Miss Velma Eubank, teacher of English in the San Antonio schools and a member of the Writers Club of that city, recently was awarded first prize in a contest for the best story and the best play submitted.

She won first place in each of these contests.

Later, together with the music and art winners, she was entertained complimentary.

Miss Eubank is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Eubank and received her early training in the Putnam schools. She is a graduate of Lubbock Tech., and also attended Hardin-Simmons University.

The little Dionne quintuplets celebrated their seventh birthdays the past week. A huge birthday cake with seven candles was the chief ornament at the birthday dinner.

Miss Roberta Keyes, 25, one of the widely known quadruplets of the Keyes family, will follow her sister, Miss Mona Keyes, in matrimony on June 22, her parents have announced.

Miss Roberta will marry Roland S. Tarn of Canton, Texas.

It is said, according to tradition, she is the logical one to become the second bride of the quartet as she caught her sister's bridal bouquet at the last year's wedding.

Mr. Tarn is a graduate of A&M college and is rural rehabilitation supervisor of Van Zandt county.

It is reported that Major Edward Bowes of radio fame, has announced his resignation as director of the Capitol Theatre effective May 31, to devote more time to his radio work.

Baylor University has decided to do its part toward stamping out the unbecoming and unnecessary habit of smoking among the young women of that school.

President Pat M. Neff has announced that beginning next fall, "High school girl graduates who have contracted the habit of smoking will not be admitted to the institution and any young lady who smokes will be sent home."

He said the decree will serve to strengthen the no-smoking tradition started by student vote when Baylor was founded in 1845.

Knox City is installing all equipment for the new dial telephone system. Work was started some two or three weeks ago and, according to G. H. Williams, district manager, the system will be finished and in use in about one month.

A true slimming story! and a really happy ending, too, when a stout woman diets the calory way. By limiting food calories to around 1200 a day, she not only loses—as much as twenty-four pounds in three months—but feels radiantly younger.

Will Rogers, Jr., 29, the oldest son of the late humorist Will Rogers, and Miss Collier Connell, also 29, were recently married at Las Vegas, Nevada.

Young Rogers' brother, Jimmy and sister Mary were the attendants. His mother was also present for the ceremony.

Miss Connell is a niece of Dr. Karl Connell, a New York surgeon. Her parents are dead.

Young Rogers is publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen at present, but after a wedding tour in the east plans to join the army.

Rattle Snake Bite Kills Calf In Less Than Five Minutes

Rattle snakes are plentiful in Callahan county and their poison is very deadly. The following story was picked up from one of our exchanges this week regarding rattle snake bites.

The snake evidently had not struck at anything for some time and its poison sacks were filled with venom.

The warden's report concluded "It's not because boots are pretty that the Southwest Texas game warden wants to kill them while partrolling."

TEXAS & PACIFIC IS LARGEST TAX PAYER IN CITY AND SCHOOL

The Texas & Pacific railway is the biggest tax payers in the City. They paid into the city funds in 1940, $229,44 which is the largest single tax payer in the city.

The Texas & Pacific railway is helping to bear the expenses in both the city and in the school in a big way.

And we would like to call our readers attention to an ad that is being carried in this issue of the Putnam News, and would suggest that when you are going on your vacation and wish to purchase transportation that you think of the Texas & Pacific railway.

THE HAMLIN HERALD IS ABOUT RIGHT IN HIS DIAGNOSIS OF EDITORS

The Hamlin Herald makes the following comment about country weekly newspapers. "One of the good things about a publisher of a weekly newspaper, and that is producing or some times called grumbling about this and that. One citizen this week says: 'Well, what's the difference, you have grumbled for too long till you don't have any friends, anyway.'"

OXYGEN STUDY TO AID PILOTS GOES FORWARD

BELLEVILLE, ILL. — the effects of anoxia, or shortage of oxygen, on aviators who consistently fly at high altitudes may be cumulative, according to Lieut.-Col. Eugene G. Reinartz, air corps surgeon of Scott Field.

