Through The Editor's Specs

By BAB

Farmers of the Rising Star Country were literally making the dirt fly this week as they took advantage of fine moisture conditions left by the recent rains to get in another big peanut acreage. Very little time of the 1959 planting season remains and every grower was utilizing all the help and equipment he could find to get the peanut seed in the ground. There were two tractors in every field, as the saying went. From now until the first of July business men were expecting quiet days, but they were not complaining. Instead they are looking ahead hopefully to another good crop this fall—a crop which would put the farmers well on the road to recovering from the effects of the long, long drouth, and restore some of the old time vigor to local business.

One segment of the business community — farm machinery dealers and others supplying farmers with necessities for their operations — were feeling the influence of the activity. These dealers for the most part were busy supplying parts, servicing and making repairs to equipment.

There was a general tone of confidence inspired by the recent moisture and the good planting prospects, although it was explained that rain would be needed again shortly. Upon the probability of this, depends the outcome of the prospects as they now stand.

Deposits in the First State Bank as reflected in its statement of condition as of June 10, in response to a call from the State Comptroller, showed the same strength that was reflected by earlier reports, with a substantial gain over the figure for the same period last year.

Deposits of almost $2,500,000 were reported, a decline from the peak period of the peanut harvest last fall, but well ahead of seasonal trends.

Granddaughter Given Science Scholarship

L. B. Martin and daughter, Sandra Kay, of Kermit, were the week-end guests of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Martin.

Sandra Kay, a sophomore in Kermit High School, has been chosen by the State Education Agency as one of the 362 exceptional High School students to pursue advanced work in Science this summer. She will be given room, board, tuition and travel expense for a period of six weeks study in Biology in Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches.

Sandra was the only student chosen from the student body of Kermit High. She has a very high scholastic rating and was recommended by the faculty for this honor.

GUESTS OF KNIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Knight had as their guests over the week-end her sisters and a brother, L. O. Wilder of Hereford, Texas. The sisters were Mrs. B. T. Baxter of Franklin, Mrs. J. L. Davis of Beaumont, and Mrs. L. F. Cox of Wichita Falls, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Baxter of Franklin, and Donnie Bozman of Dallas, a niece and nephew, were also visitors.

CORRECTION

In the account of the death of John Selman in the Record of last week, it was erroneously stated that Mr. Selman is survived by a son. The story should have said that he is survived by a brother, Albert Selman, of Rising Star, as well as by three sisters.

Unbeaten Braves Lead Little League

By BEYRL McKINNERNEY

The Braves with an unblemished record of six games played and six won, were leading the Rising Star - May Little League by a wide margin this week. Nearest rival among the four clubs of the league was the Indians with three wins and three losses for a percentage of .500. The Yankees, like their big league namesakes, were in the lower half of the standings with two won, three lost and one tie for a .413 percentage while down at the bottom of the standings the Dodgers were struggling to pull themselves out of the cellar where they were stationed by virtue of five losses and one tie.

On Monday night the Indians played the Dodgers and the Braves the Yankees, the Indians and the Braves winning.

The first game was between the Indians and the Dodgers. The Indians stayed ahead until the Dodgers came to bat at the top of the last inning when the Dodgers tied the score at 11-all. Long hit a homer for Indians and Fisher clouted a circuit blow for the Dodgers.

In the second game the Braves were ahead of the Yankees all the way, winning by a score of 12 to 2. There were no home runs for either side.

Thursday night the Braves played the Dodgers and the Indians the Yankees, at the lighted field in the City Park.

Thursday night of last week there was a double header with the Braves vs. the Indians and the Yankees vs. the Dodgers. The Braves defeated the Indians by a score of 12 to 11. The Yankees defeated the Dodgers by a score of 16 to 15.

Polio Victim Honored

ALTON McCLELLAN

Stamford Man Is Named Baptist Father Of 1959

DALLAS (SpI). — Alton McClellan, a 37 year old Stamford father of three children who manages a full-time business from a wheelchair, has been named the 1959 Texas Baptist Father of the Year, denominational leaders said here Wednesday.

