Assistant Chief Gary Tittle of the Dallas Police Department speaks during the 9-11 memorial ceremony, Fri. Sept. 9, 2016, at Rest Haven Memorial Park in Rockwall. Back are the Amy Parks Elementary School Starlight Singers. Under the direction of Jan Onestreet, the choir sang "Hero," "We Shall Never Forget," and "God Bless America." The National Anthem was sung by Dorothy Spradlin after the raising of the colors by the Rockwall Police Department Honor Guard. Following introductions by Rockwall County Sheriff Harold Eavenson, Mr. Tittle declared his belief that 9-11 was committed by radical Islamic terrorists, spoke about the recent Dallas shootings of police officers, and called on all private citizens in the U.S. to unite with federal, state and local governments. As Tittle's speech came to a close, a snake mysteriously appeared in the walkway in front of the podium. A member of the audience, Brent Sandlin, Captain of Rowlett Fire Rescue, promptly stood up and placed his foot on top of the snake as Tittle ended his speech by thanking Sandlin and all "heroes" for rescuing us from the "snake." Tittle's highly charged ending to his speech prompted a standing ovation from the audience.

Arrests made in connection with local man's death

Robert Poynter

Royse City woman has been identified as a Quinlan resident turned in following the discovery of a woman's body on Friday, Sept. 9. Officers from multiple agencies have since the initial call received at 10:40 p.m. on that date when the Robert Poynter of Royse City was shot with a single gunshot wound according to a Royse City Department news release. The resulting investigation led to initially detain Chacey Quinlan, wife of the deceased, and later an arrest warrant for conspiracy to commit murder, according to the release. Further investigation led officers to believe a second person was involved in the death. The investigation provided led to a search warrant of a home in Quinlan. Michael Garza is believed to reside. An arrest warrant was issued for Garza for the charge of murder on Robert Poynter's death. On the early morning hours of Sunday, Sept. 11, Garza turned himself in to the Hunt County Sheriff Office on the Royse City Department warrant, according to information from the news release. Royse City Police were dispatched to the area of FM 35 near Hunt Road 2595 regarding a woman in the roadway attempting to stop vehicles. When the first officer arrived, the woman advised that her husband had been shot and was in a vehicle located on CR 2595. Lawmen placed the woman in a police vehicle and began their investigation. The man believed to be the woman's husband was discovered inside the vehicle with a single gunshot wound. He was dead when officers arrived, according to an earlier news release issued by the police department. According to the first news release, officers involved in the early part of the investigation "discovered suspicious and conflicting information that was provided by the female. Further investigation revealed that a third party is believed to have been at the location at the time of the incident." Robert Poynter was a captain with the University Park Fire Department. He began his service there in 1997. A firefighter/paramedic, he was promoted to lieutenant in April 2002 and became a captain in May 2012, according to the department's website. "The members of the University Park Fire Department were deeply saddened to hear of his passing," read a message on the fire department's website. "Our heartfelt thoughts and prayers are with the family at this difficult time." University Park is located about five miles north of downtown Dallas. Investigators continue to work on this case, according to the second news release. Officers from the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Hunt County Sheriff's Office and the Rockwall County Sheriff's Office have assisted with the investigation.

including:
 • An update on property tax reform, a central focus of Senate interim hearings;
 • An update on current issues in emergency management from county officials affected by the numerous recent floods across the state;
 • An examination of rising indigent defense costs and best practices;
 • A look at the state's Driver Responsibility Program and calls to reform or even end it; and,
 • A candid discussion of transportation and infrastructure issues counties face.
 In addition, the conference's general sessions included presentations by Paul Smith, author of Lead with a Story; Texas State House Representative Larry Gonzales, who discussed best practices for county officials engaging in the legislative process; and Chet Garner of PBS's The Daytripper, who has been collaborating with TAC on a series of educational shorts about county government.

