Rising Star High School students completed their athletic activities for the year with the participation of the Wildcat 440-yard relay team in the state meet at Austin last Friday and Saturday.

There were 16 teams in the B sprint relay event, eight of whom qualified, and ran in the finals. The Rising Star team of Eugene Bishop, Howard Walker, Jerry Davis and Robert Needham, ran the best time they have turned in for the relay—a time of 44.6 seconds—but it was good enough only for seventh place in a fast, closely bunched field. The winning time, by the Weimar sprinters, was 44.4 seconds, just two-tenths of a second faster than the Wildcats made the distance.

Coach Ray Nunnally was well satisfied with his boys' performance. "You've got to be good to get into the state meet," he said, "and when you can stand seventh in a field as good as there was at Austin last week you've got something to be proud of."

On the whole it has been a very successful season for the High School athletes.

The track and field team won the district championship at Brady, stood fifth in the regional meet at Brownwood among 60 or 70 teams; the girls took second place in district girls' basketball, forcing the contest into a playoff with Goldthwaite; and the high school girls volleyball team won the district title.

A good record and the kids deserve a hand.

A big parade is planned for the opening of the rodeo season here on Friday, May 31. The parade will be held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the Rising Star Roping Club, sponsor of the rodeo, which has been such a popular weekly summer entertainment feature in this section for the past several years, expect the march to be fully as colorful as past parades have been.

More about the rodeo next week.

The official word from the meteorological department of the city, presided over by Mayor Walter Smith, is that Rising Star and vicinity have received during a thirty-day period ending May 5, approximately ten inches of moisture. There are some who say that the mayor's gauges are too darned accurate, and that the total should be nearer 12 inches, but Walter stands by his guns, or rather his measuring devices, and I am prepared to say that if Walter says we got 9.61 inches between April 1 and May 5, we really got it.

Since January 1, the City records show, 11.89 inches of rain have been recorded.

The result is that Rising Star and this entire area have the best moisture conditions with which to start a crop that they have had in six or seven years. The reason is the manner in which the moisture has fallen. It couldn't have fallen any better. There were no hard rains to pack the soil or cause washing floods. It all came softly, so to speak, soaking into the earth and charging the subsoil to a depth of several feet. There were no winds, no drying northerners or western gales such as sapped the soil of what moisture it got last season. Instead there were cloudy skies and cool damp weather which cut down on evaporation and gave the moisture a good chance to soak into the ground.

We've a lot to be thankful for.

A veterinarian from Brownwood will be at the City Hall at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 10, to vaccinate dogs against rabies, Mayor Walter Smith announced.

All who have dogs for vaccination were urged to bring them to the City Hall at the time. The danger of rabies has been increased in this area by the presence of mad skunks and other wild animals, and dog owners were advised that their action in bringing their pets for vaccination could possibly save the dog's life if he should bite someone since in that case it might be necessary to kill the dog, and might even save a

FLOOD BATTERED, BUT IT'S HOME

ABILENE, TEX. — Familiar surroundings outweighed all flood discomforts with Mrs. Gertrude Hurd, 75-year-old blind resident of the flood-struck North Park area here, who insisted on returning to her home as soon as waters went down sufficiently, despite urging from friends and Red Cross workers. Here she sits in her favorite chair from which she says she can find her way to anything in the house. Helping her is Estell Johnson, one of the 56 trained Red Cross national disaster workers who have been dispatched to the Southwest storm area to assist chapter volunteers in helping disaster stricken families restore homes, furnishings and other living necessities. Red Cross relief operations have been constant throughout the month of April in Texas, with workers now spread through eight tornado swept counties and 13 other counties affected by floods.

Sidney Flood Points Up Value of Rush Creek Watershed Ass'n Program

By Hugh M. O'Brian, Jr., Sec.

