Application Granted

The commissioners court at its last regular meeting voted to make application to the state of Texas for a loan under the Drouth Relief Act, in order that they may be able to help needy farmers in securing the necessary seed and feed for raising a crop this season. The application was mailed to the governor immediately, with the request that the county be notified by wire of the acceptance or rejection of the application. A telegram was promptly sent to the county judge from the governor's office, stating the application had been approved and Hansford county thereby awarded $30,000.00 under the Drouth Relief Act. Farmers wishing to avail themselves of this fund, will make application through the county clerk, said applications to be passed upon by the commissioners court, and if granted, orders will then be issued for the necessary amount of seed for planting as much as 100 acres, together with sufficient feed for the necessary teams to handle the crop. This money will cost the farmers 5 per cent interest and is payable on or before December 1, 1919.

RAILROAD IS COMING GREAT WHEAT CROP

Work Will be Resumed Monday, May 26, and Rushed

The best news in many moons came to Hansford Saturday, when word was received that the powers that be in Washington had decided to allow the North Texas & Santa Fe railroad to be completed to Spearman, in Hansford county, and that the work of track-laying would begin Monday, May 26, at Lourwood, where they were halted almost two years by the war. F. W. Wilsey of Canadian, who has charge of the Spearman interests in this section, received the word and it was immediately phoned over the adjoining counties, leaving a happy smile of satisfaction on the faces of the citizenry. Work of track-laying will begin Monday, May 26, and will be pushed vigorously from that time until Spearman is connected with the outside world with bands of steel. Those who are in a position to know say that the road will be completed to Spearman, the terminal, within 60 days. M. B. Wright, Sheriff Wilbanks, J. G. B. Sparks and Lon Hays returned Tuesday from Lourwood and Shattuck. These gentlemen say the construction company is receiving quantities of material at Lourwood and that a gang of 75 or 100 Mexicans are there, ready to begin work. As there has been many unreliable reports circulated in regard to the completion of this road, our people were loath to credit this report, but our fellow-citizens say there is now no room for doubt, and that Chief Engineer Wolters invites all doubting Thomases to come to Lourwood Monday and witness the new start. In view of the fact that Mr. Wilsey has never put out any information in regard to the finishing of the road—the wild rumors coming from other sources—and the fact that he has never misled the people concerning the status of the road, is sufficient evidence that we are to have a railroad in time to haul out this year's big wheat crop. The coming of the railroad will mark the beginning of a new era in the history of Hansford county. It means the opening up of the richest stock-farming country in the southwest. Our farmers can now market this year's crop in time to prepare the land for a crop next year. This would have been next to impossible had they been compelled to haul this enormous crop to the Rock Island. We understand that a well will be put down at Spearman at once. Ernest Wilbanks was offered the job of putting down a well at Spearman and Perryton, also, but could not do the work on account of the nearness of the harvest season. Wheat farmers are already howling for an elevator at Spearman. We hope one is put in before threshing time, as loading a million bushel wheat crop with "jiggers" will be some job.

Ochiltree Fell Down

A large crowd of enthusiastic fans gathered at the ball ground in Hansford Sunday, expecting to witness a real ball game, but the team from Ochiltree failed to show up. No reason was given for this flagrant breach of base ball etiquette and the Hansford team was not notified that the Ochiltree team could not come. A scrub team was organized and a feeble effort at playing made, but the fans were sorely disappointed. The Hansford team is very sorry this "bust" occurred but are in no wise to blame, as Ochiltree had promised faithfully to be on hand.

Board of Equalization Notice

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners court of Hansford county will convene as a board of equalization of the assessment of taxes in said county, at Hansford, Texas, on Monday, May 26, 1919, at which time any person may appear before said board with any complaint regarding the rendition of property for taxation.

R. L. McCLELLAN,
Court Clerk.

Harvest Hands

What about harvest hands? Should not some arrangements be made for additional help where it is needed? The County Council of Defense could easily look after this matter, as its members reside in different parts of the county and have a pretty fair idea of the number of hands which will be required in their respective communities. The Bureau of Labor will help find the men, but the arrangements should be made as quickly as possible. The general opinion seems to be that the prices agreed on by the wheat-growers, threshermen and harvest hands of the Kansas wheat belt will prevail in Hansford county this season.

