THE FIGHT IN THE CONVENTION.

In the state democratic convention at Dallas on August 14th, there will be 712 delegates. It will require 357 to nominate. The qualified voters of Texas this year do not exceed 530,000.

Population of fully qualified voters were in round numbers 57,000 poll tax registered, entitling men to exemptions, (because of age limit and other reasons) do not exceed 75,000 numbers. Of the 280,000, not more than 100,000, including negroes, including exemptions, leave approximately 180,000 men eligible to vote. The estimate would be more than 50,000 of the men to the republican, prohibitionists, socialists, political odds and ends. The leave for the democratic voters. It is estimated close to 450,000 voters of the day's primary.

The candidate for governor who was dropped at the end of the first ballot. The men who framed the law seem to have adroitly worded the dropping-out provision so that it reads "on the next ballot"—it does not say "all succeeding ballots;" nor does it say a candidate dropped "on the next ballot," may not come back into the race after having remained out for one ballot. On the contrary, the inference is that he may be re-entered. All that is required is that the low candidate shall be dropped on each "next ballot." Thus two men might alternate in going out and coming in for an indefinite number of ballots, just as the inclination of their supporters in the state convention might dictate.

In the race for governor, it is said the Campbell men have no fear of defeat, claiming their man will enter the convention with a clear majority of the delegate vote; hence, he will be nominated on the first ballot without a struggle.

Saturday last was the first voting for all party candidates for public office under the primary election law. Of course the democratic vote is the only one to be seriously considered. The expression of the democratic voters on state officers, will be largely a sentimental one, as the popular vote is not to nominate but that function is left to the delegated state convention of the party to be held at Dallas on August 14th.

Where a candidate receives a clear majority of all the votes cast, the nomination will be only a matter of form, as such candidates would, almost without a doubt, also have a majority of the delegates. But where more than two candidates for the same office are voted for in the primaries, the result in the state convention might be decidedly different.

ferent. The county delegations under the law, are prorated among the candidates, according to their primary election strength each candidate being allowed his proper percentage of the delegate vote of the county.

ILLUSTRATION.

Take Dallas county for example. It votes in the state convention on 20. If the four candidates for governor should each receive an equal number of votes in the primary election, each candidate would receive 5 of the Dallas votes on the first ballot, in the state convention. At the end of each ballot the low man must be dropped, under the law, but there is nothing to bind the action of his delegates after he has been dropped; they are at liberty to vote for any other candidates before the convention. They might go to the high man, or the remaining low man; or they might scatter among all of them, just as their fancies or their preferences or the political exigencies might dictate. If cast solidly for the remaining low man it might shove him into the lead on the second ballot or make him a strong second over the man who occupied that place in the first ballot. At the end of the second ballot the low man of the three would have to be dropped, but there is nothing in the law that prohibits the re-entering of

Some Good Trades.

On Wednesday C. A. Goodwin, shipped to Bovina 6000 pounds of binding twine.

Burton-Lingo Co. shipped 300 squares of corrugated iron to Loraine.

Quite a number of wind mills were sold the past week.

H. L. Hutchinson sold a large bill of furniture on the same day. All of them claimed their ads in The Record did the work, and realize that it pays to advertise.

Fire Department, Attention.

A special meeting of the Fire Department is called for Tuesday next, sure, at 8:30 p. m. Matters of much importance will be brought up that will be of interest to everybody.

ROBT. M. WEBB, Pr'std.

Parties at Loraine on the west line of Nolan county are sinking a shaft to investigate a vein of coal which was struck in a well at a depth of 90 feet. The vein is about seven or eight feet in thickness and if the quality proves to be good and there is an amount sufficient to justify the putting in of machinery, it will be a great thing for Nolan county. —Sweetwater Reporter.

STATE ELECTION RESULTS.

The best information as to the election returns are about as follows:

THE STATE.

236,860 votes are accounted for, which is practically all of them, and the candidates stand:

Campbell.....72,619
Brooks.....57,844
Colquitt.....53,965
Bell.....52,432

This gives Campbell 30 per cent, Brooks 24 per cent, Colquitt 22 and Bell 22 per cent. Thus it will be seen that if Campbell maintains his present lead no two of the candidates can combine and defeat Campbell, and it is now almost assured that Mr. Campbell will receive the nomination.

For lieutenant-Governor Davidson has a lead of only 300 votes over Hill so far.

Railroad Commissioner Storey is undoubtedly defeated by Williams of Tarrant county.

CONGRESSIONAL RACES CLOSE.

The Congressional races are very close, and some appear to be in doubt.

Second District—Cooper, 7,545, Brooks, 6,688; Fourth district, Randell 10,652, Barrett 9,403; Sixth district, Hardy 3,899, Henderson 3,833, Mays 3,739, Sixteenth district, Smith 7,316, Cunningham 6,313.

Judge Smith is without doubt renominated, but it was a close race, and the friends of Mr. Smith are jubilant over his success. The congressional convention at Sweetwater on August 25th promises to be a warm affair.

The Fort Worth Telegram giving a later report on the gubernatorial situation says:

Corrected figures of incomplete returns of the state in the race for governor shows as follows:

Campbell.....72,273
Brooks.....54,789
Colquitt.....54,805
Bell.....53,415

This report is up until noon Wednesday. There are still 36 counties in the far northwest from which no returns has been received, and many of the other counties are still incomplete.

The state convention meets in Dallas August 14, and as to who will be nominated will be left with the convention.

For the vote of Mitchell county see table in another column on this page.

James Hagan, R. L. Baiely and several others from West are out in this country prospecting. They first went to Big Springs in Howard county but did not like that country, so came back to Mitchell county and are well pleased with Colorado and this country. They will more than likely buy land here. Mr. Hagan is a wealthy farmer near West, owns about 2000 acres of black land but has decided to come West.