County officials join TAC talk on upcoming legislative session

Rockwall County Judge David Sweet, Commissioners Dennis and David Magness and County Clerk Shelli Miller were among the hundreds of county officials who gathered in Austin 4-26 at the Texas Association of Counties 2016 Legislative Conference to discuss the upcoming legislative session and the concerns shared by Texas' local governments and local officials. Legislative Conference is really the one time each year that county officials from around the state can get together as peers and as unity leaders to discuss common issues and potential solutions to shared challenges, and to discuss the coming legislative session, the workings of which will undoubtedly affect counties in various ways," TAC Executive Director Gene Terry said in a news release from the county. "It is also a perfect opportunity to meet and work with our colleagues in the legislature before the whirlwind of session, to discuss the interim and what can be accomplished this year. During their three days in Austin, county officials heard from their experts and legislators on several hot topics affecting counties,

A SOFT TOUCH

When purchasing a toothbrush, choose one with soft bristles that have rounded ends. Hard bristles can wear away enamel, as can a "death grip" on your toothbrush that leads you to exert too much pressure on tooth enamel, which abrades teeth. With this in mind, use a light touch when brushing. If the bristles become splayed after a month of use, it is an indication that you are exerting too much pressure. It is also important to take your time, being sure to brush all surfaces. Each tooth has at least four surfaces (front, back, and both sides), while molars have a fifth top surface. Thorough brushing requires at least two to three minutes.

This helpful and informative column has been brought to you in the interest of better dental health by McNEW DENTAL. Call us at 972.771.2213 for an appointment. Have you been putting off seeing a dentist? We're located at 1300 E. Ralph Hall Pkwy., Suite 114, where we are currently accepting new patients. We provide cosmetic, functional, and preventive dental care for all patients of all ages. You can rely on us to answer any questions you may have about dental treatments and procedures.

P.S. While toothpaste helps freshen breath and keep teeth white, as well as provides fluoride, it is the mechanical action of the bristles that do the primary job of removing cavity-causing plaque from tooth surfaces.

Police: Man attempts to lure girl from school

Rockwall Police issued a news release last week detailed what was described as a man attempting to lure a 13-year-old girl on her way home from school.

On Wednesday, Sept. 7, at approximately 4:20 p.m., the Rockwall Police Department received a call from a parent who reported that shortly after school let out for the day, a man approached her daughter on the northwest corner of Utley Middle School at 1201 T.L. Townsend Drive. The man attempted to lure her into his vehicle, according to the report, but drove away after seeing a motorcycle police officer in the area.

The student described the subject as being a white male with black hair wearing an orange or red shirt, according to the news release. The student was unable to provide the subject's age.

The subject's vehicle is described as an older silver compact four-door with rear tinted windows.

The Rockwall Police Department is investigating the incident with the assistance of the Rockwall Independent School District.

Anyone with information regarding this incident should contact the police department at 972-771-7721.

Habitat seeks volunteers

The Rockwall Habitat for Humanity is seeking volunteers – individuals or groups – for Saturday mornings in September.

The current home is located at 801 Lamar (travel north on South Goliad Street, turn right on East Ross Street, then right on Lamar – the house is at the end of the street; don't rely on a smartphone map).

Groups should request to be scheduled in advance; individuals can notify Humanity representatives to let them know as late as the day before.