McClellan says he believes fathers should play more with their children and be more liberal with old fashioned discipline when it is needed.

A victim of infantile paralysis for 16 years, McClellan and his family lead normal lives, filled with hobbies, music lessons and church activities.

Jointly sponsored by the Baptist Standard, state denominational newspaper and the 1-2 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas, the award is made each year to honor Texas Baptist fathers who have made outstanding contributions to Christianity.

Life as McClellan now knows it began during World War II after he returned from a mission with the first all-American raid on Rome. He was stricken with polio. After weary months he reached Boston on a hospital ship and then spent 14 months in an Arkansas VA hospital.

He came out of the hospital in a wheelchair, only partially recovered. He resumed his education which had been interrupted by the war and transferred from Tarleton State to Baylor after he married the former Miss Betty Jo Mahood of Stamford. The couple now have three children—Susap, 13; Bobby, 11; and Billy, 8.

He joined the Stamford radio repair service owned by his father, who died in 1953. Mac now runs the shop, largest in town, which he has expanded to include television repair.

Mr. Bruce is a deacon of the First Baptist Church of Ranger and has served as chairman of the board of deacons. Active in civic affairs, Mr. Bruce is a past president of the Ranger Lions Club and has served on the Ranger City Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Scott of Ft. Worth spent Tuesday with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Scott here.

Near-Record Crowd Sees Rodeo Opening

One of the biggest crowds ever to attend an opening night at the Rising Star Rodeo jammed the arena east of town Friday night for the initial performance of the 1959 summer series sponsored by the Rising Star Roping Club. Delay of a week in the start of the series caused by heavy thunderstorms the preceding Friday had no effect upon the attendance, apparently, although it did prevent three of the riding clubs scheduled to take part in the parade at 6 o'clock from appearing.

But the parade and grand entry at the arena just prior to the show were spectacular enough. Five riding clubs, including the newly organized May Riding Club, the Eastland County Sheriff's Posse, the Eastland County Posse Anns and the Callahan County Sheriff's posse, took part in the parade which was led by the Rising Star Wildcat Band.

Trophy for the best appearance in the parade was presented to the Eastland County Sheriff's Posse just prior to the start of the rodeo performance in the evening.

One hundred and eighty-seven riders took part in the grand entry at the arena. Eighty pivot men were required to guide the long cavalcade of horsemen and women riders through the colorful serpentine march of the opening event.

Perhaps the most beautiful of the spectacles during the opening was the performance of the Callahan County Quadrille, during the pre-contest entertainment. The quadrille, a unit of the Callahan County Sheriff's Posse, is headed by Blondy McIntosh as president.

The new May Riding Club also drew admiring comments. This group will sponsor a rodeo at May in the near future, it was announced.

Another new riding group which took part in the parade is the Rising Star Junior Riding Club with a membership at present of about 12 school age youngsters. This club promises to give their elders some real competition in riding appearance.

The rodeo contests of the opening night were spirited and fast times were turned in in the roping events and in the barrel riding.

Following are the results: Jack Pot Roping — Connie Gibbs, Ballinger, first, in a time of 13.6 seconds; Alton Carter, Abilene, second, 13.8 seconds, and Horace Gibbs, Ballinger, 14 seconds.

Girls Barrel Races (Local) — Sandra Hopkins, first, in 19.8 seconds; Judy Moore, second, 20.4 seconds.

Calf Roping — Ralph Russell, Abilene, 13.8 seconds; Sonny Phillips, Abilene, 14.2 seconds; Doug McGraw, Abilene, third, 14.3 seconds.

Goat Roping — Wayne Williams, Tuscola, first, 16.8 seconds, and Tommy Bacon, Rising Star, 17.5 seconds.

Bull Riding — Bobby Goffson, Cross Plains, first, and Fred Edgar, Blanket, second.

Open Barrel Races for Girls — Betty Lee Fry, Cisco, first, and Brenda Whitaker, Abilene, second.