WOONG CINDERELLA

By Ruth Sautelle

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

Scarcely had Dudley forced his breathless way through the thicket into the little cleared space at the edge of the bluff when a young voice assailed him.

"I thought you would come before long. You are the prince, of course." He wheeled with a start and stared. She sat on a low rock, looking straight at him out of smiling brown eyes. There was a general impression of brownness. It seemed to be a gown of some shimmering brown stuff—or was it gold?—and a kind of aureole of fluffy, light brown hair. How the deuce did a girl get up that cliff? About how nearly a puffing porpoise had he sounded, anyway? Pity a man couldn't keep track of his breath! He'd go into training on that hill till he could take it on the run without turning a hair—he would, by Jove! Must be something the matter with her eyes. He'd never seen—that is to say, they sort of—

"You said yes, didn't you?" she interrupted sweetly. "Surely you must be the prince."

"I beg your pardon," began Dudley, suddenly realizing that she had asked a question some minutes ago and that an answer was expected of him. "The prince, you say? I've never been accused before, you know." And then, in a flash of comprehension, "Most assuredly I am the prince—if you are the princess," he finished triumphantly.

The brown eyes twinkled into his more distractingly than before. "Oh, not at all!" she laughed. "I'm only poor Cinderella."

"Cinderella?" questioned Dudley, looking the mystification he felt. "Why, yes—you see?" She hesitated. And then a very wonderful thing happened. A line of rosiest pink appeared just above the brown collar and crept up stealthily, enveloping the tiny ear, flashing into flame on the white brow and hiding at last in the light hair that blew about her face. Dudley, fascinated, watched its progress and forgave the intrusion.

"Of course it's very simple, only disgracefully stupid of me. And"—sitting up straight and suddenly becoming very grave—"I'm not in the least afraid to tell you."

Dudley nimbled suitable assurances, yet the girl moved uneasily on her rocky throne and continued to look brave.

"Just—I only—the flower was way over the edge of the bluff, and—I held on to a branch and leaned down—and my heel got wedged by a stone—and—There was a tentative shifting of the shimmering skirts, then a hasty motion of withdrawal beneath them. "And—I—lost the mate to that!" she finished, with desperate courage, thrusting into sight the other foot, incased in a stout little brown walking boot.

Two furious blushes were in full operation by this time.

Dudley gazed fixedly at the small trim boot. "You say the one you lost was just like this?" he questioned, with great solemnity.

"Oh, no; it belonged to the left foot, you know," she responded, with corresponding earnestness.

And then came the welcome relief of laughter, under the relaxing influence of which Dudley sank upon the edge of the rock.

"I only meant to suggest," he announced fervently, "my unbelief that there could be another like it in the world."

"Bravo, bravo!" she applauded gaily. "That is pretty enough to savor of much practice in such speaking."

Dudley's ardent expression was replaced by one of due submission to rebuke.

"It is meet," he said as his hand sought a capacious coat pocket and disappeared therein, "that the downtrodden should arise to do thee service. Perhaps I can aid you better than you know."

"I'm sure you can," she interposed hastily. "But let me tell my plan first. I couldn't let you go to find it and leave me helpless and alone again."

"Of course not." Dudley's face assumed a thoughtful expression, and his hand slowly left the big pocket. "I—a—hardly suppose you could borrow mine."

Again her bright laughter rang out. "Oh, datterly, where is thy sting?" she cried gaspingly. And Dudley, looking ruefully from his own generous boot to the adorable mateless one, realized that once more he'd "put his foot in it."

"Forgiven," she declared in a moment, "because of the pretty one you said first. And so, to go back to our muttons, I see only one way. And yet, of course, it's such a little distance—the camp's just back in the trees there—I could hop on one foot, I suppose."

She paused mischievously for the mere pleasure of regarding his look of frank disappointment; also to observe whether it occurred to him to wonder why, with friends so near, she had not called for help.

"But I should be sure," she related, "to lose my balance and let the wrong foot down." Dudley brightened perceptibly. "And it's very stony and, I know, would hurt dreadfully. So after all there is just the one way, as I said."

She tilted the lonely boot back and forth on its heel and regarded it pensively. Dudley did likewise. When this had gone on long enough she raised to him an expectant look.

"Yes," he said, almost mournfully; "there only remains for me to help you. I suppose I ought," he continued, while his hand moved again—ever so baltingly toward the pocket, then rapidly away from it. "to—to—"

"Oh, pray don't feel any obligation in the matter!" was the hint, with just a bit of ice in the tone.

"To avail myself of the most fortunate opportunity that ever befell an underserving hezgar!" he finished, laughing hilariously as he assisted her to her feet—that is to say, her foot. Mere words cannot approximate the delight of that trip in the neighboring (much too neighboring) camp. They laughed like children and clutched each other in frantic mirth. And with what exceeding care and deliberateness it was necessary to proceed! The most inoffensive pebble was occasion for a wide detour, in spite of the lamentable fact that it increased the distance. And did the little unshod silken foot so much as caress the ground in its wabbling career Dudley was ready to weep in worshipful contrition. It was almost too much joy to discover in the course of the hysterical conversation that this was Tom Hutton's ranch—dear old Tom that he hadn't seen since the college days—and Cinderella his wife's guest.

But, as all pleasant moments come to an end, so must this, as Cinderella dropped, tired, but still merry, into a chair on the bungalow piazza.

"And then the prince," he said slowly, looking down upon her with compelling eyes, "caused his heralds—no; I think you know what the prince did without my telling you."

"Ah," she cried, her own eyes falling under his scrutiny, "but first you've to find the slipper."

"Yes, first I've to find the slipper. And when it is found I've the advantage of knowing where dwells Cinderella—and that the slipper will fit."

