

Sauerwein looks ahead ...

"We watched the TV still, and rewind and watch it. It was just an amazing feeling," Mrs. Sauerwein said.

Even before the two were crowned though, Childers was no stranger to the Sauerwein family.

"We're crazy about her, she asked if she could be his escort, which made it even more special," Mrs. Sauerwein said.

"Both of us being teachers in the district, we've had these kids and we know that they're really good kids. But even that we still had no idea. It was those kids that voted him in. It's just amazing," Mr. Sauerwein said.

Andrew is a middle child, with an older brother, Kevin and a younger sister, Katelynn.

"I really think that's why Andrew is the way he is. He's got an older brother to look up to and he's got Katelynn saying 'I'll get you there!'," Mrs. Sauerwein said. "All of our kids have been very beneficial to each other."

As far as Andrew's future goes, the options are not limited.

One option would be to stay at the high school and expand his skills in the things he is already involved in like the culinary arts and swimming.

No final decision has been made though.

"He has so many opportunities outside of the school too," Mrs. Sauerwein said. "I think Chef would be able to recommend him to go somewhere. If not that then maybe working with animals."

Mr. Sauerwein said it best when he said, "We don't have excuses and we choose to be lazy a lot of the time. Andrew has all of the excuses in the world, yet he does it anyway."

"Andrew goes to school eight hours a day, goes to band and then goes to swimming and then comes home to do his chores and whatever else he has to do at home. Not one time has he ever complained to me and said 'I too tired.'" Mrs. Sauerwein said. "He's never said 'I dumb' or 'I can't'. He's just always been able to do it. I don't want people to see his disability. I want people to see who he is and his capabilities. Don't say 'Oh, he has downs syndrome, therefore he can only do this'. Try it out and let's see if he can or can't do it. He amazes us every day."

The name Andrew Sauerwein is definitely one to watch out for in the near future. He is a force to be reckoned with and should be an inspiration to us all to never give up just because we think it might be too hard.

Margie Marney celebrates 103rd birthday on Oct. 1

Margie Marney recently celebrated her 103rd birthday surrounded by friends.

Born Oct. 1, 1911, in Wills Point, she was the next-to-the-youngest sibling in the family, with three brothers and five sisters. Her father was a farmer and a rancher. The family worked long, hard hours every day and relied on a horse and wagon for transportation.

She married Rube Courtney and raised three children – Billy, Jackie and Ann. The couple lived in Wills Point and Dallas while raising their family, but retired to Canton in 1967 where they became members of the Big Rock Church of Christ. She was very involved with the church.

On Feb. 8, 1970, she lost her husband, with whom she shared eight grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren.

In 1973, she married Wade Marney and acquired two additional grown children. The two decided to open a business, Marney's BBQ, in Canton, across the street from the courthouse on the square. Business was good, especially on the First Monday weekends; it grew as time went on. The couple enjoyed serving their customers from sun up to sundown. In 1986, Wade Marney died of cancer and she decided to close the business.

Today, she lives in Rockwall at the Broadmoor Medical Lodge.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This story was submitted for publication last week; however, it was inadvertently omitted from last week's newspaper. Sadly, Mrs. Marney died Oct. 8, 2014. The RCN regrets the error and sends its thoughts and prayers to her family.)

Ouida Springer Elementary recently announced its first 10 winners of the Principal's 200 Club, a positive behavior support system that rewards students for exhibiting their B.E.S.T. (Be Excellent, Show Respect, Stay safe. Take responsibility.) Students who are seen exhibiting their B.E.S.T. behavior are given a golden ticket redeemed in the office for a spot on the Principal's 200 Club board. When a row fills up, all students on that row win the mystery motivator. The goal is to encourage positive behavior and celebrate good choices students are making during school. ## Ask Dr. Danette

by Danette McNew, D.D.S.

FROM THE MOUTHS OF BABES

By now, new mothers have been advised that breast-feeding confers numerous health benefits to both mother and child. Not only do the antibodies in mother's milk protect babies from disease, breast-fed babies also have lower rates of obesity and type-2 diabetes and may also be less likely to develop crooked teeth. This latter potential benefit is largely due to the different sucking mechanisms for bottle- and breast-feeding that affect the development of the muscles of the mouth, face, and palate. An analysis of the feeding histories and sucking patterns of nearly 1,100 children between ages three and five shows that breast-feeding allows for proper positioning of baby teeth, which is critical for correct jaw alignment and positioning of permanent teeth.

