BULLETIN OF SELECTION BOARD

1. In the second registration held throughout the nation last Wednesday, the 5th instant, 98 men registered in person at the office of this Board and 3 registered as absentees, making the total registration for this jurisdiction 101. This was a close approximation of the Government's estimate of 110 men for the county. All of the men registered were white and all were natives of the United States. The first person to receive his registration certificate was John Henry Brown, of San Saba, who was on hand waiting when the office opened for the day's work. The following citizens rendered much needed assistance as registrars and freely donated their services to the Government, and this Board is glad to acknowledge its indebtedness to them: Judge W. V. Dean, N. K. Lidstone, S. E. Kelley, and James Cummins, all of San Saba.

2. An alphabetical list of the names of persons who registered last Wednesday appears in this week's local newspapers. We request the public to scan this list closely and if the name of any person who was due to register is not found therein, notify this Board or any peace officer of the county without delay.

3. Each man who appeared for registration last Wednesday was informed that the Selective Service Regulations would apply as fully to him as they apply to registrants of last year. This means that all of the steps that have been taken in regard to the latter registrants will be taken relative to the new registrants; among other ones the following: Mailing questionnaires; return of questionnaires and classification of registrants; physical examination of registrants placed in Class I; and drafting of registrants found to be qualified for military service when their respective order numbers are reached.

4. Registrants of the current registration will not be given serial numbers but will have registration numbers assigned to them. The latter numbers will be found in the list referred to in paragraph 2 hereof. The War Department in the immediate future will carry out a plan whereby the order numbers of such registrants will be determined.

5. For the time being, and at least until such order numbers are determined, no registrant of the current registration may enlist in the Navy or the Marine Corps, or be individually inducted into the Army.

6. At the direction of the State Supervisor of the Selective Service Law we hereby inform registrants and the public at large that a registrant's order number fixes his position in the particular class in which he is placed as a whole and not in any subdivision of such class. Subdivisions of the five respective classes are used merely as a guide for classification and for record and statistical purposes. For example, men in Division A of Class I are not to be exhausted before men in Division B of Class I are to be used, but men in Class I taken as a whole are liable to military service according to their order numbers.

7. In a late bulletin mention was made of the fact that a registrant of this jurisdiction, Frank Will Byrd, had failed to report promptly for military duty under Call No. 383 and entrain with draftees that were sent to Camp Travis on the 27th ultimo. This will advise that this registrant has since duly reported and has been transferred for entrainment to one of the Local Boards at San Francisco, Calif., which Board will induct him as a nonwillful delinquent. This induction completes the quota of 37 men for this county under the call mentioned above.

8. No applications were received before the period closed for receiving same for induction under the special call mentioned in last week's bulletin for men qualified only for limited military service, that is Class I, Group C registrants. It remains to be seen whether or not this Board will be called upon to draft a given number of men under such call.

9. Since the issuance of our latest bulletin, the following induction calls have been announced: (1) No. 569, special induction of men to take a course in auto mechanics at Camp Mabry, Texas; men to be entrained on the 19th instant. Quota for this county, 2 men. The period for receiving applications for inductions under this call closes the 12th instant. Applications received to date, 1. If no others are received, this Board will draft a man to make up remainder of quota. (2) Call No. 595, special induction of men to take a course in auto mechanics and rough carpentering at A. & M. College, College Station, Texas; men to be entrained on the 14th instant. Quota for this county, 1 man. The period for receiving applications under this call closed on the 8th instant, with no applications filled. This Board will draft a man to fill this quota. (3) Call No. 668, a general induction of Class I, Group A, white men; date of entrainment, one of the five days beginning the 24th instant, destination, Camp Travis. This will be the heavy general movement scheduled for this month. Quota for this county under such call, 25 men. (4) Call No. 683, this being a duplicate in every respect of Call No. 595 described above, which will make the entrainment on the 14th include 2 men. Calls 569 and 595, being announced and acted on between issues of the local newspapers, were carried in special bulletins placed on the board at this office and at every post office in the county, in line with the plan described in our bulletin of last week relative to the voluntary induction call referred to in paragraph 8 hereof.