"Which last is yet to be proven!"—teasingly.

"May I put it to the test?" he begged.

"Oh, Faithheart!" she whispered mockingly. "Try and see."

Whereat Dudley began a most peculiar course of behavior. Going quickly around the corner of the cabin, he bumped his head softly several times against the logs, gave himself a violent shake and then strode through the trees to the low rock in the little cleared space at the edge of the bluff. Sitting down, he plunged an empty hand into the deep pocket and brought it out full of a stout brown walking boot of small dimensions.

To his credit be it said that there was self denunciation in his aspect as he sat turning it miserably over and over. Oh, yes; of course he'd had it there all the while. Well, hadn't he tried to let her have it at the very first, and didn't she keep interrupting till he couldn't—that is to say, didn't want to? Suppose he was the biggest cad on record, he'd wager no fellow ever had a better excuse! Hang it! What did she have to look at him that way for? How could he deliberately hand the thing over and put an end to the happiest few moments he'd ever spent, or ever expected to spend, for that matter? For surely by this foolishness he'd dished any prospects of further acquaintance about as effectively as possible. Well, anyhow, this was torture; might as well have the confession over with and go off and shoot himself.

In three minutes he was back. The trial trip had taken twenty to navigate. She was waiting and still alone. Oh, yes; rub it in! She might have cared if he hadn't spoiled it all.

"Most eager knight!" she called in greeting. "Was it wings? Nothing else could have taken you down the ravine and up again in this time."

For answer he knelt without a word and put the fateful shoe in place with elaborate care. He would have that privilege before he forfeited her favor forever. Then—

"I found it in the ravine before I climbed up at all," he said abruptly. "It was in my pocket all the while. Now send me away, for I can't go unless you do."

But Cinderella leaned forward to take his remorseful face between two but-terfly hands.

"Oh, boy, boy," she cried softly; "most innocent of boys! Did you think I didn't know? I saw you pick it up down below—no, you shall have all the truth; it fell—I let it fall because I saw you!"

Just then Tom Hutton, coming around the corner of the house, decided he could quite as well postpone his errand.

Wellington's Integrity.

The great Duke of Wellington was noted for his rigid integrity. Here is an instance which occurred in reference to his large estate. Some farm adjoining his lands was for sale, and his agent negotiated for him for the purchase. Having concluded the business, he went to the duke and told him he had made a capital bargain. "What do you mean?" asked the duke. "Why, your grace, I have got the farm for so much, and I know it to be worth at least so much more." "Are you quite sure of that?" "Quite sure, your grace, for I have carefully surveyed it." "Very well, then, pay the gentleman from me the balance between what you have already given and the real value of the estate."—Argonaut.

Mind How You Laugh.

Isn't it a curious thing that laughing may spoil your features? If you laugh with the sides of your face the skin will work loose in time and wrinkles will form in exact accordance with the kind of laugh you have. A person who is accustomed to suppressing his feelings generally has a deep line running from each side of his nose to the upper corner of his mouth, which in time extends to the chin, forming the shape of a half moon. The scholar's wrinkle forms on his brow, while a schemer's wrinkles come around his eyes. The man who always wears a smirk will have a series of semicircular wrinkles covering his cheeks.

Call For State Prohibition Convention.

The Prohibitionists of Texas are hereby called to meet in state convention at Terrell, Texas, on Tuesday August 14, 1906 at 10 o'clock a. m. The meeting will be held in a large centrally located tabernacle. Convention rates will be granted on all the railroads, tickets on sale August 13 and 14, good until August 15. Ex-Governor John P. St. John of Kansas will address the convention both afternoon and night of the 14th. Every prohibitionist in Texas owes it to himself and to his constituency to attend this convention if possible.

Let it be understood that the convention is a mass convention and any number of prohibitionists can attend from any county in the state and they will be recognized as a delegate; provided however, that each delegate must be a legally qualified voter in his county, holding a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate. The committee earnestly insists that prohibitionists from all sections of the state unite with us in making this convention the greatest in our history. There certainly never was a time that called more than now for earnest consecrated men who stand for principle. (Signed.)

E. H. CONIBEAR, Chairman.
P. F. PAIGE, Secretary.

Meet me at Arbuthnot's fountain.

"Jones Pays The Freight."

The protest recently sent to the railroad commission by the West Texas towns, on account of the ruling of the Southwestern Tariff Committee will result in little good since the common point territory established by the commission applies only to state shipments. This is merely an illustration of the way the corporations can defy the state and the citizens thereof.

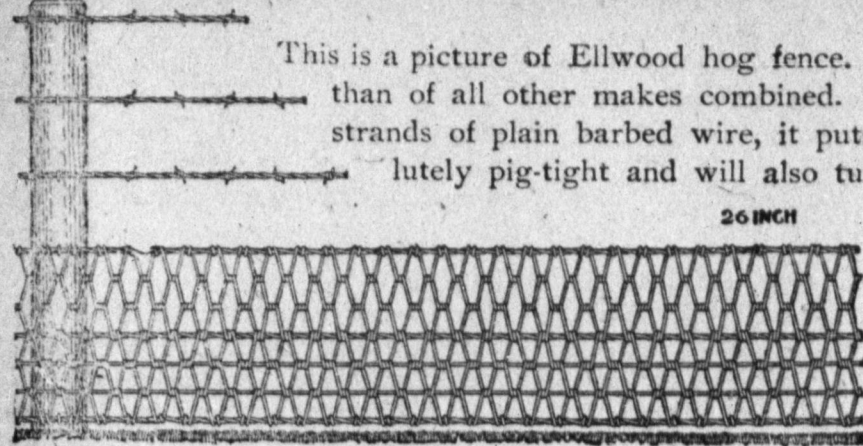

No doubt it is due to corporation in the large cities benefited by this ruling that were instrumental in delivering this blow to the smaller towns in the differential territory. Since we cannot build a railroad system we will have to take our medicine, remembering that "Jones pays the freight."—Big Spring Herald.

