

FACING SKELETONS

In 1974, a year of soaring food and fertilizer prices as well as adverse weather conditions, the world has been forced to recognize the spectre of imminent famine in many developing countries. For the first time in its history, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) has felt compelled to declare a World Child Emergency. In 'normal' times civilization faces the challenge of 10 million children close to starvation; this year the number has risen to a chilling 400-500 million.

Every day famine pushes it spath further around the equator. Last year it came to prominence after years of devastating drought in West Africa and Ethiopia. Already it is making its mark in India, and in such areas as Bangladesh, Bolivia, Central America and the Caribbean hunger is a way of life—but one that cannot last long.

UNICEF's emergency relief combines the efficiency of long experience and the urgency of this unprecedented crisis. It has been rushing high-protein food and intravenous rehydration fluids to children and mothers in drought-stricken West Africa and Ethiopia. UNICEF is also supplying well-drilling equipment to these areas to provide the desperately-needed clean water for drinking and sanitation. As part of the longer-range emergency actions UNICEF will assist governments with nutrition policies and education, food production and the monitoring of the over-all child situation.

An estimated $40 to $50 million more a year will be needed for several years to help alleviate the problem. When Trick-or-Treaters come to your home collecting for UNICEF this Halloween, remember the spectre of children with no doors to knock on for vital food. Remember there are now at least forty times as many, and give as proportionately as you can. Behind all the glitter of make believe, real-live skeletons haunt our world.

During the week of Nov. 4, you will be seeing a different but no unfamiliar, face at my desk in the Rising Star News office. Mr. B.A. Butler will take over in my absence, while George and I travel to Nebraska land to do some pheasant hunting.

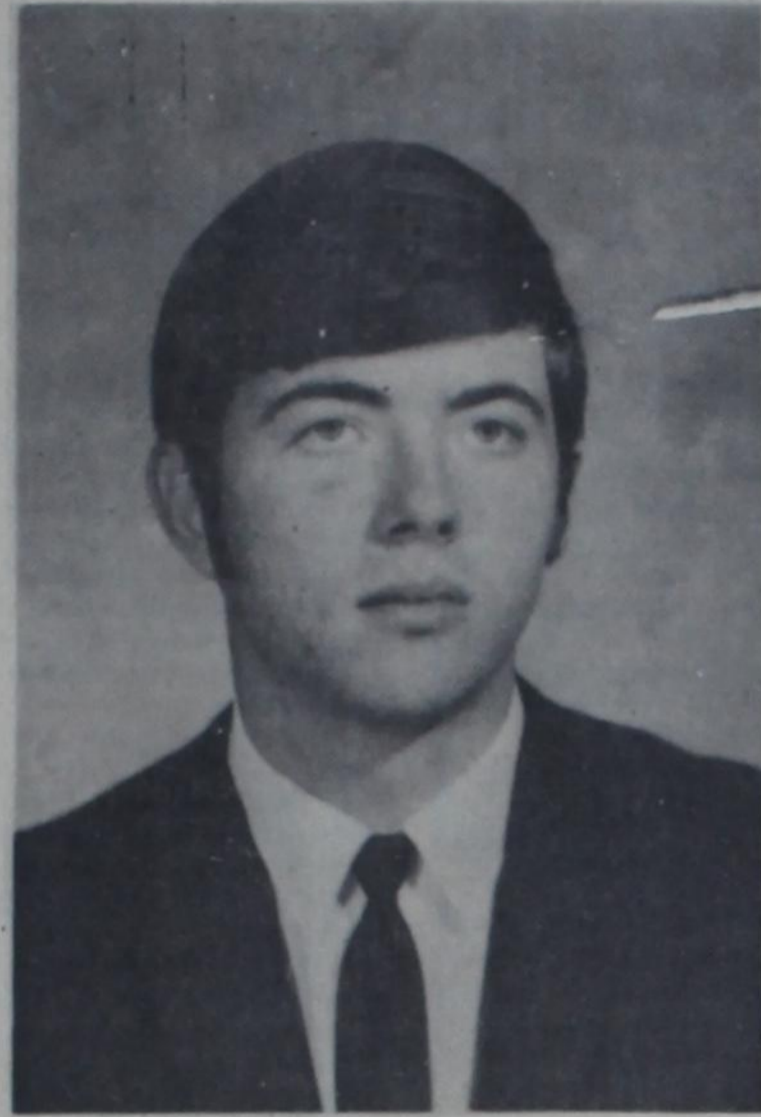

By way of explanation—this newspaper did not intentionally overlook the observance of Veterans Day—seems we just got caught in this maze of confusion, brought about by all the holiday-swapping. This statement will date me for sure, but to me this so called "Veterans Day" should be observed on Nov. 11, as Armistice Day—but given time we'll catch up.

Remember, next Tuesday, Nov. 5, is General Election Day, the most important political date in the calendar and under our state laws the right to vote is preserved by VOTING!!

Its Carnival Time

The Senior Class of Rising Star High School invites you to come share the fun with the Spooks, Ghosts and Goblins, at the Halloween Carnival on Saturday evening, Nov. 2, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. in the Market Building. All the usual carnival attractions, the dunking board, cake walk, fortune telling and spook house, will provide an evening of fun for everyone—come, join the "Spookers".

Mike Childers

Local Boy Accepted For O.C.S.

Mike Childers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Childers, a graduate of Rising Star High School, has been accepted in the Aviation Officer Candidate School at Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida.

