The election is over and nothing in this column today can affect the outcome in the least. Here at the Record and in the family we were pretty evenly divided between the Democratic and Republican national candidates. We got along very well together as a "Republican Headquarters" despite this diversity of political affiliation.

As most of you who passed the front of the Record building Sunday morning know, something crawled up in the night under the masquerade of a Halloween prank, and wrote that sign in foot high letters across our window. To make the designation even more impressive, the letters were written in "Gold-water" spray paint—not in the random soapings of mischievous spook night juveniles. I don't know who did it, nor do I want to know. I don't like to be sick at my stomach.

But if the person who did the trick regarded his act as a gesture of patriotism he can have small comfort in the many expressions of disapproval and even disgust that we received.

The incident would be unworthy of notice, except that it reflects discredit upon our community. It is symptomatic of the cancerous thing that eats at our national political health and which is especially evident as the fatal disease of many towns, large and small.

I have my political beliefs and preferences. I was under the impression that it is my American right to so believe and prefer. Perhaps times are changing; perhaps under a new enlightenment that seems to be spreading its sinister glow across the social and political diversity of this nation, that cowardly Ku Kluxer who crept up in the night with his spray can of gold paint—that contemptible thing who evidently has neither guts nor a decent sense of respect—perhaps he is right!

I only know that if he is, this beloved country has turned a mighty sharp left from the faith of those patriots who challenged the tyranny of George III and fought and died that we might have liberty. We are unworthy children of mighty men! I am glad indeed that I do not belong in his sty; and he should realize that President Johnson doesn't, either.

The really reprehensible fact is that such actions of a few unsavory characters reflect discredit upon decent people who have no means of resisting it. Strangers driving through Rising Star—and there were many who did and who stopped or slowed down to read the sign—were apt to ask themselves: "What kind of a town is this? What kind of a people live here?"

"Are they hospitable, generous people, respectful of individual rights and contrary opinions, tolerant of new and challenging talents, grateful for infusions of new mind and civic blood which stir them from complacency to a discovery of their own neglected potential? Would I like to live there?"

"Are they jealously traditional, narrowly familyistic, prejudiced against differing opinions, bigoted in ideals, hating and resisting anything new?"

Well, they are not! Our (Continued on Page Six)

Study of Underground Water Resources Will Include Eastland County Sands

County Judge Scott Bailey has been informed that the Texas Water Commission recently launched a study of the groundwater resources in Central Texas, including Eastland County. The study will be conducted from a field office established in Waco. The study is designed to determine the quantity and quality of underground water available in the region with initial emphasis on the prolific Lower Cretaceous Trinity Sands. Personnel of the Commission's Ground Water Division will conduct intensive field investigations of the area, including the collecting of information on municipal, industrial, irrigation, and selected domestic wells.

A major goal of the study will be the construction of a model of the aquifer system from the data collected in the field. The model will enable estimates to be made of the potential amounts of ground water available to communities and cities in the study area.

This detailed study will require at least three years of field investigation for completion. It will provide valuable information to all cities, industries, and other water users in this important area. Shortly after the study is completed, the Commission will publish a report of the findings which will be available to the general public.

In making this announcement Judge Bailey emphasized that this ground-water study will furnish valuable information concerning our valuable water supply and added that this study will be of real interest in determining the possibility of further agricultural and industrial development of our country.

Cost Estimates On Club Project Submitted to FHA

Plans and specifications for a club house with 2,600 square feet of floor space, and detailed cost estimates for the entire proposed Lakewood County Club recreation project were turned over to county and area Farmers Home Administration officials for submission to the State office this week, club officials announced. A loan application is pending before the FHA.

The plans for the club house were drawn by R. E. Call, Brownwood architect and engineer. The building will include a 40x40-foot club room and living quarters for the club manager.

Cost estimates for the project, including the swimming pool, golf course, boating docks, club house and other facilities, added up to about $90,000. The club is seeking a loan of $100,000 from the Farmers Home Administration to finance an area recreation resort which would serve families in areas of Eastland, Brown, Callahan and Comanche counties.

