REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

By JOE PICKLE So far as this column can recall, Big Spring furnished its first legislator Saturday with the election of Burke T. Summers as representative of the 91st district. In this same connection, it is interesting to note that reports last week showed that credit—except on open accounts—was fast becoming a thing of the past. Jack Benny, Ann Sheridan In Ritz Comedy Triumph

Uncle Sam has imposed no priorities on laughter, as you are slated to discover when you see "George Washington Slept Here" at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. As a play it kept New Yorkers laughing, and advance reports indicate that the musical casts of this season's crop of laugh hits, will carry on that reputation. In the leading roles are Jack Benny and Ann Sheridan. Benny is cast as the average American city dweller, reared in comfortable apartment houses, whose wife, an avid antique hunter, carries matters too far when she buys a house where George Washington was supposed to have slept. Against Benny's protests, they move in to find the house in a state of dilapidation so advanced that it leads Benny to wonder what's holding it up. Fun is provided when they are informed by the lugubrious caretaker, played by Percy Kilbride, that the well is dry, and it will be necessary to dig a new one. In the midst of it all, the provincial rich uncle (Charles Coburn's role) arrives, and must be made comfortable and happy at all costs. The house proves to be a veritable gargantuan for it swallows repairs without showing signs of improvement, and the situation becomes more involved when the money for the mortgage must be raised—or else. When matters close in on the couple and there's no quarter in sight, Rommie the dog, saves the situation in a laughter-provoking climax.

"George Washington Slept Here" was directed by William Keighley. Everett Freeman wrote the screen play, from the stage production by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman.

The supporting cast includes Hattie McDaniel, William Tracy, Joyce Reynolds and others.

Big Job falls to Captain James F. Hall, soft-spoken, efficient detachment commander as he looks to the average recruit in detachment headquarters. Captain Hall, a native of Morgantown, West Virginia, also is in command of 583rd quartermaster platoon, technical air base. Above, left, Ray C. Collin, SS, gives Ronald Daly, IS, a few pointers on army life. Both are recruits but Collins, Cincinnati, saw service in the last war. Daly is from Muskegon, Mich. Recruits come in a variety of sizes. Take Sam

Abenanti, Chicago, who is just one-half inch over five feet tall, and Raymond Jack, Omaha, Neb., who measures slightly over six feet, six inches, as a case in point. Below, men of the detachment are shown signing up at the rate of 48 per hour to have their pay docketed for war bond purchases. Left to right those signing men up are, Privates Robert Anderson, John Barbour, Leonard Howe, and Ernest Coverdill.

oago; Leon M. Woods, Ft. Worth; Thurl Buckmaster, Muskegon, Mich.; Tom Parker, Chicago; Amel R. Coplin, Muskegon, Mich.; and Frank C. "Pop" Riggs of Dallas, who says he has cooked for twenty-five years from Oklahoma and Texas to California. Meat is one of the staples on army menus, and recruits consume enough steaks and chops every day to keep Privates Lester LeFevre of Dallas, James A. Wheeler of Tyler, Ray Boatright of Roland, Okla., and Gordon Reoch of Detroit, Mich. pretty busy cutting them up. Meals in the mess halls are served family style with ten seated at a table, as opposed to the squadron messes which are served cafeteria style. The troops have taken interest in their detachment which is rapidly becoming one of the best on the field. Landscaping, painting and decorating are helping to make the area a second home for soldiers who hail from almost everywhere in the United States. Every Race Among these men are representatives of practically every racial group. There are Polish boys like Casey Stankewicz of Chicago, Harold Krzyzewski of Detroit, Joseph Hapak of Whiting, Ind., and Edward Kozlowski of Hamtramck, Mich. German boys like Warren Pfeiffer of Chicago, Allen Weinstock of Winnetka, Ill., Hugo A. Hugo of Wheeling, Ill., and Helmut Haberl of Detroit, who was actually born in Berlin, Germany. He says it was a happier Berlin when he was there than it is now. Representing the Irish citizenry of the country are Arthur McCurdy of Chicago, Leo B. O'Gorman of Mason City, Ia., and Bernard O'Connell of Muskegon, Mich. to name a few. Russell Stuyvenberg of Muskegon, and Alphonse Van Aelst of Hart, Mich., are real Hollanders, while Robert Tardani of Muskegon and John G. Mancini of Eveleth, Minn., hold up the Italian end. Albert H. Hutka, a Dallas boy, is a Czech, and Ed Kizmanic of Joliet, Ill., is a Croat, but Aristides Zotalis of St. Paul, Minn., tops them all. He was born in Greece, near the famous town of Sparta. If he is as tough as some of his Greek brethren, he will be another thorn in the side of the axis one of these days. No matter what nationality, all the men are out to finish disagreeable job through cooperation and mutual effort. Old time rivalries and prejudices have been swept aside to do the task better. Men come to the air forces from every walk of life. For instance, there are skilled welders such as Walter Brodsh of Springfield, Ill., Clarence Dunford of Antioch, Ill., and Kenneth Velony of Pontiac, Mich., experienced machinists, like Harry C. Stenbridge of Chicago, 20 years at his trade, Fred H. Crabb of Detroit, with nine years behind him, and Laurence Knowles of Provo, Utah, another old hand and fine toolmakers like George John of Dearborn, Mich., Cornelius Morris of Cedar Falls, Ia., and James E. Robbins of Hazel Park, Mich. Farmers, Truckers Right along with them come farmers like Harold Saxton from Ringgold, Iowa, out in the corn country; Ronald L. Jumbuck, a dairyman from Arcadia, Wis., Car-