Guess What They're Talking About

James F. Stiles, Jr., National Director of the Treasury's United States Savings Bonds Division, is shown here (at left) discussing his favorite subject with President Eisenhower, who holds a handful of Savings Bonds. The occasion was a recent conference in Washington at which the President addressed more than 300 of the nation's leading industrialists. He told the group of business leaders that without the Savings Bond Program, the Treasury's job of managing the national debt "would be much more difficult—I would say well nigh impossible." Mr. Eisenhower said the readiness of the American people to invest their savings in U. S. bonds "bespeaks morale and faith in America."

Bill Tyler Is WTCC Rising Star Director

The Rising Star Chamber of Commerce at its noon luncheon in the Elite Cafe Tuesday, voted to underwrite a $100 membership in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and elected Wm. E. (Bill) Tyler as the Rising Star director in the big regional organization.

The action followed a talk by W. R. (Dick) Kendrick, manager of the membership relations department of the WTCC who gave a brief but interesting explanation of the work the WTCC does in promoting the economic interests of the 172-county area it represents and in working for legislation which will not penalize but assist in promoting the industrial and commercial welfare of the section.

The role of the WTCC as the representative of the business, agricultural and professional interests of the region in connection with legislative activities at Washington and Austin, its work on behalf of improved regional development, better marketing and in working against discriminatory taxation was told by the WTCC guest speaker.

While Rising Star has been a member of the WTCC for many years, its membership has been below the level entitling the community to a directorship and a direct vote in the policy-making activities of the big organization. Tuesday's action insures to the community such a voice and Mr. Tyler as the representative of the community on the WTCC board will exercise that influence.

Bill Button, vice-president of the C of C presided at the meeting in the absence of Pres. Bob Shults, who was away on a business trip.

Besides Mr. Kendrick, Mrs. Wm. Tyler was a guest.

$286 PER INCH

Until some high powered American merchandiser is ready to underwrite the All Khan weight-in-diamonds bit for promotion purposes, the current "win your height in dollar bills contest" will have to do.

And just in case you haven't ever pilled up your dollar bills to see how many there are to the inch, the official figure is 286. Thus, if you know your height, and remember that there are 12 inches to a foot, a little multiplication will reveal what you stand to win in the latest, and perhaps wackiest, contest to emerge from a soap works. And even the pint-sized contestant need not be downhearted, since the very minimum this bountiful sponsor will consider paying out to the top winner is $18,000.

Furthermore, after a careful reading of the rules, we can assure our public there is no mention of being measured in your stocking feet. We would therefore advise all young ladies to forsake the ballet slippers for their party shoes — or buy a pair of Chinese clogs. Advice for the young men is not so easy, but at $286 an inch, they ought to be able to think of something.

But there is a catch. You do have to write something to win that head-high pile of money. You go to the store and get an entry blank on which you write in 35 words or less (not more) why you like free premiums (kitchen towels, bath towels, face cloths, etc.) that come with the detergent that is getting up these dollar bills and numerous other prizes. For instance, you could just say: "They're free, ain't they?" or: "They keep my car looking like new." or: "They make my life exciting, I never know what I'll get next!" As you see, it's a breeze.

If our arithmetic is any good, a six-footer could make no less than $1,372.80 per word — which confidentially, is more than many of us editors get.

It's The Law In Texas

EVIDENCE

A trial aims to settle a dispute when the parties fail to do it, themselves. For this the court needs facts.

Simple? Well, no. For if the parties could agree on the facts a settlement out of court would be easy. But as a rule each side has its own story, and the trial judge or juryman must hear witnesses and view physical evidence to decide what took place. In doing this the court applies the rules of evidence.

It took centuries for the court to work out rules by which a judge can say what is proper or improper evidence. 1. In "hearsay" for example, someone who did not see the event reports what someone told him about it. Courts seldom allow such evidence, except in rare cases such as where the dying words, say, of a murdered person may be vital.

For one thing, courts frown upon hearsay because no one in court can cross-examine the eye-witness to find out what actually took place, or to judge whether his story merits belief. 2. Irrelevant testimony will also be barred by the judge. It is testimony which has no bearing on the case, even though it may be true enough.