Hansford County Will Produce a Bumper Yield of Golden Grain

From present indications Hansford county will harvest the largest wheat crop in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, or in other words, since it was discovered that our soil and climate were ideal for the growing of this staple commodity, which aided so materially in stopping the leap of the Hun when civilization was almost within his grasp. With the largest acreage ever sown, conditions 100 per cent perfect and only about six weeks until harvest, nothing but a calamity can prevent this section from this year producing a yield equal to the best showing made by any of the famous wheat growing sections of the country. In 1912 and again in 1914 many of our farmers harvested wheat that ran above forty bushels per acre and this year's crop promises to beat those record-breakers. There is something like fifty thousand acres of wheat in the county. Placing the average yield at 25 bushels per acre, the total yield will be 1,250,000 bushels, worth approximately three million dollars. When one stops to consider that only about 5 per cent of the agricultural land of the county is in cultivation and brings in this high sum of money, then what will be the result when there is a farmer on every section and a more practical system of farming is being followed. The writer visited wheat fields Sunday and found wheat about ready to head, the stalks green and rank and moisture less than two inches below the surface. Under these conditions, we are informed, wheat will make a good yield with no more rain, but of course will do much better with another rain. Hail is the one great nightmare of the wheat grower now, and will be until the wheat is in the bin. Most of the farmers have protected themselves as far as possible with insurance, many of them taking out as much as $30 per acre.

Pie Social

A pie social will be held at the Kimbal school house on the night of Monday, May 26, to which everyone is invited. The funds raised by the sale of pies at this social will be used to defray the expenses of a delegate to a state meeting of the Christian Endeavor society at San Antonio in June. Miss Aline Beck has been appointed delegate and will attend this meeting. Attend the pie social; have a good time and help the C. E.

Church Notes

The district conference meets at Panhandle May 27-29. All delegates are expected to attend.

Local Campaign Director R. L. McClellan wired in "Hansford over the top" before 2 p. m. on Sunday, May 18. On with the centenary movement. Buy your limit of Victory Bonds and then invest your bonds in the Centenary. Make every dollar do the work of two; serving both your country and the kingdom of God.

Remember May 24—vote for prohibition.

Just a minute: The Victory Loan—four and a half billion dollars—$45 for every man, woman and child in our country—was oversubscribed and we did all the rest that way. Now the Centenary—that's thirty five millions for five years; which is just sixteen dollars a member, or $3.20 a year. What will we do about that? Will we show ourselves as good Christians as we are Americans? As loyal to God as we are to our country? Where is the man who doubts it? Let's show him.

May 30 is Decoration Day—an appropriate time to clean up the graveyard

Miss Mabel Douglas returned to her home at Shamrock Tuesday, after spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Jesse Womble in Hansford.

Dr. E. L. Maxwell, specialist in diseases of eye, ear, nose and throat, will be at the Trans-Canadian sanitarium (Inc.), Qalhart, on April 7, 8 and 9 and every two weeks thereafter.

J. H. Buchanan surprised his many friends in Hansford when he alighted from the mail car last Saturday, coming from their home at Edenbower, Oregon. Mr. Buchanan says he and the family have enjoyed good health and spent a very pleasant year on the Pacific coast, but still have a warm spot in their hearts for the Panhandle in general and Hansford in particular. Joe will visit the Burk Burnett oil field in a few days. The Buchanans are in town now.

M. B. Wright went over to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the first of the week, to take a good rest and general toneing up before the harvest season opens.

We need better roads. The marketing of the enormous crop coming on will require too much time and labor if the roads are not improved. Why not vote an additional road tax or bond the county and build real roads. Good roads are not built all in one year. We should start now.

Considerable hail fell in different parts of the county Sunday night, but no serious damage to crops is reported. At the Frank Andrews ranch a heavy hail fell at the home, doing much damage to the roofs of the residence and other buildings, but at the field, a mile away, no hail fell. Frank has 400 acres of fine wheat and was a tickled man when he discovered that the hail storm had missed his farm.