Available School Fund.

Austin, Tex. July 28.—It was learned today in the comptroller's department that there is yet about $90,000 to be disbursed from the available school fund on the apportionment for the current scholastic year. The state treasurer has informed the school fund warrant clerk that the said sum would probably be in the vaults of the treasury by the end of July, which will mean a good showing for this year, since the scholastic population and the per capita apportionment had been the greatest in the history of the school fund.

STUDEBAKER

Wagons, Carriages, Harness.

You know that for fifty years most farmers have considered the Studebaker the best farm wagon on earth. You know that the Studebaker factory at South Bend is the largest wagon factory in the world. You know that more Studebaker wagons are sold every year than most manufacturers make in ten years. But did you ever stop to consider why?

We couldn't sell the Studebaker in increasing numbers every year for fifty years if it did not "fill the bill"—fill and running over. The truth is the Studebaker is the best farm wagon ever built. Because we are the largest manufacturers we get the cream of timber products and the first pick of materials; because we have the largest factory we can afford the best facilities and equipment to build a better, stronger, lighter draft farm wagon than any other manufacturer can build. You don't buy a farm wagon very often; why not get the best while you are at it? A Studebaker will last you, fresh as large as you live. It's nothing unusual for a Studebaker to run from 19 to 20 years without even retreating the tires. Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co.

Entered as second-class matter, March 21, 1906, at the post office at Colorado, Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Elections perpetrate some huge jokes sometimes.

Its all over except the shouting, but which crowd will do it is yet to be settled.

How was the popular vote for Judge Brooks as an index to the prohibition strength in Texas?

The government advertised for bids for $30,000,000 of Panama bonds and the people offered to take $450,000,000 worth.

And now, as the dust of the conflict has cleared away, let's forget the antagonisms of the campaign, and push along the interests of Colorado.

The biggest blockhead in Texas knows as much about the election now as the most conceited wiseacre, but it didn't happen in just the way it was expected.

The prohibitionists are much encouraged by the strength developed by Judge Brooks, and attribute it, to his position on the liquor question. They take it as an index to public opinion.

Justice has been done Captain Alfred Dreyfus at last by the French courts. Last week, on the very same spot, where he was degraded twelve years ago, he was decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor and promoted to the rank of Major.

Mr. Bryan's home coming bids fair to create as much enthusiasm irrespective of party, as did the memorable return of Gen. Grant from his tour around the world. It begins to look now that if the democrats don't nominate him the republicans will.

If Mitchell county does not get the district attorney this time it is not her fault. There are three men after the office and all live in that county.—Big Springs Enterprise.

Mitchell county got the attorneyship all right but with only 2 men in the field, that is unless the Enterprise counts Sandusky as two.

The entire business world is now watching the outcome of the crops, which mean more than a hundred million dollars worth of newly created wealth for Texas alone. Men may buy and sell; trade and traffic until doomsday and not one cent would be added to the wealth already existing—it would only change hands. But when a pound of cotton, bushel of corn, fat hog or brood of chickens is produced, the country is just that much better off.

No other section of the United States is developing as rapidly and upon a firmer basis than the South-west, but its most serious drawback is lack of immigration. Here in Texas is room for a population of fifty million—equal to half that of this entire country—with land as fertile as can be found, climate and health unsurpassed and where all the conditions of living are easy. Millions can find homes on easy terms. If the great army of laborers who come to America every month, could be induced to come to West Texas, instead of flocking to the crowded cities to eke out a mere existence, the labor problem would soon be solved and they would soon own a home of their own and become better citizens.

Every child in Texas within the age prescribed by the laws of Texas as scholastic, will get $6.00 for the ensuing school year, from the state. The apportionment has not been this large before for a number of years; with a small increase and our free schools can be maintained for a term of six months each year, as contemplated by our state constitution.

The sign is right for fishing, and if we had a chunk of assafoetida, we'd try the festive mud cat. How we enjoyed, when a boy to hear him 'grit his teeth as he swung him to the bank; how well too, we remember the first one we ever caught. We took him by the tail, and the shock he gave us has hardly worn off yet. But we were determined to carry that 'feesh' home to prove up what we said, so taking him by the neck we dropped him quickly into our flank britches pocket, where he began to flounce and flop. We have no recollection how it was done, but it didn't take two seconds to disrobe, and we carried clothes, fish and all home on the end of a fishing pole—but we saved the mud cat. Let's go fishing.

Citizens of Robert Lee have raised $16,000 by public subscription for the proposed new railroad from Miles to Colorado City. The capital city of Coke county does not propose to be left behind in the matter of railway facilities.—Robert Lee Observer.

That's the Texas spirit and it is more highly developed in West Texas than in any other section. That's the reason ranches are being cut up and that's the reason Texas is building more miles of railroad than any other state in the union.—Ft. Worth Record.

This is news to Colorado. We are very busy right now building the Panhandle Short Line from Trinidad, Colorado to Galveston, but can take up the Miles-Colorado road pretty soon, that is when we get the second Methodist college and our bond issue settled.

PRINCE OF ALL FOOLDOM.

The funeral of the chap who played the fatal April fool joke is but a memory: the earth above the Fourth of July idiot who got too familiar with a dynamite firecracker, is well settled and has begun to sprout grass; but the double-dyed fiend who insists on rocking a boat filled with people, just for fun, has just begun to fill the papers with accounts of his murders; for that is what such so-called accidents really are. Up to date we have read of four such accidents, all but one attended with serious, and in one case, fatal results.

