and what benefits they are entitled to get.

Don't kid yourself. You reap what you sow. Nobody gets something for nothing. Some way, somehow, in sweat, subservieny or self-respect, we must pay for what we receive.

It isn't pleasant reading, but it isn't intended to be. Here's a slow-motion, split-second reconstruction of what happens when a car, travelling at 55 miles an hour, crashes into a solid, immovable tree:

1/10 of a second — The front bumper and chrome "frosting" of the grillwork collapse. Slivers of steel penetrate the tree to depths of one and a half inches and more.

2/10 — The hood crumples as it rises, smashing into the windshield. Spinning rear wheels leave the ground. The grillwork disintegrates. The fenders come into contact with the tree, forcing the rear parts to splay out over the front doors.

In this same second tenth of a second, the heavy structural members of the car begin to act as a brake on the terrific forward momentum of the 2½ ton body. But the driver's body continues to move forward at the vehicle's original speed. This means a force of 20 times gravity; his body weights 3200 pounds. His legs, ramrod-straight, snap at the knee joints.

3/10 — The driver's body is now off the seat, torso upright, broken knees pressing against the dashboard. The plastic and steel frame of the steering wheel begins to bend under his terrible death grip. His head is now near the sun visor, his chest above the steering column.

4/10 — The car's front 24 inches have been completely demolished, but the rear end is still traveling at an estimated speed of 35 miles an hour. The driver's body is still traveling at 55. The half-ton motor-block crumples into the tree. The rear of the car, like a bucking horse, rises high enough to scrape bark off low branches.

5/10 — The driver's fear-frozen hands bend the steering column into an almost vertical position. The force of gravity impales him on the steering wheel shaft. Jagged steel punctures lung and intercostal arteries. Flood spurts into his lungs.

6/10 — So great is the force of the impact that the driver's feet are ripped from his tightly laced shoes. The brake pedal shears off at the floorboards. The chassis bends in the middle, shearing body bolts. The driver's head smashes into the windshield. The rear of the car begins its downward fall, spinning wheels digging into the ground.

7/10 — The entire, wirthing body of the car is forced out of shape. Hinges tear. Doors spring open. In one last convulsion the seat rams forward pinning the driver against the cruel steel of the steering shaft. Blood leaps from his mouth. Shock has frozen his heart. He is now dead.

Time elapsed — seven tenths of one second.

Lone Star Builds Storage Project In Hamilton Co.

DALLAS — Lone Star Gas Company will complete construction of a new underground storage project in Hamilton County, Texas, within 30 days, a company official said.

The underground reservoir is located in the Pottsville South field some 13 miles southwest of Hamilton. Lone Star engineers estimate the reservoir has a capacity of about 9 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

The Pottsville project is included in the $2.3-million budgeted by Lone Star to reinforce the company's transmission system and implement utilization of its storage facilities in the West Central Texas area during 1962.

The Pottsville reservoir will give Lone Star a total storage capacity of about 79 billion cubic feet of gas on its system in Texas.

Pottsville is Lone Star's seventh field to be utilized in this important phase of maintaining ample, year-round gas supply for customers, the company spokesman said.

Some gas stored in the Pottsville South reservoir will be available for use beginning the winter of 1962-63. The gas will be utilized in the Hill Country segment of Lone Star's transmission pipeline system which now measures some 8,888 miles in length.

One 660-horsepower compressor, which is already installed, will pump gas in and out of the reservoir which has an average depth of approximately 2,600 feet.

Natural gas to be stored in the Pottsville field will be purchased from producers in Eastland, Stephens, Erath and Palo Pinto counties. Stored gas then will be used primarily to supplement supply to Lone Star customers in the Hill Country during high demand periods in the winter.

Natural gas injections are expected to begin early this summer, the Lone Star spokesman said. The field has seven wells which will be used for both injection and withdrawal.

Lone Star has three other storage reservoirs in the West Central Texas area. They are located in the View field, Taylor County; Leeray field, Stephens County; Hill Lake field, Eastland County (now under construction).

A company pipeline crew will handle installation of necessary pipelines.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

There's one to five chance your youngster needs a major teeth straightening job since an estimated one-fifth of the nation's children suffer from "malocclusion", or improper alignment of teeth. And, summer is a good time to do something about it.

A generation ago, parents of young children with teeth which did not meet properly were usually advised to "let them alone and nature will correct them."

Today we know better. Malocclusion is a condition to be corrected by a dental specialist known as an "orthodontist". Nature, by herself, is a very poor straightener of crooked teeth.