Songsters—Allan Jones and Jane Frazee are the principals in "Moonlight in Havana," a musical extravaganza which is the headliner at the Lyric theatre today and Monday. Both are talented singers, and contribute new vocal hits to the picture.

No History—Jack Benny and Ann Sheridan are shown here in a scene from the picture destined to make hysterical history, "George Washington Slept Here," which is featured at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. Although the Father of Our Country enters into things indirectly, there's nothing seriously historical to mar the comic doings of the story, based on the popular stage play.

Recruit Detachment At AAFBS Is The 'Melting Pot' Of Army

One of the more interesting outfits at the Big Spring Bombardier school is the recruit detachment. It is an excellent cross-section of the Army Air Forces. Most of the men that make it up have had little contact with army life or discipline before, and the resulting melting pot is a study in itself. Soldiers arrive at Big Spring from fields and reception centers all over the country. They step off the train, bewildered and confused. Most of them are a long way from home and friends and as far as they are concerned, there is nothing good about the camp, climate, or country, and they dare you to show otherwise. To smooth out the road, and make useful happy soldiers of these new arrivals is the job of Captain James F. Hall and his staff. Captain Hall, a West Virginian "mountaineer" in his early thirties, has a knack for getting things done. After duties at Ft. Knox, Ft. Hayes, Randolph Field, Ellington Field, and Midland, he was put in command of the 513th Bombardier training squadron at Big Spring, where he proceeded to make things hum. He did such an excellent job, that when the former commander of the recruit detachment left to assume the duties of another assignment, Captain Hall was sent in to take over one of the most difficult posts in camp. He is assisted by Warrant Officer Ray Lips, a smiling young man from Avery, Texas. Lips is the statistical officer. He issues and helps enforce many of the regulations set up by the commanding officer.

Drill and Formations Sergeants "Pat" Patterson of Milledgeville, Ga., Eccles Morrow of Statesville, N. C., and Glen McNairlin of Stigler, Okla., directly supervise recruit activities, aided by Corporals Eddie Hammond of Hamilton, Ohio, and Frank Bourland of Eastland, Texas. Privates Francis Jackson of Snyder, Texas, and Leo Sharp of Danville, Illinois, handle recruit drill and formations. The administration of a unit as large as this one, requires the services of several experienced men in the office. Private Clifford L. Feldt of Westbrook, Texas, is acting first sergeant, with Robert Sudduth of Springfield, Ill., Emery Hougham of Jacksonville, Ill., Francis Dorsey of Detroit, Mich., and James Applegate also of Springfield as charge of quarters Charles Cabler of Brownwood,

Texas, Wilbur Shepperson of Artes, Mo., and Roy Layman of Ames, Iowa, make up the typing and filing staff. Ordinarily recruits are held at the local camp only a short time. They are checked and classified and sent on to some other field where their particular specialties are in demand. Captain Hall has organized a school to teach the fundamentals of aviation mechanics and construction to all interested men. This will enable them to take up useful positions either at Big Spring or at some other base. Also on the docket are classes in technical supply, squadron quartermaster supply, and radio fundamentals and code practice. A special group of qualified men from the recruit detachment ranks has been put in charge of the new school which gives three hundred men six hours of class work per week. Privates Ted Mrenco of Chicago, is instructor for the school, aided by Privates Fred Sanders of Lamesa, Texas, Ken Parrott of Chicago, and Harold Skinner of Scottsbluff, Neb. The complete set of technical orders used in the course is in charge of Privates Robert Prochnow and Edward Klimek, both of Chicago. Privates Eddie Krall of Joliet, Ill., Francis Hance of Yorkville, Ill., and Larry Hirsch and Joseph Burkhardt from Chicago take care of the visual education posters and art work. The administrative staff of the school consists of Privates Thomas Jackson of Detroit, Mich., and Bob Chinnouth of Chicago. A supply room is operated for the recruits in order to supply each man with cot and mattress, blanket and pillowcase upon arrival. Laundry and dry cleaning are handled through this department, which is under the personal supervision of Private First Class D. L. Tobolowsky, Big Spring. Private D. W. Rigby, Big Spring, and Private Warren Richardson, Lamesa, Texas. Mail is Important Mail to and from recruits is one of the biggest single items handled in the camp. Since letters from home have an important bearing on the morale of the outfit, the packages and other mail must be handled with the utmost in efficiency and dispatch. This is the special job of Pfc. George E. Newby of Foston, Texas. He is assisted in this work by Pvt. Glen Mohrman of Quincy, Ill., James Wallace of Peoria, Ill., Douglas Tongate of

