

From The Editor Window

Vice-President Garner has returned to Texas, leaving congress still in session. Frankly, we have been badly disappointed in Mr. Garner. We feel he has not only run away from his duties in Washington but he has let Texas down.

Here is a short story about a taxless town, a real incorporated town, and its name is Fairfield located in Freestone county.

The town's only debt, according to reports, is the cost of its water and sewer system and that is being paid out of the income of these utilities. Its only salaried officer is the manager of the water-sewer plant, and that is also paid out of its income.

It is reported that 65,000 farm families are now enjoying new all-cotton mattresses in 2,200 communities. Out of Texas' 254 counties 226 have participated in the all-cotton mattress movement under the supervision of county extension agents.

It seems there is a new revolt in the air. This time from the bridegrooms. It seems an editor was recently married and, not satisfied with a mere acknowledgment that he was present at his own wedding, sat down at his typewriter and, according to account by various newspapers, clocked off the following masterpiece.

Clarence (Tudy) Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers of Osseo, became the husband of Miss Margaret Gilbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gilbertson of Augusta, in a beautiful ring ceremony Saturday noon before a Justice of the Peace at Waukor, Iowa.

He was attractively dressed in a three piece suit of black pin stripe woolen material consisting of coat, vest and pants. The coat was festooned with a white flower in the left buttonhole.

The vest was sleeveless, closed in front and gracefully fashioned with pockets. It was held together in the back with a strap and buckle. His pants were neatly pressed and he wore them with an air as if he little suspected it would be the last time that he "wore the pants" in that family, as the familiar expression goes.

Hose and necktie added just the right dash of color to complement the effect. Shoes were of genuine leather, laced with strings of the same color, giving a chic effect.

The Eagle Lake Headlight in its column, The Jokesmith, gives the following:—A woman tourist in California told a clerk in a store that she was going to San Jose. "Pardon me, madam, but you pronounced that wrong as all of us Californians know. It is pronounced as if spelled San Hossay. In California you pronounce J's as H's. How long do you plan to stay in San Jose?"

"The greater part of Hune and Huly," replied the woman. Our United States Congress has decided to remain in session despite Vice-President Garner's efforts to send them home. It seems that Garner and others were anxious for Congress to adjourn for various reasons, none of which seemed plausible.

Miss McCrum, who was reared at DeLeon, makes her home at Ranger, but has been employed in Moran for a number of years. Rev. Bryant, pastor of the Moran Methodist church, came to the Moran church last November and has made an excellent record with the church. He has served many churches in the Panhandle including an Amarillo church, and has preached in every county in the Panhandle during those years.

Mrs. Bryant is well known in the Putnam community and has many friends here who knew her when she lived in Putnam.

COUNTIES AND CITIES ARE NOT ENTITLED TO FOUR CENT EXEMPTION

The State Supreme court held last week the counties and municipalities must pay the four cent tax levied on gasoline as private purchasers.

The case passed upon was a case from El Paso. "The decision held the city of El Paso was liable for the tax on 70,770 gallons gasoline purchased in New Mexico and used in municipal vehicles. The case was considered a test case for both cities and counties and is estimated to produce more than one million dollars in revenue for the Texas Highway department. This looks like taking money out of one pocket and putting in another.

James A. Beal of Sweetwater chairman of the Anti-Third U.M. Democrats of the 24th senatorial district and D. F. Standley cotton planter and buyer of East Texas were in the News office for a short visit Friday afternoon enroute to Fort Worth and other places in central and East Texas. They were working in the interest of Wendell Wilkie for president. They both stated they had always voted the democratic ticket until this time; but could not support Roosevelt or any other person running for president for a third term. Mr. Standley is a cotton planter and trader. His father started in the cotton gin business in 1896. And is to day trying to carry on a business founded more than 45 years ago.