Political Speaking

Judge Lon L. Brooks, an attorney of Dallas, spoke at the courthouse here last night in the interest of Gov. Hobby. Knight Rector Jr., introduced the speaker to an audience of about 100. The burden of the speaker's theme was not only a denunciation of Gov. Ferguson, but that of his supporters also. He told of the grand jury in Burnet county summoning him before them, but as a witness before a grand jury cannot divulge his testimony, he by inuendo, left his audience to draw some horrible conclusions. He stated that he was not getting a cent for his speaking tour of the state, his only desire was to "save the country and win the war." The war will be won alright and the country will be saved too, but it will not be by the vocal solos of such hot-air artists as he is going over the country, but by the khaki-clad boys in the trenches and the horny-handed farmers at home who are producing the food with which to feed them.

The true test of efficient thrift does not lie in one's ability to do less, but in knack of securing the greatest possible value for every dollar spent. This store, through its economic policy, offers to thrifty buyers remarkable facilities for economy-facilities that are unequalled by the average store.

'Greater Values' and 'lower prices' are the incentives that this policy has created incentives that are powerful factors in the co-operation of this store with the many who in their daily routine are governed by the slogan of efficient thrift.

Whiskey is selling for $14 a quart in West Virginia. The bootleggers are getting the middleman's profit. This is entirely too much money.

Judge V. W. Grubbs of Greenville has announced for Governor. The Judge announced once before several years ago, and was challenged for a joint debate by J. Steinbaugh of Greenville and withdrew before the gabfest was pulled off. Stiny should challenge the Judge again. If he does we're going to hear it if it is pulled off in Texas.

Congressman Moore of Pennsylvania wants to tax cotton under the excess profits bill before congress. Last year is the first time in the memory of the writer that the farmer ever got what cotton was really worth. Now a congressman from the industrial centers of Pennsylvania where the really big profits are made wants to take what little the cotton farmer makes.

The Hamilton Herald reports Mr. Hoover as saying: "bewilderment is now expressed by dispensers of meat, both in public eating places and at meat markets as to how the individual is to be kept with his ration of two pounds of meat per week." The hotel and Cafe proprietors will attend to that part of the matter. If the individual get more than two pounds per week, it will be a "typographical error" on the part of the cook.

32,883 YOUTHS IN TEXAS REGISTERED
Austin, Tex., June 8.—Thirty-two thousand, eight hundred and eighty-three Texans who became 21 years of age during the past year registered with the local draft boards of Texas last Wednesday, it was announced today. Two small counties not yet reported will increase the total more than twenty-five, officials said.

Does This "Total Abstinence" Include Buttermilk Barefooted?

Senator McNealus of the Dallas Democrat prints the following in his paper:

Former Governor Ferguson says that Senator McNealus is a chronic drunkard, when, as a matter of fact, he is a total abstainer. But, of course, that is all right. Didn't McNealus vote to impeach Ferguson, and isn't any man, in order to attain his own ends, perfectly justified in disregarding the truth, honesty or any other virtue that may stand in the way?—Representative John E. Davis, who has served in the Legislature eight years with Senator McNealus, and who is a 100 per cent Prohibitionist and a candidate for re-election. But then you know John's awfully deaf, and from the above it appears that his vision is either jaundiced or he needs a specialist to work on his eyes.

Hobby man.—"It is just possible that I spoke too hastily." The curtain went down with blue lights and slow music.

Women Voters are Advised to Register

As the Star is only issued once a week, it is impossible to keep our readers posted on all the "opinions" of the Attorney General's Department concerning its construction of the suffrage law. But here is the latest "construction" and we advise all the women who want to vote in the July primary to register. By doing so you will be on the safe side, regardless of any future "constructions" of the Attorney Generals department:

Austin, June 7.—Admitting that there may be "a shadow of doubt" as to the correctness of his previous opinion that it is not necessary for all women to register, in order to vote July 27, Attorney General Looney today in a statement to Robert Maud, Travis county tax collector, says it would "be a safer course for all tax collectors to provide for the registration of women who desire to register, and issue registration receipts to those who reside without, as well as those who reside within cities."

—Pledge the President—

Another Special Draft Call.

Washington, June 8.—A school call for 931 white and 253 negro draft registrants of grammar school education was made today by the Provost marshal general upon the state of Alabama, Minnesota, Texas and the District of Columbia.

ELECTION RESULTS WILL BE KNOWN EARLIER THIS YEAR

Folks, we'll know the election results earlier the coming primary than ever before. A recent interpretation of the Terrell election law makes it imperative that the election judges keep right on counting the votes after the polls are closed until they are through with their work. Thus, the final results are sure to be known fairly early on the morning of July 28.—North Ft. Worth News.