The program consists of 16 weeks training including military indoctrination, physical training, world military policy and basic flight training. After the first solo flight, commissioning as an Ensign in the United States Navy occurs.

From AOCs students may then follow three different training pipelines: Jet, Multi-Engine, or Helicopter, which leads to the golden wings of the Naval Aviation.

Upon completion, in December, 1974, of his degree in Science at Texas Technical University, Mike will enter into this Naval Training program.

Vote! ---Voter Apathy Can Be Costly

The Rising Star voting precinct—No. 7—stands to lose much of the influence in Eastland County political affairs that its 1,200 voter population entitles it to because of apathy at the polls. And so does Eastland county as a whole with respect to state politics.

So warns Election Judge G.A. Dunn as next Tuesday's General election approaches with less recognition than is given a high school football game. The loss is two-fold, once directly in the selection of county and state officials, and the other in the more subtle process of shaping political programs and party platforms.

The election in Rising Star will be held at the City Hall, and the polls will open at 8 a.m. to close at 7 p.m. Assistant judge will be Fred Price, who will supervise counting of the ballots. Counters will be Dr. Kenneth Morrison and Rowena Chambers.

Dunn will oversee the voting process in which he will be assisted by Kay Gray and Mrs. Cohard Schaefer.

In addition to the consequences warned of above, another result emphasizes the necessity of the largest possible turnout of voters Tuesday, Dunn explained. It arises from the fact that voter registration is maintained by actual participation in elections. Failure to vote consistently means that a voter will lose his registration and must either go through a process of re-registration with the county tax assessor collector or lose his right of ballot.

As long as a citizen votes his or her registration is automatic. The General Election ballot will have the names of candidates for various state, district and county offices who were nominated by the Democratic and Republican parties in primaries last May. Only the democrats have named candi-

T.F.U. Prexy Attacks "Negative Thinking"

The state Farmers Union president, addressing the annual meeting of the Hall County Farmers Union in Memphis Thursday night, attacked what he called "negative thinking" on the part of the Administration and the Secretary of Agriculture. Jay Naman, of Waco, told the audience of farm and ranch people that "the Administration hasn't taken one positive step to alleviate the grave economic conditions of livestock producers and cotton farmers."

Naman said that Farmers Union has handed the Administration a positive program to solve the problems of depressed livestock prices and cotton markets. "We have set forth a constructive program to reverse the serious conditions that exist, but our recommendations have been ignored," Naman said. "We have asked the President to immediately embargo livestock imports until the market begins to strengthen. We have urged the Administration to stop the 'rip-off' between the farmer and the government by requiring that those processing meat products for the government pay a reasonable price for the live animals. We have asked that the Administration immediately increase the price support on manufacturing milk and on cotton. The Administration should pledge its support to Congress for an emergency bill to immediately increase the price support on cotton to not less than 50 cents a pound," Naman said.

Naman charged that Secretary Butz is "unsympathetic" to the needs of farmers and ranchers, and said that the new Administration was following the same agricultural policies, dictated by Butz, that was followed by the Nixon Administration.

"The Secretary of Agriculture could do much to correct our problems with a 'sweep of his pen,' and the Administration could change the whole picture with some positive action," Naman said.

The president of the state-wide farm group called for more unity in agriculture. He said that Farmers Union has pledged to work with other groups toward solving agriculture's problems. "Farmers and ranchers can no longer afford the luxury of being divided along commodity lines. We must work together as a unit and approach the problems of agriculture with a solid front," Naman said.

gressively, at the state conventions, Dunn said. At state conventions, the big city areas, which are better and more persuasively organized to bring out the votes, have dominated the proceedings to the exclusion of the rural or grass roots areas.

It is to encounter this trend, which has strong and serious economic and political implications, and give counties like Eastland, Callahan, Brown, Comanche, etc., a greater influence in state affairs, that local leaders are appealing for a greater degree of local interest and participation.

It's simply a reassertion of what Thomas Jefferson—or perhaps another of the Founding Fathers—said: "The price of Liberty is eternal vigilance", said Dunn. Your influence is no greater than your vote.

Dr. Steve Hammack To Discuss Beef Herd Feeding

Feeding the beef herd during the winter will be the topic of a meeting Tuesday night, November 5 at the Eastland County Farm Bureau Building in Eastland. County Agent De Gordon announced that Dr. Steve Hammack, Extension Service Beef Cattle Specialist, will present a program on nutritional requirements for the beef herd. He will make recommendations on the most economical methods of providing the feed requirements to maintain a productive herd.

The meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m., was planned by the county beef cattle and forage committee to help cattlemen plan a winter feeding program. Gordon said the high cost of feed and low prices of cattle make it even more necessary for cattlemen to select the most economical method of providing the needed feed requirements this winter.

Dr. Hammack has animal science degrees from Texas A&M University, University of Nevada and University of Tennessee. He is native of Navarro County, Texas and has experience in the meat grading service and as a researcher with several Experiment Stations.

Everyone interested in beef cattle is invited to attend the meeting Gordon says.

Panthers Defeat Wildcats

The Gorman Panthers defeated the Rising Star Wildcats 39 - 14. Coach Gray says that this is one of the weakest football games played this year. This is indicated by the fact that Santa Anna beat Gorman 21 - 6, we beat Richland Springs 26 - 0, and Richland Springs beat Santa Anna 6 - 0, all of this indicates poor effort, desire, pride, and most of all back of team work.

Oct. 31, Due Date For Wage Reports

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by Oct. 31, according to Glynn Hammons, social security district manager in Abilene.