Prospects for approval of the loan were felt to be good. The project is believed to be the first of its kind to be developed in the state and it is being viewed with more than casual interest both by the FHA and other rural communities seeking a similar development of their recreation opportunities, it was said.

Location of the proposed project is at Phil-Pe-Co Lake midway between Rising Star and Cross Plains.

More than 230 Rising Star, Cross Plains, Cisco and other area citizens have signed for paying memberships in the club for one year as a financial basis for the development of the project.

Linda Burkhalter Is Presented As Band Sweetheart

The Rising Star band presented its band sweetheart, Miss Linda Burkhalter, in a ceremony during the intermission at the Rising Star-May football game here Friday evening of last week.

The band formed a heart-shaped formation in front of the Rising Star stands and Miss Burkhalter, escorted to the center of the formation by Band President Larry Weise, was presented a bouquet by Bruce Hubbard, vice-president of the band.

During the mid-game program the Rising Star Band saluted both the May and Rising Star schools with the school songs.

The May Drill team performed earlier in the half-time period.

Singing Sunday At American Legion Hall

The regular second Sunday singing will be held at the American Legion Hall in Rising Star from 2 to 4 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 8. The public is invited.

The sons of L. R. Smith, Sr., were here for his funeral Monday, Nov. 2. They are Leo J. Smith, Detroit, Michigan; Warren D. Smith of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Leon R. Smith, Jr., of Johnson City, Tenn.

Two Up, Two to Go; Cats Face Blanket

If he plays football for a lifetime, William Douglas Fisher will probably never get a greater thrill out of the game than he got Friday night of last week. In the truest and most classic sense, he was in the right place at the right time, and when he came up out of the deep Rising Star secondary to intercept May quarterback Billy Rasberry's long pass, he already had up a full head of steam for 60 odd yards and the only score of the Rising Star-May district game.

Escorted by good blocking, the Wildcat defensive half back raced the distance untouched and crossed the goal line at the southwest flag with Rasberry diving at him.

The points he gained were preserved intact as the margin of victory by a furious Wildcat defense that had heroes enough. By a remarkable coincidence it was Fisher who in the first quarter, stopped the only serious May scoring threat when he intercepted a pass in the Rising Star end zone for a touchdown.

He had plenty of company on both sides of the scrimmage line in a closely played, fiercely competitive contest that was remarkably free of penalties until the final minutes.

The victory gave the Wildcats their second district win against no losses. Their next contest will be with the Blanket team at Blanket Friday night, a team that May defeated 34-6 a week earlier. If they should win that game, the only obstacle between them and a district title will be the Gorman Panthers who come to Rising Star stadium on Friday night, Nov. 23. The Cats will have a week of rest between the Blanket and Gorman games.

Fisher's remarkable interception and touchdown run occurred in the waning moments of the third quarter. Outstanding in the defense that preserved the Wildcat victory—neither team threatened seriously elsewhere in the defensive contest—were Garry Dugan who time and again came all the way across field to make saving tackles of fast Tiger backs, and Russell Botts, 265-pound Rising Star tackle.

Rising Star voters in one of the heaviest voter turnouts in many general elections, gave President Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic presidential ticket, a whopping majority Tuesday in unofficial returns.

Of nearly 700 votes cast in the local voting, Johnson-Humphrey drew 520 to 153 for the Republican ticket of Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller.

Leon R. Smith, Sr., Buried At Cisco, After Rites Here

Leon Ross Smith, Sr., 85, retired oil production superintendent for Standard Oil Company and several other oil interests, died Saturday morning in Rising Star Hospital where he had been a patient for ten days.

Funeral was held at 2 p. m. Monday in First Methodist Church, Rising Star, with the Rev. D. L. Barnes of Novice, retired Methodist minister and a former pastor here, and the present pastor, Rev. Milton Slayden, officiating. Burial in Oakwood Cemetery, Cisco, was under the direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home, Rising Star.

