

"PLEDGE THE PRESIDENT" JULY 28TH, 1918

BULLETIN OF SELECTION BOARD

1. Two men have registered since registration day, the 5th instant. The first, Frank Smith, of San Saba, registered on the 12th, and the second, Gordon Moore Taylor, also of San Saba, registered on the 15th. This brings the total registration to 103 men.

2. One of the men who were drafted by this Board under Call 383 and sent to Camp Travis on the 27th ultimo was rejected at the Camp on account of not being qualified for general military service. The draftee in question was Grover Cleveland Wallace, of San Saba. Another registrant will later be drafted to take his place in the quota.

3. Under special induction calls Nos. 595 and 683, Warren Ben Lewis, of Richland Springs, and William Andrew Coss Cowart, of Bowser, were inducted into the military service on the 14th instant and that date entrained for the Texas A. & M. College, College Station, where they will receive instruction as auto mechanics.

4. Under special induction call No. 569, Andrew Clay Walker, of Cherokee, and Robert Benjamin Boykin, of Ft. Worth, will be inducted on the 19th instant and on that date entrained for Camp Mabry, Texas, where they will receive instruction as auto mechanics. Boykin will be entrained by the Tarrant County Board at Ft. Worth.

5. As announced in the bulletin for last week, general induction call No. 668 is now current, the movement of men thereunder to cover five days beginning the 24th instant. This county will furnish 25 men in this movement. The exact date that they are to be entrained has not yet been given this Board.

6. The "Work or Fight" regulations recently promulgated by the War Department have been received. They are too lengthy to be reproduced in the local newspapers, but a copy of same are always to be found at this office for the inspection of all concerned and a copy of same has been placed on the bulletin board at this office. The first section of the regulations in question reads as follows: "Section 121A. Duty to Report Facts Concerning Registrants Who are Idlers or Engaged in Certain Occupations. It shall hereafter be the duty of all persons connected with the administration of the Selective Service Law and Regulations and of all citizens, to report to the nearest Local Board all facts which may come to their knowledge concerning registrants who are idle or who are engaged in any occupation or employment defined and described in these Regulations or any amendments thereof as nonproductive occupations or employments."

From the foregoing it will be seen what the duty is of all citizens under these regulations; therefore, all citizens should inform themselves as much as possible in the premises and fulfill such duty to the best of their ability. In the bulletin for next week, further excerpts from the Regulations will be given.

7. There will be found in the local papers for this week an article written by Provost Marshal General Crowder that appeared in a late issue of the Official Bulletin that is issued by the Government.

This article contains much information of interest and value and we are calling special attention to same at this place.

TEXAS CAVALRY TO PATROL THE BORDER

BOTH BRIGADES TO BE FEDERALIZED AS SOON AS THEY CAN BE ISSUED EQUIPMENT

Washington, June 14.—Owing to the necessity of releasing the regulars on the Rio Grande for other service, it was announced today that the first and second brigades of cavalry of the new Texas National Guard would be mustered into Federal service as soon as they can be equipped and assigned to patrol duty along the Rio Grande. The announcement came following a conference with Secretary of War Baker and Gen. March, chief of staff, by Adjutant General Harley of Texas, Senator Sheppard and Representatives Garrett, Garner and Buchanan and Major Sullivan of Texas.

General Harley stated tonight that the force comprised approximately 9,000 men and it is assumed that the brigade of infantry now being recruited will be similarly accepted as soon as ready.

At the War Department it was stated that horses, clothing and other equipment would be ready within a short time. The organizations are now taking preliminary training at home stations. The Militia Bureau has recommended that the two brigades be sent to a cantonment in Texas for intensive training. If this is not done, General Harley said, an officers' training camp would be established at the expense of the State.

The force is to be mustered in as brigades, which means that the organizations are to retain their officers.

Brigadier General Jacob Wolters of Houston commands the first brigade and Brigadier General R. H. McDill of Dallas the second.

State Wide Pro Law To Supersede Zone Law After the 25th

Austin, Texas, June 9.—The statutory prohibition law which will become effective June 26 will supersede the zone law. In many respects the statutory act is not as drastic as the zone law, as the former permits the shipment of liquor into prohibited territory or zone area for scientific purposes. Under the statewide act a person also may carry intoxicants into prohibition territory, provided they are for his own personal use.

Information was given out that Jas. E. Ferguson will be here himself some time soon to address the voters of this county.

WOMEN TO VOTE MUST REGISTER

LATEST RULING OF ATTORNEY GENERAL LOONEY

The latest ruling given out by attorney general Looney is that it would "be a safe course for all tax collectors to provide for the registration of women who desire to register, and issue registration receipts to those who reside without, as well as those who reside within, cities." He admits there may be some error in his last decision in which he stated that women residing in towns with less than 10,000 population would not be required to register, and says that all women to be on the safe side of the question and to avoid any strifes should secure cards from their tax collector and register. The time of registration will be from June 27 to July 12 and the place will be in the Tax Collector's office.

The women of this county should grasp this opportunity they have been afforded and present themselves at the tax collector's office to secure these registration cards and also at the ballot box, thereby indicating their willingness to be of service at this most critical period in history.

"Manless Wedding" Is A Success.