The Food Administration has sent out through all State administrators a warning to corn, barley, and oats millers and to wholesale and retail dealers in the products that at the present prices of these grains corn meal and oat meal should be selling at least 20 per cent below the price of wheat flour and that corn flour and barley flour should be selling at least 10 per cent below wheat flour.

FAIR PRICE LISTS ON FOOD SUPPLIES

Nation Wide Move To Protect Consumers From The Food Profiteers.

Washington, June 8.—A country-wide move to reduce the cost of food to the consumer and standardize methods of compelling the observance by dealers of "fair price lists" was ordered today by Food Administrator Hoover.

Lists will be published in every county, town and city, and consumers will be asked to co-operate with officials in forcing merchants to bring their prices to a uniform level.

The administrator will establish price interpreting committees composed of wholesalers, retailers and consumers. The published lists will give the range of maximum selling prices, showing a reasonable price which will reflect the "cash and carry" stores, and a higher price representing a fair price for the "credit and delivery" stores.

The local administrator for each locality will act as chairman of the price board. Consumers will be expected to report any store charging more than the established price. One form of indirect control over the retail stores may be exercised by cutting off their supplies at the source—instructing licensed dealers not to do business with offending retailers.

OBSERVATIONS MADE.

Astronomers on Pacific Get Photographs of Eclipse.

Baker, Ore., June 8.—The predicted eclipse of the sun found scientists ready for it here. Glasses were trained to study and photograph the sun's corona and spectrum. Definite conclusions drawn from these observations will be available only after comparisons of the results attained and deductions as to their significance. The observations were declared to be successful, a slight cloudiness being the only drawback.

The expected results of plunging the world into darkness as of night were observed. Birds sought their nests and chickens went to roost. A gloom as deep as that at 10 o'clock at night enveloped the strip of country at the moment of totality. Electric lights were turned on indoors and street cars

PLATFORM OF E. B. HOUSE,
Candidate for Representative of the 114th District, Composed of the Counties of McCullough and San Saba.

To the Voters of McCullough and San Saba Counties, Comprising the 114th Representative District:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—
A Word Personal.

In asking your suffrage for the position of Representative of the 114th District allow me to say a word personal for the benefit of those who do not know me. I live 9 miles north from San Saba town on my farm. Farming has been my life work. I have lived in the precinct in which I now reside for 40 years. I have been State Revenue Agent for the past 8 years, having been appointed first under Gov. O. B. Colquitt in 1910 and have held this office continuously under every Governor since. I invite your closest scrutiny of my record as Revenue Agent and my standing among my home people.

Voters Should Rule.

I have always been taught and firmly believe that the powers of democratic governments are vested in the people and derive their "just powers from the consent of the governed," and too, that true democracy is "of the people, by the people and for the people," therefore I stand for the rule of the people. Last summer the 35th Legislature unlawfully and unconstitutionally attempted to impeach Governor James E. Ferguson, and later, this same legislature attempted to deny the people of Texas the privilege of reviewing their action, attempting the effort to keep his name off of the democratic ticket in the July primaries. The present incumbent Hon. T. J. Beasley, representative of the 114th district, voted to deny the people this right, and continues to steadfastly stand against referring this matter to the people, saying over his own signature that the people of this state are too dense to know what they want. If Ferguson receives a majority of the votes in the democratic primary July 27th, and is elected in November and if I am chosen your Representative I shall take pleasure in voting and working to the end that he be seated in accordance with the will of a majority of the people. On the other hand if any one else receives a majority in the July primary and is elected in November, I shall, to the best of my ability co-operate with him in every way consistent with good government.

Taxes on Luxuries and Non-essentials.

I am in favor of removing, as far as possible, the burdens of taxation from the masses of the people and placing them on special interests and luxuries. Therefore I am in favor of amending and enlarging the present gross tax laws as provided for in Chapter Two, Title 126 of the Revised Civil Statutes to wit: Redefining what shall constitute a terminal company and add many other luxuries and occupations to that law, and requiring these occupations doing an inter-state business to keep separate records of their in-state business.

The Homestead Law Should Remain as It Is.

There is now, and has been for several years a growing sentiment among a certain class of land speculators and money lenders, to have the Constitution so changed that the homestead of our citizenship could be ravaged by a forced sale. Sections 49, 50, 51 and 52 of Article 16 of the present Constitution exempts from forced sale, the homestead, whether it be in the city, town or country, and I am unalterably opposed to any change in said Constitution. Believing as I do, that it would be the medium by which small home owners would be at the mercy of a bunch of merciless land sharks. I am opposed to tampering with our homestead law in any way.