Born April 17, 1879, in Scio, N. Y., Mr. Smith's career spanned some of the most exciting and colorful years of the oil industry. He began his career in the Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia oil fields at the turn of the century. In situations where initiative and enterprise were daily requirements, Mr. Smith won early recognition for his skill and inventiveness. He is credited with the discovery of "repressuring" whereby waste gas is re-injected into depleted wells to increase oil production.

Mr. Smith was sent to Texas in 1920 by the South Penn Oil Company, now Standard, to work in the booming new central Texas oil fields. During the years of his activity here he was responsible for much drilling and production in Rising Star, Sipe Springs, Pioneer, Cisco and Ranger.

After retirement from the oil business he became Rising Star city secretary from 1945 to 1949. During the latter years of his life he lived in retirement at his residence, 114 Joyce Street.

He was a long-time member of the First Methodist Church of Rising Star, serving as a member of the board of stewards, a choir member and promoter of musical activities.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, Leo, of Detroit, Mich.;

"LA ESTRELLITA" STAFF

One of the most important groups in our high school is the annual staff. Everyone is always anticipating the arrival of our annuals weeks before they are due; yet these students seldom stop to consider all the work necessary in planning and making up an annual. The annual staff is perhaps the hardest working group in the school because of the fact that their work is never finished; they must work throughout the year to produce a book with a clear picture of the whole year.

Editor Sherry Jones and Co-Editor Becky Nowlin have spent many hours planning and laying out the current year book. Sherry has attended annual school two years, while Becky and Charlene Vermillion, Business Manager, have attended these workshops one year. With the help of Judy Rutherford and Julie Watkins, snapshot editors, many pictures have been planned and taken in addition to the pictures taken by the school photographer. Our yearbook is financed by advertising from the local businesses. This matter is taken care of by Sandra Teague and Sharolyn Roach, our advertising editors. The responsibility of seeing that everything is carried on properly and efficiently belongs to Mrs. C. A. Claborn, our "La Estrellita" sponsor.

These eight people are faced with the responsibility of presenting the activities of the entire student body in a clear and accurate manner. Work was begun on the 1965 "La Estrellita" on August 9, when Becky and Sherry attended planning sessions at Texas Tech; the work will not be finished until May when the annuals are delivered. The importance of a capable annual staff should be evident; the great responsibilities must be fulfilled in order that the yearbook will be delivered in May with the memories of every student clearly pictured. The "La Estrellita" is a memory book, a history book, a picture book, and a lasting symbol of the 1964-1965 school year.

This May when everyone is thumbing through the 1965 annual, let us hope that some of these students will stop to consider the many hours of work, time, and effort necessary to produce such a book.

KNOWLEDGE COMES BUT WISDOM LINGERS

This is the big day! Senior term themes and book reports are due! It has been a very busy week.

In our Senior English class we have been studying George Gordon, Lord Byron; everyone enjoyed the poem, "The Prisoner of Chillon."

In chemistry we have been working in the lab; the pop tests are still keeping us on our toes. The math students are making graphs and some are finding it harder than they expected. It seems everyone has his own different way of doing it!

The senior typing students are working on units and are settling down from last week's speed tests. The students are able to get from 57 to 65 words per minute but have 8 to 12 mistakes!!!

This Saturday, the senior students who plan to go to college are taking their ACT tests! We hope to have high grades from everyone.

That is all this week . . .
Beat Blanket!

LIVE AND LEARN

Hi, Readers! This is the fourth week in this six weeks' period and it is again time for book reports.

Our studies are continuing about the same. The Algebra II class is dealing with polynomials and factoring! The Homemaking girls are completing their garments and having tea parties. The chemistry class is probing into the gas laws. The typing classes are picking their way deeper into the art of typing. The civics class is furthering its study of Congress by learning to follow how a bill becomes a law.