Session Gets Underway At Noon Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—The 48th legislature begins the serious business of a wartime general session Tuesday.

Fanfare and celebration will be cast aside as gavel pound the session to order at high noon.

Not all of the 181 members will be in attendance as five senators and 13 house members are in the armed forces.

The war will influence the session in other respects. One effect already is apparent. The need for state economy in face of rising federal taxes has obviated the possibility for new or added state taxes in the opinion of most members.

Therefore economy is expected to shade all other legislative subjects and to completely black out still others that normally are considered at a biennial session.

Before the business of lawmaking begins organization work must be completed. This will take the better part of a week.

On opening day the house will elect a speaker and the senate will choose a president pro tem who will preside until the inauguration Jan. 19 of Lieut. Gov-elect John Lee Smith.

Rep. Price Daniel of Liberty was assured of election as speaker. The senate probably will choose either Senator A. M. Alkin, Jr. of Paris or Senator Vernon Lamens of Waxahachie as president pro tem.

Both chambers will elect employees soon after the session convenes and presiding officers of either branch will name committees—the workhorses of the legislative process—as soon as possible.

An important preliminary in both branches is canvassing the general election vote for governor and lieutenant-governor, necessary prerequisite to the inauguration of Governor Coke R. Stevenson and Smith.

Governor Stevenson will address the legislature Wednesday, mapping a program of proposed legislation to fill wartime needs of the commonwealth.

The governor has not revealed the content of his message in which he could, if he chose, submit any legislation on an emergency basis and thereby speed its consideration, but has indicated that among other things he will ask that the legislature redistrict the state on the basis of the 1940 census.

All redistricting attempts since 1921 have failed although the constitution makes mandatory legislative reapportionment following publication of each decennial census.

Until the governor and lieutenant-governor are inaugurated Jan. 19 other organization duties will progress.

The inauguration will take place before a joint session in the house of representatives. Receptions, balls and other social events normally associated with an inauguration will be eliminated this year, a possible keynote to the entire session.

Farm Machinery For County Is Held To 55 Units

Howard county's farm machinery quota for 1943 will be 55 pieces of equipment.

This includes the allowances for the entire year for tractors, row-binders, planters, feed mills, milkers, combines, etc.

Prior to receipt of the quota, most of the available machinery in Big Spring implement houses has been approved for sale by the farm rationing committee. Hence, the quota for 1943 is expected to be about all that could be delivered to dealers anyhow.

Here are the allowances for 1943: Row-binders (horse-drawn and other than 1-row) 1; tractor-drawn 3; listers (with and without planting attachments) 6; mold-board plow (walking, two-horse and larger) 1; tractor drawn 2; disc plow (tractor-drawn) 1; one-way disc plow or tillers 2; harrows (spike tooth) 1; (screen-tooth) 1; (disc) 1; cultivators (walking) 1; (riding) 1; (tractor-drawn) 12.

Tractors (wheel-type) 9; wagons 4; milking machines 1; separators 1; hammer mills 1; mowers (tractor-drawn) 3; combines (6-foot or less) 1; corn binders 1.

All Federal Offices On Full 6-Day Week

Federal offices are now maintaining a full six days a week here.

While some of them, like the AAA, recruiting stations and others, previously stayed open on Saturday afternoon, all are maintaining this service now.

Among them are the AAA, the rent control office, the ration board, army and navy recruiters, bureau of entomology, Soil Conservation Service, Farm Security Administration, Selective Service board and the United States Employment Service.

The American production of magnesium in 1943 will be 100 times as great as it was in 1939, it has been estimated.

Five More Days For Registering Rent Property

Approximately 2,250 rental property units have completed registration at the Rent Control office, R. L. Cook, inspector, in charge of the registration, reported Saturday. Only five more days remain for rental property owners to list their units.

Cook estimated that there were still approximately 350 units which have not been listed with the office. Some of this number, including hotels and tourist camps, have secured their application blanks but have not as yet turned them in.