Particularly sad was the case where two young men, two ladies and a little child were riding in a small boat. One of the men to frighten the ladies, began to rock the boat. They pleaded with him to desist, while the child was frightened almost into convulsions. But it was such rare fun to hear the ladies scream, he rocked it again, when the boat capsized and all thrown into deep and swift water. Instead of trying to save the helpless women and child, as any other specimens of the human race would have done even at the imminent risk of their own lives, this precious pair of cowards clawed the water like weighted pups and bawled loudly for help!

Three desolate homes and three mounds in the cemetery attest the imbecility and arrant cowardice of these "Smart Elecks." The papers referred to it as a "most deplorable accident," but there was no element of accident about it; only a willful tempting of almost certain death.

The law justifies one in shooting down the man who points an empty gun at another, and certainly like protection should be given the public against the "boat rocker," for of all the incorrigible and dangerous fools that run amuck in this world, he is the kingbolt of them all. "Raus mit 'im!"

LO! THE POOR FARMER.

There never was a time when the farmer was as firmly in the saddle, or as great a factor in the affairs of the nation, as he is today. Particularly is this true in the south. A few years ago, boys quit the farm when able to shift for themselves; the life on the farm was one endless round of the hardest toil, unrelieved by social pleasures, church and school advantages, or seasons of recreation. But above all other objections to farming, there was no money in it. The system was at fault, not the vocation.

With improved methods and machinery, by co-operation and experimentation, the farmer has gotten out of the 'deep rut' onto the broad plane of a scientific profession, and in its ranks are many of the broadest and brainiest men in the nation—a profession with a science and a literature distinctly its own. Easier production, greater consumption and increased transportation facilities, have raised his profits and multiplied his markets to such an extent, that the time will likely never be when everything the farmer produces will not find ready sale.

Again; the southern farmer has learned lessons in economy, which under the old system, he would have been ashamed to practice, but which have added millions to his bank account. He thought the selling of butter, eggs, milk and fruit was much too small to 'fool' with. The waste on a farm was proverbial.

This is now all changed. The home on the farm is more preferred than in town; young men are leaving the stores and offices and seeking places on the farm. The farmer works hard for 8 or 9 months in the year, he and his family are well fed and clothed, have all the time they want for social pleasures, horse and buggy at their disposal, and at the end of the year, enough money to pay all debts and have a balance to his credit at the bank. What other class of people have as much, say nothing of the freedom from business care and worry which the farmers enjoy.

They are the mud sill of our national prosperity. The bulk of the money in the banks belongs to them, and they produce yearly more than five billion dollars worth of commodities. That is as much gold as has come from all the mines of the world since Columbus found this bully country. In one year the farmers produce four times as much in value as all the minerals mined; three times as much as the gross earnings of all the railroads; and six times the combined capital of the national banks. In one year the corn crop would pay the national debt and have enough small change left to run the government one year. One hay crop would dig and equip the Panama canal, and allow fifty million for the stealing. We can well afford to plan irrigation plants and offer the best land in the world, here in the great south-west, for the benefit of such a valuable member of the community as our farmer.

That's Why We Grow.

The building up of Colorado is not a boom but a steady growth, backed by one of the best countries in the west—a country that will produce almost anything, where the one-horse farmer has a back seat and the up-to-date, practical farmer is turning the soil; a country that will produce equally as well as the east, and one man can cultivate twice as much as in any other country. Land is cheaper in this country than in any other that offers the advantages that the Colorado country does. While Colorado is building rapidly she is not building too fast for the country, as the development of the country around Colorado is far greater than the building up of the town. With the rapid growth and the development of the country around Colorado it will support a city twice or three times as large as we have today, and, if nothing hinders the crops, there will be an immense business here this fall.

Press Interviews.

Thousands of homeseekers are coming to Texas on the bi-weekly homeseekers' excursions, the first of which arrived in the state during the past week. If any one of these thousands return without spending at least a week in the imperial domain over which San Antonio reigns he will have missed the spot whereon Nature's choicest blessings have been showered. Not homes alone are to be found in this favored section, but the ordinary price of a horse will secure a warranty deed to opulence.—San Antonio Express.

We grant the charms of Southwest Texas, but if any homeseeker fails to look over the productive territory over which Ft. Worth presides he will have neglected an obligation to business sagacity.—Fort Worth Star.

And in their rounds if they fail to visit the country where Merkel is, they will miss the "Heaven on Earth," where no trusts are known and white population reigns.—Merkel Mail.

When Milton spoke of Paradise Lost" he certainly referred to the Colorado country, for if Paradise is ever found it will be found in Mitchell county.

VANISHED TREASURES.

Masterpieces of Art That Are Lost to the World.

The "Venus de Milo," which has been in the Louvre for many years is, as all the world knows, an imperfect piece of sculpture, though it is the greatest treasure of its kind the world has ever seen. A great reward would be given the man who could find the missing parts. About 1878 the most important of them—the right arm—came to light in London and was proved by experts to be genuine. The owner, however, refused to part with it and concealed it for fear it would be stolen. Unfortunately he died without revealing its hiding place, so it is as much lost as ever.

A bronze drinking cup which was stolen from an Egyptian temple in 1730 and brought to Europe has miraculously disappeared. On it is engraved the whole history of the Pharaohs, and it could easily be sold for $100,000. In fact, the French government offered a reward of $14,000 for its discovery, but the famous cup has vanished, probably forever.

Another treasure which has vanished in as strange a way is the Marcella vase of the Dresden collection. This is the only piece missing from the famous Dresden Marcella collection, the value of which is said to be $75,000. It bears the cross arrows and the lion's head. Not long ago the vase was said to be in England, but, be that as it may, the person who rediscovers this treasure may command any price in reason for it.

