A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Belated luck is still luck

For nearly six months, Ruben and Michelle Montoya had no idea how lucky they were.

The Upland, Calif., couple struck it rich in September when a lottery ticket they bought hit all six numbers, but they didn't get around to checking the numbers until just hours before the ticket would have expired.

Michelle Montoya said she caught a news report about the unclaimed $11 million prize. "I couldn't believe it," she said. "There was the guy I buy groceries from on TV."

That sent Ruben Montoya searching through a stack of old tickets until he found the one with the winning numbers.

Customs won't be fooled

Miami customs agents said they selected Joel Calistan for a random search after he stepped off a plane from Haiti.

A search of his bags at Miami International Airport turned up nothing, but agents said Calistan appeared nervous and his story about a broken arm didn't sound quite right.

He eventually agreed to let the inspectors examine and drill into the cast, and the inside of the cast tested positive for cocaine.

The cast was removed at a local hospital, revealing 2.3 pounds of cocaine.

Piece of thumb found in food

Federal officials have found three safety violations and fined the food company that services Barnstable (Mass.) High School $9,450 after a small piece of a human thumb ended up in a sandwich.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration determined the partial digit belonged to a cafeteria worker who had accidentally severed the top of her thumb in a vegetable slicer Jan. 30. A student found the thumb in a turkey and tomato sandwich

Since the incident, workers have been given more training.

Nursing-home completion now targeted for mid-July

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Officials from Lubbock's Greenstreet Construction and BGR Architects-Engineers told the Muleshoe Area Hospital District Board on Thursday that the expected completion date for the new nursing home is now mid-July.

Bad weather during the winter has slowed the work by only a few days, the project representatives said.

"The work is going very well the progress is good," said Coda Stephenson Jr. of BGR.

The framing and the concrete work are mostly done, he added. The insulation that was installed exceeds what was specified, and the brick being used on the exterior meets or exceeds specifications, he said.

Board members also heard presentations from representatives of three companies interested in supplying furniture for the residents'

Each was given 10 minutes in which to make a presentation. Board members are to study the materials left by the companies and make a decision later.

Board member Arline Phelps said that in regard to furnishing the rooms, "The No. 1 concern is the bed and how it functions. I think that decision needs to be made first, and then everything else will fall into place."

District administrator Jim Bone introduced board members to Dr. Thomas Smith, whose contract was presented for board approval.

The board also approved two other additions to the medical staff — Dr. Felipe Jubay, who has an established practice in Friona, and Dr. Robert Bannister.

Confusion mars image of planned detention center

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Some citizens of Bailey County apparently are misinformed about some aspects of the proposed prison project being courted by the county.

At least one resident has come by the Journal office questioning why the county is pursuing the project in light of problems with a new juvenile detention center at Littlefield.

The two projects are apples and oranges.

As has been reported from the start, the Bailey County project would not require any taxpayer funds, which were obligated in Littlefield.

Bailey County's proposal would be funded privately, then operated under a lease-purchase agreement with the county and eventually would become county property.

In the meantime, it would pro-

Crop disaster funds begin trip through mail

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Agriculture Secretary Ann Veneman announced Friday that payments under the U.S. Department of Agriculture Crop Disaster Program were beginning.

More than $1.1 billion is scheduled to be distributed.

About 450,000 applications from 160,000 farmers have been approved, she said, and more are expected.

"American farmers are still feeling the pressure of low (commodity) prices, and in many cases, the effects of natural disasters," Veneman said. "These payments will assist farmers in this difficult time."

Signup for the program began Jan. 18. Farmers should contact their local USDA Service Center or Farm Service Agency county office to file an application.

To be eligible under this program, farmers must have suffered at least 35 percent loss to one or more of their 2000-year crops due to natural disasters. Eligible farmers should receive payment soon after approval of their applications.

The deadline for applying will be announced

The program is funded under the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 2001. More than $1.2 billion in crop disaster payments were issued under the program last year.

Rep. Larry Combest, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said farmers and their lenders can rely on payment equaling 100 percent of the eligible production loss determined by the Farm Service Agency.

Congress provided "such sums as may be necessary" without the pro-rate factor previously tying payment to the number eligible.

More information on this and other USDA programs is available by contacting local Farm Service Agency offices.

The plan, in the works since 1999, also contains recommendations for conservation of prairie ecosystems.