"The "Manless Wedding" that we have been advertising for the last two weeks was staged last Thursday night at the Court House and was a grand success. As large a crowd as was ever congregated in the court house was present for the ceremony. Charlie Chaplin and Miss Mary Pickford were united in matrimony, Mrs. W. A. Martin representing the former, and Mrs. Elton Noble the latter. There were no men whatever in the wedding, but their parts were well represented. Misses Willie Belle Harris and Zaida Beveridge were father and mother respectively of the bride and Misses Francis Harris and Thelma Carson were father and mother respectively of the groom. Two of the most interesting guests at the wedding were the Pickford twins, Miss Louise Urquhart and Mrs. Joe Clark. Their part was played to perfection and their old black nurse, aunt Jemima, was, to everybody's amazement discovered to be Mrs. C. T. Jones. There were many popular guests at the wedding, including "Mutt and Jeff," represented by Mrs. R. L. Peisker and Miss Francis Sullivan, "Maggie and Jiggs," represented by Mrs. A. Woods and Miss Mary Carr. A military escort was presented at the wedding and was composed of General Pershing and his staff, represented by Miss Armour Walters and a crowd of small girls, and General St. John Greble, represented by Miss Helen Thieme. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Sheebang, in the form of Miss Helen Lidstone, Miss Marjorie Kelley, representing Billy Sunday, performed the ceremony in a very becoming style. The Symphony Orchestra furnished music for the occasion and had as their leader Miss Armour Leigh Burleson.

This has been one of the best entertainments that has ever been staged in this city in quite a while, and was evidenced by the appreciative audience. A large sum of money was taken in and all proceeds were donated to the local Red Cross chapter.

Airplanes Reported Seen Flying Over.

T. A. Kincaid was in town Thursday of last week from his ranch near Wallace Creek and reported to us that a squadron of aeroplanes, including five machines, flew over his pasture the day before. Presumably the aeroplanes were on their way from Taliferro field at Fort Worth to Kelly Field at San Antonio. Mrs. John McDowell and two little boys, of El Paso, were visiting in Mr. Kincaid's home and being accustomed to the sight of aeroplanes the two boys sighted them and reported them to the rest of the folks. Mr. Kincaid and a number of other people were out in the former's pasture and heard the hum of the motor, but expecting everything but an aeroplane they were unable to discover from whence the noise was coming. Those that saw the planes report that there were five of them, three flying together and two more immediately behind them. Aeroplanes are flying all over the country now, and our opinion is that the time is approaching when an aeroplane will be as common as an automobile.

In accordance with the Proclamation issued by the President of the United States and that promulgated by the Governor of the State of Texas, designating June 28th, 1918, A. D., as National War Savings Day and summoning all wage earners and taxpayers, male and female, of the Union to meet together at 2:00 o'clock on the afternoon of said day at the school houses of their several school districts, then and there to pledge the greatest amount of their savings to be invested the remainder of the year in War Savings Stamps; therefore,

I, W. A. Smith, Mayor of the City of San Saba do hereby proclaim and designate the said 28th day of June, 1918, A. D., as National War Savings Day in the City of San Saba, and do solemnly call upon all the people of the said City of San Saba to be present at said meetings and then and there to make their pledges as required by the Presidential proclamation, which calls upon the people of the State of Texas to save and invest $91,000,000 in War Savings Stamps, their savings to be accomplished by the curtailment of unnecessary expenditures of money so that goods and services, needed in such vast quantities for the winning of the war, may be conserved. The material needs necessary to the successful prosecution of the war can be met only by the people of this Nation denying themselves customary but needless expenditures.

Therein fail not. The United States Treasury Department has issued instructions that the officers of such meetings shall list all persons in their districts who fail to attend said meetings and that said list of absentees shall be forwarded to the State Director of the National War Savings Committee and thence to the Secretary of the National Treasury Department. In the performance of his duty June 28th, 1918, let no citizen of San Saba fail.

WITNESS my hand this the 14th day of June, 1918.

RED CROSS ANNOUNCEMENT

When the war is over and your son (or it may be your neighbor's son for that matter) comes with an empty sleeve and sits down to tell you all about it, the conversation may run something like this: "Son, tell me how you were wounded."

"It was during one of those fierce battles which you read about in the papers. I was in the very thick of the fight. The command came to go over the top and along with the whole company I went. While we were on no man's land many of our company fell, some dead, some wounded. A machine gun fire struck my arm and shattered the bone. I dropped into a shell hole and stayed there two days. It was early morning when I was hit. The blood flowed until I was weakened down. I tried to bind it up with my good hand the best I could. The first night they failed to find me. They found a good many of the other wounded but did not find me. The fighting continued most all night. The next day the rifle shots and bombs whizzed over me but I was too nearly exhausted to be very sensible of the carnage about me. I was so weak and hungry. My arm was sore and the sun was hot. Toward night the fighting closed and as soon as darkness came they made a diligent search for the wounded and located me about ten o'clock. They took me to the hospital and gave me something to eat. I do not know much about what went on for the first few days. But when I came to myself they had removed my arm and had dressed the wound and were doing all that tender nurses and skillful doctors could do. I was very low for weeks and weeks. Then I began to get better. I am glad to even be here now. "I do not regret being wounded. I cheerfully bare it all even when I did not think I would ever get out of that hole I did not resent it for our cause was a just one and I was not ashamed to die for it. "But mother, there was one thing that I did not really enjoy. There was no necessity for it in the first place. And that was that there were not sufficient bed-shirts and bandages for me to have a change as often as I needed it. The nurses were not to blame, I knew that. They would have given me a change every day if they could. The trouble was there were not enough supplied. It was what prolonged my sickness and brought me so near death's door. As I lay there I could not keep from wondering if the people were doing their whole duty at home. You see there were literally hundreds of thousands of us wounded at the same time.