Phil Weaver and Tom McMurry, president and vice president respectively of the Shoe and Sock club, were pleasant callers at the Headlight office last Saturday afternoon. Phil reports that he met a merry, red-headed widow while in Amarillo recently, and is thinking of visiting the metropolis again soon. Tom reports having spent five and one half days of last week on a two-row lister.

A rally was held at the McBride school house in school district No. 8, on last Saturday evening. A successful term of school closed the day before and the enterprising teacher, Miss Minnie Brooks, planned this rally as a fitting close. A large crowd was present, in fact several times as many as could possibly get inside the little school building. Miss Brooks had been talking a new school house for the district and succeeded in getting her patrons to thinking seriously about it. At any rate they were out at the meeting and the matter of a new school building was thoroughly discussed, with the result that they are contemplating building a good two-teacher building during this summer.

Will Not Consolidate

On last Saturday a mass meeting was held at the Kimbal school house in common school district No. 2, to consider and discuss the proposition of consolidating with district No. 9. The neighborhood turned out and the matter was thoroughly discussed. It seemed to be the opinion of a majority of those present that it was best to consolidate if district No. 9 would agree to the proposition. After adjournment a sumptuous dinner was served, after which all who could do so went with the county school trustees and county superintendent to the school house in district No. 9, to present the proposition to the patrons of that district. A small number had gathered at the school house and it was soon learned that the majority of the No. 9 people preferred to remain as they are, so the matter of consolidation of those two districts will necessarily be tabled for the present. The matter of transporting the pupils over so large a territory as one-fourth of the county, seems impracticable, or that is the way they looked at it.

MENACE TO CAUCASIAN RACE

Practice of Polygamy in the Orient Constitutes Peril Which Must Not Be Underestimated.

The storm center of social reform in Asia for the next quarter of a century is likely to be over the relations of the sexes, writes Tyler Dennett in Asia. If any statement of the menace of polygamy were necessary to bring home to American readers the immediacy of the subject, some recent statements from the editorial columns of the Far Eastern Review would seem to be suitable. The Caucasian population of the world is doubling its number once in a hundred years; the dark-skinned races, which now outnumber the white population two to one, are doubling their numbers every twenty-five years.

At least such is the case in Korea, where the most recent figures are available. The editor of the Far Eastern Review figures out that at the present rate of increase the Caucasian element in the world's population will have shrunk in a hundred years to scarcely 5 per cent. The oriental demands male children, as many of them as he can produce. The editorial in question says: "So long as the oriental man is able to arrogate to himself the right to possess plural wives, just so long will polygamy prevail. But there is a way out and one which is becoming broader and more easy to tread each year. The wife with foreign education is a precious thing in China in the eyes of the returned students, since she is one of a few women of his own race that realizes and understands his peculiar aspirations. She has it in her hands to be the one and only wife, and if the few examples that have come under the writer's notice are any criterion, she will exert that power to the utmost."

TO ADD STRENGTH TO COTTON

Machine Devised by New Jersey Man Is Something for Which the World Has Been Looking.

There is probably no service which subjects cotton fabric to so severe a test as that it has to endure in an automobile tire, says Scientific American. The fabric serves as a reinforcement for the rubber. It is designed to withstand an enormous tensile strength in all directions, imposed by steady pressure of air within the tire, and must also withstand the sudden shocks due to the passage of the wheel over obstructions. At the same time it must be perfectly flexible; for it is flexed constantly as the wheel runs over the ground. The fabric cannot have its strength increased merely by using heavier threads, for this would interfere with its flexibility. It has occurred to an inventor, William G. Trautvetter of Paterson, N. J., that a fabric might be designed in which, in addition to the regular warp and filling, diagonal reinforcing threads might be incorporated. And, starting out with this idea, he has designed a machine which will actually weave such a fabric. Anyone accustomed to handling looms or familiar with the operation of these machines will realize how revolutionary must be a mechanism which will put bias threads into a woven fabric.

Madagascar Graphite.