The R.S. Wildcats are growling their way to district by traveling to Blanket to bring home a Tiger for a souvenir. Join us again next week—
Marcia Lee,
Junior Reporter

BUILDERS OF TOMORROW

We sophomores were relieved to get back into the routine of regular classes after taking aptitude tests for three consecutive mornings. The Biology students took notes on the characteristics of the grasshopper and composed a drawing, which will serve as a guide in the dissection. In World History, Mr. Nunnally gave us the opportunity to improve our averages by submitting a test which was somewhat easier than the usual. The English II class has a book report due today, and the term themes on "Julius Caesar" must be completed by tomorrow. The health pupils are discussing the proper diet to follow and how the nutrition aids in growth and repair.

The sophomore girls make up a large percentage of the basketball team, which has played two ball games previously, and our sophomore Wildcats are performing exceptionally well.

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

Last Tuesday we had our second monthly meeting. Our president, Becky Nowlin, called the meeting to order. The minutes were read and approved by our secretary, Marcia Lee, and the roll call was answered with something that each one of us values.

The program consisted of a panel discussion on values. Our panel members were Marcia Lee, Linda Ezzell, and Julie Watkins. Linda gave a report on what are values; Marcia, where our values come from; and Julie, how to acquire values. The program was very interesting and beneficial to all. Our project, "Little Sister", is getting under way and every F.F.A. member is beginning to send letters to her little sister.

F.F.A. also had a booth at the Halloween Carnival. The members divided into groups for decorating and working in the booth. We sold caramel apples and contributed our fair share to the P.T.A.

Signing off,
Pam

TAKE A SLICE OF HAM...

There is no end to the good things you can prepare with ham steaks. Now, any Southerner knows how well the smokey flavor of ham goes with the sweet smoothness of yams. Here's a dish that combines the two.

Thin slices of tasty pasteurized process cheese spread are arranged on top of ham steaks. Then the cheese is topped with a savory mixture of yams, saltine cracker crumbs, onion, and herbs. The whole dish is baked to warm the ham, melt the cheese, and brown the yam topping. Mmmmm...happy eating!!!

SOUTHERN HAM STEAKS

- 1 cup PREMIUM Saltine Crackers crumbs (about 25 crackers)
- 1/2 teaspoon tarragon leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1 (9 1/2 ounce) can yams, drained and cut into small pieces
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 pound Velveeta Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread, thinly sliced
- 2 ham steaks, cut 1/4 inch thick (about 12 ounces each)

Combine first 4 ingredients. Saute onion in butter or margarine until tender. Add to dry ingredients. Mix lightly. Arrange cheese slices over ham steaks. Top with sweet potato mixture. Place in a baking dish. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve with a green salad. Makes 4 servings.

NOT FINISHED, JUST BEGUN

The Ag. I boys experienced a big thrill last week by being initiated into the F.F.A. and becoming official Greenhand members. We received our bronze pins during the October meeting. Some of the F.F.A. members did not know their parts too well; but, altogether, we thought it was a successful meeting.

Everyone had a lot of fun at the Halloween Carnival on Saturday night. The bon-fire was also very impressive.

The Typing I students have reached Lesson 40. Some of the students have been typing from 30 to 48 words a minute.

The second six weeks' book reports are due today. We have special requirements to meet, so don't forget! The students in English I are studying a unit called "Laughing Matter." This unit is written so as to stir almost any type of humor and make you grin. In biology we are finally organized again. We dissected the grasshopper and found only a few of the things we were assigned to find.

Better watch J. G., class!!
James

DO RE MI

The stage band has had several activities. They played for May's homecoming and now are getting ready for the coronation.

The marching band is getting the half-time performance ready for Friday night.

SPORTS SCOOP

Wow! Have you ever seen any more bruised knees before? If one did not know that basketball season had arrived, you would think bruised knees were the latest fad among the girls.

We have played three games and have won them all. That is not a bad record, is it?