Suppose in a battery case the jury has to find out if Jones knocked Smith down or not. The judge would have to rule out any evidence that Jones, say, was rich and Smith poor. Such a fact, even if true, has nothing to do with the issue. Moreover, such irrelevancies often confuse jurymen or arouse their prejudices.

The civil jet age arrives in Texas on July 1 when American Airlines begins daily round-trip service between Dallas and New York with one of these sleek, 585 m.p.h. 707 Jet Flag pure jet service in the Southwest.

3. Only an expert like a doctor, an appraiser, a chemist, a pharmacist, or an engineer can give opinions evidence, and he must show his qualifications as an expert before the judge will let him express his views.

Lawyers keep inadmissible evidence out of court by making objections. When the judge 'sustains' an objection, the jury may not hear the evidence. Or if he does, the judge may 'instruct' the jury to ignore it. Should the judge 'overrule' the objection, the jury may hear the verdict.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By OMAR BURLESON
Cong. 17th Texas District

Washington, D. C. — Since 1953, 17 States have repealed their so-called "Fair Trade" laws which had rendered unconstitutional by the courts.

There is now pending in the Congress a Federal Fair Trade Measure. It has been approved by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, but not yet cleared for action by the Congress.

Congressional backers of the bill, particularly Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, says that a Federal law would provide consumer safeguards by curbing unfair pricing practices. Supporters also contend that unregulated competition leads to monopoly and higher prices.

Opponents say that such a law would hinder competition and result in higher prices to the consumer because of price fixing restraint.

The fact remains that this is seemingly a fairly good illustration of States' rights. Many who have felt this was a matter to be determined by the States now are persuaded that a Federal law is needed.

One of the most objectionable results, should such laws be passed, would be an invitation for the Federal Government to bring all retailers under the Minimum Wage Law. If minimum wages are increased to $1.25 per hour, it would be argued that retailers should be brought under it because they operate under a so-called national 'Fair Trade' law.

Certainly, should a Federal Fair Trade, price-fixing law be enacted, merchants would operate under more rigid regulation and would be less free to exercise initiative essential to business promotion and growth. Another certainty is that it would take many more Federal employees to administer such a law, and particularly should retailers be brought under the Wage and Hour Law.

This is the sort of thing that can't be fooled with on an experimental basis. Once it is enacted, probably the only way it could be removed in case it worked as unsatisfactorily as many predict, would be for the courts to hold it unconstitutional.

Big questions are looming up as to our trade policies with Soviet Russia. The British have announced a five year trade agreement with the Soviets, while at the same time the United States is vetoing practically all requests of U. S. firms for shipment of goods behind the Iron Curtain.

Many people are wondering how realistic we are to forbid United States goods to go to the Communists while the British can sell complete plants to produce chemicals, synthetics and a variety of other goods which compete with our own.

The British are not the only nation having considerable trade relations with the Russians. Some nations have shipped to Russia exactly the same articles which we, in turn, have sent to them. It is a pretty ridiculous situation.

New Law Takes Joy Out of Joy-Riding In Borrowed Car

The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded this week that a new state law—designed to take the joy out of illegal joy riding—will go into effect August 11.

The new statute, passed by the regular session of the Legislature and signed into law recently by Gov. Price Daniel, carries penalties up to three years in prison for driving a person's vehicle without his permission.

Heretofore, the offense was a misdemeanor unless it could be proved that the "joy-rider" intended to keep the vehicle. This made it universally difficult to conduct a felony prosecution, according to Department officials.

Therefore, they pointed out, many of these cases were filed cause conviction was more likely. In this way, however, the maximum penalty was $1,000 fine or one year in jail. The new law divided the "without consent" statute into two classes, based on the value of the vehicle "borrowed". Taking of a vehicle valued less than $200 without the owner's consent still will be considered a misdemeanor, without change in penalty. But if the value of the vehicle taken is more than $200, the offense is a felony with possible heavier penalties ranging up to three years in prison.

Mrs. A. T. Shults accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Phil Mexico, where they are making their home.

Campaigning for establishment of a permanent Marine Corps in San Diego, Calif., was begun as early as 1914 by Col. Joseph H. Pendleton.