"If you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any three month calendar quarter for work around your house, you must send a report of the wages and the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter", Hammons said.

Quarters are January-February-March, April-May-June,

July-August-September, and October-November-December. Wage reports and social security contributions for the third quarter of 1974 are due by October 31.

The reports may be filed on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office—"Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for Social Security)".

Under the current social security contribution rate, the employer and the employee each pay 5.85 percent of

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Before anything else existed, there was Christ, with God. He has always been alive and is himself God. He created everything there is — nothing exists that he didn't make. Eternal life is in him, and this life gives light to all mankind. His life is the light that shines through the darkness — and the darkness can never extinguish it. God sent John the Baptist as a witness to the fact that Jesus Christ is the true Light. John himself was only a witness to identify it.

The Now Washbasket
By Bobbie Hill

Many consumer questions have arisen about laundering infant wear since the advent of fire retardant sleepers and cold water washing to conserve energy. Here are some of them:
Q. Can diapers be washed effectively in cold water?
A. Absolutely not. Those annoying "greaseballs" you find on them sometimes are the result of not having washed the diapers in hot enough water.
Q. What is the best method for laundering the new flame retardant children's sleepwear?
A. In warm water. To the recommended amount of detergent add one cup of a bleach substitute like Borateam Plus. Chlorine bleach should not be used. It drastically reduces the life of the protective flame retardant finish.
Q. How can I get rid of food stains from children's clothing?
A. Soak them overnight before washing, adding 1/2 cup of the bleach substitute to the water. Just prior to washing, rub some of the product into tougher stain, then launder.
Q. Will flame retardant finishes soon be required for fabrics used in children's clothing as well as sleepwear?
A. This seems to be indicated, according to legislation now being proposed in many states.
(Everything you need to know about home laundering is attractively presented in a new folding chart. Send 25¢ for postage and handling to LAUNDRY CHART, 20 MULE TEAM Products, P.O. Box 75128 Sanford Station, Los Angeles, CA 90075.)

How to become a
WISE DENTAL CONSUMER

Reducing Tooth Decay
The foods that we as consumers buy have definite effects on our dental health.

Tooth decay, one of the commonest of all human diseases, can be greatly reduced with one of the simplest preventive remedies known to man—good nutrition.

A proper diet geared for general good health and started in infancy, including proper prenatal care, will provide all the nutritional needs for developing and maintaining oral structures including teeth.

Periodontal disease, which attacks the gum tissues and bones that support teeth, has also been linked with diet. This disease process is the primary cause of tooth loss in adults. Teeth are loosened when they no longer have the support of healthy gums and bone. Inadequate diet weakens the tissues and makes them more susceptible to disease development.

Studies have indicated that the most damage is done within 15 to 20 minutes after eating decay-causing foods. The person who eats many between-meal sweet snacks exposes his teeth to the full effects of bacterial acids repeatedly throughout the day.

Food selection is one important purchasing area for consumer awareness in relation to oral health. Other concerns such as choosing a dentist, reducing dental bills and selecting oral hygiene products are topics discussed in a new American Dental Association Booklet, How To Become a Wise Dental Consumer.

First Baptist Church Rising Star

Jesus tells the story of a man who gave his servants some money. To one he gave five talents of money, to another two, and to another, one.

After a long time the man returned home. He called his three servants in for an accounting of the money entrusted to them.

Two of the servants doubled that entrusted to them.

One servant returned only that entrusted to him. His excuse was that his master was a very demanding man. In fear he tried only to preserve that which was entrusted to him.

The master condemned his servant as wicked and lazy. Further he chided the servant for not investing the money for interest.

Mark Guy Pearse says, "God holds us responsible not for what we have, but for what we might have; not for what we are, but for what we might be."

I am sure that fearfulness and laziness would cover much of what keeps us from becoming what God would have us to be. For this the unfaithful servant was disciplined.

Ours is a great challenge to enlarge that which has been entrusted to us. Think of our minds, by studying and reading they can be enlarged. Think also of our talents, by use and exercise they can be developed.

May we invest in God's will for the enrichment of all we are. Remember Nov. 3, is Demonstration Day. Let each member of First Baptist Church be in Sunday School and Church.

Visiting with us Sunday morning were: Jimmy Rutledge Jr. of Abilene, Mrs. Nannie Bailey of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Maris Hendrix of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kopal of Houston.

Sunday evening message: "God's Future For the Jews". Bible Study Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

Church of Christ Rising Star

To one who has made a practice of reading regularly the Bible, a consistent picture soon begins to emerge. The opening chapters of Genesis portray an intimate fellowship between God and the creature made in God's likeness: man (Genesis 1 and 2). These edenic ties were broken by sin, in the form of disobedience (Genesis 3), perpetuated in succeeding generations through variations of the same choice. (Romans 3:9-18; 3:23; 5:12). But in the midst of this tragic estrangement there is the assurance of an ultimate reconciliation (Genesis 3:15). The balance of the Old Testament is the story of how God chose to work this out. The reality of it appears in the Gospel accounts, as Jesus arrives, lives, teaches and finally gives "His life a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28), is raised from the dead and "exalted at the right hand of God" (Acts 2:33-36). God not only showed his love in this way (John 3:16; Romans 5:8), but made reconciliation with himself and within humanity a reality (Ephesians 2:14-8). Just as all, from Eve onward, have chosen alienation from God through disobedience, even so in Christ, through a change from the love of sin to the love of righteousness (repentance) and through the union with Christ's death, burial and resurrection in baptism (Romans 6:3-11), we become "new creatures" (2 Corinthians 5:17), children of God (1 John 3:1) The Bible closes with the family complete and at home with Him (Rev. 21 and 22). The more one reads the Bible the more apparent and the richer this total picture becomes.