Mr. Standley and his father have always had the interest of the farmers at heart as no gin man prosper unless he has the interest of the farmer at heart and the cooperation of the farmers as the farmer is the foundation of the whole structure and no program will succeed until the farmers prosper. Mr. Standley was a former official of the Texas Cotton Ginners association for several years and was tendered the office of secretary of the State association at the time John C. Thompson was trade secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlsie Brandon of Crane are spending a few days this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brandon, Mr. Brandon's parents.

Ped Yarbrough received a message Friday afternoon from Byers stating that his double cousin Will Yarbrough had died suddenly Thursday afternoon. Ped and his brother left Friday night for Byers where they attended the funeral Sunday.

Mr. Yarbrough was a farmer and had started to the gin driving a tractor pulling a bale of cotton behind the tractor. He was near another farm house and his wife who was riding in the trailer behind saw him pull the tractor out of the road as though he was tuning in to the house about that time he fell off of the tractor lead. A physician was summoned and after examination he said he was dead when he hit the ground.

TEXAS & PACIFIC HAS DISCONTINUED TWO OF ITS PASSENGER TRAINS

The Texas & Pacific railway discontinued passenger trains Nos. 3 and 4 last Sunday, operating between Fort Worth and Sweetwater, Mr. McIntosh, Texas & Pacific agent informed the News office late Saturday afternoon that he had been notified that Sunday would be the last day they would operate.

The Texas & Pacific was granted permission to cease operation of the locals in a railroad commission hearing several weeks ago. The company's plea was based on contention the trains were not bearing sufficient revenue. No. 3 has been going through Putnam, at 1:14 p.m. and No. 4 returning at 4:38. Putnam will have only two trains going through town from now on. Neither of these trains will stop for local passengers.

It was erected in March 1939, and the estimated cost of the building was about $3000. It is said that in addition to burning the barn was 1200 or 1500 bales of hay, worth as much as three to five hundred dollars. Loss covered by insurance. Raymond Demere is operator of the ranch.

At Burkett, 70 had registered up to five o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Final tabulation on the Burkett box was not available as the Review went to press.

It was pointed out that registration throughout the Cross Plains trade territory would probably have been heavier had it not been for the fact that some 30 or 40 boys from this immediately locality have recently volunteered and entered military service.

The following news story appears in the October issue of West Texas Today. "The State Highway Department has completed making the detailed survey of United States Highway 183 beginning at a point about 8.3 miles south of Albany and continuing to the city limits of Baird. The Texas Highway commission has appropriated $97,500.00 for the construction of approximately 4.5 miles on this highway in Shackelford county."

Publication Helps Farmers With Their Construction Plans

Farm people who are planning to build anything from a chicken coop to a new home may now have the help of a comprehensive publication in making their selections.

The publication, M. P. 360, "Plans of Farm Buildings for the Southern States", was compiled by extension agricultural engineers of the states listed and issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Copies are now in the hands of county agricultural agents.

From M. P. 360, farm people may select the type of building they want from the great number of sketches shown. After the selection is made, the county agent will order the blueprints from the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

With the exception of a few of the dairy barns, cattle shelters and poultry houses, all the plans shown in M. P. 360 are well adapted to Texas conditions, according to M. R. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer.

Blueprints of the dairy barns, cattle shelters and poultry houses that are recommended for Texas, as well as for sweet potato storage houses and others not shown in the USDA publication, may also be secured free from county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

D. D. Jones of the Public community was in Putnam Saturday afternoon and reported he was through picking cotton and had made about one-third of a bale to the acre.

RED CROSS DISASTER RELIEF GIVEN IN 106 CATASTROPHES IN '40

Tornadoes, floods, fires and other major catastrophes during the past year took the American Red Cross to the scene of 106 disasters throughout the United States where more than 100,000 persons were given shelter, food, medical attention and rehabilitation assistance, Clifford V. Jones, chairman of the Callahan county chapter of the American Red Cross, said this week.