Cook asked that tenants whose landlords reside out of town or state, contact him and give the names of the landlords along with an address where they can be reached so that an application form may be sent to them.

Novelties On Auditorium Show Today

Novelty song and dance numbers, a string band from the 81st square and trio selections top the list of program features which will be presented at the city auditorium Variety Program to be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Pvt. Harvey Pierce of the Big Spring Bombardier school will be master of ceremonies, introducing acts of the free program.

Included will be a novelty song by Billy Gene and Perry Walker; a string band, composed of Pfc. Strickland, Cpl. Traomly and Pvt. Huddleston; a song specialty by Pvt. James Duley of the 81st squadron.

James Lee Underwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Underwood, will sing, and S-Sgt. Justin Lawrie will sing a solo.

Henry Rogers will feature in a violin solo, and a trio composed of Wanda Don Reese, LaVern Wilson and Dalphine Reese will conclude the program. They will be accompanied by Wanda Nell Birmingham at the piano.

The public is invited to attend the free program sponsored by the Big Spring Pastor's Association, and a special welcome is extended to enlisted men.

Rengan of Dallas was a bookkeeper, while Walter Studrawa was a bartender at the Diamond bar in Grand Rapids, Mich., the furniture capital of the world.

When it comes to experienced truckers, the government can well rely on Albert Ealey, Alton, Ill., James H. Couch of Canton, Tex., or Victor Kuzminski, who drove explosives around Joliet, Ill.

The men in the army don't all come from the big cities either. Robert L. Honeycutt says Calhoun City, Miss., may not be the biggest, but it sure is the best. Clifford L. Swanson of Lanyon, Ia., is willing to bet that his is one of the smallest incorporated villages anywhere. Lonzo Rudick says he will take Hickman, Ky., any time, but Wilfred Haskins of Elm Hill, and Ray Henkel of Greenfield, Ill., don't agree with him.

Some men like Ray C. Collings of Cincinnati, O., are old enough to have seen service in the last war, while others like Ronald Daly, Harold Stults and Robert Perkins, all of Muskegon, Mich., are young enough to be shaving for the first time. Raymond Jack of Omaha, Neb., is six feet six and one-half inches tall and Sam Abenanti of Chicago, who just passes five feet will give you an idea of the variety of sizes army men come in.

Drill and so-called details occupy most of the recruits' day time hours. Drill is just plain marching, but detail is something else again. "Detail" covers anything from window washing to raking and shoveling the rocks on the parade grounds. Quite frequently, such work is a trifle discouraging to an ambitious young mechanic, but it soon becomes all a part of the day's work, and before he knows it he has achieved his chosen post.

It is not all work, however, for under the capable direction of Sergeant H. Brant Abrams of Dallas, Tex., recruits engage in softball, basketball, volleyball and ping pong contests. Even with all this activity, the recruit has plenty of time to himself. This is usually spent in the newly decorated day room reading or writing letters to or from home. He receives regular passes to town, where he can congregate with his pals at the USO, go to church, or attend a movie.

Being a recruit is not much different than being a fraternity pledge. Life looks pretty dark at times, but years later you look back on your stay as one of the happiest you have had.

Not until 1939 were mountain climbers able to scale the Shiprock, 2,000-foot-high New Mexican rock formation.

Lieut. Adams Home On Furlough—

Forsan Bombardier Got His First Crack At Japanese On Guadalcanal

From Pearl Harbor to Guadalcanal is a pretty big jump in time and space. It took just that for Lieut. John Camp Adams to get in his first lick at the Japs.

Visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Adams, Forsan, and friends, Lieut. Adams related how his crew had a surprise and stormy welcome waiting when it put into Hawaii December a year ago to begin its first foreign service.

That was the exact moment that the infamous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was getting underway. Luckily, the ship on which Lieut. Adams was a cadet bombardier made it down through Japanese fire and for an emergency landing.

That left him itching to get back at the Japs, for they tore up things pretty badly and Lieut. Adams confirmed navy reports that the base wasn't so very far from a knock out punch at the moment.

Battle of Midway His first opportunity to get a crack at the enemy came in the historic battle of Midway when the invading Jap fleet was blasted and turned back. But fate was still blocking the "Typhoon McGoon," the ship on which Lieut. Adams was bombardier.

"We saw some action," he said, "but I did not get to drop my bombs."

Finally, when the Allies went on the offensive in the southwest Pacific and moved on Tulagi harbor and Guadalcanal, Lieut. Adams got to drop his first bomb on the enemy.

Henderson Field was the first target I got to release a bomb on," he said.

Not much later it was in American hands and his ship was using it as a base against the Japs.

"They bombed it pretty steadily all day, so we would come in late of an afternoon and put down for the night."