We join two families among us in sorrow: that of Glenn Hughes (brother of Mrs. Annie Alexander), who passed away Monday morning at Camp Wood, and that of Preston Whitlock (husband of Mrs. Kay Whitlock and father of Earlene Burkhalter), who passed away also on Monday. The funeral for Mr. Hughes was held in Cross Plains on Tuesday and that for Mr. Whitlock in Rising Star on Wednesday. Owen Aikin delivered the messages for both.

The second lesson on the subject of Satan will deal with the manner in which this adversary of God and man works. This especially requested topic is to be treated at the Sunday morning assembly. Please join us in detailed Bible study: on Sunday at 9:30 a.m. and on Wednesday at 7 p.m. (note the time change), and for the assemblies on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. May your week be a good one. ## Methodist Women With Mrs. Helen Switzer

The United Methodist Women met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Helen Switzer. Nine members and one visitor, Mrs. Cecil Courtright were present. Mrs. Ronnie Alford gave the Mission Study Lesson. The Sermon on the Mount was the lesson. The 23rd Psalm was repeated in unison and Mrs. Bob Smith led in prayer.

Mrs. Ronnie Alford opened the study with a prayer and read scriptures from the book of Matthew. She talked on Love of Enemies and Uncompromising God. At the close of the lesson refreshments of spiced tea, sandwiches and date bread were served to those present.

Where are You Going?

"Look, Daddy! A stopped freeway!" Eight-year-old Kristen pointed at the span of concrete that soared over the road ahead of us and then ended abruptly as if it had encountered an invisible wall.

Two months later, we took a hike in the country. A small trail led us through green fields of waving grass and wildflowers. There the trail ended, gradually, as if reluctant to stop.

Is your life like a freeway—fast, impressive, known to many? Or is it more like a trail—plain, but comfortable, less well-known, but quite adequate?

It really doesn't matter. The important question is: Does your life have a goal?

A freeway or trail can end, gradually or abruptly, without ever reaching a specific destination.

In God, your life can have a goal. In church, He'll tell you how to reach it.

Democrats Launch "Take Ten"

Austin - A massive "Get Out The Vote" telephone campaign entitled Operation: Take Ten For Texas was announced today by Democratic Party Chairman Calvin R. Guest of Bryan.

Thousands of letters to members of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Democratic County Chairmen, and delegates and alternates to the 1974 State Democratic Convention were mailed today from the State Party Headquarters urging each of these individuals to take ten minutes of their time on November 4th to call five of their Democratic friends to vote on November 5th and to urge each of their friends, in turn, to call five additional Democrats to remind them to vote.

"Every Democrat in the state must bear a share of the burden in directing a major effort toward voter participation on Election Day," Guest stated. "The State Party is allocating over ten thousand dollars to the Senatorial Districts to assist in this effort." Guest continued.

Coordinating this effort for the Democratic Party of Texas will be Lem Allen of Kingsbury, Chairman of the Texas Democratic County Chair-man's association and Maxine Lee, Vice President of the Texas AFL - CIO.

All Democratic nominees have been urged to stress the importance of this telephone campaign. It is anticipated in coming weeks well over fifty thousand additional pieces of mail will give impetus to this effort.

The Democratic Party plans to use a county-wide voter participation committee in each of the four Multi-District counties (Harris, Dallas, Tarrant and Bexar) and Senatorial District Committees in the remaining Senatorial Districts.

In each district, the county chairman, members of the S.D.E.C. and members of the Democratic National Committee will serve on the district steering committee and will, in turn, appoint other committee members representing all of the constituent Democratic groups.

Guest said, "I feel that a campaign of this sort involving Democrats in every nook and cranny of the state will be the most effective undertaking in the recent history of our Party. We're not asking for money for a change, we're simply asking for a little time and talent from our constituents."

RING YOUR OWN LIBERTY BELL! VOTE

A GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE MUST OTE!!

People Power Is Poll Power

Did you vote in the last election? Did you exercise personally the right given you by the founding fathers of this country? There are 5.3 million voters in the state of Texas. Only 28% of these voters bothered to go to the polls in the May Primary Election. Why?

The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs urges you, the voter, to Stand Up and Be Counted. Go to the polls and vote for the candidate of your choice on Nov. 5, 1974.

Our forefathers passed the "Torch of Freedom". Dare we drop that torch?

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill Attorney General

AUSTIN -- Within the next few months, many of us will be asked to contribute to a charitable cause, since various fundraising organizations concentrate their efforts in the period from Halloween through Easter.

There are three ways people commonly are asked to help a charitable cause: by donating money, by donating services, or by donating the use of their name for advertising or fundraising purposes.

All of us are familiar with the seasonal appeals of well-established charitable organizations, and few of us question the value of the work they do.

But the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division cautions persons contacted by any unfamiliar charitable organization to check carefully before committing money, time, or the use of your name.

Our attorneys suggest that you ask these questions before agreeing to support such a group:

What are the organization's goals? Do you believe they are worthwhile? Are they realistic? Are their fundraising campaigns and charitable programs well-planned?

Who heads the group and where are its central offices? Who are the local officers or representatives? Are they genuinely committed to the organization and its aim?