"The speed and efficiency with which the Red Cross was able to answer the call for disaster relief assistance last year emphasizes why strong membership support at Roll Call time is essential," he said. "On November 11, only three weeks away, the Red Cross will embark on its annual drive for membership. The opportunity is extended to every person in Cross Plains and Callahan county to support the disaster relief work and other services of the Red Cross."

The past 12 months, Mr. Jones said, represented a typical year of disaster fighting for the Red Cross. Red Cross operations in this field were carried on in all but 14 states where trained workers of the national staff coordinated their efforts with chapter volunteers to bring tangible aid to the disaster stricken.

"Although types of disasters varied considerably, relief needs were the same in most cases," Jones said, in summarizing the year's activities of disaster relief. "The emergency responsibility falling to the Red Cross in the wake of disaster was that of assisting in the saving of lives, than providing for emergency feeding, housing and medical attention.

"The exacting task of rehabilitation followed the period of the emergency whether the disaster was a flood, fire or tornado. In each case trained disaster relief workers assisted the family in analyzing needs for recovery. Those unable to finance their rehabilitation, in part or all, were given assistance.

"Red Cross rehabilitation assistance includes the rebuilding and repair of damaged dwellings and replacing essential household goods and clothing destroyed by the disaster. Committees of leading citizens in the disaster-stricken communities acted as advisory groups in determining the amount and nature of help given each family.

Throughout the country, in 3,712 Red Cross chapters, committees are constantly preparing for disaster, Mr. Jones stated. Men and women are trained in the time-tested methods of disaster relief that some day be instrumental in relieving suffering in their communities or some nearby section. They are being guided by the experience of 59 years of American Red Cross disaster fighting.

In addition to the need for preparing for disaster relief in the year to come, the American Red Cross is taking an active part in the national defense program of the country, Jones said. Red Cross field directors in military posts are having their busiest year since the days of the first World War.

HEALTH OFFICER SUGGESTS WAYS TO AVOID COLDS

With open season at hand, Dr. W. Cox, state health officer, suggests ways by which they can be avoided or reduced to a minimum. Here they are:

Number One: Keep yourself as fit as possible. Substitute the simpler and more nourishing foods for rich mixtures. Eggs, milk, and other dairy products, fruits and green vegetables are rich in the vitamins that are a protection against colds. Add them to your diet. Drink several glasses of water daily.

Number Two: Dress according to the weather. Keep comfortably warm. Have a sweater handy or a warm coat to slip on when the days turn cold suddenly. Light a fire or turn on the heat if your house is damp and chilly. If you are a housekeeper, get your warm bedclothes out—and use them.

Number Three: Avoid sudden chilling. Change as quickly as possible to dry shoes and dry clothing if you are caught unprepared in a drenching rain.

Number Four: Get some exercise in the open air every day—a brisk walk, if you can't do more than that. Hold your head up and breathe deeply as you walk. Keep your sleeping quarters and your working rooms well ventilated, and get plenty of sleep.

Number Five: Colds are catching. Don't go where people are coughing or sneezing. Wash your hands before eating.

Number Six: If your powers of resistance have been lowered and a cold "catches" you, don't fight it. You will save time and strength and get well more quickly if you go to bed, eat lightly, drink plenty of water and stay in bed until your physician says you may get up. Don't wait, either, until you are seriously ill to send for your doctor. Send for him promptly, and follow his advice.

Number Seven: Don't give your cold to others. Have your own towel and drinking glass. Don't broadcast your germs. Don't sneeze or cough in your neighbor's face. Keep yourself supplied with paper handkerchiefs and destroy them after using. Postpone visits to friends until your cold is noncommunicable.

Dehydration Of Yam Promises To Be Big Industry

DENTON, Texas, October 18.—Texans may now read the inside story of sweet potato dehydration, the chemurgic process which promises new outlets for the agriculture of the state, in the latest bulletin from the chemurgy laboratories of the North Texas State Teachers College, pioneer in the movement to industrialize the products of Texas farms.