FARM PROFIT

1200 lbs FEED - 100 lbs GAIN

100 lbs FEED - 100 lbs GAIN!

Keep 'em Cool—and Profitable

Every day the mercury in the thermometer on your barn shows over 80 degrees this summer, you can figure it's costing you money. You begin to wonder if it isn't too hot to work, your livestock and poultry feel the same way, production drops off, and it takes more feed to make a pound of meat, a gallon of milk or a dozen eggs.

Plenty of drinking water, cooling sprays and shade will soon pay for themselves on hot days, according to reports compiled by Massey-Ferguson's research in better living and more profitable farming.

Hogs suffer the most from heat. Between 60 and 70 degrees a hog breathes from 20 to 40 times a minute. At 90 degrees and above, he breathes from 150 to 200 times a minute, and a little forced exercise at these high temperatures will kill him—quick. There's little or no gain in weight in hogs at 90 degrees or above. At 60 degrees you can get 100 pounds of pork on 400 pounds of feed, but at 85 degrees it takes 1,200 pounds.

Water sprays and shade are most effective with hogs, and you can save 30 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain with them.

Humidity is the biggest problem with cows, so water sprays are no help here. Big 36 and 42-inch fans moving air over the backs of the cows helped restore from 41 to 77 percent of the milk lost because of temperatures around the 95-degree mark.

Providing shade and hauling green chop to the cows is another good way to help keep production up in high temperatures.

About Your Health

It's sad but oh-so-true: the hay fever season lasts all year in Texas. The reason: the wide range of climate and soil conditions which produce an assortment of offending flora—trees and shrubs and grasses. This might be some consolation, though; the state is running generally behind schedule in the rain department. And during dry weather pollen production goes into a slump.

Ragweed pollen is still the biggest enemy of the watery-eyed set, but mountain cedar, scrub elm, and a variety of other plants and grasses also cause their share of sneezing misery.

From mid-winter until early spring, people from Dallas southward are effected by the pollen of cedar, a profusely growing tree with a bad habit of pollinating like it was going to be banned tomorrow.

Fall hay fever suffers probably have the scrub elm to blame for their troubles. A late-summer pollinator, the elm is common over most of the state, but it is particularly profuse in the bottomlands of the Guadalupe and Trinity Rivers. The mesquite causes minor allergenic trouble in West Texas during May, June and July. Cottonwoods and poplars are pesky sources of red eyes and congested noses wherever they are found.

Grass hay fever is possible through spring, summer and fall over most of Texas, and in the winter in the Rio Grande Valley. Bermuda grass is the chief offender. Rhodes grass is a potential hay fever factor in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Ragweed pollen is now at most as abundant at Dallas and Houston as in the north central state. It is a serious summer and fall problem as far west as San Antonio and all along the Gulf Coast to Brownsville.

In arid parts of Central and West Texas, Russian thistle is a leading cause of inhalant allergies. Other local causes are sugar beets and Palmer's amaranth. Sage pollen is a potential factor in West Texas. Sand sagebrush, a dominant native plant in the Panhandle, is suspect as a trouble maker.

How to get relief from hay fever? A sea voyage during "your" season would do it. So would staying in an air-filtered room. But since neither action is practical you'll just have to sneeze and wipe unless you check with your doctor about the best treatment in your own particular case. (A weekly service of the Health Education Division, Texas State Health Department.)

Mrs. Ray Armstrong of Roby, has been awarded an American Studies Scholarship at Abilene Christian College for six weeks term. She is principal of Roby High School, where she is also the business teacher. She is Alvie Armstrong's daughter-in-law.

Fungicide For Pecan Scab Aids In Nut Production

COLLEGE STATION—A fungicide for the control of pecan scab disease that is nonphyto-toxic to pecan leaves, results in more luxuriant foliage, better leaf retention, greater nut weight and increased yields per tree, has been proved effective by the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station, said D. W. Rosberg, associate professor in the Department of Plant Physiology and Pathology. The fungicide is Zineb and was applied as a spray at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water.

Tests were conducted in Easton, Wharton and Parker counties during 1950-56. Nine fungicides were tested in 1950 to determine their effectiveness in controlling the disease. The treatments were applied as sprays to trees of the Delmas variety, which are highly susceptible to scab disease, said Rosberg.