What services does the organization provide in your community? Are they effective? How is the group regarded by your friends and associates?

Has the organization met local or state regulations for charities soliciting funds? How does the charity solicit its funds?

Some organizations use methods of fundraising that are questionable at best. Some send unneeded goods through the "disabled," "rehabilitated," "retired," "minority," or "student" workers when in reality only a very few, if any, such workers are employed. If approached by a group with such an appeal, you should inquire what percentage of such workers is employed, or what percentage of profits is paid to them.

In recent years, some questions have been raised by concerned citizens as to how much of the funds collected by various charities actually go toward their stated goals and how much is spent on administrative costs, salaries, and the cost of raising funds.

While low operating costs may tend to make a group seem efficient, it's important, say experts, to remember that many factors must be considered in evaluating such figures. The purpose of the charity, whether it employs professional fundraisers or depends on volunteers, costs of printing informational material, and whether the organization is an old, established one or a new one - all of these things affect operating costs.

Most of us are eager to support worthwhile organizations, but we want to be sure that our money or our time is being well spent.

The Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce can provide both individuals and businesses with information on charities that may be conducting fundraising drives in local communities.

And the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division can help you if you have a complaint against an organization or firm that has engaged in misleading or deceptive practices.

Gwenda Butler - Bride elect of Tony Winfrey.

Butler - Winfrey Wedding Is Planned For December

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler of Rising Star and Mr. and Mrs. George Leonard of Sipe Springs announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Gwenda Jolene Butler to Tony Winfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Winfrey of Cross Plains. The wedding date has been set for December 21, 1974, at 8:00 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Rising Star. The bride to be is a senior in Rising Star High School. The prospective groom is a 1973 graduate of Cross Plains High School and is presently engaged in farming. Friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding and reception to follow in Fellowship Hall in the church.

People once believed that when a bear was deprived of food, it sustained itself by sucking on its paws.

Senator Barry Goldwater has said that the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller probably will be withdrawn in the aftermath of "disclosures" having to do with his generosity to friends and fellow workers and the publication of a book critical of a former Supreme Court Justice that Rockefeller money from another source is alleged to have financed. Politically speaking such an event would not be disastrous; it would simply fall within the category of "some you win and some you lose" which is simply the 'good earth' of political philosophy.

But the manner of losing it suggests a thought or two. Not that Sen. Goldwater is safe in his prediction. He and Rockefeller stand at opposite poles of Republican Party philosophy and a difference in idealism may have encouraged the prophecy. Now I have much respect for the Arizona senator and, personally, I favored George Bush for the nomination. I also think highly of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. I hope those admissions qualify me as objective-minded here.

If Rockefeller were running in a public election his candidacy would be submitted on a "pro and con" basis. There would be no manipulation of the process; no denial of a hearing. Both sides would be debated openly and the decision would rest on the voted opinions of the people.

But in this case the decision rests on a composite of partisanship, dominated by the Democrats, and the way in which Rockefeller is being denied a hearing on so-called "disclosures" until after the General Election next Tuesday suggest that the approval process under the 25th Amendment is being manipulated by the Senate Judiciary Committee and other congressional influences for no reason but to adversely affect the already adversely affected fortunes of the Administration party at the polls on Nov. 5.

The explanation for delay given by Chairman Cannon of that committee further suggests that the hearings are being managed in a spirit of a prosecution rather than one of fact-finding. One would like to think of such hearings as being conducted by objective-minded and reasonable people, resisting the mass emotionalism that too often influences political decisions. Unfortunately, Chairman Cannon's excuse that the committee hasn't had time to develop information suggests more design than objectivity. In other words, it hasn't had time to prepare a case.

One asks, What is the hearing for if not to develop information? Is it a trial? Certainly not. Its purpose is to inquire into the qualifications of the nominee and to satisfy the committee to the point of recommending that he would make a good vice-president or not. The information concerning the "disclosures" has already been broadcast; what is needed are the answers which only Mr. Rockefeller can supply.

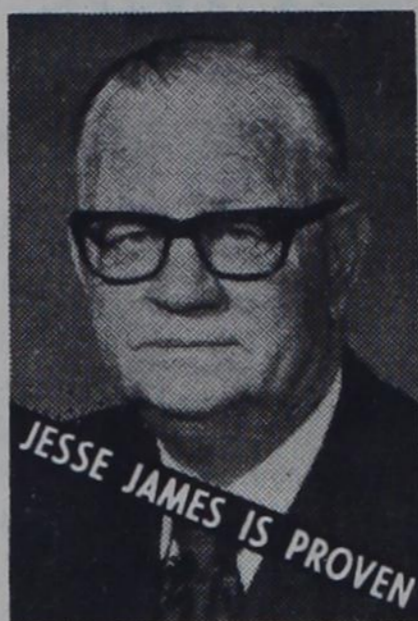

In his long tenure as New York governor Rockefeller made a good and honorable record. He demonstrated ability and dedication; there was no breath of scandal. If he would use his vast economic interests for corrupt motives he already would have done so and furthermore he could do so more effectively without resort to political office.

As for the book criticizing that former Supreme Court Justice, a book that Rockefeller denies having either directly or indirectly subsidized and which, it turns out, had little if any readers, it strikes me as significant that the ex-justice did not so publicly complain earlier. It probably is no more "scurrilous" than most of the comments that occupy type in the newspapers or space out the commercials in a TV gab-fest.

As for the gifts--Since when is a wealthy man condemned for exercising the virtues and generosity demanded of wealth?