"Sweet Potato Dehydration," the second in a chemurgic series from NTSTC, was compiled by Gilbert

C. Wilson, NTSTC farm industrial chemist, and W. N. Masters, director of the college department of chemistry, in response to questions concerning the process received at the college from industry, agriculture, and civic organizations.

Recording the NTSTC experiments in sweet potato Vitamin A content, the bulletin states that the potato contains 76 International Units of carotene, Vitamin A source, proving it almost as valuable a carotene source as alfalfa. Other extracts, including cellulose, pectin, starch and sugar, are obtained in the dehydration process perfected in the NTSTC laboratories.

New Method Is In Cream For Fitness Use For Testing

A new method of determining whether cream is fit for human consumption is presenting a challenge to the dairy industry under a new federal food law being enforced by the Food and Drug Administration. Enforcement of the law is achieved by penalizing manufacturer for making butter out of old, cheesy, decomposed or filthy cream, but the responsibility is also shared by the producer, since his cream will be returned to him if it is below certain standards.

Although the new method of determining the fitness of cream-known as the mold mycelia count on butter—is no job for an amateur there are several things the cream producer can do to help assure good quality in his cream. W. V. Maddox, dairy manufacturing specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, who is cooperating with the Texas Dairy Products Association and other interests in improving the quality of dairy products, makes these suggestions:

Clean the cows flanks and udder, and milk with clean dry hands.

Guard against the entry of dust or other foreign matter into the milk pail.

Strain milk before separating and cool cream immediately after separating.

Avoid mixing warm cream with cool cream.

Somebody, speaking of the town's skinflint, asked, 'How much is he worth?' and my Grandpa answered, 'He ain't worth a darn cent but he's got a hundred thousand dollars.'

High-strength steel wire is proving a better reinforcement in pre-cast concrete beams than the steel bars ordinarily used and a reduction of around half the amount of steel usually necessary is possible.

Early fall is the best time to apply superphosphate to pastures.

The successful farmer plans his work and works his plan.

LANE BURIAL ASSOCIATION This association provides a plan of Burial Benefit, at a rate so reasonable, practically everyone can afford to carry the protection. (Ages 1 month to 80 years.) This is a home enterprise, organized under approval of Board of Insurance Commissioners of Texas. It is directed by men who have been in the funeral business for many years, who understand the needs and emergencies that arise at the time of death. Burial Benefit is not life insurance. All of the investment, features have been eliminated. Therefore it is operated at the very lowest cost. We are not in competition with any Life Insurance Company, but we offer you this additional Burial Protection at a price you can afford to pay. Carry it along with your regular Life Insurance. It does not cost you any more to become a member of our Association than it does to pay your regular monthly premiums. You can pay by the year or month at our office. We are not interested in Insurance Profits. We offer this protection to our friends who feel the need of burial benefits. The rates are low, but high enough to insure a fund large enough to meet the needs of the Association. We urge you to investigate the plan and purpose of this burial association with as much sincerity and consideration as we had in you in bringing this highly desirable benefit to you. 300 West 9th St. Phone 167

Some time maybe I can write a tribute to Hick Halcomb, my friend who passed on the other day. But not now—the suddenness of his going and the depth of affection which I held for him are such that adequate words just won't come. He was unique — humorous, philosophical brilliant—and lived a full life, enjoying every minute of his all-too-brief years.

Born in Arkansas, he was successively linotype operator, editor of a West Texas weekly, eloquent stump-speaker, assistant Secretary of State and manager of Jerry Sadler's upset victory two years ago for Railroad Commissioner. Hick was deeply devoted to Sadler and named his recently-completed home in Austin "Hick'ry Grove," a play on his own name and the name of Jerry's birthplace.

A great throng of friends were in that home, on the lawn and out on the sidewalk the other morning soft music was sung and tender words were spoken about Hick and, while the sunshine beamed gently down and birds twittered and chirped in subdued tones as though nature too sorrowed, there were tears on every cheek.