Although the public is just now becoming aware of the health significance of malocclusion, experience has taught dentists that crooked teeth contribute to decay, faulty speech and malnutrition. One of the worst results of malocclusion is the psychological stress borne by a child singled out for ridicule by his friends because of "buck teeth."

A child with facial deformities such as those caused by misshapen teeth may develop traits of indecision and begin to doubt his ability to cope with problems in his environment, psychologists say.

What causes teeth to erupt irregularly? Dentists agree that heredity is probably one important cause. Another is persistent thumbsucking and abnormal pressures against the jaw. Living bone, contrary to popular thought, is not always hard and unyielding. The entire jaw structure can be molded by gentle, persistent pressure.

In the case of thumbsucking, dentists believe that if the habit can be broken before age five, there is a good chance the teeth may return to normal position without harmful effects.

Another cause of malocclusion is prolonged retention of baby teeth. Permanent teeth which follow are then prevented from arranging themselves properly.

On the other hand, when primary teeth are lost too early, adjoining teeth may tend to tip and "migrate", crowding into spaces where permanent teeth should erupt.

There are different methods of bringing teeth into proper alignment. Sometimes it may be necessary to extract teeth to make room. In some cases a plastic or wire appliance may be fitted to the teeth to guide them into position by pressure.

Whatever the method, it is calculated to help the youngster avoid the fate of a "buck tooth."

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schaefer Honored With 25th Wedding Anniversary Party

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schaefer of the Cook community were honored by their neighbors and friends with a community party at their home Sunday celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary and Mr. Schaefer's birthday.

The anniversary falls on June 19 and Mr. Schaefer's birthday on June 21.

Some 85 relatives, neighbors and friends registered and helped the Schaefers enjoy the day.

Backyard Chef Has Wide Variety Of Barbecue Meats

COLLEGE STATION — Few aromas do a better job of whetting jaded summer appetites than those coming from a backyard barbecue. The backyard chef has a wide array of meats available but because of very favorable prices, F. Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, suggests broilers.

In addition to the broilers for chick-n-que, the specialist says you'll need to plan a complete menu. Potato salad or corn-on-the-cob go good with chicken and a mixed green salad, an appetizer tray, sliced bread or rolls and a beverage will make for eating suited to the taste of just about anyone, adds Beanblossom.

The sauce used during the chick-n-que process is mighty important. If you don't have a favorite recipe, the specialist suggests you pick up a copy of MP-312, "Let's Have a Chick-n-que" from your county extension office and try the sauce he likes. The publication also contains other information which outdoor cooks can use to advantage.

Included is a discussion of grills and barbecue pits. Hints on cooking, including starting the charcoal fire and heat requirements. Beanblossom, in the publication, also calls attention to safety hints which can make the affair even more pleasant and enjoyable, including the tools you will need to do a first class job.

And this final reminder from the specialist, don't cook the chicken too fast. Allow plenty of time for the job and when it is finished, you'll put a product on the table that you and your guests will enjoy and discuss for weeks to come.

TO LUEDERS CAMP

Rev. H. K. Neely, Jr. accompanied the Royal Ambassador group to the Lueders Baptist Encampment where they will enjoy a full program of study classes, preaching, swimming and games until late Thursday.

Turkey Marketing Order Opposed By Nat'l Farm Bureau

CHICAGO — Establishment of a nationwide turkey marketing order would subject an entire industry to marketing controls and further extend federal "rationing of the right to produce farm products," Charles E. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, warned today.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has called for a referendum of a selected group of the country's turkey growers, June 18-22, to determine if the selected group of producers voting approve the program.

If the proposed order is approved, it would be the first nationwide order for any commodity and it would be the first federal order of this type applied to a livestock or poultry product, Shuman pointed out.

"Inauguration of a nationwide marketing order in this field would mean that the government's power to ration the right to produce has been extended to another segment of our agricultural economy," the farm leader said.

"In the case of the turkey order referendum, the small grower will not even be permitted to vote on whether or not he is to 'be fenced in' by rigid marketing controls," Shuman pointed out.

"If the marketing order becomes effective, rights to market turkeys — like acreage allotments — will become capital assets subject to political manipulation.

"One aspect of the Billie Sol Estes case involving the manipulation of cotton acreage allotments demonstrates the monetary value of government-allocated rights to produce and market farm products. An acreage allotment can mean an increase of from $100 to $200 or more per acre in market price of cotton land, for example, or many thousands of dollars in the value of a farm. This artificial increase in value rewards speculators, but penalizes young farmers and those who need to expand their operations to get enough volume to make a decent living," Shuman said.