Col. Reinartz said here that recent experiments with animals have shown that "repeated periods of anoxia may produce a picture of considerable damage to the brain."

He said that pilots have observed, that sustained flight at high altitudes appears to shorten the periods during which they are able to preserve their faculties without a full supply of oxygen.

Steadily increasing speeds of war planes and the heights which modern high-speed maneuvering is carried, said Col. Reinartz, places an even greater strain on pilots.

New methods of administering oxygen at high altitudes, plus specialized physical examinations are being much to eliminate permanent danger to military pilots, he said.

Mrs. J. E. Green was in town Saturday afternoon and while here she made the News office a short visit.

PUBLICATIONS LAW CHANGE PASSES SENATE

AUSTIN. — Final passage was given in the Senate Wednesday to Representative James S. Taylor's House bill amending the publication law to rewrite the sections defining newspapers and requiring publication of designated legal notices instead of tacking notices on the courthouse door.

Under the bill the law is made positive that publication of legal notices should be made in newspapers unless the rates demanded exceed those fixed as maximum in the bill, being 2c per word for the first insertion and 1c per word for all subsequent insertions.

The definition of a newspaper is a publication devoting not less than 25 per cent of its total column lineage to carrying items of general interest, shall be published at least once every week and as having been published continuously for at least twelve months preceding legal publications.

UNION DEMONSTRATION CLUB MET AT THE CLUB HOUSE TUESDAY, MAY 27

There are a $1,000,000 of vitamins sold in tablets form at drug stores in one year in the United States which could be gotten in foods.

Miss Brown gave a demonstration on home ground flour and its value to a person. She also demonstrated the difference between pressure cooking and exhaustion in preparing food for canning.

Pressure cooking is for vegetables where you bring to a boil on a slow fire in an open vessel cook until beans, peas and etc., they are not brittle and won't break easily. Place in hot jars seal and place in pressure cooker. 10 pounds pressure is sufficient for most vegetable. It preserves color, texture and food value, always use canning chart for proper time to pressure.

Exhaustion is for acid foods, berries, peaches, tomatoes, plums etc. Wash food thoroughly and fill in jars, cover over with syrup. (Thin syrup is preferred for most fruit) let jar be open and place in open kettle until food is thoroughly heated, have warm water until it is even with neck of jar, when hot seal jars place in hot water bottle that comes one inch above jars. Cook two to three hours.

Miss Vada Cole Callahan Home Supervisor then gave a demonstration on preparing and storage of raw food, such as turnips, carrots, cabbage, onions and potatoes.

Those present were Miss Clara Brown and Miss Vada Cole, together with the following visitors, Mrs. B. O. Finley, Claco and members; Mrs. D. R. Jackson, H. G. White, Emmett Wood, Floyd Buchanan, G. W. Weeks, Glen Payne, Melvin Payne, Hulon Smith, George Elliott, Jim Yarbrough, Nelson Bailey, Burnett Ramsay, Ennis Qualls, and Miss Billie White.

Next meeting will be area meeting June 18th, at the club house. Every one invited to attend.

Harvesting Grain In Full Blast In Putnam Community

Harvesting in the Putnam territory is getting a good start. There are number of binders being used this year at the present time on account of grain being so rank and green, while a few combines are also running; but many farmers are afraid to use the combine on account of the moisture in the grain which cause it to heat and ruin if put in bin.

Grains crops appear to be spotted from reports of farmers coming in. It is reported by a number farmers that wheat will make twenty five bushels or more while other report they will not make more than ten or twelve bushels per acre. The oat crop is reported the same way some think they will make 60 to 75 bushels others, report they will not get more than twenty or thirty bushels per acre, which indicates the crop will be very spotted in both, wheat and other grains.

Sharp's Cafe Was Burglarized Sunday Night $92.00 Taken

The Sharp cafe was robbed or burglarized Sunday night. Some time before closing there were quite a few soldiers and other citizens in the cafe, drinking beer and making other purchases and they had several working in there and had accumulated about one hundred dollars in the cash register and some one saw it and propiated it to himself. There is no clue as to who the party or parties were that got the money.