The girls on the A team this year are:

Seniors — Anna Ezzell and Sandra Teague; Juniors— Ginger Bshop and Brenda Harris; Sophomores — Kay Nunnally, Jenny Tarver, Sara Schmitt, Markie Roberts, Robbie Rieburg, Terrie Chambers, Pam Geye, and Karen Harris; Freshman—Debbie Medley and Shirley Smith.

'Little Gal of the Golden West' Is National March of Dimes Child

A blue-eyed lady of four years, known affectionately in her home town of Denver as the "Little Gal of the Golden West," is the 1965 National March of Dimes Child. Her name is Michaeline ("Mickey") Lea Heinicke.

Mickey symbolizes the quarter-million American infants born every year with severe birth defects on whose behalf contributors to the March of Dimes have financed programs of research, medical care and education.

Mickey's mother, Maxine, tells of the tragedy that today befalls one in ten families in the United States.

"Like tens of thousands of other couples, Paul and I were heartbroken and numb when we learned the truth a few days after Mickey was born. I am a nurse, and I had had some experience with babies born with an open spine, which was the case with Mickey. I was under no rosy illusions that this third child of ours would ever walk.

"But," asks Maxine, "do you remember that song, 'Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?' The refrain comes back to me every time I see Mickey walking on her crutches and braces, or furiously riding her hobby horse in the parlor, or doing an Indian war dance to her phonograph records. I say to myself, 'that's my little dream walking.'"

"But my husband and I would never have experienced this real-life dream without March of Dimes help."

Mickey, whose spinal rupture was repaired when she was only three days old, is now midway through a tour that precedes the coast-to-coast March of Dimes campaign in January. Although severely handicapped, this four-year-old thrives on the long days, tedious air-hops between cities, appearances at conventions and the strain of meeting Senators, Congressmen, Generals, stars of stage and screen and other public figures.

Mickey is already a veteran trouper, unimpressed by the mighty in high places. Her mother says, apprehensively: "In January, when we expect to have the privilege of visiting the White House, I know I will faint dead away when Mickey will undoubtedly bubble over to the President, 'Hiya, Podner,' or something awfully familiar and western to the First Lady."

WHOA! Aboard her pony, Mickey Heinicke, 4, Denver, 1965 National March of Dimes Child, reins in for benefit of photographers.

Birth defects are the greatest medical problem threatening the nation's children. To help provide patient aid in this area, contributors to the March of Dimes now support 50 treatment and study centers at leading medical centers and university-affiliated hospitals.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, says that the need for many more such centers is acute.

"Birth defects," he adds, "are a much more serious problem than polio ever was."

"To attain the same successful end that was achieved in eliminating polio, we need not 50 birth defects centers but fully 150 centers to help these afflicted infants and children. Funds are also needed desperately to support research inquiries into the many scientific problems involved.

"I sometimes look at the crippled Micekys around our country, at children born without arms or legs, at other tots doomed unnecessarily to lives of mental retardation—all due to birth defects; and I wonder how many of our warmhearted citizens can fail to demand and to finance a means to end this shocking destruction whatever the cost."

Wildcat Tales--

ny Shaffer, Mike Donham, Danny White, Hurby Hubbard, Jimmy Rutherford, Willie Ezzell, Dwight Carter, and Mike Strobel.
 Danny White, Danny Shaffer, Mike Donham and Terry Geyer represented our chapter at the State Convention. Each boy gave a report of the activities that went on there and what he enjoyed most. From the accounts given by them, one could expect a very lively time at the State Convention.
 In Ag. I the freshmen are still studying parliamentary procedure. A new parliamentary procedure has been adopted for the next five years. Some points in the book are quite different from those in the old book. For some of us it will probably take some extra studying to learn the new way of doing things.
 In Ag. III we have just begun the study of grass. Right at first we found some new terms which apply to vegetation. Mainly, the course concerns methods by which a farmer or rancher can establish good grazing grasses on his land. This type of course is completely new to most of us, but it looks like it will be very interesting.