Most effective control of scab disease was obtained with EM-ML Zineb, Bordeaux mixture and Quatized Agricultural Spray were comparable in their effectiveness. However, he said, the latter two compounds produced marginal leaf burning, while a damaging infestation of mites and aphids developed in the Bordeaux sprayed trees. A mild phytotoxic effect expressed as slight chlorosis and brittleness of leaves occurred in the trees sprayed with EMMML. In contrast, the leaves of the Zineb-treated trees were dark green in color and phytotoxic effects were absent.

Rainfall is a primary consideration in determining when a spray application for effective control of pecan scab disease should be made. In dry years, one or two spray applications may provide satisfactory scab control, while during seasons of frequent, though not necessarily heavy rainfall, several spray applications will be required, Rosberg added.

For further information on results of the tests, write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, for a copy of the publication, "Experiments For the Control of Pecan Scab Disease". Ask for MP-346.

New Preparation Controls Grubs In Dairy Cattle

College Station—Cattle grubs which annually cause over $100,000,000 loss to beef and dairy cattle producers, have been successfully controlled on non-lactating dairy cattle at the Tyler Substation. Dow ET 57, a systemic insecticide used and a 91.5 percent grub control was obtained on herd replacements and non-lactating dairy cattle.

There have been no previous reports of using systemic grub control in dairy cattle although beef cattle producers have obtained 81 to 96 percent control with the systemic. This systemic has not been approved for lactating dairy cows because of the elimination of the pesticide in the milk. The Pure Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of this systemic on beef cattle, when the animals are not slaughtered within 60 days after treatment.

Forty-two animals received a single treatment of one part of the systemic to two parts of water administered as a drench at the rate of one ounce per 100 pounds of body weight.

The treatment administered on June 14 gave the highest percentage of control, 93.8, and the treatment on July 23 gave the lowest, 89.4. There was no significant difference in gain or loss of body weight of treated animals as compared with animals not treated.

These limited tests indicate the best time to treat replacement heifers and non-lactating dairy animals for grubs with systemics is early June. Dairy farmers could never treat the complete herd because of lactating cows. Non-lactating cows and young cattle may be treated in early June and all cows that go dry in June and July could be treated as they are cycled off.

mental in pushing the project, and thus became the first to utilize its facilities.

Cottage Cheese Makes Delicious Dessert

College Station — Call it Dutch, call it baker's or call it pot. By any name, cottage cheese is still the same fine milk product it was in colonial days. Settlers from Holland and Germany introduced the art of making cottage cheese to this country. Their skill for making and using "Smearcase" has been passed down from generation to generation.

Here's one of their recipes that has become famous. It's called Dutch cheese cake. It's an inexpensive, but elegant dessert, calling for 1 pound cottage cheese, one-fourth cup milk, one-third cup sugar, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, 1 pie crust, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup chopped raisins, 3 eggs beaten and 2 tablespoons melted fat.

Bake the crust in a deep pan until a delicate brown. While it is baking, press the cheese through a fine sieve. Add first the milk, then the sugar and salt and the raisins; next the beaten eggs, melted fat, lemon juice and grated rind.

Stir until mixed well. Fill the baked crust with this. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center—about 15 or 20 min.

Cottage cheese is no longer confined to areas settled by the Dutch and Germans, for it is sold in every community in the country.

Since 1925, per capita consumption has risen from less than a pound to nearly 3 and one-half pounds, says the Texas Extension Service.

4-H Clubs Now Have National Center

College Station — The 4-H clubs of the nation now have a home of their own. It is the National 4-H Center located at 7100 Connecticut Avenue, Washington D. C., and it is also headquarters for the National 4-H Club Foundation.

The Center will be formally opened on June 15. The opening coincides with the 29th annual National 4-H Club Conference (formerly National 4-H Club Camp). Delegates to the Conference from the 50 states and Puerto Rico will be the first large group to use the Center.

In April, the 1959 International Farm Youth Exchange delegates to northern Europe and Central America held their convention program at the Center.