Production of graphite on the island of Madagascar in 1917 was estimated at 35,000 tons, and exports amounted to 27,838. Shipments to England totaled 15,506, and those to France 17,222 tons. While direct shipments to the United States have not been permitted, it is understood from consular reports that 8,000 tons reached this country from Marseilles in 1917, and a considerable quantity has also been shipped from that port during the present year, principally through a consortium of French firms which, up until now, has controlled the bulk of the output of Madagascar graphite other than that shipped to England. Inasmuch as the French firms belonging to this consortium are represented in Madagascar, it is not unlikely that they will endeavor to control such graphite as may be shipped to the United States direct from the island when restrictions are removed, while it would appear that various independent producers are endeavoring to form direct connections with the American importers.

One morning the pictures were particularly alluring and he was deaf to all importunities to get ready for Sunday school. Finally Uncle Al added to Martin's discomfort by urging the benefits of attending Sunday school, offering as an argument that he had attended until eighteen years old. Whereupon Martin cast a withering glance upon him and said: "I don't see where it did you any good."—Chicago American.

SEE NEED OF CITY PLANNING

Japanese Municipal Authorities Awake to Dangers Connected With Congested Centers of Population.

The remarkable expansion of Japanese cities during the last few years has accentuated the urgent necessity of city planning. With this end in view a conference of the mayors of the leading Japanese cities has occurred at Tokyo. Among those present were the mayors of Osaka, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kyoto and Kobe, while Tokyo municipality was represented by Messrs. Kabashima and Ogino.

"In Tokyo, city planning was set on foot twenty years ago, about the same time the question of city planning was receiving attention in Europe and America," said Doctor Seldi, mayor of Osaka, in an interview with a Tokyo Yomiuri representative. "In Osaka, however, it is only a few years since the problem began to claim serious attention, although the necessity of city planning in Osaka is perhaps more urgent than in other cities. The density of population in Osaka is certainly greater than in other places and improvement in sanitary and other matters is urgently needed. It is estimated that the population of Osaka twenty years hence will be 2,650,000 and that of the two neighboring districts 2,360,000, making a total of 5,000,000. This estimate is based on the present rate of increase, but it is possible the rate of increase may be larger. Herein lies the urgent nature of city planning for Osaka."

FISH AFFECTED BY WARFARE

Explosion of Mines Off British Coast Has Resulted in Great Diminution of Catches, Is Report.

Wilfred Buzley, who is on the way to his tea plantation in Assam, India, said on his arrival in this city that the frequent explosions of mines off the British coast had caused a great scarcity of fish, according to New York Times. This was especially the case along the east coast of England and Scotland, and had also affected the coast of Holland. Herring, which formerly were plentiful at this season of the year off the coast of Scotland, selling at a cent apiece retail, now bring 16 cents, he said, and were scarce. Flounders and cod, formerly eight to ten cents a pound, are now worth 50 cents at retail. It was only at rare intervals, Mr. Buzley said, that the poor were able to purchase fish.

"The only fish in British waters that appeared to defy the mines and torpedoes," Mr. Buzley continued, "is the hardy halibut. Just before I sailed from England one of the steam trawlers off the coast was about to haul in the lines when the captain noticed a giant halibut following close behind a cod that was impaled on one of the hooks. The halibut made several attempts to swallow the cod and was eventually hauled up onto the deck of the trawler. The skipper told me that the big fish weighed 168 pounds, and was sold in the market for $60."

Franglais a New Tongue.

"Franglais" is a new language that you hear in France today. The word is made out of Francaise and Anglais. The French words for French and English—and the language itself is made out of a fearful jumble of words that were perfectly good when they played by themselves, but don't always mix.

Franglais is what you hear where Americans and English men and women without a very good knowledge of their hosts' own speech find themselves at work alongside of French men and French women—soldiers, nurses, relief workers, shopkeepers and all sorts of folk.

American Red Cross workers say that when you gather up several hundred little French babies who have hardly begun to speak any language at all and several hundred little ones who are speaking the universal and universally incomprehensible language of babyhood, the results are one degree harder to understand than grown-up Franglais.

How to Mail Cut Flowers.