History - America voting saves the rest of the World

Kenneth Shores, Rockwall, Texas
In the rest of the world some people hate and want to destroy America, some people want to become part of America and some love their country and America.
Some people in this world have been convinced by leaders, America destroy their only true way to live and die in this world. Some in this world admire the freedom and life style of America. They may choose to live in their own country, but support peace and freedom. Others want to escape where they live in order to have America's freedom of choice and religion. Many of these people become our best citizens. Then there are some who pretend to love the American way of life, but in reality want to come here and destroy America.
The heritage and history of America are made up of people from the rest of the world. They have no desire to move from their country, but admire and support America, like many of the people of the world, and enjoy life and peace. There are some who give a false image of America, but are part of the hated group and are catching us off guard in order to destroy us.
What happens when we vote in a government that does not abide by our founding fathers established? America begins to drift from its Godliness. The Bible in Genesis and other places tells us that marriage is between one man and one woman. This started with Adam and Eve and is the only way to have children. Romans chapters 1 and 2 explain God's wrath against mankind and His righteousness, including sexual immorality. This is the reason that as long as we do not come to our country realize this, individual freedoms can be perceived as a Godly Christian nation (NOTE: Religion is not a government, but if voted in officials are faithful Christians, they will support our laws in the Christian way.)
The Supreme Court consists of eight Supreme Court Justices and one Chief Justice. Why did our forefathers setup this court and not have a check and balance, plus maintain "We The People" First a multilevel court system was developed to process cases at levels of the law. The ranges were from the Justice of the Peace to the Supreme Court. If any party within a court trial challenged the court's decision they could appeal. If they appealed the United States Constitution, the Supreme Court will be the final decision to settle the dispute. Can the Supreme Court be over-turned? Yes, but only by our law makers, our United States Congress by a 2/3 vote. United States Congress as our Law makers have the responsibility to determine the number of Supreme Court Justices and their compensation. The President of the United States appoints open seat Justices, then they are ratified by the United States Senate.
Local city councils, mayors, county commissioners, judges, clerks, district attorneys, etc., are elected in order to keep government unit in check and protect the people. Each elected official gives an Oath of Office to defend and obey the Constitution. Certain officials are issued Certificates of Commission to enforce related statutes that regulate their positions no matter if they are elected officials vote on an action.
This is why lawfully executed elections are so important.

On God's Word by Timothy W. Burnett Conception of Jesus ... Part 2

Continuing in Hebrews, "For verily he took not on the nature of angels; but he took on the seed of Abraham" (Hebrews 2:16). Jesus was not a spiritual being, such as an angel.
"Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people" (verse 17). Jesus was made with a body of flesh like his family through Mary. Jesus did become a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to his Father.
As a side note, the above verses destroy allegations that Jesus was God Himself. This could be the subject of a separate study. Instead, Jesus' mother was of the genetic line of Abraham. Thus, Jesus was of the same line of Abraham. According to the ancient prophecies, the Messiah from God was to be of the seed of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob (Israel) and King David.
"For in that he himself has suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted" (verse 18). As a man who suffered and was tempted like all other people, Jesus is truly able to pull and draw close to him them that are tempted, and have suffered under the bondage and fear of death.
Why is this important even to this day, after nearly two thousand years since Jesus died?

This is what it means to be cleansed by the blood of the Lamb.
According to the basic information found in Romans 10:9-10 and Acts 2:4, people can believe with their hearts that God raised Jesus from the dead unto being filled with holy spirit, which is true righteousness. Afterward, they can declare with their mouths Jesus to be the true Lord, unto the new-birth and salvation.
God raised Jesus from the dead, and sat him at His right hand of all authority on earth and in heaven. The result of Jesus' high valued blood being shed during his death, was that any person can be cleansed from the inside-out, and get born-again not of the corruptible blood as from a man's seed, but of incorruptible seed by the word of God which lives and abides for ever (see 1 Peter 1:23).
This is the ever living and abiding words from God that gush out of people as rivers of living waters, when they start praying with the spirit (See also 1 Cor. 14:5 and 14-15; and Acts 2:4).
Joseph and Mary were a perfect fit for God's righteous plan of salvation. Their hearts and minds were in the right place to raise Jesus up to adulthood. They would have given him right counsel and advice, punished him as a child when necessary, fed him good food, made sure he understood his true identity, etc.
The only unique part of the conception of our Lord Jesus was that God, the Creator of the heavens and the earth gave life to the egg in Mary, thus conceiving Jesus. This unique part resulted in Jesus having incorruptible blood that would allow him to be the perfect and final sacrificial Lamb for all of mankind according to God's will.