Irrigation Laws.

I stand "four square" for the substantial amendment of the present Irrigation Laws of Texas, that riparian owners may be protected; that no foreign corporation doing business 300 miles away can dictate the amount of water to be used by the riparian owners of this state. I am also opposed to the state granting to any individual, company or corporation, the right to impound the waters of our streams for the purpose of carrying them away through the channels of said streams, even beyond the water-shed of said waterways, to be distributed to the detriment of the land owners along the local streams.

Marketing of Farm, Ranch and Orchard Products

It has been the dream of the farmers of Texas for more than a quarter of a century that in the marketing of their products, to eliminate the middle man and save to the producer and consumer the middle man's enormous profits. Looking to that end they established through their representatives in the legislature, a Marketing and Warehouse department, which they trusted would grow and develop into a realization of their long wished for dreams and finally be made of inestimable general benefit to the state at large. This hope of the farmers was well founded for the saving to the cotton crop has run into the millions of dollars every year. The improvement in "country damage" alone has been 25 percent over the old method of marketing cotton. In connection with this department I am in favor of amending and extending the scope of the present Weights and Measures Act so as to establish a uniform system of weights and measures in this state. The producers are being systematically pilfered in short weights and measures of farm products, the totals of which runs into the millions of dollars every year. If I am elected your Representative it shall be one of the proudest acts of my official life to assist in widening the scope and usefulness of this Department for the farmers of Texas and make it one branch of the government calculated to be of immeasurable benefit to the people at large.

Educational Questions

I am in favor of maintaining a State University of the first class and I believe a $250,000,000 appropriation by the legislature and the $220,000,000 endowment the University receives annually from its school lands will maintain such an institution taking into consideration the present decreased attendance. I am heartily in favor of and will support all reasonable appropriations for the country schools of Texas. I am also in favor of the state printing its own text books and furnishing same free to all those not able to purchase them. The records show that the following rural schools in San Saba and McCullough counties have received amounts which are supplementary to the regular apportionment under the law, to-wit:

San Saba County:
Bethel	$270.00
Fairview	$230.00

Pear Valley	$500.00

Corn Creek	$360.00

Opposed to Double Taxation.

I am in favor of a law that will only require a person to pay taxes on the equity of property which he owns, and that all Vendor Lien Notes bear their proportionate rate of taxation.

Labor and Its Allied Interests

I am the kind of a democrat who subscribes to the doctrine that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and recognizing their ability and efforts in successfully terminating the world's present great conflict, I am in favor of making their burdens as light as circumstances will permit, whether they be in the shop, the mine or on the farm.

Respectfully submitted,
E. B. HOUSE.

 SLOAN SIFTINGS

To The Star:—Here follows my observations on the weather for the week ending Saturday June 8th 1918: Sunday clouds Ther. 74 and 96, wind south, light shower at night. Monday cloudy, Ther. 70 and 78, wind south, shower in afternoon. Tuesday some clouds, Ther. 70 and 80, wind south. Wednesday clear, Ther. 70 and 88, wind south. Thursday clear, Ther. 74 and 88, wind south. Friday some clouds, Ther. 76 and 89, wind south. Saturday cloudy, Ther. 74 and 90, wind south. Average Thermometer for the week 80 1/2 F.

Last week we had a big river according to measure the flood waters rose 22 feet above low water mark. This rise came out of Menard county and was one of the fastest rises your correspondent ever witnessed. The water was very filthy and could be smelled one half mile away. Some who had planted crops on low bottom land lost all others gained by the rise, in the fact that their crops were watered and fertilized by back water.

We hear that Jack Harkey lost 100 sheep drowned by the high river and that Elmer Neeper lost a horse in the high waters.

Mrs. Beckie McGlasson of Parris Texas, who has been visiting at the home of her brother A. E. Percy for some weeks past, returned home Sunday.

Miss Amy Sloan is sick abed this week.

The farmers are complaining of the bud worm in their growing corn. Last year with the exception of a few cases, the bud worm did but little damage but it is feared that their depredations coming so early may do much damage to the present crop.

The Rev. T. J. Tanner, preached here Sunday after noon. Mrs. Mary Campbell of San Saba attended the service.

