Fishermen Return Wednesday

Lon McIntosh, Elmer McIntosh, and Bill McMillan returned Wednesday night from a two weeks fishing trip on the coast. Lon reported they caught plenty of fish and shipped a number of them to Big Spring and Fort Worth; but they didn't ship any to Putnam. They haven't furnished the evidence of catching any fish and J. M. Herring, who had been down there with them, made a different report. He said they did not catch many fish on account of water being so rough. He stated further he thought McIntosh and his crowd were eating rabbit in the place of fish.

A deposit of sepiolite, a mineral from which mechanical pipes are fashioned, has been found near Uvalde and tests now are being made to determine whether the Texas mineral is of the same quality as that found in Turkey, the only other place where sepiolite is found in commercial quantities, according to the Texas Planning Board's mineral resources committee.

TEXAS REVOLUTION WIDOWS HONORED

Two surviving widows of the Texas Revolution, Mrs. Mary Catherine Berry of Baird and Mrs. Mary C. Langley of Abilene, were special honor guests at the Texas Centennial last Sunday. The women modestly tried to keep out of the limelight, but it was impossible as bands blared, troops paraded, and crowds cheered in their honor. A number of pictures were made for the leading daily newspapers of the state.

They arrived in Dallas late Saturday and were greeted at the Union Terminal by Centennial officials. They were taken to the Ambassador hotel. On the court of honor Sunday morning Harry Olmsted, director general of the exposition, and K. L. Thornton, chairman of the executive committee, bade them welcome.

Next, under Major W. W. Carr the troops from Camp Stephen F. Austin paraded, headed by the band of the Ninth U. S. Infantry. As the widows of the Revolution stood in the portals of the State of Texas Building a color guard from the Ninth advanced and presented its colors, the flag which this distinguished regiment has carried with honor since the days of the American Revolution. Company officers saluted and ordered eyes right as the soldiers passed the reviewing station.

After this the day was crowded. The exposition was at the ladies' service. Calvacade concluded the day's program. Both of the visitors declared that Calvacade was worth their entire trip.

As an automobile was driving from the park, Zada ran into a tree to avoid hitting it, receiving a severe cut from the lip to the chin and a huge gash underneath the chin. ## PANTHERS VS. MAY FINAL GAME OF YEAR

Oliver Davis, Sports Editor
When the Putnam Panthers and the May Tigers tangle this afternoon at 2:30 on the local field it will be the last game for the Panthers of 1936. It will also be the last game for seven seniors, namely, Capt. Rollie Bayne Cunningham, Bill Brandon, Dwight Triplett, Eesen Fields, W. A. Price, J. W. Brandon, and Floyd Burnam. These seven boys will don the blue and white uniforms for the last time for old PHS. The loser of this battle will end the season in the cellar as both teams are now tied for the cellar position, however, both teams are stronger than the position shows. Both teams have lost two games and tied two games and it will be a real battle this afternoon between the Panthers and the Tigers. The Panthers have played eight games this season with four of them being non-conference, while losing two and winning two.

The Panthers looked like old last Saturday when they trampled over Abilene "B" by a score of 25 to 0. Coach Bill Wright used every reserve he had and was still able to hold the Abilene team scoreless. The domestics were superior throughout the game, taking the kickoff and marching straight forward for a touchdown. They were also superior in first downs. The passing attack was clicking as was the running game and the defense looked like a stone wall.

Don't miss next week's sports news as the results of the games and the points and all interesting information for the 1936 football season will be given.

The line-up against Abilene was:
Ends—Davis, King.
Tackles—Triplett, Williams.
Guards—Williams, Culwell.
Center—Roberson.
Quarter—Cunningham.
Halves—Everett, Brandon.
Full—Shackelford.

Substitutes: McMillan, Burnam, Price, Fields, King, Crawford, Brandon, Jobe, Elzay, Sharp, Hearst.
Bill Brandon, Panther center, received a severe cut on his forehead and it is yet unknown whether he will play for the Panthers today. He failed to play last week due to illness.