"The turkey marketing order is an administrative device by which the Secretary of Agriculture can control the production of turkeys by controlling their marketing. It provides for an administrative committee that would be empowered to say who may expand his production.

"The real threat in the turkey marketing order is that it constitutes a foot in the door approach to the complete regimentation of all agriculture by administrative action.

"If the Secretary is successful in his efforts to dictate the operations of the turkey industry, similar orders to establish production controls can be expected for other commodities including eggs, broilers, potatoes and milk. This would mean taking the major decisions on economic policy out of the hands of Congress, and placing them in the hands of administrators who are on record as having little confidence in the market price system.

"As for the referendum itself, the Secretary has exerted every effort to set the stage for an affirmative vote.

"At least 85 per cent — probably over 90 per cent — of the turkey growers would be exempt from the provisions of the proposed order, except that they could not expand their operation beyond 3,600 pounds of annual turkey production without consent of the 19-man committee under the Secretary of Agriculture.

"The exempt producer has been denied the right to vote on an order that will prevent him from expanding his turkey operation as his larger competitors have already done. This is contrary to the objective of helping the family farm. It means the end of the line for the turkey producer who needs to expand his operations in order to stay in business. Most of the successful growers today are started with fewer than 200 turkeys and would have fallen into the 'exempt' category of producers who are now to be stopped from expanding under the proposed marketing order.

"The Secretary can determine the results either by the number of voters in the referendum, or by the volume of turkey producers by those who vote. On a volume vote, a producer who has 100,000 turkey base will have twenty times as many votes as the man with a 5,000 turkey base. Thus, a small percentage of voters with exceedingly large bases may be able to impose their will on all turkey producers.

"The counting of the ballots is to be under the complete control of the ASC — the same agency of government that is involved in the Estes case, Chal-

EMERGENCY SUPPLIES for the 258-person fallout shelter area in the basement of the Merchants Terminal building in Baltimore, Md., are stored as part of a 14-city test of shelter stocking procedures conducted by the Department of Defense with the cooperation of local civil defense agencies. The heavily-built basement is typical of areas in existing buildings across the nation which could make good public fallout shelters when supplied with food and water for each occupant for 14 days along with sanitation, medical and radiation detection kits. Lessons learned in the 14-city test will be applied to the stocking of community fallout shelters for up to 60 million Americans starting later this year. (Department of Defense Photo)

79 Attend Reunion Of Brooks-Clark Families June 9-10

Seventy-nine attended the annual Brooks-Clark reunion held at Lake Cisco on June 9 and 10.

Six children of the Luther Clark family were present. They were Sam Clark, Seminole; Kay Clark, Mesquite; Mrs. Susie and Lee Hardin and Mrs. Lou Brooks of Rising Star, and Mrs. Maggie Allen of Snyder. A special table was set in their honor, for which a very beautiful salad centerpiece was made by Mrs. Jim Coursey.

Present for the reunion were: Mrs. Susie Coursey, Rising Star; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Coursey and children, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coursey, Dallas; Van Coursey, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Coursey and Sam of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Coursey, Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jr. Coursey and children, Dallas; Mrs. Maggie Allen, Snyder; Mrs. Jeanette Holliday and Larry, Cuthbert; Sadie Brizendine, Rising Star; Mrs. Susie Johnson, Colorado City;

Mrs. Leora Butler, Ronnie and three children of Abilene; Sam Clark, Seminole; Mr. and Mrs. Marquay and daughter of Ballinger; Mr. and Mrs. Kay Clark of Mesquite; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Clark and children of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Garrington of Odessa; Mrs. Lee Hardin, Rising Star; Paul Hardin, Houston; Mrs. Lou Brooks, Rising Star; Mary Piant, Rising Star; Mrs. W. E. Allen and Mrs. Thelma Wright of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McConnaughey and Rusty of LaMarque, Texas; George Ebooks, Post; Mrs. Inez Cox Lubbock; Randy Brooks and two sons of Post; Winnie and James Armstrong of Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gale Armstrong of Brownwood; Mrs. Maurice McReady, Cleburne; Major Gaines, Dallas; Mrs. Billy Farrar and children of Arlington; Dorothy (Gaines) Garland, Dallas;

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Swindle, Honey Grove; Robert Prater of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Don Piffier and children of Dallas.

TO GEORGETOWN
Miss Trudy Crawford, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Crawford formerly of Rising Star and now of Cisco, will go to Georgetown Sunday, June 24, to attend the Senior Assembly of Methodist Youth.