You have some lovely forget-me-nots in your garden. You would like Mary to have some, but she is so awkwardly far away. Didn't it occur to you that you could mail them satisfactorily, if you only knew how? Here's how.

Separate the large bunch into smaller bunches of perhaps four or five flowers. Now wring out a wad of absorbent cotton in salt water—a teaspoonful to a pint will be sufficient. Break the damp wad into smaller pieces and wrap firmly about the ends of the stems. Finally wrap flower, stems and all, loosely in newspaper, wax paper if you have it. It is a good plan, too, to line the box with the dampened cotton.

Famine in Cherry Stones.

Scarcity of fruit in Great Britain has interfered with the movement for collecting cherry stones and hard nutshells, in which the boy scouts are taking part. Hundreds of tons are needed every year to make charcoal for gas masks, charcoal from these substances having many times more absorptivity than charcoal made from wood.—Springfield Republican.

RECLAIM MANY SUNKEN SHIPS

Hundreds of Vessels in British Waters Have Been Salvaged—Possibility of Raising the Lusitania.

Most welcome is the announcement from London that since January, 1915, 407 ships sunk by the Germans in British waters have been salvaged; 147 of them, by improved methods, in five months of the present year.

Britain's coast, like our own, is edged by a broad belt of shallow water. For 200 miles of the channel's length no spot reaches a depth of 100 fathoms; much of it is quite shallow, which accounts for the chop that makes so many who cross it briefly unhappy.

From our own Norfolk one gets well out of sight of land before reaching water too deep for salvage operations. Depth increases more rapidly off the Irish coast, but even the Lusitania lies near the 50-fathom line, below the shatter of the storm, yet near enough the surface so that many practical wreckers have said that it would be possible, though exceedingly difficult, to bring her forth to a nautical resurrection.

That some things can be done as well as others our engineers showed when they raised the U-boats' biggest victim along our coast, the Herbert Pratt, and brought her safe to shore. What the "improved methods" used off England may be we shall probably not know until after the war. That they are cheating the murderous submarines of their prey in so many cases is good news.

EXPLORER'S WORK IN AFRICA

Frenchman Sheds Light on Vast Region Hitherto Comparatively Unknown—Needs Railway.

Commandant Tilho, the well-known French explorer of the Sudan, has recently published a report on the results of five years' work during 1912-17 in the hitherto unknown region lying along the frontier between the French Sahara and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Tilho was entrusted with the task of pacifying and organizing this region under the French government; and his surveys embrace a stretch of previously unexplored country extending more than 1,100 miles from the center of Tibesti southeast to the vicinity of El Fasher, in Darfur. His cartographic work fills up a large blank in the map of Africa. He urges the need of a railway through this region, for the benefit not only of the world at large, but also of the natives, who are subject to periodical famines. It is stated that from one-half to three-fourths of the inhabitants of northern Wadai died of famine in 1914. One especially interesting result of his investigations is the disproof of the hypothesis, supported by his earlier explorations, that there is a connection between Lake Chad and the Nile river system. Tilho explored the volcanic Emi-Kussil, 11,100 feet in altitude, with an immense crater over seven miles in diameter and 180 feet deep.—Scientific American.

Sailing is Different.

Sailing on the briny deep is entirely different than doing the same stunt on land. This was admitted by a landubber from Pittsburgh, who has just returned from his first voyage with a brand new seasick story. "The first day I was out," said the amateur navigator, "the old tub rolled like a barrel, and before I knew it I was in the throes of mal de mer. The bunch guyed me and told me my job was driving a trolley car instead of sailing. I had to seek my bunk. I had only been in it a few minutes when the ship's surgeon visited me and callously asked: 'What's the matter?' 'O-o-oh, I'm so sick,' I told him, and I rolled over in agony. 'Come, get up,' he said unfeelingly. 'The ship has been torpedoed and we're sinking.' I fell out of my bunk and scrambled to the deck. The bunch again derided me. Say, have you ever been seasick?"

Admiral Saved Engineer.

A striking feature of the naval side of the war is the number of retired British admirals who have returned to the navy, bringing with them full vigor and the quick determination of the service.