FROM THE WILDCAT DEN

This week the Wildcats will clash against their old rivals, the Blanket Tigers. This will be the Cats' third district game. As everyone knows, last year the Tigers upset the Wildcats with a defeat that eliminated them from the district championship. Blanket went on to win the district. Blanket seems to be much weaker in some respects this year; while, the Wildcats have proven to be very capable of handling the ball in their first two district games. The Cats will probably be much stronger this week since some of the boys with injuries are going to be able to return to the team.
 Next week the Wildcats will have an open date and should be in full force for their last district game, which will be played against the Gorman Panthers. May the best of luck come your way this week, Cats. Get out there and skin a Tiger!

 Franz Pittman

If you're already planning your Thanksgiving menu, here are several ideas that can make this year's dinner just a little different. For an attractive centerpiece that's also good to eat, use the turkey itself. In fact, use two turkeys. There's such a variety of sizes now available that you can choose a pair of birds that are, just the right size for your Thanksgiving dinner. Try fryer-roasters weighing from 4 to 9 pounds. There'll be more small birds available this year than last.

Two turkeys lined up on a serving tray simply garnished with carrot curls and parsley will draw comments from even your youngest guests. Then, give them an added surprise—a different stuffing inside each bird.

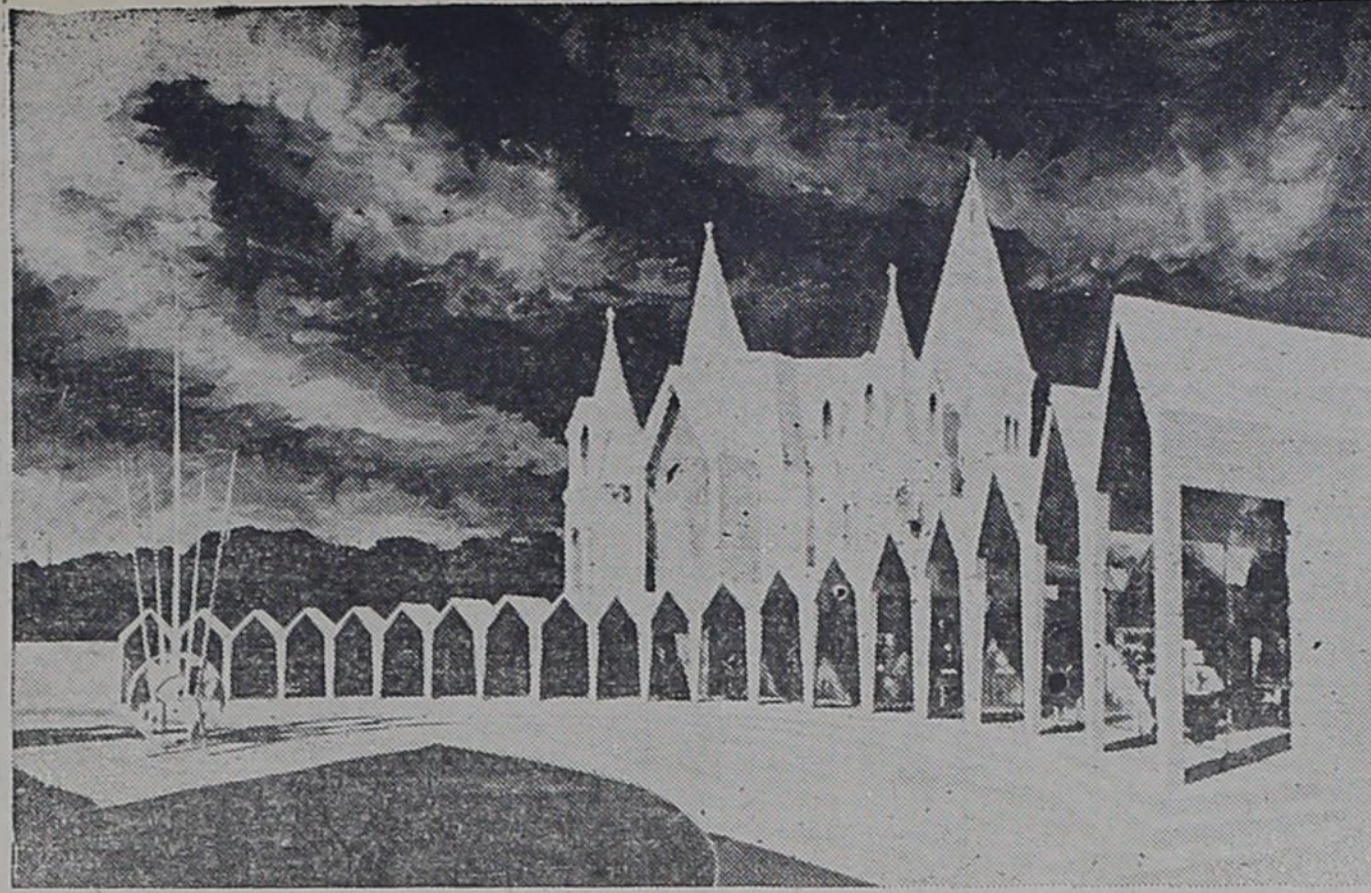

Bread stuffing is always a favorite. Or, you can start with this old reliable then let your imagination run wild — adding apples, chestnuts, giblets, oysters, sausage, even prunes. If you want to make a completely different dressing, try rice stuffing, a cranberry stuffing, or a cracker custard filling. To set off the fine flavor of the turkey, serve a frozen salad of cranberries and frozen orange juice. Take a 6-ounce can of frozen orange concentrate, a can of cranberry sauce, ½ pint heavy cream, whipped, 2¼ cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Put them all together and freeze in paper dessert cups or a decorative mold.

For maximum food value in turkey, look for dark green leaves.