Mr. Sharp states he did not know just when the money was taken as it must have been fifteen or twenty minutes before anyone missed the money and of course no one knew anything about it.

CATTLE BUSINESS ACTIVE IN PUTNAM TRADE TERRITORY

The past week, Grady Pruet and others sold more than three hundred and delivered them last Wednesday to Oklahoma parties. It is reported the three hundred head brought fifteen thousand dollars.

MISSOURIAN'S DARK DAY HAD ITS BRIGHT SIDE, TOO

KANSAS CITY, Mo., — Frank E. Smith's dark day had its bright side.

He saw his favorite baseball team routed in the first game of a double-header. The second started in like manner so he left for home.

Lightning, striking near by, stretched him on the sidewalk as he hurried to his car. Later a tree fell across the car, knocking him unconscious.

Then, as he was telling patrolmen what had happened, the police radio reported his house on fire.

The bright side? The fire report was a false alarm.

Rev. Geo. Parks To Reach His 75th Birthday June 14

The News has received the following communication from the Baptist church at Roscoe. On June 14, Rev. G. W. Parks will have reached his 75th birthday. As an expression of the appreciation of his friends for his long service to his church and man kind, plans are being made whereby some appropriate gift may be presented on this occasion.

There is no minister in West Texas who has performed as many marriages or officiated at as many funerals. These and his many other services are not limited to this particular community, but are performed over a wide area in many communities. For this reason it is felt that many over this wide area would appreciate the opportunity to a birthday fund to be used in an appropriate manner.

The Rev. Parks is well known throughout Callahan and Eastland counties and having pastored a great number of the Baptist churches in this area during his career as a Baptist minister and we feel sure many of his friends in the past will be glad to have a part in this undertaking, and will make donations to this birthday present.

OUT OF 105 VOTES POLLED IN COUNTY 99 OKEH PROPOSAL

Callahan County wheat growers Saturday approved wheat marketing quotas by 94.3 percent. The voting by communities was as follows: Baird 21 for and 3 against; Putnam 20 for and one against; Cross Plains 16 for and one against; Lanham 8 for and none against; Eula 11 for and none against; Denton 12 for and none against; Opalin 11 for and one against. The total vote for the county is 105 votes with 99 in favor of quotas and six against.

The growers of wheat over the nation joined producers of cotton and tobacco Saturday in granting the Agriculture Department authority to control the sales of their crops this year.

In a nationwide referendum wheat farmers voted decisively for a departmental proposal to invoke the rigid marketing quota provisions of the 1938 farm act to keep the surplus production of this year's bread grain crop off the market until it might be needed.

Quotas on cotton and tobacco were approved in referenda held last winter.

Virtually complete returns from the wheat referendum gave 397,559 votes for and 96,223 against quotas. This was slightly over 80 percent, or far in excess of the necessary two-thirds.

Texas voted 10,809 for and 855 against the quotas. The Oklahoma vote was 30,171 for and 7,413 against.

"By approving quotas, wheat farmers were virtually assured a government wheat loan of 85 percent of parity—or about 95 cents a bushel compared with last year's 56 percent of parity or 72 cents a bushel. The loans were contingent upon approval of quotas and the availability of funds. Legislation providing loan funds is now pending Congress, declares E. L. Pierson, Callahan AAA administrator. Under quotas, farmers will be

WHAT'S YOUR SCORE ON THIS QUIZ? Like to know more about Your Electric Servant? Run through this quiz... it's full of facts and explains why Electric Service is GOOD... and CHEAP... in West Texas.