On June 10 of the present year, when an explosion took place on a motor launch, Admiral James Startin, who held the rank of admiral, retired, immediately proceeded alongside and, learning that the engineer was below in the fiercely burning engine room, climbed down the hatch without the slightest hesitation, and, unaided, recovered the engineer's body. For this brave deed King George has approved the award of the Albert medal to Admiral Startin.

Aviators in Italy.

From the Italian front where many American aviators are now serving comes this note:

"Sometimes at night, after dinner, a little music is indulged in as a relaxation. Of course the Italians shine there. Many a pilot or chauffeur in overalls is humming selections from grand opera. Some of the American boys also are good musicians. One especially was a splendid pianist, and would rattle away for an hour at a time selections from Schubert or Mendelssohn's 'Melody in F.' to what seemed almost a sacrilege, that is, play it in ragtime for a change."

TO CROWN YOUTHFUL HEADS

Picturesque is the word best describing the lovely millinery with which this year's debutante is destined to crown her youthful head. Everything in beautiful millinery materials is available for her—ribbons, flowers, braids, laces—and all fabrics in flower-like colors. How effectively they are used may be gathered from the hats pictured here. At the top there is a lovely hat of tusean and piping braid trimmed with a wreath of wheat and field flowers that is like a song of summer. Below it a pretty hat of taffeta, with frayed flounces about the brim, is lovely in marine with a band of bright embroidery in the crown. The last hat is of hair braid overlaid with bands of narrow ribbon joined by stitches of embroidery silk.

FROCKS OF SHEER FABRICS

What every woman knows—among other things—is, that nothing is quite so satisfying as a fine white frock for summertime. Embroidered voiles and swisses, beautiful and practical, are here to lend the charm and refinement of white to summer wardrobes. In the picture a plain and embroidered voile is shown made up into a short sleeved frock and finished off, with a girde and full bow of narrow ribbon. The underskirt is made of the embroidered voile, showing a pattern in which bands of narrow ribbon are short

SCENE OF MIRACLE

How "The Field of the Bear" Received Its Name.

According to Legend of Ancient Gaul It Was the Place of Bruin's Penance at Behest of Indignant Saint Medard.

"The Field of the Bear," that is the interpretation of the name of that Ourscamp forest which figured so conspicuously in the good news of the irresistible advance of the allies in the valley of the Oise. The ground in question forms a part of the thickly wooded massif which extends for a long distance along the left bank of the Oise, and in the center of which, like a diamond set in the heart of a huge emerald, lies the royal city of Compiègne.

But whence this curious name of Ourscamp—Urscamp, Ursi Campus, the Field of the Bear? Listen to the legend of ancient Gaul. It was very, very long ago, when the bear and the aurochs divided between them northern Gaul, and the puny two-legged creature man had just begun to invade their "ancient, solitary reign." Bitterly did they resent the invasion, and indefatigably did they put every conceivable obstacle in the way thereof. But it was in vain. Little by little man forced his way in cutting down parts of the forest and turning over the surface soil with his plow; using to drag this implement a tamed and spiritless cousin of the aurochs. Because of that relationship, perhaps, the aurochs refrained from violent interference with the plowing, but not so the bear. Ruthlessly the mighty plantigrade rushed upon the yoke of oxen, struck down the fattest one and bore his carcass away to his den in the depth of the wood.

Aggrieved at the loss, the plowman hastened to good St. Medard, the bishop of Noyon, and told him of the bear's foul deed. "It is enough," said the saint. "Master Bear shall be taught a lesson that he will not soon forget." So he went to the scene of the tragedy and easily traced the course of the bear from beside the plow in the unfinished furrow to his lair in the forest, where he found him gorged upon his ill-gotten prey.

"So, thou murderer of the innocent, harmless, useful creature. And dost thou expect to go unwhipped? Not so, but thou shalt make reparation in kind and with interest. This poor man is deprived of one of his yoke of oxen and cannot therefore complete his plowing. In the name of the Lord, come thou and thyself take the place of the creature thou hast slain. I'll warrant me thy stout legs and burly body will drag the plow through the most stubborn sward!"