Ordinarily a bomber crew is not

LIEUT. JOHN CAMP ADAMS

The tropics are interesting, according to the lieutenant. Vegetation thrives and you generally can take your pick—lots of flies in the day and no mosquitoes at night, or no flies during the day and be eaten up by mosquitoes at night. All of the places get an abundance of rain.

If people have trouble in figuring out why such a fight over so relatively small an island as Guadalcanal, Lieut. Adams can explain it. "Why the whole fight has been over Henderson Field? It's just a question of getting a place with level area enough for a landing field. Those Japs have made pretty good use of the islands for this purpose," he said.

Stubborn Enemy He has seen both dead and live Japs and concedes that they are pretty stubborn fighters. "They don't fight too much during the day," he said, "but when night comes they crawl out like vermin. They know enough English that they mix up all in your lines, and it makes it pretty tough."

When the Japs dig in, he's hard to blast out. Witness the episode around Tulagi where Japs threw out grenades Marines into their prepared caves. "Dynamite on sticks kinda quitted them, though," said Lieut. Adams. "It won't be an easy job whipping the Japs back if what's been accomplished to date is a fair test, he thought."

Lieut. Adams' ship was in one forced landing, but fortunately it was within sight of an island although at night.

"It's rough getting down into the water in the day time with a land ship, and it's sure enough bad at night. One of the boys got his leg broken and another had a broken arm. The pilot and co-pilot were banded around but we all got off on rubber rafts and made shore," related the bombardier.

Maybe that landing wasn't such a bad break after all, for recently when three crews were sent out for replacement, there were three crews at Hawaii that had had weather landings. Those three got the leaves—the first Lieut. Adams had been granted since he got in the army and started his bombardier training as a member of the army's second bombardier class in June, 1941.

overworked, he said, but "let one of those naval battles get started and you go in and out about as fast as you can." Results? Sure, but Lieut. Adams modestly prefers to let pictures of missions speak for themselves. It's Not Easy The practical business of dropping bombs runs into complications, he admits, and like a lot of other things it is not always just like it was in the books. For instance, the weather gets to be quite a factor in some engagements, and particularly against enemy naval forces. A ship, painted to approximate the color of the water and in the midst of strike and haze is not exactly easy to spot and hit it. On land it's not as easy as one-two-three, either. "Camouflage is very effective," he explained, "especially in the island area for they are so heavily wooded. We flew over Munda many times but never noticed anything. A fellow was telling me that the Japs had been working on that field at night all the time and moving trees back on to the area before day. They got caught in the act of moving the trees back just at dawn one morning." Since then they've been getting a pasting.

Here's One Thing Your Uncle Sam

WANTS YOU TO HOARD

Your favorite uncle wants you to pamper your money. He wants you to put it aside in War Bonds—all of it you can—it will come in mighty handy later on. In fact, he is so anxious for you to do this he will give you $4 for every $3 you lay aside. He wants you to do it in a particular sort of way. He wants you to do it by converting at least 10 percent of your salary into War Bonds every pay day through the payroll savings plan. Uncle Sam has some darn good reasons for wanting you to be this kind of hoarder—reasons you just can't quarrel with. Here are some of them:

- 1. We must equip and arm the greatest army of all time if we are to win the war. The more War Bonds you buy the better we can do that
2. Uncle Sam wants you to have a "cushion" when the war is over—a reserve of money that will help you during the readjustment to peace. War Bonds mean money for that period of readjustment.

Your Uncle Sam is pretty sure you've bought some War Bonds — there isn't a patriotic American who hasn't bought some. But he wants to make certain that you are buying ENOUGH.

War Bonds make such good sense —for patriotic and selfish reasons —that nobody should skip on them. Nobody should be putting less than 10 percent into War Bonds unless it is literally impossible to do so.

Who Came to Dinner" with Monty Woolley, will be the leading lady of the USO camp show, and other actors to appear are Fred Cotton, heard on the "Gangbusters" and "Goldberg" radio shows and Betty Pierce, who was featured in New York on the "Gus Edwards School Days" act.

Bobcats, Coyotes Being Trapped

EDINBURG, Jan. 9 (AP)—Twelve bobcats and 104 coyotes have been trapped in Hidalgo county since a drive started in December by the U. S. fish and wild life service. The campaign resulted from complaints of ranchers and farmers that coyotes were hurting their stock and damaging crops. Chickens and turkey flocks were hard hit.