If we must destroy or discredit an envied man, let's do so for good reason! It is a personal opinion that we can take more faith in a democratic-capitalist system - which demonstrates that it can produce people of great financial ability and good fortune who exercise in a succession of generations a healthy respect for the stewardship that wealth imposes.

Nelson Rockefeller made only one mistake: He didn't give me any of his money.

You know, the worse inflation gets the more we need somebody like Briscoe. He's created a lot of good jobs and he knows how to get things started.

In times like these when the economy is so shaky, I'm going to stay with Governor Briscoe.

It's quite refreshing for me to know that we have a man like Dolph Briscoe... a man who puts integrity before all things...

Dolph Briscoe's proved he has the contacts and the know how to bring new business to the State of Texas. We can't afford to lose him at a critical time like this.

We need new jobs and more income in this state and Governor Briscoe is helping us get them.

Briscoe's kept pace without adding new taxes - I voted Republican in 1972, but I'm voting for Briscoe this time.

They all promised no new taxes; Dolph Briscoe kept his promise.

I think Dolph Briscoe is a Governor you can believe in. I'm looking forward to voting for him in November.

RISING STAR CEMETERY
At this time we especially urge each of you to contribute to the maintenance of our cemetery.

The removal of dead trees will take more than we have in our maintenance fund. Since we have not sent cards to remind you of our need, we feel sure you will want to help with this project.

- This week we want to thank the following contributors:
- PERMANENT FUND
Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Parsons memorial to Lillie Mae Parsons $25
Mrs. I.H. Kendrick, San Diego, Cal., memorial to Ike's father, brother and sister and others $25
M.C. Embrey, memorial to father $25
Mrs. W.B. Schaefer, Fort Worth, memorial to S.A. Joiner $10
- MAINTENANCE
Otis Criswell $10

The following letter was written to the Rising Star Cemetery Association:
Gentlemen:

Please accept our check as a donation to the Rising Star Perpetual Fund. I am confident your plan will be successful if enough contacts are made of relatives of the people in the cemetery. It will take a lot of personal interest from the City Fathers and those instigating the plan. But here again, a lot of hard work will pay great dividends on your very worthy project.

M.F. Embrey
This donation is made in memory of my father Earl Embrey and my grandparents and friends buried there.

"1776 Plus 200"

Elizabeth Chamberlain

Many, many times in our lives we have heard various ones speak the words, "This is a free country". Or, on other occasions, "I know my rights."
These are words which flow
quite freely from our tongues, today. How glibly we mouth those utterances. More frequently than otherwise, one mentions these remarkable liberties in order to excuse some unsavory act which he has performed, or yet intends to commit, rather than in humble gratitude.

If by use of some futuristic time machine discovery, such great defenders of freedom as Thomas Jefferson, John Hancock, Samuel Adams and George Washington were to be miraculously transported into our modern day, it is certain that they would be most amazed, and deeply pained, as they should observe the indifference with which we regard the great, the marvelous liberty which they had gained for us through such hardship, sacrifice and shedding of blood and tears.

Perhaps it is true that the great gifts and privileges which are inherited are not so dear to the receiver as they were to those brave men who paid the price for them in blood. In the year of 1775, when the second Continental Congress made George Washington the commander of all the troops who had been gathered for the "defense of American Liberty", that Congress also adopted a declaration on the causes and necessity of taking up arms. In this declaration it was stated that these brave men were forced to bear arms in order to gain and preserve their liberties
-- "being with one mind resolved to die free men, rather than to live slaves." Those great men were aware that as they took up arms against the British Redcoats, many of them would lose their lives in battle before they were ever privileged to sit back and enjoy the sweet taste of the freedom for which they fought. But there is that mystery about liberty which makes it of such importance to a people denied it, that they willingly pay the ultimate price in order to secure that liberty for their sons and heirs.

From that April day in 1775,
when the first blood was shed
in the American Revolutionary War at Lexington and Concord,
until the British general, Cornwallis, surrendered at - Yorktown, Virginia, some six years later, countless American patriots laid their lives on the line as they voluntarily took up arms against the oppression they were experiencing at the hands of the British. Those troops were not promised battle pay, comfortable quarters, nor even warm, fine-fitting uniforms. Instead, before they had won the victory, they had faced bitter cold, inadequate apparel and privation beyond the imagination of us who grumble amidst the beauty and sweetness of American life today.

America has truly been a country flowing with "milk and honey" but those first colonists who came to these shores did not find the table already spread and filled with these provisions, just waiting for them to come and partake of it.
They recognized only the great potential, and willingly labored, fought and even died in order to gain them.

On July 4, 1776, Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence, then the American colonists had to fight to win it. That declaration simply gave the patriots the definite goal, the incentive for which to fight. Call them Farmers (as the British did in derision) or Minute Men, or Patriots, or by any other name we might contrive, yet those were the great souls who bought this marvelous gift called Liberty, and simply placed it in our hands. And tremendous was the cost thereof.

In recent days, we have heard it said that through the years
our school textbooks have so glorified those early men who performed in our American history, that they have become almost defied. We are told that new books must be published and are so being published, as to more aptly "tell it like it was", revealing those forefathers to be just plain human beings, having faults, weaknesses and other frailties even as we. But, no, let us all the more proclaim the stupendous love and loyalty of those men and women who lived, labored, sacrificed and died in the early years of our nation that we fortunate people might inherit the "Land of the Free", our own "America the Beautiful".
"For Freedom's battle once began,
Bequeathed by bleeding sire
to son,
Though 'baffled off, is ever won." (Copied)

How much more preferable it is for today's youth to look up to such great men for their heroes, than to seek to imitate the sign-carrying, loud-speaking demonstrators whom they are trying to follow today.