COTTON CONSUMPTION A NEW RECORD FOR OCTOBER

The government census report on last Saturday on the amount of cotton consumed by domestic mills for the month of October of 740,000 bales was the highest on record for that month. Consumption figures at the present time indicate above 7,000,000 bales for domestic mills this season against about 6,350,000 bales for the 1935-36 season. The largest domestic consumption for any year was about 7,300,000 bales.

PINAFORE OPERA AT A. C. C.

Mrs. Valter Adams, soprano of Abilene, will be guest soloist in the leading role, Josephine the Captain's daughter, in "H. M. S. Pinafore." Gilbert and Sullivan light opera which will be produced by the Cappella chorus of Abilene Christian college November 24.

"Pinafore" is one of the most popular of the seven Gilbert-Sullivan operas in English. Leonard Burford, director of the A.C.C. chorus who is conducting the opera made a special study of operetta work in Columbia University the past summer under Peter Dykema, dean of music education in Columbia, who is an ardent Gilbert-Sullivan enthusiast.

Full recordings of the performance of "Pinafore" by the traditional English company, Doyle Carte, are owned by the A. C. C. music library and the cast has studied those in order to present an authentic interpretation.
Miss Margaret Ehmrosmann, director of speech arts in A. C. C., is assisting with the production. Mrs. Mary Coffee Locke, art instructor, is cooperating in building special sets for the stage.

Miss Pat Malone, head of the piano department, Miss Evabel Venghan, piano instructor, and Miss Amelita Baskerville, violin instructor, are heading an instrumental ensemble which will play the accompaniments. D. V. Vrain, band instructor, is assisting with the orchestration.

The A.C.C. cast and Mrs. Adams will sing selections from the light opera at the Texas Centennial exposition at Dallas on November 25, and will present major parts of the production at the Hamlin Musical club December 2, and at Tuscola in the same week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Allen of Lueders visited in the home of Mrs. E. B. Moore Sunday.

CALLAHAN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' SALARY

Governor Allred vetoed the bill by Cecil A. Lotief to reduce the salaries of the county commissioners of Callahan county. He gave as his reasons that while it was general in terms it was local in nature and reduced the pay of the commissioners' court. He stated the measure not only was controversial and not within the call for the session; but he had declined the author's request for submission of the subject. We are not discussing the merits of the raise or lowering of the salaries of the commissioners' court of Callahan county; but the law reducing the pay is just as valid as the special law that was passed raising salaries from $1,200 to $1,400 per year. This law was passed at the regular session, but its introduction did not comply with the mandate of the state constitution, Article 3, section 57, in which it requires "that special bill shall be published at least 30 days before such bill shall be passed." The law raising the pay is just as bad from a legal standpoint as the one vetoed.

SECRETARY WALLACE HEDGING

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace is hedging already on the low prices of farm products which will follow the program that has been carried on by the secretary for the past three or four years. No one knows better than Mr. Wallace that we are destined to the lowest prices within the next few years for farm products, possibly in history. He realizes that our markets are gone and when the farmer produces a normal crop there will be no market for it, further that the program of scarcity has brought about the loss of the markets for farm products. He has already pointed out that with normal seasons there will be produced about 900,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1937 while the American market can only take about 675,000,000 bushels of this crop and that will leave 225,000,000 bushel surplus wheat, and the market will be lower. Before we embarked on this scarcity plan we had an export trade of 176,000,000 (million) bushels per year average for ten year including the depression years of 1931-32; but our export in 1935 was only 233,000 bushels and we bought from foreign countries 37,439,000 bushels or a balance in favor of foreign countries of more than 37,000,000 bushels. Mr. Wallace no doubt sees the situation in its true light and the acreage being sowed will produce a big surplus and he wants to hide himself from the public when prices fall to destructive levels, and the farmers fully realizes what has happened, and that there will be plenty of trouble around Washington. They say we must have crop control or self sufficiency to live at home; but when this takes place and the wheat crop is reduced to what we can utilize at home and the cotton crop is reduced to a domestic basis we will have many more millions moving off of the farms into the over-crowded cities and put on relief, which situation could have been prevented as we can not employ anyone except by producing something and we cannot produce anything without employing some one. No, we do not blame Mr. Wallace for commencing to hedge as he will have plenty of hedging to do to square himself with the farmer in the future.