Mrs. Phyllis Caudle and two children, John and Cathy, of Arizona, are visiting their mother, Mrs. J. R. Bucy.

lenged ballots are to be marked with a 'C' and opened in the state ASC offices. State ASC committee chairmen are political appointees — named by the Secretary of Agriculture. The results are to be announced only in term of national totals, and the Secretary has thus far refused to make provision for the use of tellers representing those who support, and those who oppose the proposed referendum.

"The turkey grower is not the only one who would suffer under the order. The program would eventually mean higher cost to the consumer because the costs of operation would be added all along the line from the farm to the market.

"To the average consumer, the entire fantastic scheme as proposed by the government planners may seem like an 'Alice in Wonderland' story, but unfortunately it is all too real. Anyone who says that this can't possibly happen in America has only to read the daily accounts of the almost unbelievable Billie Sol Estes case as it unfolds."

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, Sr., of Cisco and one of their grandchildren from El Paso visited their son, John Lee, Jr., and Mrs. Beryl Heath during the week.

Why you save more than money with U.S. Savings Bonds

A timely message about one of "the best things in life" that isn't free

One of the best things in life—freedom itself—really isn't free at all.

We pay for freedom many ways. With our vigilance as free men. With taxes. With our commitments to millions of other free men everywhere.

And there's another way; a quiet way, we Americans help pay for freedom. That's to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. For Bonds are more than just a way to save money; Bonds are also a way to help Uncle Sam guard your very right to enjoy the money you save;

Let's say you're saving for a home. With U.S. Savings Bonds you also help save a better world to build it in. Doesn't that sound like a good reason to buy Bonds now? These days more than ever you'll be saving more than money.

Not all the benefits of Bonds are in dollars. Bonds help Uncle Sam pay the price of liberty itself.

This man would say: "Don't buy Bonds". No wonder. The more Bonds we buy, the stronger we grow as individuals and as a nation.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Public to Build Salk Institute

Through their contributions to the Salk Institute Building Fund, the American people—who formed a partnership with science to bring about the Salk polio vaccine—will again share in a great scientific venture to help man make the best of his gift of life.

When there is a job to be done—whether it's a war to be won or a disease to be conquered—the American people have an amazing way of marshaling their efforts to produce maximum results in minimum time.

Such an effort is under way this month in the nationwide campaign—June 1 through 15—for public support for the construction of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

Millions of posters in public places, mailers in home letterboxes, coin collectors and canisters on counters everywhere proclaim, "You Can Build the Salk Institute for Biological Studies . . . for Life, Health and Humanity."

Youngsters who, as "Polio Pioneers" helped prove the effectiveness of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk, are expressing their gratitude for their protection from crippling polio with contributions in school envelopes.

People everywhere are proudly wearing tiny microscopes in their lapels, symbolic of their gifts to provide building blocks for a great new laboratory of life.

Millions of Americans, who won a great victory over one dread disease—paralytic polio—in partnership with Dr. Salk and other scientists, welcome this opportunity to become shareholders in a new scientific venture which promises even greater benefits for them and for their children.

As he worked on the polio vaccine, Dr. Salk became more and more aware of the need for a better way to gain greater scientific understanding of the basic processes of life and their relation to health and disease.

In talking with men of science all over the world, he found that others shared his recognition of the need for a place where scientists could work together seeking answers to basic biological questions from many viewpoints, with fullest latitude for research, discussion and exchange of ideas.

Dr. Salk's planning will culminate in 1963 with the opening of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies, which he will direct, in San Diego, Calif.

The land has been given by vote of the people of San Diego. The entire nation will contribute to the construction of the Institute through a campaign sponsored by The National Foundation—March of Dimes—just as the American people totally supported Dr. Salk's polio research.

The Institute will serve as an international "crossroads" for new ideas and discoveries. Eminent scholars from such diverse sciences as biology, genetics, chemistry, physics, mathematics and philosophy will join Dr. Salk there as Senior Fellows. Visiting scientists will come from all parts of the world, and promising young men and women will be invited as Student Fellows to work with and learn from the established leaders.

Construction and equipment of the Salk Institute will cost approximately $15 million.

Through their generous support of the Salk Institute Building Fund, the American people, who took such a vital part through the March of Dimes in bringing about the momentous medical discovery that was the Salk vaccine, will bring to reality a great international scientific center, dedicated to helping man make the best of his gift of life.

Cotton Market Potential Great, Jackson Says

HARLINGEN — Cotton must return to a one-price system as quickly as possible, Col. Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro, stressed today in address keynoting the 23rd Annual American Cotton Congress.

Colonel Jackson is general chairman of the Congress and president of the National Cotton Council.

