School bells will ring for the Putnam pupils Monday morning when they will proudly be tripping the familiar road to regular work and play again.

Thanksgiving Day Early in 1940

President Roosevelt a fortnight ago announced that he would proclaim November 23rd of this year as Thanksgiving Day instead of November 30th.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas stated he favored observing two Thanksgiving Days each year, conforming to the president's proclamation and to tradition.

We have observed Thanksgiving Day on the last Thursday of November many years, and possibly it comes a little closer to the Christmas holidays, but it has always been a grand occasion and most people include such arrangements in their budget.

Of course every day should be Thanksgiving Day, but should we have two special occasions, it would be impossible for families to gather together on both occasions.

I have always thought of late fall as an appropriate setting for such an occasion and I hope whatever the date that we do have one special occasion which is observed by all.

The Cotton Industry Should Use Cotton

Are we kidding ourselves or are we getting somewhere? A big chain store has just ordered 2,500,000 flour bags made of cotton.

When will the big cotton oil mills follow the same example as the big chain stores and put the products of the mills in cotton bags?

Unless the cotton trade itself sets an example for use of more cotton.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 5:00 for Mrs. Alice Allen McIntosh, wife of A. McIntosh of Putnam, at the Clyde First Baptist Church, with the Rev. G. W. Parks of Roscoe officiating assisted by the Rev. F. A. Hollis of Putnam.

Mrs. McIntosh had been a resident of Callahan County 40 years. She and Mr. McIntosh made their home at Clyde 19 years and had lived in Putnam for the past 7 years.

Interment was in the Clyde cemetery. Pall bearers were Lynn Williams, Lewis Williams, Fred Cook, Joe McIntosh, Jessie McIntosh, Duke McIntosh.

THE BOOK SHELF -by- Lexie Dean Robertson "On this book shelf always look for anything except a Look"

The Vagabond Book Shelf crossed the great Oakland Bridge into San Francisco in high spirits. Everybody had told us San Francisco would be cold, at last somebody had told the truth about California!

We rushed out to Treasure Island to see the World's Fair the very first thing. They have built an island which will later be used as a base for Pan-American Air Lines and have transformed the island into a city out of fairy land with its tall towers, its scented gardens, its mirror pools and magnificent buildings.

As exhibits go, it was just another Texas Centennial plus Casa Manana. Even Sally Rand's Nude Ranch is here when we lost Son we found him just coming out! The lighting effects are all indirect which give a delicately subdued effect that is most delightful with its varied colors.

JFR had a horrifying experience in the men's washroom when he caught a glimpse of two ladies out of the corner of his eye and thought he had strayed into the wrong compartment. Fortunately before he fainted he discovered they were two Scotchmen dressed in plaid kilts and feathered hats!

We drove around the Embarcadero which is the long street circling the end of the city where the wharfs are. Huge ocean-going liners were docked, strange flags flying, and voices chattering queer foreign sounds. At Fisherman's Wharf the fishing boats come in loaded with sword fish, abalone, and halibut.

the array of strange sea foods spread out on every hand.

In Old China town the American enters a foreign country. The windows are full of queer and nauseating animals cooked and otherwise. Cooked fowls with head feet and eyes; a whole cooked hog hanging in one shop with heart and liver intact. . . weird signs, and curio shops littered with carved wooden Buddhas, brass, jade, and a million other insignificant items.

It was nice in San Francisco to have a birthday card from Mrs. Patsy Pullian Cox of Sidney and I was flattered pink because my birthday hadn't been mentioned since Christmas and she remembered it. Too, she only knew my address from the Vagabond Book Shop.

Reluctantly we folded our tent, including Son's new Plymouth which now bears a large dent where JFR met a huge Sequoia in the dark. . . and trekked north across Golden Gate Bridge along the coast. Tonight as I write this I have not the slightest idea where we are except that it is in Oregon, with the Pacific Ocean at our back door and huge redwood trees in front. The redwood forests reach from S. F. to the middle of Oregon and are as big, as old, and as beautiful as the Sequoias. The forests are so dense that the sun doesn't shine through and in places they grow to the very ocean edge.

For days I have been hurrying this bunch, fearing that my en-

WITH OUR WILDLIFE

By JOHN R. WOOD
State Game Warden

Duties Of A Game Warden
Many times in the past I have been asked the question by interested people—What are the duties of a Game Warden? In this article I will give you a picture of the duties of your state game wardens. Of the many duties given to us, the enforcement of the Texas game and fish laws consumes most of our time. In addition to this the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission and its deputies have charge of the enforcement of the pollution laws of the state. The major portion of this work is in the control of the salt water and oil from the Texas oil fields. If this kind of pollutant is allowed to enter the streams, it will kill a large number of fish, depending on the strength and amount that is allowed to get in the fresh waters of this state.

This is really a big problem because the salt water is really hard to control. Also the disposal of city and municipal sewage into the streams must be kept in good condition to keep this from killing fish and making unfit for domestic use. Any and all kinds of polluting substances must be kept out of our Texas fresh waters.

Additional duties set out by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission to its state game wardens are in part listed as follows:

1. Be able to identify all common birds and animals of the state.
2. Know the habits thoroughly and habit of the game and animals of the State.
3. Know court room procedure.
4. Have a clear conception of game management.
5. Identify all fresh water fish and laws pertaining thereto.
6. Know habits and habitat of all fur bearing animals and law relating thereto.
6. Have a specific knowledge of all state and federal laws pertaining to his district and the state as a whole.
7. Identify common shrubs trees and herbs.
8. Be an expert in collecting data in connection with game law violations.
9. Make public talks on wildlife management and conservation to almost any kind of audience, schools, civic clubs, Boy Scouts and others.
10. Have a knowledge of guns, ammunition, traps, fishing tackle and other hunting and fishing equipment.
11. Treat every person in a fair and impartial manner.
12. Express himself freely in writing.
12. Know principals of first-aid.
13. At all times push the idea of conservation which means that he should support at all times constructive efforts toward soil, forest, range, water and wildlife conservation, because all of these go hand in hand, each interdependent upon the other.
14. Make promptly all the reports to the Game Department.
15. Keep accurate records of wild life conditions and problems in each district.