- Q. How much more light do you get for your money now than you got 10 years ago? A. You get, for about the same money, two or three times as much Electric Service as you did then. And bulbs today give about twice as much light with the same amount of electricity. Twice as much service for twice-as-good bulbs means four times as much light for your money! Q. How much per day do most families spend for electric service? A. The majority of our customers pay us less than 10 cents a day (the cost of a shoe shine or a good cigar), using, say, lights, vacuum cleaner, radio, toaster, and refrigerator. Q. What do you say to a husband (or wife) who fusses at you for letting a 100-watt light burn all night? A. "Don't get excited, dear. Believe it or not, it costs only about a nickel—and maybe it scared a burglar away!" Q. Who owns Your Electric Servant? A. You do. Every family who has a bank account or a life insurance policy is part owner. The money you put in the bank, or pay to an insurance company, is invested in various businesses, including electric utilities. This makes you one of the millions who have a stake in the American system of private initiative and enterprise. Q. Just how dependable is electric service in West Texas? A. Equally as good as any in the nation! And better than in any foreign country!

Yes, electric service has constantly improved and rates have steadily gone down. Remember that this BETTER SERVICE at LOWER COST to you has been brought about by our trained and experienced organization of over 1,000 men and women, working under a system of private initiative and enterprise... the only kind of system ever to bring better living conditions to ALL the people.

County Agent's Column

Callahan County Farmers who have participated in the Farm Security program met in the District Court room and organized a county wide Marketing and Purchasing Association, unincorporated.

This step is the beginning of what is anticipated to be a cooperative movement among the farmers in Callahan County. Cooperative Marketing and Purchasing Associations have proved especially helpful to farmers through out the United States and progressive families in Callahan County realize the need of cooperation by taking the first step toward improving Marketing and Purchasing conditions for Callahan County families.

At this meeting a Board of Directors was selected to serve for one year. Directors are as follows:

President, Irvin G. Mobley, Jr., Putnam.
Vice-President, Charles Z. Anderson, Dudley.
Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. B. Young, Eula.
Director, David C. Foster, Atwell.
Director, John A. A. Robinson, Oplis.

These directors were selected by a group of farmers present at the meeting: Mr. Guss Hill, cooperative specialist, and Robert Fisher, district rural supervisor, were present and explained the advantages of such a cooperative to the farmers. Other families are urged to contact one of the directors or the Farm Security personnel if you are interested in joining this organization. Charter members of the cooperative are: Leo Atchley, Charles Anderson, William A. Courington, C. P. Burklow, John A. Robinson, Robert Smedley, O. C. Jones, Robert Barnett, Hollis A. Veksy, W. O. Shrum, W. T. Jones, W. G. Black, Olin W. Elliott, Will Poindexter, I. G. Mobley, George W. Parker, Dave W. Owens, Jethro S. Jackson.

Six families in Callahan county have been chosen through the Tenant Purchase program of the Farm Security Administration as prospective home owners for the year of 1940-41. The families chosen are:

Fuller F. Beayer, Fred C. Kniffen, Robbie A. Farmer, Carl F. Gunn, W. E. Willborn, Everett Wright.
These families were chosen by the Tenant Purchase Committee from a number of applicants, as being typical of farms under the farm loan program. They were instructed to select the farm they wish to buy and make their home in Callahan county. the ROAD AHEAD

Old Man Texas is today looking ahead and planning.

Beside the great farming and ranching country which Texans have built, he sees a new industrial empire here.

Already the start has been made. Some industries, such as petroleum, are now showing what can be done to utilize Texas' vast natural resources. Today this industry refines with Texas labor over four-fifths as much oil as the State produces. Its products make up nearly one-half of all Texas manufacturing. Altogether petroleum provides the living for almost one-sixth of our people.

But this is only a beginning.

Texas has many other raw materials, unexcelled by any other State. Texas has in oil and gas the cheap and dependable fuel supply essential to industry. Texas is the gateway to Latin America, our new foreign market.

Each new industry means more jobs. It makes added tax values for our State and local governments, bigger payrolls for our workers, and greater prosperity for you and every other Texan.