Douglass Back From Chicago Furniture Mart

It may be the last market for the duration, but the national furniture and home furnishings market just closed in Chicago attracted a record attendance, it was reported Saturday by D. D. Douglass, Barrow manager, on his return home. It was definitely a "seller's market," Douglass said, and retailers were anxious to get whatever stocks they could, to offset future shortages and restrictions. He was able to buy plentifully in most all lines, Douglass said, and is looking to large shipments in within a month or so. On the whole, styles in home furnishings are not changed radically, he said, the chief trend for 1943 being the standardizing of designs. Most manufacturers are making "Victory model" suits, and have reduced the number of styles. Cheaper lines, generally speaking, have been discontinued, but there will be plenty of quality furniture at least for another season, Douglass said.

Bedsprings and other metal items definitely are gone for the duration, but the ingenuity of furniture manufacturers is asserting itself, and practical substitutes are being made for some metal ware. Metal springs are gone from upholstery, but substitutes are being used. "Shortages can be counted on in the future," Douglass said. "But in the present market we were able to buy in the usual volume. We feel that new stocks coming in will fill the wants and needs of our customers."

LLANO, Jan. 9 (AP)—H. C. Keesa, pioneer ranchman, is 83 years old and wears no glasses, but he still can draw a fine bead. He killed his limit of two bucks during the just-closed deer season. New Work Is Ordered At Air Field

Additional outlay of construction funds at the Big Spring Bombardier school continues, with latest authorized project to be the resurfacing of runways and taxi strips.

John W. Sergeant, U. S. engineer in charge of all work at the field, announced Saturday that contract for this resurfacing work would be let next Wednesday, Jan. 13. The job is expected to run to several hundred thousand dollars. All runways and strips will be resurfaced with hot mix asphalt and concrete.

Next Wednesday, incidentally marks the termination of Sergeant's work here. He is leaving the U. S. engineers to take a position with a private firm constructing a large synthetic rubber plant at Baton Rouge, La. Sergeant has been in Big Spring almost from the time the city was designated for the Bombardier school, and has been the final supervising authority on every item of construction of the post. It was his supervision, together with the work of army officers and contractors, that is credited with much of the success of the project here. Work at the field went through without major hitches of any sort.

New Cadet Class At Bombardier School

A new cadet class—43-5—was ready to get into its routine Monday.

It arrived aboard a Pullman section switched to the Big Spring Bombardier School siding late Thursday evening. Temporary cadet officers were named and election of permanent class cadet officers will be held Monday.

Identification papers and pictures were being completed Saturday, men were assigned to barracks that will be their homes for the next 12 weeks, and Monday regular grind of ground school will start. Approximately three weeks hence the men will get the thrill of dropping their first practice bomb.

Hog Cholera Taking Toll

Hog producers are running into considerable trouble and heavy losses in some instances from a wave of hog cholera, Dr. O. E. Wolfe, veterinarian, said here Saturday.

In recent weeks he has been kept busy answering calls to points as far away as New Mexico. There appears to be infection in herds from Pecos this way and north beyond Lamesa.

Most of the trouble, said Dr. Wolfe, has come from hogs shipped in. He advised strongly against purchase of such animals unless the buyer knows for sure what he is getting. "Many of them are sick when they get in here," he said, "and it's too late then to do anything about it."

Vaccination has been given to several thousand pigs over the area in recent weeks, he said. It is effective only if administered before the animal is attacked by the malady.

In many cases, complications follow in the wake of cholera and hog pneumonia is comparatively common. There have been some cases where mechanical pneumonia has been induced by attempts to drench hogs. "If a man doesn't know exactly what he's doing," observed Dr. Wolfe, "he's liable to give a hog mechanical pneumonia when he tries to drench him."

Symptoms of the infection, he said, are loss of appetite, sometimes coughing, bedding down away from other hogs, and invariably diarrhea. Usually an afflicted animal lasts only a few days. Some instances of losses running into the hundreds of dollars have been reported over the county to date.

Dawson Co. School Building Burns

LAMESA, Jan. 9 (SpI)—A fire of unknown origin which apparently started under the floor of the building Friday night, destroyed the McCarty school house five miles east of Lamesa in Dawson county.

The building, which was built in 1927, was a one story, five-room brick structure built at a cost of $16,000. All equipment with the exception of the piano was destroyed.

R. R. Ethridge is principal of the grade school which employs three teachers. P. K. Humes, county superintendent, was in Austin attending a county superintendent's state meeting, and could not be reached for a statement.

Plans for housing pupils of the school will be delayed until his return. School board members reported that the building was insured for fire loss.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Further strength of utilities and specialties helped the stock market keep its balance today and, despite softness in some other sections of the list, enabled it to show a small net gain on the week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 41.8 but for the week held a plus mark of 1.1 of a point. Transfers of 437,790 shares compared with 259,940 a week ago and were the largest for a short stretch since Nov. 7.