Walking along the banks of Sweetwater creek and noting the damage to fences, the places where whole sections of creek bank had sloughed off and gone downstream, the fields that had washed down to the plow sole while others had silted in, I got to thinking what would have happened had we already had in effect the Upstream Watershed Protection our Association and others are working toward.

With that thought in mind, I said to myself, "If we had adequate land treatment coupled with, say, 10 or 12 or so detention structures on the upper reaches and tributaries of this creek, these things would not have happened." Recalling the damage reported in the Sidney Community upstream, I said, "That property loss and damage would have been prevented had we started on this program in time." I thought of the new farm-to-market road washed out around the bridge on down the road from our house and the resultant costs of repair to the road and the additional spans being added to the bridge, of the estimate made by Oral D. Morris of the damage done to roads and bridges within the precinct and of the cost to the county for repair and replacement of those items, and I said, "Much of this expense could have been avoided had we had these structures built."

I thought not only of our own property loss in this area and the loss of soil and water that we may need later, but I thought also of the destruction wrought by silt and floodwater from this watershed joining that of downstream, and I said to myself, "These are things that could have been prevented on this watershed had we started in time. These are the things we want to prevent in the future; they can be prevented in the future by the construction of an estimated 35 or more detention structures within the watershed, as envisioned by the Rush Creek Watershed Association and others who are working with us toward that end."

Talk About It. I have no apologies for the foregoing conversation, for I stoutly maintain that if a man has gone through these successive years of drought together with two floods in five years and has four daughters, then if he doesn't go around talking to himself he just isn't normal.

May I suggest some ways you who live within the watershed may be helpful in hurrying this project along: If you live on any of the creeks: Duncan, Sweetwater, North and South Copperas, or any of the tributaries that flow into these creeks, and have had flood damage, report that damage whether it be loss of land, damage to crops, loss by silting, loss of livestock, fences, or other property, to the directors of the watershed association within your community, or else to your local S.C.S. of-

These creeks or tributaries, as does some of ours, and you can see soil and water loss that could have been prevented, check with your local Soil Conservation Service technicians. This latter suggestion, I fully realize, may be contingent on available time and money to carry out those needful practices—I know it is with us—but even to get those needed practices of soil and water conservation in a planning stage will be helpful for the watershed program. And finally, if you happen to be one of those who may not know what this Rush Creek Watershed is all about, first chance you get make a trip over to Green's Creek the other side of Dublin and see for yourself what we are working for. Or better yet, take John M. Hathcock up on his proposition to take any interested group on a tour of Green's Creek. If you don't know, find out, and then don't go around talking to yourself; talk to your neighbor about upstream watershed protection for the Rush Creek Watershed.

Mr. Witt, who operated the Witt Motor Company for the past year, said that he will devote his full time to his farm south of town. "I appreciate the favors shown me by my customers while I was in business and I commend Mr. Butler to them."

Further announcements about services to be offered by the new firm will be made in near future, Mr. Butler said.

Inventory Time for Homeowners

Today fire will strike 800 homes. It struck 800 yesterday, and it will strike another 800 tomorrow. That is the average figure, for every day in the year.

Many of these homes are seriously damaged, many are totally destroyed. To make a bad matter worse, a very large percentage of all homeowners are woefully uninsured. Their insurance policies may have been adequate when issued years ago. But they are no longer so, because of what inflation has done to values.

According to the experts, this situation is particularly serious in insurance on personal possessions—which simply means the thousand-and-one things within the walls of your home. If that is true in your case, and if fire strikes, you'll get the money for such insurance as you carry, but it won't begin to meet your loss.

Luckily, the solution to this problem isn't difficult. Step one is to make an inventory. Take each room separately and list everything in it. Put down the replacement cost of the article; estimate its useful life, and deduct the percentage of use already obtained, based on that useful life. Then you will have a generally accurate picture of current value.

When that is done for every room, add up the total and compare it to your insurance in force. The chances are that you'll be in for a shock!

The next step is to see your local insurance agent. He knows how to provide the insurance you need—both on possessions, and on your home itself—at the most reasonable cost.