"It did seem that when we had bared our breasts to the enemy's guns for the sake of home and country that the people at home could have provided the necessities for our wounded and sick bodies.

"Mother did you do your full duty in the Red Cross work?"

"No, son, I er-r-r-r-r I was not very well a good deal of the time. Well, I was not to say sick, but it was so hot—and—and—well, I didn't—I didn't think about it being so bad as that. There was a good deal of work done here. Some of the other ladies worked hard. If I had thought about it being so bad as you tell I guess I could have done more than I did."

"Well, mother, I certainly did suffer on account of somebody's neglect."

Who is that embarrassed woman? Does she really live at San Saba?

My dear woman, if you are not doing your full duty in the Red Cross work your neighbors are reading this and thinking of you and applying it to you.

OUTCOME OF STRUGGLE MATTER OF DAYS

Latest dispatches indicate that the Austrian offensive along the Italian front has accomplished nothing in the way of territorial gains. The Austrians are making fierce attacks along the Piave and apparently see that their only hope of success is in enlarging their gains across this river. They have decided to abandon their efforts to push back the allies in the mountainous regions and to concentrate on the flat grounds between the mountains and the Adriatic. Reports indicate that they have about one million men, in addition to the normal force which has been holding the line for a year or more, opposed to the Italians. Officials at Rome are of the opinion that the main blow has not yet been struck and that a new offensive on the western front will be made with it.

Review of Work Under Draft Act

In a late number of the Official Bulletin that is published by the Government, Provost Marshal General Crowder issued a statement in regard to the work accomplished under the Selective Service Law during the first year it has been in force. The statement is given below, and it will be seen that General Crowder gives an interesting and instructive review of the administration of the Draft Act. In view of the fact that the act has intimately touched at least one out of every ten homes of this nation and has indirectly concerned the vast majority of the remainder, the following state is due to meet with the widest attention.

War Department,
Office Provost Marshal General,
Washington

The Provost Marshal General has sent to all the governors for publication to local and district boards the following telegram:

"One year ago occurred the first registration for military purposes of the young manhood of the Nation. Ten million men responded in a day. This accomplishment was nothing short of marvelous. The task of utilizing this enormous force seemed unachievable. But the work of classification of this great mass of man power in such a way as to permit of its organization and moulding into an effective army was intrusted to 4,663 local boards and 156 district boards, constituting a force of nearly 15,000 of the leading citizens of every community, who, assisted in their work by more than 100,000 equally patriotic volunteers, have performed a work that challenges the attention and excites the admiration of all our people.

"Well may we pause today, while another million of our youths enter the lists, and survey the results of the year's work. Each registrant has been examined and his availability for military service has been determined. In other words, these millions of men have been classified in such a manner that the Nation may now call for them to come forward into the Army. No call can be so large that it will not be filled immediately, whether the number be such as may be filled by those who have been found to stand in the first rank of availables or so great that the men standing in the second, third, or fourth ranks of availability must go forward. In other words, all these millions of men who one year ago were an inert mass have become a mobile army. Each has found his place and each in his proper turn has marched or awaits the order to march.

"These results could not have been accomplished except through the devoted and unselfish labor of patriots. The local and district boards have scored an unprecedented triumph and have earned the undying gratitude of the Nation. Their achievement is one of the great successes of the war. They have already sent into camp, including those under order for June mobilization, an army of more than a million and a half men. They have already produced as soldiers one man out of six registrants, and the world stands in profound astonishment as it views this accomplishment.

"Statistically stated, the local boards have sent and are sending their registrants to camp in the following numbers: September, general, 296,678; October, general, 163,644; November, general, 35,721; December, general, 20,320. Total furnished to January 1, 1918, 516,363. January specialists, 2,024; general, 21,264. Total, 23,288. February, general, 78,672; specialists, 5,107. Total, 83,779. March, general, 121,915; specialists, 10,569. Total, 132,484. April, general, 166,343; school, 7,334; specialists, 700. Total, 174,377. May, general, 345,862; school 10,175; specialists, 17,026. Total, 373,063. Total furnished to June 1st, 1918, 1,303,354. June, general, 252,468; schools, 25,073; specialists, 14,813. Total, 292,354; or a grand total of 1,595,708.

"Compensated poorly, if at all, except by the gratitude and effection of their neighbors and of the Nation at large, the boards labored incessantly through the enervating heat of last summer, only to find a still greater task awaiting their unceasing devotion throughout the rigors of the following winter. Then having accomplished the classification, they found themselves confronted with the mobilization of millions of men, and accurately and promptly they have performed and are performing this labor.