In today's proceedings stocks touching new highs for a year or longer included American Power & Light, United Corp., United Gas & Improvement, Electric Power & Light, General Gas & Electric "A," N. Y. City Omnibus, Davison Chemical, U. S. Leather "A" and Zenith Radio. American Telephone was up 2 and lesser gains were held by U. S. Directorate For New Year Is Completed

Change in date for the chamber of commerce membership banquet was announced by President Ben L. LeFever Saturday, and the event will be held at the Settles hotel on Monday night, January 25.

The banquet previously had been listed for January 22, but was changed to avoid a conflict with one of the Lions club artist course presentations and with a district Scout meeting. Tickets for the affair will be on sale probably this week, LeFever said. Rev. P. D. O'Brien will be the principal speaker.

Meanwhile, directorate of the organization for 1943 had been completed, with appointment of an additional panel to serve with those elected by the membership and those holding over for another year.

Appointees for a one-year term, named by a special committee, include V. A. Merrick, Carl Blomshield, C. J. Staples, L. W. Croft, E. L. Deason and Sam Goldman. Under the C-C by-laws, five directors are appointed, and a sixth was named this year to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Matt Harrington, who is in the armed forces.

A meeting of the directorate is scheduled for Monday noon at the Settles hotel, and all holdovers, outgoing and incoming directors are being urged by President Ben L. LeFever to be present. LeFever is expected to select a committee to nominate officers for the new year. These will be presented at the banquet on the 25th.

Other members of the 1943 directorate are these new members: C. O. Nalley, Robert Stripling, Joe Pond, Joe Pickle, G. H. Hayward, Fred Keating, R. T. Piner, A. V. Karcher, Lee Rogers, Shine Phillips; and these holdovers: T. S. Currie, W. G. Hayden, A. S. Darby, Elmo Wasson, Willard Sullivan, John W. Davis, Charles Sullivan, Iva Huneycutt and P. W. Malona.

CIO Against The Poll Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP) — Legislative objectives of the CIO in 1943 will include abolition of the Dies committee and the poll tax, enactment of a tax bill without any form of sales tax, and universal rationing.

President Philip Murray discussing these subjects in a statement to a special CIO legislative conference today, said:

"A united people must be secured against disruptive attacks from individuals and groups, under no matter what screen or immunity they may be operating. For this reason, the Dies committee should be denied further sanction and funds from the congress. The Dies committee has a constant record of disruption and harassment of labor, of the government, and even of congress itself. It has consistently tried to sow suspicion and hatred against our Allies. As a necessary war measure, its career should be immediately halted." Saying that unity for victory "must be based on full democracy for all," Murray said the poll tax was keeping "ten million Americans out of our democracy."

Kansas Man Dies While On Train

Heart failure occurring as he traveled brought death Saturday morning to Harry James McCune of Salina, Kas. He succumbed on the westbound Texas & Pacific passenger train, and the body was taken off here for return to the home.

Justice of the Peace Walter Grice returned a coroner's verdict in the death.

The body was forwarded by train Saturday night by Eberley Funeral home to Kansas City. Services probably will be held Monday.

McCune, 48, was general superintendent of the mining-engineering department of the Tarleton-McDonald Construction company at Salina. He was en route from Kansas City to Phoenix, Ariz., with Mrs. McCune when death occurred. His mother also survives.

Gasoline Abuses Arousing Anger

FORT WORTH, Jan. 9 (AP) — "Public sense of justice is becoming outraged by the careless indifference of a few who obtained preferred mileage," State OPA Director Mark McGee says.

Warning that investigators from his office were on a state-wide check-up of how gasoline ration books were being used, he declared:

"Letters, telegrams and telephone calls coming to my office show very clearly that the fathers and mothers with sons in the service x x x have no patience with unpatriotic chiselers who aren't willing to do their part here at home."

Synthetic Rubber Program In The Balance, Jeffers Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP) — Rubber Director William M. Jeffers said today the synthetic rubber program needs a clear priority go-ahead on at least 65 to 70 per cent of its plant construction to avoid a "disaster" in military and industrial transport.

Right now the delayed program is in such precarious balance, he said, that "a few bad breaks would spell catastrophe." Nevertheless, Jeffers said in an interview that he did not believe the new east coast ban on pleasure driving—necessitated by the petroleum shortage—should now be extended to the rest of the country to save tires.

While asserting that this opinion might have to be revised next summer "when people start driving to ball parks and beaches and places," the rubber chief said he thought people generally would "cooperate without coercion" in keeping tire wear to a minimum. If possible, he said, he would like to preserve such freedom of movement as is now permitted under mileage rationing.

In areas where the petroleum supply makes this feasible. Moreover, he added, passenger cars can use reclaimed rubber for recaps and even new tires, while trucks and military vehicles require crude and synthetic rubber.