'Back the Blue' to support Rockwall Police Department

Rockwall residents have created a way for people to extend financial support for the Rockwall Police Department, according to a city news release.
Money donated to the Silent Partners organization helps ensure police in Rockwall have everything they need to do their jobs effectively and return home safely.
An event thanking the community for its support was to have taken place Wednesday, Sept. 14, in downtown Rockwall.
Rockwall residents have been moved by recent events involving police in Dallas and across the country and wanted to reach out to show their support for local law enforcement, according to the news release. The funds received will directly benefit officers of the Rockwall Police Department for things such as assisting the families of fallen officers in Rockwall County, sending representatives to fallen officers' funerals and supporting local non-profit organizations and college scholarships.
"This new organization provides an incredible opportunity for those who have expressed an interest in giving to this worthwhile cause without being in the limelight," Mayor Jim Pruitt said in the news release.
Anyone who would like to donate can send their contributions directly to the Rockwall Police Department at 205 W. Rusk St., Rockwall, TX 75087. Specify "Silent Partners" on the check.

Just Say You Saw It In "The County News"

Sec. 2051.048 NOTICE OF OTHER POLITICAL SUBDIVISION.
(a) This section applies only to a political subdivision other than a county or a conservation and reclamation district under Section 2051.047.
(b) A notice of a political subdivision shall be published in a newspaper that is published in the political subdivision and that will publish the notice at or below the legal rate.
(c) If no newspaper published in the political subdivision will publish the notice at or below the legal rate, the political subdivision shall publish the notice in a newspaper that:
(1) is published in the county in which the political subdivision is located; and
(2) will charge the legal rate or a lower rate.

HHCA effort to boost local Rainbow Room

The cheerleaders and football players of Heath Hawks Community Athletics are teaming up to support a local charity, the Rockwall County Rainbow Room, as a community service project leading up to Rainbow Homecoming activities.
Nearly 300 children attending Amy Parks, Jones, Pullen, Rochell, Shannon and Springer Elementary schools are collecting donations to benefit that organization.
"Our cheer girls loved having the opportunity to help kids and families in our area last year and are excited to be able to partner with the Rainbow Room again this year," Angela Cecil, president of HHCA Cheer, said.
"The HHCA football players are excited to join with the cheer organization this year to help support our community," Andrew Thomas, president of HHCA Football, said. "We are teaching our kids not only the fundamentals of the game of football, but are teaching life lessons through the act of community service."
Items requested by the Rainbow Room include backpacks for school aged children, boys and girls socks (any size), infant body wash, infant shampoo, kids 2-in-1 shampoo/conditioner and kids body wash. Any and staple item donations will be accepted by HHCA at the RHHS Homecoming Celebration on Wednesday, Oct. 14, from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. preceding the pep rally.
HHCA is a community pure football and cheer organization with participants ranging in age from kindergarten to 6th grade. The 2016 football and cheer season is underway with games played in Heath and Forney. For more information visit hhcheer.com or hhcafootball.com or follow the groups on Facebook.

REDC: Trend Tower construction finished

The final phase of construction has been completed on the last available space in the Trend Tower according to a news release from the Rockwall Economic Development Corporation.
Trend Tower is a seven-story corporate office space located 30 miles east of Dallas on the east shores of Lake Ray Hubbard, according to the release. Since 2014, it has provided Rockwall with 110,000 square feet of office space.
Because of the Tower's 100 percent occupancy, a second tower is in the planning stages, according to the release. The second model is presently available for leasing.
"These types of projects are what allow Rockwall to continue on its current path of success," REDC president Sheri Franza said.

Results from the 2016 Post-Libertarianism Conservatism Debate Survey

By Ekins Institute

The Institute and Heritage Foundation recently co-hosted a debate between libertarians and conservatives which interns from both organizations debated whether capitalism or libertarianism is the better philosophy. At the time of the debate, the Cato Institute conducted a post-debate survey finding important similarities between millennial conservative and libertarian attendees on skepticism toward economic intervention and business regulation, but also differences in attitudes toward immigration, LGBT issues, security, privacy, foreign policy, and perceptions of bias in the system.

What Are Their Priority Issues?