The Red Cross drive here week-before-last conducted by Miss Amy Sloan was a grand success. She was directed by the chairman of the county to make a report for publication: below is a copy of said report:

J. A. Crouch was born December 29th, 1839, died June 7th and was buried June 8th in the Richland Springs cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by Elder Tippin. Deceased was married June 27th 1867 to Miss Martha A. Barnett. Mr. Crouch united with the Baptist church in 1874 and a consistent member of the Church. He was a good citizen, husband and father. He leaves a wife and five sons and three daughters and a host of friends to mourn his departure. Politically Uncle Johnnie was a simon pure democrat religiously he was an old time Missionary Baptist.

In 1861 Uncle Johnnie volunteered and joined the Confederacy and became a member of Co. E. 15th Texas Cavalry and fought under Generals Bragg, Hood and Pat Cleburne and surrendered under General Joe Johnston, one of the world's greatest military chieftains. He fought in seven of the great battles during the civil war. He was in the Missionary Chickamauga. His last battle was at Nashville and Franklin, Tenn. under Gen. Hood. He was in the famous charge when Gen. Pat Cleburne stormed the federal fort and was shot down on top of the fort by the side of Mr. Crouch, but Uncle Johnnie and his comrade went into the fort and captured the garrison and then went 30 miles and reinforced Hood and fought at Nashville, Tenn. Uncle Johnnie was a patriot and a hero. Just a few days before he took sick he wanted to volunteer and join the Texas National Guard and fight for the stars and stripes that float over the heads of a hundred million loyal subjects.

Mr. Crouch's two brothers, W. J. Crouch of Tahoka and Billy Crouch of Brownwood attended the funeral. The little ones enjoyed a nice ice cream party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Duncan's. Cotton looks well.

O. K. Graham has moved back from Cherokee, to Algerita.

The young people pulled off a big ice cream supper Saturday night at M. J. Lane's.

INVITE THE OLD CONFEDS

As the Fair has been called off for this year, we believe it would be nothing but a gracious act for our town to invite the old Confederates to come here this summer and hold their re-union. There are only a few of the old men left and it is the patriotic duty of every one to make their last days enjoyable. An active effort right away should be made and an invitation extended to them to hold their reunion here this summer. The Fair grounds is an ideal place for their entertainment and we do not believe it could be put to a more patriotic purpose.

Ferguson and Fair Play

A thick lipped, thin-skinned fellow over in East Texas asks in the Houston Chronicle if it is possible that any true-blooded Americans will vote for Jim Ferguson? Yes if we are any judge of the people's sentiments, some three or four hundred thousand will swim the river on election day to get to vote for him. Reviewing the history of past elections, the plain people of Texas nearly always stand for fair play and when they see a combination formed to defeat a man they nearly always rally to that man's support.

The big dialies of Texas are using their news columns and their editorial columns to denounce and misrepresent Ferguson and us poor fellows subscribe for them and have to read only one side of the issue whether we like it or not—this is some more "fair play". When a man is put into office by an over whelming vote of the people and then thrown out on evidence not sufficient to convict a nigger chicken thief, by a bunch of "usurpers of power" you can bet your last cent there will be red blooded men found to vote for him. Every issue that can be raked up is being used against him and now they are insinuating that his supporters are all traitors fresh from Germany.

The Houston Chronicle offers a reward for information as to where and from whom Ferguson borrowed $156,000, and now every little fellow that wants to hit under the belt comes out with an additional offer of from $10 to $20. These fellows probably couldn't borrow the amounts they offer at their home banks but they are counting on Ferguson's honor and they know they are safe and will never have to raise it. These offers are all deliberate bribes to get a man to violate his word and honor and the facts if printed in the Chronicle would be just about as interesting as would an article telling where Mr. Foster, the editor, got his money to buy up so many shares in the Chronicle. They want to force Mr. Ferguson to commit perjury and then hold him up to the world as a liar.

But the biggest Jonah of all is the present representative from 114th district. He plainly tells the people that no matter what Ferguson's majority he will not vote to seat him. In other words, if every man and woman in this district votes for Ferguson for governor Mr. Beasley says you can't have him. Talk about a representative form of government; talk about Kaiserism; what do you call this? If the people want their wishes carried out they had better elect another man for this one says plain out that he will sit down on their demands like a ton of brick.

Jim Ferguson is not the best man on earth but he is not a traitor; neither is he a coward and the people who believe in fair play are going to send him back to Austin and let him serve his second term out if it takes ten years for him to do it.