"Much work yet remains. Today the new men of 21 are being registered and must be speedily classified. On the 1st of next month the local and district boards will be invested with the still further responsibility of preventing idleness and of unproductive employment which is not effective to the Nation in the emergency. Some boards will review their work and correct those inequalities which have been unavoidable in so tremendous an undertaking.

"The Nation, however, with full confidence in the men who have performed these great tasks in the past, faces the future without foreboding. The splendid work of our local and district boards and of the other great volunteer army of assistants has filled us with admiration. They have been tried and found true, and so long as this war may last our people are happy in the complete assurance that this great organization will not fail the Nation.

E. H. Crowder.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

IT'S RAINING NOW

That money you have laid away for a "rainy day"—wouldn't you give every nickel of it to keep a Hun's knife away from your boy's throat?

Well, the Hun wants to get here with his knife—and the "rainy day" is here—its raining now, raining bbombs and shrapnel upon our boys "over there."

You don't have to fight, but—Your son does, or your brother who is now across the way, or the kid now in khaki to whom you used to give pennies a short time ago.

The Meaning of War Savings Stamps

(By Arthur M. Howe, of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.)

It is a mistake to look upon War Savings Stamps as small change gleaners intended only to raise a few of the innumerable millions needed to finance the great undertaking to which we are committed. We do not measure the value of these investment mediums by the amount of money so obtained. We measure it rather by the universal nature of the appeal which the stamps make, an appeal that brings the message and the meaning of the war to every individual of thinking age in the United States of America as a side enterprise or as something that appeals mainly to children totally miss the purpose behind a plan which is one of the best thus far evolved for war purposes. In the last analysis the selling of these stamps is the fitting of the whole nation to sustain the burden of the war. It is the application to war finance of the principle of universal service. It aims to enlist all of the American people in direct support of the gallant minority among them who have answered the call to arms and prepared themselves for the firing line.

This war will be won by steady, persistent endeavor rather than by spurts and spasmodic exertion. We have had great and admirable outbursts of effort in Liberty Loan campaigns and later we shall witness sudden and tremendous efforts in battle. But we rely upon something else as the mainspring of our war enterprise. That something else is the steady and sustained expenditure of national energy at all times and under all conditions. That alone makes decisive victory possible in battle. The buying of War Savings Stamps, systematically and continuously, corresponds to the work done in the trenches and behind the lines "there is nothing of importance to report." It is like the work of the sailors on vigil in the danger zone during the long days when they only watch and wait for submarine attack. It is like the quiet, steady beat of the heart as it stores up the reserve of force and energy that responds when the call for extra exertion comes.

Again, the buying of Stamps at frequent and regular intervals makes for that national thrift, without which we could not hope to win. There are not enough rich men in America to buy victory, even if we confiscate all their wealth. The war cannot be won merely by imposing heavy taxes. It can be won only by the united effort of all the people helping with every resource at their command. The War Savings Stamps supply the final and conclusive answer to the question: How can we help?

MRS. LINAM HAS GAINED 27 POUND BY TAKING TANLAC

"I Now Enjoy Better Health Than I Have in Years" She Declares

"I now enjoy better health than I have in years and I can't refrain from letting my friends and others know how thankful I am for what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. E. N. Linam of 2310 Chester Street, Little Rock, Ark., recently, in one of the most remarkable statements yet published in connection with the "Master Medicine."

"In the winter of 1916," Mrs. Linam continued, "I was taken with a severe cold and all the winter I continued to go down. I had no appetite, kept losing weight and in March was completely broken down. I couldn't sleep for coughing and had to sit up in bed most all night. I was extremely nervous and weak, felt tired all the time and everything I ate soured on my stomach. I fell off nineteen pounds in seven weeks and was getting worse so rapidly that my family and friends, as well as myself, saw no hope of my recovery."

"My husband brought home a bottle of Tanlac in June, 1916, and after I took about half of it I began to eat and my food stopped souring on my stomach. After finishing my first bottle I could eat anything at any time without it hurting me in the least. At the end of my third week I had gained five and one-half pounds and had improved until I was able to take a trip to Texas. My husband sent me my Tanlac by mail and I kept taking it and picking up from three to four pounds every week until all my troubles were gone and my weight was increased from one hundred and thirteen pounds to one hundred and forty—making an actual gain of twenty-seven pounds. I don't only give Tanlac credit for my splendid condition, but I really believe it has saved my life, and my family and friends all agree with me."

Tanlac is sold in San Saba by Keyser & Daniel, in Locker by J. F. Coffee, in Richland Springs, by D. J. Chapman, in Cherokee by Cherokee Drug Co., and in Chappel by C. P. January & Son.

Want to Feel Just Right?

Take an NR Tonight

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "lousy" headachy, tired, don't-know-what's-the-matter feeling will be gone—you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your over-worked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Pills, oil, salts, calomel and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only force the bowels and prod the liver.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening these organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what a relief! You'll be surprised to find how much better you feel—brighter, better every way. If habitually or stubbornly constipated, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then you'll not have to take medicine every day. Just an occasional NR Tablet after that will be sufficient to keep your system in good condition—keep you feeling your best.

KEEP FAITH WITH YOUR BOY OVER THERE

When your boy was so little that all the world was a foreign country to him, he trusted you to take care of him. You sent that boy to school and to play and on your little errands, and with implicit faith he did your biddings.