YOU, CITIZEN

Proud men and women, ancient and modern, who fought free of tyranny, have taken the name of citizen. Others may call themselves subjects, denizens, slaves, etc.

For the Greeks, with rare exceptions, citizenship came by blood. You had to be born a citizen's child.

But the Romans, like us, found ways to make citizens of those who came up to certain standards: As Gibbon said, the Romans sacrificed "vanity to ambition; and deemed it more prudent as well as honorable, to adopt virtue and merit for her own wherever found — among slaves, strangers, enemies or barbarians."

American citizenship is an office which carries power, privilege, and duties. Only citizens can do certain things—for example, teach in many schools and colleges, become lawyers, hold certain political or civil service offices.

You are a citizen if naturalized or born in the United States (subject to its jurisdiction); and in certain circumstances if born outside the United States to parents of whom one or both are American citizens.

As in ancient Greece, citizenship in most lands comes through blood; but American citizenship comes chiefly by place—where you were born.

So dig out your birth certificates or naturalization papers if you can find them, and put them away safely; you may need them for many reasons, for example, to travel in foreign lands under U. S. protection.

The Fourteenth Amendment holds that place of birth fixes native citizenship — all persons born in the United States. Your birth in this country automatically makes you a citizen unless you are not subject to U. S. jurisdiction, as in the case with diplomats' families and certain travelers.

In 1898 Chinese parents who themselves could then not become citizens, became parents in San Francisco of a son, Wong Kim Ark. Years later this fact settled the whole thing for the U. S. Supreme Court—he was a citizen. Nothing else mattered: not his parentage nor blood, nor his race, color, creed or ancestry.

Not all American Indians used to be citizens—only those whose tribal treaties with the federal government included citizenship. But in 1924 Congress made all American Indians, no matter what tribes, United States citizens.

"Edification" Is Bible Study Theme

In the absence of the teacher, Harry A. Tansil, Mrs. Barney Cargile was again class leader for the Ladies Bible Class of the Rising Star Church of Christ Thursday afternoon, May 2. Eleven members were present.

"Edification" was the theme of the lesson, studied from the viewpoint of womans work in the church. Scriptures developed the following outline were read and discussed:

1. The Command; 2. Ways of Edifying; 3. Christianity, a Teaching Religion. "Many passages show that the importance of teaching and studying the Bible cannot be over-emphasized," Mrs. Cargile pointed out. "The growth of the church depends upon it; the salvation of the individual and of society depends upon it. Peo-

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
 "Next time you are nursing your hot-rod along the street, give a little thought to the rod that is spelled R-O-D—Responsibilities, Obligations, and Duties of the citizen."

DOWN MEMORY LANE

A few nights ago I dreamed I walked down memory lane for the past school year of 1956-57. As I walked along, I kept meeting memories of all this year's wonderful days.

The first memory I met was all dressed up with the first day of school; her hat was full of surprises for the Freshmen; her shoes looked like the Seniors' proud faces because they were Seniors; her gloves were made of the Junior's money-hungry looks, and her jewelry was the Sophomores' pleased countenance that they weren't silly "Fish" anymore.

The next recollection I encountered was dressed in football games. All of her accessories were made of victories and losses, the Homecoming, pom-poms, cheerleaders, football helmets and suits.

As I went around a curve in the lane, I saw a bright memory coming toward me. It was none other than a lady dressed in a basketball suit; she held in her hand victory after victory.

I came to a bridge which divided the lane and there I met the remembrance who had blue ribbons for the track and volleyball teams in her hair. How proud she looked!

Next I came upon a memory dressed in the beautiful banquets of the past year. Her dress glistened with the Football, Junior and Senior, and Band Banquets. The next memory blurred my vision. She was so bright; I could tell it was a graduation gown that she was wearing, with a scroll of high school students attendants all mourning the departure of the 1957 Seniors, who were graduating from RSHS.