When breast-feeding, the child will benefit from the specific nutrition only you can provide. Whether you are 80 or 8, we have the oral health information you are searching for. We would like to increase dental awareness and stress the importance of regular dental care. At McNEW DENTAL, our caring, friendly team of dental professionals is committed to providing you with a clinically advanced, and comfortable, dental experience. Call 469/338-4604 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 1300 E. Ralph Hall Pkwy., Suite 114. "Smiles are contagious and best when shared"

P.S. As a child's permanent teeth begin to erupt, the dentist can analyze his or her swallowing mechanism for signs of "tongue thrusting," which may encourage the top front teeth to protrude.

NTCOG delays decision on long-range transportation plan

The Central Texas Council of Governments plans to delay asking the Regional Transportation Council to consider an amendment to the long-range transportation plan, Mobility 2035 - 2013 Update, until next month.

The council originally had been expected to consider the amendment at its meeting in October, but postponing a decision will allow more time to review public comments about the Blacklands Corridor Study following that study's public meeting Sept. 22.

At the meeting, almost all expressing concerns about the toll road. Residents also submitted written comments in support of the toll road. The council is compiling public input, which will be provided to the Regional Transportation Council. The deadline to provide comments on the study was Oct. 2. Staff members now are determining which projects to attend the public meeting who would still like to review the study and discuss the website, where a video of information about the feasibility study is available.

The council's 14 amendment to Mobility 2035 - 2013 Update, staff are proposing to incorporate the most current project level information about the projects across the region, allowing for improvements to meet critical deadlines and move forward with the study. Staff recommendations regarding projects to be included in the study will be determined following review of public input.

The study is examining transportation needs in the area of the Blacklands, which includes parts of Dallas, Tarrant, and Hunt counties. The study area stretches from US Highway 75 to I-30 in the south and is approximately 35 miles long and 10 miles wide.

At a meeting Sept. 22, planners recommended a combination of toll roads, transit, and other transportation needs in the area. The study findings and public involvement since July 2013 have identified arterials, a new freeway/tollway, bicycle and pedestrian improvements and IH 30 bottleneck improvements were recommended presented at the meeting for input.

Americans, Like the Founders, Must Gather the Courage that Forged a Nation

It is no surprise to most thinking people that Wal-Mart, like many other large retailers, has recently announced it would be suspending health-care benefits for part-time workers. A double hit on workers: In many cases, they previously had full-time jobs with 40 hours a week before being reduced to part-time status and now losing their health benefits. The Affordable Care Act, which probably seems less affordable to most Americans as we find it, is the cause of this unnecessary misery. When the employer mandate, which is activated early next year, tens of millions more Americans will face dramatic cuts in the health care they currently receive or will lose it altogether. The current administration understood that this would happen, which occasioned the issuing of several executive orders to delay implementation of the employer mandate until after the November 2014 elections. It is most disturbing to me about this government-manufactured attack on the well-being of American citizens is the apparent contempt for the intelligence of the American people. Many citizens assume that many citizens are not bright enough to realize they are being pushed off politically and that things that impact them so negatively are being pushed off on them, when they willingly give their votes to the very people who are using them. Politicians who convinced large portions of the populace that Obamacare would be their medical needs, and that you could keep your doctor and your insurance if you were not, also told us that the IRS scandal was phony and that pertinent records and emails appeared from the computers of the main people under suspicion. They also want people to believe that the Benghazi was the result of an inflammatory video and that anyone questioning the administration is clearly a partisan troublemaker who dislikes the current administration. It is too long for this article, but any objective individual would not have a difficult time seeing that Americans are faced with a less than honest government, as well as a press that has forgotten the First Amendment. The Founders envisioned the press as an ally of the people, rather than a political ideology. All of us, including the press, must learn the difference between policies that are anti-America, and to recognize those that are meant to benefit a particular party. We have "we the people" with an incredibly important choice regarding our relationship with the government. We can go along to get along and make sure that no one calls us a nasty piece of work -- or, like the patriots who preceded us, we can embrace the values and principles that gave us a strong identity as a "can-do nation" with strong faith and compassion. The Founders valued that allowed a ragtag army during the American Revolution to defeat the British military force on Earth. They did not possess a superior fighting force or strategy, but they did hold strong beliefs, for which they were willing to die, while the British soldiers were just following orders. That same kind of conviction today could lead us to become informed voters and exercise the powers vested in us courageously.