WEALTH THAT WORKS

Money saved and deposited in a bank is wealth that works. Wealth that works is capital. Unlike brain and muscle, it does not wear out or deteriorate. It grows and improves.

The only gain from labor is what is saved. Labor, therefore, makes wealth and when wealth works it is capital. Savings bring independence.

Capital at work pays wages, which when saved, creates more capital. Labor is the producer when labor saves. Take care of your money while you are young and it will take care of you when you are old.

Who Are Your Children's Playmates?

Mothers, your own children may be the worst of the bunch, but do you know anything about your children's playmates?

Early associates have a mighty influence on later life. Some children, like adults, appear popular and attractive at first, but have a demoralizing effect on those with whom they come in contact.

It is hard to break off a friendship of long standing, and a great deal easier to keep out of undesirable society than to get out afterward.

For these reasons, why not acquaint yourself with the kiddies in Jack's or Sadie's class? Invite them to your home and study them—become familiar with the type of child who is attractive to your youngster.

It is some job, being a good and watchful mother.

Get acquainted, and then heart-to-heart talks between mother and children, discussing the habits and traits of the little friends, lovingly, not too critically, and it is comparatively easy to lead the boys and girls to the right kind of playmates.

Reflections of a "Summer Widower."

There are many great questions agitating the public mind just now, but the real question of the hour and the one uppermost in ye editor's think-tank is what is the best thing to do with "summer widowers." The disposition of grass-widowers and sod-widowers is easy of solution, these kind of widowers are resourceful and solve their own problems on short notice. But this thing of playing the stella roll of a "summer widower" is not as nice and romantic as it would appear on the screen or in a book of fiction. It is the real article, devoid of romance or blue lights and slow music. We have had two weeks' actual "trench" service and speak by the card.

The first meal after the "Lord of creation" was left in all his blissful solitude was negotiated in fine style—a sympathetic neighbor invited us to dine with him. We accepted right off the bat, in fact our average was easily 100 1/8 percent.

The second meal, was breakfast, usually an easy meal to prepare, but right here in the grey dawn of a bright June morning is where the trouble began or commenced. With no chance for an "invitation" to dine out, it being so early—old time—preparations were made for an elaborate menu or feast, either one a person might wish to call it. The chef or cook, which was us, put on the kettle with enough water in it to make coffee and boil eggs. At this point this kitchen mechanic distinctly remembered the parting injunction "don't forget to feed and water the chickens and then too listen, be sure and water the garden." To be sure that we did not feed the garden and irrigate the chickens, we suspended the pharmaceutical act of the culinary department and went and fed twenty white hens and one rooster. The chickens and garden are half-a-mile apart therefore we did not get our instructions mixed. The chicks were fed with a tin bucket two-thirds full of chops moistened placed on a flat rock to prevent wastage. Of course this was not part of the culinary act, but having been told about 'steen times by the afore said business manager of our household not to "fail and feed the chickens" it was more or less on our befuddled mind and to be sure it was done—had to be. We fed the chicks according to the latest rules and regulations of the conversation of the food act. The water in the kettle, for coffee and boiled eggs had been to simmer by this time and we went into action for the preparation of an early morning repast—it was no pink tea affair, there were no place cards. The color predominating was decidedly blue. We discovered at this juncture that bread was a very necessary item of a meal—we didn't even have war-crackers and peanut butter. We had never made bread. We made a stab once at making batter-cakes—this happened years ago however, but couldn't turn 'em over so they were cooked "scrammeled." We are not fond of "scrammeled" batter-cakes. By this time the water was hot and a cup of coffee and hard boiled eggs were the net result of the kitchen mechanic's efforts, though to come clean and be real honest, the "cook" intended to have soft-boiled eggs. He discovered right here that an experienced chef, that is French for cook, can make a soft-boiled egg hard-boiled but all the cooks in christendom can't make a hard-boiled egg soft-boiled. We are going to give this valuable information to the extension department of our State University. But to get back to the meal. We consoled ourself with the old adage that when anything scorches or burns the "cook is mad" which held good in this instance and we have never figured out just exactly what was the matter but we have come to the conclusion that the eggs or water one got too hot—the result however was hard boiled eggs. So endeth the first meal.

When a fellow is in town with 35 cents in his jeans he can realize the real independence a "summer widower" feels towards the intricate duties of a pot-wrestler around a cooking stove. We blew 35 cents for our noonday meal—the first square one we had had since the neighbor invited us to dine.