PUTNAM, TEXAS

New York and Washington

As Seen By LEXIE DEAN ROBERTSON

DEAR FRIENDS:

I think I left you last week when I boarded the train in Washington for New York City. It was with real regret that I cast a lingering look at our beautiful Capitol, picturesque that morning in its setting of ice-swathed trees and its many historical associations. Every citizen of the United States should visit Washington as the Mohammedans go to Mecca . . . for there in contact with the actual machinery of our government one must realize the tremendous responsibility of being a North American . . . the heritage of our past is so materially present.

Perhaps here I should say something about the luxury of our modern railroad accommodations; it had been many years since I had traveled by train and the conveniences amazed me. The lounge car with its bridge tables, its new magazines, its soft drink bar is a most comfortable place to sit and watch through flawless picture glass windows, the incomparable United States fly past. You may have your clothes pressed, take a bath, shave with an electric razor, have your hair shampooed and set, get a manicure, send cablegrams and telegrams, write letters on free stationery, in fact, you may receive practically any service offered by a modern hotel.

I enjoyed observing the differences in the towns; almost all houses were of brick and many of them looked quaint with their architecture of an earlier day. Philadelphia, of which I will write at length later, looked like a Currier and Ives print with its rows of windowed houses and the soft snow on the roofs. I was reminded of Benjamin Franklin and his loaf of bread, and could see him trudging past those same picturesque houses . . . though for all I remember, it may have been another city where that historic episode took place!

Baltimore, on the beautiful Chesapeake Bay; Wilmington with its shipyards; Trenton, New Brunswick—it was at Newark that I began to powder my nose and my heart began to conga for at the next stop, Jersey City, I would leave the train and my hostess would greet me. As the train slowed down I remembered that my husband had said: "Just be yourself and they can't help but like you." Hoping his partisan idea would be right I stepped off the train and there coming to meet me was a tall, slender, patrician figure that had to be Mrs. Hammond. From the first words of her gracious welcome, all my shyness left me never to return and I was free to enjoy all the pleasure of a magic world that she unfolded for my enjoyment.

To my delight, her chauffeur was named James . . . the few chauffeurs I had before encountered were named John or even Buck, so that until now the phrase "Home James" was just something read in a book. James collected my baggage, tucked us in the huge limousine and away we drove to the ferry across the Hudson River to Manhattan. Mrs. Hammond and I left the car to sit on the sun deck of the ferry boat so that I might see the sky line. How lovely it rose from the smoky fog . . . my first glimpse of New York was like a dream or a mirage . . . all those towers reaching to the sky with the gray mist wreathing about—the sullen gray of the water—the hoarse call of a boat—the gray gulls flying . . . almost a phantom city rising from the mist. Perhaps this dreamlike quality kept me from being overpowered by its majesty. I moved through it always with the same unreality that Alice must have found in Wonderland. Who is it that is always writing about the noise of Manhattan? It must have been somebody standing on the corner of Main Street in Fort Worth or Dallas! I never did hear that famous "roar of the city traffic" but, perhaps I was so lost in my dream that sounds were softened to my unaccustomed ear!

Mrs. Hammond had written me that we would stop in at the Hotel Astor for lunch; in my simple way I supposed we would have the equivalent of dropping into the Baker Coffee Shop but to my dismay, I discovered we were attending a real function. Town Hall Celebrity Luncheon and me in a suit that had seen four days on the train! The Astor is the biggest hotel I ever expect to see . . . no matter how much larger hotels I ever enter they can't possibly look as big to me as the Astor did that day. Miles of soft velvety halls; luscious women standing about in mink coats; elegant men in frock coats and silk hats! More than twelve hundred guests attended the luncheon . . . I have the printed guest list if you wish to count them . . . in the huge room which was elaborately decorated in patriotic colors. We sat at Mrs. Gould's table with four other ladies and right across from the center of the long speaker's table. Mrs. Wendell Wilkie sat almost opposite me and I discovered that she is much more beautiful even than her photographs reveal. She wore a gray silk frock with an exquisite white ruffle around the throat and when she was introduced as the wife of the next President of the United States, I thought the pillars would fall from the vibration of the resounding applause. I discovered before I had been in the dining room half an hour that if any Democrats were present, like me they were keeping silent. I didn't actually believe people called the President "that man" till I heard it myself! I was glad to discover that my hostess was not one of these rabid dissenters and not until the week was almost gone did I even learn her political preferences.