If 65 to 70 per cent of the synthetic plant program were given unhampered preference in the competition for equipment and materials, the program could still hit a production rate in 1944 of 600,000 tons, Jeffers said.

This would suffice to keep the military machines of this country and the United Nations rolling, as well as essential trucks and buses, he observed. "But it doesn't leave any for the rank and file of motorists. These, he said, would have to get along with recaps and re-claim until completion of the remaining 30 to 35 per cent of the program for which no special priority aid is being asked.

Better Watch That Speed, Or You'll Be Talking Fast To Gas Rationers

Slow down, buddy, from now on or you are a marked man if you drive over 35 miles an hour. At least, that is the word from the county officials at the courthouse who are on the hunt for any violators of the requested speed limit.

The number of cases of speeders in the justice court has increased with each week. Judge Walter Grice and deputies said, and from now on any speeder, whether fined or not, will have his name submitted to the gas panel of the rationing board. Speeders are to be given little consideration in the gas rationing program.

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, the gas panel will hear the first group of speeders' excuses for violating the speed limit. In all, some 12 persons have been notified to appear before the board. These are cases from justice and county court and include drunk driving and speeding violations.

Others, arrested by the highway patrol or city police, will be summoned later as their names are sent to Austin before being returned here to the ration board. Those called before the ration board gas panel will have to show reason why their ration cards shouldn't be taken away from them.

Flying School Inspection Is Completed

First general inspection of the Big Spring Bombardier School was complete Saturday, and seemingly inspecting officers had found things generally good.

Their findings, however, were made to Col. Sam L. Ellis, commandant.

The inspection, at the hands of the inspector general's personnel, covered every office, organization and unit on the field. Such inspections are made at least once a year. This one started Monday and continued through Saturday.

In command of the inspecting detachment was Lt. Col. Curtis S. Bennett, assisted by Elvin C. Ingram, and accompanied by T-Sgt. David S. Hoss. They were assigned to the inspection from the Gulf Coast Training Center.

Climax of the week-long inspection was a review of all troops at the field at 10 a. m. Saturday. Col. Ellis accompanied inspecting officers during the inspection and at the subsequent review.

GET YOUR TIRES Inspected NOW FIRST INSPECTION MUST BE MADE BY JAN. 31ST

Today, rubber is vital to America's Victory Drive—and every ounce of it must be kept in the fight! Most of the rubber in use in America is on the tires of our family cars. And the nation-wide Mileage Rationing Program—with its Compulsory Tire Inspections—is aimed at keeping these tires rolling as long as possible! The authorities consider this so important that failure to have tires inspected regularly will prevent you from securing new tires or recaps, will disqualify you for obtaining a new Mileage Ration Book when the first one expires and will result in the revocation of your present Mileage Ration Book! We, the undersigned, have been selected by the Big Spring War Price and Ration Board as your Official Tire Inspection Stations. Let us help keep 'em rolling!

TO MAKE SURE WAR PLANTS GET GAS
AVOID HEATING YOUR KITCHEN WITH YOUR GAS RANGE OVEN

Frankly, we're worried! Due to the fuel shortage, many people may suddenly decide to use their gas range oven for heating on cold days. Any such sudden and unexpected demand might exceed our gas supply—slow down war plants producing tanks, planes, guns and other war essentials.

Under normal conditions, we could obtain steel and other materials to enlarge our gas supply. Today this is impossible. War production must not be interrupted. Will you help keep gas flowing to war plants by curtailing your use of gas on cold days?

- Here's How You Can Help on Cold Days
- 1 Avoid heating your kitchen with your gas range oven or top burners.
 - 2 Keep room temperatures at about 65°.
 - 3 Minimize the use of gas for cooking on cold days.
 - 4 Heat no more water than necessary.

Girl Scouts Collect Over 1,000 Pounds Of Waste Fat Saturday

Collection To Be Sold To Rendering Company Next Week

Over 1,000 pounds of waste fat was collected Saturday when local girl scout troops made a house to house canvass, collecting everything labelled "fat" in Big Spring households.

The fifty scouts, who participated in the collection, worked in zones, collecting meat drippings and fats and depositing them at one of the three depots of each zone.

A representative from a rendering company will confer with Girl Scout Council leaders next week on the purchase of the fat which is converted into glycerine and then into nitro-glycerine.

Mrs. V. A. Whittington, vice chairman of the salvage committee, speaking for associational leaders, expressed thanks to those who helped to make the local drive a success.

Leaders participating in the collection were Mrs. Ennon Lovelady, Mrs. Cully, Mrs. A. B. Partz, Mrs. B. J. McDaniel, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, Mrs. H. H. Rutherford and Mrs. Vic Blankenship.

Money realized from the collection will go for Girl Scout activities this year.