M. R. SCHOFFELMAYAR ON THE COTTON SITUATION

Mr. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News, and one of the best educated men along this line there is in the South, has the following to say in an article in the Dallas Morning News of November 14, as follows: "The 1937 outlook for the Texas cotton grower is none too bright. That holds good for all cotton growers of the South although those east of the Mississippi River are assured a more dependable outlet for their bales because of proximity of textile mills and markets, whereas the Texas farmer must look to foreign users of his cotton.

"Although this writer has for years called attention to the insecure position of the Texas farmers who have to depend almost entirely upon foreign demand, the situation calls for the utmost precaution against increased acreage next season. It is only necessary to look to the 17,500,000 bales produced during the current year in foreign countries. Add to this the 12,400,000 bales which the latest federal crop forecast announces for the South, and you get a grand total world production of 29,900,000 bales against a world consumption of 26,800,000 bales, a new high level.

While it might appear tiresome to some readers to keep harping on the threat of foreign cotton production there is scarcely anything left to do, but face this situation squarely and adjust to it. Foreign countries have very definitely shown that they can raise cotton in enormous volume in spite of assertions by high government officers three seasons ago that these foreigners 'did not know how to raise cotton, that they had no facilities, no trained personnel, no transportation' and what not. What these foreigners could not do they have done with efficiency and dispatch.

"Nor should anyone fall into the error of assuming that foreign countries have reached the limit of cotton production. In Brazil alone there are anywhere from 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 acres suitable for cotton culture."

As pointed out by Mr. Schoffelmayer, those government agents three years ago told the farmer that we will reduce the American crop and raise the price to at least 15 cents and that we need not worry about the foreign countries producing sufficient cotton to interfere with the American farmer; while a few writers were pointing out at the time what the program would eventually do for American cotton growers. What the present Administration has done has been to drive American capital from the United States to foreign countries in self-defense to increase the production by training farmers and furnishing them money to operate on and it can be seen very easily to anyone who is reading what has happened. And they have an industry started and it can't be stopped. The production will be increased each year until there is a big surplus piled up which will put the world price very low and foreign buyers will not come here and purchase our cotton at a higher price than the world price. Therefore American mills will have no competition and they will not purchase cotton at a higher price than the world price. If the foreign grower's produce 25,000,000 bales and run the foreign price down to 4 cents the American price will not be any better. We may reduce our crop to 7,000,000 bales and it will not be worth anything. It will only put more people out of employment and run them into the cities to get on relief.

DRAMA, COMEDY AND THRILLS BROUGHT TO PLAZA

The Plaza Theatre brings film fans a very diversified program this week with a newly released picture in the group.

To start the week with a bang "His Brother's Wife," starring Barbara Stanwyke and Robert Taylor, with Jean Hersholt and Joseph Calleia, the old meanie who did so well in "Sworn Enemy," as a supporting cast. "His Brother's Wife" takes you from Manhattan to the wilds of South America then back again before the final fadeout is shown. It is rated as a four star picture.

Tuesday only will bring back the little star that captivated the Plaza patrons in her Texas preview last week, "Can This Be Dixie." She is coming again in "Pepper," a picture that is full of laughs and excitement. Miss Jane Withers is the runner up child star, second only to Shirley Temple in popularity. She will be supported by Irving S. Cobb, and Slim Summerville.

Wednesday and Thursday "Valiant Is the Word For Carrie," a picture hardly dry from the developing vats in Hollywood, will make its debut in West Texas. The Plaza takes pleasure in ushering into this territory such an important picture. Much expense has been shouldered in bringing it here at such an early date, and recommends its patrons not to miss "Valiant Is the Word For Carrie."