Now we have sent your boy or your neighbor's boy out into a foreign land, into terrors that we cannot even know and his faith has not faltered. He knows we will do our part, and we know he will do his.

Are we keeping the faith? Are we scrimping and saving and giving to help our boys do the thing that humanity has asked of them, and to help them come back to us sane and whole?

Presidential Proclamation calls for War Savings Pledges

By proclamation the President of the United States has authoritatively summoned all adult males and females to solemnly pledge to the Government the greatest amount they can save and invest in United States Government War Savings Stamps. They have been summoned to make their pledges between now and June 28, National War Savings Day. The proclamation provides that all adult males and females are to meet at appointed places in their school districts June 28, National War Savings Day, and, even though they have already made their pledges as they should have done, they are at these meetings to re-affirm their War Savings Stamp pledges to the President on the official Government pledge card which will be furnished them for that purpose.

Pledges for War Savings Stamps made before June 28, National War Savings Day, should be turned over to the County Chairman of the National War Savings Committee or to one of the local representatives of the National War Savings Committee, according to the instructions of the Treasury Department.

In addition to notification by publication, every adult male and female will be authoritatively summoned through the mails to attend the June 28 meetings. Responsibility for attendance upon these meetings rests wholly upon the individual.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES—GREETING:

This war is one of nations—not of armies, and all of our one hundred million people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this nation is to play its full part in the conflict. The problem before us is not primarily a financial problem, but rather a problem of increased production of war essentials and the saving of the materials and the labor necessary for the support and equipment of our army and navy. Thoughtless expenditure of money for nonessentials uses up the labor of men, the products of farms, mines and factories and overburdens transportation, all of which must be used to the utmost and at their best for war purposes.

The great results which we seek can be obtained only by the participation of every member of the Nation, young and old, in a National concerted thrift movement. I therefore urge that our people everywhere pledge themselves as suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury to the practice of thrift; to serve the Government to their utmost in increasing production in all fields necessary to the winning of the war; to conserve food and fuel and useful materials of every kind; to devote their labor only to the most necessary tasks, and to buy only those things which are essential to individual health and efficiency, and that the people, as an evidence of their loyalty, invest all they can in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps.

The securities issued by the Treasury Department are so many of them within the reach of everyone that the door of opportunity in this matter is wide open to all of us. To practice thrift in peace times is a virtue and brings great benefit to the individual at all times; with the desperate need of the civilized world today for materials and labor with which to end the war, the practice of individual thrift is a patriotic duty and a necessity.

I appeal to all who now own either Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps to continue to practice economy and thrift and to appeal to all who do not own Government securities to do likewise and purchase them to the extent of their means. The man who buys Government securities transfers the purchasing power of his money to the United States Government until after this war, and to that same degree does not buy in competition with the Government.

I earnestly appeal to every man, woman and child to pledge themselves on or before the 28th of June to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible the securities of the Government, and to do this as far as possible through membership in War Savings Societies. The 28th of June ends this special period of enlistment in the great volunteer army of production and saving here at home. May there be none unenlisted on that day.

JIM, WHERE DID YOU GET IT?

(From Houston Post)

Say, Jim, don't you "hear them gentle voices calling" and don't you hear what they are saying?

Far away on the Llano Estacado the tireless winds are murmuring through the fields of waving grain and their ceaseless song is, "Jim, where did you get it?"

Amid the stately pines of Jasper, silence might reign the solemn monarch of umbrageous solitudes were it not for the never-faulting monotony of zephyrs sobbing through the wailing branches that ominous query: "Jim, where did you get it?"

Amid the fastnesses of Palo

Pinto, where old Brazos hews its ragged pathway through the rocks, where yawning canyons crouch in their echoless gloom, waiting day after day for meridian suns to send brief shafts of light into their darkness to wake the noonday chorus of bats and owls and hissingadders, "Jim, where did you get it?"

On the pathless prairies of Crosby and Haskell, the moonbeams chase the shadows and lispng breezes sway the nodding wildflowers, but that wild melody swelling from a distant tree is the voice of the mocking bird calling across the distance to Temple, "Jim, where did you get it?"

The tempest screams o'er angry waters and surging billows leap and howl and swell and roar and break at last upon the shore, while upon the wide-stretched pinions of the storm there comes the wild note of the raging sea, "Jim, where did you get it?"

The heave clouds curtain the distant firmament and angry thunders shake the cooling torrents upon the thirsty land, and ever and anon the flashing lightning's quick finger pencils upon the frowning sky in letters of flame, "Jim, where did you get it?"

The soaring eagle screams it to the clouds, the lone wolf howls it to the mocking echoes of the wilderness, the sleepless chanticleer calls it to the astral professional that moves along the shimmering highway that cleaves the arching sky, and their voices blend in the nocturnal chorus, "Jim, where did you get it?"

The Rio Grande sings it to the Mexico Gulf, the turbid tides of the swirling Red pour it into the Mississippi, the Brazos traces it in a line of winding silver upon the Texas landscape from the plains of Lamb to Brazorian dunes, the Colorado splashes it madly over the rocks of Burnet, the Trinity like a huge serpent writhes the uneven lines from the slopes of Jack down to the quiet bosom of the waiting bay, the Sabine whispers it to the Louisiana shores and all are always asking, "Jim, where did you get it?"