How it is possible that a treasure so large as a painting could be lost sight of entirely is not easily explained, but this has often happened. One of Reynolds' paintings, "Countess of Derby," which is considered his best portrait, has disappeared. Not long after it was painted it disappeared from the collection of the Earl of Derby and has never been heard of since, though it would bring $150,000 to the finder. There are also two Van Dykes and a Rembrandt missing, for which collectors are willing to pay $200,000. The Earl of Crewe would give a large sum for the return of a Cupid which some vandal cut from the portrait of the former Countess of Crewe and her son, who was painted as the sprite.—St. Louis Republic.

"Personal Paragraphs."

In an article in the Baptist Standard of July 26th, under the above caption, in which the writer, Rev. Holmes Nichols, makes complimentary mention of friends of other places, we note the following concerning two of Colorado's citizens:

"I note with pleasure, too that what you have to say in the Standard of June 28th concerning our congressman, W. R. Smith, in his support of the "Littlefield bill, amending the interstate commerce law so as to prevent the sale of liquors in prohibition territory." Though an opponent is, and has been for the last year making a close canvass to supplant congressman Smith, he remained at his post until congress adjourned. Then he took his sick wife to the mountains of Virginia for her health, returned home to remain only 10 days, as a telegram came with the sad news that Mrs. Smith was worse. As members of our church this good man and his queenly wife are faithful; as a lawyer he ranks with the best; as a politician, he is a patriot; as a citizen, he is clean, to duty, devoted, and in purpose he is pure. During his absence with his sick wife, his friends will see to it that he is returned to congress."

"In this connection permit a word as to the superintendent of our high school, Prof. T. J. Yoe. He is one of the most lovable characters that I have ever met. He began at the bottom here and has worked his way up in educational circles. Through his influence a new $14,000 school building is going up, and his school has been affiliated with Baylor University at Waco, and other reputable institutions of learning. In addition to his arduous duties in looking after the four schools in Colorado, he is a strong factor in religious work. He is the organist of our church and never misses a service when in town, and his influence from a religious and moral view, pervades the entire student body."

In assigning a reason for these 'personal paragraphs,' Mr. Nichols says: "I confess that I am given to 'taffy rather than to epitaphy." I had rather speak thus of these good men while they are living, than pay tribute in words after they are gone. I prefer to place these encomiums upon their brows now, rather than to place flowers on their graves after the battle of life is over.

"Flowers wither; words are fadeless! Words timely and truly spoken are 'like apples of gold in pictures of silver,'—they never die, and they cheer us as we walk life's rugged road."

We have just included Mitchell county in our territory, and if you want a loan on your land for any purpose, give Thomas Compere your application, who will likely call on you in a few days. If he does not, then write us. Read our ad in this paper. Compere Bros.

Lamesa Locals.

It is reported that within a radius of six miles of Lamesa there are 5000 acres of growing cotton. That sounds good to the gin man.

Mr. N. S. Frost and Jeff Singleton sold this week to Dick Arnett and Jack Smith two cars of cows and one of calves and they passed through Lamesa last Thursday carrying them to Big Springs.

Log Rolling Association.

The Woodmen of the World are preparing for a big celebration and barbecue here on Aug. 8th. They are making extensive preparations and are expecting a large crowd. It being a representative meeting there will be a large number of delegates from all Woodmen camps along the T. & P. from Eastland to Pecos, and from many inland localities.

The railroad company have given one and a third fare for the round trip putting tickets on sale Aug. 7th, good for return till the 12th. This will enable visitors who wish to remain here long enough to take a good look at the country to do so and should result in much good to the country.

There will be plenty of music and dinner and fine speaking. Every body invited to attend. Whether you are a Woodman or not, your presence will be appreciated. The Woodman camp here is a very strong and active camp, with 250 members. It ranks as one of the most progressive camps in Texas. But its resources will be taxed to the utmost to care for the crowd. They are expecting representatives from about 40 counties. They will give the people of Big Springs the best opportunity they have ever had to show that our people are a broad minded and hospitable people and know how to care for the stranger within our gates. —Big Springs Herald.

A Car Load.

A straight car load of double caned seat chairs at McLure, Basden & Co. this week.

A Wonderful Snake.

Most remarkable tales are told of Ananias Johnson's pet snake, which died the other day in Moultrie county. This snake was a cross between a rattler and a hoop snake, and was nearly nine feet long.

Johnson taught it to eat at the table. Johnson was a humorist, and at some of his jokes the snake would shake with mirth and rattle his tail for pure joy.

The reptile took a fancy to the children. Many an afternoon it would glide to an elm tree, and wrapping its tail and neck about a limb form an ideal swing on which the youngsters enjoyed themselves for hours.

It was a useful snake. At sunset it would go after the cows, and there are two well-authenticated cases on record where it killed milk snakes that sought to deprive the Johnson family of its sustenance.

The ending of this pet was particularly sad. One day when one of the little girls was using it as a loop, it rolled against a tree; its tail was forced deep into the throat and the snake choked to death. —Telegram.

These gentlemen are gathering information concerning West Texas which will be placed before the world. "What we have found here is a revelation to us," said Mr. Turner. None of these gentlemen are railroad builders, but Mr. Turner said some road would be built into this territory, and their visits will without doubt result in much good to West Texas in placing the country before the public. —Snyder Western Light.

Some Interesting Items.

(From the Midland Reporter.)
W. M. Green, of Colorado, has been with us this week, prospecting.

Johnson & Moran have just sold to J. B. Laneri and E. P. Turner, of Dallas county, two sections of land 10 miles south of Stanton at $6.50 per acre. $8,400 bonus for the two sections.

W. W. Neal, of Hillsboro, this week bought the home section and all the splendid improvements of the B. N. Aycock ranch located two miles north of town. He paid $20 per acre, or $12,800.

The buyer for the B. N. Aycock home section two miles north of town, we are informed has already been offered $2.50 per acre profit on his purchase, he having paid $20 per acre.