The evening meal was coming on apace, according to new time, and the bread question began to agitate our thoughts more than the "feeding and watering" of that bunch of poultry and the war garden—in fact the item of bread was the paramount issue. A happy thought struck the cook, and it was to get some crackers. We approached Nix, (John Urquhart was busy) who clerks for Will Harris and asked him if he had any "real soda crackers". He picked up a box about twelve inches long and shook it near his right ear and remarked that "this may be some old stock"—it feels light." Armed with a box of "light crackers" we ended our weary steps to Cedarhurst, building air castles how nice, soft or hard boiled eggs, whichever came out of the kettle, would be with "real soda crackers," which would be a great improvement on hard boiled eggs and coffee only. But just like all air castles, this one toppled to earth with a mighty crash. After cooking the eggs, which by the way were hard-boiled again, and the coffee had been brewed to the proper color and taste the "real soda cracker" box was opened and there staring the cook right in the face were a bunch of the darkest, muddiest looking crackers we ever saw. War crackers are all right and we like 'em—when we haven't got anything else to eat, but we came to the conclusion right then and there that Nix's sense of "touch" and "hearing" were on the bum and needed the attention of a specialist. We looked at the wrapper on the box of "soda crackers" and on it in box-car letters were these words: "Uneda Bisquit". That was the real gospel truth, but we (the cook) knew that we were a long ways from one. We ate war crackers hard-boiled eggs and drank coffee until we thought of a doctor's bill, then we quit. While we were "washing and drying" the dishes, (the duties of a household are multitudinous and help is and was scarce) the very serious and pious thought came into our mind: Dam the Kaiser and Hindenburg too. This endeth a day and a half of strenuous housekeeping. There has been two weeks of this strenuousness and it is getting "old". The daily program has been going on for two weeks the only diversion has been that the bad English has increased in volume and tone until our otherwise sweet disposition has been almost but soured.

The editorial "we" used in this article is in the singular number, as there is only one of "us".

There is some bright and rosy places even along the rugged path we have trod these long past two weeks (new time). We have sold Jim Cummins a mess of beans and cucumbers out of the war garden which was to be "irrigated." The former is a healthful vegetable and the latter will give him some idea of how a fellow feels when he compounds medicine for the relief of suffering humanity and remind him of what Sherman said war was. We believe our favorite pastime in keeping house is the poultry line. All you have to do is to gather and sell eggs. The detail work of this department is done by the hens and the work is not so fatiguing on the straw boss.

We are building air castles again, but this time they will stand up. We will hail with gladness and joy, and speed the day, when we can get all the good "egg bread" we can eat. And another thing, we are going to have all four corners of the pan of bread for it is not healthy for children to eat too much crust.

FARM HINTS

By R. P. Elrod, County Agricultural Agent.

Farmers who have wheat and oats should disk the land immediately after cutting and then plant to some crop that will grow through the summer. Feterita, milo maize, peas, soy beans, peanuts, pinto beans and Soudan grass are some of the things that will grow during hot dry weather. We should not in this time of need for feed and food let a single acre grow up in weeds but make it do its part. In Kansas a farmer persisted in letting his land lay idle and the neighbors went before the courts and had his farm thrown into a receivers hands so it could be made to produce.

Examine your chickens and see if they are not infected with lice. The lice eat your feed and first make your chickens work it up into blood before taking it. Lousy hens will not lay very much if any and consume more food without giving results. Use commercial sodium florid which can be purchased at the drug store for destroying lice. Put it in a powder can and dust it well into their feathers. It is harmless but effective in killing lice.

Do not neglect the cultivation of your corn now that the dry weather is upon us. Now is the time it needs cultivation more than other times to keep the mulch perfect so as to prevent rapid evaporation. Do not lay your corn by until the first silks appear. Your cotton will wait for work but your corn will not without serious injury so give your corn good cultivation and let your cotton wait if necessary.

In some parts of San Saba county there is an abundant supply of fruit to supply the whole county if saved and properly distributed. If you have fruit use every effort to save it by selling to neighbor and others of putting up in cans or preserves and jellies. I will use my best efforts to help you sell the fruit if you have a surplus or if you wish to buy I will take pleasure in referring you to those who have the fruit for sale. I have no way of knowing who has fruit for sale or who wants to buy unless you phone or write me.