At the speaker's table were seated such celebrities as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Jane Cowl, Grace Moore, Dorothy Draper, Gale Sondergaard, and numerous other writers and stars, all of whom spoke. The MC was one Robert Porterfield, whom everyone took for granted that I knew, but even yet I have not learned his particular luminosity. I was amused by the laughter and applause that followed two of his jokes and right then I decided that cultured New York is not so sophisticated after all, because those jokes were ancient; I told one of them myself in 1920! We could not wait to hear all of the speeches because Mrs. Hammond wanted to introduce me to her friend Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was attending the opening of an El Greco art exhibit that afternoon. And how proud I felt when the famous First Lady upon spying my hostess rushed over to greet her warmly. Mrs. FDR is as sweetly gracious as I had been told; and she was most cordial to the country poet from Texas and told me she hoped I enjoyed the East as much as she always enjoyed Texas. This exhibit was for the benefit of the Greek relief and beautiful maidens in native costume stood about; also soldiers in their full-ruffed petticoats and bright red jackets. To me they were much more interesting to watch than the pictures; El Greco who died hundreds of years ago is a famous name among artists, but his pictures are too gaunt and severe for me to enjoy. They are of the saints and early Christian martyrs and he seems to have depicted each just before the victims were thrown to the lions for they all have an air of starved and hopeless desperation! I kept very quiet as to my reaction to this famous and priceless collection of paintings, but I was much relieved before the hour was over to hear my hostess express much the same viewpoint so I decided maybe my taste was not so bad after all.

Many notable persons were at this exhibit—all of whom my hostess introduced to me and they all were so gracious that I could not feel ill at ease with them: Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Countess Marcati, the wives of one or two ambassadors whose names I have forgotten, and several relatives of my hostess, including Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is considered now the leader of New York society . . . the society that gets in print I mean. I discovered that the particular circle with which I was intimate rather deplore publicity and never record their affairs in the papers. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt had on an amazing hat made of red and purple plumes . . . the same colors were repeated in her gown but it was largely covered by a mink coat. She is white haired, plump, and jolly. She hailed Mrs. Hammond with a gay "Hello Co!" and chatted with us for a few moments. Later I saw the elegant Mrs. Astor . . . the same one whose photograph you often see in magazine ads, leaning against the side of the building putting on her own galoshes even as you and I!

No matter where we dashed James was always at hand waiting . . . after one or two minor stops, including a brief glimpse of another art gallery—all this was on Fifth Avenue—Mrs. Hammond gave the final "Home James" and we were carefully tucked by him beneath a luxurious fur robe and sped away through Central Park. Lights were gleaming now in the towered windows; the last lingering reflection of a pale sunset glowed rosy upon the reaches of the wide Hudson River where a white boat signaled hoarsely to a passing tug; ice floes caught the pale pink glow; black toward Broadway huge signs flashed continually; taxis raced by; but we continued immediately through the park, on Fifth Avenue, where I saw the Connellius Vanderbilt Chaifeaux, now converted into office buildings, the site of the William Vanderbilt home that was once a show place of the city and on into the exclusive block where my hostess lived, across the street from the more publicized home of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. Car stopped before an imposing mansion, James held open the door, the great grilles swung open, the huge bronze doors were unlocked and at last I was on the threshold of what I was told by many persons, New York City's finest home! Next week I shall describe that home to you though I must admit now that I never saw even a third of it! It never occurred to my hostess to display her treasures and I saw only such rooms as we used for our varied activities. Till next week then,

Yours sincerely,
LEXIE DEAN ROBERTSON