APPRECIATION WEEK USHERS FINEST PROGRAM TO PLAZA

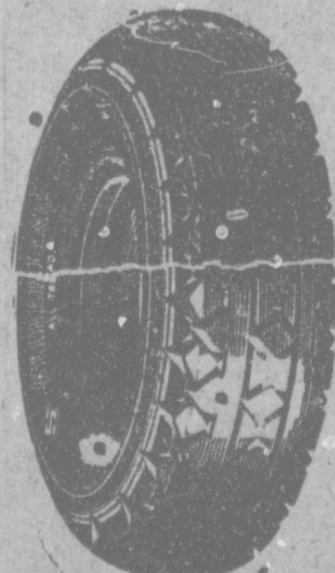

The management of the Plaza Theatre takes pleasure in announcing a policy of buying only the best pictures to play every day in the following season. Beginning Nov. 29 the Plaza has bought pictures that will please, with a higher cost, rather than cheap second run features that are rated "Average."

It will be appreciated by the management if the patrons will act as critics and inform the manager of their likes and dislikes.

Appreciation Week will mark the beginning of this policy with the week's program consisting of "Swing Time," "Dimples," "The Great Ziegfeld," "Ramona" and other great masterpieces of the film capital.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Charles E. Duna
AN AMBASSADOR IN CHAINS
Lesson for November 22nd. Acts 28:16-24. Golden Text: Phil. 4:13.

The account, in Acts, of Paul's journey from Caesarea to Rome was written by a sympathetic eyewitness. After being placed, with other prisoners, on board a vessel that left Caesarea in the summer or early fall, the apostle saw the coastal plain of the Holy Land for the last time. Unfortunately the ship encountered unfavorable winds. The sailors, obliged to alter their course, sought safety in a harbor on the south side of the island of Crete. After the delay in Crete a fresh start was made. But the season in which navigation was dangerous had arrived, and the hapless band on the ill-fated bark found themselves caught in the teeth of a severe storm. Finally the vessel neared land about midnight, and the sailors, casting out four anchors, waited hopefully for the day. In the morning, after raising the anchors, they attempted to run the boat ashore, but it was quickly battered to bits by the fierce surf.

In this crisis Paul revealed himself as a forceful leader of remarkable poise. His courage and good cheer were contagious. How calm and confident he was in the midst of his panic-stricken fellow-travelers!

At the opening of navigation in the spring the voyage was continued in another vessel, and Paul reached Rome where he was allowed to have his own lodging, though constantly chained to a soldier. The friendliness and sympathy of the Roman Christians warmed his heart, and he "thanked God and took courage." During the two years of his imprisonment in Rome the apostle was treated with real consideration despite his chains, for he was allowed to receive friends and other visitors, to preach boldly, and to write several of his greatest letters. According to tradition he was beheaded outside the city walls some few years after the famous persecution of Nero.

Mrs. Floyd Coffey and children of Cottonwood spent the week in the home of Mrs. Coffey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Everett.

FARM NOTES

(ROSS B. JENKINS, County Agent)

Home Orchards—

If farmers wish to improve their health they can plant no better crop to further such program than that found in a well planned home orchard.

Dieticians tell us that we need, at least, 250 pounds of fruit per person each year. Texas as a whole has not produced more than 100 pounds per person and has been selling 75 per cent of those pounds out of the state, leaving but about 25 pounds average for each person. That does not mean, of course, that Texas people have not also imported fruits from other states but it does show that Texas should produce more fruit at home.

Practically every farm in Callahan county that has any soil with a tendency of sand can successfully grow enough fruit to supply any moderate sized family. Not all soils will grow peaches or apples but might grow berries, grapes, or persimmons. There are many peaches that are especially adapted to this section of the state but as previously carried in this column Elbertas and Early Wheelers should not be planted. King David and the Golden and Yellow Delicious are some of the apples that thrive here.

Those of you who are interested in checking a balanced orchard for home needs should talk your problem over with the county agent and if need be let him help you select the site for the orchard. Remember that no orchard will do well on poor soil. The best soils on the farm are the ones that should contain the orchard.