So, all through the rest of the plowing season, Master Bear had his thick neck in the yoke by the side of the ox, and never was there field more quickly or more deeply plowed than that; to the edification of the country round, and to the spiritual chastening of repentant Bruin. And thereafter the plowman and his neighbors, filled with wonder and admiration, consecrated and perpetuated the memory of the good saint's miracle by building there a church in honor of St. Medard and calling the farm and neighboring wood Ursi Campus—Ourscamp, the Field of the Bear.

Stung Again.

Two rookies were indulging in the soldier's privilege—growing about his station and how the soldier gets stung for everything.

"I ordered a chicken dinner at a cafe down town and they charged me a dollar and six bits," Bones was saying.

A newsie overheard him. "Say, mister," he said, "I know where you can get a chicken dinner for two bits. A good big one, too."

The soldiers looked skeptical, but the newsie insisted that he was telling the truth. Finally the soldier who had been stung asked where this place was located. The newsie mentioned an address on one of the side streets of San Antonio.

A few days later the two soldiers went to the city and determined to visit this cheap restaurant. They found the address. It was a feed store.—The Bayonet.

Never Broke a Food Law.

A German church journal tells the story of a professor, a conscientious man, who from the beginning of the war made up his mind to give strict obedience to any laws that might be laid down by those placed above him.

Most scrupulously did he observe all the food regulations. Never once did he give way to "hamstering" and the clandestine food trafficker knew him not. He and his family were poorly clad, and often went to bed hungry; but his conscience remained clear and his honor bright.

"Good Lord, is this man still alive?" incredulously exclaims Vorwaerts of Berlin, the Socialist organ.

South Now Makes Pottery.

The effort to establish in the Southern states a pottery for the manufacture of high-grade ware has, after many years, at last been successful. In 1917, for the first time, white ware was manufactured in the South. The South is now beginning to

A HANDY TRACTOR

FOR ANY FARM

HERE is an economical little Kerosene Tractor for small or large farms—it pulls 2 1/2 in. plows anywhere a good team can continuously pull one plow. At the Salina, Kansas, Demonstration in 1918 it proved that it can average 1 1/2 acres per hour on 1.62 gal. of kerosene plowing gumbo under an average draw bar pull of 1015 pounds. It has a four cylinder Case Valve-in-head Motor set cross wise upon a one piece cast main frame. This affords the use of all cut steel spur gears and prevents disalignment of shafts, gears and bearings. All of these important parts are thoroughly enclosed and run in oil. The friction clutch belt pulley is mounted on the crank shaft and conveniently located for belting up to any machine. The Motor has a removable head also big hand hole covers along the side of crank case and a large cover underneath which makes engine bearings and other parts very accessible. The fin and tube, non-clogging Case Radiator

Core is supported by a four piece cast frame. The fan is driven by spiral gears enclosed. The "safety" fan hub prevents damage to these gears when starting. No fan belt or chain to look after. The Syphon Thermostat regulates the cooling system. Water circulation is insured by a centrifugal pump. This controlled cooling device maintains proper temperature of water to keep the motor hot thereby assuring thorough combustion and prevents raw fuel passing by the pistons or diluting the oil in crank case.

The Case Air Washer permits only clean, moist air entering carburetor, consequently no dust can enter the cylinders. This means a long lived motor. This tractor weighs only 3400 lbs. When plowing all wheels travel on unplowed land. The hitch is low and adjustable, eliminating undue side draft. For Discing, Seeding, Haying, Harvesting, Threshing, Silo Filling, Baling, etc., it's a handy tractor.

Fordson Tractor

In developing the FORDSON Tractor the aim has been to produce a small tractor which will be low in first cost, reliable, and above all—efficient.

Being small, light and economical the FORDSON tractor is adapted for use on small farms as well as on the largest. It will pull all farm implements and do the work generally done by horses on the farm. In addition, by its belt pulley the tractor will drive farm machinery such as a thresher, ensilage cutter, etc., making the FORDSON a truly universal tractor.

Experience has pointed to the small, light tractor as being the one machine which will fill all varying conditions satisfactorily.