Charles Harrell and his brother, L. E. Harrell of Cleburne and Homer Harrell of Bangs visited their mother, Mrs. Nealy Stewart, who is a patient in a hospital in Wynnewood, Okla. They were accompanied by their aunt, Mrs. Nettie Hickman. Mrs. Stewart was somewhat improved Sunday, Oct. 25.

J. N. and Charles Childers have returned from a fishing trip to Whitney dam.

Football—

Frazier Clark, place-kicking Rising Star guard whose 40-yd. field goal won the game with Bangs a week before, can be credited with at least one defensive play that probably saved a May touchdown when, as the only Wildcat defender in the zone, he dropped Rasberry behind a screen of blockers bent on escorting the fine May quarterback to the promised land.

DID A GOOD JOB

Offensively, Danny White, Wildcat reserve quarterback, was the man of the evening. Danny, substituting for the injured Terry Gey, who was held out of play for most of the game, handled the ball well, passed effectively, if rarely, in the face of Tiger red-dogging, and kept a generally cool head. He was ably assisted in his chores by Danny Wooley, Rex Long and Kenny Butler in the backfield, and by Larry Duggan at the end.

The Wildcats, by dint of rushing the passer, were able to contain a very fine passing offensive of the May team, as the May team was equally able to do with the Rising Star offensive.

Rasberry, Fred Fisher, Bill Lee and Charles Markham, in the Tiger backfield were fast and constantly threatening, while Cooter Moore was equally dangerous in his pass catching ability.

The May line of Troy Stewart, Jerry Finley, Junior Smith, Burl Windham, Billy Shepard, Eddie Tschler, and Moore matched the Wildcat line of Larry Duggan, Dick Goldston, Garry Duggan and Mike Donham, Frazier Clark, Russell Botts and John Hutchinson, both offensively and defensively so that most of the game was a see-saw contest in midfield.

Both teams made six first downs. May completed four passes out of ten attempts, for 41 yards while the Wildcats completed only two for 26.

The Wildcats, by virtue of heavy Tiger losses in foiled passing attempts, held a much greater advantage in yards gained running.

Each team drew three penalties for 25 yards.

Rising Star Graduate Works With Boys

Jerrell Bible, a 1959 graduate of Rising Star High School, has been employed for almost two years with the Salesmanship Club of Dallas. The club is an organization of Dallas business men with a membership of over 400.