J. W. Stowell, of Oklahoma, arrived here this week, and purchased 320 acres of the B. N. Aycock land north of town, at $13.50 per acre.

B. N. Aycock this week sold to J. H. Parramore, of Abilene, 90 head of bull calves out of his unregistered herd of Hereford cattle, price $30 around, and to be delivered Nov. 15th. They will be used on Mr. Parramore's San Simon ranch. It may be well to state here that Mr. Aycock is by no means out of the Hereford business, being yet the possessor of one of the finest unregistered herds in the West.

We now have Thomas Compere out in the interest of our land loan business during his school vacation, and he will try and see every land owner in Mitchell county in a few days. Read our ad in this issue. Compere Bros.

Salt River Packet.
For more than a week this famous craft has been moored at the foot of 2nd street, below the bridge, waiting for its cargo of blasted hopes and blighted ambitions. The river that needs no government aid for dredging and a mystic one, where every prow is turned up-stream toward the bubbling fountains of its source, that gush from the mountain of new hope and promise. On Sunday morning, July 29th just before the crew stepped on board, its waters were serene, pelucid, and undisturbed by a single keel. Softly and low the chorused ripples sang, and the still pools mirrored the color and beauty of its embowering flowers. "Fall from the maddening crowd's ignoble strife, it slept and dreamed. But on Sunday morning the pendulum swung for the hour when these gentle and peaceful waters were churned and troubled by this floating Salt river palace freighted to its water line with a pageantry of woe and burdened hearts; of lightened pocket books and wise resolutions. The festive bull frogs on the banks seemed to sing "what fools these mortals be."
We have never been up Salt river, but that there is some sort of panacea amidst the scenery of its primal waters, can not be doubted, if we are to judge by the genial smiles and "I don't keer nohow" looks usually worn by those who have made the trip.
Mr. J. F. Cunningham was chosen captain of the craft, as he wanted to go up the river anyway to see about Judge Smith's reclamation project. He wanted to take with him the editor of the Taylor County News, but the crew objected.
No Bells were allowed aboard, as they had a whistle.
Rivers were needed for the craft; so no Brooks were used.
Colquitt was taken along to look after the German vote.
The rest of the crew was then made up of local men and all sailed away merrily to return with the rise of the tide.

The Favorite Auditorium has secured the Baylor Male Quartet for Saturday night, August 11th. The Quartet is assisted by Miss Dora Collings, vocalist and Miss Ola Gullledge, pianist.
The program is high class and entertaining; the Quartet being well balanced musically.

Splendid Conditions in Midland Section
Dr. N. H. Ellis, of Midland, is in the city visiting L. P. Robertson. Dr. Ellis' states that the range in the vicinity of Midland is better this year than ever before, probably, and that the calf crop will be the largest in years. He has been in that section 23 years, and has never seen general conditions more favorable than at present. --F. Worth Record.

Award of School Lands.
Austin, July 28.—It is learned at the land office that the award of school lands for this week will just about reach the 4,000,000-acre mark since the 1st of last September. At this rate Mr. Terrell will soon wind up the state land business if given a little while longer. This is by far the greatest activity ever known in the land office.
Before the law authorizing the publishing of the list of lands, Mr. Terrell secured wide publicity through newspapers as to when leases would expire. This made it more possible than ever before for homeseekers to know when the land would be subject to sale and where it was. Under this policy more homeseekers from other parts of the state have found homes in the west than could possibly have done so under the former methods. As it was before, those already in the west had about the only chance. Now every one, no matter where he may be, nor what his condition is, has an equal chance.
The result is, more homes are secured and during the past eleven months the school fund has been augmented over former prices a little more than $4,000,000. This schools annually about 25,000 children. The school land is now being sold at the rate of 100,000 acres per week.
Thomas Comper of Abilene, is now out during his school vacation in the interest of our land loan business and will try and see every land owner in Mitchell county right soon. Read our ad in this issue.

Mission Meeting.
The mission meeting out at Herbert last week was not very largely attended on account of the busy season for farmers and the election, yet an interesting meeting is reported. Rev. G. W. White, the pastor at Herbert, was elected moderator, and Mr. Martham of Abilene was elected secretary.
The program was carried out as per previous arrangement and the discussions were spirited and interesting. All missionaries in the district were paid in full. Miss Bertha Mills of Belton, Texas was present and took up a collection of $30 for the "cottage home" at Belton.
On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Gustine and Mrs. Hatch organized a Ladies' Aid society for the Baptist church with 18 members. The hospitality of the Herbert people was unbounded and free, and all report a splendid time.

ROYALL G. SMITH,
Chairman Democratic Executive Committee Mitchell county.

W. R. Smith Honored.
Congressman W. R. Smith has received the following letter, which is self-explanatory:
Hon. W. R. Smith,
Colorado, Texas.
Dear Sir: I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of the Plan and Scope Committee to arrange for a reception to the Hon. William Jennings Bryan you were appointed a member of the Committee of Reception, of which Governor Folk of Missouri is the Chairman.
Very truly yours,
LEWIS NIXON,
Chairman Plan and Scope Com.

Protracted Meeting.
The protracted meeting of the Baptist church will begin on August 26th. Rev. Holmes Nichols, the pastor, has secured the services of Rev. Aldridge, pastor of the First Baptist church of Amarillo, and Mr. Albert Pfaff of Denton has been invited to conduct the music.