Some people believe that a knife that falls to the ground brings bad luck to the person who dropped it, but good to the one who picks it up.

truckin' on Hi! This week has been short since we didn't have school Monday. The teachers had a work day. The workouts have been a little longer because we only had three days to work out. We play Blanket November 5 here. Everyone be sure and come and root for us. All the girls are looking forward to the first game. There is a lot of spirit and everyone is hussling to do their best. We hope we will have a successful year this year with eleven lettermen and a good selection of working girls to keep everyone on their toes. Have a nice day, Pam toward new horizons Life is still flying along at a wonderfully fast pace; could it be because we're all having a good time. I would like to give credit to the Homemaking II girls for the community project they are working on. Every two weeks they visit Twilight Acres Nursing Homes and each girl visits two special occupants. A wonderful time is had by all. In class they are still working with vegetables and have made some crossword puzzles with vegetables. The Homemaking I class made biscuits and as one member of the class declared, "they were great." The Home and Family Living students had as a guest speaker Dr. Carpenter who talked on the prices and other aspects of having a baby. The students found the talk very informative. H.E.C.E. students are starting work on their separate lessons. We are still working on trucks for the kindergarten, right? Remember Life is great! Bonnie Hello everyone! How's everything? Well everything is O.K., except Nicky. He went and broke his finger. Why? I'll never tell. He's just trying to find an excuse so Jenny would carry his books. Ha! Well the Wildcats play Santa Anna this week. It will be a tough game. The Mountaineers are very strong and we need to win this one so we will still be in the running for district. Most of you know by now that basketball has started for the girls. Everyone be at the Santa Anna game and yell for our team. See ya' Jeanne today not tomorrow Hi! Is everybody ready for all the ghosts, goblins, and witches? It is that time of year again so everybody be prepared for a trick or treat. The Juniors were glad to hear that we got another day off Monday November 4 because the teachers have a small schools meeting to attend. In Bookkeeping we have been working to finish the unit before six weeks test. We completed project two and started on chapter twelve. In Algebra II we are studying linear equations and their formula. We have been working with chemical equations, and learning how to balance equations. Don't forget that our term themes are going to be due soon. That's all, Marilyn

Extension Of IH 27 Proposed

AUSTIN--A southerly extension of Interstate Highway 27 to IH 20 and 10 is feasible and necessary, a report prepared by the Texas Highway Department has been determined. Not only that, the extension is wanted. The report, released today, said seven public meetings were held during the study period with a total attendance of 1,725 persons. "It is most interesting to note that although hundreds of people attended the various meetings, not one word of opposition to the proposed project was voiced," the report said. In fact, the report said the key question is not "Should this highway be built?" but "Where should it be built?" The study was undertaken as a result of special provisions included by Congress in the 1973 Federal-Aid Highway Act. Ten proposed additions to the IH system nationwide were singled out for study in the act. Only the IH 27 extension had no special route prescribed by Congress.

age. Irish potatoes to be plentiful. This fall's crop exceeds the limited 1973 output by 13%. Sept. 30 stocks of frozen potatoes were 46% greater than the low supplies of a year earlier and 11% above the 1971-73 average. Frozen vegetables to continue plentiful. Sept. 30 stocks were 15% greater than both a year earlier and the 1971-73 average. Canned vegetables to be adequate with larger packs rebuilding reduced inventories. Specifically, more tomatoes and tomato products will be available and about the same or fewer supplies of other major canned vegetables. Peanuts to be plentiful. End-of-August stocks were 47% above a year earlier. The 1974 crop is estimated at 2% more than 1973's record crop. Walnuts to be plentiful due largely to carryover from the record 1973 crop. Smaller than last year's, the 1974 crop about equals the 1971-73 average. Almonds to be plentiful. The 1974 production will top the record 1973 and 1971 crops by about 34%. GRAINS & LEGUMES — Rice to be plentiful, with a record crop 22% above last year's and 29% higher than the 1971-73 average. Dry beans and dry peas to be plentiful. A record dry bean crop, 31% larger than last year's and 27% more than the 1971-73 average is forecast. Dry pea production is expected to more than double 1973's and exceed the 1971-73 average by 36%. Wheat supplies to be adequate for U.S. food needs. Exports will be smaller than last year's. Output is record high—estimated at 4% above last year and 10% more than the 1971-73 average. Corn supplies for food use to be adequate despite an estimated 16% reduction from both the 1973 record crop and the 1971-73 average.