Pointing out that U. S. cotton is hard pressed in its competitive fight with foreign grown cotton and with substitute fibers, he called on the industry and the government to work together in solving the problem. If the American cotton industry is permitted to go down the drain, he emphasized, it would be a staggering blow to the economy of the United States.

"Overseas we could see the danger of new upsurges in cotton acreage and synthetic production. The price rise brought with it an increase in the export subsidy and a further price advantage for foreign manufacturers over domestic mills. The overall cost of the government cotton program was increased, fanning new flames of criticism of the expense of subsidies.

"So we find 40 per cent of our market dependent on a program that is far from popular in some quarters. Furthermore, we are being underpriced by our biggest competitor on the domestic market. What more do we need to spur us toward a competitive price for cotton?"

With cotton truly competitive in price, quality and promotion, the Congress chairman stressed, the potential for bigger markets is tremendous. Demand for fiber is strong in this country, population is increasing, and living standards are continuing to rise.

"Possibilities for greater overseas markets stagger the imagination," he said. "The six countries in the European Common Market have a combined population of 170 million. The United Kingdom, Turkey, Greece and the rest of Free Europe are expected to become a part eventually. This would mean one big market of more than 335 million people."

If per capita consumption in Europe reaches 75 per cent of that in the United States, this would mean a potential market for 14 million bales by 1975, he observed. He said that through Cotton Council International programs to build greater market already are under way in 16 countries, 13 of which are in Europe.

TWICE AS MUCH COOLING

With the patented features of Paramount Coolers

Yes! This famous Paramount 5000 c.f.m. evaporative cooler gives you up to twice as much cooling because of these patented features:

- Many coolers lose as much as 70% of cooling efficiency because dust, dirt and salts clog the filters. Patented No-Clog Sta-Fresh Filters are guaranteed clog-proof, assuring 100% cooling efficiency all summer long.
- Filters saturated with water become heavy and often sag and settle from the top, drawing hot, unfiltered, uncooled air into the cooler which may create as much as a 75% cooling loss. Patented Grip-Lock Filter Holders are guaranteed to prevent sagging and settling of filters assuring 100% cool, clean, filtered air.
- Without correct water trough adjustment, sections of the filters remain dry, resulting in substantial cooling loss and costly service expense. Patented Free-Flo Visible Water Troughs with external adjustment assure 100% saturation, and 100% cooling for the entire life of the cooler.
- Added feature—Patented Window Closing Attachment lets you close and lock your window. Eliminates entry of dust, rain and drafts into your home.

Council Sees Tax And Labor Costs Repressive Factors

ABILENE — The President's proposed accelerated public works program was seen today as only postponing the time when the root problem of unemployment can be dealt with by tax reduction and reform of the tax system.

This was the view presented by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce in a report to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and to the 29 other Regional and State Chamber organization members of the Council. The report was prepared by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research in the Council's Washington office.

The full employment and sustained prosperity which is the stated purpose of the bill, S. 2965, is dependent more on the correction of two major factors retarding growth of the economy than on palliatives treating the symptoms, not the causes, of unemployment.

The two factors cited are our high cost of labor and our repressive tax system. Rinta commented:

"If the Administration and Congress were giving proper attention to these basic problems, the symptomatic problem of unemployment could be largely eliminated."

To the extent that Federal labor laws and Government labor policies and administrative practices have encouraged increases in production costs to the point of pricing goods out of the market, the Council maintained they have caused unemployment.

Tax reduction and reform should, according to the report, take precedence over new spending programs as a means of strengthening the economy. It said:

"There is a growing recognition of the fact that our economic growth in recent years has been held back by insufficient savings and capital, not by any lack of investment opportunities. And the prime factor behind the shortage of capital has been the drain of potential savings used by our Government." Rinta declared the present need is to get Federal spending under control at a level which will permit the tax reduction and reform that are essential to provide the capital on which the economy depends for its growth.

The Council report also pointed out that the present Federal fiscal situation does not warrant burdening the budget with this additional public works authorization of $600 - 900 million in fiscal 1963. It said:

"The fiscal 1963 budget, as submitted to Congress by the President, included no provision for this public works program. Yet it is certain that even without the public works program the planned modest surplus will become a substantial deficit which may exceed $5 billion." "This will follow the deficit of $7 to 8 billion which can be expected in the current fiscal year ending June 30. It will mean three consecutive deficits totaling about $16 to 17 billion and four deficits in the last five years giving a net five year deficit of $27 to 28 billion."

Adding that these recurring substantial deficits are bound to build up additional inflationary pressures and economic instability, the report warned that they will also lead to further loss of confidence in the dollar abroad and will worsen our present poor balance of payments problem.