We asked conservative and libertarian attendees to rate on a scale of 1 to 5 how concerned they were about nineteen different issues. A multitude of differences, millennial libertarian and conservative attendees share almost the same top five political issues: (1) government spending and debt, (2) economy/jobs, (3) terrorism, (4) national security, and (5) government regulation of business. The groups differ significantly on non-economic issues. Libertarian attendees are more concerned about (1) government domestic policy, (2) the criminal justice system, (3) drug prohibition, (4) inequality, and the (5) environment. On the other hand, conservatives are significantly more concerned about (1) national terrorism, (2) abortion, (3) morality in society, and (4) income. Both were similarly less concerned about income and drug use, and similarly concerned about education and health care.

Nostalgic or Optimistic?

In national surveys of conservatives, 64% of millennial conservatives say American culture and way of life has mostly "gone for the worse" since the 1950s. But millennial libertarians are more optimistic: 74% of libertarians say America is "getting better." Of both groups, only one in ten (11% and 12%, respectively) thought that American culture has stayed the same.

No Man is an Island?

Fully 60% of conservative attendees "strongly agree" that "no man is an island" compared to just 14% of libertarian attendees. Once those who "strongly" and "somewhat" agree are combined together, 88% of conservatives and 68% of libertarians agree with the statement. Another 26% of libertarians flat out disagree that "no man is an island," nearly 3x as likely as conservatives (9%). This underlying difference in perspective likely drives disagreement between the two groups on social policy.

Despite this, both libertarians (92%) and conservatives (94%) are equally likely to agree that "community service is an honorable thing to do."

Should we do more to make LGBT individuals feel welcome?

A majority—66%—of libertarian attendees agrees that "each of us should do more to ensure that lesbians, gays, bisexual, and transgender people feel fully accepted in society, while 30% disagree. In reverse, 64% of conservatives disagree that we need to do more to ensure LGBT people feel fully accepted in society, while 32% agree.

Part of the reason why is that libertarians and conservatives have different views about what is morally acceptable. Fully 64% of conservative millennial attendees say that "identifying with a gender different from the gender assigned at birth" or being transgender is "morally wrong." Libertarians disagree and instead 62% say that being transgender is "not a moral issue."

Is pornography a public health crisis?

A slim majority (53%) of conservative millennial attendees agree that "pornography is a public health crisis," comporting with the amendment to the 2016 Republican Party Platform that made the same claim, while 44% disagree. In contrast, 84% of libertarians say pornography is not a public health crisis, while 10% say it is.

Conservatives (48%) are twice as likely as libertarians (25%) to agree that the "government needs to do more to combat the prescription painkiller addiction epidemic" in this country. Instead, a majority (70%) of millennial libertarians say this isn't government's job, as do 49% of conservatives.

Despite these differences, majorities of both millennial conservative (56%) and libertarian (94%) attendees still agree "we should be more tolerant of people who choose to live according to their own moral standards even if they are different from our own." Nevertheless libertarians are far more likely to fervently agree with 67% who "strongly agree" compared to 21% of conservatives.

Nevertheless, a strong majority (68%) of conservatives say that government "should promote traditional values in society" in contrast to 84% of libertarians who disagree and instead say "government should not favor any particular set of values."

Freedom of Conscience

Conservatives care more about religion than libertarians do; however, both strongly support religious liberty.

Fully 88% of conservative attendees agree that "it is important for children to be brought up in a religion so they can learn good values" while in contrast 61% of libertarians instead disagree that religion is important for learning good values. While nearly all (96%) of conservatives identify a religious preference, 40% of libertarians identify as "non-religious." A slim majority (53%) of conservative attendees said they attend religious services once a week or more compared to 15% of libertarians. Twenty-eight (28%) of libertarians said they never attend compared to 4% of conservatives.

Despite differences in religiosity, 88% of conservatives and 69% of libertarians say they support a law in their state that would allow businesses to refuse service to customers for religious reasons.

Furthermore, strong majorities of both conservative attendees (79%) and libertarian attendees (92%) agree that "if a Muslim clergyman wanted to make a speech in your community preaching hatred of the United States" that he "should be allowed" to speak. Both are far more likely than Americans nationally (42%) to support allowing such speech.