The San Antonio Fair.
The San Antonio International Fair Association has issued its premium list for the eighth annual fair and races to be held at San Antonio, Texas; October 31st to November 11th inclusive.
In addition to its stated premium list exceeding $50,000, special premiums are offered for many features of vital interest to agricultural and live-stock industries.
In order to adequately display agricultural products, a special building of large size is now under construction. Activity at the fair grounds has already begun, and a generous transformation of these will have taken place some weeks before the opening of the Fair.
Among the new features is a standard race track, cattle and swine arena, buildings for amusement devices, new walks and driveways and attractions.
On the whole this will represent an outlay of approximately $40,000.
Of great interest to the visiting hosts at the fair is the solving of the transportation problem to and from the grounds. Through the efforts of the Fair Association, the transportation charges to and from the grounds will be 10c. All railroads in Texas have agreed upon the minimum low rates to San Antonio. Thus a visit to the fair is within the reach of all.
There will be the usual free attractions: band concerts and nightly features at the Fair. Racing purses are the largest ever offered in Texas. In this, as well as in all other departments, the 1906 Fair will eclipse all previous efforts.

We have classes from the smallest children to gray haired ladies and gentlemen, and will find a place for you. Glad to have you come any time.

Operation For Appendicitis.

On Wednesday of last week, Thomas Yates of Loraine was brought to Colorado and taken to the St. James hotel where he was placed in charge of Dr. N. J. Phenix to be operated on for appendicitis. On Thursday, the Doctor, assisted by five others, made what is called an exploratory incision and found conditions such as to necessitate his removal to the hospital at Ft. Worth. Dr. Phenix took the patient there where a very difficult operation was performed by Dr. Saunders of the hospital, removing a five-inch piece of intestine, uniting the ends, and a report comes to the effect that the patient is rapidly improving and will soon recover.

W. T. Smith & Co. have now employed Mr. W. F. Thomason an expert piano man who will visit your home and talk pianos to you.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my thanks to the people of this county who so nobly stood by me in the primaries last Saturday. This is the first time I ever ran for office and I am very grateful for your votes and will endeavor to fill the office to the best of my ability. Again thanking you, I am,

Respectfully,
E. T. COLLINS,
Nominee for Animal and Hide Inspector.

Dead Man Found.

Saturday evening late word came to town that a man was found dead near the railroad track east of the Colorado salt works. Undertakers McLure & Basden went out and brought the body in, which was in a decomposed state, and was buried the next day by the county. Judge Coe held an inquest and about all that could be learned was that he was an unknown white man about 30 years old and met death by falling from a freight train. He had on his person a fairly nice watch but no papers by which he could be identified. He had a wound on the head which might have been caused by the fall or he might have been knocked off the train. The body had evidently lain there about four days. All efforts were made to identify the body but no one knew him.

Late Trains.

A heavy landslide occurred on the Texas & Pacific at the canyon east of Ranger, 100 miles this side of Fort Worth about noon Saturday, delaying all the trains from either direction as much as 18 hours. The track built upon the edge of the canyon weakened under the heavy rains and finally several hundred feet of earth above the track broke loose and piled down into the canyon, carrying the track along with it. Tons of earth were piled up in the road bed. By Monday the trains were running on time.

Home Mission Society.

The Home Mission Society of the Methodist church was delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. B. Crockett, from 4 to 7. The reception was given to all the lady members of the church; the object being, aside from the social features, to discuss ways and means for raising money for the church.

Upon arrival, the guests were greeted by Mesdames Blanford and A. J. Payne and then conducted to the punch bowl where the delicious beverage was laddled out by some of the fairest of the fair.

Mrs. Griswold, president of the Society, gracefully toasted the guests, and Rev. Vaughan responded with a toast to the ladies. Mrs. Carter, in her inimitable manner, then gave a toast appropriate to the preacher.

The calendar scheme was then satisfactorily explained by Mrs. Carter, and the brimming cup was drained and success was drunk to the plan. A delightful program was rendered throughout the afternoon, consisting of vocal solos and instrumental music, by Mrs. Davis and the Misses Graves, Knott and Doss. Select readings by Miss Exa McLure. A pleasant afternoon was spent and all felt grateful and indebted to the Home Mission Society.

The New Baptist Parsonage.

The Baptist people of Colorado have just completed a neat home for their pastor, Rev. H. Nichols, who moved into the new home only yesterday and is as proud as a boy with his first pair of red top boots.

The building complete with the plumbing and bath fixtures cost about $1800, exclusive of the lot. Being located so near the church makes it quite convenient to the pastor's study and library. The house is neatly finished with four rooms, a large reception hall, bath room, closets and galleries. The bath room is fitted up with a fine porcelain tub and fixtures connected with hot and cold water. The members are proud of their preacher and have made for him a nice home, for which he is very grateful.

Resolutions of Respect Upon the Death of Geo. W. Majors.

Whereas, The Grand Architect of the universe has seen fit to remove from our midst and exalt our beloved and worthy brother, Geo. W. Majors to the "glorious companionship of that undissolving lodge," therefore be it,

Resolved, That in the death of Companion Geo. W. Majors Colorado Chapter No. 175 Royal Arch Masons, has lost one of its most honored and beloved members, who, while residing with us was known to be always "faithful and punctual to every trust." With a jovial, happy and friendly disposition he won the esteem of all who knew him. With sympathy and liberality, he was ready to respond to charity's call, and to give aid and support to his companions. He was brave and generous and it was said of him that he was a "manly man." Open and frank himself, he scorned deceit and hypocrisy. Daily evincing a noble character, patriotic virtue, and unsullied worth, he stood panoplied in the noble principles of the honest and true as an able champion of right and justice, and we are glad to say that in his last moments, when called from earth's labors to the eternal refreshments and rest he passed away leaning with implicit faith upon the strong arm of the "Lion of the Tribe of Judah."

Resolved further, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family and a copy to each of the Colorado papers for publication.

N. J. PHENIX,
SAMUEL GUSTINE,
J. A. BUCHANAN,
Committee.

Adopted July 27, 1906, by Colorado Chapter No. 175, Royal Arch Masons.