Agricultural club members should read their bulletins furnished, carefully and follow instructions as near as possible. Do not neglect to cultivate because it has not rained since the last cultivation. Be sure you have a soil mulch about two and half to three inches deep and cultivate about every ten days. Do not let weeds and grass in the crop. They take your moisture and plant food just as a flock of hungry chickens will eat the food given to your horse. Then, it is important that you keep up your record that has been furnished you for setting down the dates and the time it takes you to work your crop. If you are raising an animal be sure to feed it enough. There is no economy in feeding less than is necessary for the growth of the animal. Read your bulletins and make up a balanced ration from what you have to feed.

Tomato thrips are working so persistently now that it is impossible to raise very many tomatoes without spraying. If your tomatoes are not putting on tomatoes get an ounce of Black Leaf 40, put it into 5 gallons of water which has previously had a little soap added and spray the blooms and vines thoroughly. As the bloom hangs down it will be necessary to spray up to get the thrips which is a small insect a little larger than a chicken mite but longer and a yellowish white color. You will not get them all the first spraying and the spraying should be continued several times four or five days apart. The Black Leaf 40 will cost you 25 cents per ounce and you can get a spray if you don't happen to have one for 50 to 75 cents. The spray is very handy about the place for various things.

Camp Bowie Experts Plan To Take Bray Out of Army Mule

We are now going to have "brayless days," along with the meatless, wheatless and other "less" days.

Ever since the world began the mule has been permitted to bray to his heart's content, awakening sleepers from Adam on down to Roosevelt, but now the bray is doomed. The army is going to take the bray away from the mule as a matter of military strategy.

Braying mules—they always bray early in the morning—prevent sleep and warn the enemy of locations. So the bray must go and already the army is experimenting with operations to select the most expedient.

Captain Booth, division veterinarian at Camp Bowie, says the mule having a false nostril that it doesn't need. After the operation, Booth says, the mule is just as good a mule as ever and if anything is more efficient, transferring his energy used in more useful channels.

The Doctor Away from Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlains Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.—The Corner Drug Store.

—Pledge the President—
RED CROSS ANNOUNCEMENT
Work goes on at the Court House every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Work is done in the bandage room in the Clark building every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

All, each individually, and collectively are invited to these rooms to take part in this important phase of the war work.

These announcements are made for that larger part of the women who have never yet realized their obligation to help in this world crisis.

Much knitting has been done and is being done by elderly women who cannot go to the work rooms and who have had scant notice in these announcements in consequence. The acknowledgements are here made of this vitally important work. All honor to these mothers in Israel.

Don't think your part of the war work done when you have eaten corn bread and your petted children have whined for biscuit. Millions of children "over there" are sending up the guttural cry of starvation for even corn bread.

Don't think you have helped in war work because you cannot afford all the gasoline you want to joy ride with. Many think it would be a calamity for the war to end now before America learns some needed lessons. They say that should the war end now would go on in her prodigality and become a decadent nation. This idea was advanced by a mother who has two sons in France.

A soldier who had returned from France was standing leaning on his crutches with an empty trouser leg hanging by his good leg looking into a show window on Fifth Avenue in New York when a limousine stopped by the curb. The churn-hatted chauffeur opened the door and a finely dressed lady walked out carrying a poodle which wore a jeweled collar and disappeared in the store. The soldier said: "My God, are the women of America still doing that?"

The following is a list of ladies who worked in the bandage room two days: Mesdames W. E. Barrow, C. T. Jones, G. A. Walters, Mitch Johnson, John Seiders, W. A. Martin, John Lavine, Misses Mamie Hagan, Rubilee Thornton, Gertrude Hill, Florence McCarley, Mary Dismukes. One Day: Mesdames Ed Dickerson, R. W. Burleson, A. B. Kirkpatrick, Harry Hopkins, D. R. Terry, J. H. Baker, R. C. Sloan, Misses Margaret Kelley, Grace Baxter, Bernice Baxter.

Yours till next week.

It sometimes happens that a man overestimates his own importance, which was evidently the case of a Bozeman (Mont.)
man of draft age who presented the following letter to the Gallatin county exemption board.

"Dear United States Army:
My husband ask me to write a reckomend that he supports his family. He can't read, so don't tell him. Jus take him. He aint no good to me. He aint done nothing but drink lemme

I married him, eight years ago, and I gotta feed seven kids of hisn. Maybe you can get him to carry a gun. He's good on squirrels and eatin. Take him and his bed for the kids. Don't tell him this, but take him."

Chronic Constipation.
Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the mean time use most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.—For sale by the Corner Drug