Orchard soils should be well drained, loose, deep, and rich. The slope should be to the north or to the east preferably. Never plant orchards in a valley unless the valley is yet much higher than the surrounding country. Frost follows a valley the same as water and kills in the valleys when plants on the hill-tops and sides are left undamaged. Old orchards may be made to produce better by proper care. Oats, rye, and vetch are good crops to plant in an orchard now. These crops should be plowed under in the spring about the time the trees begin to blossom. They add cheap fertilizer.

Trees that have scale should be sprayed now with an oil emulsion. If they are not sprayed the insects sap the trees all winter long and the food that they take from the trees is that which would go into the buds at blossom time. This causes the blossom either to fall or open or to be so weak that it will not produce a fruit to maturity.

If sloping lands are used for orchard sites they should first be terraced and the trees then planted on the terraces. Trees may be successfully planted any time from now until the first of February. This is the best time for planting.

4-H Club Notes—

The Belle Plain boys 4-H members met with the county agent Friday afternoon and made oral reports of their progress this year. Many of the boys have finished their projects and are now preparing the cards and narratives ready to send them in for record. All 4-H members who finished their project this year will receive a beautiful 4-H pin. The county agent has the proper cards and narrative paper to supply each boy.

The boys were told that those who selected their projects early for next year would be given the proper record book to keep account of their year's work. For instance, those who grow livestock will receive a meat animal book; those who choose poultry will have a poultry calendar; those who choose crops will have a crop record book.

The county agent will soon visit all the clubs in the county and help the boys make plans for 1937. It is hoped that a new record will be made next year and it is known that an all time record has been made this year for 4-H boys performance. Many boys have grown crops, harvested them and sold them and are ready to make their final reports. Some boys have grown pigs and have sold them. Other boys have brood sows and still others are feeding calves for the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show next March. Boys may now select pigs that may be shown at the Fat Stock Show. It is hoped to have some definite individual reports for next week's issue.

Frost-Killed Sorghums Can Be Saved
Frost bitten sorghums need not be lost this year if there is a need on the farm for this roughness. It may be put in a trench silo without any fear of poisoning if it has been let stand in the fields 6 to 8 days before being put into the silo. Of course, it will need about 4 barrels of water per ton to wet it down when put in the trench. It has been found in a few cases that sorghums put into a silo soon after frost have been poisonous.

Ajax Makes Large Yields—
Mr. T. N. Minix of Route 2, Clyde, reports that he has made one of the finest yields from his crop of ajax that he has ever made from any grain sorghum. He reports that he made 2 tons of heads per acre. He stated that he sold the bundles of fodder for 1 1/2 cents after the heads had been removed and that the forage turnout was tremendous. Mr. Minix was interested in ajax from an observation of his neighbor, E. J. Kendrick, who, at the suggestion of the county agent had secured seed from the Chilli-cothe Experiment Station in 1934. Ajax produces a heavier crop of leaves and at the same time a good type head of grain than any other grain sorghum that has been found to grow in Callahan. Farmers who are trying ajax are not disappointed and are increasing their acreage year by year. With the heads selling at $20 per ton it can be easily seen that Mr. Minix has made a far greater profit from his grain sorghum than from like acres planted to cotton or even the small grains.

Agricultural Association Organized
At a meeting called at Cottonwood Monday night consisting of the communities of Cottonwood, Atwell, Turkey Creek, Caddo Peak, and Cedar Bluff to form an agricultural association H. S. Varner of Cottonwood was elected president; B. P. Pillane of Atwell, vice-president; and W. R. Thompson, of Cottonwood, secretary-treasurer.

More than 100 farm people attended the meeting. Plans were laid whereby entertainment would be provided at each monthly meeting that will be of interest to the young people as well as the older folks. It is planned to spend a part of each program with play that all may enter into with boys and girls in 4-H clubs to take part, and personal experiences and reports from individuals who have done some particular thing that will interest his or her neighbor. Some of the suggested topics coming out of the meeting were sweet potato growing and curing, turkey growers' association, both growing and marketing, collective buying of pure bred seeds and an endeavor to find a crop more suited to the soils of the section. The permanent program committee was appointed by President Varner to consist of Mrs. Virgil Fulton, Geo. H. Clifton, and Steve N. Foster. They announced that the program for next meeting will be mostly to do with county planning for 1937.

