WE TRAVEL Part II

Leaving the city of Pittsburg, Texas, county seat of Camp County and, by the way, one of the smallest counties in the United States, we took off for Texarkana. It was here we learned if you wanted shelter for the night you had better start looking just after three o'clock in the afternoon.

We kept an eye on tourist courts and the "No Vacancy" sign was very prominent. At last, after we began to think we might have to spend the night in the car, we came to a pretentious court—it said, "Vacancy".

We pounced on it as a chicken hawk pounces on a cottontail. Our first surprise was that it was so reasonable—two bedrooms, kitchen and bath, all for the measly sum of twelve bucks.

Man, we thought we had a bargain, but as the Negro porter started to show us the apartment, he cleared his throat two or three times, then said, "Boss, there is something they didn't tell you—the apartment is upstairs." We didn't like that part of it, but after a conference we decided to go ahead and take it. It was nice and clean and airy, provided with refrigerated air.

However, there was another surprise in store for us. In the rooms downstairs were the laundry and the air conditioning unit which furnished the rest of the court with cool air. Throughout the night it roared almost as loud as an airplane, but being dead tired we slept thru most of it.

But personally, we were not easy in our mind. It was the first time in some forty odd years we had slept in a second story bedroom—we are allergic to them, for when we were just "button", we were among those who had to jump from the second story of the Stamford Inn and in this fire the life of a very good friend of ours was burned to death. Each time since then when anyone has mentioned a second story bedroom we have just shuddered and walked away.

But we did sleep a little, even though the squall of a siren on a police car caused us to jump out of bed.

The next morning we realized what a blessing the place was—we cooked the kids and women folks a breakfast of bacon and eggs without having to pick up a check after it was over.

The farther east we went the more reasonable accommodations, and food also—plate lunches, stacked to overflowing, were from sixty to seventy-five cents, including drinks and dessert. It was in Arkansas we ran into the home cured hams and sausage—raised on the farms, cured on the farms, and sold to people in the cities. If you have never tasted hickory smoked ham, you have missed a treat.

We suppose somewhere in Arkansas there is farming land, but much of what we saw were swamps. However, for a time we were puzzled by the large elevators. We wondered where they grew the grain to fill them, then we noticed it was rice elevators. And we saw the rice, nearing harvest time, we suppose.

But water, in all our life time we have never seen so

FIRST BALE OF COTTON GINNED HERE

The first bale of 1963 cotton was ginned Monday at the Ropes Farmers Co-Op Gin No. 3, in Ropes.

The bale was brought in by Joe Harris who stated the cotton was planted May 7th. There were 2,340 pounds of snapped cotton which turned out a 566 pound bale, and 1,000 pounds of seed. The gin gave the ginning and bought the cotton at 50 cents per pound and the seed for $100 per ton.

Joe stated that while he has more cotton open he will wait awhile to gather it and give the lint time to dry out.

He was brought up down in the breaks, near Jayton, in the Free State of Kent, where this writer spent a long number of years, hence, Tom and I were acquainted when we were much younger than we now are—we've seen a lot—even cotton selling at 3c a pound.

DOUG HENDERSON TELLS MORE OF TRIP TO RUSSIA

In World War II this city was under seige by the Germans for 900 days. More than 600,000 people died from starvation alone. I doubt if they know how many soldiers were killed. It was the longest battle in the history of the world. You cannot see any trace of ruins now. It is a city of three million and has many fine buildings. There are many kinds of factories as well as ship building and it is Russia's principle seaport.

We went to the winter palace of the Czars, which is now a museum. It has three hundred rooms and is not much to look at on the outside. The summer palace is about twenty miles from the city and is very beautiful both inside and out.