Out of the silence of the past's dead years from the unforgotten blood that reddened the Alamo and drenched the earth at Goliad, from the distant cannon of San Jacinto, where men gave all and nothing took, there drift down the voices of the great, "Jim, where did you get it?"

It is the plaint of the earth and air and sea and sky, it is the voiceless message from the spirit land, it is an angry call of history robed in glory to a present blotched and drabbed with shame, it glares in fiery madness upon the leering vision of men who revel in the spoil of broken faith, who thrill with the sordid lust of gold, who riot in deeds that shame a people's shattered trust, who sneer at truth and honor crushed—it is "Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin" seared upon the consciousness of an outraged people whose withering interpretation is, "Jim, where did you get it?"

Say, Jim, where did you get that $156,500, anyway?

The people of Texas want to know.

TO OWNERS OF FORD CARS

In keeping with the Policy and to comply with the requirements of the Ford Motor Co.'s Contract Beginning from date I will Operate a Strictly Ford Service Station.

As soon as practicable I will publish the prices of all Repairs, operations, in other words when you come here, you will be told what the price of your job will cost before the job is begun and will know exactly what to expect.

The prices used are prepared by the Ford Motor Co. and are in use in every Ford Service Station throughout the United States.

Nothing but Genuine Ford Parts will be used.

You will receive credit for all connecting rods, main bearings, hub flanges, magneto's, Axle housings, coils, motor blocks, when replacements are necessary (provided the parts taken from your car are genuine Ford parts, no imitation parts accepted for credit). In this connection I will add that there is quite a large quantity of imitation parts being used over the country, they are of inferior quality and poorly fitted, many cars are constantly in the repair shop because of these, many repair men use imitation Ford parts who would not think of using a spurious part on any other make of car because they think a Ford will work anyway. It will pay you to keep your car repaired with the parts that the Ford Motor Co. make, and many of these when worn are good for half their cost after serving you.

I expect to give my Personal Attention to the shop. If I have ever worked on your car, you know whether I can fix them or not.

Yours Truly,
Elton Noble.

Mistakes in Drainage.

It has been learned by experience as well as by experimental investigation that the influence of a tile drain in removing water from soil of uniform character is increased by lowering the drain. A drain laid at a considerable depth along one side of a road is better than two drains at less depth, one on each side of the road, provided the soil is of a uniform character. Unfortunately, this qualifying provision in the general statement is often forgotten, and a single line of tile is laid along one side of a road where the conditions are such that it cannot possibly perform the desired work. In a subsoil which changes from sand to a compact, fairly impervious clay at six feet, it would be unwise to install drains deeper than six feet, for otherwise they would be in material yielding very little water, and might even prove less effective than drains laid at the level of the clay surface.

Errors in Finish.

Prospective builders should plan to make their dwelling not a mere house, but a home. Indifferent looking trim should be avoided. Color in woodwork, whether stained, enameled or painted, is the keynote of taste in homelike rooms. Daintiness, warmth of tone and artistic effect are totally dependent upon the kind of wood on which the desired color scheme is carried out.

Home Town Helps

SHOULD RELY ON ARCHITECT

Common Sense Owner Will Make No Suggestions Within Province of Expert, It Is Asserted.

Architects face several hard problems in the construction of a house for a new owner. The latter believes that since the money which pays for the house is his he must be given the liberty to declare what builder is to get the job after all bids are in. The owner forgets that the architect knows more about building than he; that he is an expert in that line and for that reason the owner has hired him. The common sense owner makes no suggestions within the province of the architect, but relies on his judgment. Should the owner be allowed his own way, he would oftentimes get into hot water, says an exchange.

Naturally the owner in awarding the contract would select the lowest bidder because he is the lowest bidder. The lowest bidder may not be of sufficient financial means to meet obligations in case he is given the contract, and mechanics' liens tie up the construction of the house, making the owner the loser and not the builder. The architect, who probably knows the builder is not the proper man to build the house, advises against him. In this way the architect protects his client because he, by reason of his work, is able to discriminate between the unscrupulous and the scrupulous builders, and the financially-fitted and the builder with weak finances.

AMERICA IS MAKING TILES

Decorations in Spanish, Moorish and Other Designs of Past Centuries Add to Beauty of Homes.

In this country the making of tiles has been taken up with enthusiasm by potters. The styles vary greatly in color and texture, showing Spanish, Moorish, German, old English and other designs. The interesting way in which they may be used to decorate a modern facade is shown in a house on Nineteenth street, New York city. The tiles are set off with special refinement and brilliancy by the rough cement background.

The large panel over the door is of a pleasing, medium blue color, and the decoration is of a peacock, the whole panel being in four parts. These were taken from the Basilica of St. Apollinaris at Ravenna. Around it is a border of tiling and cement and the small tiles which ornament the ground show two swastika forms.

One of these is copied from a tile at Tyro, the other copied from one excavated at Persepolis. This doorway is further enhanced by large garden pots, one on either side. These are made of the same materials, a gray negative concrete, with tiles of historic design in dull greens and blues and browns imbedded in the material of the vase. The tulip design on one of these vases is eighteenth century German.