Last Christmas Hick sent out a card with his "platform," consisting of three "planks":

- 1—I love my friends. 2—I love my friends. 3—I love my friends.

And he garnered friendships in every walk of life—rich or poor, high or low, scholarly or unlettered, none of those things mattered; Hick looked at the individual and tawdry tinsel meant nothing to him.

No nobler eulogy could have been paid to one of such broad and democratic character than was uttered, as the heavy-hearted hundreds turned reluctantly from the flower-heaped mound, when colored Gus—Hick's faithful servant—sobbed, "I followed him as far as I could." That was the kind of loyalty that Hick gave his friends and that was the loyalty that he inspired in others.

anical age never cease? Making a key used to be—or so I thought—quite a slow and painstaking process. The other day, having broken the switch key of my car, I took the spare downtown to get a duplicate. Noticing a sign, "Keys Made," in the 5-and-10 cent store, I handed the key over to a young lady who clamped it in place and at the same time put a blank key in another grip. She turned a switch and a machine began feeling the pattern of the key and another machine began cutting the design into the blank key. In three minutes, the duplicate had been completed.

Tom Martin, humorous "Sage of the Sagebrush," backed Irvin Cobb, Kentucky humorist, out of a debate on politics. If it had been held, that debate might not have been a laughing matter, at that.

Speaking of speaking, this columnist has been a little in demand here lately. Clubs and student groups in Temple, Breckenridge, Ranger, Weatherford and Fort Worth seem to have been interested in an informal talk on Hollywood, based on observations while serving as technical adviser on the Texas oil picture, "Room Town."

Easterners are looking for "local color" when they come to Texas so Manager Henry Love of Hotel Texas in Fort Worth "where the West begins" has fixed up a Pioneer Suite, suggesting ranch life. Beds and chairs are made of highly polished wood that apparently was carved with crude tools; the mirror frame is a huge, wooden horse-shoe; the stand of the reading lamp is an ancient shotgun; a little table is supported by a big wagon-wheel hub, and cattle brands have been burned into the frames of pictures showing life on the range. A long dining table is flanked with benches. Eastern executives are delighted and marvel that the ranch theme of furnishings is combined with the most modern luxuries.

Men have many conceptions of happiness. Nat Floyd, now on an English newspaper in China, used to say in his Fort Worth Star-Telegram days, "I would like to have enough money that I could throw away a razor blade after using it just once." My own idea of happiness would be to buy an alarm clock, set it for 7 a.m. and, next morning when the bell started ringing, throw the darn thing out the window, turn over and go back to sleep.

DIPHTHERIA BUG DISCOVERED ONLY 56 YEARS AGO

AUSTIN, October 11.—"Under one name or another diphtheria has been recognized as a distinct disease for more than two thousand years. Nevertheless, the germ responsible for this communicable and dangerous childhood infection was not discovered until 56 years ago. The discovery five years later of antitoxin resulted in the development of present methods of prevention and treatment that has markedly reduced the diphtheria death rate," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

In 1913, Schick, a Viennese physician, devised a test to indicate whether an individual is susceptible to diphtheria. In the same year Von Behring, one of the discoverers of the diphtheria organism demonstrated that diphtheria toxin, could be used to produce immunity in human beings. Today toxide is generally, and most effectively, used as the protective agent.

For more than 30 years antitoxin has been available for the treatment of diphtheria. If antitoxin in adequate doses is administered during the first day of the disease nearly 100 per cent of the victims recover. When the delay extends to the second day, the deaths are about the third, fourth, fifth and sixth days, the fatality percentages respectively are 12.5 per cent, 22 per cent, 29 per cent, and 50 per cent. Interpreted in safety-first terms, this means that if one's child is sick and has a sore throat, your doctor should be called at once. If his diagnosis is diphtheria, he possesses the scientific means for treatment.