I awoke with a start when I realized how fast this school year had passed; thus, ended my reminiscing the highlights of the school term 1956-57.

CHEER LEADERS OF TOMORROW

Last Tuesday morning at activity period, the student body of RSHS elected the new cheerleaders for the coming year. Those coming out were—J u n e Jones, Martha Walker, Jane Key, Jaynell Edmiston, Jeanette Hubbard, Nancy McKinnerney, Pat Howard, and Martha Duggan. We tried out in groups of two—giving two yells each. Then all eight of us gave one yell together. The results were not announced until the night of the banquet. Here are the following cheerleaders and their offices for the coming year: Jaynell Edmiston and Jane Key, presidents; Pat Howard, vice-president; Martha Walker, secretary; and Martha Duggan, reporter. We, as cheerleaders, are expecting to have a bright and successful year ahead. Your new reporter signing off with this thought: "Keep your Wildcat Spirit forever and always."

FRESHMEN IN THE NEWS

Even as I write this, I can still feel my polio vaccination. Many, in any of our high school and grade school can proudly display their tiny red spots acquired Thursday, May 2 in Ranger. We Fish are braver than we expected. Not one of our "he-men" fainted at the sight at the sight of the needle; nor did any girls scream or cry. (What certain Junior girl can say that?)

Class trips are in order this week. The Freshmen are going to Cisco Lake on Friday, May 10. We are expecting to have a rip-roaring good time. We hope we don't drive Mrs. Claborn and our room mothers stark raving crazy having fun. We think we have absolutely the very grandest sponsor and room mothers ever. We're proud of them and hope we can make them proud of us in some way.

We come nearer and nearer to the end of school and hope it never comes.

A.S.F.S.A. Reporter—Jan

SOPH SAYINGS

Here we are for another issue of Soph news. This week I think I'll present the first installment of a little gossip ditty called "Heartthrob." Here it is: "Heartthrob"

J. S. and A. R., how is that romance coming along in the band hall?

Tressie, who is Kenny "Bill" I'm hearing so much about?

J. K. and J. A., what is so interesting to talk about in English?

B. B., what is this about someone comparing notes in English II?

You finally got your records back, didn't you, R. H.?

have been hearing about? A. I., is it true you are going to start a bill to make sixty minute recesses once an hour at school?

And with that cheery note I'll leave you for this week.

P. S. Flowers are blooming in our classes—especially yellow rose buds.

DROOPING JUNIORS

If it isn't one thing, it's another! Now that the banquet is over, we are striving to get in our book reports, term themes, and get ready for tests. Only eleven more days; then, we will be the Seniors of 1957-1958. That will be the happiest days of our lives; at least, we think it will be.

It is the junior's pleasure to thank everyone for their presence at the Junior-Senior Banquet. We hope you had as good a time as the junior class did of decorating and planning for it. In fact we cut, twisted, and hung about five thousand feet of crepe paper and blew up over four hundred balloons and hung them from the ceiling. It was a lot of fun and we want to thank our room mothers for their wonderful cooking.

With only eleven more days left of school, it finds everybody in confusion. We are all working very hard to get caught up in everything and get our debts paid so we can achieve a higher grade.

The seniors leave on their senior trip Thursday; then you will find the remaining three classes pulling out on their class picnics Friday afternoon. We have not yet decided where we will go. See you again next week; same time; same station.

FHA NEWS

The date for the FHA Mother and Daughter Banquet has finally been set for May 16. The girls decided to prepare the food in their homemaking classes and give their mothers a treat rather than ask each mother to bring a dish. At least we hope it will be a treat. The girls are really looking forward to the banquet.

The FHA girls feel highly honored to have received an invitation from the FFA boys for a picnic at Cisco on May 20. Thank you boys. We always like to do things with our "brother" chapter.

Congratulations to Wanda Smith for recently receiving her state Homemaking degree. This is the highest honor a girl can receive in FHA.