Historically, during great cultural clashes, those with strong convictions and beliefs have overcome those with weak convictions, who have lost their identity. We are now involved in a worldwide conflict with forces that wish to destroy America and our way of life. We can capitulate to the forces of political correctness and surrender everything that made us strong and unique for the sake of not offending anyone, or we can proudly embrace the values and principles that made us great, honor our Constitution and place our trust in God. This is our best safeguard.

Ben S. Carson is professor emeritus of neurosurgery at Johns Hopkins University and author of the new book "One Nation: What We Can All Do To Save America's Future" (Sentinel).

Clerks have the power to protect property owners

As the November elections draws closer, people are thinking more about who to choose for different offices. When choosing candidates, there are several questions to consider: will the candidates follow the principles of their positions; will they restrain themselves within the limits of the constitution; will their authority to protect the people's right to be secure in the persons and property. The most powerful elected officials are the County Clerks. One of their primary duties is to maintain a record of all Tax Liens in the county. This is a book with a record of all Tax Liens in the county. The Tax Lien Index is meant for "Liens," then where should a "Notice of Tax Lien" be filed? County Clerks are authorized to set up a "Notice of Tax Lien" Index that is separate from a "Tax Lien Index" to protect the people and businesses in the county? If the Tax Lien Index is meant for "Liens," then where should a "Notice of Tax Lien" be filed? County Clerks are authorized to set up a "Notice of Tax Lien" Index that is separate from a "Tax Lien Index" to protect the people and businesses in the county?

County Clerks have the sole power to protect all property owners. County Clerks are responsible for receiving and recording all Tax Liens in the State and Federal Tax Lien Index. The Tax Lien Index is a book with a record of all Tax Liens in the county. The Tax Lien Index is meant for "Liens," then where should a "Notice of Tax Lien" be filed? County Clerks are authorized to set up a "Notice of Tax Lien" Index that is separate from a "Tax Lien Index" to protect the people and businesses in the county? If the Tax Lien Index is meant for "Liens," then where should a "Notice of Tax Lien" be filed? County Clerks are authorized to set up a "Notice of Tax Lien" Index that is separate from a "Tax Lien Index" to protect the people and businesses in the county?

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR: I am a patriot, and I am not afraid to speak my mind. But it cannot survive treason from within. A traitor is less formidable, for he is known and carries his banner openly. He moves amongst those within the gate freely, his sly whispers rustling through all the inner recesses of government itself. He appears not as a traitor, he speaks in accents familiar to his victims and he wears their language and their arguments. He appears to the baseness that lies deep in the hearts of men. He works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government, he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government, he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government.

body politic so that it can no longer resist. He works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government, he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government, he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of the government.

Rockwall-Heath flies away with big homecoming win

Rockwall-Heath flew away with a big homecoming win, defeating North Forney 52-0 in front of a Homecoming crowd of over 1,000 fans at Wilkerson-Sanders Memorial Stadium. The Falcons' offense accounted for 350 of the team's 429 total yards, with Rico Henderson leading the way with 103 yards and a touchdown. Henderson ran 17 times for 103 yards and a touchdown, while Caanan Smith added 50 yards and a touchdown. The Falcons' defense, led by big stops from Wyatt Leath, Cory Wilkerson, Josh Scott and Tristen Carstarphen, held the Hawks silent all night.

Henderson, an 11-yard Tyler McCalister rushing touchdown and a 23-yard field goal by Omar Shalabi at the halftime buzzer put the Hawks up 38-0. Chase Peterson pulled in a 10-yard pass from Hoy in the third and Smith ran for an eight-yard touchdown in the final five minutes to cap off the Hawks' scoring. The Heath defense, led by big stops from Wyatt Leath, Cory Wilkerson, Josh Scott and Tristen Carstarphen, held the Falcons silent all night. Prior to kickoff, the 2014 Homecoming Court and the athletic and club sweethearts and escorts were recognized. Heath's 2014 King and Queen, Nathan Tran and Lauren Murphrey, were crowned. The Hawks return to Wilkerson-Sanders Memorial Stadium tomorrow night as they host West Mesquite (5-1, 2-1). Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