"Scheussliche Schiffe"

Forecast of Loathing and Scorn Which Will Be the Lot of German Seamen—The Price for Their Awful Crimes Against Humanity—The Brand of Butchers and Murderers.

(Nauticus in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce.)

Let there be no mistake about the depth of the feeling against Germany which all decent seamen entertain at this moment. It is fiercer than the worst storm that ever blew and as strong as the trade wind which comes from the southeast.

There will be strange ships on the waves—vessels flying a flag which has been hidden in canals and backwaters, where dastardly deeds are plotted for close on four full years. They will outwardly look like other ships. To all appearances they will be honest ships, but to every seaman that was not suckled by a German mother or sired by one of the ravers of brave Belgium they will be known as Scheussliche Schiffe, or horrible, abominable ships! They may fly the German flag in all its flaunting flashiness, but it will always be foul and bloody even in the pure sunlight of the Tropics.

Against the deep blue sky of summer this flag will look like an old boot on a sacred altar; the very vault of heaven will be stabbed with shame when it swims into the light of day. No one will salute it; no cherry message from cherry heart will greet it as it passes; no eye will be turned upon it from the crow's nest without a curse; it will pass along the silent highways of the world like the murderer of a little child, seeking to hide from justice. Dirty, foul, horrible and abominable, red with the blood of innocent women and children and brave men, even the cleansing ozone of God's great sea will not wash it clean in twice ten thousand years. It will stink in the nostrils of all mankind for ever and ever!

To a clean, honest sailor the sea is like a mother. The British Seamen's Union knows all about the foul murders which have been committed by German seamen, and its members will see that the full price for these awful crimes against humanity. Three so-called peace delegates have been trying to sneak away to America for some time past, but as far they have found it impossible to embark. Why? Simply because the British seamen say no. They would refuse to work a vessel if pacifists and others of like type were on board.

This shows the spirit and if further evidence were needed it can be found in the recent utterances of J. Havenlock Wilson, who has stated in public that the merchant marine masters, engineers, sailors, firemen and deck hands were fully resolved not to carry pacifists across the ocean. In addition to this, the merchant service, from the officers down to the cabin boys, have pledged themselves not to salute the German flag in any port abroad, and they will refuse to salute it, or even recognize it on the high seas.

The German papers, which undoubtedly reflect the German mind, gloat over the crimes of their U-boats much as a foul murderer gloats over his victims. They take a sort of diseased pride in such ghastly work. But the feeling of all neutral seamen is against them. Norway, since the outbreak of war, has lost 745 vessels and 946 sailors through the German butchers, and it may be taken for granted that the result has been a legacy of eternal hate. Spain, Brazil, Uruguay, every nation on earth, has suffered at the hands of the Teuton pirates, and the seamen of every nation will make them pay the bill.

At a large meeting held in Copenhagen some weeks back, whereat hundreds of officers of the Danish merchant marine were present, it was agreed unanimously that in view of the fact that the German nation had approved of the outrages committed by their U-boats against neutral seamen all association with it was impossible, and it was decided that all intercourse with German seamen must be broken off for a long time to come.

As far as this country is concerned, the punishment of German seamen may safely be left to British seamen. They know exactly what the brutes have done. They know that over 4000 British civilian men, women and children have been foully murdered by the German submarines, and they will act accordingly. For generations to come no S. O. S. will be heard when it emanates from a German ship in distress. For the next two or three hundred years German seamen will be known as the sharkmen of the sea, and something of the treatment accorded to captured sharks by fisherman in certain parts of the world will be theirs whenever opportunity affords.

In every foreign port Germans will be marked men. Every hand will be against them, and they will never see the welcome smile of a friend. In the drinking dens they will drink audibly and slowly, as is their custom, but they will drink alone. No friendly glass or pot will clink or knock merrily against theirs. They will sit apart like colored trash, and even the commonest Lascar will greet them with scorn. In all the world's great harbors they will be known as butchers and murderers—men branded through to their very souls with the mark of Cain. And on all the seas and oceans their ships will be known as Scheussliche Schiffe—low, horrible and abominable ships!

Such is the punishment for their dreadful and wicked crimes, and it has been given by the even justice of the whole of the civilized world. Let "Kultur" take heed of this and tremble for its sons, for in the days to come they will cry out for mercy. But there will be no mercy—seamen never forget and seamen never forgive, and they have looked upon their dead not once, but a hundred times.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Peacock, Mrs. Oliver and Miss Norene Hargon have returned home from a delightful visit at the homes of the McRae's in Clovis and Portales, New Mexico. They report a most excellent trip through the country in Mr. Peacock's Ford.

It is just a little short of marvelous that a trip of 1,400 miles could be made without a puncture, but that is the record made by these good people. With the exception of a little air put in one of the front tires while in Clovis the casings returned to Llano with the same air they had at the beginning of the journey.

This achievement was made all the more remarkable by the fact that on the return trip all kinds of mud and slush were encountered and for a time it seemed that the roads would be impassable, but not so; the little "Tin Henry" kept a chugging and never a stop was registered.

Mr. Peacock stated that no trouble was encountered to mar the pleasure and comfort of the trip.—Llano News.

Capt. Johnson Here.