County Agent's Column

In order to provide more room for the workers connected with the local A.A.A. office the county agent's office has been moved into the front part of the county attorney Felix Mitchell's office. It was a pleasure to cooperate with the local A.A.A. office to this extent and it is expected that the change will be for the better in that both will have more room.

Al Young and county agent Brison went to Chillicothe last Wednesday and brought back 60 bushels of wintex barley seed for the following men: Chas. D. Starley, Lester Farmer, Earl O. Hays, Ernest Franke, Virgil Jones, Ace Hichman, Poly Holloway, Al Young, Alton Hutchinson, and either Jim Yarborough or Leonard Alvey. Wintex barley at the Denton Experiment station for the past 5 years has averaged 15 bushels more per acre than other varieties of barley and it is expected that similar results will be obtained by growers in Callahan county. Seed of this barley is so scarce and in such demand that the original booking of 100 bushels for this county was reduced to 60 bushels.

Leaf worms on cotton are reported in various parts of the county and, no doubt, many farmers are interested in poisoning the worms in order that the plants may mature all the crop that will set. In a recent letter R. R. Reppert

Extension Entomologist says the cheapest and best poison to apply is calcium arsenate, a higher priced material is arsenate of lead. Either may be dusted or sprayed. If dusted, 5 to 8 pounds per acre of either should be applied, depending on the size of the plants. The best time is in the early morning when the air is usually calm and possibly some dew is on the plants.

If to be applied as a spray, 3 pounds of either material should be mixed with 50 gallons of water and this mixture kept stirred well or agitated during the application.

A recent wire from Dick Weekes, manager of S.W. Peanut Ass'n, advises that prospects for a Government sponsored peanut buying program in 1939 was favorable. The wire was sent by him from Washington to Elmo Cook, Eastland County agent. Although no price per bushel has been announced Weekes advised that prospects were good for prices in line with 1938 prices which ranged from 81 to 92 cents per bushel. Plans are under way to establish peanut warehouses in Cross Plains and Baird.

During the last 5 weeks calves on feed by 4-H club boys of the Bayou community. Brison show the following gains: Billy Rose's calf 52 lbs.; Clovis McDonald calf gained 102 pounds; Delbert Mac Sawyers calf gained 73 pounds; calves being fed by Cecil Jones, Leonard Swafford, and Ray McLain were not weighed.

Tennara Wheat made an average of 5 bushels per acre more than other varieties according to demonstrators that planted it last year. The average yield per acre was 15 bushels while other varieties in the community averaged 10 bushels per acre. This is the second year that the tenmarq variety has made several bushels more per acre than other varieties. In 1938 the yield per acre was 6 bushels per acre more.

Eddie Cantor, on a recent visit in Fort Worth, wisecracked: "I'm not a Democrat or a Republican; in fact, I'm somewhat Socialistically inclined. I believe what's mine is mine, and what's yours I'd like to get half."

Alluding to the traditional rivalry between the two cities, the comedian said, "I told Amon Carter I thought I'd run over to Dallas last night and he said he would fix it up and in about half an hour there was a knock on my hotel room door and two men came in, put me in a strait jacket and kept me there all night."

On the subject of "jitterbug," Cantor declared, "I'd rather be boys and girls would be hailing band leaders. (Can hailing band leaders.)"

Brian Garner runs the picture show in Ranger. He's more colorful than any of the actors he shows on the screen. Broad around the equator, somewhat resonant of voice and given to sweeping gestures, Garner has been nicknamed "Little Caesar" because of the role that the very assertive Edward G. Robinson made famous. Garner's given name was bestowed in honor of the famous "Iconoclast" who ran a magazine in Waco 40 years ago. Garner has been something of a writer, too as he formerly edited the newspaper at Woodson in Throckmorton county, more than 25 miles from a railroad, yet he "scoped" all the papers in the United States. Remember back in 1927 when there were no wars and depressions all we had to talk about was what Henry's new model car was going to look like? Well, Garner wrote an advance description. It began "The new Ford will come in two styles, open and closed. It will have four wheels, one at each corner," and so on. The article was reprinted by nearly every paper in the county.

Garner has a keen sense of humor and enjoys getting a good joke on a friend. He used to carry on a "feud" with a Ranger cafe proprietor. One day, after ordering half a fried chicken, he mildly asked, "Jimmy, could I see your chickens?" "Certainly," the restaurant owner said and escorted the customer to the ice box. "Oh, they're dressed," Garner said, in a tone of disappointment. "Why?" queried the other, suspiciously. "Well," Garner replied, "I ordered half chicken and got two wings, two necks and two legs. I just wanted to see a whole, live chicken walking around with four wings, four necks and four legs. By the way, how much do I owe you?" "Not a darn thing; get out and don't ever come back." Garner was back that night for dinner. If you visit Ranger, don't miss Blann Garner. In fact, I doubt if you could, anyway.

Do you love the glorious past of Texas and would you like to have a part in preserving the stories of the pioneers, warriors and statesmen? The Texas State Historical Association is seeking 3,000 new members. Dues are $3 a year and that includes a subscription to the quarterly, ably edited by Dr. Walker Prescott Webb... R. K. Phillips, Weatherford Democrat publisher, has found them to write an interesting booklet on a trip back to his ancestral home in the Old South... Another pamphlet just received is from Buck Taylor of Austin,