'Perfect record on the line vs. Watauga

Rockwall-Heath's perfect record on the line vs. Watauga continued in their district opener, but lost 66-50 to Trinity School of Midland. A head coach Robert Huckabee. "I haven't seen much of Midland, but I thought they would score easily." The Eagles' offense, led by senior transfer Alex Robertson and junior Brendan Schroepfer, who "seems to intercept every week and is solid in pass coverage." The Eagles are moving into the tough part of their schedule. "It appears to be a real dogfight. Everybody is fairly even. It will come down to who executes better." The Eagles had a good start in that regard against Ovilla, Huckabee said. "They were really focused. They zeroed in on 'Everybody's 0-0 in the district.' It was a sense from the beginning that they had a good team. It did help to get off to a good start." The Eagles' defense, led by big stops from Wyatt Leath, Cory Wilkerson, Josh Scott and Tristen Carstarphen, held the Hawks silent all night. Prior to kickoff, the 2014 Homecoming Court and the athletic and club sweethearts and escorts were recognized. Heath's 2014 King and Queen, Nathan Tran and Lauren Murphrey, were crowned. ## Rockwall ISD tennis teams sweep district play

The Rockwall and Heath tennis teams head into the post-season tournaments as the favorites from their respective districts after ending regular season play undefeated. The Yellowjackets went a perfect 7-0 in 11-6A, and hosted the District Championship Tournament last week. Rockwall continued their dominance with wins over Lakeview and Sachse. The Jackets then downed Tyler Lee 10-5 to take the top playoff spot and advance to the 6A Area Championships October 22-23 in Waco. The Hawks captured the 12-5A title Tuesday, October 7 with a victory over South Garland. Instead of holding a district championship tournament, the 12-5A coaches elected to advance the top three teams (Heath, West Mesquite and Forney) to the Area tournament, which will be in Rockwall October 22-23 against teams from 11-5A.

Ex-Fulton coach Johnson gets college job

Josh Johnson – who left The Fulton School this summer to coach in Clovis, N.M. – has moved on again. On Thursday, Oct. 9, he was named the men's basketball head coach at Oak Hills Christian College in Bemidji, Minn. The Wolfpack competes at the junior college level, and was the Association of Christian College Athletics national champion in 2006. Johnson posted on Facebook that being a college head coach was a life-long goal. After 3 successful years coaching the Falcons, who set school records for wins in both football and basketball, he and his wife, Kallye Johnson, resigned to take jobs at Clovis Christian Academy. They spent last weekend driving with their two children to Minnesota. Josh Johnson's Fulton basketball teams were 58-30 and reached the Regional final in each of his three seasons. He was 102-64 as boys' coach at Fulton, Fort Worth Glenview Christian and Duncanville ChristWay Academy and girls' coach at Arlington Fellowship Academy. Clovis Christian restored six-man football this year. The 32-year-old Johnson coached the team in Thursday's game, which the Eagles won to improve to 3-3.

Vance leads Royse City Bulldogs to 2nd win in a row

by Lary Bump

Royse City entertained a Homecoming crowd by rolling up 558 yards of offense in a 45-35 victory over South Garland Friday night.

Since snapping a 10-game losing streak the Bulldogs have won two in a row to move into a four-way tie for second place in their first 5A season.

In front of them, both in the standings and on the schedule, is Mesquite Poteet (5-1 overall, 3-0 in District 12-5A). RC (2-4, 2-1) would visit the Pirates at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Mesquite Memorial Stadium.

South Garland scored on its first two possessions for a 13-7 lead, but the Bulldogs posted the next 24 points for a 31-13 lead.

They also started fast on offense, with first downs on seven of their first nine plays and touchdowns on each of their first four possessions.

Time ran out on RC at halftime, but the Dawgs came back with Preston Browning's 27-yard field goal following the second-half kickoff. It was Browning's sixth 3-point kick this season.

Quarterback Courtland Vance led that offensive surge. He ran 33 yards for Royse City's first touchdown, passed to Chris Sims for a 65-yard score and hit Aaron Landers for an 18-yard TD in the third quarter. Vance completed 16 of 21 passes for 224 yards and carried the ball 9 times for 88 rushing yards.

Brett Martinez ran for first-down touchdowns of 31 and 4 yards and finished with 19 carries for 142 yards.

He has five rushing TDs.

Ryan Stone, who took over at quarterback with the game seemingly in hand, scored on a 1-yard fourth quarter.

There were anxious moments after the Colonels (0-6, 0-3) pulled within 45-35 and then recovered a fumble. The threat ended when quarterback Ashtyn Baker fumbled a fourth-down snap and was tackled.

Chance Damron made a team-high 12 tackles for the Bulldogs, and Sam Rosenstengle had 11. Royse City had a sack.

South Garland's Jerminic Smith caught 12 passes for 153 yards and two touchdowns, and ran 14 double reverse for another TD.