A principal project of the club is to sponsor rehabilitation program for boys in which Mr. Bible serves as a psychological counselor.

Mr. Bible was to leave Wednesday with a group of ten boys on a six-week, 900-mile round trip down the Red and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans, La. The trip will be completed during the second week in December.

On his return, Mr. Bible expects to fly to Mexico City for an international seminar on underprivileged youth.

He is still engaged in collegiate studies leading to his master's degree in child guidance which he hopes to complete within the next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pringle of Rochester were here Monday to visit friends and to attend the funeral of L. R. Smith, Sr.

Carl Weathers New Member of Naval Reserve

Carl Allen Weathers of 1115 Santa Clara Drive, Brownwood, is a new member of U. S. Naval Reserve Surface Division 8-40, having taken the oath of allegiance as a military reservist in ceremonies at the regular meeting this week. He was given the oath by Lt. Alton R. Goddard, commanding officer.

Weathers, 24, is a member of the Brownwood City Police Force where he has served for the past two years. He is a native of Rising Star where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Weathers, lived for many years. They now reside at 3512 3rd Street in Brownwood.

Weathers is a veteran of five years in the U. S. Army Reserve, including 16 months on active duty. He is married. He finished high school at Rising Star and attended Howard Payne College in Brownwood for two years before joining the police force.

Lt. Goddard said that as a Naval Reservist Weathers will attend weekly drills from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. every Wednesday, for which he will receive a day's pay. He will be assigned to duty aboard ship or at a shore station two weeks each year.

The Brownwood Naval Reserve Unit, which has its own building on the Howard Payne College campus is composed of officers and men from throughout this region. The unit is part of the nation's military ready reserve. Pay billets are open for a few more men, Lt. Goddard said. He invited anyone interested to visit the Navy building any Wednesday night or weekday.

Front of Agnews Store Gets Modern Look

E. F. Agnew and Sons Grocery presents a new and really "up town" front this week after the installation of a glass and aluminum entrance and brick walls and casement windows instead of the former plate glass front. The new entrance with its big aluminum and glass door replaces the former inset door and gives much room and convenience at the front.

people are good people, generous and hospitable. But they can be maligned and misrepresented by a few contemptible characters who in their actions, if not their published faith, subscribe to a philosophy which has enslaved the communist world, where there can be only one party, one candidate and one way to vote.

Where there is no freedom, no liberty of choice, there can be no prosperity of any sort! A nation or a community which cannot endure and respect diversity, which cannot abide competition or challenge, is one that has lost its creativity and is doomed to live upon its own diminishing fat until it dies. It cannot attract new and virile citizenship; even its own youth desert it for happier fields of self-expression and opportunity.

During the campaign the Record took no editorial stand on the candidates. Perhaps it was because we felt there was really very little choice that could be made other than in generalities. We ran some advertisements for both candidates which were paid for by supporters of the two. We have space for sale.

In our years in Eastland county—since July, 1924, to be specific—we have been involved in some bitter political battles. We have always tried to respect the rights of those who disagree, to be generous in victory and self-respecting in defeat. We've never hidden behind a hood, or a can of spray paint or slunk in darkness to malign an opponent or oppose an opinion. We never will!

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

Does your Community Development Program include these basic steps?

Recent WTU advertising has outlined some of the basic community development elements which are widely considered essential in community growth. They are summarized here again to give communities an opportunity to check their local development plans.

- ... The Community Survey, an inventory of both favorable and unfavorable community resources and growth factors.
- ... Community Survey Analysis, where growth factors are continually being assessed and evaluated.
- ... The Industrial Foundation, which provides community-wide financing for the land, brick and mortar required for new industry.
- ... Community Leadership, the organized energy, effort and manpower essential for sound economic growth and development.

WTU Area Representatives will provide growth-conscious communities with information about these elements or about a complete development program. Request this service through your local WTU manager.