Mrs. F. E. Mitchell accompanied the county agent and Miss Vida Moore to Cottonwood where she visited her son, John Henry, who was in attendance at the meeting.

VICTORY JUBILEE DAY AT TEXAS CENTENNIAL

DALLAS.—Eyes of the nation will be focused upon Texas Monday, Nov. 23, when Victory Jubilee Day is celebrated at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition in Dallas. Proclaimed by Governor James V. Allred, the event is expected to rally 150,000 Texans in observance of the greatest political triumph in more than 100 years of United States history.

Uniqueness of the demonstration has prompted Myron G. Blalock, Marshall; Roy Miller, Corpus Christi; Karl Crowley, Washington, D. C.; Harold H. Young, Dallas; and Raymond E. Buck, Fort Worth, members of the Executive Committee, to extend invitations to men of national prominence who will grace the occasion.

On the evening of November 23rd, a banquet will be tendered to and in honor of the Texas Congressional delegation (both senators and representatives) by the Democratic National campaign committee of Texas, of which Hon. Sam Rayburn and Hon. Myron G. Blalock are co-chairmen and Hon. Roy Miller is director.

Endorsement of the November 23 celebration was voiced by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, when plans were first informally discussed at a luncheon tendered him by the Federal Centennial Commission at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas October 30.

"Victory Jubilee Day is expected to draw the largest attendance of any day at the 1936 exposition, and will offer the greatest entertainment value of the entire fair," according to J. Pat Murrin, managing director of the celebration. "In addition," he states, "it will far exceed in size and enthusiasm any patriotic demonstration ever held in Texas or the United States."

In cooperating with the Victory Jubilee committee, officials of the exposition have authorized a combination ticket book that will admit the holder to the fair and to 15 of the leading attractions inside the grounds total value $9.45—for the nominal fee of one dollar. Practically all of the concessions that have made the Midway famous are included in the list, as well as special events in the Cotton Bowl and Amphitheatre.

Jubilee Day patrons of the exposition will find that their dollar ticket books entitle them to one general admission to the fair, and one admission to each of the following attractions: Cavalcade of Texas, Streets of Paris, Midget City, Warden Lawes' Crime Show, Old Globe Theatre, Show Boat with "The Drunkard," Little America, Streets of All Nations, Art Museum, Tony Sarg Marionettes, Television Show, Ripley's "Believe It or Not" Oddi-torium, Contemporary House, dancing to the music of Joe Venuti's Casa Manana Band in the Amphitheatre, and a spectacular $5,000 display of fireworks in the Cotton Bowl. Inasmuch as Victory Jubilee Day will usher in the final week of the 1936 fair, it is confidently expected that Texans and thousands of others from adjoining states will take advantage of the special transportation rates and admission prices and enjoy practically everything within the exposition limits for an admission approximating one-fifth of the regular rate.

Jack London's immortal classic is brought to the Plaza screen Friday and Saturday matinee. It is the sequel to London's first story, "The Call of the Wild." Replete with the romance of the far North, and filled with the drama of the lawless frontier, "White Fang" takes up where "Call of the Wild" left off and weaves a thrilling story of greed and gold, love and danger. Intermingled with the narrative is the biography of Lightning, the mighty son of Buck, dog star of "The Call of the Wild," and she-wolf. The cast is made up of Michel Whalen, Jean Muir, and exceptionally good supporting players such as Slim Sommerville, Charles Winninger, John Carradine, Jane Darwell, and Thomas Beck, with Lightning the dog doing his best.

Zane Grey, another great author, is responsible for Saturday's spectacular picture, "King of the Royal Mounted." As the title indicates, "King of the Royal Mounted" is a story of Canada's Royal Mounted Police, highlighted by spectacular action, scenic grandeur, hard-riding romance, and fast shooting thrills. The cast includes Robert Kent, Rosaline Keith, and Alen Dineheart.