In Leningrad we had a very interesting tour of a glass factory which employs about eight hundred people. The director or manager of the plant did not speak any English but he was nice in every way. We asked him many questions about everything and he gave us very detailed answers to all of them. Of course our Intourist guide was the interpreter. He was very pleased when we asked him if he was a member of the Party and, with a big grin, he said: "Yes, I have been honored." We were told that less than five million, out of two hundred twenty-one million people in Russia, belong to the Party.

The director receives a salary of 180 Roubles a month. A rouble is worth one dollar and ten cents in our money at this time. His wife is an engineer of some kind. He has no car and they live in a two bedroom apartment. He has twin boys twelve years old.

Very few people earn over 150 roubles a month. Doctors and dentists make 140 to 150 roubles a month—the same as school teachers. Seventy per cent of the doctors and dentists are women.

A very interesting thing we saw over there was people with stainless steel teeth, which are free. They can have gold plated teeth if they can afford to pay the difference.

You see very few people wearing glasses, maybe one in a hundred. Also, you see very few men that look to be over forty years old. The women do every kind of work that men can do—they lay brick, plaster, paint, do the carpentering and plumbing, cement work, any kind of street work, dig ditches, etc. Women wear dresses at any kind of work except painting—then they wear overalls.

I heard a little story on the trip: Someone asked a Russian woman why she was digging a ditch. She said to buy the food to get strength to dig the ditch.

I don't recall seeing a single neon or florescent light anywhere in Russia.

About their plumbing—you should see some of it. It seems that they get a building about finished before they decide to put in the plumbing and electric wiring and then when they do, nothing works. They have pipes everywhere in all kinds of shapes and in all directions.

If you want a drink of water any time you have to stand in line some place and buy a bottle of mineral or soda water. Or they do have some kind of fruit juice that they sell from portable carts on the street. A person can buy a glass full of fruit juice and after they drink it the woman washes the glass out

News Of THE Ropes Public Schools

The enrollment of the Ropes Public Schools continues to climb. The latest report shows that the High School has 104 enrolled; the Junior High 196; and Elementary 291, giving a total of 591. It is believed the number of pupils will go above 600 within a short time.

The hardest hit is the Elementary school where two rooms were added this year, giving them ten class rooms, but even now the building is filled. Monday morning, with the enrollment of fourteen new pupils, the first grade has a total of 106. This necessitated a reshuffle, and the forming of four first grade classes. In doing this one second grade class was consolidated with two classes and a second grade teacher released to teach the new first grade class.

It is estimated that in the elementary school approximately sixty-five per cent are Latin Americans and 35 per cent white.

ROPEVILLE AXES ANTON

Halfback Jerry Morrow scored three times at Anton Friday night as the Ropes Eagles dumped the Anton Bulldogs 32-0 in a mild upset.

Ropesville scored four times in the first and second periods and once in the third.

Morrow got his first one on a 6 yard plunge up the middle. Try for point failed. Later in the same period Mike Timmons, another Eagle halfback, went to his right, turned the corner and sped 85 yards. Point try failed again.

Morrow opened up the second period scoring with another long dash when he burst through the left side of the line and went 53 yards.

Quarterback Bobby Witherpoon plunged a yard for the final Eagle score. He passed to end Mickey Smith for the points.

Ropesville, in 3-B, now has a 1-1 record.

Anton had 12 yards rushing to 329 for Ropesville.

much water — water everywhere and not a drop to drink—we mean that. When you took a drink you thought you were getting a dose of chlorine. It was so heavily doctored it flavored both tea and coffee.

When we did come to level ground we found it had been cleared of trees and planted to grass. Seemingly folks in that part of Arkansas thru which we passed have given up raising cotton and gone to raising livestock. We were told some corn is raised there. In Little Rock we asked a man what their main crops are and he didn't know what we were talking about. After much explaining he got the idea, and said the rural folks raise cattle and hogs mostly.

We stopped in Little Rock long enough to take a picture of the capitol building. We wanted to go inside, but it being Saturday it was locked. However, it is a magnificent structure.

We headed for Memphis, Tennessee, where we stayed that night.