The working group also is recommending the development of educational programs in support of conservation and management efforts.

The plan is designed to be flexible enough to respond to changing conditions in the status of the animal's populations in Texas or in the surrounding social and economic environment, and to preclude the need for listing the species under the Endangered Species Act.

Protect your rights! "Render" your taxable property by April 16th.

A "rendition" is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you owned or controlled on January 1st of this year. The rendition form is available at your local appraisal district office... or you may draft a similar form.

Who must file a rendition?

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property that is used to produce income—such as the inventory and equipment used by a business.

Are there any advantages to you? The advantages of filing a rendition are:

- You give your opinion of your property's value. If the appraisal district believes the value is higher, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review
- You record your correct mailing address so your tax bills will go to the right address. If your bill is mailed to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or paying extra charges for late payments.
- You can also file a "report of decreased value" to notify the appraisal district of significant depreciation of the value of your property in 2000. The district will look at your property before assigning a value in 2001.

What's the deadline?

The last day for filing 2001 renditions is April 16. Call your appraisal district for the last date the rendition may be postmarked, if mailing. You can get an extra 15 days if you ask for it in writing by the April 16 deadline.

Dear Editor,

I am writing in response to a letter recently written to this newspaper from Ben Martínez, a resident of Salt Lake City and former resident of Muleshoe.

On behalf of United Supermarkets and Muleshoe store director Mike Holt, I want to begin by thanking both Mr. Martínez for writing his letter and the Bailey County Journal for printing it.

Though I was saddened and embarrassed to learn of his recent experience in our store, I was nonetheless grateful for the opportunity United now has to address issues in our operation in hopes of keeping future customers from encountering similar disappoint-

United Supermarkets is an 85-year-old company that has built its business on one main concept: service. Unfortunately, it appears that we owe Mr. Martínez and all of our customers a sincere apology for not living up to our end of the bargain.

We are thankful for the opportunity to serve Muleshoe and its surrounding communities, and we take very seriously our responsibility to offer our customers superior food, value and service.

I do not know how many others were provided with inadequate levels of service on the day Mr. Martínez came to shop, nor do I know how many customers before or since walked away from a trip to our store unsatisfied. To all of you, though, I want to say that United Supermarkets does not accept being average, let alone below average, in any aspect of our operation.

We are truly sorry to all of you who have received less than our best in the past, and we pledge to you that you will receive our best in the future.

As a part of the Muleshoe community, we are charged with living up to the highest standards of service so that we might be a productive part of creating a stronger community for all.

Every member of our Muleshoe team, both at the store and the supervisory levels, is committed to examining our entire operation; and it is my sincere hope that any customer who has input; suggestions or observations will not hesitate to bring them either to Mike Holt, a member of store management or me.

We will be working tirelessly to bring you the finest service you have ever received. We thank all of you who have shopped with us over the past year and a half; we are grateful for your trust and your business.

How's This for a Pastoral Search Committee Report?

A colleague recently shared the "Pastoral following Committee Report" across the Internet. I hope you enjoy it:

The committee regrets that we do not have a happy report to give. We've not been able to find a suitable candidate for this church, though we have one promising prospect still... The following is our confidential report on the candidates.

Adam: Good man but problems with his wife. Also one reference reported that Adam and his wife enjoy nude walking in the woods. Noah: Former pastorate of 120 years with no converts. Prone to unrealistic building projects.

Abraham: Though the references reported wife-swapping, the facts seem to show he never slept with another man's wife, but did offer to share his own wife with another man.

Joseph: A big thinker, but a braggart; believes in dream-interpreting, and has a prison record.

Moses: A modest and meek man, but poor communicator, even stuttering at times. Sometimes he blows his stack and acts rashly. Some say he left an earlier church over a murder

David: The most promising leader of all until we discovered the affair he had with his neighbor's wife. Solomon: Great preacher but our parsonage would never hold all those Elijah: Prone to depression-collapses under pressure. Elisha: Reported to have lived with a single widow at his former church. Hosea: A tender and loving pastor but our people could never handle his wife's occupation.

Deborah: Female. Jeremiah: Emotionally unstable, alarmist, negative, always lamenting things, and reported to have taken a long trip to bury his underwear on the bank of a foreign river.

Isaiah: On the fringe? Claims to have seen angels in church. Has trouble with his language.