Captain W. J. Johnson, from headquarters First Brigade Cavalry, Texas National Guard, at Houston, was here Friday and Saturday drilling and instructing the officers and enlisted of the San Saba troop. Capt. Johnson is visiting all the troops of the first brigade under General Wolters giving the men setting-up exercises and directing the officers how to continue the training. He made a fine impression on the San Saba recruits and the people generally and his visit has put additional "pep" into the men to get busy and keep busy with intensive training for the day when the troop will be called into federal service, which will be just as soon as the war department can equip the men. Capt. Johnson was formerly city attorney of Houston and is a graduate in physical training, and is also the author of "Master Methods of Physical Culture-1905."

Suit For Libel.

Waco, Texas, June 8.—Former United States Senator, Joseph Weldon Bailey filed suit in the Fifty-Second District Court, at Hamilton, today, against L. O. Peck, editor and owner of the Hamilton Record, alleging libel, and asking for $25,000 damages; $10,000 actual and $15,000 exemplary. The suit is based on editorial comment alleged to have appeared in The Record recently, regarding a new story sent from Chicago, in which Mr. Bailey was pictured as an active aid to the packers in litigation involving the Texas Oil Company, at the resumption of the United States inquiry into the industry.

Constitutional Law of The Ferguson Case

An entirely new phase of the Governor's race was presented by Judge John Lee Brooks of Dallas at the Court House last Wednesday night. The house was comfortably filled and a goodly number of women were present. The Ferguson case was discussed impassionately from a view point of constitutional law and was of equal interest to both sides of the Governor's controversy. Judge Brook's address was fair, able and complete and was heartily cheered. In opening Judge Brooks brushed aside the false issues that have been injected into the campaign by Mr. Ferguson. In the first place the University is not an issue, because that institution, under the plain letter of the law, is not under the control of the Governor of the state. The War department at Washington holds the University of Texas to be by far the most loyal and active university in the union in the war work of President Wilson. It has 3670 stars in its service flag. It has subscribed more than $100,000 to Liberty Bonds and for the Red Cross in proportion. The statistics of the U. S. Department of education show that only two American universities are more economically operated.

Ferguson's appeal to the populace to set aside the judgment of the high court of impeachment is against every principle of representative government. This is a constitutional government. The voters have no right or authority to set aside any court decision—not even the judgment of a justice of the peace. Such a procedure is revolutionary in the extreme and if followed to its end would produce anarchy like that in unhappy Russia today. The American government is founded on the theory of constitutional government and those who would violate and disregard the constitution of the state are the most dangerous enemies of the government in this world crisis. Brooks showed by a letter written by James E. Ferguson in 1912 that he was against Woorrow Wilson then and by his speech at Dallas, after war was declared against Germany, that he was against Wilson's selective draft policy last year, and then by his silence in speech and in his paper that he is, in effect, against Wilson today. He did not charge Ferguson with disloyalty but presented a ray of facts which showed that the logical result of the campaign now being waged by him will be civil strife and a weakening of Texas in helping Wilson win the war. Ferguson's efforts to array class against class in Texas during this world war was denounced in scathing terms and was loudly cheered by the crowd. Judge Brooks declared that the first consideration of every patriot in this governor's race, and in everything else, should be to win the war. The next thing should be to safe-guard Texas and make her 100 per cent patriotic, 100 per cent efficient and 100 per cent peaceful at work on the job as President Wilson asks, and thirdly and incidentally to elect a war Governor in harmony with President Wilson and all the war aims of America and her allies. Judge Brooks showed that the appeal of ex-governor for vindication on the alleged ground that a conspiracy of enemies convicted him is absolutely groundless. He showed by the records that Ferguson's friends were a two to one majority in the Senate and more than three to one in the House. His own evidence, admissions of the charges, were so clear and convincing that the best friends of the ex-governor ever had could not help voting for his conviction and impeachment. He said that Mr. Ferguson admitted that he used trust money to pay his own accounts thru the Temple State Bank and that he borrowed more money from the bank than its total capital and surplus funds.

Governor Hobby was praised for the many good laws which he recommended and the legislature passed, among which are the ten mile zone law and statutory state-wide prohibition. He asked Mr. Ferguson and his friends whether they proposed to defend these laws or whether they will advocate their repeal, if elected. Governor Hobby has done what President Wilson and the War Department asked Texas to do and that is to clean up the army camps and cantonments from the damning influences of whiskey and scarlet women. Governor Hobby is for the rights of the noble womanhood of grand old Texas. Mr. Ferguson has opposed woman suffrage and is still against the women voting in Texas. On this question Hobby stands with the national democratic convention and with President Wilson.

KEEP FAITH WITH YOUR BOY OVER THERE

When your boy was so little that all the world was a foreign country to him, he trusted you to take care of him. You sent him school and to play and on your little errands, and with implicit faith he did your bidding. Now we have sent your boy or your neighbor's boy out into a foreign land, into terrors that he cannot even know, and his faith has not faltered. He knows we will do our part if he does his.

NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS DAY

Saving to help our sons is not to be called by the ugly name of duty or sacrifice. It is love's blessed privilege.

Are we keeping the faith? Are we scrimping and saving and giving to help our boys do this thing that humanity has asked of them, and to help them come back to us sane and whole? Are we doing not only our bit, but all we can?