Fewer Producers Turn In Record Volume Of Milk

The smallest number of producers since the effective date of the Central West Texas Federal order delivered a record high volume of milk during May 1959. The 511 producers on the Central West Texas market delivered daily an average of 506,858 pounds of milk. This amount was 1.37 percent greater than April 1959 and 12.63 percent greater than May 1958. The average delivery per producer was 992 pounds of milk per day with an average butterfat test of 3.721 percent. The minimum uniform price to be paid for 4.0 percent milk received by Central West Texas handlers from producers during May will be $5.00 per hundredweight, according to an announcement by Byford W. Babin, Market Administrator. This price is subject to the following location and butterfat differentials. For milk received at Midland, the producers of such milk will receive a price 15 cents higher, while those delivering milk to plants located at Brownwood and Mineral Wells will receive prices 20 and 25 cents lower, respectively. For each point (0.1 percent) that the average butterfat content of producer milk varies from 4.0 percent, a butterfat differential of 6.9 cents applies. The above price was computed from reports filed by nine regulated handlers under Order No. 82 during May 1959.

During May, handlers regulated by the Central West Texas Federal order sold 398,873 lbs. of Class 1 milk per day which was 7.78 percent less daily sales during April but was 4.62 percent greater than the daily sales during May 1958.

Producer receipts as a percent of Class 1 utilization was 127.1 percent during May compared to 115.6 percent during April this year.

Chief Warrant Officer Alfred Rutledge, who is being transferred from Fort Sill, Okla., in Korea, was here this week to visit his mother, Mrs. Roy Rutledge, and his brother, Rev Lee Rutledge.

OUR STATE REPRESENTED ON NATIONAL BEEF COUNCIL

DENVER—The National Beef Council met recently here to map plans for an intensive promotional campaign to push beef sales at the retail market level. New officers were elected for the coming year.

Harvey McDougal, Rio Vista, California, was named vice president; Jay Taylor, Amarillo, Texas, chairman, advisory committee; W. T. Bonner, Gainesville, Texas, vice president, south central region; R. A. Olsen, Ellsworth, Iowa, vice president, west central region; J. O. Pearce, Okeechobee, Florida, vice president, southeastern region; Mrs. DeWitt Mallory, Bradford, Vermont, vice president, New England region; Mrs. R. A. Burghart, Colorado Springs, director; Jack Milburn, Grass Range, Montana, director; and J. C. Hobert, Bettendorf, Iowa, director.

Don Bartlett, a Como (Mississippi) cattle producer and newly elected president of the Beef Council, said that all indications point to a large supply of beef on retail counters this fall and winter.

The Beef Council, he pointed out, concerns itself with meat merchandising and beef promotion. The Council is a federated organization composed of cattle producers.

Through the Council, the man who raises the live animal concerns himself with its ultimate sale for the table. The producer, Bartlett said, no longer is content to sit back and turn his product over to a handler to follow through on sales.

The producer is interested in promoting his product to the consumer, and it is through promotional campaigns undertaken by the National Beef Council and State Beef Councils that this is being done.

The areas in which the National Beef Council works to promote beef sales are direct approach to the consumer, enlisting help of allied industry, store promotions for retail meat dealers, and promotion of beef to the restaurant trade.

Several Grasses of the Bluestem Group Tried

College Station - Several of the bluestem grasses have been introduced and grown in Texas under trial and observation as warm-season perennial forage plants, says T. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

Eight of the more important grasses are the subject of a miscellaneous publication by Trew entitled, "Introduced Bluestem Grasses for Cultivated Pastures", and released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The publication gives a description of each grass, where it is adapted, how to establish each, and management after establishment. Also included is a section on how to determine the pounds of pure live seed in a sack when you know how many lbs. of seed is required to plant an acre.

Another Great Value . . .

. . . in the field of many values is the abstract. Years ago when the records were few there was not so much need for an abstract. But today, with multiplied thousands of important title items already of record and new ones being added every day, the preparation of your abstract is not only an undertaking of great responsibility, but one that requires an institution possessing all the records and a long history of achievements behind it.