Jonah: Refused God's call into ministry until he was forced to obey by being swallowed by a large fish. He told us the fish later spit him out on the shore near here. We hung up.

Amos: Too backward and unpolished. With some seminary training he might have promise, but has a hang-up against people-might fit better in a poor congregation.

John: Says he is a Baptist, but definitely doesn't dress like one. Has slept in the outdoors for months on end, has a weird diet, and provokes denominational leaders Peter: Too blue collar. Bad temper-has been known to curse. Had big run-in with Paul in Antioch Aggressive, but a loose cannon.

Paul: Powerful CEO type leader and a fascinating preacher. Short. however, on tact, unforgiving with younger ministers, harsh, and has been known to preach all night.

Timothy: Too young Jesus: Has had popular times, but once when his church grew to 5,000 he managed to offend them all and the church dwindled down to 12 peoole. Seldom stays in one place very long. No wife.

Judas: His references are solid. A steady plodder. Conservative. Good connections. Knows how to handle money. We're inviting him to preach this Sunday. Possibilities here.

Federal livestock assistance available

Livestock producers in Bailey County and surrounding counties are among those approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Livestock Assistance Program.

The program, administered by the Farm Service Agency, provides direct payments to eligible livestock producers who suffered grazing losses due to natural disasters during 2000. For drought-related losses, benefits are available in counties where precipitation was 40 percent or more below normal for at least four months and where there was at least a 40 percent loss of available grazing during a 90-day period during the 2000 crop year.

In order to be eligible, individual producers also must have suffered a 40 percent or greater loss of grazing for three or more consecutive months because of a natural disaster during 2000.

Eligible livestock includes beef and dairy cattle, buffalo or beefalo when maintained on the same basis as beef cattle, sheep, goats and equine animals used commercially for human food or kept for the production of food or fiber on the owner's farm or ranch. Most of Texas (240 of the 254 coun-

State honors black agricultural leaders

AUSTIN - The Texas Department of Agriculture honored 10 outstanding African-American agricultural leaders in Texas during Black History Month in February.

"African-Americans make outstanding contributions to Texas agriculture, our state's second-largest industry," Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs said. "TDA was proud to recognize these 10 leaders for their steadfast dedication and enterprising approach to agriculture."

Honored at a Feb. 21 ceremony were:

- Winford Bowie, a rancher in Smith County. Bowie is involved in the East Texas State Fair, the East Texas Farm and Ranch Club and the Texas Landowners Association. His farm and ranch have been in his family for 109 years. He has long studied market demand for cattle and developed a successful management program to meet that demand;
- Tony Brackens Sr., a rancher in Freestone County. As the first African-American elected to the Fairfield City Council and a former mayor, Brackens is a full-time rancher. He started ranching in 1974 on 12 acres, which has grown to 1,600 acres. He uses computer technology to evaluate his operation and compile data, and uses cuttingedge equipment to cut and bale hay. Brackens is involved in the Freestone County Extension Program and the Freestone County Farm Bureau;
- · Charles Brown, a rancher in Robertson County. A former coach and recruiter, Brown now raises registered Brahman cattle and crossbred cattle. He is involved in the Texas Brahman Breeders Association, the Robertson County Beef Improvement Association and the Robertson County Farm Bureau. He also is a deacon at Wheeler Avenue Baptist Church in Houston and is involved in Promise Keepers;
- · Earl Campbell, rancher and businessman in Travis and Smith counties. Campbell, a Heisman Trophy winner, is recognized as one of the most notable running backs in college football history. Upon graduating from the University of Texas in 1977, he was the No. 1 draft pick by the Houston Oilers. Campbell now raises registered and crossbred cattle;

- Ed Clines from Harris County. Clines is president of the Texas Landowners Association, which is made up of African-American farmers and ranchers dedicated to agricultural education. The group also raises money for scholarships for students to study agriculture on the college level. The association coordinates tours of Texas farms and ranches for inner-city children in an effort to expose them to agriculture;
- Alfonse Dotson, a vineyard operator in McCulloch County. As one of only two African-Americans in the United States operating commercial vineyards, Dotson is a well-known and successful Texas producer. He is involved in his community and dedicated to working with young athletes. His operation is called Certenberg Vineyards;
- JD Jacobs, rancher and businessman in Rockwall County. Jacobs owns and operates 18-