An old foe strikes again. The screwworm fly has almost been eradicated several times, but always seems to come back. A cas of screwworms were positively identified southeast of Eastland on October 17. The larvae sample was sent to the screwworm Eradication laboratory in Mission where it was identified. Another livestock owner called us from Carbon and said he had treated a case of screwworms, but did not collect an for identification. This should be a warning to all livestock and pet owners to be on the alert for screwworm infestation. If larvae are found in animal wounds we encourage you to collect a sample and mail to the laboratory at Mission. Containers and mailing tubes are available at the county Extension office. We also suggest that livestock owners delay dehorning, castrating, and branding until we have colder weather and the threat of screwworms is past. R.D. Hart of Eastland was awarded a blue ribbon on a bale of alfalfa hay. Several men took blue ribbons for bermudagrass hay. They were Truman Brown of Eastland, Glen Rockey of Baird, B.L. Hunter of Eastland, Weldon Tankersley of Morton Valley, J.D. Griffin Jr. of Carbon, and Delbert Tarver of Rising Star. Leo Williams of Desdemona and Morris Underwood of Ranger each received blue ribbons for grass mixture hay. H.L. Parris of Ranger had a bale of peanut hay to receive a blue ribbon. For sudan hybrid hay, several men took blue ribbons including N.E. Richardson of Ranger, Truman Brown of Eastland and Hood King of Eastland. Red ribbons were awarded to the following hay exhibitors: Mose Nantz, Joseph Housson, Dr. L.R. Gholke, Hood King, W.F. Yardley, J.W. Ratliff, Durel Reid and Mike Collins, Buddy Canet, Tony White, Paul Norris, Ross Hodges, Leo Williams, Durwood Burgess and Weldon Tankersley. Gold ribbons winners were Charles Underwood, Sam Kimmell, and Milton Crawford. Hay that did not classify as high as 50 did not get a ribbon. The hay judge, Dr. John Chapin, was very complimentary of the quality of the hay. He said it was much better than was in last year's show. We would like to thank the farm and ranch stores in Eastland County who helped sponsor the hay show. The show was planned and conducted by the Rural Development Committee.

Hallowe'en Fun

Bewitch the masquerading ghosts, goblins and witches with Peanuty Candy Apples, popcorn and ginger ale at your Hallowe'en party. Add an eerie jack-o'-lantern which can serve as a popcorn holder and a pixy straw scarecrow to complete the refreshment table. Make the Peanuty Candy Apples early in the day. Press fresh peanut halves into the coated apples while still hot, if desired. The popular, easy-to-eat party apples will appeal to the ghosts of all ages, because peanut butter is in the candy coating. The peanut butter not only adds good rich flavor but also food nutrients such as protein, thiamin and niacin. Pop the corn or buy it by the bag, box or can. Pour the ginger ale into paper cups and have paper plates for the corn and apples. Party clean-up time will be nil, and what a thrilling good time it will be for all! Peanuty Candy Apples Yield: 6 to 8 1/4 cup Peter Pan Smooth Peanut Butter 6 to 8 eating apples 3 cups sugar 1/4 cup corn syrup 1 cup water Wash apples and insert a wooden skewer into center of each apple. In a saucepan, combine sugar, corn syrup and water. Heat, while stirring, until sugar dissolves. Continue cooking to 240°F. on a candy thermometer (or when a small amount of the syrup dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water). Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter. Dip each apple into syrup to coat. Stand apples skewer side up on plate to cool.

CONSERVE ENERGY
With Proper Insulation

Proper insulation helps to keep OUT heat in the summer, cold in the winter, helps to reduce outside noises, and absorbs inside sounds.

Adequate insulation can save over 40% on energy costs annually. You should have at least 4" in walls and 6" in ceilings. Heating and air conditioning duct-work should be wrapped with insulating material.

Insulation can pay for itself with the savings from operating costs in about 1 1/2 years. Your home will be cleaner because insulation will help to keep dust and dirt pollution from sifting in.

SAVE ENERGY WITH CAULKING AND WEATHERSTRIPPING

Check all windows and doors. If a cold draft indicates you are losing heat, install weatherstripping and caulking where needed. It will save on both heating and cooling costs.

An almost invisible 1/4" gap at the base of a standard 36" outside door is equal to a nine square-inch hole in the side of your house. There are a number of easy-to-install felt and foam rubber products on the market to draft-proof doorways.

B'wd Rancher To Preside At Maine-Anjou Meeting

SAN ANGELO--Presiding at the Region III Maine-Anjou Seminar in San Angelo on Friday, Nov. 8, at the Holiday Inn will be Calvin Fryar of Brownwood, who is President of the International Maine-Anjou Association (IMAA) headquartered in Kansas City, Missouri. The IMAA is sponsoring meetings in various sections of the country to better acquaint area cattlemen with the happenings and progress of the Maine-Anjou breed.

In addition to Fryar, other officers, directors and staff of the organization will assemble at 9:00 a.m. in San Angelo for individual presentations concerning their respective activities. Such specialized areas as Performance Registry, Promotion and Association functions will be discussed and highlighted. A special attraction will be the display of RAMBLER 3M, the first purebred Maine-Anjou bull to be housed in Texas. He is jointly owned by 3M Stock Farms, Grandview, Tex., and Ramblewood Ranches, Cleburne, Texas.

Featured speaker for the affair will be Dr. Gary Minish, a renowned animal scientist from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Dr. Minish is known throughout the industry as an experienced livestock judge and speaker. He will talk on subjects ranging from "Successful Sire Selection" to "Selecting the Productive Female" during his informative presentation.

The IMAA will host a cocktail reception immediately following the seminar's conclusion. Then it's on to the Stock Show Grounds for the 7-h Ranch Roundup Revue. A top quality offering of 85 percentage blood Maine-Anjou cattle will be sold at the 7:00 p.m. affair. An exceptional selection of cattle has been secured, providing an excellent opportunity for area cattlemen to enter the highly profitable Maine-Anjou business.

Rounding out the weekend is the nationally recognized San Angelo Steer Roping Contest featuring the nation's most outstanding steer ropers.

Everyone interested in hearing about the Maine-Anjou breed and its impact on the U.S. beef cattle industry is encouraged to attend the Region III Seminar and 7-h Roundup Revue immediately following.
